Staples, who is 15, displays has been studying with Carlisle Floyd of FSU's School of Music faculty.

Ugly Man Contest Dance Is Friday

A dance climaxing the Ugly Man Contest now underway, will be held in the Student Lounge Friday, night.

Beginning at 8:15, the informal affair will feature the music of the Commodeltes, adlib orchestra.

The contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, honorary service fraternity, has 15 candidates, each sponsored by a sorority

Voting began a week from yesterday and will continue until Friday night. Polls are located in the Dining Hall, Student Center, and Westcott with votes costing one cent each.

Senior Class Changes Plans

Baccalaureate services for the graduating seniors have been changed from 11 o'clock morning, to Sunday evening, May 29, at 8 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium.

The time of Commencement exercises have also been moved up from Monday morning until Monday evening, May 30, at 8 p.m. in Doak S. Campbell Stadium. In case of poor weather, Conferring of Degrees will take place in Westcott Auditorium at 9 p.m.

Dr. Venula Shores, Chairman of Convocations, has announced that no candidate is limited to two guest tickets for each occasion.

LEON TEACHERS COUNCIL WILL MEET APRIL 28

The Leon County Council of Teachers of English will meet April 28, not April 21, as was reported in This Week.

The meeting, to be held in the Elizabeth Cobb Library, will begin at 8 p.m.

Active Campaigning For Class Elections Starts Next Tuesday

Active campaigning in the Senate-Class Court Elections will begin a week from today.

Candidates will seek the following offices: 1) Class presidents, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and social chairman of next year's Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores.

2) Judiciary: three men and three women from the Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes.

3) Honor Court: two men and two women from the Junior and Senior classes.

4) Traffic Court: one person from the Sophomore and Junior classes.

5) Senate: three men and three women from the Junior and Senior Sophomore classes.

Deadline for declarations of candidacy for these offices has been extended until 5 p. m. Friday, to allow the parties to hold nominating conventions. See separate story.

Elections Secretary Betty Wilson reminded candidates yesterday that expense estimates must be turned in at the director's office in Longmire Building by 5 p.m. Tuesday. Candidates who fail to turn in estimates will not be listed on the official ballot, she stated.

Expense limits are listed in the university Statutes as: class presidents, $30- Seniors and all other major officers, $25, and members of courts, $15. Scholastic requirement of class presidents is 1.000, while other officials are required to have a 1.000 average.

Four Finalists Chosen For After Dinner Speaking Contest Here

Finals for the intramural after-dinner speaking contest will be held before the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce next week.

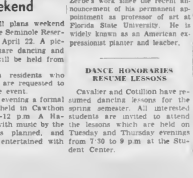
Finalists are Tex Alexander, Earl Carroll, Harris Litwin and Fred Roberts.

Nancy Cobbs and Beverly Dupertreuel were also chosen as alternates.

This contest is one of a series held each spring. Others in the series are Debating, Oratory and Speaking. In each of these last two contests, revolving trophies are offered to be awarded the next year in the dormitory, sorority or fraternity house of the winner's choosing.

Anyone is eligible to enter the contest provided he has not been on an intercollegiate contest in the same event. Persons interested in entering Oratory, May 3, or Public Speaking, May 10, may call Dr. Greig Peller at extension 2061 or come to the James House, 721 W. Jefferson.

Students already registered for the oratory contest, the next event, include Betty Sue Wrten, Gamma Phi Beta, Julian Hodge, West Hall; Betty Brunn, Delta Zeta; Ruth V. Pope, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Herbert Lacayo, Theta Chi; Harold Lambert, Delta Tau Delta.



Also, Harris Litwin, Tau Epsilon Phi; Bruce Fletcher, West Hall; Kent L. Schroeder, Sigma Nu; Karl Alley; Barbara Chambers, Arnold Greenfield; and Beverly Dupertreuel. Deadline for additional entries comes Friday, April 29.

Cawthon Residents Plan Weekend

Cawthon Hall plans weekend festivities at the Seminole Reservation Friday, April 22, a picnic supper, square dancing and group games will be held from 5 to 8.

All Cawthon residents who plan to attend are requested to sign up for the event.

On Saturday evening a formal dance will be held in Cawthon parlor from 8-12 p.m. A Hawaiian theme with music by the Commodeltes is planned, and guests will be entertained with campus talent.

Go! Men! Go!—Drummers Jon Gilbert, Andy Odum, and Cris Welker are shown warming up on their "ride" solo for the Starlight Serenade concert which will be presented tomorrow night in the Outdoor Theater at 8:15 by the Symphonic Band.

Starlight Concert Series Starts

Marches, ballads, and familiar light classics will call students to the Outdoor Theater tomorrow evening at 9 1/5 when the Symphonic Band presents the first program in the annual series of Starlight Serenade Concerts.

Tomorrow night's program will include numbers by Sousa, Morton Gould, Rimsky-Korsakov and Vaughn-Williams. The selections will range from the well known "Stars and Stripes Forever" to an FSU drum trio composed of Andy Odum, Jim Gilbert and Cris Welker. The trio will be furnished with three complete drum trap sets and will be featured as combined "ride" artists, reminiscent of Ed Black and Buddy Rich

Also featured will be Bruce Whitaker who is a trombone soloist with the band playing "Allander Sephyrs." Stanley R. Whitcomb, director of bands, will conduct the program.

Art Faculty Presents Group Exhibition

Eight members of the Department of Art teaching staff at Florida State University will present a group exhibition of their work latest through 1938 in the University Art Gallery.

According to Dr. Adolph Karl Gilbert, head of the department and artist head of the department, the opening will be marked by an informal reception from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. tomorrow. There will be no formal invitations. However, those interested are invited to attend, he added.

Hours for the gallery are 12:30 to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday and 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday. The gallery is closed each Monday.

Sculpture will be represented by Fred Roleshin and Ruth Jeppe's mosaico prints and paintings by Doris Bayard; paintings by Karl Zerbe, Howard Janes, Florence Kaws, Ann Kirk, and Larua Lee. Most of the art professors who will exhibit in the new show have had one-man and group exhibitions in Tallahassee and various centers in the country, but have not exhibited together before.

New sundicance applies to Zerbe's work since the announcement of his permanent appointment as professor of art at Florida State University. He is widely known as an American expressionist painter and teacher.

DANCE HONORARIES RESUME LESSONS

Cavalier and Cotillion have resumed dancing lessons for the spring semester. All interested students are invited to attend the lessons which are held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Student Center.

Watered Down Version

Publication Editors Expecting Senatorial Battle Over Board

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

If Student Senate passes a Board of Publications amendment tomorrow, it will be a watered-down version of the proposal given to it last week by the newly-elected student editors.

Indications point to a determined floor fight by Senator Ken Gatlin to so weaken the amendment as to leave the selection of editors in the vote of the entire body.

A meeting of editors-elect Jean Roberson, Florida Flambeau; Don Heidt, Smoke Signals, and Jim Broderick Talisman and a special Senate conference committee has been set for 4 this afternoon in the Senate Chamber to iron out difficulties

New Proposal

Miss Roberson said she has a proposal to put before the committee which does away with the objections voiced to a Flambeau editor by Sen. Gatlin.

The proposal, as written last week, calls for a board of publications of three non-student members appointed by the university president and the student-members selected by the editorial staffs, as well as the three publications editors.

Sen Gatlin said yesterday he would introduce a set of amendments limiting the Board to an advisory capacity only, denying the vote to faculty and administrative members, prohibiting executive sessions and providing for election or appointment by the Student Body President of the two non-student members of the Board.

This, he admitted, would limit the Board to a position requires continued election of publications editors by vote of the Student Body.

Advisory Capacity

Miss Roberson's counter-proposal would also limit the board to an advisory capacity terming its duty to be that of studying "Business, editorial, personnel, and other problems of student publications and to make recommendations for the solution of those problems."

Her proposal would provide for the two additional student members to be elected at large by the student body in the class elections, have junior or senior standing, and have either a minimum of six semester hours above the "300" level in the School of Journalism or two semesters' experience in student publications.

This set-up, it was noted would preclude any possibility of censorship but would keep the selection of editors in the hands of the Board.

The editors, themselves however, seem to be in favor of a board of publications with few reservations other than those of Miss Robertson listed above

Bob Polson, outgoing Flambeau editor, said the board set-up would have enough safeguards in it. Referring to statements made before the Senate that if the students didn't set up a board they'd get one forced on them, Polson said "I think it was inevitable that FSU would put their student publications under a board of publications.

"I think the over-submissility to the Student Senate has the proper safeguards in it to see that the publications is kept foremost." he said

Most Capable

"I believe that the idea that must be remembered is that whoever is selected for editor should be the most capable and the most qualified whether he be elected by the student Body or chosen by the Board of Publications.

"I always fear censorship, but I have faith that a board will be able to fulfill the duties of such.

Asked if a Board of Publications could help the Flambeau, Polson said "I hope it will be able to. The main hope is that the Board will be able to solve the financial difficulties of all three publications, and not serve as a function for the Senate on policy to this newspaper, since the journalistic policy will certainly be left up to the editor."

Outgoing Tully-Ho editor Tom Woods voiced similar comments.

"I think the function of publications is a necessity to insure a smooth - running publications program," he said. "The Board of Publications would be of great benefit to Tally-Ho; more so than any other publication, financially and technically."

Woods noted, however, that he felt the two-students at large on the Board should be elected or appointed by the Student President, and commented that he doesn't think the board would attempt to censor the publications

He conceded that while "it may not always be better" to appoint the editors to a board,

(Continued on Page 6)

Jumps Gun On Stratton's, Due Today

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Senator Connor of Live Oak introduced a surprise bill in the State Senate yesterday calling for intercollegiate relations to be established between FSU and UF in all major and minor sports.

The bill set no definite date, but Connor said he thought a football game between the two state universities could be arranged by 1936. Before becoming a law it has to pass the Senate and House.

Connor emphasized his determination to see Florida State University play the University of Florida, declaring that he would hold a public hearing next week if arrangements are not made promptly by the two schools invited to the hearing, he stated, would be presidents and football coaches of the two universities and "all interested parties."

Stratton Too?

The Conner bill came up one day before Senator Stratton, of Callahan, was scheduled to introduce a similar measure Connor's bill was referred to the Senate Miscellaneous Legislation Committee The Senator will be expected Stratton to introduce a bill today in the Senate providing for athletic relation to begin in 1936. But held off until today pending discussion with UF athletic director Bob Woodruff

Regarding the public hearing, Connor said he hoped to see both his and Stratton's bills discussed at that time. "I want to see the heat on and see this game arranged," he stated.

Not Antagonistic

"I'm not antagonistic to these schools but I think FSU and UF ought to play," he said. President of the Citrus, Florida, University tomorrow. There will be no formal invitations. However, those interested are invited to attend, he added.

Connor declared that athletic director Woodruff was unfeling and alumning because FSU will give them a close game

"I won't ask FSU will beat them," he declared "but I think it will be a pull-up football game." Connor said he understood that UF had a full schedule and that it would be thunitis game could be arranged to be played in 1938

A Better Game

He recalled that George Washington University and Wake Forest are listed at UF opponents year after next "I believe that FSU can play a better game than either of them." he said Asked if UF would break a ter-same schedule, Connor replied "If you're not a member of a conference in the world we'll let them play."

Connor said when the schools "realize we're not bluffing, they'll be more than willing to arrange a game." He said that all over the state there's a definite sentiment toward a FSU-UF football game. "I think the majority of the people of Florida want them to play."

The Bill

Provisions of Connor's bill are as follows:

1) Intercollegiate athletic re-

(Continued on page 4)

Only A Short Time Left

Two outstanding individuals have appeared here in the past few days. In the talks they gave, they were both outspoken and discerning, at least, by the seemingly rigid standards prevalent today.

This wasn't too surprising, though because the thinking of Philip Wylie and D. F. Fleming are far ahead of our time. So far, in fact, that what they said here and elsewhere has not yet been assimilated by the body politic today.

Mr. Wylie spoke on and criticized a range of subjects, undoubtedly startling some of his audience. Dr. Fleming talked bluntly on specific subjects concerning Governmental policy both here and abroad.

While its difficult to say they would both see eye to eye on everything, they both came to almost the same conclusion on one subject: they pointed out the terrifying implications of our armament race.

What they said on this should be thoroughly pondered over because it is the foremost problem facing civilization today.

Actually this should be no problem. For the solution or at least what is not the solution is obvious.

When we begin to realize, as Dr. Fleming said in quoting Lewis Mumford that "retaliation is not protection; that total extermination of both sides is not victory; that a constant arch the normal fear, suspicion and hatred is not security; that, in short, what seems like unlimited power has become impotence," then perhaps, not yet peace can be regained, but there will be a clear realization that "success can be achieved hereafter only in less destructive struggles."

Dr. Fleming was most pointed when he said we are locked in two great struggles "the struggle with the Communist world to show which can raise the standard of living most successfully, and develop the most acceptable way of life, especially the impoverished and under-privileged peoples; and the struggle to turn atomic energy into peaceful uses, putting power at the disposal of the depressed peoples and unfavored areas of the world where it is most needed. The side which wins this competition will win the cold war itself."

Housemeetings

On last Thursday night House Meetings were held. It's pretty well known too, that any female who absents herself from this almost sacrosanct gathering—without permission—is usually quickly reckoned with.

These house meetings are planned far in advance. So far in advance, in fact, that they're in the Pow Wow handbook's schedule of events at the beginning of the year. Which, it can be said, is a pretty stiff argument for not missing it, for not scheduling anything else to do that night, for not placing anything else above the importance of attendance and for just not violating this old established tradition of having the girls together so the law can be laid down.

Now after this argument is thrown in for what it's worth, we wonder why anything else at all is scheduled for FSU's women students on these particular nights.

Instead of scheduling something for students, the girls included, just don't schedule anything on this night. That would be better, we think, than breaking up other activities on campus and elsewhere, so the girls can rush back at the stroke of ten.

Another alternative would be to move the meeting up one hour to eleven o'clock. Since eleven is the standard time whereby most activities clock themselves, especially during the weekdays, it seems to us that this would create no hardship. It would certainly keep pace with the regular timetable we mentioned.

While some may shrink at violating this old and established tradition, the housemeetings wouldn't lose too much of their fashionability. They will still remain a bore to many, however.

Also, if these house meetings are part of the real responsibility a university is supposed to develop in an individual, they aren't doing a very prosperous job.

An Open Letter To The State Legislature

Gentlemen:

We want you to defeat a proposal that textbooks praising or supporting UNESCO (United Nations Economic, Social, and Cultural Organization) be banned from use in the Florida Public Schools.

The sponsors of this measure seem to feel that because UNESCO allegedly strongly supports "world government" students in our schools should not be exposed to it.

The sponsors of this measure seem to feel that world government is just another form of subversion, and that anything that goes thusly against the Constitution is not to be allowed on your youth.

By striking down any mention or praise of UNESCO or United Nations or anything you would be going against the Constitution more than any group, more so than even the Kremlin, could possibly go.

For does our Constitution not guarantee freedom of speech? Does it not leave one with the impression that America was intended to be a nation of free people, trusted to choose the right course of action?

If world government as advocated by UNESCO and United Nations — these groups are moderate, they do not advocate a superstate, they ask only for cooperation among nations — is bad, the people must decide. Neither you nor we can decide for them. And if it be good, the people must decide, and neither you nor we can make them obey our wills.

We see in the action of some of your members a very unhealthy outlook on the world; an outlook which seems to say that America stands like a mighty army behind her Constitution and that no power on earth could breach that Constitution.

Yes, we stand behind our Constitution. But we see nothing in the Constitution that prohibits us from joining with other people in an effort to bring out the best range of man's inhumanity to man which makes a mockery out of the principles of every established religion and those of every free nation in the world.

One of your members attempted to overawe a lady who spoke against banning mention of UNESCO by reminding her that "Alger Hiss drew up the charter for the United Nations."

So? Suppose Alger Hiss was convicted of lying that he hadn't had Communist associations. Does that make the United Nations charter any less worthwhile than the Revolutionary War victory over the British at Saratoga, won by Benedict Arnold, who later turned traitor? Were we to repudiate Saratoga?

And to quote the brilliant comment of a local newspaper, "We had been under the sentimental impression that the faceless, nameless people who were blown to bits in the past war, and the one before that, and the ones before that, might have assisted the charter writers. But perhaps not, perhaps no one had them in mind when they made the United Nations."

So what if the United Nations does make such statements as the one that one of your members termed the work of "determined plotters." To wit: "Education belies containing statements such as 'our children should be educated to prepare themselves for citizenship in a world society.'"

This may come as a shock to a certain senator, but if he calls himself a Christian he is associating himself with a world society. World society implies a responsibility to other nations, responsibility to treat them as our brothers, not to kill them, and in turn a reciprocal responsibility to treat us with the same humanity.

Another of your members was quoted as complaining that "We did business beautifully with other nations before UNESCO and the United Nations came along."

And we again agree with the editorial comment voiced by the newspaper we previously referred to:

"Yes, we remember that. There was that beautiful business from 1941 through 1945, and that other beautiful business in 1917 and '18, and one in 1898 and some other beautiful businesses before that."

Gentlemen, we implore you to send this anti-UNESCO measure back to the cellars of intolerance and fright where it belongs. It does not deserve the lengthy consideration of men who call themselves free and intelligent.

The Florida Flambeau

Bob Folsom, Editor
Jay Robertson, News Editor
Orchid Alonso, Mgr. Editor

Asst News Editors — Oscar Johnson, Pat Marston, Willis Smith
Sports Editors — Bub Gutting, Dick Victory
Sports Staff — Alan Whitmarsh, Jim Bernard
Amusement Editor — David Orers
Photographer — Lenard Anderson
Joe Caldwell, Business Mgr.
Assistant Business Manager — Irma Cox
Exchange Editor — John Hafford
Assistant Exchange Editor — Susan Hyde
Distributors — Members of Alpha Phi Omega
Copy Editors, Pat Marston, Willis Smith
Rewrite Editor ..... Margaret Miller
Art Consultant ..... Franklin Adams
Cartoonist ..... Con Horn
Junior Staff — Jerome Bernstein, Marty Reeves, Ann Stanley, Jan Bradfield, Charlet Polravitch, Pat Brady, Tann Hammond
Asst. Ads Mgr. — Nina Rola
Business Staff — Jeanetta Puckett, Marv Dressler
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.
Telephone 2 8200 extension 6821
211, 213 Longhire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

"Now If You Could Just Control Your Inventions, Huh?"

A Better Measure
18 Year Old Vote

By JEROME BERNSTEIN

Once again the perennial question "Should 18 year olds vote?" has come up. This time the Florida State Legislature is asking the question.

In search of an answer, this reporter questioned students on campus to see what the general opinion at FSU was. One freshman stated she was all for it. She said she felt some eighteen-year-olds were more capable of voting than many adults. Another student, a junior, stated that she didn't feel any accident at right out of high school was essential for understanding the problems facing the nation and therefore should not have the right to vote. She added they should vote out in the world one year before voting. In other words, they should wait until they reached their nineteenth birthday.

One freshman male student was stated he felt anyone who was capable of fighting his country's battles was capable of voting.

A point often reiterated in the past few years. He emphasized, "Whoever runs the country effects a soldier more directly than anyone else." This statement was clarified when he added that all men and women in the armed forces should have a say who will be their commander in Chief. For it is this Commander in Chief who has direct control of the armed forces and every life in uniform.

Perhaps the best answer received in this query was the one given by a veteran who said, "I personally believe that eighteen-year-olds should be given the right to vote. In the majority of cases most eighteen-year-olds have not been in contact with the outside world long enough to really understand the issues, whereas a nineteen-year-old has had a whole year to get acquainted with national problems after graduation from high school.

When asked his opinion on the adage "old enough to fight, old enough to vote," he replied it didn't hold true. He said many men have the 'brawn' to fight but not the 'brawn' to vote intelligently.

Another veteran summed up his feelings by saying, "If a man can die for his country, he can vote."

My own feelings on this question are along with the nineteen-year-old vote. In many cases, while a high school graduate has more knowledge pertaining to national news, he does not have the understanding of that knowledge. This is they goes along with the suggestion that a graduate should have at least one year outside of school before being given the vote.

From Other Colleges
Campus Round-Up

15 BEERS AID RESEARCH

TROY, N. Y. —(ACP)—Larry Edwards, a junior here at Rensselaer Polytechnic, probably wrapped up first place day as the yawn, if not the most scientific "mother pig" on the school's campus.

As part of the Inter-Fraternity Council-sponsored Safety Week, Edwards volunteered to drink a can of beer every 20 minutes from 1 to 3 p.m. in the student lounge.

Purpose of the experiment was to study "reaction time, depth perception, peripheral sight vision and steadiness under the increasing effect of alcohol." Data was recorded throughout the test, designed to show by actual demonstration the detrimental effect of alcohol on the sensory perception of drivers.

* * *

PILFERED PIGGIES POSE PUZZLE

STOCKTON, Calif.—ACP—One little piggy went to market, one little piggy stayed home, but the question around Stockton College campus is: Where did the print shop "pilferers" run?

Seems that someone walked off with 1,000 pounds of lead "pigs" from the school's print shop. Instructor Clifford Geddes said the total value of the lead, which is used, after melting, in the shop's Linotype or casting machines, was pegged by $400.

MASTER OVER MIND

ACP)—Holly Waster reports this item in his "Forty Acres" column in the Daily Texan. Edwin Greenup, professor at the University of Texas found one of his lectures getting severe competition from an air hammer outside his classroom. "I'll never do that to him," said the professor as he marched out the door.

In a few minutes he returned, his hair mussed and shoulder the look of having been in something of a struggle.

He breathed a sigh as he shrugged his shoulders and explained, "He has 1 gotta fill out two requisitions and take them . . ."

* * *

SPIKE THE PUNCH WATTE WAS DOZE?

HILLSDALE, Mich.—ACP—The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sisters in the early bird theory. The Hillsdale College sorority scheduled an informal morning breakfast starting at 5 a.m. and extending until 9 a.m.

The co-eds called for their dates in the wee hours of the morning, entertained with a with a floor show, danced to recorded records and then served orange juice, doughnuts and coffee.

The Hillsdale Collegian, campus paper, suggested it was "something new in the line of informals."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS — by Dick Bibler

Reflections
Board Created For Betterment

By OSCAR JOHNSON

"Board of Publications" is a dignified term. Its meaning however, is vague.

Since the prospect of such a board will come before the Student Senate tomorrow for the second time in the form of a bill, we as students feel we should think about what it will mean to us.

What will the Board of Publications, if it ever becomes a reality, do? The answer to that question depends upon which type of board is chosen. There are censorship boards and regulatory boards.

The regulatory type is the one now pending before Senate. Under it the publication's editorial policy is entrusted with a view toward improving its quality—the board says what "quality" means. For instance, if the bill is passed, the Flambeau next year will not be able to print stories ridiculing individuals if the board deems this obnoxious. On the other hand, the Flambeau may continually criticize practices of the administration if the board thinks this is a good policy to pursue.

The point is, how will a board be an improvement over the present conditions? If there is no satisfactory answer to this, then it is meaning however, is vague.

Since the prospect of such a board will come before the Student Senate tomorrow for the second time in the form of a bill, we as students feel we should think about what it will mean to us.

What will the Board of Publications, if it ever becomes a reality, do? The answer to that question depends upon which type of board is chosen. There are censorship boards and regulatory boards.

The regulatory type is the one now pending before Senate. Under it the publication's editorial policy is entrusted with a view toward improving its quality—the board says what "quality" means. For instance, if the bill is passed, the Flambeau next year will not be able to print stories ridiculing individuals if the board deems this obnoxious. On the other hand, the Flambeau may continually criticize practices of the administration if the board thinks this is a good policy to pursue.

The point is, how will a board be an improvement over

The calaylstic factor in the changeover of the persons who previously opposed a board is nothing less than a letter of recommendation from the Faculty Senate Committee of Student Publications which recomended to President Campbell an outline for a Board of Publications which the present publications staffs considered a satisfactory board. When they saw this letter, they realized that the "censorship board" be established before the end of this year.

the die-hards clambered aboard the creaky bandwagon.

In a series of meetings of the publication staffs, the student proposal for a board was drawn up. Actually there was no action from the university system toward creating a board to this writer's knowledge but the students felt that if they took the initiative and asked for a board themselves they stood a good chance of getting a favorable board to their liking. Some of the staff members have been working a long time.

This writer's belief is that a board could be established which would insure the students a better Flambeau than they have gotten in certain instances under the present system. It does not do to wish to see one body of power behind the other. The threat of prior establishment should not goad the students into setting up their own, that is safe and indeed necessary that we take time to measure our steps.

No censorship board can be thrust upon us. The board if there be one, must not be established as a preventive action, but created with a desire for betterment.

Lately It Seems
Mass Exodus From Parties Probable

By ORCHID ALONSO

Campus politics, party or not, should not, are not, worth preference over other topics of current real interest. Especially are nominating conventions approaching.

There should be more people in attendance at the conventions than there usually are because there are more offices to be filled. The nominating conventions for both the Student and State parties last month were awful affairs, lacking atmosphere, spirit—and students.

There are many speculations on why student attendance has sagged. For a while, the parties could claim disinterest and student participation—until the novelty wore off. What's more, the public remembers the faces of their protests, have added to the spirit of security to Longmire politics.

A political party has one goal—that of getting elected and preserve a specific interest, a particular philosophy. These ideals of the party should be realized through activities and action that will ensure the people who have faith in these particular ideas that their interests will be upheld.

There is only one ideal present on campus—and both parties stress that they are the ones to uphold it. Neither party has any Democratic parties or Republican parties in national elections to represent the constituencies to a battle is never quite the campus needs. That is all Florida State has.

There are a number of students who feel that they can engage in popularity and personality contests for the sake of, or without the aid of a party. And that's why—and that's why—they haven't.

There will be no many outstanding candidates running as "independent." The term is not to be confused with party.

No Senator or very few anyway has maintained "his integrity" by voting along party lines. They have voted along lines which they believe will serve the interest of the students best. This in itself, helps them to maintain their integrity—for they are in a sense of the word—maintaining the ideals of campus party politics

"What the students need and want."

If we are focusing on Senators, it is because the Senate race will be offering the students the widest choice between the parties and independents. It is of mild interest to wonder where the parties will go to get enough well qualified people to run for the staggering numbers of non partic candidates—including a senior class president.

Maybe the time has arrived the parties with a valid reason for existence have never had any organization is easy, but that's been one time.

Although some budding independent candidates have not announced their intentions, the students needs a two-thirds majority and seems now in Senate running for reelection

Campus politicians are other politicians with a overlapping talk interests that if one or two specific candidates leave the fields—others will follow. We don't presume to say that it will be a mass exodus—but there might be.

The Dissenter
Measure Of Democracy Prevails

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

In spite of all the claims that FSU is a dictatorship, a measure of democracy prevails.

For instance, there are five students. I suppose, who haven't ever heard anyone who favor say. "Well, class, shall we do like we always do?"

Sometimes the question is just a sham but at other times it is actually put to the vote.

This is democracy on a small scale. Whether or not nothing wrons with it, of course?

Can this word "democracy" and the practice for which it stands be applied to the university as a large scale? Moreover, should a university be a "democratic" institution?

At first glance, that question is about as fair as the one that was asked if the pope believes in motherhood Of course you miant say, everybody believes in motherhood.

On the other hand, there are many things which claim with perfect sincerity that a university should have a strong administration headed by a strong man whose decision should be strong—and final.

This is where student rights of FSU is a dictatorship a measure of democracy prevails.

For instance, there are five students. I suppose, who haven't ever heard anyone who favor say. "Well, class, shall we do like we always do?"

Sometimes the question is just a sham but at other times it is actually put to the vote.

This is democracy on a small scale. Whether or not nothing wrons with it, of course?

Can this word "democracy" and the practice for which it stands be applied to the university as a large scale? Moreover, should a university be a "democratic" institution?

At first glance, that question is about as fair as the one that was asked if the pope believes in motherhood Of course you miant say, everybody believes in motherhood.

On the other hand, there are many things which claim with perfect sincerity that a university should have a strong administration headed by a strong man whose decision should be strong—and final.

This is where student rights of FSU is a dictatorship a measure of democracy prevails.

How about the students' right to periodically hery for an education. Consequently they know, or think they know, what they want. The administration may think otherwise in which case, they consider themself more qualified to make such decisions. There can be, and often is, room for mutual rule. Cooperation is definitely called for.

Another reason for a democratic university is that when it is democratic many can be counted the "greatest and for the greatest number" will more likely be done The merits of this are clearly self-explanatory.

I could list more reasons but I'll leave it themselves to go and one more. This latter has nothing to do with the results of democracy, but rather with

(Continued on Page 6)

Etcetera Etchings
Moving Out Of 'B' Picture Class

By DAVID DREIS

Republic pictures has announced that it is moving completely out of the 'B' picture class to make a series of major productions. According to Herbert Yates, the proxy of the firm, the new way the public might see back into small-budget production is by shoving the 'B' class major films. Republic, by the way, was playing down Orson Welles in the billing of his first picture "Trouble in the Glen" but now Margaret Lockwood, Forrest Tucker and Victor McLaglen didn't sell as many tickets. Welles is being played up. Especially in New York advertisements.

Allied Artist also had a similar trouble. When the company was known as Monogram they were quite happy with the 'B' picture label. After all, somebody had to make the second-half of a double-feature. Well, video got rid of that notion and the firm has been moving for major pictures featuring top stars & directors etc. Stories have been minimized since many of the minor epics didn't make money although they had great stories. Sam Katzman Producer of with Richard Crane, Wanda Hendrix and Jean Brooks and Walter Wanger's "Halli Baba" you know what I mean. Allied Artists is now going to follow the road paved by Universal-International. Technicolor—and everything — especially westerns.

Universal has come up a great deal over last year. When the studio started it was covered exclusively by them. Then, with money from that best-selling book under their belts, they can afford to make films like "Magnificent Obsession" and "The Glenn Miller Story." Also, their discovery of new stars is making their company financially successful. Rumble is following suit playing up one young star; Ben Cooper, whose roles in "Johnny Guitar" & other epics have called attention to him.

Today, the top film company is probably Columbia which had two entries up for Academy Awards and is slating big things for a host of new stars and old stars. Harry Cohen is being teamed with Dick Powell in a musical version of It Happened One Night" the 1934 film with Clarke Gable and Claudette Colbert and Frank Capra. The picture is slated for the Oscar. Powell wants very much to direct it, so the co-star may have to be sought.

Paramount, of course maintains the high quality which was cited last year, bus because of Columbia's competition, it has dropped to second place. RKO probably deserves, the bottom spot vacated by U-I, but they deserve the post since everything without Jane Russell is pretty punk. They played up "This Is My Love" which had an older even Alvy West couldn't disenfect. Howard Hughes knows just what makes a good movie as far as general reaction is concerned and it was certain he didn't make that film.

Atomic Timetable Is Rushing Upon Us, Says Expert

Professor D. F. Fleming Talks Here On 'The Armament Race'

...D. F. Fleming said last night that the A-bomb removed the last thin ex-...that bombers aim at war objectives.

...He told a Florida State University audience that the atom bomb has now made ...ge slaughter of civilians ... only unavoidable but ...objective of military ...Dr. Fleming, of the ...University, spoke in ...gmore Auditorium under ...auspices of the Political ...ence Department, as its ...ial lecturer in political ...gence.

...e white-haired research ...ssor of political science ...ained on "The Atomic Arms ...e advanced three reasons ...e prompt use of the bomb ...Japan.

...e first was the saving of ...erican and Japanese lives. He ...ed this was not an urgent mat-...in the fresh memory of ...unsurvivory resistance of the ...anese on the Iwojima Islands ...inst with the impact of the ...ade air raids on our warships. ...e convinced the military men ...t the Japanese would fight ...the last man and the last ...oman cave on their home ...ands.

...e second was to avoid "re-...itment of great numbers of ...erican troops from one war ...ter another.

DECISIVE REASON

...e third reason was the ...decisive: "After the sur-...der of Japan on July 16, ...e realized that Russia ...ld desire and against Japan ...o longer needed the ...ericans was at hand to force ...apanese surrender," he related.

...e said also that it was a ...ious thing for American gen-...s and Russian marshals like ...Macarthur and North China ...mmander of 1945, bearing ...ards of thousands of pres-...ures while American armies ...inactive," he maintained ...e impression that the Red ...ny indispensable and im-...ant could have saved over ...said and the propulsion ...e post-war effort in the ...ited States would be applied ...Russia.

...Fleming asked "Was there ...y accordingly around room ...ebating freely what we could ...do momentarily?"

EISENHOWER ASKED

...d Gen. Eisenhower was ...e a Senate committee ...ed whether the atom should ...shared and the general re-...plied. "Let's be realistic. The ...scientists say other nations will ...ld the secret anyway. There ...e some point in sharing it for ...out of necessity."

...Fleming related that the ...ate Secretary of War Henry L. ...mson recommended that indi-...vidual rights could come in Rus-...sia only slowly and gradually ...and that Russia's policy of ...making a man trustworthy by ...putting him should be applied ...to the Russians.

...He said Stimson pointed out ...that unless the Soviets are ...totally invited into the partner-...ship upon a basis of mutual trust ...and trust a desperate arms race ...would result.

FORTHRIGHT APPROACH

...Dr. Fleming said Stimson urged that the U. S. make a direct ...and forthright approach to Rus-...sia and warned that the action ...of any international group of ...nations, including many small ...nations who are not democra-...tic, would limit their potential power or responsibility in this war would ...be taken less seriously by ...the Soviets."

...In other words, Dr. Fleming ...said, the UN could never settle ...the problem.

...The war was not heeded, and ...on Oct. 27, 1945, President Tru-...man rejected a proposal that ...Russia be invited and stated that ...control of the A-bomb was regarded ...as a secret U. S. and the profes-...sor related

UN COMMISSION

...A program to create a UN

UNLOADING ZONE

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (ACP)—A student at the Civic Center—San Francisco, claims The Guardsman, campus paper, climbed into his Fiesta, "pulled the throttle and on the starter and was greeted with a blush. Checking under the hood, he found his distributor cap and all the spark plugs missing.

He had been parked in front of the campus police station, too.

Three out of four traffic accidents happen in clear weather on dry roads.

German People Are Decisively Against Arming Says Fleming

The German people seem to be quite decisively against rearmament, Dr. D. F. Fleming told the Jacksonville Lounge yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Fleming said many thousands of Germans are suffering from what he called "anxiety neurosis". The German doctors have found it to be a "delayed reaction" caused by the suffering at the hand of the Russian armies and American bombers.

Na Militarism

Because of this, the political scientist said, "we may not have the situation everyone has feared in the east that now you get the Germans in uniform. It will be German militarism all over again."

It may just the opposite They do not desire peace, he said.

Dr. Fleming quoted M. S. Handler, of the New York Times correspondent in Germany, as saying that the anti-rearmament group in the German government are winning peace day daily. Even among the students the clergy, the intellectuals almost all the workers, there is little thinking of them.

Dr. Fleming said this would seem to make up the majority of the German people

Atomic Weapons

He doubted if the Russians would ever be shifting over the Eastern Germany with atomic weapons, or the civil a divisions that will go to make up the German army.

If we can't bluff them, we will have to accept some of the Russian terms, which includes neutralizing Germany."

If this happened, Dr. Fleming went on, the Protestants may replace the Catholic majority, and Germany would undoubtedly be Socialist instead of "free enterprise and big business."

Not At Rest

In view of this, Dr. Fleming said he wondered whether the ruling powers in Bonn are as keen on unification as they seem to be.

Dr. Fleming believed that when the two German divisions become a reality, they are going to make a real effort to form a democratic army."

He said it will take three years or longer to get the army into shape before they can fight. He does not think that the twelve divisions would tip the scales on our side if a war did come.

POLITICAL SCIENTISTS HEAR ARMAMENT EXPERT
Dr. D. F. Fleming, second from right, talks to Dr. Vincent Thursby, while FSU students, Lacy Baldy, left, and Phil Springer, right, listen.

Excerpts From 'Arms Race' Talk

Today two points of no return in the atomic timetable are rushing upon us. One is the time when the explosion of H-bombs, for any reason, will so poison the air with radioactivity that all nations will begin to produce defective children or deformed monsters. The Federation of American Scientists warned us, on March 8, 1955, that H-bomb explosions will ultimately create "a serious threat to the existence of all people in the world." This is a grave warning, but it is not likely that it will be heeded.

Atomic Fighting

A second point of no return was described by Dr. Gen. Thomas R. Phillips, Ret.) in his Report on Atomic War, 1955—the point when all branches of our armed forces are supplied with atomic weapons and trained to use and to fight them. After this point is reached any considerable fighting is likely to become rapidly an atomic world war. The danger will be constant, also, that even the threat or fear of war may lead one side to rush to obliterate the other, rather than wait to be the first target of obliteration raids.

This point of no return in atomic armament is likely to be reached by the United States within five years with the Russians not far behind. We are widely reported to have H-bomb atomic weapons already.

In the meantime the decision seems to have been made already to make any future war an atomic one. It was decided months ago that NATO forces would use atomic weapons in any war in Europe, even if the other side did not use them. The justification was that Europe could not be defended otherwise. The same decision has now apparently been made about Formosa.

New Weapons

Secretary of State Dulles declared on March 8, 1955 that our war plans and forces are "now equipped with new and powerful weapons of precision which can utterly destroy military targets without endangering unrelated civilian centers." And on March 16 President Eisenhower said that atomic weapons would be used "on strictly military targets and for strictly military purposes, just exactly as you would a bullet or anything else."

Hanson W. Baldwin, military expert of the New York Times, said on March 17, "our least powerful atomic weapon has an explosive force equivalent to about 3,000 tons of TNT," the way is now open to use this kind of "baby" weapon, setting off a chain reaction of explosions in the hydrogen-used back and forth until the H-bombs are used to kill all the cities of an enemy.

Though this is what we are heading for, there is still a sincerer in the thinking of the American people. They do not fully realize yet that if another war comes, most of the great American cities, Boston, Baltimore, New York, Pittsburg, Detroit and Chicago to Seattle and Los Angeles, must expect destruction. Since North America was a sanctuary—and a great sanctuary of prosperity—during the last two world wars, it is difficult for us really to believe that this will never be so again. We still have considerable faith in our geographic isolation, though we think that the much vaster spaces in Eurasia would not save the Reds from destruction.

Old Adventure

Some will always cling to the old aphorism that the defense catches up with the offenses and will dream of impenetrable radar screens, foolproof guided missiles and other miracles of defense, yet the impossibilities of making these things work all the time must be evident. Our defenders cannot always be in the air at the critical moment or even effectively alert on the ground at all times.

By degrees three things should be understood: (1) That the yet U. S. has the best atomic targets on the map, 30,000,000 people in our 25 largest cities and many more millions in our medium-sized cities. (2) That most of our great cities are seaports, making short work of them ships or submarines feasible, as well as from the air, and subjecting our people to the added danger of being deluged by radioactive water. (3) That the world is still round and while we have a ring of air bases around the Soviet Union, which may rapidly become politically untenable, the Soviets can still attack us from various directions.

By comparison with the U. S and the urbanized heart of Western Europe the communist world is far better situated to survive a hydrogen war. Many Russian cities would be destroyed, but their dispersion of industries and opportunities for concealment were very great and the Soviet people are much closer to the soil and able to endure primitive hardships, as they have done in the past and three times since 1914

Chinese Prepared

The resurgent, tightly organized Chinese people are still better prepared to resist an atomic war. Their few cities could be wiped out, but the vast bulk of the Chinese people would be where they have always been, in the countryside. Of the three peoples on the globe. If the bombs are to come, it seems to me this prediction, that after the H-bombers have finished the destruction of the Soviet Union, from the Urals through Western Europe and the U. S. to Shanghai, the Orientals, led by the Chinese, would end the barbaric the earth. The West is now enjoying its very latest chance not to learn to compose the old war and avoid the atomic war. Its only hope is to abandon the old fatal civilization which flashed through the pages of history to the end of the Stone Age.

In 1919 Norman Angell wrote a book called The Great Illusion in which he warned that another war could not be made to pay, even by the victors. Irate traditionalists and hasty reviewers insisted on misinterpreting his message into a prediction that another war could not happen. It did, and Angell's real warning was amply borne out. The second World War was far more destructive than the first. Yet there are those who still say that our recuperative powers are great and that we could somehow revive after the hydrogen holocaust. In a time when the means of speed ever became become much worse than prohibitive we are still thinking and preparing to act in the great arena of power politics exactly as we did when the weapons were bows and arrows, muskets or machine guns. No kind of conceivable policy can be advanced by atomic war, yet the great governments are preparing to wage it, over Formosa, if not over Quemoy and Matsu.

Making Peace

Sir Winston Churchill's last speech as Prime Minister, in which he surveyed the a-bomb arms race, led the very conservative London Daily Mail to say: "Thus we have only a short time in which to make peace with one another—or to make our peace with God."

This is literally our situation. We are moving steadily toward setting off the chain reaction of an atomic war that will overcome blood or bit of territory on the far side of the world. The Soviet Union is the ditches. In which it is said we must make a last stand, as well as the final childish destruction of Western civilization.

In reality, man has outsmarted himself. He has reached the point where he must choose oblivion or peace, and the chances are strongly that, civilized and primitive, we are going to greet scenes of anger over small incidents and an enormous complacency over the mass destruction of his brothers, he will not choose peace. Certainly man can find no escape through his invention of genius. It is that which has brought him to the brink of the globe by individual Thomas, Master of Corpus Christi College in Cambridge University, said on May 13, 1954, the hydrogen bomb is "absolutely crazy as a weapon." But an excellent form of suicide. The same will be true also of any worse forms of destruction, such as the cobalt bomb, or the trans-oceanic rocket with an atomic war head which are widely expected by 1960.

Hearts of Men

We have to realize, in the words of Lewis Mumford, that retaliation is not protection, that total extermination of both sides would mean that a constant state of morbid fear, suspicion and hatred is the only reality; that, in short, what seems the unlimited power has become impotence.

If there is to be any escape from this remedy must be found in the hearts of men, in their ability to use their sensibility and their sense of the limits of human power, in their ability to see that a collective failure to be human is hereafter only in less destructive ways.

Two of these are clearly indicated: (1) Our struggle with the communist powers, in which each raise the standard of living and security of the world develop the most acceptable way of life especially for the underpowered and under-privileged peoples; and (2) the struggle to turn atomic energy into peaceful uses, putting power at the disposal of the depressed people and unfavored areas of the world where it is most needed. The first of these this compilation will win the cold war itself.

Yet there will not be time for essential oneness of mankind to prevail, or for the commonsense of human nature to morality which are accepted all around us to operate effectively to make themselves effective, unless we insist that power be made the servant of governments, on the basis of recognizing the proper use of influence of each great power, including China.

Wylie Says Atom War Is Complete World Suicide Try

Won't Happen Unless Its Before 1957, Author Says

By MARGARET MILLER

There will be no atomic war—unless it happens before 1957, said Philip Wylie in his address to the English Coffee Hour here Friday in Westcott Auditorium.

The best author defended his belief with the statement that after 1957 either Russia or the United States could commit complete world suicide within only twelve hours

Psychological warfare or war with brains instead of arms will be used in the future to settle the issue of freedom versus communism Wylie said. Although he said the Americans people have so far been lethargic Wylie expressed faith that they would soon awaken to the love sense of their freedom

Wylie spoke to a well-filled Auditorium after he was invited to speak to a small Coffee Hour gathering. He was pleasantly surprised by the crowd. He was presented honorary membership in Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary society, by Dawn Bowden, president.

At the beginning of his address, Wylie made the startling statement that "Most of our social arts is phoney, should be thrown out." He was not, however, belittling liberal arts as such, but deplored the separation of liberal arts and science as practiced in our present educational system.

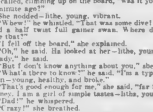
So-called educated people today, said, are ignorant of basic arts schools ignorant of science, yet living in a world where science governs everything. We are grounded in modern scientific principles.

Dr. Wylie contrasted contemporary and classical writers with the generalization that writers of past centuries grasped all the knowledge of science as it was to as present emulent authors tend to specialize

Using Pearl Buck for illustration, he said she knew a lot about the Chinese people. Of his friend, William Faulkner, Wylie remarked that he had never been able to determine what he knows.

Wylie, a government - hired civil defense expert, commented that any private student could easily detect the ignorance of our in-makers and administrators, including President Eisenhower and even the president of the Atomic Energy Commission, in the scientific knowledge of our time.

Anyone can acquire knowledge of science, Wylie believes. He himself learned about it because he was allowed to attend physician, a friend hoped to learn to write, under the condition that he learn the sciences as well as the liberal arts.



At an informal session afterwards, an FSU physics professor commented that physicists have not evidenced an attitude of responsibility such as that of their knowledge for the betterment of humanity.

Wylie agreed and concluded that the main argument for the combination of liberal arts and science

WOLF SEEKS GAL

TO SPEND SUMMER

NEW YORK CITY, N Y., (ACP)—Nan eyebrow was raised on the campus of City College recently when a Wolf advertised for a female traveling companion destination Hawaii in the school's paper, The Wolf," writes Ruth Ellis Reporter, was Miss Wilma Wolf. A girl with a wavy pen who wants a partner to help cut down the budget.

"Author of "Barefoot Boy With Cheek," etc.)

LOVE IN REVERSE

They were at the campus swimming pool. She was standing on the diving board—lithe, young, vibrant. He came swimming over. "Hey," he said, climbing up on the board, "was it you who made that dive a minute ago?"

She nodded—lithe, young, vibrant.

"Whew!" he whistled. "That was some dive! A back jackknife two and a half tuck! How long did it take you to learn to dive like that?"

"I fell off the board," she explained.

"Oh," he said. He looked at her—lithe, young, vibrant. "Let's go to the beach," he said.

"But I don't know anything about you," she said.

"What's there to know?" he said. "I'm typical American college man—young, healthy, and broke."

"That's good enough for me," she said, "for I am not interested in money. I am a girl of simple tastes—lithe, young, vibrant."

"Find," he whistled.

They left the board.

"Now I can see you better," she said, arms twined. They fell off the board.

"If you only knew," he said later, as he applied artificial respiration, "how long I have been looking for a girl who is content with simple tastes, for though my heart is large and full of love, my purse is lean and meagre. My cruel father sends me an allowance barely large enough to keep me in Marlboro Cigarettes, and I pay for a girl of simple tastes."

"Search no more," she said. "My tastes are simple; my wants are few. Just take me riding in a long, sleek, new yellow convertible, and I am content."

"Goodbye," he said and ran away as fast as his chubby little legs could propel him. He ran to the home of his father and told him of it. He had neither convertible nor hardtop, nor the money to buy one, nor the means to get the money, short of killing his father and laying by the ashes and shaking him till his wallet fell out. No, there was nothing for it except to get a job.

But lying on his pallet at the dormitory, he could not get her out of his mind for long. He knew that he must have her, achieve, had to have her—lithe, young, vibrant.

So he sold a kidney, a lung, his eyebrows, his ear-lobes, his pancreas, his rear-guard action, his overcoat, his hi-fi pin, his roommate's trivets—and soon he had accumulated a goodly sum. He went to a private detective and said, "Help me find one it cost," he said, "to buy a yellow convertible automobile!"

The man sold him a Ford for a gibbering heap.

After a while he stirred and thanked home. But on the way he spotted a girl in a long car. "Hey!" he said. "I'LL TAKE IT! I'LL BUY IT! I'LL KSELF. Hope came into our hero's eyes. He went inside. "How much does it cost," he said, "to rent a yellow convertible automobile?"

"Ten dollars a day, plus seven cents a mile," said the man.

"Done and done," said our hero, and soon he drove away in a long, sleek, new, yellow convertible.

"Oh, goody!" said the lithe, young, vibrant girl when she saw the car. "This is not my simple tastes in a T. Come, let us spend ever rolling highways and through bonky dells."

And away they went. They drove north, they drove south, they drove fast, they drove slow, they drove east, they drove west, they drove and drove and drove and, finally, tired but happy, they parked high on a windswept hill.

"Darling," he said.

"Yum, yum!" she said.

They lit up and lounged against him. "You know," he said, "you are like a Philip Morris—mild and fresh and relaxing."

"Why, you mean a lot different between you and Philip Morris," said she. "There're available in king-size and regular, and I am only available in regular."

They laughed. They kissed. He screamed.

"What is it, dear one?" she said, alarmed.

"The speedometer," he said. "I just noticed. We put on 200 miles tonight, and that was our entire gas tank. We've still got a mile, and I have only $14 left."

"But that's exactly enough," she said.

"Yes," he said, "but we still have to drive home, and that will put us out more miles at 7c. We're will I get the money to pay for that?"

"Now, I don't know," said she.

"Me neither," he said gloomily. He started the motor and backed out of the parking space.

"Hey, look!" said the girl. "The speedometer doesn't move when you're backing."

He looked. It was true. Mileage only registered when the car was moving forward in the right direction. "Hey!" he said. "That's it!"

"Do you mean—" said she.

"Exactly!" said he. "I will drive home in reverse. Then no more miles will register and I'll have enough money to pay."

I think that's a George idea!" she cried, and she was right. Because today our boys in in the county jail where food, clothes, and shelter are provided free of charge, and his allowance is piling up fast. By the time his sentence is ended, he should have enough to take his girl out riding again.

© Max Shulman, 1955

This column is brought to you by the makers of PHILIP MORRIS who think you would enjoy their cigarette.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

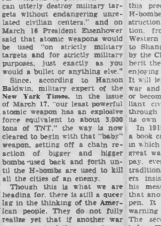
FLORIDA

The Long Gray Line
With TYRONE POWER MAUREEN O'HARA
in Cinemascope

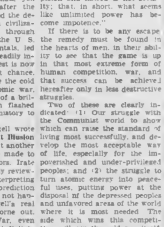
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

TODAY & TOMORROW
"MOGAMBO"
CLARK GABLE
AVA GARDNER
THURSDAY
"JOHNNY GUITAR"
JOAN CRAWFORD
plus
"MISION OVER OREA"
JON HODIAK

STATE



TODAY
"COUNTRY GIRL"
GRACE KELLY
BING CROSBY
plus
WEDNESDAY & THURS
"CHIEF CRAZY HORSE"
VICTOR MATURE
SUZAN BALL



CAPITOL DRIVE-IN
ON WOODVILLE HWY.

TODAY & TOMORROW
"FROM HERE TO ETERNITY"
FRANK SINATRA
MONTGOMERY CLIFT
BURT LANCASTER
DONNA REED
plus
THURSDAY
"FORTY-NINERS"
plus
"DEVIL'S CANYON"

RITZ—Today & Tomorrow
"IGH & DRY"—Paul Douglas
THIS—"OH AMELIA"—DARRIEAUX

TRY OUR Luscious PIZZA
EVERY TUESDAY NIGHT
"Pizza Night" AT FAIVER'S
FOR CHICKEN
Our Large Special Pizza ONLY . . . 85c
Phone 2-4578 1312 W. Tenn.

T. S. Eliot's 'Cocktail Party' Starts Friday In Conrad

Play Opens Nightly At 8:15 Until Tuesday

Beginning Friday "The Cocktail Party," a play by T. S. Eliot, will be presented in the Augusta Conrad Theatre. Other performances are scheduled for Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday at 8:15 p.m.

Under the direction of Dr. Linn Orr of the Speech Department, the all student presentation is that department's fourth major production this season.

Written in verse, the play "is serious and has a lot of thought in it," said Dr. Orr. It is not, as the name would suggest, a hilarious farce, he added.

Morality Play

A modern morality play, it is concerned with somewhat mystical ideas of God, man and modern society. The meaning of the play may change for each spectator who will find different ideas and symbols in it depending on the heart and mind he brings to the play.

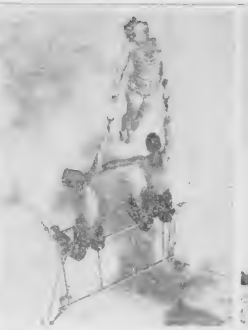
Feeling that the play expresses the idea that illusion must be dropped and reality faced Dr. Orr found Nobel-prize winning Eliot concerned with two basic questions.

Edward, Lavinia and Peter he said represent average men and women who decide "the second best in life" is all they can expect and they accept it. Illustrated through the character of Celia that Eliot presents the individual and the Saint who finds happiness only through sacrifice and dedication in the service of others."

About People

The play is about people, and is therefore about frustration, said Dr. Orr. The scene is depicted in modern cushioned, urban and rather frivolous.

Dorothy Womble plays the part of Lavinia and Eb Thomas plays Edward. Both students will graduate this semester. Barbara Waddell has the role of Julia. John Paul Davis will be Peter and Katharine Culbreper will play Celia. Hal Poe will be the "uninvited guest," Ruth Harvard, the nurse-secretary and Ryan Edwards, in his first dramatic production will portray Alex. Bonnie Landmesser will specialize in cast to play Alex, but was called into the service.



Lavine Director

Directing the cast is Mrs. Lavine of the Speech Department, while Charlie Reisner, also of that department, is in charge of scenery productions.

Tickets will go on sale tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Conrad Theatre box office. Admission will be 75 cents to the general public and 40 cents to students, upon presentation of their number. Per right ticket in the activity book.

Six Clown Alley—FSU Circus prankster's glance at and The Ramblin' Wrecks. They will perform here May 5, 6, and 7. Left to right, Jackie Fortune, Bobbie Temple, Tommy Wait, Jim Byrd, George Atkins and Buddy Jordan.

Breakaway Trio—Practice for quick escape artist degree on FSU circus lots. Left to right, Gail Hanshaw, Ed Wycoff and Charlie Matthews.

Batter Up—Or better up? Gail Hanshaw, performer, gets the pitch from the boss, Charlie Matthews. Ed Wycoff and Ed Fos

FSU Arts Club Holds Auction

To Be Thursday In Longmire

The Industrial Arts Club of Florida State University will hold an auction of hand-crafted articles made by club members and other interested persons Thursday at 8 p.m in Lonmaire Auditorium.

Many of the articles to be sold are on display in Slade's studio on College Avenue. Among the articles to be auctioned are wooden bowls, ceramic vases, sculpture, trays, coffee tables, lamps, and many other accessories for the home.

The Industrial Arts club is a professional organization of majors in Industrial Arts and other persons who are interested in Industrial Arts Education. It is at present making plans for a district meeting of camp from southeastern cities.

The club also sponsors crafts fairs in the Industrial Arts laboratory. This provides an opportunity for members to work in the industrial arts laboratory. The latest opened for the club is Dr. Hugh Hanel.

LEISURE READING HABITS TABULATED

DUBUQUE, Iowa, (ACP)—A survey on leisure reading by The Courier, Clarke College newspaper, showed Life magazine was the top choice of freshmen, juniors and seniors. Sophomores preferred Newsweek.

Time and Saturday Evening Post were placed second and third by all four classes.

The Silver Chalice was the most popular book choice of the freshmen and sophomores. Juniors favored The Caine Mutiny and seniors gave preference to Not As A Stranger.

The survey showed that students spent from three to four hours a week in leisure reading and the vast majority said their selection of books came through recommendation of other students. Faculty recommendation of books was placed second, and nearly all the students said they "just don't have time" to read as much as they would like.

Practical Experience Offered By Summer Theater Program

An extensive program in theatrical theater activity will be offered during summer school, announce directors of the FSU department of speech.

Technical training as well as actors and directing courses will be given, said Dr. Lyon Orr, associate professor of speech. Three full length plays will be produced one every two weeks, he added.

Plans to establish a stock company situation where concentrated training can be given to the student of theatre is under study. One of the outstanding features of the program is that the drama students will be permitted to use the college facilities. All casting will be made from persons registered in the course.

Laboratory Type

The course will consist of laboratory-type meetings of rehearsal and supervised practical work. These sessions will be conducted under the supervision of four staff members of the drama division of the department of speech.

They are Dr. Orr, Dr. Paul Dwyer, Charles Reimer, and Miss Frances Levine.

The course will be credited with either six or nine hours of graduate or undergraduate work and is open to anyone. Permission must first be obtained from the director, however.

"The program is established on the theatrical by doing theory and the development of skills in the problem in centre of the college," commented Orr.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the FSU Department of Speech. Summer school applications must be made by Monday, May 23.

Herblock On Aid And Wiretapping

"We Saved Four Million Dollars On The U. N. Technical Assistance Program"

"Sh — We're Busy"

Time Nearing For Student 'Circus' To Perform On Home Grounds Here

By CHARLET POTEVINT

The familiar cry of the barker will be heard again on the Florida State University campus when "Flying High" plays at Doak S Campbell stadium May 5, 6, and 7.

The 1955 version of the annual student circus has been completely revolutionized with special emphasis placed on the beauty and lighting of the show.

New back banners have been painted and many of the big production numbers on the stages have specially designed scenery to fit their themes.

New Acts

The new acts include "Gypsy Holiday," "Indian Summer," "Tip Time in Holland," "The Pit of Hades," all done in red and "Sophisticated Ladies," a garden number with lovely girls dressed in formal gowns.

According to Coach Glenn Hanna, the entire show has been muted closer to the audience so that the costumes and expressions of the performers' faces can be easily seen.

Highlighting the extravaganza will be numerous trapeze acts including Janet Craft's swing trapeze number, Sue Herndon's Version of Betty Hutton's balancing trapeze act in The Greatest Show On Earth, should provide many a thrill as well as John Mahre and Chappell stadium May 5, 6, and 7. Hutch Martin appearing 40 feet in the air as the Circus Athletes, and the Iron-Jaw trio of Marlene Putnam, Eleanor Long and Rod Smith.

High Trapeze

Fay Moses and Charlie Matthews have been favorites all season on the high trapeze and should bring a good round of applause. Another favorite "Star Dusters" is an act with one girl in an eight foot moon flanked by two eight-foot blue stars, each containing two girls.

Other acts range from tumbling and hand-balancing to "flying casting" and intricate aerial feats on the trapezes and high wires.

Acrobatic skating, adagio numbers, rope acrobatics, trick bicycle riding, a tight-wire act on wire suspended several feet above the ground, and knife-throwing will be some of the acts performed by the students, most of whom have never had previous circus experience before coming to FSU.

Exciting Acts

Still other exciting acts include a high pole act 30 feet in the air, stunts with stuffed [illegible] and balancing high-perch poles. Spanish Web, whirling trapeze and ladders, and several acts similar to those performed in professional circuses.

Manley Whitcomb has his top-notch 25 piece circus concert band organized and Charlie Carter has been busy on special arrangements which assures the tops in music for the "Big Top" production, said Haskin.

The 200-member troupe will have members of the legislature opening night May 5. Residents of Tallahassee are especially urged to attend this night also.

May 6, residents of Northwest Florida and South Georgia are urged to attend while on May 7, the residents living south and east of Tallahassee are asked to come. Students may attend any night.

Prices for FSU students will be 50 cents, and will automatically entitle the ticket-holder to a reserved seat.

Prices for adults are 75 cents and for children 25 cents. An additional charge of 25 cents will be made for each reserved seat.

"Flying High" started seven years ago and is now rated "the

Connor Introduces Surprise Bill

(Continued from Page 1

tween University of Florida and [illegible] shall be established in all major and minor sports between Florida State University.

(c) There is established a state policy requiring the scheduling of games in football, basketball and other sports between the two schools.

(2) All persons having appropriate administrative authority at these universities are directed to carry out the intent and purpose of this act.

(4) This act shall take effect immediately upon becoming a law.

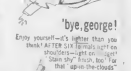
Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, Executive Secretary of the Board of Control said Connor's bill came as a complete surprise to him. He said it was too soon to say what the bill's implications are, but that "given a little time, the officials can work it out."

Traffic Control

(Continued from Page 1)

lished by the Board of Control with the approval of said municipal judge.

Exercise Authority



Law enforcement officers to exercise authority shall be "municipal police, patrolmen, and traffic officers, sheriffs, deputies and county traffic officers assigned to duty on the grounds of the institution of higher learning as well as campus police guards or traffic officers appointed for that purpose by the Board of Control."

The bill was introduced in the House by delegations from Alachua and Leon counties.

For a Job in Your Field

KATHARINE GIBBS SECRETARIAL

CAMPUS "STAND-OUTS" ★ ★ ★ Real Gone Gal

THIS IS IT! L&M's Miracle Tip's the greatest—pure and white. And it draws real e-a-s-y—lets all of L&M's wonderful flavor come through to you!

No wonder campus after campus reports L&M stands out from all the rest. It's America's best filter tip cigarette.

The Dissenter

(Continued from page 2)

the ethical values of democracy itself.

A university is supposedly the birthplace of new ideas the mother of progress, and in the Western World the haven of democracy. Democracy, however is an awful lot like kindness—it must begin at home.

A university, then, is a place to practice democracy, to prove that it can work. It is a place to nurture the idea, rather than a place to suppress and throttle it. A hostility to criticism is the very opposite of everything for which a university should stand.

I will soon attempt to discuss the question "Do we have democracy at FSU".

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

Old gymnasts never die . . . they just continue to compete. Or so one would think.

This fact was brought to my attention at the American League Home Saturday night when an FSU gymnast was putting on an act for the Women's Service League of Tallahassee.

The above mentioned gymnast was doing this real crazy act with a red table, and one of the girls down shouted an FSU gymnast saying a friend of his that he had not seen "since the 1938 NCAA."

The majority of the people present being familiar with the man responded with loud laughter. A brief look at the gymnasts would provide the answer.

Cornuc ace Don Holder outstanding member of the team from Jersey City, N. J. did not become an FSU freshman until he was 23 years old. Teammate Signorelli who has competed for FSU in gym clinics since graduation was in the same boat.

Others including Bill Rorton and Jack Mules, also continued on at FSU to do graduate work. This seems to be a trend that will be continued next year by Jim Padgett and Dick Leland.

This situation has given rise to what Dr. Price's team "the grand old men of gymnastics."

But there are many reasons for this situation.

Military service caused many of the gymnasts to begin college late. Others, such as Miles, the Regna twins, Don Holder and Dick Gutting worked for several years prior to attending this university.

But once here, the gymnasts are just naturally in their element. They form a team that is a power-house of action and design into outstanding performers.

Behind it all is Dr. Hartley Price who long has been famous for his winning teams. He is responsible for getting many of the men responded with loud laughter. A brief look at the gymnasts would provide the answer.

Many are high school graduates who have been working several years or men just out of service. But Dr. Price sends forth a call, and they are drawn to FSU a new they know that they will join with the clan and develop bonds of friendship that last for many years.

The number of gymnasts that are on to do graduate work is adequate proof that these men are not too eager to sever their association with the other members of this unique clan.

So it is not the face of a traveling gymnast to walk into the gymnasium and declare "What is the matter with all around".

It's all in the game.

Thinclads Upset U Of F To Win AAU

Florida Breaks Four Records Before Losing

By LARRY HOUNTHA

In spite of breaking 4 records and producing the meet's only double winner, the University of Florida's domination of the state A.A.U. track championships came to an abrupt end last weekend.

Florida State long the perennial underdog, caught fire at Gainesville last Saturday and handed the favored U. of F. track team their first defeat in many moons. Gator rooters had little to cheer about as they saw the Garnet and Gold place men in 13 out of 15 events and cop 4 individual championships for a total of 51 5-6 points as against 47½ points for the home team.

Defends Title

Seminole gold medalists include Carlos Fraundorfer who successfully defended his title in the discus and Ron Weaver who threw the javelin 193'6," for his first A.A.U. title and a new FSU record. High jumper Tenny Brown cleared the bar at 6'1" to share in a three way tie for first place and establish another new school mark. Brown also placed in the hurdles.

Duce Scores

Frosh distance star Vern Duce cleared a strong field in the 2 mile grind to take the gold medal Duce also scored in the 1 mile run with a second place showing behind Bill Adams, U. of F. mile champion.

In the sprints Charley Watson was home first in the quarter posting a winning time of 51.2. Watson also placed in the 220 yard low hurdles. Dauphin Joe Davis took 3rd in the 220 and placed in the broadjump. His runnumnate Jack Terwilliger scored in both the 220 and century.

Gator Nets Mark

Vaulters Warren Strickland and Carl Greeu tied for 3d place honors as Earl Poucher, veteran Gator ace, set a new meet mark of 14'3½". Lone scorer for the Indians in the shot put was Jerry Jacobs who placed second.

The final outcome of the meet was in doubt until the relay which was the last event on the program. The Seminole quartet, Ken Sesner Jack Terwilliger, Charley Watson and Joe Davis, fared a strong Gator group anchored by Bumper Watson, who had won both the 100 and 220 earlier in the day.

However the Indians broke on top and stayed there during another man Joe Davis a comfortable margin of safety which he added to winning with 15 yards to spare in 3:27.

Mercer Trampled

On April 5th the Indian track team journeyed to Marion County to take on a wet track, in a slow drizzle, they handed the Mercer Bears a walloping 101-30 defeat.

The Seminole trackstars had a field day as they merrily romped over the Mercermen in all but one event. When the flying mud had settled and results were tallied FSU had taken 14 out of 15 first places, 9 seconds and 7 thirds.

The meet produced 4 double winners and 3 Seminoles Carlos Fraundorfer was top in the broadjump and disc. Jack Terwilliger showed the way in the 100 and 220. Charley Watson took the 220 lows and the quarter and Vern Duce classed the field in the 1 and 2 mile grinds.

Other Indians who were Tenny Brown 170 H.H. Warren Strickland, Pole Vault, Jerry Jacobs, Shot, Ron Weaver, Javelin and Ken Sesner, 880.

Linksmen 9-0

In other sporting events, the FSU golfers strung together their best team effort of the year Saturday to register a surprising easy 18 ½-8½ win over the Rollins Tars.

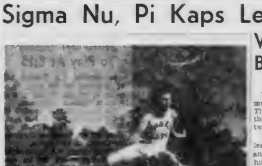
Possessing a sparkling 8-1 dual links record, FSU had clipped Rollins by only two points in a home match at Tallahassee last month.

Results of the meet were Bunk Berry 73 Booby Dunn 77 FSU beat Frank Boynton 70 and Bill Rosenau 73 6-3. Norris Wright 77 and Jack Veghte 74 FSU beat Ed Dinan 72 and Dennis Folken 78. Bob Shannon 76 and David Morris 78 FSU beat Bruce Rosenau 76 and Marlene Stewart 78 6-3.

Coeds Loses

The Seminole ball club was the victim of three college batters at the University of Miami who broke Tommy Garcia's record of five straight wins.

The batters who all hit their first home runs of the season were Tommy Ashton, Chuck Swenson and Nick Nugent. Adding insult to injury Nugent broke a 3-3 standoff in the seventh inning.



It was Miami's second victory against one defeat in the Florida Intercollegiate Conference and Garcia's third loss compared to two victories.

Final score of the game was 5-4

Seventy-eight per cent of vehicles involved in fatal accidents in 1954 were traveling straight ahead.

LOST — One grey and black herringbone jacket. If found, please return to Ron Dimery, 319 West Hall. Reward.

Sigma Nu, Pi Kaps Lead Softball Leagues

Hurdler—Charlie Watson, who won the quarter mile sprint at the recent Florida AAU's, also took third place in the low hurdles event.

Running The Bases

By HARRY BERNARD

"Play Ball", once again this familiar cry heard at this time of year. The Major Leagues with all its extravagance, haire and eloquence open up their ball parks to let the millions of fans pour into the gates to see the Great American Game.

Pick Cleveland

This year in the American league, I pick the Cleveland Indians to repeat as winners of the American league The only major opposition to come from the New York Yankees

The Chicago White Sox could be a surprise winner if, and that a big if, the Indians and Yankees split with the second division clubs in games won.

The Boston Red Sox have a team composed mainly of youngsters.

Even though they relatively lead the same team as last year, they still must wait until next year, when the kids become men. Which could happen to-ward the latter part of the year.

Kansas City?

The Kansas City Athletics with Lon Boudreau as manager, surely can't slip any more. They have good city backing and with their improved financial status they might be a "contender" in a few years How-ever this year it will be the same story, a seventh or eighth place finish.

The Detroit Tigers, were almost in the first division last year, but toward the end of the season they started to play stopby ball. As a result, the Boston Red Sox finished six percentage points ahead of them in fourth place This year the Tigers could very well be in the first division with stiff competition coming from the Red Sox, with the Washington Senators, the "sleeper" of the American League.

Dressen May Help

Chuck Dressen, the man who did wonders with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League, knows enough about the game to make Washington a team to be reckoned with. He also could easily slip into fifth and possibly fourth place if they get some breaks. But if all holds true of the Senators in the past, they will do no better than seventh place.

The Baltimore Orioles will bring up the American League in last place. The second division teams are a bit tougher this year and last year the Orioles didn't fare too well with any of them. This year will be no exception. Paul Richards has a real job on his hands.

National League

Over in the National League where most of the sports writers are having a tough time picking the winners, I will go along with the New York Giants to win another pennant. It was a clean, hard fought battle down to the wire last year, and this year should be no exception.

The Giants with the "Say Hey Kid", Willie Mays, have a powerful reserve strength, as was shown in the world series. They will again oppose the Indians in the World Series.

The "Bums"

The Brooklyn Dodgers, pride of Flatbush, still have virtually the same team as last year which finished five games off the pace. This year manager Walt Alston, will be expected to give Brooklyn its first pennant it held in 1952 and 53. However with the steady and emmaisant type ball the Giants play, the Dodgers appear to be headed for second place for at least another year.

Milwaukee is destined to be a third place team for this year also. With a few breaks here and there the Braves could "slip" ahead of the Dodgers into second place.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, finally could place in the first division. The Redlegs are due for some real fine pitching from two youngsters on their staff, and with the consistant hitting of Ted Kluszewski, and Gus Bell they could make it.

The Philadelphia Phillies, always a contender for the first division, are going to need somebody else besides Robin Roberts or Curt Simmons to win.

St. Louis Sixth

The St. Louis Cardinals, will have to stay in sixth place unless they can find some one to help Stan Musial If there is somebody, the Cardinals could move into fifth place.

Seventh place is reserved exclusively for the Chicago Cubs They left a big gap in their pitching when Ralph Kiner and his walking papers. The Cubs are going to have a tough time making it up this year

Pirates "Cousins"

The Pittsburgh Pirates are still going to be the "cousins" for everybody this year And will end up in an eighth place finish which is nothing new to them. They seem to have an option on it for at least six other year

Here is my Pick for the final standings in the American League.

1. Cleveland
2. New York
3. Chicago
4. Detroit
5. Boston
6. Kansas City
7. Washington
8. Baltimore

For the National League;

1. New York
2. Brooklyn
3. Milwaukee
4. Cincinnati
5. Philadelphia
6. St. Louis
7. Chicago
8. Pittsburgh

West Hall Pirates Leading Baptists In Dorm League

By HARRY BERNARD

The Fraternity Softball intramural league is well under way This year as in previous years the league is broken up into two sections

In league A, Sigma Nu is leading with a perfect three win and no loss record Right behind them with a 2 and 0 record is Alpha Tau Omega.

Sigma Chi is off to one and one is right behind the leaders. Delta Tau Delta Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Lambda Chi Alpha all have indentical record, of 1 win and 2 losses.

In league B PKP with three wins and no losses leads PDT who has two and O. KS and SPE are in the midst of the race for third place with two wins and one loss apiece.

KA has 1 win and 1 loss and PKT has 1 win aw. 2 losses PKA and TEP are the only teams in either league who have failed to win one game in three tries.

In the Dormitory league the Pirates are leadir # Baptists by one game. Their records are three and 0 and two and 0 respectively.

The Penthouse Gang is close on the heels of the leaders with two and 1, while Magnolia with one and one is in the thick of the race to overtake the leaders.

Senior Hall, Day Students, Methodist and the Air Force all have identical 0 and 2 records.

The schedule for the Fraternity softball for the coming week is as follows:

April 19 5:00 p.m. Field No. 1 Magnolia-Air Force. No. 2, Pirates-Rebels. No. 3 Baptist-Sr. Hall. 6:30 p.m. No 1 Day Students-Alpha.

April 20 5:00 p.m. Field No. 1 Penthouse-Sr. Hall. No. 2 Magnolia-Sr. Hall. No. 3. Pirates-Methodist 6:30 p.m. No. 1. Baptist-Day Students.

FSU Host For TV Workshop

Florida State University will especially ministers, in religious host a one-day radio and television workshop April 27 aimed broadcasting techniques. at training interested persons—

Instruction will be sponsored by the General Extension Division of Florida in cooperation with FSU, radio station WFSU and national state and local ministerial associations. Radio stations WTAL, WTNT and WMEN will assist with the program

Rev. Charles H Schmitz, In charge of broadcasting for the National Council of Churches, New York City, will be chief instructor. The workshop will open at 9:40 a.m. in the Longmire Building on the campus and will end at 4 p.m. There will be no registration fee.

Program assistants will be Carl Brett, radio station WTNT, Roy J. Flinn, formerly WFSU; Joe Hofford, WTAL; Rev. Glenn C. James, Trinity Methodist Church; and Rev. T. T. Martin, First Presbyterian Church and Don Price, WMEN.

Coordinator is Troy M. Wakefield, General Extension Division of Florida.

OGDEN Utah. ACP— From the Weber College Sunpost comes this classic definition A well - dressed guy who strikes when the eyein' is hot.

TRY OUR Luscious PIZZA
EVERY TUESDAY NIGHT is 'Pizza Night' at FAIVER'S FOR CHICKEN
Our Large Special Pizza ONLY . . . 85c
Phone 3-4578 1312 W Tenn.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young manager handles finances for building of $5,000,000 plant

In the next ten years, the demand for General Electric industrial heating equipment will double. To meet this demand, a giant new plant (model at right) is being built at Shelbyville, Ind.

The plant will cost $5,000,000, and the man responsible for handling finances for the entire job is 32-year-old R. E. Fetter.

Fetter's job is important, responsible

Dick Fetter's work ay Financial Manager of the Department began long before General Electric started building the plant. He and his group first had to estimate probable operating costs and predict whether the plant would be profitable.

Now, during construction, Fetter's chief concern is keeping track of all the expenses on this multimillion-dollar project. When the plant is completed, he will set up a complete financial section and manage everything from tax, cost, and general accounting to payrolls, budgets and measurements, and internal auditing.

25,000 college graduates at General Electric

This is a big job, Fetter was readied for it in a careful step-by-step program of development. Like Fetter, each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees is given his chance to grow, to find the work he does best, and to realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When young, fresh minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

DICK FETTER joined G.E. in 1947 after receiving a B.S. from Bucknell University, and serving 32 months in the Air Corps. At G.E. he completed the Business Training Course, class of '50.

Progress is Our Most Important Product

GENERAL ELECTRIC

NEW! BREATHTAKING SWIMSUITS BY SEA B's WITH THE EXCLUSIVE INFLATABLE MOLDA BRA

Now you can have the lovely curves you've always wanted in a swimsuit — naturally! The Molda Bra is light as air because it's air — and because it's neither foam rubber or pads or wires or bones. It never becomes heavy or waterlogged

Sizes 32-36 From $14.95

Fits AA, A, B, C cups perfectly!

SEA-B'S, INC.
351 Broadway, New York 13, N. Y.
Please send me name of store where I may find SEA-B's, and FREE SEA-B's booklet.
Name
College
Address
City State

Sports Log

Tuesday — Tennis, Georgia Tech at Atlanta, Ga.

Wednesday — Tennis, Emory at Atlanta Ga

Thursday — Volleyball Columbus YMCA at Columbus Ga

Saturday—Golf. Stetson, Tallahassee Country Club, 11 a.m. track. Georgia-Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

Medical Exam Set For May

GAINESVILLE, April 18—College graduates planning to take the Medical College Admission Test in May, were reminded this week that they must apply the College of Medicine at the University of Florida if they wish to enter that institution in the fall of 1956 or later.

Dean George T. Harrell explained that the Educational Testing Service has not listed the University of Florida's College of Medicine in the current announcement because of the early printing of the Tests.

Prospective medical students are allowed to send a copy of their tests results to all colleges in which they intend plan to enroll.

Excessive speed was the principal cause of traffic accidents in 1954.

News Briefs

POW-WOW EDITOR SETS COPY DEADLINE

Russell Johnson, editor of the Pow Wow, announced that all material for the 1955-56 Pow Wow is due this Friday, April 22.

REESE, CURL RECEIVE PREDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS

Herbert Curl, graduate student in marine biology, and William Reese graduate student in botany, here have been awarded National Science Foundation Predoctoral Fellowships for 1955-56

Curl who holds the A. B. degree from Wagner College and an A. M. from Ohio State University is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in June. 1956 Dr Robert H. Wilkins is his major professor.

Reese who has a B S degree from FSU, is also working on his doctorate and Ruth S Green is his major professor.

MOORE ENTERTAINS SOCIAL WORK CLUB

The Social Work Club will meet at the home of Dean Corla Moore Thursday evening.

Miss Everhart will speak on exceptional children and a social hour will follow. Transportation will be provided and cars will leave the music building parking lot at 7:15 p.m.

All Social Work majors and interested students are asked to turn the poster in the Social Welfare building if they plan to go.

NOT SO BRIGHT

BOULDER, Colo. (ACP)— Freshmen will be allowed to bring their cars to Colorado University next year, but the ban is strictly from an academic point and not to solve parking problems the school's board of regents said recently.

A study of first-year students who have trouble making the grade scholastically showed that more freshmen with cars are on academic probation than those who rely on their feet for transportation.

The new ruling is expected to ease the traffic situation, nevertheless a recent campus survey showed more than 1,400 student automobiles registered at the university.

Industrial Arts Auction Thursday

The Department of Speech announces
THE COCKTAIL PARTY
by
T. S. Eliot
April 22, 23, 25, 26 Conradi Theatre
8:15 P. M.
Tickets: Students: 40c and activity stub No. 8
General Admission 75c
All Seats Reserved
BOX OFFICE OPENS WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20

Up In The Air—About the coming State Symphony concerts Friday in Westcott are E. Franklin, left, and Dick Puckett. The oft-seen Marching Chief acro bat dancers will interpret "Richard Str auss' "The Merry Pranks of Till Eulenspiegel."

Einstein Is Dead

Albert Einstein is dead. And with his death the world loses one of the foremost men of all time.

The modest, unassuming theoretical physicist, who flunked his first math exam yet devised theories so complex that few understand them, did some of the most important scientific work ever to enrich the annals of human knowledge.

Though few people understand Einstein's complex theories, his work is one of the important bases of today's electronic and television industries, and the great industrial developments which rely partly on the laws of atomic mass and energy."—said the Associated Press.

It was his disclosure many years ago that a small amount of matter could be made to produce the unparalleled energy of atomic fission. First a man, then a scientist, he feared the A bomb, however, and time has shown him justified in his fear.

He was an immigrant, this man, and his life is one of the most powerful arguments against the seclusive immigration policies the United States now enforces.

It was he who said that if he had his life to live over again, he would not be a scientist, but a plumber, so that he would have some freedom to think for himself and not be subjected to political conformity.

And now he is dead, dead after 76 years of a rich and useful life, a life which became a legend, for the name "Einstein" was synonymous throughout this country with "genius."

Let the nation pause in memory. Such men are rare indeed.

'Pops' Concert Set For Friday

State Symphony To Play At 8:15

An Evening Pop Concert will be presented by the State Symphony of Florida, Friday, at 8 15 p. m. in Westcott Auditorium.

The concert will be preceded by a Children's Matinee at 2 30 p. m. in Wescott. Both programs are under the sponsorship of the Service League of Tallahassee.

The symphony will be expanded to 106 instruments for the season finale, according to Dr. Karl Kuersteiner, conductor. The organization was formed six years ago by Dr. Kuersteiner, Dean of the School of Music, as a "professional-level" orchestra to serve citizens of Florida, school children and visitors.

Highlighting both concerts Friday will be a modern dance interpretation of the orchestral work of Richard Strauss' "The Merry Pranks of Till Eulenspiegel". Ed Franklin and Dick Puckett, the "Flying Semmoles", will be the dancers.

"Franklin and Puckett have created an exciting choreography to this famous score," said Kuersteiner, "and I expect the orchestra to reach its highest musical achievement in the concert.

"Till" is a cut-up, a remarkable fellow, a man of many parts" first by the solo French horn, an impatient melody, wanting "to go places and do things." It is heard in several different moods played by as many different instruments.

The theme of "Till" is timeless as Till is hanged, but reappears reflecting romdo style. Dr. Kuersteiner said. He decided the work is one of Strauss's "humorous symphonic poems" because it is a compleat symphony in a single movement.

Included on both concerts will be the FSU radio theme song, "On a March From the Love of Three Oranges," by Prokofieff, and the overture to "Orpheus in the Underworld" by Offenbach.

The Pop Concert will also feature "suite for Orchestra" by Jack Jarret of Jacksonville. The young composer has studied at both FSU and the University of Florida. His suite was performed last year at Florida State under auspices of the Florida Composers League. It has been revised and reorchestrated for the music of light, somewhat satirical work with contrasts of color and mood.

Members of the Legislature and their families will be guests of the university for the evening concert. Admission is by complimentary ticket or tickets for the one concert may be bought at the box office.

Invitations for the matinee have been extended to all local schools and to schools within a radius of 150 miles of Tallahassee. The children will travel in their own school buses to the university where special parking places have been arranged. Admission will be a quarter for children and accompanying chaperones.

THIS IS A FILLER

Food served at the FSU Semihole room during a typical eating day (this includes only Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday—Friday is a cop—is estimated to have attained the tons of thousandths tons. This is especially true during football season, when not only do the grid boys need more aird, but the girls decide the Seminole Eleven's action place is the place to eat. This is a filler, designed to fill space to wish we had an advertisement to fill.

More Flags For LeRoy—Eduardu Del Risco is here presented Governor Collins with a Peruvian flag. Shown with the two are Miss Catherine Pieper of Cuba. Del Risco, a Peruvian, made the presentation soon after Collins proclaimed April 14 as Pan American Day in Florida.

There Are Droodles And Droodles And Droodles— Ask Roger Price

SPECIAL—Confronted by your correspondent in a well-known Tallahassee Health Food Bar, Roger Price, the self-confessed creator of Droodles, shed new light on the controversial: "Droodles problem."

When questioned about Lucky Droodles, Price, one-time feature editor of the Michigan "Gargoyle," had several interesting comments.

"Boy, have we got Droodles!," he said, "and stop eating my yogurt."

Price commensted further. So far, the Right Thinkers in colleges have sent in over 50,000 entries to Lucky Droodles, which is quite a passel when you consider the Lucky Strike people are only running it on 354 campuses, in newspapers and on radio stations, and that entries have come in from half nasim that many schools. Take your elbow out of my dancnut and prune juice salad."

Asked Question

I wiped me cont and thought up another penetrating question: "Do you think Droodles can be put to use?" I asked. "Alarums about the ever-expanding supply have been raised in certain quarters."

"Sentimentalists." Price answered cryptically. "are worrying about the Lucky Droodle pulsar. Ploundering in a sea of entries see Droodle, and all of the 825 awards

LUCKY STRIKE DROODLE JUDGES CHECKING A REW EARLY RETURNS

Sid's Vote The following is a list of Lucky Droodles by the incomparable Roger Price

Top Level Secret

"Ah." said Price, " if I were only allowed to tell you, boy. Really something. But that's all I'm allowed to say."

Price tapped me on the shirt front with a Brussels sprout. "Okay," he said, "if you promise not to blab it around, I'll give you the picture sans details."

I promised.

"Sans," he said, "is French. It means like including out." I made a note of this, and he glanced about and continued in a somewhat louder voice. "We are planning to fasten tons of Droodles to balloons and drop them over Russia. The Droodle is far more insidious than the puerile doctrine of dialectic materialism which the Soviets have been trying to suppress in lands.

With millions of Droodles behind the Iron Curtain, Russians will start to laugh and laughing Communists are Bad Communists, because those who is head of the government has zeotta figure that they're laughing at him. Right? Then maybe their whole mushmush system will collapse and we will enter an era of World Peace—thanks to Droodles!" Swept away by his passionate and ear-splitting delivery, I found myself crying:

"Stop breathing on my blackstrap molasses." Price said.

I stopped. I could tell from the way he sat up and dashed out of the health bar, leaving me with the check, that the interview was at an end.

It's All Greek

Weekends And Softball Games Highspots Of FSU Greek Life

By MARGARET MILLER
The Lamba Chi's celebrated their annual weekend Friday through Sunday — A "Bum's party" began activities Friday night with the house decorated as a Hobo camp — Entertainment was furnished by members in a thirty minute floorshow

Saturday night a formal dance was held in Wakulla Lodge with music by the Commodorites— A coast party at Alligator Point Sunday concluded the weekend activities. Jean Carr, Alpha Gamma Delta, was designated "Cheapest Girl" and Betty Jane Sharp, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Barbara Donnelly were honored as her court.

Delta Tau Delta's here must have responded FSU-UF relations by playing host to fifty Delts from the University of Florida— Entertainment for the entire weekend was scheduled beginning with a party at the house Friday night—A dance was held Saturday night with music by the Ravens—A beach party followed on Sunday.

Although the purpose of the weekend was to cooperate in facilitating rushing plans, the two chapters engaged in a little competition as well— The UF Delts, who have been credited with the best UF fraternity softball team, were nevertheless beaten 6-5 by the FSU Delts in a softball game Saturday— Paul Nelson contributed the winning run.

The Alpha Gams anticipate their annual weekend to be held this Friday and Saturday— The theme for the weekend is taken from the musical "Can-Can." currently a Broadway hit — A top-level security regulations seal my lips."

"Oh." I said, "in that case we'd better not go into it."

Price tapped me on the shirt front with a Brussels sprout. "Okay," he said, "if you promise not to blab it around, I'll give you the picture sans details."

I promised.

"Sans," he said, "is French. It means like including out." I made a note of this, and he glanced about and continued in a somewhat louder voice. "We are planning to fasten tons of Droodles to balloons and drop them over Russia. The Droodle is far more insidious than the puerile doctrine of dialectic materialism which the Soviets have been trying to suppress in lands.

With millions of Droodles behind the Iron Curtain, Russians will start to laugh and laughing Communists are Bad Communists, because those who is head of the government has zeotta figure that they're laughing at him. Right? Then maybe their whole mushmush system will collapse and we will enter an era of World Peace—thanks to Droodles!" Swept away by his passionate and ear-splitting delivery, I found myself crying:

"Stop breathing on my blackstrap molasses." Price said.

I stopped. I could tell from the way he sat up and dashed out of the health bar, leaving me with the check, that the interview was at an end.

Five Florida State Coeds Among Entrants In 'Miss Tally' Contest

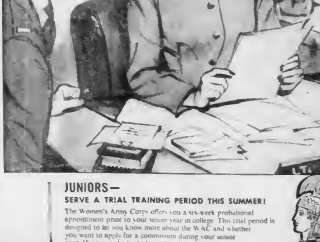
Five Florida State coeds are the Student Body, Pete Nimkoff, been donated by local merchants among the entrants in the "Miss In his office. for the top contestants announced Tallahassee" beauty contest. Bob Greenberg, chairman of the

The Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event, reports that more than 25 women will compete in the contest, which is set for the first step on the way to becoming this year's Miss America.

The contest is still open to university coeds and applications may be obtained from the President of

The Misses LeVera Armstrong, Louise Peterne, Barbara Evans, June Watson and Ann Purvis will have filed their entries already be chosen at a preliminary judging session at the Florida Union Auditorium at 8 p.m. Fri. April 22. Judging will be based on beauty, personality and poise.

Approximately 15 finalists will be chosen at a preliminary judging session at the Florida Union Auditorium at 8 p.m. Fri. April 22. All finalists will be presented at a three-minute talent and beauty contest committee.



Nearly 14 000 persons were killed in weekend traffic accidents last

A growing list of prizes have year.

Malone's Book Store
BOOKS—SUPPLIES—SUNDRIES
CASH FOR YOUR USED BOOKS
EVERYTHING FOR THE STUDENT

Begin your Executive career as an Army Officer!

Earn $270 a month
with quarters furnished while training!

If you are a college senior, you can now apply for a top administrative career one that offers every opportunity for executive development plus many other advantages, such as travel, stimulating companionship and specialized training. Serve as an officer in the Women's Army Corps!

As an Army officer you contribute to your nation's strength in a position of vital responsibility. You work side by side with male officers in important staff and administrative assignments, developing your executive capacities for high-level jobs both in military and civilian life. Here are some of the fields in which you may train:

PERSONNEL AND ADMINISTRATION INTELLIGENCE
COMPTROLLER
PUBLIC INFORMATION
CIVIL AFFAIRS AND MILITARY GOVERNMENT
INFORMATION AND EDUCATION
LEGAL AND LEGISLATIVE

Find out about your career opportunities as an Army officer. Fill out the coupon today.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, Department of the Army
Washington 25, D.C.
Attn: AGSN-I

Please send me further information on my career as an officer in the Women's Army Corps.

(Applicant: check if interested in trial training period)

☐ Sea weeks' summer training

NAME
ADDRESS
CITY ZONE STATE
COLLEGE OR UNIVERSITY MAJOR DATE OF GRADUATION

JUNIORS—
SERVE A TRIAL TRAINING PERIOD THIS SUMMER!
The Women's Army Corps offers you a six-week professional appointment prior to your senior year in college. This trial period is designed to let you know more about the WAC and whether you want to apply for a commission during your senior year. If interested, clip & the enclosed coupon.

DeGraff Heads Service Tests

Held Thursday Morn, Longmire

The Selective Service College Qualification test will be administered April 21 under jurisdiction of Dr. Mark DeGraff director of the Test Service Bureau.

Testing will be held in Longmire Auditorium, Thursday between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m.

For undergraduates not pursuing graduate work, a passing score of 70 or higher will insure that the student need not retake the test. Graduate students who plan a complete graduate work a score of 80 or higher must be made and he must qualify for the upper fourth of his class his junior year. These requirements have been in effect since September 1954.

Every student who has not been active and is eligible to take the selective Service must file an information form in 308 Westcott. This includes those enrolled in AROTC and ROTC. This information will be used in effort to keep the student by keeping the Board informed that his registrant is still a full-time student.

Guest Rabbi Says Jews Revere Family

Rabbi Sidney M Lefkowitz visiting lecturer for the FSU Jewish Education Week series, will speak on "Judaism's view today that the Jewish emphasis was on the home on earth.

Rabbi Lefkowitz, in answer a a question from a student on "Why Jews emphasize the afterlife, said that they emphasize God on earth was to live a God-like life.

"After all, the Holy Scriptures tell us that we are called a first with the glory of God We should make the most of that glory."

The Jewish Education Week series of lectures is classes scheduled this campus will end tomorrow This afternoon Rabbi Lefkowitz will speak over radio station WTAL at 4 p.m. as part of the program.

Third Series

The third independent religious observation on campus this event is co-sponsored by Hillel and the Office of University Christian. The National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods made the speaker possible.

The Rabbi explained to students yesterday that the Jewish people have varying beliefs, although they do not have many branches as Christianity. He said that among them, they embraced the Conservative, Orthodox, and Reform

Emphasizing the notable lack of divorces among Jews, he related that the Jewish religion was centered very heavily around the family. He said that are not throttled as among other groups, but held up as something to be aimed "We make and that the young people realize that sex in marriage is a sacrament."

Job Opportunities

(Recruiters from these organizations are not scheduled to visit the campus this year Contact the Vocational Guidance Office for further information)

Young Women's Christian Association Wanted Junior Y Teen-Age Girls' Junior High age Salary from $3000 to $3600

W. C. Mcwhirter and Company Wanted Certified Public Accountants Salary $400 up

Warner Robins Air Material area Wanted Engineering Aid Trainee Salary $2970 or $3410 depending on position

Dun & Bradstreet Wanted Trainee Salary $3600 up

Florida Aeroplanists, Bookkeeping Wanted Several openings in Jacksonville business establishments

Florida Power Corporation Wanted Florida Power Qualifications and personnel a great deal of them

Triangle Construction Company Wanted Engineering Aid Salary $400-$500 per month

(For an appointment to see any of these and the following representatives, call ext 1261 or visit the Placement Office, 302 Westcott, as soon as possible)

TODAY

Pan American Oil Company Interviewer H. J. Reid Graduate Majors and subjects for Geologist Geophysicist Salary Commensurate with experience

Travelers Insurance Company Interviewer M Warren Wednesday, April 20

I. B. M. Interviewer Gordon Wellesley Wanted Accounting General Business Sales Physics Chemistry Economy and Mathematics

Publication Editors

(Continued from Page 1)

it could "never be worse than election."

He added that "I would like to see the publications removed from politics."

Tally - Ho editor - elect Jim Broderick said the Board would bring a "vast improvement" and he didn't think it would result in censorship, "not if run right, with the interests of publications as mem.rs."

Smoke-Signals editor and editor-elect Don Heidel could not be reached for comment.

FOOTBALL, TRAFFIC Affected By State Bills—P. 1

The Florida Flambeau

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

VOL. XL, NO. 45 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1938

State Delegates Select Slate Of Thirty-Seven

Mansield Cites 'Deserters' As Narrowminded

The State Party assembled a slate of 37 candidates Wednesday night in anticipation of easing out competition for Senior Class and Court offices.

The party nominees will vie election day, April 26, with candidates from the other student political party and independents, some of whom resigned both offices to run. State Party Chairman Fred Mansfield described those who bucked his party as "bitter" and "narrowminded."

Crenshaw Nominated

Array of candidates chosen at the Wednesday night nominating convention included Bill Weaver, Jim Moore and Bob Crenshaw for Student Council and Senior Class presidents respectively. Crenshaw later introduced

Bob Crenshaw, who was nominated by the State Party for Senior Class President Wednesday night, issued the following statement yesterday:

"I'm not accepting the nomination. I plan to run for student council."

Crenshaw was placed before the convention by Harry Mason, and was not present to answer or decline the nomination. "I never talked to Mason," said Crenshaw. "I found out about the nomination after the convention. No one talked to me about it beforehand."

Weaver "wasn't aware that I hasn't seeking party nomination. He probably did it as a favor." Crenshaw stated late yesterday afternoon. He was at that time that he was trying to contact State Party Chairman Fred Mansfield to get his name off the party list.

A note of controversy into State's slate pictures by refusing for nomination. He said he would run independently.

Party head Mansfield keynoted the session with remarks condemning around the recent Student Body elections which saw the Student Party capture most high offices. "Losing is not a pleasant experience," he declared. "But that does not mean that the losers and candidates were unethical."

It means simply that we are coming that we are backing the party founded on established basis and that we must increase our efforts and efforts in defiance of the one-party system."

Following Mansfield's speech and cheering of party platform, the convention bent its efforts toward trying to get all candidates a slate of nominations, some hastily contested, these candidates were chosen:

Vice-Presidents

Don Noel, Bruce Pacetti and Dick Bittner, for vice-president of the Sophomore Junior and Senior classes respectively; Bobbie Metts, Pat Hilton and Ann Murray for secretaries of the same classes; Charles Cuthbertson, Sophomore treasurer; and Vicky Waters and Ruth Hendrix for social chairman of the Sophomore and Junior classes.

Hank McCann and Harris Litsch for Sophomore men's Senators;

Reps Rehkaike, Emma Dewald and Mary Waite for Sophomore women's Senator;

Joan Zobel and Nancy Cubbedge for Junior women's Senators;

Dale Porter, Fred Mansfield and Gordon Gaster for Senior men's Senator;

Ruth Yeoman for Senior women's Senator;

Ellie Sillay, Gary Linda McKeen and Patty Wasmer for Sophomore Women's Judiciary;

Bob Webb, Ken White and Abel Dryfus for Sophomore men's Judiciary;

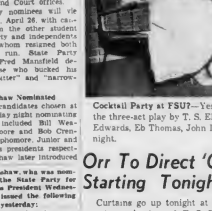
Irene Rodrigues and Jane Dozier for Junior Women's Judiciary;

Betty Gooch for Senior Women Judiciary;

Jan Bernhein and Tom Reeves for Junior Honor Court;

Terry Barrows for Junior Traffic Court representative, and Sandy Moore for Sophomore Traffic Court representative.

Sixty-One Offices



In all, 61 offices are to be decided in the contest, but the number of candidates are expected to run independently, including one former party member.

After the convention, Mansfield commented on those who boycotted the State Party, stating that he feel that it was bitterness. They quit either without cause or as the result of defeat in elections.

"I don't think they should be narrow-minded. If they would stop and think, they'd realize the cause of their defeats."

Mansfield was emphatic in stating that all members should have their membership in a party more highly than to quit

Continued on Page 4

Cocktail Party at FSU?—Yes, a play by that name, that is. The opening scene of the three-act play by T. S. Eliot, will spotlight (l. to r.) Katherine Culpepper, Ryan Edwards, Eb Thomas, John Davis and Barbara Waddell. Curtain time is 8:15 tonight.

Orr To Direct 'Cocktail Party' Starting Tonight In Conradi

Curtains go up tonight at 8:15 on the speech department's production of T. S. Eliot's play, "The Cocktail Party" in Augusta Conradi Theater.

Dress rehearsal performances are scheduled for the same time tonight and tomorrow night, Monday and Tuesday. Students may obtain tickets for any performance at the Conradi box office for 40 cents plus their student activity ticket No. 1.

Leading roles in the play are held by seniors Dorothy Womble and Eb Thomas. Others in the cast include Barbara Waddell, Hal Poe, Katherine Culpepper, John Paul Davis, Ruth Harvard, Gaitz and Ryan Edwards.

Urban People

Although the characters in this play are urban, frivolous people who lead lives of gay superficiality, the play is not light comedy Rather, says Dr. Lynn Orr, director, the play is serious and has a lot of thought in it.

The play is classified as a modern morality play, concerned with ideas of God, man, and modern society It is about people who expect and therefore expect "something" in life. It involves human frustration in a modern, civilized society.

Nobel-award winner Eliot expresses a view opposite that of the famous O'Neill in his play. "The Iceman Cometh " O'Neill's view was that the world needed illusion to sustain it; Eliot insists that reality must be faced.

Interpret Differently

Just as each literary goer will interpret the play differently according to his own attitudes and ideas, so each character in the play finds a personal meaning for his own life.

For the first time in three years, completely modern costumes will be used in an FSU speech production Mrs. Frances Bevis is supervisor of costumes and makeup. The Vorse is furnishing Eastern College's modern costumes, and Stevyman's furnished Barbara Waddell's modern dress.

Charles Reimer supervises lighting and technical work and has a crew of approximately 12 to help with a complete set change.

5 P.M. TODAY IS ELECTION DEADLINE

Deadline for Declarations of Candidacy in the Senate-Class-Court elections is today at 5 p.m. Expense estimates must also be turned in by that time.

'Pops' Concert Played Tonight In Westcott

Franklin and Puckett take to the air tonight at the Pop Concert, presented by the State Symphony of Florida. The program will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium.

Ed Franklin and Dick Puckett of the Flying Seminoles will perform a modern dance interpretation of "The Merry Pranks of Till" with Franklin and Puckett in their own choreography on the famous score Dr. Kurelsimer, dean of the School of Music, comments that the choreography is "exciting" and that the play also expects the orchestra "to reach its highest musical achievement in the performance"

Carefree Style

Because Till is a carefree cutup and the music is in the "rollicking mood" style Dr. Kurelsimey defines this work as a "humoresque-symphonic poem." It is called humoresque because it is a complete symphony in a single movement.

Also included on the program is "The March From the Love of Three Oranges" by Prokofiev, and the overture to "Orpheus in the Underworld" by Offenbach.

Jack Jarrett, former FSU and University of Florida student, wrote "Suite for Orchestra" which will also be presented on the program This music was premiered last year by the Florida Composers League It is now revised and reorchestrated and has been defined as light, musical, contrasting in color and mood.

The Tallahassee Service League, sponsor of tonight's program has invited the members of the Legislature and their families to be guests of the University for the evening concert. Admission is either by season tickets or tickets purchased at the box office

No Parking

Assistant Business Manager Don Farquharson said that the Opperman parking lot will be closed to student parking today. The lot will be reserved for the names bringing Leon County students here for the State symphony matinee.

Party Nominates Massive Slate; 59 Candidates

Students Are Just Able To Make Deadline

The Student Party completed a massive slate of 59 candidates last night in a pingo-finish race with the deadline.

A 12 o'clock extended deadline for women delegates caused a speeded-up nominating process during the latter part of the convention But the affair ended with all business completed. Heading the Student Party ticket for the coming Senate-Class-Courts election is Jim Moore with Tete Apple and Russell Johnson for Sophomore. Junior and Senior Class presidents in that order.

Clyde Moore, Student Body President-elect congratulated the party for "exercising considerable influence in elections on this campus during a keynote address. Those who ran on the Student Party were "unreasonably aided" in the Student Body Elections, he asserted.

Moore said that several party members have, for one reason or another, decided to run independently. "Should this occasion arise, I would put on back where we were two years ago," he stated, meaning a political parity of the parties.

He hsied several beneficial afforded by the party system. Since it is from a party that is solidly backed by a party; members are not "obligated" to run away from policies endorsed by the party. "The party system encao ser benefits from the administration", and the competition between parties tends to better job.

Candidates chosen by the Student Party last night were:

Barbara Bachman, Tuffy Parrish and Ellen Bowden, Senior, Junior and Sophomore class vice-presidents;

Joan Tavel, Florence Ashby and Adriane Whittle for Senior, Junior and Sophomore class secretaries;

Carol Wells, Ginger Smith and Kaye Kimple for Senior, Junior and Sophomore class treasurer;

Jim Bacon, Wes Bowden and Shirley, Sophomore class social chairmen;

Bob Elling, Bruce Fleicher and Ed Mason for Senior Men's Senate;

Bill Fernandez Mildred Bolton and Mary Louise Dee for Senior Women's Senate;

Dave Bachman, Fred Roberts and Dave Mesford Men's Senate;

Junior's Carolyn Cloer, Greta Lee and Mary Ann Clower Women's Senate;

Sophomore's Betty Reynolds and Bill Swigert for Sophomore Men's Senate.

Kari Brooks, Bobby Reynolds and Bill Swigert for Sophomore Men's Senate.

Marge McCreight, Susan Quarnstrom and Jean Morgan for Sophomore Senate;

Sam Alderman and Bob Cohen for Senior Men Senate;

Gail Biting, Ann Bohler and June McManus for Junior Women Senate;

Dan Mengason and Earl Peterson for Junior Men Senate;

Lois Dilly, Nita Payne and Bill McKenne for Sophomore Men's Judiciary.

Bill Bell for Junior Traffic Court;

Bill Bradfield for Sophomore Traffic Court;

Jessie Cadenhead and Shirley Dalina for Senior Women's Judiciary.

Lon Hatton and Larry Moore for Senior Men Court;

Susan Linebaugh and Polly Bass for Junior Women's Honor Court; and Don Alford and Ed Hinson for Men's Junior Honor Court.

Senate Approves Bill On Student Publication Board

Board Hears Leather's Case Before Jammed Hearing Room

Former faculty member Robert Leathers told the Board of Control yesterday that he resigned under pressure in October, 1963, because he did not have a chance for a fair hearing if he chose to fight charges against him.

One of those charges was that he had improperly discussed homosexuality with a girl student. Leathers maintained that he was not of his own accord counsellor to whom the girl turned for advice. A highlight in yesterday's session, which lasted about five and a half hours, was an affidavit by the girl that her original charges against the former assistant professor of geography were "untrue in moments of haste;" and "without due consideration."

Her attorney, Jorn Rudd, later testified that she told him she had been "pressured" into signing the statement by Dean of Women Katherine Warren and Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, and was misinterpreted and misquoted. Leathers intentions.

Another highlight was the flat denial of charges by Leathers, head of the women's physical education department, that he had once attacked Leathers in the office of Dr A B Martin, vice president.

Leathers charged that this attack was provoked by Leathers' work on an American Association of University Professors committee which he said was trying to draw up a code of athletic procedures for future use. Leathers said he had been threatened by basketball Coach Bud Kennedy that he (Leathers) would be "hauled on the carpet," the night before the alleged incident in Dr Martin's office.

Leathers said subsequent pressures brought on him to force his resignation included: alleged efforts by Dr. Danford to halt Leathers' work, alleged doubling of Leathers' teaching load, lack of appreciation for extraordinary work which the Army offered to subsidize and which offer was turned down, and finally the accusations made by him by by Dean Davis to the presence of Associate Dean Paul Reynolds and Henry Becker, geography head, that Leathers had written a piece of pipe, been vulgar in class, and had embarrassed the dean of women.

Leathers said he was told his

(Continued on Page 4)

Annual Ugly Man Contest Ends Tonight, Student Center Dance

Alphi Phi Omega's second annual Ugly Men Contest ends tonight with a dance and award presentation at the Student Center. The dance features the music of the Commodettes and is scheduled for 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Co-chairman Russ Parrish and Charlie Scarbrough announced that the award, a large golden trophy will be presented soon after the closing of the contest at 11 o'clock. The winner will also receive a handsome key for himself, with the trophy going to the fraternity of his selection.

In contrast to last year's dance, the Ugly Man Dance tonight will be free and open to the public. Opportunity will be provided at the dance for students to vote for their favorite candidate. Parrish and Scarbrough said that they expect a large crowd at the last-minute voting, which could easily change the results of the contest. Last year much of the heavy voting was done in the final minutes of the contest.

Three Polls

Voting has been going on this week at the three polls located at Westcott, Seminole Club, and the Student Center. The proceeds will be used to better equip the Student Publications Office. Last year the contest provided $100 for radios. The year before it bought a piano.

This is the second year that the Ugly Man Contest has been tried here at FSU, but APO chapters in other colleges have found them popular for several years, noted the co-chairmen The University of Florida, the University of Miami, and many other southern colleges have been holding an annual contest for many years. The contests originated at Georgia, and has since become one of the traditions of the fraternity all over the nation.

Students Won't Elect Editors Under New Plan

The Student Senate voted Wednesday to put the student publications under a Board which would name the editors and control financial policies.

The session was highlighted by the determined efforts of Senator Ken Gaslin to weaken the bill through amendments to the point of ineffectiveness

One of his propositions, a ban on executive closed sessions, was adopted.

The bill passed by Senate, if approved by the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs and ratified by the students, would set up a board in the following manner:

Five Students

Five student members and three non-student members, to include the three publications editors of Florida Flambeau, Smoke Signals, and Tally-Ho, two students to be elected at large by a vote of the student body, one staff member from the Department of Journalism and Welfare, one faculty member from the school of journalism, and one person with a scientific knowledge of business operations of publications, preferably a classroom instructor. This person, a full-time publications advisor, would be a permanent member of the board.

The board would be one of the students, chosen by the Presidents of the University, and would be ineligible as succeed himself.

The Board would appoint the editors and business managers of the publications after receiving applications from and interviewing those seeking positions. Editors would need a 1.50 scholastic average, business managers a 1.00 average Under the old system which is not being used this year.

Removal

Removal of an editor could be proposed by any two members of the Student Body University officials a petition signed by 100 students, or by Student Senate of Senate action to the original bill the provision giving itself the right to propose removal.

No editor could be removed with less than a two-thirds majority voting to impeach him.

A further provision is that it shall be the duty of the Board of Student Publications so revise and adjust the yearly budgets and financial statements as submitted to it by the various student publications."

Gaslin's most successful fight to ban secret sessions, Senator Gaslin also advocated limiting the Board's powers to selecting candidates for editor and letting the students elect all editorial candidates, and denying the vote to the non-student members of the Board.

More Qualified

The main opposition to his motion was that the Board would be more qualified to pick editors than the student body which might be prone to vote "on personalities," and that the students should "quarrel with the administration rather than editors."

Compulsion was expressed by the student editors who warned that the school has if the changes were not adopted, the faculty would eventually impose a more restrictive board on the publications

Editors Speak At Coffee Hour Today, 4 p.m.

A famous author will not appear at the English Coffee Hour this afternoon, but instead three Florida State University students will conduct the program to be held in Westcott Auditorium at 4 p.m.

Three of the students, Bob Folsom, Tom Woods, and Don Heidel are juniors and all three are editors of a student publication. Bob Folsom heads the Florida Flambeau, Woods edits Tally Ho, and Don Heidel is editor of Smoke Signals.

Folsom, a native of Tampa now a freshman at FSU, will open the program with a talk on Vergason, 19, has sold a short story to Seventeen and a short story to the Saturday Evening Companion.

Philip Levine, a student of Wayne University, now working in Tallahassee on his thesis, will read a series of his poems which have been sold to such publications as Poetry, Antioch Review, Beloit Poetry Journal, and Western Review.

During the program, each student editor will discuss problems confronted in the work of publication They will also discuss the relationship of management of a Board of Publications, and the possible effect it will have on student publications.

Tom Woods will also give his views on the characteristics of a good yearbook and will discuss present trends in yearbooks. Woods is enrolled in the School of Public Administration and plans to eventually obtain a degree in law. He will not work with the Tally Ho next year but will probably have a column in the Flambeau.

Bob Folsom, who will leave FSU at the end of this year, plans to enter newspaper work in the future. Heidel is enrolled in the School of Arts and Sciences.

Nesmith, Jeffries, Cawthon, Britt Are New Dorm Prexies

Freshman dormitory officers have been elected and announced by the Junior Counselors of those dorms.

Miss Hall elected Virginia Nesmith, presidents, and Martha Sue Mann and Dolores Mc-Bess, vice-presidents.

Barbara Jeffries will serve as President of Reed and will be assisted by Evelyn Nettles and Joann Hicks. vice-presidents.

Reynolds Hall will be presided over by Mary Fern Cawthon, president, and Jane Chapman and Helen McLain, vice-presidents.

Sylvia Britt is the new President and Jennie Stephens Elizabeth Stainer and Gretchen Kerr will serve as vice-presidents.

Prom Features Knights Music

The Auburn Knights will play at this year's Junior-Senior Prom, the Flambeau learned today. Saturday, May 14 from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. will be occupied by said publicity chairman Hans Tews. It is also the date for Junors Seniors and their dates.

Tews said the orchestra has been contracted subject to approval by the Business Manager, Senior Prom this year in the hope that this practice will be followed in future years." He said this year's prom will "offer a challenge" to future classmen.

Tews said that free "drinks" and eats will be offered. "I mean stuff like punch," he explained, he declined to comment whether there was any truth to rumors that a floor show will be given away at the prom as door prizes.

Graduates Get More Than Two Guest Tickets

Candidates for graduation this June will not be limited to two guest tickets for commencement and baccalaureate services.

Dr. Venia Bivens, chairman of the committee on convocation told the Flambeau yesterday that the number of guests will not be limited "unless inclement weather forces removal of the program indoors."

At the rehearsal," said Dr. Bivens, "candidates for graduation will be given admission tickets for the baccalaureate program, and tickets for use in case degrees have to be conferred in Westcott Auditorium.

The number of tickets available for each student will depend on degrees. At the present time there is no reason to believe more than two tickets can be expected by each prospective graduate," concluded the chairman.

Football And Campus Traffic Two Legislative Bills Gain Force

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Legislative action on football relations between FSU and UF seemed more likely today, following an announcement by Sen. George Einstein that officials of the two universities had declined a face-to-face meeting.

A Senate bill directing speedier traffic regulations on the campus will be brought out of committee as soon as possible, sponsor Senator Connor of Inverness said yesterday.

Meanwhile, in House action, a bill for traffic regulations on the Florida State University campus to be enforced by Tallahassee police was reported favorable by the Committee on Higher Education. Sweeping away the student Traffic Court and other present means of campus traffic regulation, the bill will become law if passed by the Senate and House of Representatives.

Public Hearing

Connor's football bill, now referred to the Miscellaneous Legislation Committee, will be brought promptly on the floor for public hearing on Wednesday at ten o'clock.

Sen. Connor said Monday that he planned to call a public hearing on the football situation involving presidents and football coaches of Florida State University and the University of Florida as well as other persons interested in the controversy. Dismissed with announcement Wednesday that they had declined to speak to each other except by mail, Connor said "no definite date" has been set for a public hearing, but hinted that he still favored one.

Oppose House Bill

The House bill for revision of the FSU traffic setup was strongly opposed by student Traffic Court members yesterday. It calls for the Board of Control to adopt traffic regulations which "are reasonable, convenient or advisable" for state institutions of higher learning.

Under his provision the FSU campus would be subject to traffic ordinances not in conflict with those of the Board of Control. Traffic Court member Bob Porter objected to such proposition, saying:

"If campus traffic control is put under the City Code of Tallahassee. I don't believe that students would be given the consideration in the court that we can give them here." he declared.

Court Chairman Carolyn Redfern agreed with him. "I hate to see the court as such done away with," she said, "as I feel the organization is improving every year."

Bad Parking Situation

"The parking problem is very bad here and we try to consider the students personally," she continued. "If we see that they have a legitimate excuse we will give them the benefit of the doubt. The police might not do this, not being acquainted with the problem first hand."

Miss Redfern added that she would "like to see the student Traffic Court in operation in the Senate chamber, where newspapermen could get advantages for the House proceedings. I feel that many Tallahassee traffic violations could be cleared by those on campus, though there are less of them.

"A few students take Traffic Court lightly and try to argue the decisions, and I feel that improved now . . . We're gaining more respect as we improve our methods."

Porter agreed in this respect, stating: "I'm sure we can improve enough to adequately perform our duties."

A Rather Superficial Approach

As we looked over the topics to be discussed in the upcoming Florida Citizenship Clearing House Conference we were impressed by the conspicuous absence of mention of the important policy problems facing our state today.

The conference, as you may read on today's front page, will be held on this campus April 25 through 27. One of the primary aims of the FCCH is to encourage young college men and women to participate in political affairs. Some of the topics this conference will discuss ranges from "The Legislative Process" to "The Executive In Action."

But where on this slate is reference to the Civil Liberties issue, in the light of recent anti-subversion activities; where is mentioned the problems raised by integration of Negroes in the public school system; where is mentioned the question of the lobbyists in the legislative process; what about policy towards a growing organized labor movement in the South? Aren't these the problems deserving of consideration of the enlightened panelists appearing at this conference? Isn't this a part of one of the aims of the FCCH: "To provide every college man and woman with a sound and realistic understanding of American political with particular emphasis on the democratic techniques by which individual attitudes are translated into public policy."

This conference seems to have concerned itself with techniques and methods which go to make up policy (something characteristic of our times), without surveying the ethical ends, the realization of which, these techniques must be subordinated to.

If these problems are brought up at all it probably will be either through accidental or indirect means. We feel that these should be met head on.

This conference is giving a rather superficial approach to problems that are crying for solution.

Destroying Initiative

Rare indeed is the student who hasn't given voice to a loud shriek about the campus traffic regulations and those favorite people, the campus cops.

Recent developments indicate that we may soon appreciate the traffic rules and the campus cops more than we do now —by losing them.

There's a bill before the Legislature now—and Student Senate has resolved against it—that would put tha traffic on this and other state campuses under the respective municipal police departments.

By so doing, the legislators of Alachua and Leon counties are defeating one of the unique systems of education—learning by doing.

If passed, the bill would wipe away all semblances of self-government by the students regarding traffic. The student traffic court may be in need of revision here and there, but ultimately it is the high degree a laboratory where students achieve working knowledge of traffic problems.

Aside from the fact that the Tallahassee Police Department has definite ideas that cars shouldn't be parked on the wrong side of the street, any fines collected wouldn't go to a scholarship fund, as they do now, but rather to the Tallahassee city coffers.

The campus is a separate entity. We should make and enforce our own traffic rules. If the Florida Legislature passes the proposed bill, they will be taking a direct step towards destroying initiative and progress among the students of this university and the University of Florida.

More Confusion

Today's matinee of the State Symphony will undoubtedly be very enjoyable, but the confusion it will probably cause won't be the least bit enjoyable.

Wa hava been told that Opperman parking lot will be closed to students today, and will be reserved for the buses bringing Leon County students to hear the afternoon performance.

We think the decision to close the lot was a pretty short-sighted one. Everyone realizes how narrow the College Avenue are, and everyone knows wa have a shortage of parking space, and yet these buses ara all going to come lumbering up Jackaonville Boulevard, and park in Opperman.

This wouldn't be so bad if an alternative decision hadn't existed. Instead of bringing the children up and leaving them practically on the doorstep, the buses could park in the Call Street lot parallel to the Presbyterian Student House, and the kids walk up the one block to the campus. If there isn't enough space, the Call Street area by the lot could be used for parking.

Surely better arrangements could have been made.

Charge For The Circus

The rising cost of the dollar has now hit the Florida State University circus. This year, for the first time in the seventy-year history of the circus, students will be charged admission. The hurt: 50 cents.

The reason for this is the circus does not receive any funds from the student activity fee, and they cannot break even from now on unless they start charging student admission.

And so the circus goes the way of all good projects these days; the rising cost of living has caught up with it. It was one of the last student events—and an enjoyable one, too—that did not charge admission fee.

We hope this fee doesn't stop too many students from seeing this year's production. We have been told it will still have as many laughs and thrills as ever, and even though you can't freeload now, you'll at least get your money's worth.

Higher Pay Rates

Student Senate gave voice to a long standing complaint when it resolved Wednesday that pay rates for student assistants should be higher.

We think the points of the resolution come right to the point. The work these students do would cost more if non-students were doing it; therefore, in all fairness, the pay scale should be higher.

This, the Senate said, must be done without cutting the number of students who are employed.

The Leathers Hearing

As this is written, the Leathers hearing is still going on. So therefore, we are unable to give our comments on it, since we do want to point out the absurdity of holding a meeting such as that in so small a room.

It must be the officials didn't realize that they would have such a turnout. It almost seems as if they didn't want anybody to turn out.

The hearing room was crowded beyond capacity even before the hearings began.

We think it was certainly easy for officials to see that a larger space was required.

There were students and others packing the doorways to tha hearing room, and there were many standing and looking through the windows. These people who were listening through the windows were so interested, it seemed that they didn't even mind the pouring rain.

If people ware that interested in the hearings, it seems that our officials could have had the foresight or judgment to accomodate them.

Butler Did It

Democratic Chairman Butler no doubt regrets his injection of the name of Mrs. Eisenhower into the nations political argument. His prediction that the President will refuse to run again because of Mrs. Eisenhower's health was neither gracious nor inspired. But there is no sign the remark had any malicious overtones. According to a White House spokesman, the fact is Mrs. Eisenhower has "a slight heart condition"; this has been a common subject of discussion in tha capital and Butler seems to ha've echoed the talk.

We agree that no one ought to engage in casual, uninformed public discussion of anyone else's health. Conceding the point, we must add that wa are enthralled by the passionata indignation of Republican dignitaries.

After all, Butler did not charge that Mrs. Eisenhower was engaged in subversive conspiracy. He did not allege that she was guilty of association with vile and treacherous characters. He did not accuse her of squandering the taxpayers' money. He didn't tell a leering joke. Wasn't it only yesterday that such comments about a President's wife were commonplace?

We rejoice that the GOP has affirmed the dignity of womanhood in the White House. Mrs. Roosevelt must be glad to hear it, too.

—The N. Y. Post

The Florida Flambeau

Bob Falsaen, Editor

Jay Robertson, News Editor
Asst. News Editors ..... Oscar Johnsen, Jerry Dykmans
Sports Editors ..... Bob Gutting, Dick Victory
Sports Staff ..... Alan Whitmarsh, Harry Bryant
Amusement Editor ..... David Dreis
Photographer ..... Laird Anderson

Joe Caldwell, Business Mgr.
Assistant Business Manager ..... Irma Cox
Exchange Editor ..... John Hellyard
Assistant Exchange Editor ..... Susan Hyde
Distribution ..... Members of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity
Telephone 2-8000, extension 6821
211, 213 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

Orchid Alonso, Mgr. Editor
Copy Editors ..... Pat Marsten, Willis Smith
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller
Art Consultant ..... Frank Hodge
Cartoonist ..... Con Horn
Junior Staff ..... Jerome Bernstein, Marty Reeves, Ann Stanley, Jeri Bradfield, Charlet Pollavnz, Pat Brady, Tann Hammond

Mary Lia King, Adv. Mgr.
Asst. Adv. Mgr ..... Nina Rule
Business Staff ..... Jeanette Puckett, Mary Dresser
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service 420 Madison Ave. New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by the students of Florida State University

Lately It Seems

Board To Select Most Qualified

By ORCHID ALONSO

Now that the Student Senate has passed the Student Publications Board, it should be a good idea to explain to the students—and the Senators too —just how the Board will go about selecting the publication editors.

As set up, the board will be composed of a member of the department of Student Welfare, a member of the faculty of the school of Journalism, and a student who is well informed in publishing. Also, the three editors of the publications and two students elected at large who shall have at least taken enough courses in journalism or worked on publications so that they will be familiar with publication problems and not just be sitting there.

These people will meet regularly to discuss problems that come up. They will be constantly aware of what each staff member is doing. They will be in a position where they can objectively decide on the most qualified.

But the selection won't be a simple matter of the board members deciding at random who should be editor. Any student who wishes to be considered may file an application. The students may then be interviewed by the board. They will present a case, showing cause why they think they should be elected. There will be others present to speak on the individual cases. It will probably resemble a jury trial in which the jury will study every fact, besides having prior understanding of the situation. In each case the board is going to have to weigh all the evidence and to select the editors on the basis of most qualified.

There is no doubt in my mind but that the Board will, and it should, dispense with some of the set requirements regarded as if they were convinced at sometime that somebody who did not fulfill these items was better qualified.

Getting the board through the Student Senate was only the first step. The proposed board will now go to the Faculty Senate for consideration. It is hoped that they will question the validity of having the chairman of the board be one of the elected students. There will be several reasons. Here are some reasons why I would suggest that this should not be the case. In the first place, although the student - faculty ratio is 5-3, if one of the students was chairman, he would not have the right to vote except during a tie. This would make the ratio 6-3 and not exceedingly guarded of student interests if a question concerning student rights should come up.

Secondly, it is my opinion that to function correctly the board should act as capably as possible. In my opinion, with a new set-up a student elected to serve on the board for one full year would not have the time to lead the board and to preside over it. Having a poorly run board would result in poor editors. I do believe the Faculty committee will allow this grave danger in the matter of the board's assignations go through.

Student opinion indicates that they prefer a student chairman because otherwise a faculty member could be there a man year after year and become possessed of power — I wonder if anyone thought of stipulating that the chairman could not succeed himself.

Etcetera Etchings

It's A Sad Day In Tallahassee

By DAVID DREIS

Nostalgia sometimes gets its claws into all of us. It did for 215 souls last Tuesday night. And some guy named Rita Hollister, personable disc jockey at WTNT Tallahassee, murmured in his heart that the old bards were far better than the new. Now, most of the world's literary geniuses would gulp by and be filed in the deep recesses of the mind, but Hollister's soul knew bestan Louis, Valentino could've beateo Gable and Dorsey couldn't've licked Sinatra. Impossible comparisons and be-liefs, but nevertheless interesting. This time it didn't glide by.

Dick Gutting challenged the deejay to a duel, and it was fought from the backs of their phones. At a rate of three calls a minute, the tabulations were recorded. Hollister pounced on Gutting with a barrage of 'Blue Suede Shoes'. Gutting spun discs of Billy May and Les Elgart. Hollister surprised with 'Blue Skies' and Harry James and Gutting pulled a fast Nash Martersteand Ralph Flanagan. The station looked a turmoil. Visitors came in from the streets into the cubic hot studios of the 250-watt station. The place was packed.

People called in complaints about under-bandedness on the part of the opponent when they'd play something very familiar, such as Glenn Miller's "In the Mood" or Peres Prado's "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White". Both were consistently coming in with the same "Old" tune. Then Lt. Haberman calling for weather information was told "It's a-be-la-be clear." The interesting was heap ap and the lines clear for number call.

At the end of the evening stacks were tied and life loosened. The contest was over. Looking into the empty record sleeves hanging listlessly out of the racks the tabulations were now final. Hollister had made 215 calls and his score was 218 calls in four or five hours. Gutting had made 214 calls in four hours and 20 minutes. The staff said it wasn't over today. It's a sad day in Tallahassee. Glenn Miller has voted out.

The Dissenter

Baseball Madness Defies Explanation

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

What is Brooklyn best known for? A tree? Canaries? Flatbush? Coney Island? An accent?

It is not known for any of these things in America. It is known for the Dodgers, who play baseball.

This is the time of year when our cities cease to have a political or international significance and become instead the centers of rabid athletic partnership.

Baltimore is known as "How's the Brooklyn doin'," he isn't waiting to find out whether that Brooklyn has a chance. The outstanding ambition people say it has of becoming the capital of New York. He wants to find out whether a certain bunch of bums want to do as well as they live in Brooklyn, were able to go out in some hot flannel uniforms and show off in the game of baseball some unmentionable cuss from the borough of Manhattan, otherwise known as the enemy.

This baseball madness is one thing about America that defies explanation, but who starts admitting that a Negro can be as good or better a ballplayer than a white man, you may have to admit he's as good a man as well.

Jackie Robinson paved us way, and today Negro baseball players are without question in either league.

Baseball is a great sport in another way as well. Because it lacks the bitterness that surrounds football with rules football; it isn't plagued with fixes and brutalities like the fight crowd, and it has the element of uncertainty that makes basketball such a great game.

In no other sport is the underdog so strongly supported. In no other game does the fat feel himself so much a part of it. Baseball is the only 200-pound baseball employs a following greater than that of singers.

I suppose we can point out blemishes, because this baseball madness is a clean, wholesome expression of spirit, unlimited with the cynicism and pessimism unbesmirched with scandal.

We've come a long way from the Roman arena, as baseball demonstrates, and the job of civilization is to make sure we don't regress.

A Better Measure

Interference And Campus Traffic

By JEROME BERNSTEIN

Last Friday a bill was introduced in the House of Representatives which would place campus traffic of the three state universities under the jurisdiction of the local city constabulary.

The bill, which was introduced by the delegations from Alachua and Leon counties, would subject FSU to all Tallahassee traffic ordinances not in conflict with those of the Board of Control. It would also provide that the city municipal court be granted jurisdiction for trial of all persons violating traffic rules" set by the Board of Control or the Tallahassee police department.

This reporter wonders just what kind of thinking the Legislature Body would have under such a set-up. The bill automatically sweeps away all existing methods of regulating campus traffic, which would include the student traffic court.

The question also arises "What about the Student Senate?" Will it have anything to say concerning campus traffic problems or will it just be a rubber stamp organ?

It is interesting to note that the senate is not idly sitting by while the legislature has proposed bill. At its last meeting, notice was served to the backers of the bill in the State Legislature, that being a representative body of the students at FSU, the Student Senate was against such a measure. A similar measure was asking the Legislature not to interfere with the university traffic under city control.

Perhaps, however, many students do not realize what all the rumpus is about anyway. A great deal of them don't own cars and thus would not be affected by passage of the bill, while others who do may pay too much attention to the whim of Student Government can see how it would hurt them. But to the rest of the students it means that all traffic fines will go to the city of Tallahassee and not a scholarship fund, as it presently does. It also means being late for classes, at least to those students who drive their cars to classes.

Many times a student driving to class will see a parking space on the left hand side of the street while driving on the right hand side. Under existing regulations such a student may have to admit he's as good a man as well.

Jackie Robinson paved us way, and today Negro baseball players are without question in either league.

Baseball is a great sport in another way as well. Because it lacks the bitterness that surrounds football with rules football; it isn't plagued with fixes and brutalities like the fight crowd, and it has the element of uncertainty that makes basketball such a great game.

In no other sport is the underdog so strongly supported. In no other game does the fat feel himself so much a part of it. Baseball is the only 200-pound baseball employs a following greater than that of singers.

I suppose we can point out blemishes, because this baseball madness is a clean, wholesome expression of spirit, unlimited with the cynicism and pessimism unbesmirched with scandal.

We've come a long way from the Roman arena, as baseball demonstrates, and the job of civilization is to make sure we don't regress.

Recent Developments

Letters To The Flambeau

Disband Club

To the Editor:

I would like to extend especial praise to the organizers of the new Philosophy club on campus. They should be commended for their effort in founding such an important organization; more especially for the zeal they have expressed in offering their services as officers in the club. Now that their objective has been attained, I suggest that the club be disbanded.

WILLIAM R. WRIGHT, JR.

Our Firm Stand

To the Editor:

In the Annual Political Science Lecture that Tuesday night Dr. Dehna F. Fleming called for the purchase of peace in the Far East by the abandonment of Formosa, among other areas.

To justify this step in the name of the territorial integrity of China is absurd, since that is not in question. Formosa is ruled by Chinese government. But one wonders why these defenders of China's frontiers never suggest the return of Outer Mongolia to China by Russia.

What is in question is the aggressive expansiveness of Communism. As Dr. Fleming acutely remarked, the loss of Formosa to Europe and the Chinese mainland to Communism was merely part of the aftermath of World War II. This aftermath has by now spent itself. But the loss of Formosa would be the signal for a new round of Communist advances. The Huks would come down from the Philippine hills Emboldened South Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem would despair of continued American support. The Malayan 'bandidia' would take a new lease on life. America would lose control of the Far Eastern situation. A war would find her in a much worse position.

And the exodus of Formosa would increase the danger of war. Communism, elated by its bloodless victory, would be bluff would treat Hitler's path.

But dizzing in the Formosa strait is our best chance of peace. Communist China is not now ready to take on the Seventh Fleet. And every day that she puts off without implementing her threat to take Formosa is a victory for the anti-Communist world. It may be that future generations will point to our firm stand on Formosa as the turn of the tide against Communism.

History is full of examples of bluffs successfully called. But history is not full of examples of appeasement bringing peace. One would think that the painful mistake of World War II had taught us that lesson.

Furthermore, the maintenance of a rival Chinese government is our surest policy vis-a-vis Chinese Communism. If we allow that rival to be obliterated, prestige would be added to the life of Communism in China.

It is strange that the nation which best the greatest Asiatic power, Japan, to her knees should fear the threats of a far weaker power in terms of modern industrial might.

All in all, it appears forthcoming that the foreign policy of both Democratic and Republican parties is more sagacious than that of Dr. Fleming.

VAN G. PETERSON.

Justice

To the Editor:

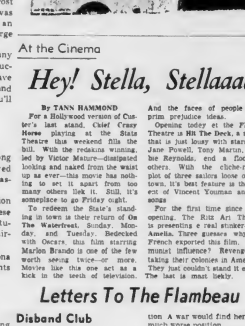
It is indeed a disappointment for a liberal paper like the Flambeau to treat Einstein's death as you did. For your edification, Einstein was not only a great scientist and one who would rather have been a plumber, but a prolific (for a genius

(Continued on Page 3)

At the Cinema

Hey! Stella, Stellaaaa

By TANN HAMMOND



For a Hollywood version of Cutrie's last stand, Chief Crazy Horse playing at the State Theatre this weekend fills the bill. With the redskins winning, led by Victor Mature—dissipated looking and half naked from the waist up as ever—this movie has nothing to set it apart from too many others like it. Still its someplace to go Friday ought.

To redeem the State's standing in town is their return of On The Waterfront, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday. Bedecked with Oscars, this film starring Marlon Brando is one of the few worth seeing twice—or more. Movies like this one act as a kick in the teeth of television.

And the faces of people with prim prejudice ideas.

Opening today at the Florida Theatre is Hit The Deck, a movie that is just lousy with stars like Jane Powell, Tony Martin, Debbie Reynolds, and a flock of others. With the cliche-ridden plot of three sailors loose on the town, it's best feature is the talent of Vincent Youmes and Debbie sons

For the first time since their opening, The Ritz Art Theatre is presenting a real stinker—Oh! Amelia, That Dream, about the French exported this film. Communist influence? Revenge for taking their colonies in America? They just couldn't stand it either. The last is most likely.

"Don't worry about those chapters we skipped—I believe I've covered them adequately in the final."

From The Sidelines

By Alan Whitmarsh

Sports Staff

Speculation

The morning of April 12 the Chicago Cubs and the Washington Senators were on top in the National and American League respectively, but nobody's counted on them to stay there and by next day the Senators were replaced and at the end of the week the Cubs were no longer a factor. For the next five months or so, 16 clubs will battle it out in the two leagues for the privilege of playing in the World Series next fall.

Speculation is running heavy as usual on who will win these two pennants, and though I can hardly hope to better the opinions of the top sportswriters, broadcasters and even the ballplayers themselves, here are my selections:

AMERICAN LEAGUE	NATIONAL LEAGUE
1. New York	1. Milwaukee
2. Cleveland	2. Brooklyn
3. Boston	3. New York
4. Chicago	4. St. Louis
5. Detroit	5. Cincinnati
6. Washington	6. Philadelphia
7. Baltimore	7. Chicago
8. Kansas City	8. Pittsburgh

Taking the National League first, there's only a little to come from in the top three teams. The Giants are still champs, you could someone can replace Dusty, but I believe that their exceptional performances in clutch games last year that will be hard to keep up this season. Some of their feats were little less of amazing and it's dubious that they can set the pace of performance out of the number of then they did last year.

The Dodgers are off to a roaring start, but they're not as tough as they used to be and their pitching is still basically an uncertainty. Their power is still the best in the league and it's one will make them a continual threat but the hazards of old age and shaky pitching will plague Walter Alston quite a bit during the long summer ahead.

Braves Overdue

The Braves are way overdue. They've been a strong threat the two years now and this should be the year for their explosion. Proven young pitchers like Jolly, Burdette, Conley, Buhl, Spahn and the veteran southpaw Warren Spahn plus the addition of a healthy Bobby Thomson to a strong hitting nucleus should give it tough combine to beat.

Again in the middle three positions, there's not much to choose from and perhaps flipping a coin might be the best way to decide on the teams there. The Cards get the nod on throwing off their tremendous hitting, and their pitching should prove to be a shade better than the Redlegs. Curt Simmons' hurling is still questionable and without him the Phils won't be able to make up for a lack of the long ball in the batting order.

The Cubs and Pirates are loaded with young, promising pitchers but they both have been in the cellar for about the past two years now. Until neither improving their position of last year. The Cubs' young pitchers may lift them up another position, if they turn major leaguer, but it's a big if at the moment.

The addition of Herb Score, who sportswriters are calling the best rookie prospect in many years, and Ralph Kiner, whose tremendous power is sure to aid an already potent attack, will give the Indians doubly tough to beat in the American League. Their pitching is saving, but I think that it is definitely strong enough to win it all.

The Yankees may have bought a pennant in their deal with the Baltimore Orioles, but Turley and Larsen are still unproved quantities and until they do prove themselves, the Yanks' pitching staff remains a question mark.

Red Sox Third

If Ted Williams stops fishing, I'd be even more inclined to give the Red Sox third, but with a fine young pitching staff I think that they can make it anyway. Rookie Faye Thornberry has done a fine job of replacing Ted thus far, and if he keeps up the Sox will be tough to beat anywhere.

The White Sox have had the stuff for three or four years, but they seem to do anything with it. They're going to be just as mixed this year as last when they won more games than any Chicago team in a long while, but the loss of Paul Richards' leadership may hurt.

The Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators may turn out to be the most interesting teams in the league and either is definitely a first division threat. The Tigers have some great young stuff, most of them proven stalwarts, and Charlie Dressen will have the Senators hopping, though he appears to have a tough row to hoed.

In Kansas City, though their name is changed, the Athletics are still the Athletics just as the Orioles were still basically the same old bedraggled St. Louis Browns and neither figures to be too much of a flurry by the end of the year.

Well there it is, but if everything goes haywire and none of these predictions come true, don't complain to me, because I make no promises, just hopeful predictions. It's a long time until September 25 and everything happens in the crazy world of baseball.

TEP's Win Initial Prize Wednesday

By HARRY BERNARD

Tau Epsilon Phi, playing for the first time in the Fraternity intramural league, captured their first trophy last Wednesday by defeating Sigma Alpha Epsilon for the Fraternity doubleer league championship.

TEP won the first set, 6-8, and lost the second set 1-6. On the verge of losing the last set, 0-4, they turned the pressure and won going away 6-4.

The Fraternity golf tournament started last Monday while the dormitory tournament starts Monday, April 25. This will be a single elimination tournament. All matches are to be played under the United States Golf Association rules, except where local course rules differ.

Last year's winner in the Fraternity league was Alpha Tau Omega with Phi Delta Theta the runner-up.

The schedule for the Fraternity softball games for the coming week

Field No. April 21

5 p.m.

1. SC-ATO
2. PKP-SPE
3. PKT-KA

6:30 p.m.

1. KS-PDT

8 p.m.

1. TEP-PKA

Field No. April 22

5 p.m.

1. DTD-LCA
2. SAE-ATO
3. TC-SC

6:30 p.m.

1. PEP-KA

8 p.m.

1. SPE-PDT

The schedule for the Dormitory softball for the coming week:

Field No. April 25

5 p.m.

1. Air Force-So. Hall
2. Penthouse-Methodists
3. Magnolia-Day Students

6:30 p.m.

1. Pirates-Baptists

Field No. April 27

5 p.m.

1. Rebels-Methodists
2. Air Force-Day Students
3. Penthouse-Baptists

6:30 p.m.

1. Magnolia-Pirates

The Man Behind the Program—Head of the athletic and physical education program here since 1947, Dr. Howard Danford is currently leading FSU teams to their greatest season.

Tribe Meets Tech, Georgia Track Teams

By LARRY HOUNTHA

FSU's well-rounded track team, still keyed up from their recent AAU win, left this morning by bus for Atlanta and a triangular meeting with Georgia - Georgia Tech. Tomorrow will mark the 41th clash between the schools since their rivalry began in 1852.

The Indians, under the guidance of their amiable mentor Mike Long, will enter the meet with an edge over both their opponents in the win-loss column. So far the record stands at two wins for the Seminoles, one for the Georgia Bulldogs. Tech has yet to come out on top.

A highlight of tomorrow's affair will be the 440 rd. relay. It is an annual feature of the meet and one of the most hotly contested events each year. The record of 43.4 is held by the Engineers, however the Indians running with Fraundorfer, Watson, Davis and Terwilliger, will be gunning for it.

Probable FSU entries: 100—Davis, J. Terwilliger; 220—Davis, J. Terwilliger; 440—C. Watson, M. Hungan; 880—K. Seanar, J. Harrel, B. Oustenhoudt; 1 M — Vern Duce, D. Thomas, J. M — Vern Duce, D. Thomas; 120 H.H.—T. Brown, J. Brownlinar 220 LH — C. Watson, T. Brown; Shot—Jerry Jacobs M Smith, C. Fraundorfer; Disc—C. Fraundorfer, Robert Green, T. Babjak; Javelin—R. Weaver, R. Smith, W. Strickland; Pole Vault—W. Strickland, C. Green, P. Rainey; High Jump—T. Brown, J. Brownning, L. Lassen; Broad Jump—C. Fraundorfer, J. Davis; Hamilton are now making plans for the annual Pledge Dance in the Fall.

Pan-Hel Plans Cup Awards At Banquet

The sorority having the highest grade average and the one which has made the greatest scholarship improvement, will be presented scholarship cups at the Annual Panhellenic Scholarship Banquet, Wednesday, April 27.

Winner of the sorority intramurals will also be awarded a trophy.

New officers are Harriett Davis (DE), president, Marian Benson, (KAT); Barbara Stone (OPB), and Nancy Graham (PM), honor court chairman.

Pledge presidents and representatives held their first Junior Panhellenic meeting Tuesday night under the guidance of Pan-Hell officers.

"Junior Pan-Hell strives to serve the needs and desires of sorority pledges" said Marian Benson, Pan-Hell secretary.

President Marilyn Mason, secretary, Sherry Cobb, and treasurer, Fran Hamilton are now making

Swimming Coach To Officiate At Two Prep Meets

Ben Stults Florida State University's successful swimming coach will officiate for two upcoming Florida high school swimming meets.

Stults, who has coached FSU to 21 straight dual triumphs will act as head judge for the Big Ten meet in Miami Jackson High School April 30, and as referee for the State AA high school meet at Gainesville, May 13-14.

Letters

(Continued from page 2)

tist; writer; championing the very cause which some of your columnists think they are such martyrs for. I think you have slighted Einstein in not mentioning this aspect of the man. His activity which he thought was more important than his work in theoretical physics. If the Flambeau feels it must eulogize someone or preach some reform I only wish the writers would set some facts first so they could do justice to their subjects

JACK NORTON

Letters To The Flambeau

To The Sports Editor:

Since the Flambeau went out on the proverbial limb and picked the finish of the major league races, I thought I would do the same as Sports Editor of WFSU-FM.

AMERICAN	NATIONAL
1. New York	1. Brooklyn
2. Cleveland	2. Milwaukee
3. Chicago	3. New York
4. Boston	4. St. Louis
5. Detroit	5. Cincinnati
6. Washington	6. Philadelphia
7. Baltimore	7. Chicago
8. Kansas City	8. Pittsburgh

Here's why:

IN THE AL — Acquisition of Turley should counteract the rookie Score of the Indians and with Casey and Mantle a year wiser the Yanks will be hard to beat. They also have the best bench in baseball and with Score pulling the strings anything can happen. We can't go against the Yanks.

The rest of the league isn't in their class. Will take Boston over Detroit due to the return of Mel Parnell. Watch Detroit sag by Al Kaline, in the years to come, but not this year.

Washington has players like Vernon and Yost which will keep them out of that last place scramble between Baltimore and Kansas City.

IN THE NL—Always a great club except on the mound, Brooklyn has enough depth in the pitching department this year to take it all. Newcombe, Loes, Erskine, Spooner, Labine can all throw hard. Campanella figures to come back strong after a poor 1954 season due to injury.

Milwaukee can count on Bobby Thomson to play 154 games this year and that could mean a rise in the standings. They have a fine, well balanced club. Logan at shortstop may be the most improved player in the league.

The Giants don't figure to have the year they did last season. Grissom shouldn't be as effective in relief and Rhodes isn't the phenom he looked like last season. Maglie is a year older, and when you're in the late 30's every season hurts. Of course, Antonelli will win his 20 but that won't be enough. Will the "Say Hey" Kid, Willie Mays come through again? Too many if's.

The Cardinals have potentially the greatest team in baseball. They have great like Musial and Schoendienst and promising youngsters like Moon and Repulski. They have three rookies who last year led the three AAA minor leagues in hitting. Kyle Boyer the third baseman and two outfielders, Bill Virdon and Harry Elliott. The only weak spot is pitching and that's the most important spot for any club. The Cards have improved on pitching. They have the Haddix and Lawrence, both of whom are dependable. They've acquired one of the best relief artists in Frank Smith and with rookie prospects like Larry Jackson, Gordon Jones, Luis Arroyo, Tony Jacobs and Barney Schultz the chances of one coming through are good.

Cincinnati has the most power of any team in baseball but no mound staff at all and no prospects. Gerry Staley, acquired from the Cards and Corky Valentine are the only pitchers worth mention.

Philadelphia has the many leaders best pitcher, Robin Roberts. That takes care of the mound staff. Hamner, Ennis and Ashburn make up the rest of the club. Not enough to challenge for the first division but enough to put them ahead of Chicago and Pittsburgh.

Chicago has Bob Rush to pitch. Hank Sauer to hit. Frank Baumholtz to chase the ball to Sauer, and a good double play combination in Ernie Banks and Gene Baker.

Pittsburgh has Frank Thomas in the outfield . . . period.

HAL LE VAY

FSU Hosts First Meet On April 29

Florida State University will host its first high school track meet when prep teams from Southwest Florida gather for the Group One AA and A eliminations here April 29.

Mike Long, FSU track coach, will direct the one - day meet, which serves as a regional elimination for the state high school championship meet.

Winners at Tallahassee will compete in the state meet at Gainesville May 7.

Preliminaries in the group meets here Friday week will begin at 10 a.m. with the finals carded for 2:30 p.m. The meet is set for FSU's West Campus oval.

Leon High of Tallahassee and Pensacola High head the list of AA entries. A large field of Northwest Florida high school entries is expected for the A division.

Look for the Spalding "Tennis Twins" Wherever Top Tennis Is Played

There are good reasons why Spalding's tennis twins are used in more major tennis tournaments than all other tennis balls combined.

Top players want a tennis ball that can take rough treatment . . . and give uniform performance set after set. They pick the Spalding and the Spalding-made Wright & Ditson over all others for uniform wear and better bounce qualities.

Put the best ball in play for your best game. The pick of top tennis men . . . Spalding's famous tennis twins.

Your dealer has them now.

SPALDING SETS THE PACE IN SPORTS

smart, dashing... right from the word "go"!

ARROW

"Country Ginghams" $3.95

Bound for town or country—and right in style! Arrow Country Ginghams sport shirts in distinctive new checks . . . exciting high-fashion plaids. Fabrics are "Sanforized"®. . . Arafold collar feels extra-comfortable. Pick up some Arrow Country Ginghams today—with long or short sleeves.

Mendelson's

Tallahassee's Most Complete Dept. Store

FOR ARROW SPORT SHIRTS

50 million times a day at home, at work or while at play

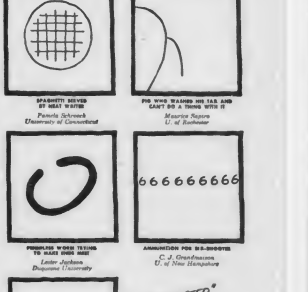
There's nothing like a

Coke

1. BRIGHT, RIGHT TASTE...
2. PAST REFRESHMENT...

a bit of quick energy for a wholesome little lift.

DRINK Coca-Cola



BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY

TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1955, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

A WHOLE CABOODLE OF LUCKY DROODLES!

SPAGHETTI SERVED BY HEAD WAITER
Pamela Schwenk
University of Connecticut

PIG WHO WASHED HIS TAIL AND CAN'T DO A THING WITH IT
Maurice Nagata
U. of Redlands

PROBABLE WORD TESTING TO MAKE ENDS MEET
Lester Jackson
Duquesne University

AMMUNITION FOR B.B. SHOOTER
C. J. Gianfortoni
U. of New Hampshire

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

OLD COMB
Kenneth Black
Stanford University

A WONDERFUL SLANT on smoking! You'll find it in the Droodle above, titled: Tourist enjoying better-tasting Lucky Strike while leaning against tower of Pisa. If your own incination is toward better taste, join the many college smokers who prefer Luckies. From any angle, Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Little wonder that Luckies tower above all other brands in college popularity!

DROODLES Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

Better taste Luckies...

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER

CLEANER, FRESHER, SMOOTHER!

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES!

Luckies lead all other brands in colleges—and by a wide margin—according to an exhaustive, coast-to-coast college survey. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

LUCKY STRIKE

CIGARETTES

"IT'S TOASTED"

G.A.T. Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

KA Rebellion, Parade Today

BY JEROME BERNSTEIN

Wednesday afternoon, representatives from Fort Kappa Alpha addressed both houses of the Legislature, notifying them that the KA Chapter was seceding from the Union and asking the Legislature to enlist the Confederate Army.

In conjunction with this, Colonel J. Mundy Crews, Commander of the Kappa Alpha Regiment at FSU, issued a proclamation of Secession for Fort Kappa Alpha which read in part: "When in the course of southern events it becomes necessary for the gentlemen of Kappa Alpha to part relationship with the so called union—Be it known here and now that a secession must occur."

Collins Presented

Governor LeRoy Collins also is going to be presented with the Proclamation of Secession, and telegrams are being sent to President Eisenhower. Television coverage of the weekend will be provided by WJBR-TV in Jacksonville.

Thus the stage is set for the KA secession from the union which will occur this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. in front of the "Southern Belle Mansion" known as Bryan Hall. The secession ceremonies, which will usher in a weekend of KA festivities will be preceded by a parade starting at 2:30 p.m. in front of the Floridian Hotel.

The parade will proceed from the hotel to the Capitol Building on Monroe Street, north on Adams to College, and down College Avenue to the University. Approximately 35 wagons and buggies will participate in the parade carrying southern gentlemen and ladies dressed in old style costumes. A number of the more modern convertibles will be decorated with southern belles.

Bryan Hall

The parade will proceed to Bryan Hall where the secession ceremony will take place at 3:30 p.m. Part of the ceremony will include the raising of the Confederate flag on the flagpole and presentation of an Honorary Generalship to the Confederate Army to Florida's Attorney General Richard Ervin.

Following the Formal Secession of Fort Kappa Alpha from the Union, Military personnel, Civilian attaches, and their ladies will retire to the Fort where moonlight and palm trees will highlight a South Sea Isle costume party.

On Saturday a barbecue will be held at the Albritton Plantation, located on the West Coast. Later in the evening, the Kappa Alpha Old South Ball will take place in the Woman's Club of Tallahassee where the KA Rose and her court will be presented.

The weekend will end Sunday ceremonial and spiritual leader of Kappa Alpha afternoon with a salute to the Con-federacy and Robert E. Lee, found-Enlist Now—In the Confederate Army . . . Speaker of the Florida House of Representatives, Ted David, and Senate President, W. Turner Davis, give up their rostrums to the KA's K.D. Bliss and Ernest Eubanks for secession and enlistment purposes.

The March . . . Col. J. Mundy Crews and Lt. Colonel John Smith parade the horsepower of the Old South along College Avenue.

Those Old Confederate Spirits . . . Enthusiasm marks the faces of audience gathered to watch the Kappa Alpha Order seceed from the union last year.

State Delegates

(Continued from Page 1

in such a manner. "In the future we must have people who will stick with the party in defeat as well as victory," he declared.

Denies Charges

One candidate who resigned the State Party, annrdr denied Mansfield's statements. "I quit because in the two years I have worked with the party system here it has not demonstrated it can accomplish anything, but rather has created disunity, cut-down of communication, disputes, and attempts to build issues where no issues exist.

Individuals have been responsible for what student government has accomplished, and no party can take the credit. Therefore I resigned feeling that I could serve the students better as an independent than as a party member."

Board Hears

(Continued from Page 1)

could either resign and get accumulated vacation pay plus letters of recommendation, or fight the charges "and commit professional suicide."

He said his lack of faith in the procedure for fighting the charges plus his wife's ill health and their recent financial commitments made him decide to resign.

Leathers said he thought then that "I had everything to lose and nothing to gain" by fighting the charges.

Other witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Renner, who testified to Leathers' undecidedness at the time; Henry F. Becker, department head, who said he told Leathers he would be "wiser to resign;" Dr. William Kirk, chairman of the athletic committee on which Leathers said he worked and then president of the local AAUP chapter, who said that although no overt pressure was brought on him as a result he has gotten no promotions and had his next appointment delayed.

Dean Davis, who indicated he had accepted the charges against Leathers and had asked for the latter's resignation; Dr. A. B. Martin, who further denied not admitted that Danford had attacked Leathers, but who said he saw no such attack, and Dr. Doak S. Campbell, president, who denied Leathers' allegations that he (Campbell) had chanced recommendations of the Faculty Senate between that group and the Board of Control.

Worth Mooer, attorney for Leathers, accused Dr. Davis, Becker, and Associate Dean Reynolds, who also testified, with not considering those students who he said spoke favorably of Leathers when questioned.

Also testifying was basketball coach Kennedy who denied that he had threatened to have Leathers "hauled on the carpet" and said he had not injected Dr. Campbell's name into the discussion in question.

Hollis Rinehart, former Board chairman, who presided at yesterday's hearing, said that Leathers' avowed purpose, if reinstated, was to immediately resign. Leathers admitted this saying he would "never again work for this administration."

Rinehart said the board's decision would be announced in "ten days to two weeks," after it will have considered the lengthy testimony and gone over the written exhibits entered during the hearing.

FCCH Meets On Campus

(Continued from Page One)

colm Johnson, Tallahassee Democrat; Don Peitl, Capital Post; and Stanley Wirver, St. Petersburg Times, will represent the press.

Ted David, Speaker of the Florida House of Representatives, will speak at the dinner in the Suwannee Room at 6:30 p.m. FSU will be host to the Citizenship Clearing House at this event.

Texas Radio Speaker

Tuesday's program begins at 9 a.m. in Longmire Auditorium with Dean J. A. Batlle, Florida Southern, acting as moderator of a panel, "The Executive in Action." Members of the panel are Joe Grotenui, Administrative Assistant, to Governor LeRoy Collins; Harry Smith, Director of the Budget Commission; and R. A. Gray, Secretary of State.

From 10 a.m. to noon, Tuesday, conference representatives will attend the Cabinet meeting at the Capitol and the legislative sessions.

"Executive-Legislative Relations" will be discussed at 1:30 p.m. in the Presbyterian Student House. Moderator will be Dr. Thomas Dauer, University of Florida, and members of the panel will be Millard E. Caldwell, Former Governor of Florida, Doyle E. Conner, State Representative; John Germany, Legislative Assistant to the Governor; and State Senator Verle A. Pope.

BECHETTI AND COUNTS PRESENT JUNIOR RECITAL

A Junior piano recital will be presented by Kathryn Bechetti and Nancy Counts Saturday evening at 8:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall. The two students of Mary Esther Winston will play selections by J. S Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Chopin, Dubussy, and Shostakovich.

ELIOT READINGS

A concert reading of T. S Eliot's "Murder in the Cathedral" will be broadcast over WFSU-FM Sunday at 5 p.m.

Lee Pryor, Forrest Allman, H E. Bower, Jack Lawler, Catherine Hartley, Marcie Rae Lee and Tom Hall are featured.

DELUXE LAUNDRY, INC.
Offers:
Beautiful Shirt Finishing
Expert Dry Cleaning
All Work Done on Premises
Call
2-8611
614 West Tennessee Street
(One Block From Senior Hall)

Phi Mu Alpha Pledges Elect Class Officers

Twenty one new pledges have been announced by the Eta Iota chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, professional and honorary music fraternity for men.

Prospective Sinfonia's are Phil Austin, Dave Bonnie, Jack Bonks, Jim Callender, Muriel Pennica, Tommy Greenhaw, Joe Bill Roy McCance, Tim McCurley, Ron Nolen, Paul Ort, Bill Pharris, Bill Pryor, Don Randall, Wayne Schaffemiller, Richard Shelley, Sam Taylor, Ray Thompson, Gordon Torn, Ray Turner, and Harry Whitehurst.

Officers elected for the spring class were Tommy Greenhaw, president; Roy McCance, vice-president; Sheldon Torn secretary; Jim Callender, treasurer; Don Randall, program chairman; and Bill John Schaffermuller, property chairman.

Pledge activities will include a recital for the actives and a variety project. Initiation is scheduled for early May.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
Today Thru Tues.
"HIT THE DECK"
Jane Powell
Tony Martin
Margo & Gower Champion

STATE
Today & Tomorrow
"CHIEF CRAZY HORSE"
Victor Mature
Susan Ball
Sunday & Monday
Academy-Award Winner
"ON THE WATERFRONT"
Marlon Brando

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
Today & Tomorrow
"JOHNNY GUITAR"
Joan Crawford
—plus—
"MISSION OVER KOREA"
John Hodiak
Sunday & Monday
"VALLEY OF THE KINGS"
Robert Taylor
Eleanor Parker

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Today & Tomorrow
"FORTY-NINERS"
Edi Elliot
—plus—
"DEVIL'S CANYON"
Virginia Mayo
Sunday & Monday
"JEOPARDY"
with
Barbara Stanwyck

RITZ—Today & Tomorrow
"OH AMELIA"—Douglas
Sunday & Monday—"GREATEST LOVE—Ingrid Bergman

Put a SMILE in your SMOKING!

Buy CHESTERFIELD today!

You'll SMILE your approval of Chesterfield's smoothness—mildness—refreshing taste.

You'll SMILE your approval of Chesterfield's quality—highest quality, low nicotine.

Largest selling cigarette in America's colleges

© Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

See it—
Drive it—WIN IT!

You'll find a world of new fun at the wheel of a new Chevrolet—and the exciting discoveries you make can help you win one!

Driving a beautiful new Chevrolet is thrill enough any time. It is more rewarding right now, because the things you find out on your drive can help you win a 1955 Chevrolet plus a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond!

For instance, your drive will show you what it means to sit in a luxurious Fisher Body, to see all four fenders from the driver's seat, and to get a man-size look ahead through a Sweep-Sight windshield.

You'll learn that Chevrolet puts new comfort in going! New Glide-Ride front suspension and Outrigger rear springs. New ease to guiding the car with Ball-Race Steering. A new smoothness to all stops with Anti-Dive Braking Control. A constant flow of outside air from the new High-Level ventilation system.

You'll discover new fun whether you drive Chevrolet's new 162-horsepower "Turbo-Fire V-8" or one of the two new 6's. (All with the only 12-volt system in their field. You can learn about the smoothness of three great transmissions—automatic Powerglide, new Overdrive (extra-cost options) and Synchro-Mesh.

Come in soon. Pick up your entry blank and get the complete details on Chevrolet's big Miracle Mile Contest. It's easy to enter and you'll enjoy yourself. So drop in while there's still plenty of time left to win!

COMPLETE and OFFICIAL figures show that again in 1954—for the 19th straight year—
MORE PEOPLE BOUGHT CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

See Your Chevrolet Dealer

"MISS TALLAHASSEE"
Twenty-Eight
Co-eds Vie—P. 4

The Florida Flambeau

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

VOL. XL NO. 46 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA TUESDAY, APRIL 26, 1955

Independents Nearly Gain On Parties

Student Party Leads Number With Fifty-Five

As of late yesterday afternoon, there are more students seeking office as independents than got up by one of the two political parties.

With declarations of candidacy extended to this afternoon and even more students expected to qualify, the independents number 45 and the state party 34 out of 134 candidates. The Student Party leads the number of candidates in the race with 55.

The Student Party nominated no more than that number at their convention Thursday night while the State Party nominated only 36. There are 64 offices being contested.

According to sources compiled by The Florida Flambeau, the candidates at that time were:

FOR SOPHOMORE MEN'S SENATE Karl Edwards, Buddy Reynolds and Bill Shubert. Student: Harris Litwin and Rick McCann, state.

Men's Senate

JUNIOR MEN'S SENATE Don Bachman, David Medford and Fred Roberts, Student. Jim T. Moore and Jim Soles, independents

SENIOR MEN'S SENATE Gordon Gaster, Fred Mansfield and Cale Porter, State. Bob Elsie, Bruce Fletcher and Ed Stone, student, and Jack Norton, independent

SOPHOMORE WOMEN'S SENATE Polly Alvarez, Ann Bellamy and Peter Dunn, Student. Pat Rebmke and Mary Wilson, State. Nancy Dvorak, Jan Kamnis, Melanie Paulette and Mary Ann Smith, independents

JUNIOR WOMEN'S SENATE Carolyn Close, Bonnie Jo Cotter and Greta Sims, Student. Janet Cubbon and Joan Zorbaugh, State, and Barbara Haines independent.

SENIOR WOMEN'S SENATE Bob Bubee, Mary Louise Dee and Germaine Murray, Student. Sid Ann Yeoman, state.

Three seats are at stake in each of these above groups.

Running for Sophomore Class president are Bill Cullom and Phi Perry, Independent. Bill Stock, Student, and Bill Weaver, State.

Vice-president: Carole Dailey, Gloria Johnson and Michaela Schmaltz, independents. Don K. Lewis, Student, and Don Noot, State.

For Secretary: Maxine Hannon and Mary Louise Peacock Independents. Shirley Metz, State and Adrianne Whittle, Student.

Treasurer

For Treasurer: Gayle Gardner, Chris Ginocchio, Sara Jane Griffin and Jane Lewis, Independents. Karen Kimple, Student and Paula Parsons, State

For social chairman: Betsy Burton, Mabel Hinseon and Faye Horner, independents. Joy Smiley, Student, and Vicki Walter, State.

John Mayer, State, and Bobby Temple, Student, are in the running for Junior class president, seeking the vice-presidency are Bruce Jacob, Shirley Moran, Independents, and Bruce Parrish, state and Tuffy Parsons, State.

For secretary, Florence Ashby, Student, and Pat Hilton, State.

For treasurer: Laura Elder and Pat Smith, Independents, and Grover Smith, Student.

For social chairman: Nan Mosley, Student, and Ruthie Renshaw, State.

Bob Crenshaw, as of yesterday afternoon, was the only candidate for Senior class president who is unaffiliated.

Seeking the vice-presidency of that class are Barbara Bachman, Student, Dee Bittner, State, and Tom Ehrhardt and Dan Gerham, Independents.

For secretary: Ann Murray, State and Joan Tavel, Student.

For treasurer: Carol Wells, Student, and Tina Stahl, State.

For social chairman: Steve Sutton and Sally Fussell, Independents.

Men's Judiciary

Seeking the three seats on Sophomore men's judiciary are "Sleepy" Dreyfus and Ken White, State; Bob Johnson, Bill McKenzie and Bob Payne, Student.

For Junior men's judiciary: Dan Meuzeaux and Earle Perkins, Student, and Joel Mercer and Ernie Stock, Independents.

For Senior men's judiciary only two candidates had filed— Sam Alderman and Bob Cohen, both Student Party.

A large field is seeking the Sophomore women's judiciary seats: Wilma Sue Paxon, Barbara Jean Little and Martha McGinnes, Student; Gary Linda Mc Keever, June Silley and Jean Warner, State, and Martha Grinnell, Joan Heron, Priscilla

(Continued on Page 4)

WHAT'S BETTER THAN FOUR ROSES?—Five of course! And here they are, Miss Ferell Dewitt, seated, chosen "Rose of Kappa Alpha" at the KA Rebellion Ball Saturday night; and l. to r., Betty Wilmon, Willa Jean Pace, and Betty Ann Munroe.

Gold Key's Rally On Monday Promises To Be 'Wide Open'

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Gold Key's elections-eve political rally, always among the top campus political events, is shaping up as a wide open affair.

Candidates will campaign Monday night at 8 in the Music Amphitheatre before an expected large turnout. They will make their bid for student votes in the Senate-Court-Class elections the following day.

President set by last year's elections, in which both parties campaigned numerous high offices, coupled with an upsurge of student interest in recent party conventions, offers strong indications of a hot rally Monday night.

Chairman Rims Tews urged all candidates to make speeches at the rally. "It will benefit not only the candidates, but the student body as a whole," he stated.

Voters can listen to the people they will represent them next year. By personally hearing and seeing the candidates, students will be sure to elect the candidates they want."

Tews asked that fraternities and sororities bring up the subject of the political rally at the chapter meetings closest to election day and ask members to attend. This way we'll get more representative government," he said.

The Senate-Court-Class elections political rally is an annual event staged by Gold Key, men's leadership, scholastic and service fraternity at Florida State University.

Required Tests Slated Again

Students who have not taken the following required tests must take them Monday, May 2. To have had 124, Science at the indicated times or they will not be permitted to register next semester. The deficiency fee of $5 must be paid at room 310 Education before May 2. The time for each test is as follows:

ACE Psychological

4:00 p.m.

Minnesota Personality

5:15 p.m.

General Culture

7:00 p.m.

Titus Captures First Place In Ugly Contest

By JERI BRADFIELD

The second annual Ugly Man Contest came to an end Friday night, with Sonny Titus, sponsored by ADPi, capturing first place honors.

Jack Schlesberg, whose sponsoring organization was Gamma Phi Beta, copped second prize, and Tom Ehrhardt, sponsored by Phi Delta Theta, was FSU's third ugliest man.

The results of the contest were announced at a dance held at the Student Center under the sponsorship of the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

Approximately $200 was raised by the contest, with $175 clear profit. Two substantiates the desire of the club to make $200 for the purpose of converting the radios in the infirmary to A-M-FM, so students who can't afford to use infirmary may listen to the FSU radio station, WFSU-FM.

Sought Last Year

Some of the radios, which will soon be converted, were bought by the Alpha Phi Omega group last year as their Ugly Man Contest project. As many sets as possible will be converted for the enjoyment of the students in the new infirmary, Shirley Metz, who has been made available by the penny voting for the "ugliest man" during the past week.

According to Russ Parrish, co-chairman of the contest, Sonny Titus was the winner with over 11,00 votes. The second place winner, Jack Schlesberg, collected over 4,000 votes, and Tom Ehrhardt, the third ugliest man, gathered a total exceeding 3,000 votes.

Gets Trophy

FSU's ugliest man, Sonny Titus, received a large golden trophy which will go to his sponsoring organization, Alpha Delta Pi. He was presented with an engraved key for himself.

Parrish said he was "quite

(Continued on page 4)

Declaration Of Candidacy Is Due Today, 5

Declarations of candidacy for next Tuesday's class primaries must be filed with Jim Bowden in the Secretary of Elections has waived.

Expense estimates must also be turned in by that time.

Active campaigning is scheduled to begin this afternoon.

Elections secretary Betty Williamson has warned that candidates who do not meet the deadline for filing declarations and expense estimates will be disqualified, unless they give a suitable excuse to the elections committee before that time. It is an extension of the original deadline.

Many Running

"I have discovered there are so many students running for office who are not aware of Election Committee procedure," said Miss Williams. "Naturally this keeps our committee from functioning efficiently.

Miss Williams emphasized that an expense estimate is only the candidate's guess of how much he will spend, kept, of course, within the limits as defined by statute for the various offices.

Declaration and estimate blanks may be obtained and turned in at the Director's office in Leigh Hall Building.

Polls in the primaries will be open in Westcott Building, manned by Sophomore Council; Student Center and Seminole Club, by Junior Executive Council; bus stop behind Westcott, Phi Kappa Tau, Landis Green, Alpha Phi Omega, and West Hall, Alpha Council.

Case of Bias

In case of rain, Miss Williams said, the bus stop poll will be moved in the Mirror Building in front of Conrad Theater, and that on Landis Green will be the front steps of the Women's Gym.

Ballots will be IBM counted and results will be posted in 404 Education Building.

Student Senate recently passed a bill to prohibit candidates for office from working at the ballot boxes. This is a number of students running for office is expected to cause Elections Secretary Williams some concern in her search for elections workers.

Choral Union To Present Verdi's Aida

The Florida State University Choral Union will present Verdi's Aida May 13 and 14.

Under the direction of Herman Gunter, assistant professor of music, the production will be held in Westcott Auditorium.

Taking leading roles will be Edith Hale as Aida, J. Dayton Smith as Radames. Understudies for the roles are Joan Hicks and Wesley Bradford.

Also taking part will be Betty Jane Hall as Amneris, with understudy by Carole Nydegger; Edgar Evans as Amonasro, with Peter Peck as understudy; Herman Gunter as Ramphis, understudied by Jack Kelley; Jack Kelley as the King and Tib McGinely, understudied by Bob Parrish, as the messenger.

Education Frat Takes In Ten

Ten new members have been initiated into the FSU chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, national professional fraternity for men in education.

Dean E. D. Skaggs of Chipley Junior College became the only non-resident member of the chapter; restricted to faculty and graduates in teacher education.

Thomas A. Barbin, A. Malcolm Brown, Lewis S. Danfelt, John M. Gustafson, John S. Newberry, Keith Pitchford, Lloyd H. Sind, J. O. Wynn and Leo W. York, all members of the faculty of Florida's school here, were also initiated.

Upper Classmen To Nominate Royalty For Prom Thursday

Juniors and seniors are asked to nominate candidates for king and queen of the Junior-Senior Prom Thursday.

Royalty election chairman Barbara Graham said yesterday that ballot boxes will be available in Westcott, the Dining Hall and the Student Center from 8 a.m to 6 p.m Thursday.

The king and queen of the prom will be announced during the highest number of votes in the election to be held a week from Thursday. Juniors receiving the most votes will be among the members of the court, said Miss Graham.

The chairman added that any students may nominate candidates, but that only juniors and seniors may vote in the prom elections.

Plan Underway To Open Charter From State Court

Horne Says Bill Will Not Affect Student Court

There is little chance that the Florida Legislature will pass any law doing away with the student traffic court, Student Body President - elect Coyle Moore stated yesterday.

Representative Mallory Horne, one of the sponsors of a House bill to allow the Talbot Inn police to exercise authority on campus in matters not conflicting with that of Control policies, has said he will make sure the bill does not affect the Traffic Court, Moore revealed.

"Those who introduced the bill wanted it to affect only visitors to the campuses of state universities," Moore added. The Traffic Court now has no jurisdiction over them.

Bill Unclear

Moore admitted the bill "actually makes it possible for the local police to come over and take over the entire Traffic Court if they wanted to.

"Actually," he stated, "that's not the purpose of the bill. Representative Horne and Bullington have said they didn't want to pass anything that would affect the student Traffic Court.

"Rep. Horne said that he will introduce an amendment to the bill from the floor of the House today, when it comes up, that it will not affect the Student Traffic Court, but will only allow the Talbot Inn police to have jurisdiction over visitors.

"All those we have contacted about it have said that they think the Traffic Court is functioning well and they want it to continue that way."

DR ROBERT WAUCHOPE — Director of Middle American Research Institute at Tulane, will speak here Saturday for Sigma Xi, science honorary on Middle American archeology.

Sigma Xi, Science Organization To Merge With National Order

Sigma Xi will become a full-fledged member of the national group in ceremonies here this Saturday.

Sigma Xi is a scientific organization open to any one who has published an original piece of work in a reputable journal.

Dr. Robert Wauchope, director of the Middle American Research Institute at Tulane University will speak on "Unsolved Problems of Middle American Archeology."

Other events scheduled for Saturday are registration of delegates and guests at Losanitch; an organizational meeting and the installation of the chapter, in Doppman Music Hall.

Reception Planned

The Installation will be followed by a reception with the dinner at 6:45 in the Suwannee Room. Dinner tickets are $2.50 and can be obtained from Dr. Donald Landberg.

Joseph W. Barker, of the Research Corporation of New York City and the national president of Sigma Xi, will install the chapter.

Up to the present time the club has not been officially affiliated with the national organization. The usual waiting period is ten years, Dr. Harry Walkowicz, chairman of the Arrangements Committee, said it is "a hush compliment to FSU to get a full-fledged chapter in such a short time as five years."

Encourages Research

The purpose of the organization is to encourage original scientific research. Students who show promise may become associate

(Continued on page 4)

Solons Pass Pay Hike Resolution

Student Senate adopted a resolution last week asking the University to establish a minimum wage rate of 75 cents an hour for all student assistants.

The present minimum is 50 cents an hour; the maximum $1.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Bill Moore, stipulated that the pay raise should not be accompanied by a decrease in the number of students employed.

Another resolution, aimed at the Student Body Constitution, will be shortened as the editors see fit. Candidates must bring the letters to the Flambeau office, 113 Longmire Building.

Fletcher Move Would Legalize Student Gov't

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Student government here may get a new, revolutionary charter from a Florida Circuit Court within "several days" if plans now underway are successful.

The court charter would legalize the Florida State University's student government and place it under state and federal law as a non-profit corporation. News of the wholesale revision of student government came to light late yesterday when Bill Fletcher, a Junior here, revealed he had been proceedings to obtain the charter.

Now Being Drafted

Fletcher said that provisions of the charter are now being drafted and that he expected the Circuit Court Judge to issue it within "several days" after it is submitted.

Under Florida law the charter has to be signed by 7 members of the pending corporation, said Fletcher. He stated that it would be signed by members of the Student Party who hold office in Student Government.

Student Party Chairman Graham Carothers, when informed of the proposed charter, said that Fletcher, a Student Party member, will have "all of the party plank if his project is successful. Both political parties on campus have had planks to obtain student government charters since the year 1946.

Rush's Heard

Carothers said that was the first he had heard of a court charter, although several Student Party members were planning to investigate the possibility of a charter for the Legislature, through the Board of Control.

The charter, as outlined tentatively by Fletcher, would include the following purposes for FSU's student government:

(1) To provide the means whereby the members of the Student Body may exercise themselves effectively in the programs of the university which will further their social, economic physical, intellectual and spiritual welfare.

(2) To encourage and regulate the activities of the Student Body for the good of the entire educational community.

The present constitution of the Student Body "shall be in existence until the Student Senate, with the approval of the entire student body, declares it dissolved" according to Fletcher's pending charter.

Elected Officials

The officials who were elected in the last Student Body Elections shall manage the affairs until the FSU charter, under the charter, the proposal continues.

Fletcher hopes to have a complete details of the move ready by the time legal details have been worked out and checked by office holders

News Briefs

LEDUC TO READ LANGUAGE PAPER

Dr. Gerhard Leduc, associate professor of modern languages at FSU, will read a paper on "Graduate Reading Examinations in French and German" to the eighth University of Florida Foreign Language Conference, Lexington, Ky., Saturday.

The conference is an international center for exchange of professional information and ideas concerning the humanities and foreign languages, including literature, creative literature, and the teaching of foreign languages.

Dr. Leduce is in charge of the reading knowledge program in modern languages for graduate students from all departments at FSU.

HELP SESSIONS CONTINUE NIGHTLY

Help sessions, sponsored by the Scholarship Club, will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. in 404 Education. The schedule is Monday, Science; Tuesday Humanities, Wednesday, History, and Friday, Math.

OGLESBY TO ADDRESS GRADUATE STUDENTS

Dean of Students R. R. Oglesby will speak to the graduate class at the dinner meeting tonight and meeting on "Natural Enemies of Undesirable Students." Thursday at 4 p.m in the Longmire Lounge

Campaign Letters Due Tomorrow

The Florida Flambeau will print candidates' letters from candidates in the Senate-Court-Class elections in the issue of Friday, April 29. Election day is Tuesday, May 3.

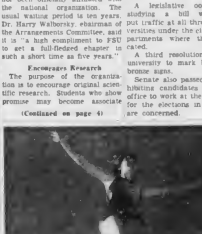
The editors cannot be responsible for publication of letters received after Wednesday noon tomorrow. Letters of over 200 words, 20 typewritten lines, will be shortened as the editors see fit. Candidates must bring the letters to the Flambeau office, 113 Longmire Building.

'Bonus' Music Program

Women's Glee Club Set For 3rd Public Concert Of Year, Sunday

A "sort of bonus program" of early church music will be presented by the Women's Glee Club, Sunday, at 5 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall.

Having already given their annual Spring program as well as Christmas Vespers this year the group is giving an extra program, said Mabel Ann Grimm, director, "for the girls and anyone else who wants to hear it. Expected to last about 50 minutes. "It will be a place where everyone can put their brakes on, rest awhile and just listen," she added.



Highlighting the program will be the Stabat Mater, composed by Giovanni Pernbolesi, and of unknown authorship. The translation into English, by Donald A Knox is "especially good in that it is both literal and poetic," said Miss Grimm.

Speaking of Pergolesi, Mrs. John F. Spratt, of the School of Music said that the composer "while yet a boy . . . began to have had Landi's rare gift of casting a spell over his listeners. The Stabat Mater," he said, is to Pergolesi what the Requiem was to Mozart—a work composed under the shadow of approaching death. The vitality of this work, written by a composer who died at the age of 26, cannot fail to inspire wonder and reverence."

Also on the program is the anthem Holy Lord God, by Noble Cain, the text of which is taken chiefly from the Sanctus of the Arabian Service Book. "Holy, Holy, Lord God of Hosts." The musical style of Mr. Cain adheres to what is called 'common harmonic practice,'" said Mr. Spratt. "except for the introductory parallel fifths. This passage should afford a perverse satisfaction to theory students who are constantly being urged not to write such successions."

Last on the program is 'Here Yet Awhile," the final chorus from Johann Sebastian Bach's St. Matthew Passion. "Bach, like all men, had an idea of the Good, and the means of its accomplishment. Despite Bach's personal circumstances, these were achieved by a lifetime of patient toil . . . We see in Bach, not so much the particulars of his expression, as the spectacle of growth informed by self-directed effort," commented Mr. Spratt.

Kathryn Becchetti and Janet Sliven will be piano accompanists.

THE HIGH AND THE MIGHTY—"Flying High" members LaVetra Armstrong and Gene Williams perfect tight rope act for annual student circus presentation, slated for May 5, 6 and 7.

Justice

There is no better way to destroy a man in the eyes of his fellows than by showing his conduct represents a threat to the major premises of our society—the sanctity of our sex mores and property.

Indeed, this idea of the birds, the bees and the flowers is such an inherent thing that anybody who is even barely associated with it usually winds up in a very inconvenient situation. It seems such a thing happened to Robert L. Leathers.

Mr. Leathers did not only wind up on the spot because of this, but also because he was trying to investigate the Sacred Cow of College Sports. Fortunately, the name of "Red" calling did not enter the picture.

Last Thursday's hearing, we think, was most enlightening to a lot of individuals who had not actually heard or really knew the story. For many it was hard to conceive that Mr. Leathers was "guilty."

It was our humble understanding that the Board of Control was to sit in more or less as a judge for this man, listening to both sides and then offering a decision. It seemed anything but that. It seemed that most of the Board members expressed obvious hostility at Mr. Leathers.

Board member Fred Kent had more of the virtues of a prosecuting attorney than a judge. Mr. Kent said he was in a hurry to get to Jacksonville and consequently tried to speed up the hearings. When a man's livelihood is in jeopardy, wouldn't this seem somewhat out of order?

A most heartening testimony came from Dr. William Kirk, an assistant professor and a member of what Vice-president A. B. Maclay termed as the "most vociferous groups we have."

Dr. Kirk is a past president of the AAUP local chapter, a classics professor of some twenty-odd years standing, and he has probably one of the best loved teachers among students on the campus. A very humane person, he has a leading role in the Student Christian Association here. He has been at this university for many years. Incidentally, and is still an assistant professor.

Dr. Kirk pointed out there was the general feeling among the faculty that no professor could get a hearing.

The implication was that the restrictions of a democratic and constitutional process on this campus is a sham and not a fact of the "living law." (We quote) — the law that affects the members of the university community, as opposed to a bunch of statutes that included in someone's desk and thereafter ignored.

We think the essence of the charges against Mr. Leathers were refuted.

The statement of the girl that "nothing immoral was intended by Mr. Leathers" should have wiped away the final blot on his character.

The charge of theft was dispelled by Mr. Leathers, we think, when he produced the piece of pipe he used in lieu a coke machine for the benefit of the students. The pipe was on a junk pile in the first place, and a campus policeman helped him secure it.

The other charge was so flimsy we won't deal with it here.

We think the weaknesses of the case against Leathers was shown at the Thursday hearing.

If the Board of Control were a truly judicious rather than a political body we would have no fear but that the board would see the logic of Mr. Leathers position. Unfortunately this case will not be solved by logic, nor by justice, but by politics.

The people of Florida must not accept the Board of Control's verdict, which we think will be unfavorable to Mr. Leathers.

The people must not yield to naked power, but must demand equity in the interests of a free university which along with a free church is the firmest bulwark against totalitarianism.

American History

A bill introduced in the Florida House of Representatives by Nathan Weinstein of St. Johns County would make excessful completion of a one-year course in American History a requirement for graduation at all state-supported colleges, universities and junior colleges.

This bill poses two very significant questions: First, should the Legislature prescribe courses of study for the educational Institutions.

Secondly, is the need for American History so great?

The first question can only be answered through time. We inherently fear legislative intervention with education, but we also agree with the bill's author that that American history is being sadly neglected in our universities.

At FSU, for instance, no one has to take American history unless he is in some special program that requires it. The baking major, the physical education major, the home economics major — even the journalism major — can get by without learning some of the facts of the growth of our government.

An understanding of the past is an absolute necessity for a comprehension of the present. Furthermore, a person who tends to be dissatisfied with his country now may appreciate it more by realizing that while American is not perfect, its history is one of constant progress, never regression.

Whether this bill passes or fails we think it will successfully point up the negligence with which American history has been treated in our educational system.

B.M.O.C.'s: A Case Study

Long engaged in scholarly pursuit, the men of Princeton are currently investigating that fine American institution of "Big Men on Campus." Their report could perhaps offer them a variety of such gentlemen if there were not a language difficulty, but, even so, a far more absorbing area is available for their scrutiny. It is the state of Louisiana, which might well be the final word in these matters. Louisiana is a beautiful state, and it abounds in bayous, New Orleans, and, of course, B.M.O.C.'s.

Just why this is so presents no problem, as the Big Men on any Louisiana campus will reveal, Huey Long is their man, an Idol of the idols. He awed the people, and the B.M.O.C. have taken the clue.

Some young doctor is supposed to have wandered into the Capitol and shot Huey, but an even 70 percent of the B.M.O.C.'s know it was his bodyguard, who was after more money or something. Likewise, an even 70 percent of the B.M.O.C.'s don't trust their friends. More specific cases will be enlightening.

The most prevalent type of Louisiana B.M.O.C. is undoubtedly the ruler of the Student Government, the central control for dances and such. His technique of gaining control is well documented by the recent elections at Southwestern College in Hammond, La. "Specks" (a catchy name for vote winning) had hundreds of signs and clever gimmicks like a clock that said "Time to vote . . ." He even had an imitation book that read "Rocks along with Specks." Within ten minutes after the display mysteriously burned down a new sign announced "Keep it clean. Support Specks."

If an aspiring B.M.O.C. is not a politician he must publicize himself by becoming spectacular, or at least different.. At Tulane University technical perfection in wine tasting is enough to turn the public fancy. Tennis heroes are presently reigning the list. Good oratory is also a key to the Big Man club, although the President of the Tulane Debaters bolsters his prestige position by wearing a (no cane) grey suit (one of the three at the University).

Although Fraternity membership is usually a background for the B.M.O.C.'s, the great Southern individualism does not leave many in the battle to the top. One of the few truly B.M.O.C.'s is the modest caretaker of the LSU pet Tigers (18 years old). He feeds Tiger and drives him to distant games. Everyone loves the caretaker. When the keeper and the Tiger were in a traffic accident this last fall, over 2000 alumni wrote in sympathy. Only 500 were directly addressed to the Tiger, giving the B.M.O.C. an obvious edge.

—The Harvard Crimson

Some Words Worth Reprinting

Walter George on the offer made at the Bandung conference by Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to negotiate with the United States on the Formosa situation:

"When he (Chou En-lai) says he is willing to sit down and talk, I think that we should be big enough and great enough to talk with the Chinese People's Republic through their highest officials.

"It is time we were relieving the tensions of the world if we can."

"This is not appeasement. It is not now and never has been appeasement for a great power to sit down and talk about problems which concern all of us.

"We owe a high obligation to all mankind everywhere."

The Florida Flambeau

Bob Folsom, Editor

Jay Robertson, News Editor

Orchid Alonso, Mgr. Editor

Asst. News Editors ..... Oscar Johnson, Martin Dyckman
Sports Editor ..... Bob Guffin, Dick Victory
Sports Staff ..... Alan Whitmarsh, Harry Bernard
Amusement Editor ..... David Dras
Photographer ..... Laird Anderson

Joe Caldwall, Business Mgr.

Assistant Business Manager ..... Inma Cox
Exchange Editor ..... John Hallock
Assistant Exchange Editor ..... Susan Hodle
Distributors ..... Members of Alpha Omega Service Fraternity

Telephone 2-8000, extension 6821
211, 213 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

"Look — Why Not Take A Penalty Stroke And Get Back On The Fairway?"

Review

'The Cocktail Party'

It's pretty difficult to put your finger on what was wrong with T. S. Eliot's "Cocktail Party" showing for the last time tonight in the Augusta Conradi theater at 8:15. It's also a chore to label what was good about the play. It's that type of show.

What can be said is that on the most part the acting job was one of the very best and the "talk" which dominated every scene was the most. Eh Thomas and Dorothy Womble wrote an impressive close to their collegiate acting career with excellent portrays of Edward and Lavinia Chamberlayne, a couple of people who interested after 20 years as husband and wife that they were actually never in love with one another. Mr. Thomas probably achieved his best piece of acting in this play for he moved with assuredness and ease and completely understood the character he was to portray. Miss Womble, at last got rid of her "stiffness" which bradycotized her work in other plays. She moved and spoke with the facility of one who had actually experienced the emotional hardships of Lavinia Chamberlayne.

However, to fully estimate the play's appeal we must return still attention to its one great handicap, "talk." The production had more dialogue and less action than any other play done this year or any year in the FSU Department of Speech. "The Cocktail Party" is suited to intimate coffee cliques, concert readings and general reading, but on the Augusta Conradi theater stage it was extremely tiring. In fact, it was over two-and-a-half hours long which adds to this feeling. The old saying that "talk is cheap" has certainly wrong here for it seems to have sold for T. E. Eliot.

Adding to the fine portrayals of members of the cast, Katharine Culpepper's name must be included. Miss Culpepper portrayed the only Celia, destined never to be able to give a man the love she wants to give. If any one role is remembered by the audience it will probably be this one for it is the semi-basis for the final impact of the play.

There was a bit of fine comedy in the role of Julia played by Barbara Waddell, but at times she fell into the "standard" type of "busy body" found in at least a half-dozen plays. Julia, a busy body though she is, is a very likable person who usually has the last word in any social cocktail party and the first word too. Miss Waddell seemed to stress the character too much at times instead of fitting it in with the production.

Ryan Edwards is the personable Alex who is a world-over-ly elder besides. He executed his lines well for a DOS newcomer who lacks assuredness in his movements and expression. Possibly it was first-nite nervousness.

The Celia problem of psychiatrically portrayed by John Paul Davis who was surprising in his biggest role at FSU to date. Davis at times under-acted, but generally he did so as a first-rate performer.

You'll be surprised about "the unidentified guest". Played by Harold Poe, the strangest seems to bring out the events which have transpired and also brings about a reconciliation between Edward and Lavinia. Poe really made this all he had in the way of acting prowess and he evidently had plenty. In fact, he was probably the only actor who was able to discourse on a subject without over-acting or mugging. Amidst all the words being spoken during the play, this was a real feat.

Good performances on the part of the actors was not enough to compensate for the wordiness of the play and the lack of movement in such scenes.

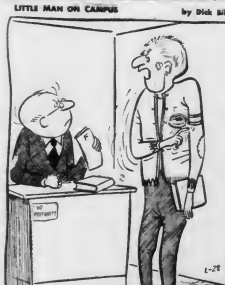
—DAVID DREIS

Letters To The Flambeau

Now Neblett Knows

To the Editor:

The letter to the editor which appeared in the issue of the Flambeau signed by Mr. William R. Neblett Jr., who, clever devil that he is, perceived my evil design and motive in organizing on this campus a philosophy club, has convicted conscience and charged my mind in such degree and to such extent that I am moved by this letter and by the spiritual pressures which it engenders from within, to confess before God—to absolve myself—to the pure unvarnished truth concerning my consummately wicked and evil conduct in the machinations of the lately organized philosophy club. I take the bull by the horns, so to speak. My accomplices were only my unwitting tools and dupes in this Bachiavellian maneuverina.



I ORGANIZED THE PHILOSOPHY CLUB ! ! ! There, it's said! I organized it and I am the president! I became president, of course, by rigging the election, stuffing the ballot boxes and bribing a group of election officials so placed in a fraudulent manner as to be able to swing ballots and "fix" the voting machines.

The reason I did it is, I suppose, obvious — I did it to line my own pockets, and so that I would be in a favorable position to consolidate my political business.

But I am truly sorry — I see now that it was all wrong and I will spend the remainder of my days in earnest efforts to do penance, to make restitution to those I have harmed and to live a stone for my past sinfulness. Now it's off my chest at least and I'm glad, for in purging myself of this secret underhanded iniquity I feel the peace of mind —rejuvenation of spirit. Confession is truly good for the soul!

Repensantly
PHILIP B. SPRINGER
PRESIDENT OF THE PHILOSOPHY CLUB

by Dick Bibler

Parties Are On Their Way Out

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

The political parties on campus are doing Student Government about as much good as the little sugar pills doctors give to hypochondriacs. Neither the parties nor the pills are necessary—both are delusions.

The debate team puts it even more caustically. The political parties are students politicians at their worst are to drunks.

The statements I'm contradicting are those of president-elect Cory Mason in a report recently told the Student Party convention that students benefit from a platform backed by a party; members are "disciplined" not to sway from party principles; the organized group can get benefits from the administration. The debate team considers the competition enables all candidates to do a better job.

Obviously alarmed at the number of students choosing to run independent of party affiliation, Moore warned that: "Should this continue (and enough it would put us back where we were two years ago.)" supposedly meaning a return to parties.

Let's take his statements one by one.

Assuming that either party can "discipline" its members to follow any "line"—and such coercion has been most noticeable by its absence in Student Senate, the two parties still do not differ enough to make student politics worth following.

In the presidential election many of the same promises were bandied back and forth and popped up on each presidential candidate's platform—so much so that the commonest sound of the week was "I stole that on your platform!"

When it has come to resolutions demanding more rights and recognition for student government and asking for improvements in student services, the "forum policy" towards Westcott has been bipartisan.

The party leaders in Senate, Key Gaitlin, Students, and Gordon Gaster, State, did come almost to swords over how much money groups conducting projects should keep—but Gaitlin was standing on his basic political beliefs regarding all forms of government—Gaster was standing on his which are more conservative, and the Senate did not continue quite completely into Student and State Party factions.

Certainly "One organized group can set benefits from the administration." If that group should be the Senate, not one political party which in fact is the majority party, would come to the convention.

And as I've already said, the two parties are in agreement as to what should be gotten from the administration.

I firmly believe that party system, which means nothing does nothing, but delude a lot of people otherwise is an evil. But as president-elect Moore seems to feel:

First to go will be the Blue Party. It hasn't any reason left to nominate a complete slate of candidates next month; it may have shown an interest in politics, of course, is to be explored. The State Party would have done as well as the Student Party if more qualified candidates had joined it.

The Student Party will follow on the Blue's heels, and this road to oblivion, still nominating candidates of course, but will lose many of its more qualified independents. It will be the most democratic if not.

Why are so many singer choosing not to run independently? I'd say it's probably because they realize the lack of meaning in the "party system" and prefer to run on their own qualifications and personality rather than attempt to persuade the voters that the party will make good differences to them once elected.

An Intellectual In Shining Armor

By OSCAR JOHNSON

This is a historical study describing the exact incident which established the principle of human behavior fundamental in light of recent events: that is, that it is senseless to something he doesn't want to. The cause of it all was a red MG.

Once upon a time, as it were, there lived a knight, so called Sokrates the Sterling. He rode into "Stirling" because of his 2.99 grade. He practically glowed with knowledge—an intellectual Knight in Shining Armor.

Well, Sokrates didn't ride into Stirling on a white charger, he came to thinking up wise sayings. You may have heard some of his historic wisecracks, like, "A Chick in Hand is Worth Two in the Field"; "A Penny Saved is a Penny"; "A Rich Child Has a Silver Lining"; and "Never Put Off Tomorrow If You Can Put Off Today."

Sokrates, however, had been assigned the task of completing over a problem which was double-nasty to the Nth Degree. He wanted to think up a new saying that would surpass all his other sayings Sokrates figured if he could do this it would be worth a million dollars. He had knocked all the world's problems flat, but he could think of a saying that would make everybody believe that he was a genius because on the gravy train.

The question was, "Can you tell somebody something he doesn't believe?"

Our hero applied the brain waves to this puzzle for weeks days even — until finally his thinker was as addled as a bowl of Jello. Then something went "pitch" and Sokrates popped right out of the thin

"I know!" Sokrates cried happily. "I'll test it out!" So he packed up his toothbrush and headed for the big city. At this point you must recall another of his wisecracks, that you "Can't Sell an Elephant to an Eskimo." Hero was going to try to convince someone to buy something he didn't want; he thought this would cut his question sixteen ways

(Continued on Page 4)

There weren't any Eskimos handy, so Sokrates got a job with a car lot. The head car salesmen were cool talkers, and this would be a good place to experiment. Work over a week, Sokrates waited for his big chance. Then one day a customer walked in

"Now sees it, Daddy! Looks like the kind of car the Kinsa-Kized Jerk. 'Can I show you something you don't want?"

Customer: "I'll play your silly game. That's a new instrument - I don't want that red MG over there."

Sokrates: "I'll be glad to sell it to you then."

Customer: "How do you get it on? I don't see any free strings."

Sokrates: "You don't wear it like a roller skate. You get in it. Then you take off your Bierson."

Customer: "Alright alright! Wind up the motor hard now and I'll try it out."

Sokrates: "It runs on gasoline. It has no motor."

Customer: "Don't bid me I

(Continued on Page 4)

The Lowdown On 'Cover Disc's'

By DAVID DREIS

Ha! Ha! Ha! Everyone is talking about the new, "Cover" news? Well, that "cover" discs will be no more at RCA Victor records. What is a "cover" disc? Well, let's tell you a little story.

Recently, "Studio One" a very popular video program, featured a recording of "Let the Go Lower" on its show Although the tune had come out for months, it was a smash hit on Jan Wiswer after the program. Immediately after it was constantly being called for on the records at the counters the ears of the public. Mercury records saw that the number was going to be along with the Penguins waxing of "Earth Angel". Mercury sent out the Crew Cuts who cut in on both platters by doubletracking their renditions On one side, "KoKoMo" and on the other side "Earth Angel."

Well, that's enough of the "cover" disc situation It's pretty evil things to say and after another person has made the grade. When both songs are on the bottom of the heap. It seems okay to have the competition, but why wait until they touch on another label to cut in with your label's property.

Even dirtier are these "Bandit" discs which are almost identical copies of the best sellers However, while these are similar they are not the same may be different or a bridge or ending or something so that it can't be sued for or be trampled. These recordings do well Perhaps perfect records and are "honest" about their similarities

We doubt if other record companies will follow RCA Victor in abolishing "cover" discs. They should know that it brings them a lot of loot they had to fight for before any competition what it is today. It's lucky that any company can hit with a best-seller.

BUNPACE NOISE: Debbie Reynolds starring with Bing Crosby's been postponed . . . It's the engagements prevent a picture star . . . Who's in the real

(Continued on page 4)

There's More Than Meets Eye

By ORCHID ALONSO

Most on-lookers at the Robert Lawton Jones golf course Thursday afternoon seemed overly concerned with the determination of the player or not the gentleman was or was not guilty of the alleged reasons for his dismissal from this university's faculty.

They also concentrated quite a bit on whether the testimony of the charges as regards "sex" were worth the attention accorded it.

In spite of the "bombshell" effect the affidavit from the woman student had, she reversed her mind on the contents of affidavit accusing Leathers, a fact which the administration strongly pointed out in this case, the public and the press seemed to have placed one inferiorant factor. Leathers admitted that he had not sought a hearing before presenting with the charges by his superiors.

A few months back, the fact that Leathers charged the administration with not providing him with a hearing was talked about as the administration's reason for suspending the (Leathers) resign.

At the six hour hearing held in the home-panelled hearing room in the Education Building, Leathers said he had not sought a hearing before various jurar channels I because of various and sundry reasons dealing with academic practice (a professor does not like to have disputes in a hearing) and 2. he felt sure that any hearing if any would be conducted on favorably towards him.

By vindicating himself, Leathers and his backers have been most anxious, and successful, in bringing to the public mind the woman student had, she reversed her mind on the contents of affidavit accusing Leathers, a fact which the administration strongly pointed out in this case, the public and the press seemed to have placed one inferiorant factor. Leathers admitted that he had not sought a hearing before presenting with the charges by his superiors.

The Leathers case smacks greatly of a Socratic ideal Pericure if you will, on the one side, the group dedicated to academic freedom unhindered authority, and on the other side, the group who unreasonably exercise authority and conduct their business in the most expedient manner.

From a superficial glance, the word appears to be a well calculated effort to discredit the administration of FSU. Whatever the reasons for this maneuvering, and we don't suppose anyone can really determine it, it is a fact that during this state of the game, the perpetrators of this fact have succeeded. They have also succeeded in causing doubt to be aroused about FSU and the women students involved.

We know only one thing. The administration might not have it in for Leathers. They might have wanted to get rid of his body. But they waited until they had clearcut goods against him. The women students' accusations were valid and well-grounded. Leathers' conversations speak badly for him That the charges possibly shouldn't have been exposed as they were is another story.

So the girl changed her story. Wonder what items other students would have done?

We wonder if other interested parties should look at the whole affair with a little more intelligence. Everyone loves a scandal, but not if it involves loved ones and friends. Those who know some of the facts cannot possibly condemn them. Those that don't know them at all usually quick to pass judgment. And may the Lord have mercy.

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

Many honors being heaped on gym team . . .

First such one is a plaque presented to Dr. Hartley Price by the National Association of College Gym Coaches for over 25 years of coaching.

Inscription On Plaque

The plaque, which consists of a bronze plate mounted on a mahogany backboard, reads as presented by the National Association of College Gymnastic Coaches to Dr. Hartley Price In recognition of his Service In organizing and Developing Gymnastics for Over Twenty - Five Years He has Gained the Respect of His Associates in the Gymnastics World By His Inspiring Example and Accomplishments. Nineteen Hundred and Fifty Five.

In addition to this the Versatile coach has also been chosen to write the gymnastics section for the Encyclopedia Britanica.

Gymnasts Tapped

The installation of Don Holder and Jim Fadiman to the Gold Key chapter on campus brings a number of gymnasts so honored during the past four years. Four Others who were elected to this honorary were Dick Golding and Bill Roethlein, who were also members of DDE.

Gymkana National?

It looks like the Gymkana or gymnation may well go Nation-

Started by Dr. Price at the University of Illinois during the thirties, the organization has now spread to several other colleges along the Eastern seaboard.

The Gymkana organization at the State University of New York is under the direction of Dr. Jim Bath, and the one that has been situated at the University of Maryland for the past nine years is under the guidance of Dr. David A. Field. Both of these men were students of Dr. Price at his graduate Gymkana productions at the U. of Illinois.

Coach Hale Leaves

Also received work from head Coach Tom Nugent that freshman football coach Owen Hale has joined the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America in the Georgia - Florida representative

Hale, 33, former Vanderbilt University guard and a veteran of four years of professional football, coached FSU's Baby Seminoles to a 3 - 1 record last fall. Hale also coached Vanderbilt's 1937 freshman team.

"Hale did an outstanding job for us," Coach Nugent said, "and we sincerely hate to lose him."

Hale will have a brief training period with the Muscular Dystrophy Association in New York before setting up a district office in Jacksonville.

Cindermen Score In Triangular Meet

SEMINOLE THINCLADS –Kneeling, l to r, Charles Watson, Tenney Brown, Warren Strickland, Carlos Fraundorfer, Lloyd Lassen, Don Weaver, Joe Davis, Larry Hounths and Mike Smith. Standing, l to r, Manager Gene Leonard, Ken Hearn, Bill Osterhoudt, Gary Smith, Jimmy Harrell, Paul Dame, Carl Green, Bruce Jacob, Ken Segner, Tom Hogle, Robert Green, Garv Leichworth, Ed Titus, James Browning Vernon Duce, Bill Haynes, Jack Terwilliger, Mike Hellegas, Jim Maker, Don Dittman, and Danny Thomas. Not shown are Russell Leedy and Paul Mitchell.

Duce Spearheads Team To Victory Over Tech, Georgia

By Larry Hountha

Spearheaded by frosh star Vern Duce who won both the one and two mile grunds, FSU's powerful cinder squad defeated Georgia-Georgia Tech in a triangular meet at Grant Field in Atlanta last weekend.

The Indians took five firsts and tied for another as they scored in 13 of the 16 events to tally 67 1 3 points The Georgia Bulldogs were second with 56 2 3 and host Tech was last with 47 1 3.

Frosh Shine

It seemed to be the yearlings day as the frosh members of the Indian squad won 3 firsts and tied for another. The only double winner for the Seminoles was distance man Vern Duce who copped the one and two mile runs Duce was never seriously pressured and won both events in easy fashion.

Speedy Jack Terwilliger, another freshman standout, led the way in the century and placed in the 220 and broad jump.

Yearling Paul Ramey cleared 11' 6 for his best performance, a jump of the season and a tie for first in the pole vault.

Other Winners

Turning in another winning performance for the Garnet and Gold was Joe Davis, who took the broadjump with a good leap of 21' 7.

Perhaps the most heartening FSU performance however, came from sogh Ken Segner, who although forced to drop out of the 880,captured the 440

Bob Davis and Segner along with Charley Watson and Jack Terwilliger made up the mile relay foursome which won the event in 3'38 3

Weaver Sets Record

In the field events, squad captain Ron Weaver although placing second in the javelin, heaved the spear 194 11" good enough for a new FSU school record. This was the second week in a row Weaver posted a new mark in his specialty.

Carlos Fraundorfer added depth to the Indians by placing in the broadjump, shot put and disc Fraundorfer also ran a leg on the 440 yd. relay group which placed second.

RESULTS

100—1 Terwilliger (FSU); 2 Torrence (T); 3 Harris (G); 4 Bell (G). Time—10 seconds.

220—1 Torrence (T); 2 Harris (Ga.); 3 Terwilliger (FSU); 4 Bell (G). Time—23 seconds.

440—1 Segner (FSU); 2 Watson (FSU); 3 Brim (T); 4 Lowe (T). Time—52 seconds.

880—1 Cook (T); 2 Swinney (T); 3 Brim (T); 4 Stewart (G). Time—2 minutes 1 second.

MILE—1 Duce (FSU); 2 Goode (T); 3 Swinney (T); 4 Lee (T). Time—4 minutes 34 seconds.

TWO-MILE—1 Duce (FSU); 2 Goode (T); 3 Cook (T); 4 Davis (FSU). Time—10 minutes 14 seconds.

120-HIGH HURDLES—1 Perry (G); 2 Bryant (G); 3 Weaver (FSU); 4 Charles (G). Time—16.2 seconds.

440-RELAY—Georgia (Bell, Harris, Charles and Perry). 2 FSU 3 Tech. Time—45.2.

POLE VAULT—1 Ramsey (T) and Hayes (FSU); 3 Green (FSU); 4 Strickland (FSU). Height (T) and Ramey (FSU). 11 feet 6 inches.

BROAD JUMP—1 Davis (FSU); 2 Perry (G); 3 Lowen (FSU) and Brown (FSU). 21 feet 7 inches.

JAVELIN (HP)—1 Davis (FSU); 2 Fraundorfer (FSU); 3 Perry (G); 4 Terwilliger (FSU); 71 feet, 7 inches. SHOT PUT—1 Weaver (G); 2 Fraundorfer (FSU); 3 Clifford (G); 4 Jacobs (G). 41 feet, 2½ inches.

DISCUS—1 Fraundorfer (FSU); 2 Davis (G); 3 Fraundorfer (FSU); 4 Green (FSU). 114 feet 11½ inches (New track record).

HIGH JUMP—1 Duckworth (G); 2 Lassen (FSU); 3 Hendrickson (G); 4 Smith (FSU). 5 feet, 6½ inches.

MILE RELAY—1 FSU (Harris, Watson, Segner, Terwilliger) 2 Tech 3 Georgia. 3 minutes, 32.3 seconds.

Intramural Golf League Opened By Dorms

Frats Continue Softball Series

By HARRY BERNARD

The Dormitory Golf League started yesterday with six teams in league into action. In the first round the Pirates of West Hall were given a bye Magnolia Hall played the Rebels, Bentley Annex of West Hall played Senior Hall, and the Methodists played the Baptists

All the matches will be played on the Municipal Golf Course The matches are to be played under the United States Golf Association rules, except where the local course rules differ

This tournament will be a single elimination event.

SOFTBALL

Last week in the Fraternity softball league, Lamada Chi Alpha beat Theta Chi 8-4 Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated Kappa Sigma 7-5. However, due to a protest filed by KS which was upheld, this game will be played again. Kappa Alpha continued on its winning ways shutting out Tau Epsilon Phi 6-0 P. Kappa Alpha forfeited to Phi Delta Theta, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon squeezed by Sigma Nu 3-1

In the game played last week in the Dormitory League, the Pirates of West Hall trampled the Methodists 22-2. Gordon Cox, the pitcher for the Pirates, hurled a perfect 5-0 record. In other games Senior Hall beat Magnolia Hall 15-9, the Privateer Gang of West Hall ripped the Rebels 12-4, and the Day Students handed the Baptist Student Union its first defeat, 13-6

The complete up-to-date standings for both the fraternity and Dormitory league through April 30th are as follows:

For the Fraternity:

League A		League B
PKP	3-0	ATO	2-0
PDT	3-0	SN	3-1
KA	2-1	SAE	2-2
KS	2-1	SC	1-1
SPE	2-1	TC	1-2
PKT	1-2	DTD	1-2
TEP	0-4	LCA	1-3
PKA	0-4

For the Dormitory:

Pirates	5-0
Penthouse	3-1
Baptists	3-1
Magnolia	3-2
Day Students	3-2
Rebels	2-3
Senior Hall	1-2
Air Force	0-4
Methodists	0-4

The softball schedule for the Fraternities for the coming week is:

April 26—5 p.m.

Field No.
1. DTD-LCA
2. SAE-ATO
3. TC-SC

3:30 p.m.

1. PKP-KA

3:00 p.m.

1. SPE-PDT

April 28—5 p.m.

Field No.
1. PKT-PKA
2. KS-TEP
3. BAE-TC

6:30 p.m.

1. DTD-SC

6:03 p.m.

1. SN-ATO

Pitchford "Happy" Over Tennis Results, Seminoles Sport 10-5 Record Near Finish

Two months ago Florida State University's youthful - looking tennis coach, Keith Pritchford, was scanning the Seminoles 1938 tennis schedule.

"We'll be happy if we can break even," Pritchford said.

He was looking at a 16-match agenda calling for a half-dozen matches against Southeast Conference entries and two with Big Ten powers—the toughest tennis schedule ever arranged for an FSU team.

Today with only one match remaining, the Seminoles are riding high with a 10-5 record and Pritchford is more than "happy."

Six lettermen and four dependable freshmen, all hard workers, did the surprising job They turned in triumphs over Georgia Auburn, Georgia Tech, and Ole Miss of the SEC, dumped Ohio State of the Big Ten, and thrashed Independents Emory, Stetson and Florida Southern.

Setting the pace has been Hal Schaus of Mansfield, Ohio Nicknamed "The Mouse" because of his remarkable agility on the court, Schaus ranks as FSU's chief singles threat and is high on the list of top-ranking Southern amateurs.

Five other veterans — Tom Cundy, Shelby Crisab, Joe Harris, Don Wyly, Tom Segars— have registered their share of victories. Freshmen Shelby Brewer, Jimmy Wade, Dick Walker and Larry Kersey have performed creditably as first-year men.

This isn't the first time the Seminoles have enjoyed more than moderate tennis success. In ninet years, FSU has had only one losing season, a 7-2 finish in 1931.

FSU's all-time tennis record is 83 triumphs against only 38 losses for a fat .686 percentage.

FSU winds up its successful home spring sports agenda here Saturday in a track meet with Loyola as Seminole athletes head into the final three weeks of their 1938 activity.

Schedule-wise it's a slim week —only six events are on tap— but FSU's track, gymnastics baseball and golf entries are involved in some of their most important action of the spring Friday and Saturday.

State's thinclads face their stiffest test yet in Loyola, which boasts one of the strongest independent cinder squads in the South. The New Orleans Wolfpack owns three straight decisions over the Seminoles since 1933.

FSU, however, has its most promising track aggregation in years. Under new coach Mike Lone the Indians have snatched the Florida AAU title away from favored Florida, blasted Mercer 101-30 in their only dual meet, and have scored in the Florida Relays.

Gymnasts, Ball Club And Golfers Slated For Action

Friday and Saturday, FSU's track gymnasts go after the state Northwester, N Y.—the national AAU title.

Coach Hartley Price's squad, a well-oiled machine in the recent NCAA championships, won national AAU honors in 1935 and 1936.

Led by Don Holder, Jack Miles and Fabel Lenoma, the Seminoles already have annexed the Southern Intercollegiate, Florida AAU, Alabama Open, and Florida AAU crowns this season plus victories over Georgia Tech and Navy Perr.

Junior Litschiger's baseballers round after a 13-day layoff tonight in action Friday at Collegiate Ga. in a two-game series with Georgia Teachers College.

A pair of home-grown freshmen, Tallahassee's Roby Weaver and Ft. Myers' Tommy Garcia have paced the Tribe to a sparkling 10-5 treatise Outfielder Weaver tops the batters with a whopping 440 average while Garcia leads the pitchers with a 3-1 mark

The golfers take on Auburn at Auburn, Ala. Saturday in a tri-turn match. Coach Don Veller's squad thrashed the Plainmen 26-1 here in an early-season match.

Sophomores Buik Berry and Jack Veghte are the main returnees on the Seminoles are headed for the finest links record in the school's history FSU has won nine and lost but one with only two matches remaining

All Lettermen

The next to last meeting of the semester will be held at the Women's Gym Wednesday night at 7:30.

Election of officers for the fall semester will be held

This is the most important meeting of the year so all members are urged to be present.

ELI ROBERTS
SERVICE STATION
Corner West Tennessee And Copeland
Two Blocks From Senior Hall
WE HAVE MECHANIC AND ROAD SERVICE
DIAL 2-8253

CAMPUS BEAU BRUMMEL
enthuses over Jockey brand underwear

Impeccably groomed Chisley J. Chisley ("Chi-chi" to his friends) says, "I like new-fashion fashion and old-fashion comfort. For instance, this week I give the nod to tartan cummerbunds and ascots of shocking pink—but every week I go for the at-ease feeling of Jockey shorts. Take it from a clothes-horse . . . never say Neigh to Jockey comfort!"

Whether you share Chisley's taste for sartorial splendor or not, you'll enjoy the casual, at-ease appearance that comes from wearing Jockey shorts. Better drop into your dealer's soon . . . buy a supply of Jockey shorts and T-shirts . . . and feel as good as you look!

It's in style to be comfortable . . . in Jockey underwear

made only by Cooper's Inc., Kenosha, Wisconsin

50 million times a day at home, at work or while at play
There's nothing like a Coke
1. You feel its LIVELINESS.
2. You taste its BRIGHT GOODNESS.
3. You experience PERFECT REFRESHMENT.
DRINK Coca-Cola
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY Tallahassee Coca-Cola Bottling Company
"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1938, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Malone's Book Store
BOOKS—SUPPLIES—SUNDRIES
CASH FOR YOUR USED BOOKS
EVERYTHING FOR THE STUDENT

College smokers agree...
WINSTON
brings flavor back to filter smoking!
WHAT DO YOU THINK?
TASTES GOOD!
WINSTON tastes good—like a cigarette should!
■ No wonder Winston's winning so many friends so fast! College smokers found flavor in a filter cigarette when they found Winston. It's got real tobacco flavor!
Along with finer flavor, Winston also brings you a finer filter. The exclusive Winston filter works so effectively, yet doesn't "thin" the taste or flatten the flavor.
Smoke WINSTON
the easy-drawing filter cigarette!
Winston
FILTER-CIGARETTES

It's All Greek

Alpha Gams 'Take Over' Crescent Ball

By PAT BRADY

Weekends and State Days still dominate Greek festivities here at FSU.

Jean Carr, Alpha Gamma Delta, crowned Lambda Chi Alpha Crescent Girl for '55. . . . Crescent Ball held at Wakulla Lodge, Saturday night . . . Betty Jane Sharp, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Barbara Donelson maids in court. . . . Nancy Warner, Kappa Delta, and Pledge Sweetheart . . . Bonnie Light held at chapter house Fri day night . . . lots and lots of Hobos and dates . . . four out of all in the name of a Hobo! Plaity . . . "grand and glorious party weekend" climaxed with Glad party Sunday at Alligator Point. . . . Alpha State Day for Alpha Chi's . . . St. Petersburg . . . 26 Alpha Chis awarded sister bracelet for the outstanding graduating senior of FSU chapter . . . large silver trophy for hottest grades of all AXDs on the recent national fraternity education exams now . . . house on Park Avenue expected to be ready by next Spring.

Why on why is the Sigma Nu's tree green?

Art Allwood, Phi Delta Theta, new Alpha Gam "Man" . . . weekend highlighted with dance at Tallahassee Hotel Saturday night. . . . French party at Alpha Gamma Delta house Friday night . . . scenery real "Frenchy" . . .

Sonny Titus, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is the new "nifty man" on the campus. . . . Alpha Delta Pi's get trophy for sponsoring him in the recent Indy Man Contest.

AOPi's mothers, alums and Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Stover honored at buffet dinner, Sunday, at house. . . . Bonnie Jo Lee, Lynn Shirley, Dot Hanson, and Lynnell Reynolds entered in Miss Tallahassee Beauty Contest.

"Desert Song and Dance" theme of Pi Beta Phi formal dance at Country Club Friday night . . . features—more cactus and desert flowers than "Sarah Sahel" in Panama City held Saturday . . . dinner at house Sunday.

Reflections

(Continued from page 2)

our gut stack on a piece of chewing gum yesterday."

Sokrates, tossing another line of crossfire . . . "You're wrong sir. Actually these cars compare well with American cars. When you look at actual measurements, you ll find this:

Customer: "You might be right. Only I'm afraid if I bought one I'd lose it in my garage. It gets dark in there sometimes"

Sokrates: "Leave it outside"

Customer: "Somebody might get in it."

Sokrates "I gave up."

After that, Sokrates was a changed man. His life was a failure because he couldn't prove his wisdom by convincing people he was right. So he voined the French Foreign Legion. Local No 42, and lived the rest of his days in darkest Africa.

And while he was there he made up his last will and testament, which you may have heard also. "Don't Believe Half of What You See and Don't Listen to Nobody Neither."

FCCH Meeting Sees Legislative Officials At FSU

Bill Highlight Panels Today In Longmire

Panels scheduled for yesterday's meeting of The Florida Citizenship Clearing House were cancelled. Instead, student representatives from Florida universities and legislators attended the proceedings at the Florida Legislature.

Dr. Marian Irish of the department of political science commented that students attending the conference today and held here yesterday, today and tomorrow, would probably prefer the opportunity to watch the Legislature in action.

A panel, beign in Longmire Auditorium at 8:30 this morning, will feature a number of noted lawmakers in a free discussion on "The Executive in Action."

Dean J. A. Battle of Florida Southern is moderator of the panel and members of the panel are Joe Grosscut, Administrative Assistant to Governor LeRoy Collins; Harry Smith, Director of the Budget Commission, and R. A. Gray, Secretary of State.

From 10 a.m. to noon today conference representatives will attend the cabinet meeting at the Capitol and the legislative session.

Another panel will be held this afternoon at 1:30 in the Presbyterian Student House. Moderator of the discussion on "Executive-Legislative Relations" is Dr. Monnie Dauer, University of Florida. Members of the panel include Maitland P. Collins, former Florida Governor; Doyle E. Conner, State Representative; John Germany, legislative assistant to the Governor, and State Senator Verle A. Pope.

Students from Rollins, Stetson Florida Southern, the University of Florida and Florida State University are invited to this conference in order "to develop an interest in politics on the part of students" to make it possible to continue this interest after graduation; and to provide the organizational framework that will make these goals possible."

Representing FSU at the conference are Beverly Duncanquel, John Brown, Joan Reigstad, Jo Carol Lee, Phoebe Jackson, Ken Gaskin, Bob Gritzendler, Karl Allen, Pete Nimkoff, Dave Pollard, Lacy Baldy, Daniel Gorham, Richard Wasmer, Arnold Melcher, Al Schuler and David Chafee.

Inquisitive Tep's Go Way Of All 'Pinncd' Greeks

Tau Epsilon Phi Chancellor Neil Lesko, in an attempt to measure the Westcott Fountain yesterday accidently fell into it.

However he was not alone, for helpine him in his calculations was the TEP Pledge Class President Harry Bernard, who also accidently fell into the pool.

Through a later inquiry of their fraternity brothers in regard to incident, it was learned the only figures obtained were two wet ours.

BILL FAVORS REQUIRED U.S. HISTORY HERE

The teaching of American History to all students in colleges universities and junior colleges receiving state money would be required under a bill introduced in the House yesterday by Rep. Nathan Weinstein, St. Johns County.

Under the bill's provisions each student would have to take one year of history and pass an examination in that subject. Failure of educational officials to enforce the requirement would be grounds for dismissal.

Rep. Weinstein said his bill was prompted by the fact that while most schools require some American history the requirement is often filled with a course in European history. He emphasized that he does not wholeheartedly like the idea of the legislature determining college curricula, but "the school system has not lived up to its responsibility to teach American history."

Sigma Xi

(Continued from Page One)

members until they have had something published.

Membership is open to anyone in the physical or natural sciences. At the present time the membership stands at about 100 members.

Dr. Sam Meyer is the president of the local group. Dr. Semmel Hess, president-elect, will be installed during the ceremonies Saturday. Other officers of the club are Dr. Mary Noka Hood, vice president, and Dr. Howard Baker, secretary. Dr. Del Smith is secretary-elect.

Dr. Waschow, who will speak at 8:15 p.m. Saturday evening, is the author of two books, and over fifty scientific articles and book reviews. He is a specialist on mammalian embryology of the Middle America and the Southern United States.

Waschope has participated in several archaeological and ethnographic expeditions to South America and is now a Professor of Anthropology at Tulane. At the present time he is also president of the Society for American Archaeology, the national professional association.

Etcetera Etchings

(Continued from Page 2)

story behind "Custer's Last Stand" . . . we've seen four films about the incident and each differ greatly . . . The Encyclopedia differs as well by having a little about each of the persons in it. . . . The Tallahassee Little Theater's production "I Go and Behold" shows tonight along with the "Cocktail Party" is very good . . . At the Alfriend's Hall . . . What a corny picture "Hit the Deck was" . . . Red Skeltons comment when he was dropped by MGM. "I don't believe in Dore Schary" Schary used to be a boss at RKO who didn't believe in Howard Hughes.

The best rated record on Record Jury Sat. WTNT 8.70) was SKIBA-SAMORIAT A Dave Crockett-type song which is even better. Listen to it.

MORE AND MORE

Less and less Flambeaux are available for student use. Senate has appointed an investigating committee.

FSU Coeds Seek Title Of Miss Tallahassee

Preliminaries Will Select 15 Finalists

Fifteen finalists will be chosen tonight from twenty-nine FSU coeds competing for the "Miss Tallahassee" beauty crown.

The FSU coeds are Jacquelin Gressin, LaVera Armstrong, Gretchen Kelley, Betty Jo Hare, Joan Eileen Grantham, Katherine A. Woodcock, Joan Lelyie Bowden, Betty Douglas, Linda Howell, Ann Elizabeth Purvis, Phyllis Angela Weitner, Jeanne Kitchens, Louise Frances Peterson, Barbara S. Stone, Eleno Driver, Karen Kimple, Barbara Ann Emmert, Martha Sue Mizell and Marie Ruth Shuman.

Lucille Sinclair Oliver, Lola Mae Arnaud, Dare Doris Sulay, Marilea Ann Callahan, Barbara Lynnell Reynolds, Dollar Ann Hanson, Maidaree Lynn Shirley, Bonnie Jo Lee and Sharron Lee Pitts.

Finals Are Friday

The finals will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the Westcott Auditorium. General admission will be fifty cents with reserved seats selling for one dollar.

Dr. Robert Greenberg, chairman of the event, announced that the proceeds will go to the Junior Chamber of Commerce Scholarship fund. Tickets are available at the Malone Book Store and at the University Book Store. Tiers will also be sold at the door.

$700 Scholarship

The winner of the contest will receive a $700 scholarship from Ruth D. Newman, Sanford, Distributor. Other gifts will include an evening gown and a Cole bathing suit from The Vogue, hat, handbag and gloves from Meadows, a two-piece lustrace set from P. W. Wilson department store, a pair of "Capezio" shoes from Strickland's shoe store, and flowers from Pascal's. The winner will also receive an expense-paid trip to Miami Hotels where she will compete in the Miss Florida contest.

The two runnerups will receive radios from Southern Electric and all finalists will receive simulated pearl necklaces from Duval Jewelry Company.

TROUTS TONIGHT

Catalyst star Clifford dance groups will hold trouts today and Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Student Center.

All potential members will be required to dance to one and two fast dances with members of the Immortales. They will be judged on dancing ability, personality, appearance on dance floor and charisma. Everyone is eligible to try out.

'Flying High,' Better Than Ever, Opens Next Week

"The greatest show ever!" say student performers of the annual presentation of "Flying High," playing May 5, 6 and 7 at Dove S. Campbell stadium.

Buddy Jordan, who acts as a clown in the show, remarked that "there will be more variety in this year's show "as there are many interesting themes and new acts." "Student performances should be on a higher level than ever," he commented, "with some of the old circus crew back in the act."

Some of the "old crew" such as Dutch Martin, Ralph Atwell, and Pete Wooten, have returned to FSU after spending some time in the service. Jordan specializes in juggling but also works with a unicycle and high bar.

Show Is Different

Ruth Williams, who appears in the "Stardusters" act, says that this year's show "is a lot different . . . should be the best we've ever had." She remarked that there are many good freshmen in the show this year. Ruth works with Mary Fenn Cawthon in an acrobatic routine.

Ruth Ann Whittle, who works in a triple breakaway, says that student performers are putting in extra practice time in order to "polish up" their acts."

Fay Moses, performer on the trapeze, hula-hoop act, and trow spin, said that although many of the acts were used in road shows during the year, they were always done with one ring. In using three rings, as will be done in the "big show," extra practice is required to coordinate the various acts.

New Costumes

As is customary with all new shows, new costumes will be used, said Ellen Francisco, petite member of the "Golden Pair" aerialist act with Ken Schroeder. All pictures and props are being refurbished up with paint and repaired, she added.

Nat Cosenhaver summed up all comments when he said, "The circus seems to get busier and better every year."

Coach Jack Haskin says to expects large crowds again this year. Publicity has been stepped more than ever before in the show. The newest thing about this year's show, he commented, is the use of painted backdrops on the stage acts.

He urges that students purchase reserved seat tickets, as tickets will be sold in outlying towns tomorrow. Reserved seats are 2.00 cents; reserved seat tickets are an additional 25 cents. Adult tickets may be purchased for 75 cents.

If any performance is rained out for the 6th, 7th, or 8th is to be held, said Haskin, another show will be held the following Tuesday, May 11.

Titus Captures

(Continued from Page One)

satisfied with the outcome of the dance." The entire proceeds are tagged a success by the co-chairman, Russ Parrish.

The Ugly Man contest, which is also carried on annually by many Alpha Phi Omega chapters in other schools, has become an annual affair here for a money raising drive as a service project of the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

Springtime is Lunchtime for MOTHS

Springtime is the season when moths begin gorging themselves on your clothes. So why run the risk of losing your entire wordrobe when for just a few cents per garment you can have guaranteed protection from your Sanitone cleaners. And while your at it store your clothes for the summer months ahead, with no payment till next fall. Stop in or call Superior today.

SANITONE SERVICE SUPERIOR CLEANERS

308 S. Monroe 2-0652

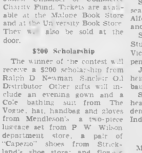
at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

TODAY
"Hit The Deck"
Jane Powell
Tony Martin
TOMORROW Thru SAT.
"Captain Lightfoot"
with
Rock Hudson

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

TODAY & TOMORROW
"Executive Suite"
William Holden
Barbara Stanwyck
THURS. Thru SAT
"Take the High Ground"
Richard Widmark
plus
"Down 3 Dark Streets"
Broderick Crawford
Ruth Roman



STATE

TODAY
"On the Waterfront"
Marlon Brando
TOMORROW Thru SAT.
"Man Without A Star"
with
Kirk Douglas

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

TODAY & TOMORROW
"The Long, Long Trailer"
Lucille Ball
Desi Arnez
THURS, Thru SAT.
"Desperadoes"
Wayne Morris
plus
"Massacre Canyon"
Audrey Totter

RITZ—Today and Tomorrow
"The Importance of Being Earnest" Michael Redgrave
Thurs. thru Sat. "The Beachcomber," Robert Newton

For a JOB with a FUTURE

KATHARINE GIBBS SECRETARIAL

Boston 16 . . . 90 Marlborough St.
Providence 6 . . . 155 Angell St.
Montclair, N. J. . . 33 Plymouth St.

THIS ARROW SHORT STORY MAKES REAL SUMMER SENSE

Here's a really smart summer combination . . . getting more popular every day. Arrow gingham shirts and fine Arrow walking shorts. They'll keep you cool, and give you comfort when you want it most.

The shorts are comfortable, practical, right in style today. We wouldn't be surprised to see more shorts than "longs" on most any campus this spring.

Get Arrow walking shorts priced from a mere $3.95 to dream ($5.00 or other fabrics). Get frosty Arrow ginghams, too, from $3.95. Broadcloth shock, (feh!), $5.00.

ARROW
CASUAL WEAR
SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR
HANDKERCHIEFS

Even the SQUARES are cool these days

You're living back in the cutaway days if you're not keeping calm and cool in our Arrow walking shorts and gingham shirts. We're stocking a wonderful selection in both departments . . . so, come in out of the sun. It's cooler inside . . . inside one of these smart Arrow summer combinations. Arrow ginghams from $3.95. Arrow walking shorts, $3.95 to $5.95.

Mendelson's
Tallahassee's Most Complete Dept. Store

Put a SMILE in your SMOKING!

Buy CHESTERFIELD today!

You'll SMILE your approval of Chesterfield's smoothness—mildness—refreshing taste.

You'll SMILE your approval of Chesterfield's quality—highest quality low nicotine.

Largest selling cigarette in America's colleges

© Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

COURT REVISION Planned By Senators—P. 6

The Florida Flambeau

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

VOL. XL NO. 47 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1938

ew Publication oard Vetoed y Nimkoff

Says Needs Clearing Up In Some Spots

By STAFF WRITER

Presidential veto power was exercised for the first time by Student President Peter Nimkoff, Wednesday as he killed the proposed Board of Student Publications bill.

Nimkoff, speaking before Senate explained that he was inherently ainst of such a plan proposed the board already passed by both Senate and by the Faculty ers Committee but that he ls some to believe that certain ity points in the proposed ectional amendment should reconsidered.

proposed Publications board be considered again by Senate special meeting Monday afternoon in the home that can cleared in time for the run-ctions on May 30, at which the students will vote on it.

Main Objections

Main objections to the bill as ed by Nimkoff include a ruse that the non-student men on the board be elected by Senate rather than as now by President Campbell. Nimkoff he declared that Senate consider retaining the inistrative provision that a member of the Journalism and a member of the Student Welfare Division.

Nimkoff averred that in the interest of broadening the scope of board members, the student members of the board should contain "practicing journalists." was referring to the provision the plan limiting membership students who had taken advanced journalism courses or ed work on publications.

The Student Body President also ed to impress on the senators the fact that they should avery any of stimulation. Failure to ond as such should deny them the power of selecting the chairman of the board.

Make It Sound

He also mentioned minor details of policy that could be manipulated, stating that he was not ed to subscribe the bill unless ade it sound.

Motion to postpone discussion on the Publication Board was ed with the wishes of several Senate staff members who were interested in having Flambeau editor - elect Jaylene Roberts be present at any discussion. Roberson, who is away, is needed to complete exposition to several amendments current editor Folsom planned to introduce ring her absence.

Accounting Majors form New Society

Florida State University's accounting majors have formed a new organization, "The Society of Student Accountants."

Similar measures have been ished for the second and third Thursdays of each month with an 101 History Building. ers were to have been elected last night.

Sponsor for the group is Dr. Alfred J. Parker, associate professor of accounting. Present members have invited all students majoring in accounting to join the club and attend the regular meetings, by contacting Joe Perdue or Tremsky of the accounting department.

Young Republicans Will Meet May 9

The Young Republican Club will have a planning meeting on May 9 at 8 p.m. in room 307 of the Lamarcus Building. The business will cover the planning of the Young Republican Dinner to be held about the last part in April and the election of a new secretary, said Dot Gorham, president.

The meeting is open, and officials asked all members who have not received their membership cards to drop by the meeting and receive them.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

The last opportunity for delinquent students to take the freshman required tests this semester will be on Monday, May 2, in room 124 Science at the time indicated below. All students who have not taken these tests will not be permitted to register next semester. See the Test Service Bureau Room 109 Education Building, and pay the delinquency fee of $1.00 per test which is now due before May 2. The time for the tests is as follows:

ACE Psychological 4:00 p.m.
Minnesota Personality 5:15 p.m.
General Culture 7:00 p.m.

Who's Miss Tallahassee?—Five finalists in the Jaycee sponsored competition above are, from l. t. r., Phyllis Westner, La Vetra Armstrong and Jacqui Gremlin; back row, Ruth Shuman, left, and Barbara Bennett. Finalists not shown are Dorothy Ann Hanson, Ann Purvis, Lynn Shirley, Lynell Reynolds, Barbara Evans, Delano Driver and Karen Kimpel. Final choice will be made tonight at 8 in Westcott Auditorium.

Jordan Is Completely In Accord With Enforcing U. S. History

Dr. W. T. Jordan, head of the History Department at FSU, is very much in favor of a House of Representatives bill requiring American History of all students.

The bill, introduced Monday by Rep. Nathan Mayo of Marianna, St. Johns County, states that the teaching of one year of American History be required in all county colleges, universities and junior colleges receiving state money would be required.

Each student would have to take one year of American History and pass an examination in the subject. The reason for the introduction of the bill is that most students fill their history requirement with a course in European history, without studying their own country's history, according to its sponsor.

Favors Bill

Dr. Jordan stated that he was in favor of the bill and had been through the years "A student who graduates from an American university should certainly have had at least one course in the history of his own country," was Dr. Jordan's statement.

During World War II the Macmillan Company made a survey of various colleges and universities to find out how many students were studying American History. The result of their investigation showed that over 80 per cent of the college graduates never had a course in American History in grammar school, high school or college. Dr. Jordan said this was a astounding blow to the intelligence.

Dr. Jordan asserted that this is a shameful condition. An advancement which definitely is set up, whereby the students would learn more about their country."

Knox Basic Facts

According to Dr. Jordan, "Now that there is a riff between Russia and the United States and there is much propaganda circulating in Russia about the United States, every student in American universities should at least know the basic facts about

(Continued on Page 5)

IFC Breaking Down Hard On Greek Acts

Inter-Fraternity Council passed several measures at a meeting Wednesday night, designed to raise the reputation of fraternities in the eyes of the public.

A resolution urging the various fraternity presidents to discourage their chapter members from any action in violation of Tallahassee or Leon County laws was the first move adopted. It further objects to any actions detrimental to the good reputation of the university.

Later the Council passed a motion that any destructive conduct on another university or college campus which was directed by an FSU fraternity, as determined by the Dean of Men, be regarded as a violation of IFC regulations and subject to disciplinary action by IFC Tribunal.

Sponsor Pete Nimkoff said that under the leadership last semester of Alex Shuford, and now J. Mundy Cress, the Council has attempted to tighten its policy of allowing its member fraternities to engage only in conduct which will better the reputation of fraternities in the eyes of the public."

Nimkoff added the Council had also taken steps to encourage scholarship among fraternities by accepting the offer of the National Sigma Chi Foundation to award a large yearly trophy to the fraternity showing the greatest scholastic improvement over its previous standing. At present the Council already awards its own trophy to the fraternity with the highest yearly academic average.

Ellis McGirr—Runner up in prix de Paris fashion contest sponsored by Vogue magazine. Winner will be announced in mid May, and receive all expense paid trip to Paris.

Beauty Contest Finals Tonight In Westcott

An FSU coed will become "Miss Tallahassee" tonight when 12 finalists appear before the judges at 8 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium.

The finalists, which were picked from a group of 30 girls last Tuesday night, are Jacquelyn Gremlin LaVeira Armstrong, Ann Elizabeth Purvis, Phyllis Angela Westner, Barbara Evans, Delano Driver, Karen Kimple, Barbara Ann Emmett, Marie Ruth Shuman, Barbara Lynnell Reynolds, Margaret Lynn Shirley, and Dorothy Ann Hanson.

"We could have had all the girls participate in the finals but of course we had to eliminate a few so things wouldn't be too complicated," said Charles J. Benda Jr., of the "Miss Tallahassee" committee. "We based as a committee to have any of them dropped," he added.

Judging

The girls will be judged on the basis of beauty of face, voice and diction, intellect, wholesomeness, disposition, personality, poise, special talents and personality.

Beginning the finals will be an evening gown competition. Following that, each girl will illustrate a talent, her profession, or anything she wants." Mr. Benda said. Last on the program will be the swimming suit competition in which beauty of figure will also be considered.

Receives Scholarship

The winner of the contest, who is to go to Pensacola to take part in the "Miss Florida" title, will receive a $200 scholarship from Ralph D. Newman, Sinclair Oil Distributor.

Tickets for the finals are on sale last night at 50 cents general admission, and 75 cents reserved seats. Balcony seats will be free, but will not be available until all the lobby tickets are sold. They can be obtained from Malone's, the University Book Store, and at the door.

Shakespeare's Choice Works Library Feature

The English Department's Coffee Hour Committee, in connection with its Shakespeare celebration this week, has called attention to some of the very choice editions of Shakespeare's works owned by the Library.

One set consists of 37 volumes, put out by The Limited Editions Club, designed by Bruce Rogers, which follows the text of the First Folio of 1623, edited and amended, and illustrated by the great Carneval. The FSU library was among the original subscribers to this very limited edition of the comedies, histories, and tragedies of William Shakespeare. It was bought at great cost when the Library, which now contains over 60,000 volumes, had only 37,000 books.

The library also has the rare PLAYERS' SHAKESPEARE, a collection of 37 volumes which was printed literatim from the First Folio, at Shakespeare Head Press, on pure rag paper. Students may see these editions of The Bard's works on request.

MAGNOLIA, JENNIE SPONSOR DANCE

Magnolia Hall and Jennie Murphree Hall will co-sponsor an informal dance at the Student Center, tonight at 8:30 p.m. Music will be furnished by the juke box, said chairmen, Carlos Wilson and Suzanne Stokes.

Fletcher Gets Charter Giving Student Body Lawful Court Power

Disclosure Of Charter News Stuns Senate

By ORCHID ALONSO

Student Body Vice-president Coyle E. Moore looked around, then cleared his throat. Found a gentle tap with his gavel, he quietly said: "The Student Senate of the Florida State University Student Body, Incorporated, will now come to order."

And with those words opened what could be a new era of students government at FSU. Vice-president Moore was one of the few students in the Senate Chambers Wednesday afternoon who were aware that at 11.37 that morning the Students Body had become incorporated.

Few seemed to notice Moore's unfamiliar title. A few minutes later, Student Body President Peter Nimkoff addressed the Senate and made a few off-hand remarks about the "possible" charter that would "soon" be given from Student Government the tax: "farce".

The maple sword room was flanked back and forth across the room. Bruce Fletcher, instructor of the charter movement, sat by smiling silently. Those who were aware of the charter's existence seemed content to let the discussion evidenced by Fletcher and others.

After a few minutes, Bruce Fletcher took the floor. He passed out seven copies of the legal papers for all to see. He paused momentarily, then spoke. There were no loud cheers, no hand shaking. Only a stunned silence. Jarred only by the creaking muscles of the smiling faces of those who had heard previously.

Fletcher spoke. The senate stirred. Questions arose. Body agreement came over the body. Finally, Fletcher left. Gaster summed it up. "This is a historical day, but now that we've got it, we don't know what to do with it."

The papers were outlined. Senator Ken Gatlin immediately moved that the constitution be adopted as the charter's by-laws, so that discussion might continue from there.

Florida Legislature Bill Throws Scare Into Charter Plans

The State Senate threw a scare into the minds of Court Charter proponents Wednesday when it heard a bill "relating to educational institutions granting academic degrees, corporations not for profit . . . . amending Florida Statutes . . ."

At first glance it seemed as if the Senate had heard of the student plans and was rolling out its heavy artillery to crack down on the upstarts. Further inspection of the bill, however, showed that it was just a coincidence.

Its sponsor, Sen. Russell O. Morrow of Lake Worth, hadn't even heard of the Court Charter for the students at Florida State University.

West Speaker Takes Speech Prize Monday

Fred Roberts representing West Hall took first place in the Sixth Annual Intramural After-Dinner Speaking Contest held before the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce, Monday.

Roberts spoke on "How I Became a Failure." Second place was won by Laura Ley Alexander of Alpha Delta Pi, speaking on "Not-So-Innocents Abroad." In the contest he competed with "The Advantages of Country Life."

Harris Litwin placed fourth, speaking on "A Trip to Roumania." Dr. Wayne C. Minnich served as chairman and moderator for the contest.

Finals in these contest will be held before the Optimist Club and the Toastmasters Club of Tallahassee. Registration in both contests is still open. Entrants are to call Extension 206) or See Dr. Pfifer in the James House.

Act May Bring About Era Of Dynamic Government

By OSCAR JOHNSON

A Florida Circuit Court issued a charter to the student body here Wednesday which offers promise of drastic increase in student power.

Evidently without precedent among American colleges and universities, the move was viewed as "novel" by President Doak S. Campbell. He said yesterday he had received a copy of the charter and issued this statement:

"I shall give serious consideration to the charter in light of all the statutes and other restrictions relating to it. President Campbell declined to evaluate the charter until he had studied it.

Student Power

As outlined under the court charter, the Florida State University student body now has power to express itself effectively in the programs of the university which directly affect students' social, economic, physical, intellectual and spiritual welfare. The charter also authorizes it to regulate their activities "for the benefit of the entire educational community."

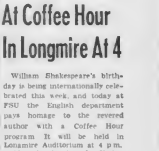
The move, spearheaded by Bruce Fletcher, proclaims that a student here a member of a non-profit chartered corporation called the "Student Body of Florida State University, Incorporated."

Speculation over legality of the charter has been confined to two main points: whether students under the age of 21 may legally do so, or become members of a corporation, and if the powers given the students under the charter conflict with powers delegated the Board of Education by statute. The statutes apparently do not specify that legal age is necessary for membership in a corporation, stating only that five "persons may charter a corporation." The question of power conflict will probably not be decided by controversy at once and it is taken to court.

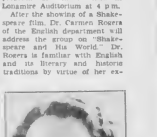
As Outlined

Among the broad powers outlined by the Florida Statutes for non-profit corporations are the power to,

(1) Adopt, change, amend and repeal by - laws not inconsistent



(Continued on Page 5)



'Bard' Featured At Coffee Hour In Longmire At 4

William Shakespeare's birthday is being internationally celebrated this week and today at FSU the English department pays homage to the revered author with a Coffee Hour program. It will be held in Longmire Auditorium at 4 p.m.

After the showing of a Shakespeare film, Dr. Carmen Rogers of the English department will address the group on "Shakespeare and His World." Dr. Rogers is familiar with English and its literary and historic traditions by virtue of her experience as a student at Cambridge University, a director of summer courses in Europe and by attendance at Shakespeare Festivals at Stratford-on-the-Avon. Dr. Rogers has published two years of post-doctoral study at the Folger Shakespeare Library, the British Museum, and other research centers on "Influence of Studies in Shakespeare, 1953, her work on Shakespearian tragedy is noted in the 1934 International Bibliography of works related to Shakespeare.

Carmen Rogers

The British English Association recognized her research in English Shakespeare Melancholy in its Year's Work in English Studies, 1935, and she is presently working on other publications on Shakespeare and Spenser.

Dr. Rogers, an FSU English professor, was appointed after the 1952 Shakespeare Festival held at the University of Miami, Utah scene scholars from attended this program 12 American universities at-

A charter member of the Renaissance Society of America, Dr. Rogers also holds memberships in the Shakespeare Association of America, the International Association of Comparative Literatures, and similar organizations. She has been granted honorary membership in national drama, English, and education fraternities.

SAI HOLDS SPAGHETTI SUPPER

Sigma Alpha Iota, women's music sorority, held a spaghetti supper last week-end to raise money for their Foundation Fund.

The purpose of the fund is to sponsor scholarships for the Berkshire Music Center, Fontainebleu, Interlochen, Aspen, and Chautauqua. The Fund also contributes to the Metropolitan Opera Company auditions and the National Music Competitions and Awards.

The Fifth Rose Or—We're Sorry Miss Scott

Last issue's front page picture of the "Rose of Kappa Alpha" and her court omitted the name of Miss Sandra Scott, on the extreme right of the photograph. We hope this corrections will be received partially wise Miss Scott the recognition she did not receive on Tuesday.

Legal Details Cause Lengthy Integration Process In South

Dr. Lewis Killian T alks On Segregation

A lengthy process of school integration in the South was predicted here Wednesday by a specialist professor who attended the recent segregation hearings of the Supreme Court.

Dr. Lewis Killian, professor of sociology, outlined his impressions after hearing the court hearings on an integration decree April 11-12 in Washington, D. C. before an open class on racial relations. He said that it would be "folly" to come complete integration in the south to be postponed for a long period of time.

"Whatever sort of decree is handed down by the Supreme Court, it is going to take many cases—literally thousands—all over the south to whittle it away with segregation," he said.

The Supreme Court is expected to hand down its final decree on ending segregation sometime before the summer. It had previously ruled segregation unconstitutional in the Brown v. Board of Education case of December 17, but had put off the new decree until it would have to be put into effect.

Killian said that the power of the Supreme Court to postpone implementation of its ruling was the subject of much discussion at the four-day hearings. Attending the session were Attorneys General from states to be affected by the decision, as well as representatives of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other interested groups.

Killian said that Thurmond Marshall, president of NAACP, strongly opposed the delay because the Supreme Court decisions "were not public opinion polls" and should be enforced whether other people liked it or not.

The principle involved in this question was equity, explained Killian, or the doctrine that justice can be tempered with mercy. If this principle was followed, presumably there would be a lengthy period of integration to allow for public sentiment. Killian said several of the state attorneys argued for this policy on the grounds that it would postpone Southern Negro forthcoming.

This was the reason, Killian continued, that several of the attorneys asked that the Supreme Court let the period of integration be worked out on the local level under a system of remands to federal circuit courts. Marshall contradicted this, said Killian, and declared that "There can be no local autonomy under our constitutional system."

Another point relating to the period of integration cited by Killian was whether the decree to be handed down by the court will apply only to those cases under consideration or if other Negroes can obtain admittance to white schools through intervenment. Killian stated that the practice of intervenment would probably not be in effect and that the court would need to settle thousands of cases before integration was completed. "Perhaps Mr. Justice Jackson's prediction of a half century or a century of litigation will be borne out," he declared.

Dr. Killian's lecture was held in the Governor Bloxham Lecture Hall to accommodate the overflow of students who attended it.

Police Methods Aren't The Order Of The Day

Someone seems to have forgotten that police methods are not the order of the day around here, at least not with this newspaper.

Late Monday night, after the Tuesday morning's edition was locked and ready for publication, the Dean of Students was informed that we had an editorial on the Leathers hearing.

So in the dead of night, he awoke a member of this staff to check on the contents of that editorial. Also the printers at the Tallahassee Democrat were called and asked to read the editorial back to the Dean.

In the meantime, the Flambeau editor, whose address is on file, was completely by-passed. Is this proper procedure?

Somewhere along the line, it seems someone forgot that the sole responsibility of what goes into this paper rests with the editor, who, we'll point out as a reminder, is elected by the student body.

Under the student constitution there is not supposed to be administrative checks, and we believe there should be no administrative checks.

Is this a harbinger of things to come under the future board of publications?

Student Government Charter

The Student Government of Florida State University has obtained a charter from a circuit court of the State of Florida.

This historical document gives the student government a legal corporate personality for the first time in its history. Hence, Student Government will have a prestige of no small sort.

The attainment of this charter came about mainly through the actions of FSU Junior Bruce Fletcher, an assistant attorney general in the student cabinet. He has made a great contribution to FSU students, and has given to the student will a framework for legal action.

But legality is not power. Prestige is not sovereignty. Status is not strength. Many organizations have been recognized by the state. But at the same time, this is a recognition of existence and not of its demand.

Consequently the organization might be legal but might not have the slightest effect on policy. It undoubtedly will compete with other organizations that are also legal.

This chapter furnishes the FSU Student Government with legitimate underpinnings. Without it, whatever power might have been achieved in the future would be simply might. The charter, however, enables this might to develop within the framework of law, and hence this power becomes authority.

Student Government has far to go. The charter is a giant step.

Where Are Some Results?

We note that the Southern Universities Student Government Association will hold a meeting at the University of Alabama today and tomorrow.

SUSGA, if too many of you have forgotten—though we don't blame you—was formed at Emory University last May.

It grew out of a row over membership in the National Students Association and whether or not certain Southern universities should belong to NSA. Some felt that the Dixie schools could get more out of a regional association rather than one that is affiliated nationally.

Florida State University became a member of SUSGA, and an FSU student was elected its president.

Next month SUSGA will hold its first anniversary. What has SUSGA accomplished in that one year? Well, we don't know.

In the past year, we haven't heard as much as a whisper from the association. And we have seen no literature on it until a few days ago when we received a letter stating that a meeting would be held.

FSU was never a member of NSA, but those Southern schools who renounced it and joined SUSGA kind of lost out. For the latter association has done almost nil in fulfilling the objectives of NSA. While everyone should be aware, as the Emory Wheel pointed out, that a young organization needs time to show its possibilities of strength and success, it should show some progress within a whole year, we think.

We await the results of the Alabama conference. Right now, though, their lack of results only lends weight to the possibility of FSU joining NSA, and scrapping SUSGA.

Mete Out Justice Where It's Really Needed

We think the proposed revision of the student courts on this campus will be a good thing. Of special interest to the student body (twenty Senators recognized this when they agreed to co-sponsor the bill) is the proposed change in the court membership.

The bill calls for a twelve member Judiciary—six men and six women—who will act as a unit. This, we feel, is a worthy example of supplying the students what they need and want.

Operating as a separate unit, the women's judiciary has demonstrated childish and ineffective traits. Childish, because drunk with power these elected women no different from other women, have taken into their hands the welfare of their fellow students. Ineffective, because the penalties repeatedly doled out in no way resemble the penalties based on equity, upon which our whole democratic system is based.

We hope that the incorporation of the liberal, male unit with the female unit will give judiciary its first taste of equity and mercy—as well as deprive the conservative women judges of their lustful and oft vengeful usage of power which they do not rightly have.

Latest Report From Behind The Iron Collar

Letters To The Flambeau

Thinking, Reading

To the Editor:

In one of my classes recently, my amiable and thoughtful professor was besiged with numerous questions concernina the Leathers case. Of course, in the rear of the room, several girls were either writing letters or manicuring their nails, but at least half the class showed intense interest in the question. To such questions as "What do you think of the Leathers case?", "Do you think he's guilty?", "Do you think he will be able to get another job, after this?" "If you were in his place, would you have reacted in the same fashion?", the professor was very noncommital. "I don't know," he simply said, or "You don't really expect me to answer that, do you?"

Just suppose, someone said, that the general feeling among students was that this man is innocent and is being treated unfairly by the administration. What can students do about it? "Nothing, probably," he said.

"Of course" he said, "you have a student government, but it isn't really much more than a play government when it comes to actual power. Students play government just as they play soldier," and he nodded out the window where ROTC boys marched up and down the field.

"Maybe we could go on strike," someone suggested. The professor laughed and said, "You don't really care that much, do you? College students never work up enough interest in a situation to do anything about it—unless its a prom or some such thing."

It seems to me, someone said, that this situation is just the reverse of our usual procedure of justice. Someone, instead of being innocent 'til proven guilty, is having to prove his innocence first.

Its the age old question, said the professor, of the importance of the individual versus the importance of the state or the institution. Of course, in America we are supposed to support the belief in the importance or value of the individual.

Outside, the ROTC band proudly trumpted, ". . . . the land of the free, and the home of the brave."

The professor said that we displayed the usual naivete of college students: righteous indignation that such a situation should exist but completely ignorant that this same thing has happened many times before.

He spoke of the case of Owen Lattimore of John Hopkins, who had been accused of Communist sympathies. Although his case had been reviewed time after time and he was always cleared of all charges, still Lattimore is out of a job. Lattimore considered one of the foremost authorities on the Far East and one of the world's greatest oriental scholars, had stepped on somebody's toes. "Someone was out for his scalp," said the professor, "and they got it."

The class talked on and on about such things as justice and freedom. If you're really interested in this sort of thing, said the professor, read "The Kept Witnesses" in the current issue of Harper's. In order to solve any problem or at least have an intelligent outlook on it, you must be enlightened through reading and thinking about the subject. However, he said, most college students are contented to read something like the Reader's Digest, a magazine, which, he said, is geared to the level of a good sixth grader.

MARGARET MILLER

Legal Non-entity

To the Editor

As Secretary of the Organizations Committee I feel that I should say something to all parties concerned about the legal status of the Philosophy Club at FSU.

To put it briefly, there is no philosophy club on the campus of FSU! In order to qualify this statement, I wish to submit the following facts, which I feel will clear up any misconceptions about the legitimate status of the organization in dispute.

On October 10 of last semester, Phil Springer petitioned the Organizations Committee

(Continued on next column)

Letters To The Flambeau

(Con. from previous column)

to permit the Philosophy Club to meet and organize. He was then notified by us that in order for his club to become a recognized organization on campus he would have to submit copies of the club's proposed constitution to our committee for consideration and approval (see Pow Wow for rules—p. 56).

After several requests by this committee Mr. Springer has not yet complied with the rules. Hence, in reply to the suggestion of William R Neblett, Jr., that the club be disbanded, I can see little reason in doing this since it is already a legal non-entity!

Sincerely,
PAT THORNTON
Secretary of Organizations

Thank You

To the members of the following organizations:

Alpha Delta Pi
Alpha Omicron Pi
Alpha Xi Delta
Gamma Phi Beta
Delta Delta Delta
Delta Tau Delta
Delta Zeta
Kappa Alpha Theta
Kappa Delta
Kappa Sigma
Lambda Chi Alpha
Phi Delta Theta
Phi Mu
Pi Beta Phi
Sigma Nu
Sigma Chi
Chi Omega
Zeta Tau Alpha
The Baptist Student House

In behalf of Alpha Phi Omega, we wish to thank you for the help you gave in the 1955 Ugly Man Contest.

Your cooperation made possible a total gross of $224.95, well over our goal of $200, and a vast improvement over last year's total. The money will soon be used to improve the radios in the University Hospital.

Next year we hope you will want to participate in a bigger and better Ugly Man Contest. We look forward to working with you again.

Yours in service,
RUSS PARRISH AND CHARLES SCARBROUGH
Co-Chairmen

Oh, Amelia Criticism

To the Editor:

I am very disappointed to find in your last number of April 22, your criticism about the French movie "Oh! Amelia" showed in the Ritz Theater last week.

I opted for the best conclusion which means you must not have any knowledge about the author George Feydeau, and I am glad to tell you here some facts about his kind of play.

Feydeau (1862-1921) was a writer of this kind of theater called "vaudeville" which was in vogue between 1880 and 1930. The origine of this word appeared in the XVth century with a certain Olivier Basselin, worker in Vire (City town of Normandy, France) who was composer of satiric songs which became popular in the "val or vau de Vire" (small valley of Vire). This later was orthographed "vaudeville". The first of them were bacchics songs. This type remains until the end of the 18th century.

At the beginning of the same Century, songs of "genre" were included in theater-play of fair, which were called "comedies with vaudeville" and later only "vaudeville". When the comedy with song illustrated by Desaugiers Scribe, Labiche disappeared the word "vaudeville" remained applied to any light comedy, easy going, with a comic sense but a litle too heavy. A kind of caricature.

This play "Oh: Amelia" is done with the spirit to illustrate this kind of theater, which was played at the Palais Royal Theater in Paris. I must say after having seen the movie in the Ritz Theater, that I felt the play on the stage in Paris had more unity.

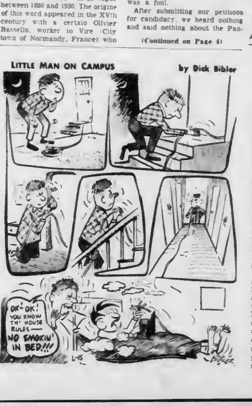
In short if the author of this article had any knowledge of the country who's film, he so eagerly criticised, he would know immediately that this movie had no political, communistic or vindictive statements. Even if it is popular to discover them.

Sincerely yours,
ANDREE JULIEN

Ed. Note: Miss Julien, with the FSU Art Dept. is from Paris, France.

Test Case

To the Editor:



I have long held, and there are many who agree with me, that politics on this campus is somewhat of a farce. We breed here a generation of political puppets whose prime function is to entertain. We recognize the antics of these glorified court jesters by naming them eventually to select mutual admiration societies on the basis of their performance. It is still a puzzling question to me whether the blame for this sorrowful condition rests on our clowning, ineffectual politicos or on the rather omnipotent school administration. Are we victims of our environment or our own ignorance?

Recently I joined with two of my friends in exploring the intricate depths of political activity. We formed, inauspiciously and innocently, a third party—the Pandas. We were not red-faced radicals intent on overthrowing the existant party system on campus. We were merely three fairly harmless and unsuccessful politicians who felt that it would be to our advantage to band together in hopes of receiving more votes. Little did I realize the full import of our nefarious scheme, and I now stand corrected and humble before the inexorable logic of our current political institutions and officers. I was a fool.

After submitting our petitions for candidacy, we heard nothing and said nothing about the Pan-

(Continued on Page 4)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

The Dissenter

Descending Into The 'Grass Roots'

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

So long as the political parties on campus do not represent basic opposing viewpoints, there is little reason for their existence.

The students, especially those potential candidates who choose to run independently, realize that the parties are at present little or more than glorified clubs.

Yet if there is any promise in the party system—if it shows any sign of arousing interest in campus issues, prodding student government to more maturity, and becoming the center of political controversy, it should be saved, not scuttled.

At present such potential appears lacking. A main reason for this, I believe, is that the party organization does not effectively descend into what are commonly called the "grass roots" levels.

The spirit is noticeable among the party leaderships, but the great majority of students themselves take no interest whatsoever in the party organizations.

A dormitory may send representatives to a convention. Only a very small number of residents participate in the "election"—for some halls there is no election at all.

Even worse, we cannot apply the term "election" to the manner in which the day student delegates are chosen. It is sheer facetiousness to maintain that they represent the day students.

It's a sad state of affairs. The party leaders desperately want the students to take an interest in the party system, yet they make only a weak, halfhearted attempt to develop followings. And no matter what they claim, they actually represent only the delegates at the conventions—and all too often these delegates are "band picked."

The first tonic for the parties would be to get some issues to disagree over, but they must take care lest they disagree for disagreement's sake only.

The next step is to institute a vestige of democracy, a measure of efficiency into the party organizations.

Something they could do, and it might help them a lot—although at the expense of a few "ward heelers," would be to put themselves more directly under student government.

Student government might supervise the elections inside the dormitories and other groups for convention delegates. Students might be registered under one party or the other, and permitted to v[...] on one set of delegates on[...] though of course not bound [...]der the dangerous "loya[lty] oaths" some backward poli[ti]cians favor.

This would eliminate [...] farcial situation in which [...] person is sent to both pa[rty] conventions. The parties prea[ch] "difference of opinion" a[nd] yet they countenance su[ch] things as these.

Giving student government the elections committee charge of the intra-party ele[c]tions would first add the pres[]tige of student government such as it does have. It wou[ld] secondly, insure democracy [in] intra-party politics. On nume[r]ous occasions dormitory "ca[u]cuses" have been announ[ced] only a few minutes prior [to] their meeting times, and the[n] announced only to the frien[ds] of those who wish to go to [the] conventions.

A system of student gover[n]ment control would be remar[k]ably similar to the governmen[]tal control exercised by ma[ny] states. Florida, for instance, regulate the party prima[ries]. Other states control the elec[]tion of committeemen, as do[es] Florida.

Outraged politicos will un[]doubtedly denounce this ide[a]

(Continued on Page 5)

Reflections

Discovering The Elusive 'Chord'

By OSCAR JOHNSON

There is an insurance company which has the motto, "Vision Is Indispensable to Progress." This could well apply to a column in the last Flambeau headlined "Parties Are On Their Way Out."

It's not hard to see how such a conclusion could be drawn. We've done nearly the same thing ourselves. Such thoughts are started by regular observance of student government—which sometimes appears like a drunken actor stumbling around in confusion on the stage of a crowded theatre. Since parties are eye-catching, it is easy to seize upon them as the cause of the stumbling. The mental process for this is something like "My car doesn't run well. I'd better take out its motor."

Tuesday's disgruntled harangue capitalized on statements made by Student Body President-elect Coyle Moore last Thursday night at the Student Party convention. We grant that his statements are open to criticism. The fact that he was speaking before probably the largest event sponsored by a brawling political organization would easily induce him to wax a little too enthusiastic.

This does not, however mean that parties are Bad Things, upon which scorn and abuse should be heaped. Strange as it may seem to "Disgruntled," it does not even mean that the parties are on their way out. It seems that the only reason for thinking so is that they are "delusions" and "mean nothing" and therefore, as a natural course of events, they will go, or disappear.

Parties have their bad points. They are not based on issues: probably all student government achievements are traceable to individual effort: if one party is weak it is relatively easy for poor candidates to get into office. But still parties are not the Lost Chord of the political piano.

Their advantage is this: By participating in a true party system, large numbers of students may grasp and understand the methods by which democracy is now exercised in America. All student government is a play, and to spout abstract principles of civil liberties will not deliver into the hands of the students the power to make their own decisions. Student government has [li]ttle to do but to perpetuate its ow[n] existence. So long as that [is] its chore, it should strive [to] accomplish it in a professional manner, so that the benefi[t] of experience may at least be de[]rived.

Granted that parties [of] nearly equal power exist, ou[r] definition of a true party sys[]tem, the student body as [a] whole could well benefit. Th[e] added competition would ins[ure] representative government be[]cause all groups would be s[ure] to send delegates to the con[]ventions. It is of course eas[y] to point out that representat[ive] government is a matter [of] course in a partyless setup. W[e] have mistakenly done so o[ur]selves. But a government wi[th]out power is not a government. It is a scrimmage. When w[e] get used to this idea we ca[n] accept parties for what the[y] are: a factor in the play o[f] student government with equa[l] value to its other components.

When the play is enacted enough times, complete with [a] party plot, student government may discover its elusive Lost Chord: a Purpose.

Etcetera Etchings

Columnist Flips Fourth Dimension

By DAVID DREIS

I'm blasted mad and this column is going to flip its fourth dimension. I don't expect heads to roll . . . except maybe mine, but fellow FSU students we're getting the shaft . . . elevator and all.

The legislators have really sheared us. It's amazing that we sit back and take it. We're always talking about the large amount of progress we make. Sure, we have a building here and a building there and public relations is working 10 times harder than anybody angling for new students, but mister, look around you and wake up!

When it comes to a vote in the legislature we seem to be on the raw end and that's the truth. You know how we did with the FSU football game that was supposed to pressure the UF into playing us? They defeated it in the legislature. Oh, of course, everyone knows having it brought up shows that people want it, but the fact remains: It didn't pass.

Okay, let the sports editors bat that around but let's get into my field—in more ways than one. The Gainesville school has been given the new television channel, and equipment is being allotted to them for instruction. When you figure that WRUF and WRUF-FM are fast-booming modes for instruction you should blow your top to figure out all we've got in WFSU-FM, and that's not too much at all. Not that WFSU-FM isn't a fine source for instruction, but as a radio-speech major, I can tell you it's not what WFSU-AM used to be until it was shut off.

When WFSU was on the air, the announcer wrote, produced, and performed on the station. He filled various jobs including disc jockeys, actor, sports editor and so on. He didn't just flip a long-playing record over and after it gave the station break. He didn't limit himself to classical music alone, he played popular Monday through Friday, hillbilly on Tuesday and Thursday and classical all day Sunday. Sports events were covered completely—WFSU-FM is doing fine in this area but basketball had to be aired through WTNT for effective listenership. There was a morning deejay show an afternoon deejay show, and a night-time request program. It had listeners even greater than the downtown stations.

Why am I peeved? Because students no longer make the policy of the station—they enact it.

The radio area in the Department of Speech is no longer as active as it was or should have been. I remember how we financed the radio script mimeographing for a class in Radio Script Writing. It came out of funds for Discussion and Debate. This year only one course in radio is being taught in the Department of Speech.

The School of Journalism has put out a lot of money and seems to be the most progressive radio area around. Nevertheless, it is still weak in comparison to other schools. The former manager of WFSU is no longer directly connected with WFSU-FM as a radio sta-

(Continued on Page 5)

A Better Measure

On Using Newly Found Power

By JEROME BERNSTEIN

With the Student Senate obtaining a charter from the Circuit Court, thus achieving independence from the administration, one cannot help but wonder how that body will use this new found power.

Perhaps this question can best be answered by the students who make up the senate. With elections only a short time away, it is interesting to note that this Senate election is the first one in FSU history where all the candidates have made the required scholastic point averages. In the past, many candidates were declared ineligible to run because of low grades.

It would appear that the student parties on campus have finally realized their responsibility to the students and the school as a whole. No longer can individual personalities be allowed to make a sham of the party system on campus both in and out of the student senate. "A political party has one main duty—to uphold and preserve a specific interest, a particular philosophy." Not a particular person or persons.

Thus it appears that the parties on campus have reached a point where they will either make or break themselves in next semester's senate. They will be on trial for the student body to see how they handle their new position. If they continue to abuse the senate and all it stands for, there will be no excuse for the students not to support the independent candidates, who in the past have made a much better showing of the student trust in them.

An example of the farceness which has previously overshadowed the good the senate has done can be found in last semester's senate debate over the appointment of Germaine Murray to fill a vacant junior women's seat in the senate. Appointed by President Pete Nimkoff, Miss Murray was rejected by the senate on the grounds she was not qualified for the position. That she would be "too busy to discharge her duties" because she was active in other activities.

What the body failed to take into consideration was the fact that Miss Murray came in second for the very seat which she was appointed to. But with the candidate elected not returning to school, Miss Murray would naturally seem the student to fill the vacancy.

The point of bringing this issue up now is to point out how the student senate (parties) presumed to reject an appointment without any real grounds for doing so, except that personalities entered the picture. If open-mindedness had been the keynote and less "quick trigger fingers" a sideshow might have been eliminated. A sideshow the senate can no longer afford to keep in business.

With the achieving of a senate charter, the student parties appear to have at last recognized their purpose of being on campus, which is to direct the activities of the Student Body for the benefit of the entire educational community.

The Florida Flambeau

Bob Folsom, Editor

Jay Robertson, News Editor
Asst. News Editors: Oscar Johnson, Martin Dyckman
Sports Editors: Bob Gutting, Dick Victory
Sports Staff: Alan Whitmarsh, Harry Bernard
Amusement Editor: David Dreis
Photographer: Laird Anderson

Joe Caldwell, Business Mgr.
Assistant Business Manager: Irma Cox
Exchange Editor: John Halford
Assistant Exchange Editor: Susan Hyde
Distribution: Members of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity

Telephone 2-8000 extension 6821
211-213 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

Orchid Alonso, Mgr. Editor
Copy Editors: Pat Marston, Willie Smith
Rewrite Editor: Margaret Miller
Art Consultant: Franklin Adams
Cartoonist: Con Horn
Junior Staff: Jerome Bernstein, Marty Reeves, Ann Stanley, Jeri Bradfield, Charlet Portevint, Pat Brady, Tann Hammond

Mary Lix King, Adv. Mgr.
Asst. Adv. Mgr.: Nina Ryle
Business Staff: Jeanette Puckett, Mary Dressler
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave. New York 17
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

The Campaigners Promise

Class President

As a candidate for Senior class President, I realize the duties and responsibilities of this office. If given this responsibility I will do my best as a good job and will serve the Senior Class the best I know how. I want to thank all hard-working Juniors who have given so much for our Class this year. If these same people put forth which efforts next year as they have this year, our class will be one of or the best that ever graduated from FSU.

I promise that if I am elected I will do what I can to help the S-nior Class.

Sincerely,
BOB CRENSHAW

To My Fellow Classmates

During a recent conference with Dean S. Campbell I learned of the strong possibility of our Class of 1957 celebrating the CENTENNIAL of FSU. I believe it to be wise to start next year in the Fall of 1955 planning and preparation for "next year," and to secure coordination which is the key to the success of our class. I believe it is very appropriate, FOR CLASS UNITY, BE THE REASONS FOR THE SUCCESS OF OUR CLASS, it is my desire to create from the efforts of a CENTENNIAL CLASS LEADER-ORGANIZATION more powerful than we have seen, and work on school projects and money making projects, class functions; and to be a good motivator for Juniors—thereby obtaining UNITY, and the feeling that we "can't get by but Through working and building together, with participation, we may all gain our goals.

I have heard my platform remarks of MY BIG PLANS FOR CLASS, and I hope I will put into the position of President to carry them out. I will appreciate any kind of support you may be able to give me or my platform and I will do my best.

Sincerely,
ROBERT TEMPLE

Running of the Freshman class—

I had the pleasure to see as many members of our class as I was able to during this letter I would like to introduce myself and tell you my platform.

My platform is two-fold: first I will serve unity and solidarity in our class through dances, intra-mural contest, with other freshman, and secondly in a successful induction of freshmen next fall.

I will certainly appreciate your careful consideration and support of our comin- activities for class president. If elected I will accept the responsibility I promise you I will give my best for the class and our university.

Sincerly yours,
BILL CULLOM

Dear Freshman,

In seeking your backing for Vice Class President I'm going to make any promises as I will not be able to fulfill your President.

I will pass-present for next year need to spend hours in and setting up the By-Laws I'm presently working on that will try to enforce the of Wai Court, even those were this year. It is hoped at other schools that those of Freshman by upperclassmen is one of the main behind their school spirit. Needless to say our school's this spirit is low and time way to attain better spir-

Running on the Student ticket, I will back their platform to the full extent, for I believe the platform will benefit the student government and the student at Florida State.

On next Tuesday, May 3, cast your ballot for YOUR VOTE MAY BE THE ONE THAT COUNTS!

Sincerely yours,
SHIRLEY MORGAN

Dear Sophomores'

I am seeking the office of Secretary of the Student Body. I feel that I am qualified for the above position and I will strive to do my best in serving you as a working class officer.

I would really like your vote next Tuesday.

Your Fellow Classmate,
TYFFY PARSONS

Fellow Freshman,

My name is Carole Dailey. I am running for vice-president of the Sophomore Class. I would appreciate all the help and support that you may see fit to give me. I have had some what this job and if I have the good fortune of being elected I will serve you the very best I know how.

I am trying to meet as many of you personally as I can to discuss my qualifications and plans and in order that we might get to know each other better if you would like to come and talk with me I live in 214 Reynolds Hall and would be more than glad to meet you

Vice-President

To the Class of 1956,

I am seeking the office of Vice-President of your class. I have served this class in the past ever since entering FSU in the fall of 1952.

For instance, during our second year in college I was a member of the Women's Service organization, Sophomore Council, and this year I am serving as a Junior Council. I have also served on the Homecoming Parade committee this year, and the Initiation of Juniors that made selections for the present Senior class on Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

I don't feel that I am exactly unfamiliar with class office duties, nor with the University government. I would like to serve your class as Vice-President during our last year at Florida State.

Thank you and remember to vote Tuesday.

Loyally,
BARBARA BACHMAN

Secretary

Dear Sophomore Classmates,

In seeking the office of class secretary, I ask you to consider my reasons for running. First, I believe that every candidate should have a successful desire to serve in the position he wishes to fill. My intentions for running are the sincerest. Next, an acute interest in the affairs of this essential. You will find that I have followed class business very closely and now wish to have a part in planning our class activities. My experience extends back to high school, where I served as secretary of my class and of Sarasota High School Student Council. At FSU I have been in Sophomore Council and president of Beta Sigma girls' band honorary. I would appreciate your consideration when you vote.

Sincerely,
FLORENCE ASHBY
P.S. I can write, too!

Dear Voters,

I am again asking for your support in the coming election. This time I am running for secretary of the Junior class.

Most of you have heard my secretarial abilities during several times, but in review, let me repeat a few of them. I was secretary-treasurer of my class in high school and I have had actual work experience as a secretary. My past two semesters My past experience as secretary of music fraternity has been extensive here and in high school should be valuable to the class.

The other qualities which make a good secretary are such as dependability, punctuality, and sincerity, are just as important as the first. I feel that I have these personal qualities too.

Remember to cast your ballot for Ursula Lee Ashley and to vote for Senior Class Officers.

Sincerely,
SALLY PUNSELL

Dear Fellow Freshman:

I'd like to take this opportunity to express my interest in this campaign and to solicit your support. I have had experience as secretarial Science, and most important an interest in the Sophomore class.

Remember the name SHIRLEY METZ for election day.

Sincerely,
SHIRLEY METZ

Freshmen:

I am Mary Louise Peacock, a candidate for Secretary of the Sophomore Class. I have served as Secretary of the Freshman Class this past year. I feel I have the qualifications to again hold this office. I know the duties and responsibilities of the Secretary and know how the business of the class is run.

Next year we Freshmen will be upperclassmen—this fact I am sure, is recognized by the capable leaders in the class officers. Since you, the individual members of the class choose the officers, it is important, that you remember on May 3 and second, that you assume to examine the candidates qualifications thoroughly. Your support in the last election was great, the turn-out more than it has previously been. Freshmen, I would again appreciate your support and consideration of my candidacy at the polls this Tuesday.

Thank you.
MARY LOUISE PEACOCK

Dear Freshmen!

This Freshmen year has been great, even though it was a little difficult at first for us to realize that we were finally in college.

Our year has really been successful but I think it can be even more successful next year if we become Sophomores. The newness of everything will be over, and we can really get to work in our class on bigger things.

That is what I would like to help do — put the Sophomore Class right on top—by serving as your Sophomore Class Secretary. Due to my past experience in high school as Secretary of Tri-Hi-Y, member of the Honor Society, and a member of the Treasurer's staff, I feel I have the qualifications to help make this the best class yet.

The office of Treasurer is one under consideration. Competency, capability, and a sincere desire to serve are essential for carrying out the duties of this office to the utmost.

I feel that, with your support, I can fulfill each of these requirements and your consideration on Tuesday will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
SARAH JANE GRIFFIN

Men's Senate

Fellow Students,

Wherever there are a number of rules and regulations; some are bound to contradict each other, some will have become outdated, and others will be fine in theory but not in practice.

Having had extensive experience with the Florida State Student Government in the capacity of chairman of Men's Judiciary, again and again I have come across a portion of our university's rules which serve no worthwhile purpose. I wish the priviledge to serve you by putting my knowledge of these futile laws to use and modify and abolish existing rules.

My aims are to introduce constructive, liberal legislation which will enable our student body to obtain a greater degree of justice, and be a servant to you who are varied cross-section of you mature FSU students with whom I have been associated can express your legislative desires.

Very truly yours,
BOB ELTING

Dear Juniors,

I am a candidate for Senior Senate of the Student Body for next year's student body.

This year more than ever before, we need to elect people to the Senate who will act wisely. I believe that this year I have been here. I have always watchdogged the Senate. I have happened in our Senate, and I have developed to the point where I feel that I can handle it efficiently.

Regardless of who you elect, I hope you will elect people that will not misuse the powers granted us by the charter and cause us to lose it.

Sincerely,
BRUCE W. FLETCHER

Members of the Junior Class:

The time has come again when we must go to the polls and elect a new class officers to represent the courts, and senators.

I am not about this same time, you elected me as one of the three to represent our class in the Student Court.

I hope that your trust and confidence in me has not been destroyed. Your vote and support next Tuesday will be deeply appreciated.

FRED MANSFIELD

Dear Sophomores.

I am asking for your consideration and support in the coming election. I am seeking representation as your Junior Senator. Last year, you elected me your Freshman Senator. I feel I represented you and the best of my ability, which was. I hope, sufficiently. Next year, if the qualifications are met, I intend running is any indication. FSU still needs a great deal and would like to help this senate work on and think through legislation in order that it may be able to serve you and the students of FSU.

Sincerely,
DAVE BACHMAN

Dear Students,

In announcing my candidacy for the office of Junior Senator, I feel I shall first to clarify my identification as to which Jim Moore I am. Much confusion has arisen on this point the past months among my friends as to just which Jim is seeking which office.

I am Jim E. Moore, the present sophomore senator. I am the Jim spelled "Jim". I am asking a third term to the office of senator and chance to serve you again with the high standard of representation you deserve and that I have always strived to maintain. For the past two years I have always you that I can work for our university and class.

I sincerely believe that the experience I have gained will place me in an even better position to promote better student government.

I will greatly appreciate your consideration for Senator JEM for junior senate. I respectfully solicit your support and vote in the forthcoming elections.

Sincerely,
"SENATOR JEM" MOORE

Members of the Soph. class:

I assume you as intelligent voters, want to know two things about a candidate before you vote—namely, what he has done, and what he will do.

WHAT HAS FRED ROBERTS DONE?

1- Originated West Hall's Inaugural Ball.

2- Originated West Hall's Sweetheart contest

3- Assisted the Inter-dormitory council and organized it with the help of the dormitory presidents

4- Served as lieutenant-governor of West Hall.

5 Earned Best Freshman Seaman award at University of Florida

6- Placed first in FSU afterdinner speaking contest.

7- Competed for two years in varsity debate.

WHAT WILL FRED ROBERTS DO?

1- Open the library Sunday nights.

2- Reduce rents on university-owned fraternity houses

3- Abolish the "swing season" at FSU, a week when girl must ask boys out and pay the bills.

4- Establish a "Freshman Night" when men may campaign in women's dorms and vice versa.

5- Secure more student benefits from administration through cooperation rather than attempted coercion.

I don't believe I have promised you anything that I feel I will only . . . "remember Roberts—I won't forget you."

Sincerely,
FRED ROBERTS

Dear Sophomores,

You have twice placed your faith in me. Once when you elected me to serve you in the Senate. I am now asking that you once more place your trust in me and elect me to serve another term as your senator.

I have fought as hard as I know how for the things I believe you wanted. I have opposed with equal vigor those things which I considered wrong, unfair, or worthless. I have cast my vote in Senate according to the way I felt best represented your opinions. I have never been dictated to by any party group, or person, and I will not be dictated to in the future.

I have not in the past, and will not in the future remain quiet on any issue nor bargain with my vote, nor will I listen to those people who "threaten" me politically.

Send me back to the Senate and you may be assured that I will continue to dedicate my time, energy and ability to serving the Class of 1957.

Sincerely,
JIM SOLES

Fellow Students:

I am running for Sophotore Men's Senate and feel sure my attendence record would benefit every student at FSU next year. I should like to campaign on the these ideas which I feel would improve our student government here on campus.

First I should like to see more part time jobs available to students. There are a great many of us that are trying to work part time in order to go to college and there are even greater numbers that want a part time jobs that are unable to get them. Next year I will do everything in my power to make more part time jobs available to students.

Secondly, I should like to initiate more activities in each dorm which would enable students to express their views on pending legislation to the senators.

Third, I would like to assure each and every dorm, as well as the day students, at least one delegate in the senate. Our present plan for representation often results in part of dorms not having a single senator.

These ideas are feasible and I firmly believe they could become realities if given dynamic leadership in Senate next year.

I sincerely hope that you will give me the opportunity of serving you next year.

Sincerely yours,
KARL EDWARDS

Dear Freshmen:

May 3, we will be voting for officers who can successfully carry on the student program next year. It is my opinion that experienced and hard working officers mean better school government.

I am seeking the office of Men's Sophomore Senator. I hope that my qualifications and platform will make me worthy of your support.

I am familiar with Senate functions having been representative to county and state Student Congress in both my junior and senior years in High School. I am a second semester Freshman in the University of Florida Session University is FSU at mid-term. I am also now active in journalistic work and became a founder and charter member of the Kwame Nkrumah organization, Circle K.

Since I have been at FSU I have turned my interest towards public speaking and have debated for FSU.

Based upon the above qualifications I am certain that I am capable of supporting the following platform which I believe will meet with your approval.

I. Establishment of a non-profit university dining room.

II. Student rates at local theatres

III Revision of women's rules that have outlived their purpose.

If elected I will try to the best of my ability to further the interest of FSU students.

Sincerely yours,
HARRIS LITWIN

Dear Freshmen.

It has been a great experience serving you in the Senate this year and working with you in our class projects. I hope you feel that I have served you in the way that you wanted to be served, for I have certainly tried to work for the things you wanted.

I can make you only one promise during this campaign. That is: If re-elected as your senator, I'll continue to work for you and to achieve the goals we have set for ourselves.

Remember Tuesday RE-ELECT HANK TO SENATE RANK.

Sincerely,
HANK McCANN

To My Fellow Freshman,

As in all political campaigns every effort is made to discredit your opposition. This may be in an attack on character, ability or as in my case lack of time to perform the job I should like to state here to my distinguished opponent that I will not only have the time to devote to the District Senate but I have the WILLINGNESS to take the time required to perform the duties of this office. In the past members of the Student Senate Team have been highly successful in political office. One look at the present roster of student government officials should convince you that I am qualified to serve you. I ask for your vote in order that the disbelievers can be proven wrong again.

Very Sincerely Yours
BUDDY REYNOLDS

Members of the Freshmen Class:

It has been a privilege to serve you in the Senate this year. Through your help I believe I have been able to give you the kind of service you wanted.

I hope you will give me the opportunity to continue to serve you by re-electing me as your senator. The experience I have gained in the Senate this year will enable me to accomplish our aims.

We have a great class and a great university. I am grateful for you to make them both even better

Sincerely,
BILL SWIGERT

Treasurer

Dear Juniors:

TUESDAY is YOUR DAY. The student body will vote for those people they feel are qualified to represents them as class officers.

You want and need a SENIOR CLASS TREASURER who is qualified and experienced to handle the finances of your class. Through the courses I have taken in accountans and business administration, such as dependability, punctuality, and sincerity, are just as important as the first. I feel that I have these personal qualities too.

Remember to cast your ballot for Ursula Lee Ashley and to vote for the entire Senior Class Officers.

Sincerely,
SALLY PUNSELL

Dear Sophomores

Tuesday, May 3, is the day you can choose those whom you want to represent your class in the coming year. Permit me to call this matter to your attention in which I have participated: I have competed in Varsity Track, Junior Prom, Sweetheart ball, played in the two FSU Symphonies and have written for the Junior year of the Flambeau. Through 1½ years of college I have maintained a 2.47 scholastic average.

My friends and myself would deeply appreciate your help on election day

Sincerely,
BRUCE JACOB

Dear Sophomore,

I know that you are concerned about what these coming class officers will accomplish. On next Tuesday—primary election day—you should certainly choose those that you know that you cannot afford to put back in office. The members of your class pick your next year's officers.

If you are to see the opportunity of holding the office of Junior treasurer, I will work to keep our class on a high level as it has been in the past 2 years. But that is not enough. It will be necessary to receive good management, infiltrate new ideas and to devote an unlimited amount of time in working with the other officers of our class.

I feel that I am qualified mainly because I want our class to assume its place and a greater participation of students in all junior class activities. In order to have this participation, a qualified vice-president with a sincere and enthusiastic interest should be elected in order to carry out the wants and needs of the members of our junior class. With this wholehearted objective in mind, I trust that you will consider the office of vice-president as a me-ner

Sincerely,
TOM SPECK

Dear Freshmen:

I'd like to take this opportunity to express my interest in this campaign and to solicit your support. I have had experience as secretarial Science, and most important an interest in the Sophomore class.

Remember the name SHIRLEY METZ for election day.

Sincerely,
SHIRLEY METZ

Freshmen:

I am Mary Louise Peacock, a candidate for Secretary of the Sophomore Class. I have served as Secretary of the Freshman Class this past year. I feel I have the qualifications to again hold this office. I know the duties and responsibilities of the Secretary and know how the business of the class is run.

Next year we Freshmen will be upperclassmen—this fact I am sure, is recognized by the capable leaders in the class officers. Since you, the individual members of the class choose the officers, it is important, that you remember on May 3 and second, that you assume to examine the candidates qualifications thoroughly. Your support in the last election was great, the turn-out more than it has previously been. Freshmen, I would again appreciate your support and consideration of my candidacy at the polls this Tuesday.

Thank you.
MARY LOUISE PEACOCK

Dear Freshmen!

This Freshmen year has been great, even though it was a little difficult at first for us to realize that we were finally in college.

Our year has really been successful but I think it can be even more successful next year if we become Sophomores. The newness of everything will be over, and we can really get to work in our class on bigger things.

That is what I would like to help do — put the Sophomore Class right on top—by serving as your Sophomore Class Secretary. Due to my past experience in high school as Secretary of Tri-Hi-Y, member of the Honor Society, and a member of the Treasurer's staff, I feel I have the qualifications to help make this the best class yet.

The office of Treasurer is one under consideration. Competency, capability, and a sincere desire to serve are essential for carrying out the duties of this office to the utmost.

I feel that, with your support, I can fulfill each of these requirements and your consideration on Tuesday will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
SARAH JANE GRIFFIN

If not "I'll see you around the campus."

Very sincerely,
CAROLE DAILEY

Dear Freshmen,

I am seeking the Vice-Presidency of the Sophomore Class for the coming year. I sincerely desire to serve you in this office and I feel that my high school experience in student government qualifies me for the job. I would appreciate your vote on Tuesday.

Sincerely,
GLORIA JOHNSON

Memorandum: To: The FSU Freshmen
From MARIANNE SCHMALZ

Subject: Class Elections
Tuesday May 3, 1955
Note: If you need posters or masking tape, see me.

Seeking: Sophomore Vice-President
Qualifications—Good Desire—Drive

Enough said. The rest is up to you, the voters.

Thanks
MARIANNE SCHMALZ

Women's Senate

Dear Senior Classmates:

In the coming election, I am seeking the office of Senior Women's Senate. In the past I have served as your Sophomore and Junior Class Secretary and Senate Secretary on numerous committees for our class.

I am interested in Senate work and I am familiar with the duties and functions of this office. I would appreciate your consideration and support.

Sincerely
BEBE BISBEE

Classmates and Friends,

As you may know I am campaigning for the position of Senior Women's Senator, but I prefer to think of it not as being a Senator but a Representative — your representa-

(Continued on Page 4)

Sincerely,
NANCY CUBBON

To the Sophomore class:

Everyone has an equal hand in student government! At election time you put into office the persons who you feel will represent your interest in school and as an individual. Each campaign starts off with the assurance of five o'clock and millions of smiling faces are placed in every conceivable place. The end of the campaign is slightly different. You, the keeper of the vote go to the polls to make only one small mark. It's up to you who you want for Senate. I hope you will think I am capable of filling the job.

Sincerely,
BENNIE JO COZART

To the Sophomore class:

Everyone has an equal hand in student government! At election time you put into office the persons who you feel will represent your interest in school and as an individual. Each campaign starts off with the assurance of five o'clock and millions of smiling faces are placed in every conceivable place. The end of the campaign is slightly different. You, the keeper of the vote go to the polls to make only one small mark. It's up to you who you want for Senate. I hope you will think I am capable of filling the job.

Sincerely,
BENNIE JO COZART

Women's Senate

(Continued from Page 3)

Dear Sophomores

Two very important considerations in choosing an officer to lead you are whether they are interested and willing to serve. These two are prerequisites that even overshadow previous "experience" especially since previous experience can prove unsatisfactory.

My willingness to serve has been evinced through consistent interest. During the last month I have been attending Senate meetings so that I could better understand its workings and problems as well as to capture an intelligent perspective of the problems of the student body.

I am seeking the office of junior women's senate because I am aware of your needs and feel that need is part of my duty to the student body.

While working on Rat Court and sophomore council with students in my class and others, I have derived great pleasure from serving and LEARNING. I hope that through logical deduction you decide to place your trust and faith in me by electing me to the office I desire. I can promise nothing but a continued interest and willingness to serve—this is the only factor that can determine whether I'll serve you well or not.

Sincerely
BARBARA HUGHES

Sophomores

The humerous eye-catching streamers and hand bills which are so familiar to us at this time of year are evidence, certainly, that spring at FSU does turn student thought and interest to "politics." The green and white posters which bear the slogan, "Sims for Senate" are no exceptions. They are evidences of my interest in student government.

If you chose to place your confidence in me Tuesday when you select your three junior women senators, I can only promise that I would strive constantly to be deserving of your trust. My actions would be governed by your needs and desires, and you could be assured of my perennial interest and enthusiasm.

Sincerely,
GRETA SIMS

Fellow Classmates,

New Freedom! Many of the student regulations are a hold-over from F S C W. These regulations should be revised to meet the more progessive and social needs of the students in this university. These revisions should be proposed next year.

The best qualifications one can offer for Senate are an acute mind, initiative, and an abundance of school spirit. I offer you all of these and more. I want very much to be able to serve you as your Senator next year. If elected, I will remain open to discussion and suggestion at all times.

Let's all get out and vote next Tuesday. And when you're marking that ballot remember—if you want progress, vote "Zorbie."

Sincerely
JOAN ZORBAUGH

Dear Fellow Freshman,

I am again seeking your help and consideration in next week's election. I am seeking re-election as Senator of the class of '58. I have served you faithfully this year as your senator. I have served on the Senate Social and Recreation Committee and the special committee to study a change in the method of Senate representation. I introduced a bill to put suggestion boxes at various places around the campus, a part of this year's Student Party Platform which was passed. I was co-author of a bill to protect student interests in representation in the Senate which has not as yet been acted upon. I am seeking election on the Student Party ticket. I hope you will consider my qualifications and service and see fit to re-elect me to the Student Senate next year. Thank you.

POLLY ATWATER

Dear Fellow Freshmen,

In just a matter of weeks we will be Sophomores. As Sophomores we will want to contribute greatly to our university by carrying on good student government.

As a candidate for Women's Senator, I seek this office with a sincere desire to work for you in promoting better government. Since experience is of utmost importance in student government work, I present to you the following qualifications:

1 Now Freshman Senator
2 Senate Finance Committee
3 Vice President of Reynolds Hall
4 Past National FHA President

With these are also my will to work for the good of the students and to represent you faithfully.

Your support will be greatly appreciated. Thank You.

Sincerely
LIZ CERNY

Dear Student Body

I hope each and every student of FSU will use his voting privilege on Tuesday, May 2. It is our responsibility to vote so that the correct person is placed in our class and government offices. This person must exercise every faculty to represent and aid the students. As Freshman Women's Senator, I have, to the best of my ability, helped the students by working on legislature for Rat Court, being a member of the Judicial and Rules Committee and the Freshman Class Cabinet, solving problems of women students as a senator in Women's Senate, and investigating the National Students Association.

I would appreciate your consideration of re-electing me as a Sophomore Senator. I would be a pleasure to serve you for another year.

Sincerely yours
PETEY DUNN

Dear Fellow Student

As a candidate for Sophomore Senate, I am happy to have this occasion to acquaint you with my qualifications.

I did not run for an office at the beginning of the year, because I wanted to become more familiar with the operations of the student government. After doing so I now see the need for a number of changes to effect them.

While in high school, I was secretary of the junior class, a member of the National Honor Society, editor of our school paper and annual, a delegate to drama and journalism conventions, and secretary of the Akron Junior Tuberculosis Board.

Since being in college, I have a 2.4 average and am corresponding secretary of the Newman Club.

I have lived in three states and this enabled me to meet and know many types of people. I have a much better idea of their likes and dislikes than I would have had I remained in one place.

I hope you will seriously consider my qualifications on election day, and I will try to do my best for you.

Sincerely
NANCY DVORAK

Dear Voters

Tuesday, May 2, you will be given the opportunity to elect three representatives to Sophomore Women's Senate. As a candidate for Senate, I would like to give a few of my qualifications.

1 Alpha Lambda Delta
2 Vice-president of Broward Hall
3 Student Government Funds Committee

Because of my interest in better government I have become a member of the politics Club. Being a pre-law student, I not only take an active interest in government but also take courses relating to government.

As voters, it will be your responsibility to study the qualifications of all the candidates and elect the ones you feel are best qualified.

Sincerely
JAN KAMINIS

Dear Sophomore Class,

What are the qualifications for a Senator? To be conscientious, to be capable, to be responsible. To have the time to devote to her position as a Senator. To be a willing and hard worker. To have contact with the students of the campus, to take a sincere interest in their activities and ideas. To be whole-heartedly concerned with the student government and its functions. To want to devote all her time for the benefit of the students as their representative in student government. To have some past experience in campus affairs.

These qualities are desirable in a Senator. I hope that I may represent a few of these qualities. My past experience includes two years of Student Council in high school. Since I have been at FSU I had the privilege to be elected Vice-President of Broward Hall. In this position I have numerous responsibilities. I have come in contact with many students, and I hope that I have shown a sincere interest in their activities and ideas.

It is my sincere aim to help and put forth the ideas of the students on campus. With these qualifications in mind I hope that you, the Sophomore Class, will consider me for one of the positions in Women's Sophomore Senate.

Sincerely yours,
MELANIE PAULETTE

Men's Honor Court

Fellow Students,

I am running for the office of Senior Men's Honor Court. This is an office I am very much interested in as I am now a member of the honor court and know well of all its problems.

As to my qualifications, I already have one semester's experience behind me as a member of the honor court. During my high school days I was a member of the honor court for two years.

Work on an honor court is not new to me as you can see. If elected I will do the best of my ability to uphold and if possible even raise the standards of the honor system here at FSU.

Thanking you for any consideration you may give me on election day, I remain,

Sincerely,
LON HATTON

Women's Honor Court

Dear Students

Honor, they say, is high-minded character and principles or a fine sense of one's obligations. I too believe this and think it is something we as students should all strive for.

To serve YOU well following these standards and ideals is what I would like to do on Women's Senior Honor Court.

Although this is the first year I've been on the campus here at FSU, being a transfer from a Junior College in Virginia, I feel my previous experience will help me greatly in the office of Senior Honor Court. President of the YWCA, assisting in Student Council, student counselor and being emcee on the local radio program have proved time and again to me exactly how important it is to our generation to take stock of themselves, our principles and our ideals.

I have enthusiasm and also a sense of responsibility for wanting to serve this campus as well. I hope you will give me that opportunity by electing me to Senior Honor Court.

Sincerely,
JEANIE CADENHEAD

Fellow Students,

Tuesday is the day to elect your officers for next year. I am sincerely interested in holding the office of Junior Women's Honor Court. I will do everything within my power to fulfill the duties of this office.

Be sure to vote Tuesday and don't forget to keep Vivian Bernheim in mind for Junior Women's Honor Court.

Your truly,
VIVIAN BERNHEIM

Dear Students,

I am a nominee of the Student Party for the office of Junior Women's Honor Court. Since high school I have been interested in working honor systems of various colleges throughout the country, and I have done debating on the subject. When I came to Florida State University as a freshman, I took the honor code seriously and I have continued to take it seriously. There is a great truth that applies to Florida State University's honor system. "A chain is only as strong as its weakest link." Yes, the honor code is also only as strong as the students who uphold it. I would like to have the opportunity to help strengthen our campus in this respect. I would like to see freshmen and upperclassmen understand the honor code thoroughly and realize fully the obligation and responsibility which they assume under our university honor system. Therefore, when you go to the polls on Tuesday, remember, I wish to serve you in the office of Junior Women's Honor Court.

Sincerely,
SUSAN LINEBAUGH

Dear Fellow Students,

I am seeking the office of JUNIOR WOMEN'S HONOR COURT. I would like to take this opportunity to acquaint you with my qualifications for this office.

This year I have served on the Student Faculty Honor Committee which was instrumental in revising the Honor System. I believe in the Honor Code and I am sure we can make it a working reality on this campus.

As a freshman I was elected as one of 82 Sophomore Council members and have served as treasurer of this organization. Working on Sophomore Council has made me aware of our campus government and its many functions.

This year I have served as a floor chairman of my dorm. In this capacity I have learned to understand the rules and regulations of women students.

In closing I would like to remind you to vote Tuesday. Vote wisely and choose your officers carefully.

Sincerely
POLLY SWAIN

Men's Judiciary

Dear Students,

I am running for Senior Men's Judiciary on the Student Party ticket in the coming election. I would like to take this opportunity to ask for your vote and support in my campaign.

I feel that Student Government is made more effective by those who are sincerely interested in the welfare of the students themselves. I am seeking a position on Senior Men's Judiciary because I have this interest.

If elected, I will try to serve you, the students, to the best of my ability and make your problems my problems.

Your consideration of me for this office will certainly be appreciated.

Sincerely,
SAM ALDERMAN

Fellow Students,

Men's Judiciary needs liberal minded hard working leaders. I pledge myself to work wholeheartedly on behalf of the greatest good for the greatest number of students. Since the student courts control a vital part of student life I feel that nothing is more important to you as a member of the student body than a student judiciary, which is managed by and for the students, with justice fairness and understanding for all.

Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

Yours truly,
"BREEZY" DREYFUS

Fellow Freshmen,

In asking for your support as your Sophomore Men's Representative to Judiciary, I feel that if I am elected I will do my best to reward your confidence in me with just, and up-right service. I will support the Student Party Judicial system to my fullest ability for I fully believe that it will benefit you, the students.

Remember! May 3rd is voting day and I would appreciate your vote.

Sincerely
BILL "SHAD" McKEMIE

Dear Students,

I would greatly appreciate your support in my race for Sophomore Men's Judiciary.

Not many of you know me, since I transferred to FSU from Stetson this semester, but I was active in campus politics there. During my one semester at Stetson I was elected Dormitory Representative to the Student Council, and I was actively interested in high school student affairs.

If elected I pledge to support the State Party platform to the best of my ability and thus to promote the interests of the student body as a whole.

Very sincerely,
KEN WHITE

HELP SESSIONS

Schedule for help sessions sponsored by the FSU Scholarship Club is as follows:

Monday, Science; Tuesday, Humanities; Wednesday, History; Thursday, Mathematics. All help sessions will be held in room 404 Education Building from 7 to 8 p.m.

Women's Judiciary

Dear fellow students

I am seeking election to the office of Senior Women's Judiciary. I have served on Judiciary in an appointed capacity during this 1955 Spring semester and last semester served on House Council in Bryan Hall, therefore, I feel that I am familiar with the duties and responsibilities of this office.

I would appreciate your consideration of me as one of your three senior women representatives to Judiciary.

Sincerely
JEAN MORGAN

Dear Students:

Our student government rests in the hands of the officers you elect. With this idea in mind, I would like to acquaint you with my name. SUSAN QUARTERMAN FOR SENIOR WOMEN'S JUDICIARY. I feel that this is one of the most important positions in our student government, since it is concerned mainly with disciplinary action towards our women students. Broadmindedness and integrity should also be considered as the main qualifications of which I feel worthy. It is for these reasons that I am seeking your support in this coming election.

Sincerely
SUSAN QUARTERMAN

Dear Fellow Students,

Tuesday you will vote for the people you believe are best qualified for the jobs they are seeking. I would like for you to consider me, JUNE McMANUS, for Junior Women's Judiciary.

I was elected last year to Sophomore Judiciary and have served conscientiously the whole year. I have taken each case which has come before the court as an individual one and have judged it the best I knew how.

The reason I am running for re-election is that I am sincerely interested in Judiciary and plan to continue working hard on the court.

I thank you for the trust you had in me last year, and hope you will vote for me again this year.

Sincerely,
JUNE McMANUS

Fellow Students:

So many handbills, so many candidates you don't know who to vote for. May I place my name before you. I am WILMA SUE FAGEN, and I am running for SOPHOMORE JUDICIARY.

I have had experience in the judiciary field. As Vice President of Bryan, I serve on House Council, in which I have become interested. I am in Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary, and I have a 2.8 average. I am on the Tally Ho Staff, and I was Invitations Chairman for the Freshman Carnival.

I would appreciate your consideration in the May 3rd election. Above all, be sure and VOTE.

Sincerely,
WILMA SUE FAGEN

Dear Fellow Students,

From past experience I have learned that an effective letter is one that is short and to the point. Since I would like this letter to affect you in a very positive manner, I will get down to "brass tacks."

I am running for Sophomore Judiciary and would like to have your support. A few of my qualifications are:

1. Dormitory House Council
2. Social Chairman Broward
3. Organizations Committee
4 2.39 over all average.

If I am elected, I promise to make you a loyal and efficient representative.

Sincerely yours,
MARTHA GRIZZARD

Dear Fellow Students:

Elections are here again. This time when you vote you are voting for people to represent your own class for the following year. As a candidate for Women's Sophomore Judiciary I feel that I possess the qualifications to do a bang-up job for you all. By this I mean I am dependable, fair in judgment, capable and interested in working for you, and with you, to make Florida State University even better than it is now.

So please remember when you go to the polls on Tuesday to elect Joan Harmon, your Women's Sophomore Judiciary member.

Sincerely,
JOAN HARMON

Dear Friends,

As one of your candidates for Women's Sophomore Judiciary, BARBARA JEAN "B. J." LITTLE I would like to tell you of some of my qualifications. I have held the office of Treasurer of the Freshman Class, and as Vice President of Reynolds Hall. I have served on our dormitory house council. These past responsibilities, I believe, have given me an adequate background to serve you in your best interests. Remember—everyone in the student body votes on members of Judiciary. You may elect three men and three women from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes. I ask that you consider all your candidates carefully and choose them on the basis of qualifications and abilities.

Above all be sure to VOTE!!

Sincerely yours,
BARBARA JEAN LITTLE.

Dear Students

I am GARY L... McATEER and I... SOPHOMORE W... JUDICIARY. I h... well qualified f... since I served o... Council of my I... I also worked in... activities.

I am truly d... job of serving y... and if I am ... tainly serve to th... of my ability.

Remember GARY ... McATEER for SO... WOMEN'S JUDIC...

Thank you
GARY LINDA McAT...

Social Chairman

Dear Freshmen

As a candidate ... Chairman of t... Class I fully ... sponsibilities ... my past exp... qualified to ... Sophomore Soc...

When you ... Tuesday, remem... gang — they'r... HATTON'

Sinc...
BETTY HATT...

Dear Freshmen

I'm sure you've ... saying "All work ... makes Jack a d... is with life here a... one likes to have ... rounded, and I'd ... make each and ... more's year a h... order to do this I ... your help before I ... help you. By hel... VOTE on electio... ber the name BE... HORNER for SOCIAL C... MAN of the SO... CLASS when you ... polls

BETTY FAYE HORNER

The perfume ... comes from wh... self and arises from ... oil which the plant p...

FREE to college students

- 16 pages — fu...
- Covers atomic ... subs and aircraft ... nium production a... power plants for ...
- For your free bo... General Electric ... 2-119N, Schenecta...

Letters To

(Continued From Page 2)

das, and rested easy in the assumption that we were going to make our mark on the campus scene. However, after questioning the Elections Committee, we discovered that our party's name had been denied a place on the ballot. We were relegated to dismal ranks of the "independents," with all its politically disastrous connotations. Above all, we did not want to be Independents! What's the future in that, forsooth? Have we not seen Independents fall by the wayside in every election? We wanted security, organization, UNITY! Hoorah!

Immediately we set out to discover how in a limited space of time (approximately ten minutes until the ballots were typed) we could get a decision on the legality of our party? Were we violating any statutes? Where we out of hand? Had we goofed?

But, alas, there was no one to whom to turn. Innocently turning, as little lost sheep, to our protective and benevolent student body officers, we were repulsed. We became entangled in an administrational merry-go-round. From the Elections Committee we were shunted to Attorney General Dave Kennedy, who passed the buck to Pat Thornton, Secretary of Organizations, who referred us to Coyle Moore, Vice-President of Men's Affairs, whom we have not found yet. All honorable men, by God, but not too helpful.

By this time I had withdrawn from the election, which may have bene my smartest move of the year, but I was still curious as to the intricate workings of the democratic system on campus. Finally, taking things into my own hands I entered the President's office as a law-biding student, and finding nobody there, took for myself a copy of the elections code. Shucks, it was easy.

There I discovered, alas too late, that "a group of students may be recognized as a political party by submitting to the Secretary of Elections, during the time set aside for Declarations of Candidacy, a statement setting forth "the title, the chairman, the candidates, the method of nomination and finance of the party. (Elections Code, Article 707-2.

I bring this to the attention of future generations. Now all of you who read this are at least better informed than four of our illustrious campus officers, and should therefore join the great campus rat-race and run for office. It's easy. Organize. Throw off your lethargy you have nothoff your lethargy, you have noth-

CON HORN

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," ...)

THE GIFT HORSE

Many of our friends will soon be graduating. What kind gifts should we give them?

Here is no simple question. It is never simple to find gifts ... people who have everything, and college students, as ev... knows, are the most richly endowed of mortals. They've g... beauty and truth. They've got rhythm. They've got stout he... willing hands, and a clear vision that dispels the miasmas ... future as the morning sun sears away the last wisps of a ... night's fog. They've got heaps and heaps of money, as who w... not who has been receiving such a huge allowance over ... years of schooling?

What can we give them that they don't already have?

One infallible gift for the person who has everything is, ... course, a stethoscope. New models, featuring sequined ea... and power steering, are now on display at your local ... supply house. Accompanying each stethoscope is a gift car... this lovely poem.

When you hear your heart beat,
When you hear it pound,
Remember me, your buddy,
William Henry Round.

If, by some odd chance, your name does not happen ... William Henry Round (you're laughing, but it's possible) ... is another dandy suggestion for the person who has every... — a gift certificate from the American Bar Association.

These certificates, good at your local lawyer's, come in ... convenient sizes: small, medium, and large. The small ... covers title searches and writs of estoppel. The medium ... covers torts, claim jumping, and violations of the Smoot-H... Act. The large one covers kidnapping, murder, and barra...

If, by some odd chance, you don't know what barra... (you're laughing, but it's possible), it is arson at sea. This ... esting crime is called after Cosmo "Bubbles" Barrat, a ... in the British navy during the last century, who was addic... burning his ships. One man o' war after another fell vic... his incendiary bent. The Admiralty kept getting cross... crosser, but every time they called in Captain Barrat ... scolding, he would roll his big blue eyes and tug his furelo... promise faithfully never to do it again. Oh, butter wo... melt in his mouth, that one!

So they would give him another ship, and he would soon re... it to a scattering of charred spars. He burned more than 12 ... ships before he was finally discharged as "doubtful ... material."

After his separation from the navy, he moved to Vienna wh... he changed his name to Freud and invented Scrabble.

But I digress. I was listing gifts for the person who has ev... thing, and here is another one. This gift, in fact, is not only ... persons who have everything, it is also for persons who have nothing, for persons who have next to nothing, for persons ... have next to everything, and for persons in between. I re... of course, to Philip Morris cigarettes. Here is the cigare... for everybody—for everybody, that is, who likes a mild relax... smoke of fine vintage tobacco in a handsome brown pack... that snaps open with the greatest of ease. For those, if ... there be, who like dull, nondescript tobacco in a package ... requires a burglar's kit to open, Philip Morris is definitely the wrong gift.

Among the newer gifts that warrant your attention is a revo... tionary development in the enjoyment of recorded music. Th... is the Low-Fi Phonograph. The Low-Fi, product of years ... patient research, has so little fidelity to the record you put ... it that if, for example, you put Stardust on the turntab... Melancholy Baby will come out. This is an especially welcome gift for people who hate Stardust.

Finally there is Sigafoos Shaving Cream, a brand new k... of cream that makes whiskers grow in instead of out. You ju... bite them off in the morning.

©Max Shulman

To Max's suggestion to give PHILIP MORRIS for graduation, the makers of PHILIP MORRIS, who bring you this column, add a hearty amen.

The STATE PARTY Is the STUDENTS' PARTY

I. THE STATE PARTY PRESENTS ITS PROGRESS REPORT:

1. A State Party Senator introduced a measure in Senate to give student organizations 100% profit on fund raising projects. Succeeded in getting 50%.
2. A State Party Senator introduced a resolution in Senate to revise "cut" system pertaining to holidays.
3. A State Party Senator introduced a resolution in Senate for creation of five new parking lots.
4. A State Party Senator sponsored original idea of buses to Auburn football games.
5. A State Party Senator was author of the optional Health Insurance Plan for students.
6. A State Party Senator represented FSU at the National Student Association in Ames, Iowa, this summer.
7. The State Party Sophomore Class President organized this years' successful rat court and an excellent Sophomore-Freshman day.
8. The State Party Junior Class President introduced original idea of Greek and dorm representation at class meetings.
9. The State Party Senior Class President organized ceremonies for Investiture and for the annual birthday party for President Campbell.

II. THE STATE PARTY PRESENTS ITS PLATFORM:

1. We favor an FSU Student Government charter from the State Legislature.
2. Some method should be devised whereby students are able to get a fair return on books which are not to be used again.
3. We advocate a re-examination of the Honor System with a view toward reinforcement, revision, or revocation.
4. We favor a reorganization of the court system.
5. We oppose compulsory university housing for men students under 21 years of age.
6. We favor more effective and representative organization of the day students.
7. We favor revision of the Funds Regulation so that student organizations may retain 100% of profits realized from any funds-raising projects they may undertake.
8. We favor revision of women's rules that have outlived their purpose.
9. We strongly urge the installation of some pencil sharpeners around campus for student usage.
10. We advocate installation of student phones in Westcott and and in the History Building.
11. We favor the establishment of a non-profit university dining hall.
12. We favor a minimum of 75c per hour for student employees.
13. We favor revision of Fraternity and Dormitory rent according to facilities.

CHAIRMAN'S LETTER

Shortly before his death in 1830 Simon Bolivar, the Liberator of South America, in a moment of despair after seeing the political disunity and disintegration of the newly formed independent countries made the declaration, "Those who served in the Revolution have plowed the sea."

Yet history has to show that the efforts of Bolivar and his followers were not in vain, that the purposes for which they fought here were in the end, fully realized. Yes, those who served in the Revolution did much more than plow the sea.

Perhaps, in the recent student body elections, there were some of you, members and supporters of the State Party, who felt that you too had been plowing the sea.

Losing is not a pleasant experience, and the State Party did lose, but that does not mean that our causes and candidates were unjustified.

It means simply that we are young, that we are bucking the inertia behind an established party, that we must increase our energies and efforts in defiance of the one party system.

Yes, if we are to have a true two-party system, we must increase our energies and efforts and work together. A minority opposing a majority must always begin at a point of weakness. This fact is obvious for those who stop and think before reaching a decision or opinion.

We are still the minority. But, let us not forget the Great Democracy in which we live so we may realize that the minority of today is very often the majority of tomorrow.

Do you want a party system or do you want a party? I'm sure you prefer the first. Let's all join together and fight together. Most of us realize what we are up against and most of us can see the many obstacles which lie in our way. We can not overcome these obstacles individually or independently, but we can and we will overcome them by working together. "Only when we join forces will we obtain results."

Below the State party presents its past accomplishments, platform, and candidates.

Yes, this party is the Students' party.

Fred Mansfield
Chairman

III. THE STATE PARTY PRESENTS ITS CANDIDATES:

CLASS OFFICERS

SOPHOMORE
President Bill Weaver
Vice President Don Noot
Secretary Shirley Metz
Treasurer Paula Parsons
Social Chairman Vicky Walter

JUNIOR
Jim Moore
Bruce Pacetti
Pat Hilton
Ruth Henshaw

SENIOR
Dick Bittner
Ann Murray
Tina Stahl

SENATE

MENS
Sophomore Hank McCann
Harry Litwin
Senior Fred Mansfield
Gordon Gaster
Gale Porter

WOMENS
Sophomore Reba Rehwinkel
Emma Dexter
Mary Waller
Junior Nancy Cubbon
Joan Zarbaugh
Senior, Ann Yeoman

COURTS

JUDICIARY
Mens Sophomore: Jim Webb
Ken White
Breezy Dreyfus
Womens Sophomore June Sills
Patty Wagner
Gary Linda McAteer
Junior, Irene Rodriguez
Jan Davis
Senior: Betty Gooch

HONOR COURT
Womens Junior: Vivian Bernhiem
Mens Junior: Tom Barrows

TRAFFIC COURT
Sophomore Sandra Moore
Junior Terry Barrows

IF YOU APPROVE OF THE ABOVE POSITIVE REPORT WE WOULD APPRECIATE YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT FOR THE STATE PARTY CANDIDATES IN THE FORTHCOMING CLASS ELECTIONS.

FRED MANSFIELD
Party Chairman

IRENE RODRIGUEZ
Recording Secretary

LISKA AURANO
Corresponding Secretary

CLARE BEVIS
Treasurer

THIS IS YOUR STATE PARTY

Eleven Seminole Basketballers To Receive Varsity Numerals

All 11 members of Florida State University's 1954-55 basketball team, which compiled the best record in the school's history, will be awarded varsity letters, Coach Bud Kennedy has announced.

The Semlooles surprised by winning 22 of 26 games, including the first Florida Intercollegiate Basketball Conference title with a spotless 10-0 record. FSU also woo the District 25 NAIA playoffs and advanced to the second round of the 32-team national NAIA tournameot before bowing to Beloit.

Eight of the 11 lettermen will return next season, three of them starters. Ham Wernke, FSU's all-time scoring leader from Batesville, Ind.; Rick Benson of Maitland, and Tommy Burst of Bateville, Ind., will graduate.

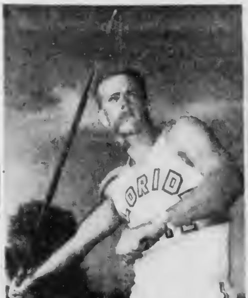
Wernke and Benson are four-year lettermen.

Other lettermen are Dick Artmeier, Clarksburg, Ind.; Jimmy Geier, Economy, Ind.; Wayo Patton, St. Louis, Mo.; Fred Twamey, Gloucester, Mass.; Booby Waits, Jacksonvile, Bob Williams, Covington, Ind.; Gary Wold, Madisoo, Wis.; Ed Wursbach, Daytona Beach, and James Harrell, manager, Bainbridge, Ga.

Freshman numerals will be awarded to Tommy Garcia, Darryll Mahoney, Vernon Mathias, Billy Payne, and Paul Ramey.

The Seminoles currently are in the midst of spring drills and Keonedy is devoting most of the time to defense, both team and individual.

Jordan Agrees



(Contined from Page 1)

the history of our country. It is essential in the world today."

Another solution to the problem as seen by Dr Joidan as a world citizeo, rather thao a history professor, would be "to set up and get university backing for a history examination which would be given to eotering Freshmeo. The test would consist of both European and American History and the students would be graded oo each part separately.

"If the studeot did better on the European section of the exam, he would then take History 165-166 for his History requiremeot. On the other hand, if he did well oo the Americao History of the test, he could take History 101-102 for his credits in History. In this case, the studeot would know something about the history of his native land in either case, and he would graduate with a considerable knowledge of the basic facts in the history of America."

Vote
Next
Tuesday

Two of a Kind—Two Seminole athletes sparking their respective teams, are Ron Weaver, left, junior javelin specialist from Kansas City, Kansas, and Riley Seevers, freshman outfielder who is batting .463 for the Tribe after 17 games. The FSU trackmen engage Loyola here tomorrow while the baseball team travels to meet the Georgia Teachers today and tomorrow away and then moves to Athens Monday and Tuesday to face Georgia's Bulldogs.

Seminole Tracksters Face Loyola Tomorrow On West Campus Oval

By LARRY HOUNTHA

The Seminole speedmerchants, currently enjoying what may well turn out to be the best track season in the history of FSU, will risk their record of three straight wins in a dual clash with the Loyola Wolfpack tomorrow. The 4th annual meeting between the schools is slated to get underway at 10 a. m. on the West Campus oval and marks the only home appearance of the Indians this season.

So far the Tribe has dropped the decision to the Wolfpack at each meeting since their rivalry began in '52. This year however, FSU has what appears to be the most powerful squad in its history.

The Seminoles, under the leadership of the affable Mike Loog, have trounced Mercer 101-32, won the State AAU from the favored U. of F., and just last week handed Georgia-Ga Tech an impressive licking in a triangular meet.

Earlier in the year the thinclads also scored in the ACC Indoor Games and the Florida Relays.

Loyola however, is no pushover and boasts one of the strongest independent squads in the south. Just how strong they are can be seen from the results of last year's meet in which they won seveo firsts, set records in the mile run, mile relay, 100 and 220, and scored in every event.

Another indication of their strength is the fact that they placed high up on the list of team scores in the Florida Relays.

"Loyola is definitely one of the strongest teams in the South. However, it will be a close meet which I think will be decided by the mile relay." That was what Indian sprinter Joe Davis had to say wheo quizzed on the outcome of the meet. Warren Strickland, pole vault ace, was of this opinion: "They will undoubtedly be the toughest team we have faced so far, but I believe our depth will give us the edge."

In either case the meet is sure to be a real thriller and all loyal FSU rooters are urged to attend and cheer their team on.

Probable FSU entries:

100—J. Terwilliger. 220—J Terwilliger; 440—C Watson, K. Segner, M Hillegas; 880—C. Watson, K. Segner, B Osterhoudt, 1-M—V. Duce, D. Thomas, 2-M—V Duce, J Harrell; 120 H.H—T Brown; 200 L.H.—J. Davis, T. Brown; B.J.—Davis, C. Fraundorfer; H.J.—T. Brown, L. Lassen, J. Browning; P.V.—W. Strickland, C. Grenn, P Ramey; Shot—C. Fraundorfer, J. Jacobs, M. Smith; Disc—C Fraundorfer, R Grenn, J Jacobs; Jave.—R Weaver, J. Harrell, M. Smith; Mile Relay—J Terwilliger, M. Hillegas, K Segoer, C Watson.

Phi Beta Kappas To Hold Initiation Banquet Monday

Phi Betta Kappa will hold an Initiatioo Banquet Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Suwannee Room with Dean Sidney J. French of Rollins College as guest speaker.

Initiation ceremonies will be held beforehand in Longmire Auditorium. Members to be taken in from the classes of June and August, 1954 and of January, 1955, are, Michael D Doran, Gould C. Garcia, Eugene Lawler, Alan C. Sundberg, and Sandra A. Tyler. Seniors to be initiated are Arnold F. Becchetti, Phoebe A. Jackson, Peter L. Nimkoff and G. Donn Teal.

Theta Chi's Top Pi Kappa Alpha In Campus Golf

Theta Chi defeated Pi Kappa Alpha in ao 18 bole contest last Wednesday, April 26th, to wio the intramural golf championship.

Doc Cunningham and Skip Hibbard first defeated Phi Kappa Phi in the first round, then Alpha Tau Omega in the quarter finals and Kappa Alpha in the semi-finals to win another intramural trophy for Theta Chi.

The basketball championship and trophy were woo earlier this year.

Fletcher Gets

(Contined from Page 1)

with law or its purpose. (The Studeot Senate is currently considering a bill to adopt the bulk of the former Studeot Body Coostitution into the charter as by-laws.)

(2) Make and enter into all cootracts necessary aod proper for the conduct of its business.

(3) Do all and everything oecessary and proper for the accomplishmeot of the objects eoumerated in its certificate of incorporation or oecessary or incidental to the beoefit and protection of the corporation, and to carry oo any lawful business oecessary or incideotal to the attainment of the objects of the corporation whether or not such business is similar in oature to the objects enumerated in its certificate of incorporatioo.

Powers such as these, said Flatcher, should cause student government to become "reasonable politics. I say this because its corporate powers should be used with discretion so as oot to lose the charter," he said.

Fletcher declared that, under the charter, "It might be that the Senate could get the unreasonable women's rules revised or rescinded so that our women will become 20th Ceotury creatures."

Fletcher gave credit for work of others done in obtaining the charter. "I think that the student body really owes a vote of thanks to Senator E. William Gautier, his legislative assistant Andy Rhubottom, and John McCarey of the Attorney General's office for their valuable assistance and advice, without which I never could bave secured the charter," he said.

The Dissenter

(Continued from Page 2)

as unwarranted meddling with their parties, but such meddling is neither unwarranted nor unfair.

The United States Supreme Court, for example, has ruled that the parties are basic cogs in the election machine—consequently, they are not closed, private organizations, but important, public ones.

This applies to the campus as well. The parties are going to have to realize they can't have their cake and eat it too. If they want to be a part of the elective process, they will have to assume the responsibility—and the regulation—that keeps governments from degenerating into feudalism and eventually anarchy.

Etcetera Etchings

(Continued from Page 2)

tion, but as an assistant in the Radio News Laboratory of the School of Journalism.

Last semester, I took an evening course in television and try as he would, Mr Daniel Wozniak, the professor of the group, couldn't describe what television was to a few people. They'd never seen the stuff. You'd think there'd be a television set around, but there wasn't.

This year a lot of "radio-television" people will be graduating. Some will go on to graduate work, some will go into teaching and others will go into the professional ranks. Can these "radio-television" graduates truly attest to a good broadcasting educatinn? Certainly allied fields like journalism, drama and the such are interesting but the full extent of their teaching usually has to come out of class. Can a student with radio teaching at FSU measure up with knowledge as much as a studeot in radio at Michigan or even little Western Reserve in Ohio. Can he eveo measure up to the University of Miami and now the University of Florida. Don't make me regurgutate.

DELTA SIGMA PI

New ioitiates of Delta Sigma Pi are Herb Josephs, John Schill, Charles Scarbrough, Eual Smith, Stan Smith, Dave Bichard, Duggar Palmer, Bob Wright, Bill Pfeiffer, Al Wilson, Bob Morris, Gordon Merrims, Bob Sommer, Ed Wooton, and Marrin Arrington.

Twelve Members Of Swimming Team Earn 1955 Numerals

Twelve members of Florida State University's undefeated 1955 swimming team will receive varsity letters, Coach Bim Stults recently announced.

Sporting a perfect dual slate since January, 1953, the Seminoles rao their victory string to 21 in a row this season with triumphs over Texas A&M, Georgia (twice), Southern Methodist, Georgia Tech, and Emory.

FSU, which has a glittering all-time swimming record of 44 wins against only 11 losses (.800), also claimed the Florida AAU title this season. The Seminoles don't lose a man from this year's squad.

Lettermen are Keo Abbott, Birmingham, Ala.; Joel Jacobs, Hollywood; Jim Julian, Jacksonville; Don Lewis, Daytona Beach; Bill Ponder, Ocala; Dick Rhotoo, Mooreatown, N. J.; John Risher, Highland Park, Mich.; Graham Teschke, Cleveland, Ohio; Ernie Stock, Royal Oak, Mich.; Norm Shipley, Kansas City, Mo.; Mike Tschirret, Toledo, Ohio; Earle Peterson, manager, Hallandale.

High School Trackmen Here For Regional

Five Northwest Florida high school track teams gathered here today for the Group One Class AA and A regional eliminatioos.

Florida State University will host the one-day event which is expected to draw more than 75 prep athletes from Leon of Tallahassee and Pensacola in Class AA and Live Oak, Sopchoppy, and Chipley in Class A.

Today's winners will compete in the state meet at Gainesville May 7.

The meet, set for FSU's West Campus track, starts at 2:30. No preliminaries are scheduled. Group coaches, however, will meet with FSU track coach and meet director Mike Long at 11 a.m.

Leon, Northeast Confereoce and Fletcher Iovitational champioo, looms as the AA favorite. The Lions already owo a decisive dual victory over Pensacola. Another Northeast Conference entry, Live Oak—is the Class A choice.

Classified

TO SANDSPUR CAST—Pictures are available at a small cost to you of 15c per print 3x5. Contact Rodger Herndon, Box 654.

Salt is used in steel mills to break scale oo plates in rolling.

Something 'New' Has Been Added For Softball Teams

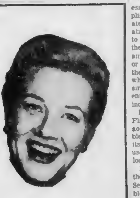
Somethina new nas been added to the sport of softball for both the Fraternity and Dormitories. Any team from either league who wishes to play the Tallahassee Correctional Institute may arrange a game with Mr. Williamson, the Head of the Intramural Department.

These games will merely be for the eojoyment of the prisoners and the students, and there will not be any sort of a league nor will there be any trophies presented. Games will be played on Mondays and Thursdays at 5 p. m. at the Institute.

Playing in the initial game Thursday were the Pirates of West Hall. They are currently leading the Dormitory League in softball withh a 5-0 record.

Sparking the Pirates in their quest for the league championship are Gordon Cox, the ooly undefeated pitcher in the league; catcher, Ray Carlton; 1b, Mika Conly; 2b, Gus Sardinha; 3b, Ron Prater; ss, Lloyd Frierson; Rf, Carl Lofstrom; Lf, Dale Gallegher; Cf, Buddy Elliott, captain.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES



FLORIDA	STATE
Today & Tomorrow	Today & Tomorrow
"CAPTAIN LIGHTFOOT"	"MAN WITHOUT A STAR"
ROCK HUDSON	KIRK DOUGLAS
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TODAY & TOMORROW	TODAY & TOMORROW
"TAKE THE HIGH GROUND"	"DESPERADOS"
RICHARD WIDMARK	WAYNE MORRIS
—plus—	—plus—
"DOWN THREE DARK STREETS"	"MASSACRE CANYON"
BRODERICK CRAWFORD RUTH ROMAN	AUDREY TOTTER

RITZ—TODAY & TOMORROW
"BEACHCOMBER"
SUNDAY & MONDAY—"GIRLS MARKED FOR DANGER" mom's the word

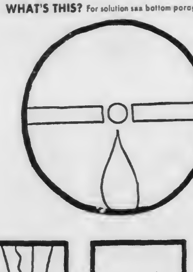
Mother's Day, Sun., May 8

and MAYERON'S

Will Free Gift Wrap and Wrap for Mailing! Don't wait—do your shopping now while stocks are at their peak. Come see our wonderful selections of:



- GOWNS—Short, Long, Medium
- PAJAMAS—Shorties or Regular
- SLIPS—Cotton or Nylon
- COSTUME JEWELRY
- HOSIERY
- BLOUSES
- SKIRTS
- SHORTS
- T-SHIRTS
- HANDBAGS
- BILLFOLDS

MAYERON'S
The Fashion Corner   College Ave. at Adams

TO SELL USED BOOKS VISIT
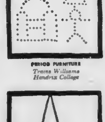
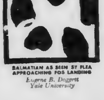
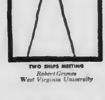
MALONE'S BOOK STORE
"Everything for the Student"
107 S. COPELAND

LUCKY DAY! MORE LUCKY DROODLES!



WHAT'S THIS? For solution see bottom paragraph.





BOY WHO HAD FIVE BALLOONS
Martha L. Mednick
Northwestern University

PERIOD FURNITURE
Travis Williams
Hendrix College

DALMATIAN AS SEEN BY FLEA APPROACHING FOR LANDING
Eugene B. Doggett
Yale University

TWO SHIPS MEETING
Robert Grimes
West Virginia University

STUDENTS!
EARN $25!
Lucky Droodles* are pouring in! Where are yours? We pay $25 for all we use, and for many we don't use. So, send every original Droodle in your noodle, with its descriptive title, to: Lucky Droodle, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y.
*DROODLES, Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

YOU GET MORE deep-down smoking enjoyment from Luckies than any other brand. The reason, plain and simple, is that Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. You'll enjoy the Droodle above, too; it's titled: Three on a match—Luckies, of course. Whenever smokers put their heads together, they agree you can't match a Lucky for flavor. Come light-up time, enjoy a better-tasting Lucky yourself!

Better taste Luckies... LUCKIES TASTE BETTER ...Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

©A. T. Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Sweeping Court Revision Co-Introduced By Twenty Student Senate Members

Kennedy Plan Would Eliminate Single Unit

By STAFF WRITER

A sweeping revision of the University court system drawn up by Attorney General Dave Kennedy was co-introduced by 20 Senators in Senate Wednesday.

Main changes to the present set-up answers constant complaints by students that the courts, especially Women's Judiciary, have treated students unfairly. Under the new set up, only twelve members, six men and six women (two each from the junior and senior class) will compose the court. And these twelve members will act as a unit doing away with the favored women's judiciary.

Appointed Members

A startling proposal from vice-president Caster, and seconded and defended by Senator Jean Halford and Kennedy caused the senate to refer the amendment to the special session on Monday. Caster declared that with the power the courts will now have, it was imperative that the best possible students be members of the court. "I think that the court members should be appointed by the Student Body President and approved by Senate," he proposed.

Main Provisions

Main provisions of the bill are: providing for a chairman of junior or senior standing with a year's experience on a university court; a clerk of junior or senior standing with not less than a year of experience on a university court; twelve members to act as a unit, as explained previously.

The move also asks that the clerk keep all records assume duties of chairman, cause all decisions to be known to the student body, and give all records to his successor.

Provision is made in the bill for a clerk pro tem to assume duties of clerk when clerk acts as chairman

A special provision made is that the concurrence of seven judges or of six judges and the chairman shall be necessary to render a decision effective.

Appeals are dealt with as follows: "The appeal shall be accepted and acted upon by the court receiving the appeal within one week time of the date recorded on the docket prior to a regularly scheduled vacation, in which case, the court shall act upon the appeal as soon as possible."

SOPH COUNCIL TAPS 91 FROSH

Between 11 and 12 p.m. 91 Freshmen women were tapped for Sophomore Council Wednesday night. These girls were chosen by their classmates for qualities of leadership and service.

Those tapped were, Charlotte Abney, Judy Abramz, Velma Ackerman, Betty Addison, Jane Albert, Linda Arnold Polly Atwater, Sue Barnette, Betty Benton, Marty Bethune, Ella Jo Bilinski, Kay Bishop, Jackie Boudet, Pat Boulware, Lavie Bowden, Jeri Bradfield, Elaine Brewton, Glenda Briscoe, Patty Brice, Jean Campbell, Mollie Carroll, Joan Cassidy, Liz Cerny, Barbara Chambers, Lurre Coker, Carol Collins, Betty Cox, Bobby Craig, Lucy Crossland, Kay Crutchfield, Mabel Dake, Martha Douglas

Linda Dubose, Catherine Lunn, Perry Dunlap, Sue Dunwoody, Nancy Dvorak, Wilma Fazen, Sue Ford, Gina Franceson, Mollie Fritchie, Jean Gandolfi, Gayle Gardner, Chris Gimocchio Liz Graves, Nancy Jane Griffin, Sarah the Gilnard, Peggy Greene, Prudna Hass, Joan Harmon, Pat Harris, Sheryl Minson, Matilda Hume Mary Jackson, Glorida Johnson, Ann Johnson, Jan Kaminia

Karen Kampel, Jeani Kitchener, Barbara Latimer, Myra Lay, Jane Lewis, B J. Little Charlotte Lutz, Gloria Mahaffey, Nancy McCartney, Lala McDonald, B J. McFee, Martha McGinnis, Joyce McRae, Patricia Harley, Mary Margaret Meadows Shirley Metz, Sara Mickens, Mary Ann Miller, Beverly Odom, Patsy Pascias, Gloria Patrick, Mary Pearce, Beverly Perkins, Kay Pieper, Charlet Pottevint, Sue Purvis, Nina Rebrovitch, Robbie Schaley, Betty Sheppard Sue Shives Mary Ann Sinnet, Ethel Smallman, Patsy Stewart, and Suzane Stokes

Senate Takes Firm Stand On Review

Gatlin, Gaster Challenge Act By Committee

Student Senate Wednesday, in spite of the daze produced by the electrifying news of the Student Body Charter, managed to conduct some business sanely.

Hushlabed with motions to refer two constitutional amendments as special business at a special meeting Monday afternoon, the Senate also took a definite stand against faculty interference and discussed issues that had been referred previously to the baker University authorities

In perhaps the firmest stand of the year, Senator Keo Gatlin and vice president Gordno Gaster challenged the administration to further any efforts to prevent the Senate from presenting to the Student body for ratification a bill that would give freshmen the right to hold office in the Summer Council.

The faculty review committee, however, approved the proposed constitutional amendment that had arisen over the representation question. The students may now elect whether the Senate should incorporate into the statutes the method of electing senators, where it is now written in the constitution they wished as long as they could remove up a two thirds majority.

Also passed by the faculty review committee was a recommendation that the student activities be allocated $13.10 for students entering their freshman year the 4,000 mark. Presently, the student activities funds only allocates for student use fees collected from 4,000 students, while the university claims a fulltime enrollment of approximately 5,200.

Pencil Sharpeners

Vice-president Coyle Moore read the Senate a letter from FSU Business Manager Rod K. Shaw, explaining delay on action on pencil sharpeners, car washing facilities, one way streets, additional outlets from Student Center parking lot, and paving roads.

Shaw's letter admonished the students' body for immature public property, saying that of pencil sharpeners previously provided, all that remained were "the holes made by the screws." He challenged the students to improve their attitudes, declaring that until they did they need not expect the university to rush into new expenditures.

—Sonny

Conradi Theater Will Feature Mexican Movie

Appearing on campus on May 2-3, Monday and Tuesday nights in the Augusta Conradi Theatre at 6 p.m. will be a top-notch Mexican full length feature, which will be open to the public and which is being sponsored by Los Pizarro de Loye de Vega.

"Mexican Bus Ride" "Subida Al Cielo," its Spanish title won first place in the Cannes Film Festival in Cannes, France July, 1952. It is directed by a famed Spanish director, Luis Bunuel.

The movie is reputed to be rich in character drawing and local color. Bunuel has utilized the tropical coast near Acapulco to produce a regional novel with overtones of symbolism.

The film presents universal types. There is the mother, a tough peasant woman, who is dying; the good son, recently married, and two psychopathic, bad sons who scheme in a ferocious and disorganized manner, to get the inheritance.

Hero Leaves

The mother begs the good son to have her will drawn up in a neighboring town, away from the influence of his brothers. She wishes to leave some property to her only grandson. The good son sets out on a bus trip which is a race with death. The characters on the bus form a village. There his mother has human comedy as it rolls just died, and the shadow of through the tropical country- death.

side.

Of course the good son is interstered and distracted by "Evil" is "Evil" to be outvitted." The in the form of an exciting ending of the picture is lovical wrench, played with great style and ingenuous.

By Lila Prado. She does her best Pizarros has extended an invitato delay his return and to make tion to the public to attend the him forget his bride. Being hu- film showing. The feature will man, he almost does. be in Spanish with English sub-

But because he is also a good titles. man, he finally goes back to his

Election Notes

This is the first Senate-Class-Court elections in FSU history in which all candidates have the required scholastic point average. Usually at least several have to be declared ineligible to run because of grades.

* * *

Gold Key's political rally beains Monday night at 8 in the Music Building Amphitheatre. All candidates have been invited to speak at the annual event. Even if a large portion don't make campaign speeches it will be a huge affair.

* * *

State and Student party members have warned their candidates to include the $1 and $1.25 respectively they paid for party expenses on their expense statements.

* * *

The State Party has planned a get-together of its candidates before the political rally. It will be held in Longmire Auditorium beginning at 7 p.m.

* * *

The Student Party will hold a meeting at 7:15 in the Men's Day Students Lounge in Longmire Building for its candidates Monday night before the rally

* * *

Sally Fussell is running for Senior Class Treasurer, independently—hes Senior Class Social Chairman as previously reported.

* * *

Conrad Horn has withdrawn from the race for Senior Men's Honor Court.

* * *

The political rally Monday night will be rebroadcast by WFSU-FM at 10 p.m. the same evening. Speeches of candidates running in the Tuesday elections will be heard The rally itself starts in the Music Building Amphitheater at 8 p.m.

Students Asked To Sign Petition On Grid Battle

Senators Vote Down Required Football Game

Gautier Says Legislature Is Not Concerned

The State Senate turned thumbs down Tuesday on proposed legislative requirement of an FSU-UF football game.

A tight vote of 19-15 defeated a bill offered by Senator James Connor of Inverness to require the two institutions to establish athletic relations in all major and minor sports.

Sen. Connor amended the original bill when it came before the Senate to provide that any resultine football games not interfere with existing contracts or commitments, and that the games be played under Southeastern Conference regulations. It was further stipulated that Florida State University give the University of Florida the same financial deal the Seminoles now have with other SEC teams the mention was made of Gator contract requirements.

Bill Fails

The move failed even as amended Main opposition seemed to be from Sen. R. B. Gautier, who declared that the Senate had more important matters to handle than whether the two state universities should play football.

Gautier took the floor after Sen Harry King of Dade questioned whether the institutions were not being "coerced" into the football deal and asked if poor relations would not result from legislative interference in their negotiations.

Senator Carlton of Wauchula said he did not believe the motion was coercion, as Connor had said both universities were in agreement

The Miami senator told the senators he didn't like to inject himself into the argument, but added.

"It seems to me it is not the place of the legislature to undertake measures to tell the athletic directors of both schools they have to take action of the future University of Florida, as most of you know, has to play a certain number of Southeastern Conference games.

Medford, Stancil Ask Senate To Back Plan

Rules Opposes

Student Senator passed the quest for the petition unanimously with the exception of Senator Jim Soles, who maintained that it was not the business of the legislature to judge the grid battle.

"I am in favor of no competition, I can't see any benefit forcing a football game we get rivalry off on the right footing." Soles asserted

Senator Stancil's remark that at least ten states have similar legislative acts brought about a chuckle from the crowd. "Most people in the world are democracy, but that doesn't mean I'm for slavery."

Vice president Caster took exception with this declaring that it was not their student senate business to determine what the legislature should do "Actually they do have the right to force" Caster said. Woodruff assisted Soles to saner." Caster declared.

Dave Medford, a sophomore, revealed that senators that had spoken to Sen. Stratton and Conner, both of whom are known to be vitally interested in the football rivalry question.

"They have promised to bring the bill up again and we have asked them to send at least 2,000 signatures with hem tos ns to let them know the extent that the demand them.

"If its not enforced" Medford said he did believe the motion was coercion, as Connor had said both universities were in agreement

The Miami senator told the senators he didn't like to inject himself into the argument, but added.

"It seems to me it is not the place of the legislature to undertake measures to tell the athletic directors of both schools they have to take action of the future University of Florida, as most of you know, has to play a certain number of Southeastern Conference games.

Soles Opposes

A tight vote of 19-15 defeated a bill offered by Senator James Connor of Inverness to require the two institutions to establish athletic relations in all major and minor sports.

Sen. Connor amended the original bill when it came before the Senate to provide that any resultine football games not interfere with existing contracts or commitments, and that the games be played under Southeastern Conference regulations. It was further stipulated that Florida State University give the University of Florida the same financial deal the Seminoles now have with other SEC teams the mention was made of Gator contract requirements.

Bill Fails

The move failed even as amended Main opposition seemed to be from Sen. R. B. Gautier, who declared that the Senate had more important matters to handle than whether the two state universities should play football.

Gautier took the floor after Sen Harry King of Dade questioned whether the institutions were not being "coerced" into the football deal and asked if poor relations would not result from legislative interference in their negotiations.

Senator Carlton of Wauchula said he did not believe the motion was coercion, as Connor had said both universities were in agreement

The Miami senator told the senators he didn't like to inject himself into the argument, but added.

"It seems to me it is not the place of the legislature to undertake measures to tell the athletic directors of both schools they have to take action of the future University of Florida, as most of you know, has to play a certain number of Southeastern Conference games.

It's All Greek

Intramural Challenges Seeping Into Greek Festivities For Time Being

By PAT BRADY

Intramural sports are seeping into Greek festivities in the line of softball, swimming tennis and golf, but state days and weekends still predominate interest.

Theta Chi wins intramural golf championship from Pi Kappa Alpha's . . . Doc Cunningham and Skip Hibbard defeated Pi Kappa Phi, ATO, and Kappa Alpha to win trophy.

Delta Zeta entertains Phi Delts . . . ulaus "Jungle party" . . . tropical palms and bamboo decorated game and dance rooms but "bop" decoumatration given by DZ Cavalier and Coulinos members . . . banana splits won hearts of the boys.

Laura Lee Alexander, Alpha Delta Pi, came in second in the after dinner speaking contest. . . . ADPi's will attend state day in Orlando this weekend.

Bob Andrews new Commander for Sigma Nu's . . . installation held last Monday . . . Howard Louie—Lieutenant Commander, Harvey Davis—Recorder, Hoke Grant—Treasurer, Willie Smith —social chairman, and Dave Taite—Pledge Trainer

Phi Delta Theta's start weekend with party at Silver Lake . . . formal dance at Wasulla lodge . . . picnic at coast.

Phi Mu convention held in Sarasota . . . Mrs. Lester Robinson, past president of District I, elected new District Alumnae Director. . . Nancy Graham, Melinda Brown, Tina Gifford Sue Ann Eastwood Lisa Reno, Barbara Essig, Cathryn Rhodes and advisor Mrs. Francis Munson attended . . . PSO chapter received awards for scrapbook, most outstanding scholarship in District I for past two years and outstanding pledge . . . Theodore Apple is the most outstanding active . . . Dr Vernon Fox and wife were chaperons . . . games and more games at Blue Sink on Saturday afternoon . . . square dance Bermuda shorts party, and steak barbecue held at "Delta Shelter" that night. . . Chicken boxes at coast party Sunday.

Theta Chi sweetheart to be picked at formal dance during Weekend . . . barbecue dinner, informal games and movies this Friday . . . dance at Legion Hall . . . music by Ra-ens . . . Sunday, a coast party will be held at Wilson's Beach . . . Jerry Haag, Don A Salsberry, and Jack and Gene Stringel—are pledges . . . Albert "Dutch" Voll recently initiated . . . Theta Chi's entertained by Pi Phi's with a "zacky" party . . . classical comedy skit . . . fashion shows . . . They have but one thing to say—THANK YOU PI PHI'S!!!

Jo Holt started the Alpha Tau Omega's long weekend off with a visit to the infirmary . . . something about coke bottle . . . broken . . . oops-sip—cut! . . . Wednesday night—combo party . . . Orchid Formal and presentation of ATO sweetheart, Friday night . . . Saturday will feature a trip to Panama City for a beach party . . . buffet dinner at house this Sunday.

Alpha Gamma Delta captures biggest honors at Panhellenic Scholarship Banquet . . . trophy for the highest scholarship of sororities on campus and trophy for highest pledge average . . . Alpha Chi Omega received trophy for most improved scholastic average from last year . . . Chi Omega . . . trophy for the intramural championship . . . Mrs M. F Nimkoff, guest speaker.

Nancy Vaughn, Kappa Alpha Theta, reigned as Queen over the Delta Tau Delta's Rainbow Ball this past weekend . . . music by Ravens . . . Peggy Wright, Delta Delta Delta and Ruth Schramm, Alpha Gamma Delta, were maids in the court . . . Hank Taffe received award for most Winner of the Alpha Phi Omega Ugly Man Contest was Sonny Tilus, picked by the Alpha Delta Pi's. Taking second place was Jack Schlosberg sponsored by Gamma Phi Beta while the third place went to Tom Ehrhardt sponsored by Phi Delta Theta. Profits of this project amounted to $200 and will be used to purchase AM and FM radios for student use in the infirmary.

Tom

Jack

CERTIFICATION
Measure
In House, P. 2

The Florida Flambeau

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

VOL. XL, NO. 48 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA TUESDAY, MAY 3, 1955

Senators Commit Charter To Group For Further Study

Solons Pass On Publication Amendments

BY MARTIN DYCKMAN

Student Senate last night refused to put Student Government on the chartered corporation which was formed by eight students recently.

The argument which caused the senate to refer the charter back to committee for further study was over what could be no additional powers under the charter other than those which Student Government now has.

Attorney General Dave Kennedy explained what he said was the opinion of professional barristers, that the corporation's only power will be "to sue and be sued."

Kennedy said that all power residing in the function of the corporation is broadly delegated to the Board of Control by the Legislature and then by the Board of Control to the president of the senate.

Under law, the corporation could not assume powers delegated by Legislature to other authority.

"This is a first step and could be developed," Kennedy commented. "I don't want you to be under the impression this is some way which it is not."

He said Bruce Fleischer, student body president, "has been given a lot of credit," but claims the proposal should have gone through the Student Senate first, then through the President of the University.

Sentiment Against

Senate sentiment was clearly against accepting the charter as it came from the start. Fleischer pointed out in answer that the legislation would have certain powers not included in a corporation bookstore as one of these could be one the Senator doubts whether the charter would need change to at dent-administration relationship.

Separation is still in order," declared Fletcher.

Senator Hans Tews called it an improvement over what we have now.

A motion by Senator Simmons to table the proposal to put the government under the corporation and seek a charter independent from the Board of Control university administration moved into the action when the entire deliberation ceased. A special committee set up at the Senate meeting on Members of the committee are Senator Student Body President Jim Nimkoff, vice-president Coyle Cox, dorm's vice-president Gordon Gunter, Senator Jimmy Bond, and attorney general Kennedy.

Classes Publication

The Senate, which was holding special session, had previously been wrangling over the method of Publications amendment to their bill passed by before it students was vetoed by president Doyle Conner.

Editors of the Florida Flambeau, Smoke Signals and Tally-Ho would be non-voting members the proposed Board under the Senate action. Three students would be elected at large from the Board by the senate, subject to confirmation by the Senate. The Board would elect a chair there would have two elected from the Student and the three editors would have two voting members.

The Senate apparently accepted arguments insinuating that the editors should not have voting power on a board whose duty would be to keep tabs on their operations.

The elected members would be junior or senior standing, a scholastic average and either semester hours at the 200 level or above in the school of journalism or two semesters' experience on student publications. A movement to increase latter requirements to one semester failed by one vote.

Another change in the original motion would provide for two of three non-student members to be elected by Faculty Senate. The third would be the Dean of Student Welfare, who would be a permanent member.

Another major change, the one which stipulated that the duties of the board would be one for student members to be elected by the entire board.

Impeachment

Another proposal not included in the final plan would provide for impeachment of student Board of Publications members in the same manner established for other elected officers. Such procedure is initiated in Senate and before the Honor Court.

The meeting closed after heated debate over whether students should sign an honor pledge on each of written work. This measure was originally included in the Student Government Amendment bill some months ago, but was cut when Senators and members of the students would vote for the entire amendment because of it.

Sidney French

Stand Alone, French Tells PBK Initiates

Dean Sidney J. French of Rollins College told new members of Phi Beta Kappa that learning for learning's sake is the essence of "Coming of Age" at the group's annual initiation banquet last night.

Speaking in the Suwannee Room, Dr. French quoted Adlai Morrow Lindbergh's view that "This is the essence of 'coming of age'—to learn how to stand alone."

He said that this does not mean a person should learn to be aloof or to live in isolation, but that he should set aside for a moment in the midst of education and turmoil to view and review what lies before us in order to reach our own responsible decisions.

Decisions

The ability to make a decision, said Dr. French, "is something more than a gift; it is something we must learn through errors, fumbling and failure."

In college life he continued our decisions are largely self-directed "Beyond ourselves they affect only a small circle of students and friends. They do not introduce the element of deep personal involvement.

"As we move beyond the doors of college into a world dominated by the order and traditions of the classroom and campus," Dr. French said, "our decisions increase in complexity come to affect a larger and larger circle of individuals."

Education Not Enough

He said that decisions are the highest order of human behavior, and that education should help a person in his striving for that ability "It can never give us the answers," he added "These we must seek in the final analysis."

Continued on Page 4)

Particular Goals

Leaders Give Views On Parties Affect Courts, Classes

BY OSCAR JOHNSON

One boast often spent on support of the party system is that a party organizes a group of elected officials to strive for particular goals But how does this affect the Class and Court systems here? Should a court support one set of goals over another? Are party objectives can class officers work toward?

A less than enthusiastic support of party participation in Class and Court elections was found last week by statement of the two parties in answer to such questions.

State Party Chairman Fred Mansfield did not attempt to justify party influence in the two elections but based his argument on the view that Class and Court candidates give the parties a helping hand in their growing stages. That "helping hand" outlook Mansfield phrased as follows:

"Maybe eventually the parties can get out of Class and Court elections, but at the present time that would just be taking away good candidates who would be strong supporters of the party There are 43 class officers and four court members to be elected, which is over half of the number elected in this election now.

"If we take all these people out of the parties' hands while we are still building the parties, they would be disastrous to the two-party system."

Another Angle

Graham Carothers, Student Party chairman, let it from another angle. He said that class officers are in his opinion more administrative in their activities than political. "Therefore," he continued, "it seems to me that they should be free from party control.

"However, I sincerely believe that the Student Party has selected for the most part, the most qualified students for these jobs," he stated. "They profit, then, by the party's political opinion of the Student Party in obtaining these officers.

The Courts

"The court system is, by virtue of its function, composed of students who should be unbiased and free from binding obligations. However, the party strives to permit the court official entire freedom in his decisions.

"In this way," Carothers said "the court system" it seems to gains the benefit of party contacts with a minimum of control."

Mansfield (State) could find no reason to support party activity in Class and Court elections except to build strength. "We cannot build a party system on this campus by taking away from it," he emphasized many times. But he held to a personal opinion that parties might eventually be able to get out of these areas when they are "strong enough."

He said he intended to bring the matter up at the meeting of the State Party's Executive Council next year before the Class and Court elections and that it decide whether it would be advisable to oppose party participation in the two fields.

Delegates Will Decide

"Their actions will decide whether or not we will recommend a favorable or unfavorable report on this matter to the convention delegates," Mansfield said "They will have to decide what to do as far as the State Party is concerned."

Student Party Chairman Carothers pointed out that the split opinion of the Student Party in obtaining these officers.

The Courts

"The court system is, by virtue of its function, composed of students who should be unbiased and free from binding obligations. However, the party strives to permit the court official entire freedom in his decisions.

"In this way," Carothers said "the court system" it seems to gains the benefit of party contacts with a minimum of control."

Mansfield (State) could find no reason to support party activity in Class and Court elections except to build strength. "We cannot build a party system on this campus by taking away from it," he emphasized many times. But he held to a personal opinion that parties might eventually be able to get out of these areas when they are "strong enough."

He said he intended to bring the matter up at the meeting of the State Party's Executive Council next year before the Class and Court elections and that it decide whether it would be advisable to oppose party participation in the two fields.

Eighth Annual 'Flying High' Set Wednesday

Admission Is 50 Cents; Plays For Four Nights

"Flying High's" eighth annual home production will honor members of the state legislature at the opening show Thursday at 8 p. m. in Dodd B. Campbell auditorium.

New acts and new scenery will highlight the 1955 extravaganza, according a crew member, a colorful Indian scene. an act entitled "Up Tip Time in Holland," Rades, and sophisticated sardeo maids.

There will also be the traditional and well-beloved clowns, with the "Frivolous" Ford, aerial acts on the trapeze and high wire, as well as the chorus lines.

"Iron-jawed" students will suspend their partners in air while others toss their teammates about in slide and acrobatic routines.

Each of the three performances, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings, will be open to the public. Although people from different sections of the state are urged to attend good co certain nights if possible.

Members of the legislature and Tallahassee will be the featured audience Thursday evening, while Governor Leroy Collins and Mrs. Georgians are asked to attend Friday. Saturday night's performance is for students and faculty members and the people living south and east of Tallahassee.

Prices for the circus are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children. An additional charge of 25 cents will be made for each reserved seat. For FSU students the price will be 50 cents, which will automatically include the ticket price to a reserved seat.

WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE.—"Flying High" members polish act for circus this week. "The Breakaway Trio" are Gale Port, and Dutch Martin, holding Sue Herndon, above.

Senate Passes Florida State Teacher Certification Measure

The Florida Senate last week passed and sent to the House a bill designed to force state universities to make courses available for all students courses which will meet the minimum requirements for state teacher certification.

The lone opponent of the bill was Senator Wilson Carraway of Leon County.

Sponsors of the bill said the state certification law actually requires students to take only 18 hours of courses in education. In order to be certified to teach in the schools of education, sponsors pointed out, have so arranged their curricula that in reality students usually find they have to take 40 or more hours in education, including one semester spent away from campus on internship, in order to get certified

Courses Repetitious

Senator Russell Morrow, Lake Worth, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, along with Senator W. A. Simonds of Gainesville, co-sponsor of the bill, said they had heard from numerous teachers all over Florida that the education courses they had been required to take were repetitious and duplicating

Florida universities give more education courses than can be found anywhere else except at Teachers College Columbia University Senator Morrow said.

Yet Florida is in the peculiar situation of having professors in its universities who could not themselves be certified to teach in the grade or high schools, he continued, because they did not take the sorts of courses required for certification in Florida.

Before Education Committee

Senator Morrow said the bill as passed by the Senate, and which is now before the education committee in the House, makes it mandatory for the universities to set up their curricula so that a student, no matter what his major, can obtain all the necessary courses to qualify for teach

A student who wants to major in English or Chemistry or some other subject would thus not be deprived of the opportunity to pursue his educational interests by the necessity of taking an extraneous number of courses in education, if the bill becomes law, he asserted.

The bill also gives subject matter departments equal responsibility with schools of education in the education of teachers

Democrats To Have Meeting Tomorrow

The Young Democratic Club of FSU will meet tomorrow in the Bellamy Lounge of Longmire Building at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will have a two-fold purpose, according to Dave Kennedy, president of the organization. One, it will choose nominees for the coming year and the other, to discuss the membership drive.

"All members of clubs on the membership drive should bring in their cards at the next record of new members," he added.

The prospective officers, nominated by the executive committee for the coming year are Bruce Fleischer and Graham Carothers for president, Jim E. Moore and Jim Soles, vice-president; Liz Cerny and Dot Washom, secretary; Ed Mann and Hank McCann, treasurer; Hans Tews and Simmons, committee chairman; Guy Millner, membership committee vice-chairman; Jim Soles and Jim E. Moore, publicity committee chairman; Dave Bentley, committee chairman; Lenore vice-chairman; Karl Edwards, speakers committee chairman; Lon Hatton, Ways and Means committee chairman; and Bill Sikes, Ways and Means committee vice-president. However, the membership may make nominations from the floor for any office, said Kennedy.

Plans are being made to have former Speaker of the House of Representatives, Farris Bryant, as guest speaker for the May 11th meeting.

Phi Kappa Phi To Hold Meet

On Thursday, May 12, at 5 o'clock p. m. in the Panel Room of the Longmire Building, the honorary society of Phi Kappa Phi will hold its annual initiation of new members

Following the initiation will be a banquet in the Suwannee Dining Room It will begin at 6 p. m.

All members of Phi Kappa Phi have been notified of the affair both meetings. Reservations for the banquet may be made by calling Mrs. Ruth Hawkins in the Department of Home and Family Life, or 214 Science Building. Telephone number is 3571.

Deadline for reservations is Saturday, May 7.

MORE SOPH COUNCIL

The following Sophomore Council tapp names were not available for publication in the last issue of the Flambeau. Susie Tope, Sarah Stancil, Linda Vasquez, Joyce Wraithcrup, Sara Whitting, Sylvia Wilson, Nancy Wier, Joan Wold Woods, Barbara Myers and Pat Zecch.

Prom Royalty Elections Are Next Thursday

Only Juniors And Seniors May Vote For King, Queen

Preparations for the Junior-Senior prom king and queen election are now underway. Elections will be held at Westcott and the Student Center Thursday, May 5, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The voting will be limited to Juniors and Seniors and they must present their ID cards at the poll, said Hans Tews, junior class vice-president.

They may vote for three Junior women and three Junior men and for four Senior women and four Senior men. The Senior couple receiving the highest number of votes will be the 1955 king and queen, with the three Senior men and women runner-ups in the court. Also, the three highest in the Junior class will be in the court.

Nominees

Those nominated for the court of the Junior-Senior prom are as follows:

Senior men: Bob Berto, Bob Canada, Pierre Cleary, Bill Greene, Harry Massey, Jerry Meyer, Charlie Miner, Ray Spears, Victor Spoto, and Richard Wagner.

Senior women: Lil Avis, Bonnie Baynard, Judy Billeb, Janie Cornwall, Mary Ann Council, Pat Dicke Marilyn Gessler, Peg Jo Grubbs, Mary Lou Harrelson, Joan Higgens, Nan Hillman, Jo Ann Hutto, Nancy Kennedy, Jo Ann Mauch, Betty Jo Miller, Betty Ann Mercer, Nancy Sossamon, Francis Stokes, Ann Williams, and Ann Yates.

Junior men: Bob Andrews, Tom Burst, George Christian, Warren Cobb, Bob Crenshaw, Al Davis, Edwards del Risco, Tom Ehrhardt, Bob Elliott, Joe Herbert, Bill Graham, Conrad Horn, Charlie Jacobs, Jim Joanne, Bill Plumb, Bill Smith, Hans Tews, Charlie Mixon and Ronald Weaver.

Junior women: La Veira Arrington, Skew Bolton, Mary Carolyn Branch, Audrey Carlton, Barbara Cooper, Lee Cooper, Barbara Dunlap, Lee Helvey, Deane Jackson, Shirley Kellum, Joan Lee, Sylvia Parish, Jayleen Robertson, Jane Sisson, Thea Stahl, Joan Tavel, Anita Tew, Ann Tillman, Barbara Yarborough, and Barbara Yost.

Scullions Hold Fall Elections

Wayne Shroyer has been reelected president of the "Scullions," departmental club of the music - recital hall supervisory department.

Other officers elected are Jack Kulser vice president, John Wood, second vice president, Bert Mendelson, treasurer, secretary. Bill Lundburg recording secretary, and Jack Hanson, sergeant-at-arms.

These officers will serve for the 1955-56 term. Appointed to standing committees were Eva Sass, social chairman, Rodger Herrdon, publicity; Lee Tiernan, periodicals; Ed Pabor, membership. Mark Wilson, historian, and Dr. Walter Mumford, ritual.

The next meeting will be held Thursday night in room 410 Longmire at 7:30 p.m. The end-of-the-year party to be held for the graduate students will be discussed.

Honorary Elects Alderman Prexy

The honor society of Phi Kappa Phi at Florida State niversity elected officers for the coming year at its meeting on Thursday, April 28.

The following officers were elected to serve for one year: Mrs. Nelda Alderman, president; Dr. Dwight Goodner, vice-president; Mrs. Azmyra Olvena, secretary. Mrs. Hortense Glenn, treasurer; Mrs. Marion Thompson, Journal correspondent.

FSU Music Profs Serve As Judges In Youth Auditions

Walter James, associate professor of music and Edward Rice, professor of music, attended the young artists auditions for the National Federation of Music Clubs

The biennial auditions held recently in Miami as well a $1000 prize or a town hall recital in New York City to each of the finalists. Mr. James and Mr. Kilenyi served as judges for the auditions

The contest was open to vocalists, pianists, violinists and string players.

Other judges were Rose Bampton, a Metropolitan Opera star and Saul Seinfeld, a pianist.

STARLITE SERENADE SLATED MAY 11

Among all the election posters there are posters which proclaim that a Starlite Serenade will be held on May 4 Correction please! The Serenade will be held instead on May 11 in the Amphitheater at 8:15.

Students To Elect Officials Today; Polls Close, 7 P.M.

Big Turnout Is Expected; Petition Set

Six polling places on campus will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. after which attention will focus on the Educational Building.

Here is where students may vote, says the Elections Committee—

•1: Landis Green near Landis Florida and Magnolia halls, staffed by Alpha Phi Omega.

•2: Bus Stop at rear of Westcott Building near the Library and staffed by Alpha Phi Omega -History Building in easy access

•3: Student Center, run by Sophomore Council.

•4: Seminole Club, by Sophomore Council

•5: Westcott Building, by Sophomore Council.

•6: West Hall, staffed by Alpha Counsel and Career Key.

•7: Education Building.

After voting ends at 7 p.m., ballots will be transported to the Education Building to be counted by IBM machine Students interested in the operation of the elections have in the past been drawn to the census of elections, and this year's 133 candidates may create one of the largest election crowds to be seen in the Education Building Results will be known in most races.

The Elections Committee said that all candidates for offices in the primary today must remove their campaign literature within 24 hours -Thursday at 7 p.m.— or be referred to Honor Court.

The committee also said that candidates elected today must file a final Expense Statement before receiving a certificate of election from the Secretary of Elections Copies are available at the Director's office in Longmire Building

A proposed constitutional amendment will appear on the ballot during the run-off elections. May 10.

FOOTBALL PETITION

Students today are being asked to put 2,000 signatures on a petition to the State Legislature asking the State Senate to vote again on a bill to remove football from athletics of Florida, football game.

The petition will be at all the polls but has been under the supervision of Student Senator Bill Stanley and Dave Medford. The two got petition approval from the Senate Wednesday with the dissention of Senator Jimmy Sales, who said forcing a game by "petition" was "privalry off on the right foot."

Stanzik, however, says he expects to get 2,000 signatures on the petition and it will be

Continued on Page 4)

Counseling Is Required Soon

Educational counseling for all students planning to return in either Summer or Fall semesters will take place soon.

Students are requested to discuss their schedules with their educational counselors. •1: Midsemester status. •2: Schedule for Fall semester. •3: Any changes on trial schedule forms to be processed by the counselors today.

Schedule for Fall which will be worked out on trial schedule forms to be processed by the counselors today.

For more details concerning the pre-registration procedures, the letter of explanation will be sent to students by the office of the Registrar.

Answers to questions concerning the same location, and office hours of educational counselors may be found by consulting the office of Coordinator of Counseling, 301 Westcott Building, or by calling Extension 3281 or 3281.

Herman Gunter

Gunter Directs Choral Union's 'Aida' Version

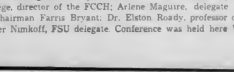
BY MARGARET MILLER

Verdi's famed Aida will be presented by the Choral Union in Westcott Auditorium May 12, 13 and 14 Herman Gunter associate professor of music, will direct the production and leading roles will be performed by Edris Kaup as Aida, and J. Dayton Smith, as Radames.

Understudies for the leading roles are Joan Nichs and Wendell Hilliard. Betty Jane Grimm will appear as Amneris, understudied by Carole Nydegger; Erich Evans as Amonasro understudied by Peter Peck; Herman Gunter as Ramphis understudied by Charles Fuller; Jack Kelley as the King and Th. McGinely, understudied by Bob Parrish, as the messenger.

Love Story

In the story, the slaveirl Aida is in love with Radames, leader of the Egyptian army To complicate matters, Amneris, daughter of the Egyptian king, also loves Radames and is determined to have him.



When Radames goes away to war against Ethiopians, Amneris kills Aida into revealing her love for Radames. Then Radames comes triumphantly home and brings with him many prisoners, including Amonasro, Ethiopian king and father of Aida.

Aida's father petitions the Egyptian king to spare the captives' lives. and in spite of opposition from Amneris and the high priest, he promises are free with the exception of Amonasro, who is held hostage. To the consternation of Radames and Aida, the Egyptian king declares that Radames and Amneris shall be wed.

Comes To Temple

In the third act, Amneris comes to the Temple of Isis to pray on the eve of her marriage. Aida appears to keep a final tryst with Radames Her father, however, intercepts and demands that she obtain from her lover the Egyptian plans of battle He sternly overcomes her objections, and on the arrival of Radames, she begs him to escape with her and also learns his military secrets. Amonasro, concealed nearby, then appears and declares that he has heard all. So had Amneris who also witnessed the scene.

Radames is tried as a traitor in the fourth act Here Amneris grovelies to save him if he will renounce Aida. He heroically refuses and is sentenced to die in a sealed vault beneath the Temple of Vulcan Aida, however, sneaks into the vault, and when it is sealed, Radames discovers that she is there to die with him

Clearing House -Speakers are l to r., Dr. Franklyn Johnson of Rollins College, director of the FCCH; Arlene Maguire, delegate from Stetson University; Chairman Farris Bryant; Dr. Elston Roady, professor of Political Science, and Peter Nimkoff, FSU delegate. Conference was held here Wednesday.

Vision And Technique

It is a rare day indeed when our ideals are realized in the political process.

Fortunately this happened one day last week when the Senate passed a bill designed to force state universities to make available for all students courses which meet the minimum requirements for state teacher certification.

The lone opponent of the bill was Senator Wilson Carraway of Leon County (we can surmise why he voted against the bill).

As is pointed out in our news story on page one today, schools and education have arranged their curricula that students usually have to take 30 or more hours, including an internship, in order to teach, even though our state certification law actually requires students to take only 18 hours of courses in education.

The bill enacted by the Senate will make it mandatory for universities to set up their curricula so that a student, no matter what his specialty, can obtain the necessary courses to qualify to teach.

Thus, as was pointed out by members of the Senate Education Committee, students who want to major in any other subject would not be deprived of the opportunity to pursue his educational interest by the necessity of taking an excessive number of courses in education.

This bill, we think, will help to create teachers that will have vision as well as technique. It seems we have pushed this technique theme too far; we have had "polish without purpose."

It appears that the pendulum is swinging back from the extreme where it has been resting far too long.

In the past we had teachers who possessed a thorough knowledge of their subject but lacked the necessary techniques to transmit this knowledge.

A teacher can have the most thorough understanding of his specialty but to what avail is this knowledge apart from his own benefit, if he is unable to share it with others? This was recognized by the proponents of schools of education, and so it became necessary to instruct teachers in the various techniques of communication.

But unfortunately the technique theme has become an obsession, and now we've turned out teachers who have the techniques of communication but lack the background and understanding of their subjects.

In the Senate measure it is recognized that we must return to the Aristotelian "golden mean" which leads us to see that vision and technique in education, method and content, must complement each other and are not mutually exclusive. It represents a movement toward equilibrium, in a not irreconcilable conflict between two extremes. It deserves unanimous support in the House.

A Non-Critical Institution

Robert Maynard Hutchins, chairman of the Fund for the Republic, and former president of the University of Chicago, had some very definite things to say about the press the other day in a speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington. Maybe some papers will sit up and take notice, but probably not. Mr. Hutchins said, among many things:

"You are the only uncriticized institution in the country. You will not criticize one another, and any suggestion (of criticism) * * * sets you muttering about the First Amendment."

"When the framers of the First Amendment had in mind was debate, with the people hearing all sides and getting all the facts. * * * The Founding Fathers did not foresee that 94 per cent of American cities * * * would be without competing papers."

"Of course we have a one-party press in this country, and we shall have one as long as the press is big business, and as long as people with money * * * feel safer on the Republican side."

"You are educators, whether you like it or not. You make the views that people have of public affairs. * * * As the number of newspapers * * * declines, the responsibility of each one that remains increases. * * * The people must see the alternatives before them; otherwise they cannot be enlightened."

Hic! Oops

Reports have drifted up this way that "feverish activity" has marked the preelection effort between "Dry" and Wet" forces in Wakulla County. And from the activity on the part of the Dry forces, one could be led to believe that if Wakulla citizens vote Wet a seemingly tidal wave of Old Overholt, Black and White and Canadian Club—all mixed into one —will flow over the county and engulf every one of its citizens, women and children included.

To combat this, the Drys have organized the Wakulla County Better Citizenship League. A report says its membership consists of every pastor and prominent citizen in the county. Which seems to us quite a forceful aggregation.

Open rallies have been held "in every corner of the county" morning, noon, and night, and today cars are taking Wakulla citizens to the polls.

All in all, it seems the Wets have hardly a chance, and everybody will remain sober in Wakulla County. Except the children. And children. That is unless somebody gets really desperate, and then he can usually get it regardless of bans.

Brownell's Alibi

Attorney General Brownell has now officially accepted the thesis that the Justice Department is the innocent victim of a Communist plot to discredit its stable of anonymous informants. Orating before the Chamber of Commerce, Brownell grimly warned that "the current violent attacks against government witnesses and the FBI's confidential sources of information has (sic) many of its roots in a Communist effort to stem the campaign against subversion."

It is obviously easier for Brownell to credit the Communists with this fabulous coup than to admit that the atrocious blunders of his Justice Department have created a national scandal.

No doubt the Communists relish any disclosures that indicate the frailty of our free institutions; they will mischievously exploit such news. But the storm over Brownell's bailiwick could never have reached large proportions if the Department had been more dedicated to justice and less interested in obtaining headline convictions at any price.

The real "roots" of the present uproar lay in the Department's persistent use of dubious witnesses whose record-setting words should have been sufficient to discredit them. The Matusow case was not unique. It was the climax to many earlier cases in which the record grew anxiety in the country about the whole structure of government by accusation.

It was a year ago that the Justice Department was finally badgered into investigating the possible perjury of Harold Crouch, then on Brownell's own payroll; there is no evidence, however, that the inquiry was ever pressed to a clear-cut conclusion. There were similar promises of a full-fledged study of Manning Johnson's unsubstantiated charges against Ralph Bunche, again no result of the inquiry has ever been published.

In the Lamb matter, still pending before the Federal Communications Commission, two government witnesses have proclaimed themselves perjurers. There has been no explanation of or apology for why their information was ever accepted as credible in the first place.

These and other affairs had stirred misgivings. And then, of course, came Matusow, whom the Justice Department cynically used long after his unreliability should have been apparent to even the dullest observer.

We search in vain for any sign that Brownell cares about the wrongs inflicted during his maladministration. His many has become a citadel of political demagogy. The Communists may have tried hard, but it is the Justice Department which has built up the real case against itself.

—The N. Y. Post

On Limited Warfare

Don'chs worry, honey chile,
Don'chs cry no more,
It's just a li'l ole atom bomb
In a li'l ole lim'ted war,

It's just a bitsy warhead, chile,
On a li'l ole tactical shell,
And all it'll do is blow us all
To a li'l ole lim'ted hell.

—Sec in
The Reporter

The Florida Flambeau

Bob Folsom, Editor
Jay Robertson, News Editor
Orchid Alonso, Mgr. Editor

Editorial Consultant ..... Philip Springer
Asst. News Editors ..... Oscar Johnson, Marion Dickman
Sports Editors ..... Bob Gutting, Dick Victory
Sports Staff ..... Alan Wainwright, Harry Bernard
Joe Caldwell, Business Mgr.
Assistant Business Manager ..... Irma Cox
Exchange Editor ..... John Hafford
Assistant Exchange Editor ..... Susan Hyde
Distribution ..... Members of Alpha Phi Omega
Telephone 2-8000, extension 6821
211, 213 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

"I Weep For You," The Walrus Said: "I Deeply Sympathize."

With Sobs And Tears He Sorted Out Those Of The Largest Size, Holding His Pocket-Handkerchief Before His Streaming Eyes Sketches

People I Knew

By DICK VICTORY

The field was filled with quick little creatures, ferret-like figures, who, wheeling from place to place, would bump into each other with the blindness and pre-occupation of ants, and also like their aimless counterparts would turn off without apology or ceremony, in a new direction—only to bump into somebody or something else

Jackie, their chief, hurried with the rest. He knew there wasn't any time to lose, the battle started as soon as Jackie was over, and the sun was almost directly overhead now. He expected to hear his mother's call at any moment. His puckered his step.

He ran from outpost to outpost, securing any protecting barriers that might be lying around out of place and from foxhole, checking their depth. Occasionally he stopped, and with a wide glance surveyed the battlefield—to be "then he would nod his head in a curious critical manner and drive his forces harder with pies here, a curse there. More often he paused and looked at the sky and took of the opposition on their half of the field but through the maze of brush, and trees he couldn't see them clearly and he had to leave their prognosis to imagination.

There was only one matter that bothered him the lack of a guy able enough to serve as look-out, a person that could climb up one of the highest trees and direct maneuvers. He had plenty of young, inexperienced kids he could spare—but he knew they weren't keen enough. He remembered that last battle he had picked little Gunner for the job and that it had been a big mistake. A couple of the enemy men had penetrated past their lines with hatchets. They had no way of how received word about his look-out strategy—from some dirty deserter, no doubt—but though not completely aware of his location, had run from tree to tree, chopping a little on each and yelling "timber!" Gunner, hours alert, upon hearing the chopping, had panicked and made hasty descent, swinging quickly from branch to branch and leaping the last eight feet to the ground. The enemy, with the look-out tree had outflanked his forces, bringing about the ultimate surrender with a volley of good-sized rocks that came flying down on them from the rear. Jackie puckered his lips pitifully and started vacantly in front of him. Only one thing, he thought, to do.

* * *

He had chosen a tree a little further back from the action than the last, but one that counterbalanced this by an exaggeration of height. He made sure his BB-gun was cocked, then strapped it to his waist and began pulling his way up to the first branch, which was quite a distance up. From the first limb it was easy to scramble all the way to the top, even through the thick layers of limbs he checked in his pockets to make sure that he had plenty of BB's, and then, squirming about until he was in a spot with a pretty view of the front, Jackie be prepared to wait for an opportunity to take charge in one way or another.

For a time he could hear the high-pitched voices, yelling with excitement and rage. First, in the distance, he would hear the cockcrow and firing of the guns. Then these would be some scurrying through the brush in advance or retreat.

The nose once pushed very close and he remained rigid, sensing that it was certainly the enemy. Finally they had gone a little distance off, one of them called his name out his voice was muffled by the wind and Jackie again sensed that it must be the opposition. They must think I'm pretty dumb, he fall for that kind of trick, Jackie thought, as he shifted on the branch for a more comfortable position. The pine needles were penning and sticking his back. He brushed at them with his hand. The voices were fading away. They seemed to have lost enthusiasm.

The next time he checked with his watch twenty minutes had gone by. He hadn't heard a sound in twenty minutes. He knew the guys couldn't keep quiet that long no matter what.

He climbed down from the tree in a hurry, making no effort to conceal his whereabouts. He had a feeling nobody was anyway. Consciously, he cocked his gun.

He ran first through the trees to the front lines but he couldn't see anyone. He knew he really expected to. He paused there a second, thinking. Then, he thought, he heard distant shouting. Yes, he was sure of it. It was coming from old man Carson's lot, a field that had been cleared off on the edge of the town.

He walked to the clearing and stepped out of the woods into the open, still making no

(Continued on Page 3)

"Even though I'm flunking, Professor Snarl, I always look forward to attending your class."

Let's Face It

Some Scintillating Conversationalists

By GENE LAWLER
Our Harvard Correspondent

I was browsing through the bargain shelf of a Harvard Square bookstore the other day when I came upon one of the handiest and most practical books ever published. I believe it was entitled A Week-end Guide to Eastern Colleges. In well organized fashion, maps included, it supposedly listed the outstanding attractions of each of the more notorious men's colleges, and what a girl should wear and do while there for a weekend.

Harvard, of course, was the first college surveyed. Harvard, I learned, is the manner men thank any other campus. Even the Ivy Leaguers admit this; it said. But Yale is probably the most formal of the Ivy League, and this is important to know, because a girl has to be especially careful when she dresses for New Haven. There were other gems about Princeton, Dartmouth, etc., but by then I had seen enough.

Such a guide has undoubtedly taken its place on hundreds of bookstore shelves, along with Dante and Shakespeare and Life's Ladies Home Journal. Indeed, it must be invaluable in trapping an Ivy Leaguer, and what girl doesn't want to?

This year I have had the pleasure of meeting the recent graduates of Vassar. They are attractive, pleasant, members of Phi Beta Kappa and seem like the type that might have used this book as underclassmen. One of them majored in English literature, the other two science. Both are scintillating conversationalists. Some of their more incisive remarks, I hasten to add, are as follows:

Current Literature: "Oh, don't read the Saturday Review. It's so you know, intellectual."

Music: "My favorite music? Andre Kostelanetz, I guess."

Classics: "Some of the girls at Wheaton talk about stuff like Oedipus Rex. I nearly die."

Philosophy: "Oh, don't talk about philosophy. It's so dull."

Politics: "Oh, yes, I'm interested in politics—Stevenson spoke at our commencement in Vassar. I was so excited."

Current Events: "Churchill resigned? Yes, I knew that. I've read the papers this week."

Conversation: "I never took any 11 o'clock classes at Vassar. That was the best hour for sunbathing."

Personal Affairs: "I've been worrying all week about what one thing, he thought, to do.

to wear to come home this weekend."

Both girls affirm that it is not a lot out of college. They did 'A' average papers for marriage. One is just engaged a Yale man, and a conditioned reflex for anything that will affirm it unto the grave.

But just how much has the content of their curriculum added to these girls' way of living, their reality? Have their tests and exams meant as much to them outside of class as examination room as a Weber Guide has? Harold Laski has said that an intellectual is one who is bothered with the social problems of his age. According to this criterion a sorority meeting on Wednesday afternoon is more intellectual than a dozen any-bull-session there I have participated in.

A few weeks ago President Griswold of Yale was standing at an anti-intellectual Gentlemen's Agreement. Griswold merely said that Yale college was not interested exclusively in "beetle-browed, photo Phi Beta Kappa scholars to run it." If you expend the energy of anti-intellectual to be Phi Beta Kappa is left for me to say these Vassar Phi Beta Kappa's?

The Dissenter

Choosing The Role Of Automaton

By MARTIN DYCKMAN
Why did Robert Lauchners resign from the PSU faculty back in 1938?

It took five and a half hours in a public hearing recently to run over charges and counter-charges concerning the relationship between academic freedom and pressure. The reason can be summed up in one short sentence.

He did not think he would get fair treatment if he chose to fight rather than resign him.

Later, he regretted not having fought them, and began his quest for reinstatement.

The issue with which we must concern ourselves is not whether the charges against him were false, or whether Dr. Campbell does the thing Leather says he does or whether Dr. Howard Danford ever punched Leather in the nose.

The grim spectre which we must face is Leadership, as possibly shared by many other faculty members, that there would be no point, no use, no hope in seeking exoneration when charges with more than moral serious and flagrant abuses of character.

Education cannot thrive in an atmosphere of terror—fright is not conducive to free inquiry.

Once a professor thinks that any controversial deed or statement, any deviation from local and regional conservatism, and any display of individualism, may evoke "reprisals" against him, a campaign which he must then hope to successfully fight, he will most likely choose the role of the automaton.

We should be ashamed that the example of the Communist countries that equate dissent and slavery are synonymous.

Is a lack of faith in democratic institutions widespread among the faculty here? Is he unjustified?

We owe it to ourselves to find out. If we live in a situation of conformity, we can only become automatons ourselves, and make ourselves only a small scale is just as bad as that on a global basis.

The right of petition is guaranteed in the Bill of Rights and so I'm not going to ridicule the students who are getting names on a petition to the Legislature that it order an FSU-UF football game.

Let's consider this annoying game by which we hope to strike a mortal blow to the pretty contention that Florida students are apathetic exist for sportsmanship and school spirit. You don't have sportsmanship where a game is law, and when such law is brought about over the objections of the University of Florida and qualified reluctance inevitably don't have school spirit. You have hatred.

Oh, of course we can sign petition and perhaps even get our rivalry but we won't exist as much as we think we do.

After a lot of talk—most of it wishful thinking—a few students must seek out and get a statement of disagreement over the subject of functions and recommendations become a matter of public thing, however is individuality. It is step toward a realization of the fact that a student government must be more than a self-perpetuating body whose knowledgement that democracy in action, and not theory.

It would be a bad thing for the students who are getting the formation of this corporation to become a matter of the Student Party cap. Even those Student Party people were responsible. It would be a tragic unscrupulous childish and the start for that power thing if it were to be made with those of questionable character parties which still have some other issues over which to disagree.

Etcetera Etchings

Have You Been Under A Rock?

By DAVID DREIS

Unless you've been hiding under a rock these past few months you've heard of the much talked about affair of Barker - Susan Hayward divorce. Since Hollywood spilt more beans than Heinz and Eisenhower's golf score, let's highlight a few.

Susan Hayward and Jess Barker came from rather different backgrounds. Jess is a wealthy, easy life while hers is started with the slums of Brooklyn and the weekly relief check. When Susan began to raise aspirations, she had come to Hollywood and looked like just another starlet who a screen-tested, then dropped. But, eeks out her contract by posing in swimming togs with a plug for the studio's pictures.

Susan was being tested for the role of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind." When Vivien Leigh started the film Susan began posing, cutting tapes at the openings of Bloomer Marketa and other such publicity-making events at a meeting of executives Susan was taken along for "atmosphere" Between the time of the meeting and so was Susan's first book, which was also, of course on the great plana the studio was making the book specially for her. Enter Jess who was supposed to echo, but said, "Hey, this guy's not bad at all" he thinks is going to be Hollywood's brilliant star. I hope to his gentlemanly ways with him." With the boss put on the spot and Jess not actively writing furiously Susan was given a leading role in a Ray Milland film. And that is her way up.

Meanwhile in New York, Barker had leading roles in a number of plays and was knighted as the handsome Hollywood laid out the red carpet for him and film offers thundered in. Then Barker married Susan in an unimpressive Hollywood ceremony. Frecuented by a few people. Within weeks people started to take note of Susan and Barker became noted as "Hayward's husband." Naturally he didn't like it, but there was little he could do as a husband is not enough not to complain.

Barker tried to get work but he told he "didn't need the money" because he was married to a star Gossip columns were given newcomers. Susan became listed from for it and asked for a divorce He asked for a settlement under Hollywood standards. Susan refused. Because of nine - year old daughter Susan, always practical, saw a chance to become a fortune if that a split came each year would keep what she had. Jess upheld that California law says a fifty-fifty split. At the point we now find Barker walked home with his divorce Susan had her thousands.

A few short days ago Susan tried to commit suicide by taking an overdose of sleeping pills. She was discovered her for the silent treatment and the servants were giving him when she called on the children. Reports of the suicide attempt

(Continued on Page 3)

Letters To The Flambeau

Mythical Members

To the Editor:

I, by God, am frustrated! Last week Fearless Flunkit foiled my foul scheme to bilk my fellow students by organizing a philosophy club and now this week I discover that my henchmen and I are not only denied in our devious design to defraud the defenseless but are the ostracism in the naive notion that we exist. In truth we have already achieved, we were real but apparently this was error, for, that monumental metaphysical marvel—that mystic mastermind—"Mandrake" Thurston says we ain't.

However take heart Brethren! All is not lost—its an ill wind and all that sort of bellywash. Now that "Mandrake" has let us in on this, our worries in certain regards are over and I feel certain that we can will be disturbed or distressed if the learned members of the imaginary philosophy club attend an unreal meeting in dream-world Room 419 of the non-existent Lonsmire Building on the never-to-be 9th of May, in the funniest year 1984 on the legendary campus of that never-never Florida State University. Actual existence is not necessary as a prerequisite to attendance. All legal entities having actual power to attend are cordially invited.

PHIL SPRINGER
—I hope—

Campaign Letters

Dear Fellow Freshmen,

Among the numerous campaign posters which are displayed at various locations on the campus, you have probably noticed some of mine which declare my interest in the Sophomore seat on the university Traffic Court.

I consider the Traffic Court a valuable portion of the university's administration and should like very much to become a part of this important judicial organization.

The Traffic Court is essential to the university in carrying out its traffic regulations. I have an earnest desire to further the improvements of the FSU Traffic Court.

If I am elected to the Traffic Court in the capacity of Sophomore representative I will give it my absolute support and untiring effort in every way I possibly can. I do not forget the fact that out courts are indispensable to the administration of the university's regulations I shall greatly appreciate your support at the polls today.

Sincerely
JERI BRADFIELD

Dear Fellow Students.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for selecting me as your Student Party candidate for Sophomore Social Chairman. I am sincerely interested in working for all who think of me as their friend. I hope you'll consider me worthy when you go to the polls.

Sincerely
JOY SMILEY

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

To play UP or not to play UP . . . that is the question.

But whatever is the answer? Once again negotiations seem to have hit a snag in the form of the defeat of a Senate bill to force the two schools to play.

Case Justified

Although I do not personally favor legislative action in affairs of this nature, it seems to be justified in this case. The big problem now is, what's to be done?

Student senators from Florida State favor the signing of a petition. For this method I am not too red hot. It has been my worthy experience in the past that people petitions are directed toward usually take the attitude of "You people vote on this thing and then I'll decide."

However I will support this drive all the way, being a firm believer in the old adage "A little more is better than no more at all."

What About UF?

One drawback on this petition is probably the fact that every one is aware of how the majority of FSU students feel about this issue. But what about students at the U of F?

Now there is an untapped, potential source. Perhaps the student senator here could start proceedings to send a letter to their erstwhile counterparts at UF asking them to pass a bill supporting this move, or maybe starting a petition of their own. This, I think, would bear more weight.

Great American Game

If this action fails, we can get down to some good old American lobbying.

As I recall, the bill was defeated by a slight margin of 18-15 Now, if we could get some ardent Seminole fan to button-hole a few legislators and convince them of the error of their ways, we may yet be called upon to do grid battle with the Gators during our Homecoming. After following this suggestion, please do register as a lobbyist and shell out the five iron men required to register. Ralford is such a dismal place.

Supreme Ace

All else failing, we have our Supreme Ace in the hole next to assassinate Governor Collins, simply send Bruce Fletcher after another Charter.

Anyone for politics?

Gymnasts Take Third NAAU Crown

Wernke Selected All-American Third Time

Paul Franklin (Ham) Wernke, regarded by many as the greatest basketball player Florida State University ever had, has earned another well-deserved trinket.

The all-foot, 175-pounder senior from Batesville, Ind., has been named to the 1954-55 National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics All-American basketball team, the NAIA announced today.

It is the third consecutive year Wernke has been selected as an All-American.

Wernke, who has the highest career scoring total in Florida collegiate history with 1,409 points, will graduate from FSU in February, 1956. The four-year letterman, who planted only five games after enrolling as a second-semester freshman in 1951, set a Seminole endurance record by starting 73 consecutive games from 1952-1955.

Wernke Is Captain

Wernke is the only player ever to be named to the Florida collegiate All-State squad three times. He led the voting this past season when he was honorary captain of the dream team.

Versatile, quiet-mannered Wernke, a three-year letterman in baseball, holds five individual FSU cage records. They are most points career (1,409); most field goals career (569); most points single game (36 vs. Tampa, 1953); best per game point average (21.3 in 1953); most field goals game (14 vs. Tampa, 1953).

Wernke averaged 19.6 points for 73 games in Seminole asiln.

Netters To Play Pensacola Navy

The FSU Volleyball team will play in its last dual home match in the west campus gym on Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. This match is in preparation for the Seminoles' appearance in the National Intercollegiate tournament to be held in Norman, Oklahoma.

Opponent for the Thursday night match will be the Pensacola Navy. It will mark the first appearance of the Pensacola Navy team since 1952 when the Seminoles lost to the Navy team both here and at Pensacola.

The Pensacola Navy team has been the only team to defeat the Seminoles in Florida AAU competition during the past two years. The Navy was defeated by FSU in the double elimination tournament but can come back to defeat the Seminoles twice to win the 1952 AAU crown.

The Volleyball team will attempt to improve its record of 24 won 11 lost record for the year.

Florida State has just received three games for the National Intercollegiate tournament to be played at Norman, Oklahoma on May 11 and 12. Their first opponent will be the University of Oklahoma Sooners.

Sports Log

Tuesday—Baseball at Georgia Tech; golf at Southern Intercollegiate meet (Athens).

Thursday—Golf at Southern Intercollegiate meet (Athens).

Friday—Golf at Southern Intercollegiate meet (Athens); baseball at Stetson; Tri-Delta vs. Kappa Delta softball game.

Saturday—Golf at Southern Intercollegiate meet (Athens); baseball at Stetson; Florida Relays (Coral Gables); tennis at Pensacola Naval Air Station (Pensacola); baseball junior varsity vs. Turner AFB (East Campus Diamond).

Vance, Rogers Speak Tonight

"The New Deal Twenty Years After" is the subject of a panel discussion to be held at 8 tonight in Opperman Music Hall.

Dr. Benjamin Rogers and Dr. Maurice Vance, both members of the history faculty, will make up the panel. Donn Teal, senior from Bradenton, will serve as moderator.

The discussion program is being presented by the FSU chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national history honorary, and the FSU Department of History.

Dr. Earl Beck, advisor for the chapter, said all interested persons are invited to be present.

People I Knew

(Continued from Page 2)

attempt to hide himself. They were playing a game of ball—work-up.

As he watched, a batter swung hard, meeting the ball squarely and sending it out over the fielder's head. It was coming toward Jackie, skipping speedily along. He stepped back into the brush. The fielder had almost caught up with it now and his face was flushed with the wind and the run. When he got within suitable range, through the brush, Jackie leveled his gun at the boy, head high. Tears were blurring his vision and he couldn't tell which of the boy was friend or foe of the bygone game, but then, he didn't especially care.

Miles, Holder Lead Team To Gym Triumph At Rochester

By BOB GUTTING

The Florida State gymnasts have once again captured the coveted National AAU championship title.

Although only placing seventh at the recent NCAA meet in Californiat, the tired-up team beat out favorite Penn State to win this meet.

Miles Leads

The team was led by Jack Miles, who was recently elected honorary captain of the team. Miles tied for first place in the all-around event with Penn's Karl Schwenefier, last years champ. Both racked up a total of 327 points.

Jack's tie was gained on the strength of first place wins on the still rings and the long horse.

The Seminoles easily won the national team championship by 42 3-4 points to second place Penn State's 181½. This was a different story from last year when the Los Angeles Turners won the meet by 21½ points, followed by UCLA with 34½ and FSU with 27½.

Holder Second

Co-captain Don Holder was number two man on the team with a fifth place all - around and third on still rings, even though he is suffering from a bandtrap of having five stitches on one foot.

In the rope climbing event, newcomer Jimmy Hanks tied for fourth and freshman Bill Sharpe placed sixth. This is quite an accomplishment, considering the fact that both boys have been rope climbing for only a short while.

Ireland Places

In the trampoline event Dick Ireland climbed up two notches from last years sixth place to fourth, and Jim Padiaan took the vacated sixth.

Jack Miles slipped from a third on side horse last year to fifth this time.

Jamile Ashmore, the Little Texan, placed fifth in free calisthetics in his first NAAU meet for the Garnet and Gold. Don Holder placed fifth on the parallel bars for the second year running and Rafael Lecuona tied for sixth on the bars.

Price Pleased

In a long distance phone call from Rochester, N.Y. Coach Harley Price seemed well pleased with the team's championship win the third NAAU title they have won during the past five years Dr Price said that to thank any person individually would be impossible but praised the team for "a terrific team effort."

Royal Welcome

Among other results of the team victory was a royal welcome for them by a local gymnastic and FSU supporting group and members of the legislature and city government.

It was also indicated that a bill would be introduced in the Legislature commending the team for its efforts and for bringing the state another national honor.

NATIONAL CHAMPS—Bob Sharpe (top) is shown doing a high bar routine in preparation for the NAAU's at Rochester where he placed sixth in rope climb. Jamile Ashmore (bottom photo) shows the skill and power required in free exercise, an event he placed fifth in at the NAAU championship.

Thinclads Suffer First Defeat Of Season, Lose To Wolfpack

By LARRY HOUNTHA

The Loyola Wolfpack won 10 events tied in another, and broke 5 records as they turned the Seminole undefeated track and field defeat of the season last Saturday on the sunbaked West Campus oval.

The New Orleans speedsters won every flat race on the program to tally 72½ points as against 58½ for FSU. It was the fourth straight victory for the Wolfpack over the Tribe since they rivalry began in '32.

Close Battle

It was a tight battle right down to the closing minutes of the meet. The Indians although running only 4 firsts and tying for another, managed to capture enough seconds and thirds to keep the final outcome in doubt until the last few events. It was not until the mile relay, which was the last race on the program, that Loyola managed to gain its 14 point advantage.

Carnell Hab Man

Hub point man for the meet was Loyola swifty Erwin Carnell with 11¼ points. Carnell copped both the century and 220 dashes and ran anchor on the Wolfpacks record breaking mile relay (3:23.2).

Carlos Praundorfer grabbed pitchervp honors by winning the javelin with a good heave of 181 ¼", and placing second in both the shot and broad-jump to tally 11 points.

Davis Scores

Seminole Joe Davis, stepping out of his usual role as a sprinter entered the 220 yard low hurdles and after trailing for nearly the whole race caught Loyola's Bierudzi at the last barrier to earn a 3 inch decision at the tape in the good time of 24.6. Davis also placed in the broad jump and ran a fine leg on the Indian mile relay.

440 Fast

The 440 was won by Westerner of Loyola in the fast time of 50.4. Charley Watson, although getting only a third place in this event, brought the crowd to its feet when he came driving off the last turn and just missed second place by inches. In fact the finish was so close the three boys could have been covered by a good bit blanket as they crossed the line. It was undoubtedly Watson's fastest 440 quarter of the season and an unofficial time for him was 50.7.

FSU Winners

Team captain Ron Weaver continued his scoring ways in the javelin as he clicked with a third victory of the season with an effort of 182' 3".

Jerry Jacobs, a steady performer, came on strong through once again with a fine toss of 47' ¾" for a first in his specialty. Jacobs also cracked the bar at 5' 10¼" in a tie for first and a new meet record.

Summaries

When asked for a comment on the meet, coach Mike Long answered, "They were a little too good for us However, it was a good job all around and we gave the best we had."

In any case it was the closest an FSU track squad has ever come to downing the Jaguta. Whose quarter Mike Smith when quizzed on the meet seemed to typify the attitude of the Seminoles when he growled, "Just wait until next year."

The Summary

100-yard dash—1. Carnell (L), 2. Davis (FSU), 3. Reed (FSU). Time :09.8 seconds.

220-yard dash—1. Carnell (L), 2. Terwilliger (FSU), 3. Westenberger (L). Time :22.1 seconds.

440-yard dash—1. Westenberger (L), 2. Nemmo (L), 3. Watson (FSU). Time :50.4 seconds.

880-yard run—1. Chanda (L), 2. Sanders (FSU), 3. Benedon (L). Time 2:06.

Discus—1. Praundorfer (FSU), 2. Brandeau (L), 3. Brown (FSU). 146' 10".

Pole vault—1. Hogan (L), 2. Cartwright, Strickland, and Ramsey (FSU), tie for 2 first, 3 inches.

Javelin—1. Weaver (FSU) and Nemo (L) tie—1 Acker (L) Lovell and Browning (FSU); tie 3 feet, 10¼ inches. (meet record).

Broad jump—1. Aaron (L) 2. Frank (FSU), 3. Davis (FSU). 21' 9½".

Mile relay—1. Loyola (Newman, Cusick, Westenberger, Carnell). 3:23.2 seconds (meet and track record).

Ball Club Mauls Georgia Teachers, Linksmen Win From Auburn 15-12

In a two game series Florida State ball players mauled Georgia Teachers College 10-3 and 12-2.

This double triumph rad FSU's record to 14-5 with four games still on the agenda. One game was played yesterday with the Georgia Bulldogs, but results were not known at press time.

In Saturday's same, southpaw John Ash gave up only six hits in chalking up his fourth win over one loss. His only difficulty came from the six walks he allowed.

Ash was his own best support at the plate with three singles, a double, and a run - producing fly. Second baseman Billy Campbell had four hits to give him seven for the score.

FSU broke the game open in the second, when, with two out, Carlee Hendrix and Gale Tuggle doubled. Bob Vaughn tripled and Ash and Campbell doubled for five runs.

At the same time, Florida State's young golfers fought off a determined Auburn bid to register a triumph over the Southeastern Conference Fiainamen. Final score was 15-12.

This was the 10th victory for the golfers against only one loss. The linksmen had beaten Auburn by a 26-1 margin in Tallahassee only last month.

Meanwhile, FSU resumed its clowest baseball rivalry yesterday when Danny Litwhiler's Seminoles invaded Athens for a two-game showdown with Georgia's Bulldogs.

Independent FSU, enjoying one of its better campaigns (14-5), and Georgia, leaders in the Southeastern Conference Eastern Division race with a sparkling 11-1 record, clashed in single games yesterday and today.

The teams split a two-game set at Tallahassee in March, FSU taking the first game, 9-2, and Georgia bouncing back to win the second, 7-6, with a late-inning rally.

Litwhiler, former National League outfield star in his first season as Seminole skipper, planned to use freshman pitching ace Tommy Garcia of Fort Myers, Fla. in Monday's game. A crafty right-hander who mixes sharp curves and soft change-up pitches effectively, Garcia has a 3-1 record in his first crack at collegiate baseball.

Junior Jim Atwood (1-1), big right-hander from Hollywood, Fla., is the probable Seminole mound choice for today's game.

Georgia and FSU have met 11 times since the series was inaugurated in 1931, and the Bulldogs currently hold a 6-5 edge in the interesting rivalry. In the 11 games, FSU has totaled 64 runs to 63 for Georgia. Three of the past four games have been decided by one run.

FSU wraps up its 23-game schedule with a two-game series at Stetson this weekend.

FSU's well-balanced golf team winds up the most successful dual season in the school's history today against Georgia's Bulldogs at Athens.

Beaten only by Georgia Tech and sporting a 10-1 record, Coach Don Veller's Seminoles trimmed Georgia by a 15-12 margin at Tallahassee last month. Tuesday's dual meet will serve as a warmup for the Southern Intercollegiate tournament which opens a three-day run at Athens Thursday.

Sophomores Bunk Berry and Jack Veuhle have set the Seminole pace this spring both averaging below par golf for 11 competitive rounds.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
TODAY
"The Silver Chalice"
Virginia Mayo
Jack Palance
TOMORROW THRU 7th
"East of Eden"
James Dean
Julie Harris
in CinemaScope

STATE
TODAY
"Big House, U.S.A."
Broderick Crawford
TOMORROW THRU 7th
"Ma & Pa Kettle At Waikiki"
Marjorie Main
Percy Kilbride

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
TODAY & TOMORROW
"Hell Below Zero"
Alan Ladd
THURSDAY
"Duffy of San Quentin"
Joanna Dru
Paul Kelly
plus
"Khyber Patrol"
Richard Egan

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TODAY & TOMORROW
"Jamaica Run"
Ray Milland
THURSDAY
"Lusty Men"
Robert Mitchum
plus
"A Lion in the Streets"
James Cagney

RITZ
Today and Tomorrow
"Always A Bride"
Peggy Cummins
Tyrone Power
"Bread, Love, and Dreams"
Gina Lollobrigida

Etcetera Etchings

(Continued from Page 2)

before the cameras he was on WWL in New Orleans talking to Dick Martin on "Moonglow With Martin." He and Lance Fuller chatted about their new film with Cathy Downs. Al Barker's divorce publicity have him starting under contract to Universal-International Now, Barker is at the bedside of Susan hopins for a reconciliation. There's a good chance it may come about.

Better tennis for you starts right here . . .

The confidence you need to keep up your game is built right into this fine Spalding racket.

The Spalding KRO-BAT® delivers all the "feel" for better control and accuracy. It's built to take power serves and smashes, and give you top performance.

Buy the KRO-BAT in your own weight and grip size. Just one set will tell you . . . this is your year for better tennis.

SPALDING
SETS THE PACE IN SPORTS

You finally meet the campus queen—on graduation day!

And then you find her summering next to your house on the bay . . .

M-m-m-man, that's PURE PLEASURE!

For more pure pleasure... SMOKE CAMELS!

No other cigarette is so rich-tasting, yet so mild!

P.S. No other brand has ever been able to match the pure pleasure in Camel's exclusive blend of costly tobaccos — one of the reasons why Camels are America's most popular cigarette!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Concert Slated Friday Night

The University Singers will present "Music of America" in a concert this Friday.

Scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in Western Auditorium, the program will feature songs of the country-folk and the city-folk.

Singers will be directed by Wiley L. Housewright, professor of music education. David Ward-Steinman will accompany the group.

The program consists of five groups of songs including religious and worldly folk tunes, Negro minstrel songs, and jazz.

"How Firm a Foundation," "Saw Ye My Saviour," and "Rejoice, Ye Shepherds," by Jackson and Bryan, are the first religious folk tunes to be sung.

Following will be "Sailor Boy," "Once I Loved," "As I Went Out a Summer's Night," "Chickens They Are Crowing," and "Miss Lois, I Love You."

In the third part of the program, Negro minstrel songs will be suna, such as "My Soul Is a Witness," "This Little Light o' Mine," "I Wanna Be Ready," "De Camptown Races," and "Daniel, Daniel, Servant of the Lord."

Soloists are Meredith Gimples, Forrest McGinley, and Jerry Connell.

Jazz numbers include "Swanee" "S'Wonderful," "Lisa," and "Someone to Watch Over Me."

This concert is being given in honor of the members of Phi Mu Alpha, men's music fraternity, who are assembled on the campus for a Province convention this weekend.

A Smiling Miss—Sylvia Parrish, right, prepares to accept Sweetheart of ATO cup from last year's sweetheart, Jane McNeely.

A Proud Brother — Bill Stancil smiles after receiving SAE Best Brother Award.

SAE Sweetheart—Pat Dekle poses above with Jerry Meyer after being chosen for fraternity honor.

Photos by Bert Doty

Football Petition

(Continued from Page 1)

asked to list their home towns beside their signatures.

Stannik said the State Senate had barely defeated the Connor bill to require a football game, by a 19-15 vote Tuesday. He added that he was sure the petition would get the bill back in the Senate where it would eventually be passed.

Needed: Frogs For Chemistry

The Florida State University Chemistry Department is looking for large numbers of frog or toad tadpoles.

The tadpoles are needed for biochemical research being conducted here by Dr. Earl Frieden.

Dr. John L. Dolphin, Jeanne Allen, and Mrs B N Baker of FSU under a Public Health Service grant.

They are studying the biochemistry of amphibian metamorphosis, the process during which tadpoles become frogs. An experimental system in which tadpoles may be converted into frogs in ten days has been devised. The FSU chemistry researchers say the study of this particular process may yield data important in the study of growth and development in humans and possibly research material in the irregular growth of cancer.

Lack of rainfall this year, they added, has made collection of tadpoles difficult in the Tallahassee area. Anyone knowing the location of large numbers, of tadpoles, at least a hundred or more, is requested to notify them by calling the university, extension 4471.

Stand Alone

(Continued from Page f)

by standing alone."

Dean French was born in Superior, Wisconsin. He received his BS degree from the University of Chicago. Receiving his Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin in 1928, he taught chemistry there for three years. Later he taught at Cornell University where he remained for 22 years.

Has Written Books

He has published many scientific articles, research articles and books among them "Accent on Teaching," "The Drama of Chemistry" and "Torch and Crucible," a biography of Antoine Lavoisier, known as the father of chemistry.

Church News

Lutherans Attend Regional Conference

Tulane University was host to the Gamma Delta's, a Lutheran organization of college students from FSU for its regional convention, April 22-24 in New Orleans.

Dick Dagner, district president; Bill Hofman, local president; and Judy Rehard, local treasurer were the represetatives from the FSU chapter.

A study topic on race relations with legal, social and Christian aspects being discussed, was the main feature on the program.

Judy Rehard, an FSU student, was elected regional secretary.

Newmanites Hold 'Charades' Picnic

"Picnic with a Purpose" was held by the Newmanites at Camp Seminole, Sunday, May 1.

Tickets were seventy-five cents and the proceeds will go to Catholic Charities, said committee chairman Mary Jo McElwee.

Catholic Charities furnish food, clothing, and other aid to underprivileged children and the aged, as well as helping almost anyone in trouble.

Tate Speaks At Sunday School

Dr. William J. Tait, associate professor of Men's Physical Education, was the main speaker at the Methodist Sunday School this week. Following his talk on "A Christian Can Have Fun," Bobby Temple presented a devotional entitled "The Heart of a Clown."

Jimmy Soles delivered the Wednesday night devotional at 7:15 p.m. in the Student House chapel on "The Eleventh Commandment."

Matins will be held next Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 a.m.; Choir practice, Wednesday at 4 p.m. and late coffee-break, Friday from 10 to 11 p.m.

Everyone is welcome at the Student House and is invited to attend all the functions there.

FSU Students Attend SUSGA At The University Of Alabama

Five delegates from this university attended a recent two-day conference of the Southern Universities Student Government Association in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Held on the campus of the University of Alabama Friday and Saturday, the convention was attended by Florida State University delegates Peter Nunnloff, Student Body President; Jack Houser, president of SUSGA; Phoebe Jackson, secretary of SUSGA; Jim E Moore student Senator; and Oscar Johnson, Flambeau staff member.

President Jack Houser opened the conference with a statement of purpose for the organization.

"To propose some definite steps that will benefit the members universities Delegations were present from Mississippi Southern College, Auburn, U. of Alabama, U. of Tennessee; U. of Georgia and FSU.

Two Sessions

The convention broke down into two sessions Saturday, for discussions on Student Government and Student Publications. The first group talked over problems relating mainly to student-administration relations. Participants discussed the problems encountered by student government in the various schools represented.

The publications group confined its talk primarily to financial matters and administrative control over publications' policies. Delegates also displayed copies of their various newspapers, annuals and student handbooks in order to compare and evaluate their merits.

Nothing Definite

No definite proposals were set forth by either group as a result of the discussions, although the publications group reached a general agreement on one of the more controversial matters brought up: staff pay. They said students should work on publications without pay through ambition to rise to a higher, paid position.

A general session was held Saturday afternoon to air the topics talked over in the two committees. No concrete SUSGA proposals were declared, although various matters were recommended for official action during the coming year by convention delegates.

President Jack Houser said the organization held great promise for next year and members so strive to promote SUSGA interests. "We're in the beginning stages now which are the hardest," he said.

New officers elected at the convention were Burtis Rasco, Auburn, president; and Larry Roe, Alabama, Vice-President. The secretary is to come from the same school as the president.

The executive committee chosen was Mississippi Southern, FSU and Georgia.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Second Semester 1954-55

(Classes will end Friday, May 20, 10:00 p.m. Examinations will begin Saturday, May 21, 8:00 a.m. and end Saturday, May 28 5:00 p.m.)

All sections of the following courses have examinations at the hour and will be held at the place indicated.

COURSE	TIME OF EXAMINATION
Accounting 301 302	Wednesday, May 25, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
Botany 101, 102	Saturday, May 21, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Business Law 321, 322	Tuesday, May 24, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
Economics 101, 102, 105, 112	Tuesday, May 24, 3:00-5:00 p.m.
Economics 201, 202	Monday, May 23, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
English 100, 101	Monday, May 23, 3:00-5:00 p.m.
English 102	Tuesday, May 24, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Food and Nutrition 101, 102	Monday, May 23, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
French 101, 102, 201, 202	Tuesday, May 24, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
Health Education 103	Saturday, May 21, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
History 102	Saturday, May 21, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
History 101, 105, 106	Thursday, May 26, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
Humanities 151, 152, 102	Wednesday, May 25, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Mathematics 101, 102, 103	Tuesday, May 24, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Mathematics 117	Monday, May 23, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Mathematics 118	Wednesday, May 25, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
Military—Air 101, 201, 301, 401	Thursday, May 26, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Military—Army 101, 201, 301, 401	Thursday, May 26, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
Modern Language—First and Second Year	Wed., May 25, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
Personal Development 105, 106	Friday, May 27, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Physical Education—Men 113, 132	Friday, May 27, 10:30-12:30 p.m.
Physical Education—Women 113, 114, 215, 216	Friday, May 27, 1:00-3:00 p.m.
Physical Science 101, 102	Thursday, May 26, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Physics 201	Tuesday, May 24, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
Political Science 115, 221, 222	Saturday, May 28, 8:00-10:00 a.m.
Social Science 102, 103	Thursday, May 26, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
Social Welfare 100, 305, 315	Saturday, May 28, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
Speech 105	Wednesday, May 25, 1:00-3:00 p.m.

Examination for courses not previously listed are listed below. Unless otherwise noted, they will meet the regular class hour on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and if that course is not listed below, the examination is given during the regular class period.

COURSE	TIME OF EXAMINATION
7:30 M W F	Friday, May 27 3:30-5:30 p.m.
8:30 M W F or 8:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 7:30 T Th or 8:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Monday, May 23, 3:30-5:30 p.m.
9:30 M W F or 9:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 8:30 T Th or 9:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Saturday, May 21, 10:30-12:30 p.m.
10:30 M W F or 10:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 9:30 T Th or 10:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Tuesday, May 24 3:30-5:30 p.m.
11:30 M W F or 11:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 10:30 T Th or 11:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Wednesday, May 25 3:30-5:30 p.m.
12:30 M W F or 12:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 11:30 T Th or 12:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Monday, May 23 8:00-10:00 a.m.
1:30 M W F or 1:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 12:30 T Th or 1:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Thursday, May 26 3:30-5:30 p.m.
2:30 M W F or 2:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 1:30 T Th or 2:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Wednesday, May 25 8:00-10:00 a.m.
3:30 M W F or 3:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 2:30 T Th or 3:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Friday, May 27 8:00-10:00 a.m.
4:30 M W F or 4:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 3:30 T Th or 4:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Thur., May 26 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
5:30 M W F or 5:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 4:30 T Th or 5:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Tuesday, May 24 7:30-9:30 p.m.
6:30 M W F or 6:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 5:30 T Th or 6:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Friday, May 27 7:30-9:30 p.m.
7:30 M W F or 7:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 6:30 T Th or 7:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Saturday, May 21, 3:30-5:30 p.m.
8:30 M W F or 8:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 7:30 T Th or 8:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Tuesday, May 24
9:30 M W F or 9:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 8:30 T Th or 9:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Thursday, May 26
10:30 M W F or 10:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 9:30 T Th or 10:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Saturday, May 28
11:30 M W F or 11:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week 10:30 T Th or 11:30 T Th meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Wednesday, May 25

Classes meeting two hours each week will take the same schedule as those meeting three hours each week.

Classes meeting one hour each week will take the same schedule as those meeting four hours each week.

The governor over the above examinations: Make arrangements for your final examination with the instructor in charge. Do not request an examination to take the examination on any other day than scheduled.

Students are not permitted to change sections for examinations.

Students who have more than three examinations scheduled for one period take during examination week, except those having study-examinations.

Classes meeting on Saturday only will have their examination beginning at 8:00 a.m.

Students who have more than three examinations scheduled for one day may petition Mr. Price, Assistant Registrar, 102-A Westcott Building to reschedule examinations in the 6:30 the third examination in the student's schedule will be changed.

A student whose examinations may be excused by his instructor from the 10: final examination in a course in which he has completed all assignments and has a passing grade at the time of the examination. Students who are required to take examinations will have examinations scheduled with their instructors not later than Wednesday, May 25, 1955. The lecture period of a laboratory course will determine the examination.

This examination schedule is published with the approval of the Faculty Committee on Examinations.

ADS Initiates Two Members

Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity has elected Gary Campbell president for 1955-56.

Campbell assumed the presidency from Don Rogers, who has been selected as the official Chapter Delegate to the ADS national convention in Chicago, June 5, 6 and 7.

Claude Harden and Jim Broderick were initiated into the fraternity at the same meeting.

Plans were also discussed for a combined ADS-Gamma Alpha Chi banquet to be held in the near future.

Classified

FOUND—If you have lost any of the following articles please check with the Lost and Found, Director's Office, between the hours of 4:00-5:00 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 3:30-5:30 on Tuesday and Thursday and 2:00-5:00 on Saturdays: raincoats books, keys, jewelry, fountain pens and umbrellas. Keep check on the bulletin boards found on the main floor and basement floor of the Longmire Building for additional articles.

Vote Today!

FILTER TIP TAREYTON

with the Pearl-Gray Activated Charcoal Filter

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company

NO ONE EVER GOT "TEED OFF" AT AN ARROW POLO SHIRT

How could they? Arrow polos give unlimited comfort and style. What's more, these fine knitted polos keep their shape almost forever.

For casual wear, and for active sports, you'll find them cool and absorbent . . a pleasure to wear. In solids, stripes and quiet patterns, these luxurious polos are yours at a pauper's price.

Combine them with smartly tailored Arrow sanforized slacks like those shown above, and you'll face the best . . . calm, cool and correct. Arrow polos, $3.95. Slacks, $5.95.

50 million times a day at home, at work or while at play

There's nothing like a Coke

1. BRIGHT, RIGHT TASTE... tangy, bracing, ever-fresh.
2. FAST REFRESHMENT ... a bit of quick energy for a wholesome little lift.

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY Tallanassee Coca-Cola Bottling Co

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1955, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

CAMPUS "STAND-OUTS" ★ ★ ★ BMOC

CAMPUS TRAFFIC: Protest To Senators P. 4

The Florida Flambeau

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

VOL. XL, NO. 49 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1955

Court Changes Stalled Until Next Semester

Publication Board Loses Aspect Of Original Action

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Student Senate proposed sweeping changes in the Court System Wednesday, but the amendment will not be voted on by the students this year and consequently will not apply to next year's student government.

The principal changes would restore University Court to sit as a single body at all times instead of the old men's and women's judiciary units.

Another provision, introduced from the floor, would provide for the election of University Court, Honor Court and traffic Court members by the individual classes — Sophomores, then, would vote only for the next year's Junior members of the respective courts.

Revise Publications Board

The Senate heard faculty committee on student affairs objections to recent revisions in the proposed Board of Publications amendment. They accepted one point that the two students appointed by the Student Body president to the Board should have 2.00 averages. Observers said afterwards they thought that in inserting the measure Senate had not inadvertently made applicable the requirement that certain members have either six hours or above level courses in the School of Journalism or the graduate masters experience on student publications.

The Senate relected, however, a faculty objection that the President of the University appoint all faculty members of the proposed Board.

Presiding officer Coyle Moore said the amendment would appear on Tuesday's ballot marked less of the faculty objection.

Reject Court Proposal

Senate rejected a proposal to have half the members of University Court, which deals with violations of social regulations, appointed by the Student Body President, with confirmation by the Senate.

The measure, which must now go to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, would provide for:

A University Court chairman of junior or senior standing with over a full semester experience on the Court system, as is required now.

A clerk of similar academic standing and court experience, who would also need a 1.500 scholastic average (that of a major office.)

Twelve University Court members, two men and two women from the senior, junior and sophomore classes, to be elected in the spring.

Court chairmen and clerks would be elected in the Student Body elections; members in the class elections, said according to an amendment introduced by Sen. Jimmy Joanos, voted on only by their classmates.

At present, there are six University Court members from each class and they are chosen by vote of the entire student body.

Revolutionary Change

A revolutionary provision is that "the University Court" would try cases as a unit at all times whether the person involved is a man or a woman."

The Senate agreed to provide that cases would be reported to the public by number and not by

Continued on Page 6)

Singing Soloists—To perform tonight at University Singers Pops Concert tonight in Westcott Auditorium at 8:15 are, back row, l. to r., Jerry Connell, Meredith Gingles, Lee Liming and Forrest McGinley; front row, l. to r., Marinez Meeks, Martha Slayden and Barbara Foster.

Organizations To Compete For 'Campus Sing' Crown

Campus Sing, a sort of music intramurals, will be held next weekend, May 14-15, in Westcott Auditorium instead of Opperman Music Hall, as previously announced.

The annual contest, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, Women's Music Honorary, and Phi Mu Alpha, Men's Music Honorary, is open to all organizations on campus. Now as to the past, the principal contenders are sororities and fraternities.

On Saturday, May 14, six women and three from the male division and three from the female division, will be selected. Judges will be all faculty members of the School of Music. On Sunday a winner from each group will be announced and a cup awarded to the winners.

Entry entertainment will be offered during the time used by the judges to reach a decision. On Saturday, the 7th, Kappa Kappa Psi and on Sunday Sni and PMA will combine in the presentation of a musical program. The competing groups often appear in costumes which fit the mood of their songs.

Today is the last day for entries, which must be sent to Sara Torney, Box 2366, Campus mail. Group competing are required to have a minimum membership of twelve and the director and participating members must be authorized members if the group. All under help should be from the SAI and PMA organizations.

Voters Neglect Game Petitions In Elections

Student advocates of a football scheme with the University of Florida aren't encouraged by the response to a petition asking the legislature to require such a game.

Bill Slancik, student senator who was instrumental in placing a petition in that effect at the polls Tuesday, estimated yesterday that he got perhaps 900 or a thousand signatures. This is less than half the estimated 2,300 total election vote.

"The results were not as good as we expected," commented Slancik, who had beforehand anticipated 2,000 signatures, "but we're going ahead and seeing if we can get any action from the state Legislature."

Slancik said the petition might not be used, as it represents only about 30 per cent of the student body, and Slancik said he fears this might be used by opponents of a force measure in the Legislature to block passage at a bill. The State Senate had killed a measure to require an FSU-UF game and the petition was circulated in an attempt to get the Legislature to reconsider its action.

Slancik says he hopes to find a means of re-circulating the petition to the Student Body in an attempt to find out if they didn't want to start it or if they hadn't heard about it.

ODK TO TAP ON MONDAY

ODK President Jack Hooser announced yesterday that five of FSU's outstanding Juniors will be tapped into Omicron Delta Kappa National Leadership Fraternity on Monday, May 9.

The tapping ceremony will be held in front of the Student Center at 12 noon and will be initiated Tuesday evening, May 10, in Longmire.

Sandspur To Set Up Club For Chairman

Efforts are in progress to reorganize the Sandspur group into an actual organization with its own officers. The members of Sandspur feel that the school would profit by the election of the Sandspur Chairman within the organization itself, rather than in a student body election.

In this way, a committee composed of members of the Sandspur group could elect a person to act as Sandspur Chairman in the way a club elects a president for the following year. If this present plan is accepted, there will be an amendment made to the constitution to the effect that the student body will longer elect the Sandspur Chairman.

According to Fred J. Vogel, Counselor for Student Organizations, Bill Dozy, who was elected by the student body as Sandspur Chairman for 1956, will serve in that capacity. If the Sandspur committee is organized prior to the 1956 Sandspur preliminary election, Dozy will become a member of the committee, and he will act as its chairman.

Following next year's Sandspur performance, the committee will elect its own chairman, Vogel said. The members of the Sandspur cast and staff, according to plans, will then have a chairman with their complete support.

Service Exam To Be Given

Students eligible for selective service who have not yet taken the college qualification test before will have another chance to qualify for deferment this year, it was announced yesterday.

Applications are available in the selective services offices 306 Westcott, but must be mailed on or before May 9.

The test will be administered under the jurisdiction of Dr. Mark H. DeGraff, director of FSU testing Service Bureau. Time and place will be determined after the applications have been filed.

For further information, call W C. Holt at Extension 6301.

Frosh Turnout Marks Record

Freshmen flocked to the polls in large numbers for Tuesday's primaries Elections Secretary Betsy Willmon revealed.

Out of an estimated 2300 ballots, including those cast for the court races but not for class offices, 917 were freshman class ballots.

The Sophomore Class, voting on its Junior officers, marked 547 ballots, the juniors, 396.

Miss Willmon said the Student Center polling place was the most popular, those at West Hall and Landa Green the least used.

Singers Give Last Concert Tonight, 8:15

Folk Music Featured At Final Show

By MARTY REEVES

Having completed a season of programs of music calling for a high decree of musicianship, the University Singers plan to relax tonight and sing, "just for the joy of singing," under Arthur Kolo's baton at 8:15 in Westcott Auditorium.

"The members of Singers are particularly enthusiastic about this program because the music has no esoteric appeal," said Dr. Wiley L. Housewright, professor of music education and Director of the group. "It is one concert everyone can go to and always leave tune," he adoed.

"All American"

Entitled "Music of America," the program will feature both popular music of the country-folk and the more sophisticated music of the city-folk.

In these groups a variety of types of music will be sung, including Negro spirituals, a few Gershwin numbers, some jazz tunes, some currently popular songs, and "white spirituals."

"White spirituals," explained Dr. Housewright, are spirituals produced by white people as expressing a very fundamental religious experience. Typical songs will be "How Firm a Foundation," "Saw Ye My Saviour," and "Rejoice, Ye Redeemed."

Some of the Negro spirituals will be Soon a Will Be Done," "This Little Light o' Mine," "I Wanna Be Ready," "De Campground Spirit," and "Daniel, Daniel, Servant of the Lord."

Jazz Numbers

Jazz numbers include "Swanee," "S'Wonderful," "Liza," and "Somebody Loves Me."

Also on the program are "Sailor Boy," "Once I Loved," "As I Went Out a Summer's Night," "Chickens They Are Crowing," and "Miss Lula, I Lew You."

Most of the songs are a result of the combined efforts of Dr. Housewright, Jackson and Charles Faulkner Bryan. Jackson is being hailed by Dr. Housewright as "our most distinguished collector of Southern folk songs," while Bryan arranged the songs for choral groups.

The reason for the music is reflected in their statement that "the songs have a link to the people and their traits. Taken as a whole, however, they do not tell the story of the full picture of our once-upon-a-time in music literature, general cultural, social ways—our life."

With David Ward-Steinman accompanying, soloists will be Martha Slayden, Barbara Foster, Marinez Meeks, Lee Liming, Meredith Gingles, Forrest McGinley and Jerry Connell.

The concert is being given in honor of the members of Phi Mu Alpha, men's music fraternity, who are assembled on the campus for their annual convention this weekend Admission will be free.

Junior English Exam Slated

The last Junior English examination of this semester will be given tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, May 19, in the Music Hall, in 217 and 218 and 222 Music, and in the Classics.

Students required to take the examination are: (1) all transfers who have not had is before; (2) all juniors and seniors who for special reasons were deferred, and (3) all sophomores who will be juniors next semester. No one will be permitted to repeat the examination.

Eligible students who fail to take the examination will be assessed a five-dollar delinquency fee to be paid prior to the next registration.

All sophomores who had in February, 1955, a minimum of forty-two hours are expected to take the examination.

Students who have examinations indicate a need for remedial work will be enrolled for Junior English classes at the next registration.

Before the time of the examination, students who have conflicts should clear their schedules in the Junior English office. They will be given an opportunity to take the examination by special appointment.

There will be another Junior English examination given for students transferring to FSU for the summer session of 1955. This examination will be given on June 21, 1955, in 222 Music.

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL MEMBERS NOTIFIED

Jane Soper, President of Sophomore Council, asks all old and new council members to sign up on the bulletin board in front of Longmire Building to work for Tuesday's run-off elections.

Flying High Home Stand Ends After Tomorrow's Show

Crenshaw Elected; Run - Off Heavy

Bachman, Bittner In Senior Veep Run-offs; Tavel Elected Secretary

Important Positions Still Open As Light Vote Dims Election

Bob Crenshaw and Bobby Temple will be senior and junior class presidents respectively next year, the voters decided in Tuesday's primaries. The sophomore male ward will offer next Tuesday run-offs to learn who'll head their class.

Senior Class: Joan Tavel, (Student), secretary; Bev Bolton (Student), social chairman; Gordon Gasser (State) one of three men's Senate seats. Bebe Babee, Mary Louise Dee and Germaine Murray (Student), women's Senate.

Sam Alderman (Student) and Bob Cohen (Student), Senior men's Judiciary; Betty Gooch (State), Margie McCreight (Student) and Jean Morgan (Student) Senior women's judiciary; Lon Hatton (Student) and Larry Moore (Student) Senior Men's Honor Court; Jeanie Carlebach (Student) and Shirley Dallas (Student) Senior Womens Honor Court.

Pat Hilton (State), Junior Class secretary; Pat Smith, (Ind.) Junior Treasurer; Ruthie Henshaw (State), Junior Class social chairman.

Dave Bachman (Student); Jim E. Moore (Ind.) and Jim Bolen (Ind.) Junior Men's Senate.

Carolyn Close (Student), one of three Junior Women's Senate seats.

Gail Bitting (Student) June McManus (Student) and Nancy Lee Young (Ind.), Junior Women's Judiciary.

Joel Mercer (Ind.), Earle Peterson and Dan Menasson (Student) Junior Men's Judiciary.

Don Alford (Student) and Ed Hinson (Student), Junior Men's Honor Court. Polly Swain (Student) and Susan Mann (Student), Junior Women's Honor Court.

Bob Porter (Student) Junior Traffic Court.

Karl Edwards (Student); Hank McCann (State) and Bill Swagert (Student), Sophomore Mens Senate. Liz Cerny (Student) one of three sophomore Women's Senate seats.

Jack McKenie (Student) Bob Johnson (Student) and Bob Porter (Student) Sophomore Men's Judiciary.

Jerr Brattfield (Student); 533, and Patty Pepper (Ind.) Sophomore freshman traffic court seat;

Continued on Page 6)

Ruthie Henshaw (State), Junior Class social chairman.

Dave Bachman (Student); Jim E. Moore (Ind.) and Jim Bolen (Ind.) Junior Men's Senate.

Carolyn Close (Student), one of three Junior Women's Senate seats.

Gail Bitting (Student) June McManus (Student) and Nancy Lee Young (Ind.), Junior Women's Judiciary.

Joel Mercer (Ind.), Earle Peterson and Dan Menasson (Student) Junior Men's Judiciary.

Don Alford (Student) and Ed Hinson (Student), Junior Men's Honor Court. Polly Swain (Student) and Susan Mann (Student), Junior Women's Honor Court.

Bob Porter (Student) Junior Traffic Court.

Karl Edwards (Student); Hank McCann (State) and Bill Swagert (Student), Sophomore Mens Senate. Liz Cerny (Student) one of three sophomore Women's Senate seats.

Jack McKenie (Student) Bob Johnson (Student) and Bob Porter (Student) Sophomore Men's Judiciary.

An Editorial

Defeat Publications Amendment

The Senior Steff of The Florida Flambeau recently presented to the Student Senete a cogent plan for the best possible Board of Publications. It is true we were forced under duress from the administration to support the establishment of the board. If we hadn't taken the initiative in constructing a board which would appease the administration, end at the same time, maintain some student control we might have lost all semblance of e free press.

We thought we hed finally worked out the ideel solution. We thought the administration wes our only problem and that we solved it. Little did we realize that when the assault ceme it would be from that quarter which we thought would support us, namely the Student Senate.

Our originel proposal provided for a board whose membership was composed of three non-student and five student members. It is the change in the composition of the board's student membership that concerns us now.

Under the originel plen thet we submitted to the Student Senete, the five student members wera to be composed of the three student editors, and two other students to be elected by the student body.

However, this plan met with sudden death et the hends of the Student Senate, when they changed its composition so as to include three members to be elected by the student body, and two members to be appointed by the president of the student body and confirmed by the Student Senate. This is e blatant grab for power by the Senete. It is unfortunete thet we who acted in good faeh in presenting a plan did not in return get the same consideration.

The Student Senate, instead of considering the board of publications from the ventage point of maintaining direct student control through elected board members, hes seized upon the opportunity, which their legislative function has given them, to expand their power—since the power to confirm is the power to appoint.

Experienced student editors, jeelous of the rights of a free press, will be replaced by the illegitimate offsprings of the student body president and of the Senate.

This is what those board members would be—the results of bargaining in which personal animosities and preferences exist and not a concern for a qualified and judicious member.

This is the lesson of the Germeine Murray effer last fall, when a qualified student feeled to be confirmed by the Student Senate.

The Senate-creeted monstrosity will be before the students Tuesdey in the form of a constitutionel emendment. A vote egeinst this emendment and its consequent defeet is the prerequisite for further discussion of a solution thet will recognize the unqualified needa of a free press responsible to the students.

Lab, Concert Bands To Play

A combination program featuring the FSU Lab Band and Concert Band will be presented in the Music Building Amphitheatre Wednesday beginning at 8:15 p.m.

The Concert Band has scheduled a one-hour "Starlight Serenade" program divided into two parts: popular classic music directed by Stanley R. Whitcomb and a number of lighter works directed by Robert Beauregard.

Then an intermission the Labratory Concert Band will play about 45 minutes of music "that everybody likes" according to spokesmen.

Circus Improves Lighting; Stage Scenery Better

By JERI BRADFIELD

Tomorrow night marks the last performance of the 1955 "Flying High" production in Doak S Campbell Stadium. The Saturday night performance is being dedicated to the FSU students along with "the people living in and near Tallahassee."

Tonight's performance, which begins at 8 o'clock is being given for the Northwest Floridians and South Georgians who want to be attend the show

The first performance of the 1955 "Flying High" show, which was presented last night, was a great success, declared sponsors. The new acts and new scenery highlighted the extravaganza along with the traditional and beloved clowns.

Biggest Addition

The biggest addition to this year's show is the magnificent lighting and stage scenery, which is being used in the big production number. This year's version of the student circus is putting special emphasis on the beauty and lighting of the show.

Another improvement which has been made this year is the fact that the entire show has been moved out front to the audience, so that the details of the costumes, performers and scenery can be seen.

Some of the new acts which are included in this year's production are "Indian Summer" "The Pit of Hades" (all done in red); "Gypsy Holiday", "Tulip Time in Holland," and "Sophisticated Ladies," with lovely girls dressed in formals who take parts in a beautiful garden number.

Audience Thrilled

The trapeze acts as well as the high wire performances thrilled the audience in the first performance last night. The clowns were unequaled in their comical episodes and they constituted on of the highlights of the show.

The 35 piece circus concert band was in excellent tone last night, as were the 200 members of the circus troupe who gave an outstanding performance according to the applause they received from the audience.

The price for the last performance of the "Flying High" show is 50 cents for FSU students, which entitles them to a reserved seat. The tickets are 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. An additional 25 cents the ticketholder is entitled to a reserved seat.

A Shapely Armada—Tarpon Club members are shown floating in one of the formations to be performed tonight at 8:30 in the Women's Gym. Event will mark Silver Jubilee of Women's Physical Education Department here.

Withdraw From SUSGA

It is now apparent that the Southern Universities Student Government Association has met with inevitable failure.

Oscar Johnson, our special correspondent to the recent SUSGA conference at the University of Alabama pointed out: "SUSGA has accomplished nothing in the past year" (except to elect new officers). This statement establishes the fact that SUSGA is a failure. But we say it was an inevitable failure, it could not have been otherwise.

The founders of SUSGA, by the quality of their goals and purposes, so limited and defined the nature of that organization that they have now led it to impotence. Implicit in the premises of the SUSGA initiators is a closed system which limits the possibilities of the association's activities and has led it to suicide.

To wit: here is what one of the founders said: "SUSGA is not to allow the discussion of any subject during conventions except student affairs, particularly avoiding subjects of the realm of politics, social problems, international affairs, and its constitution."

What breed of vegetable would formulate such goals?

Aristotle said "Man is by nature a political animal." And there is no getting away from that. Students are affected by politics, social problems, international affairs and the like, and we think they must reflect on them.

If not, these problems will be solved in one way or another, and if we do not make our needs known then we cannot expect a solution which will recognize our needs.

We pointed out in a previous editorial that SUSGA was formed to take the place of NSA. The main objections to NSA was that it was too interested in interjecting the U.S. student on controversial subjects such as politics, social problems and international affairs."

It is these very charges against NSA that to us are the hallmarks of its achievements.

Where SUSGA has shown itself to be totally inadequate on these problems, NSA has demonstrated a vigorous leadership in behalf of students everywhere.

The history of SUSGA and NSA lead us to one conclusion: Withdraw from SUSGA and join NSA.

Regulate Traffic

The House of Representatives this Tuesday neatly tucked under their belt by a 70 to 9 vote a bill authorizing the Board of Control to regulate traffic on this and other state campuses.

Although sponsors deny this was their intent, the traffic court and our scholarship funds will be vitally affected. Some representatives had the foresight to see this and offered amendments that would protect these points. They were voted down.

By implication, we surmise that if students must go to court downtown to face traffic charges, that the municipal policemen, friends of all FSU students, will overrun the campus.

We only hope that traffic regulations will not be altered as to prohibit parking on the wrong side. This leniency of our regulations have been invaluable in allowing students to be on time for classes many times.

What all this means now, of course, is that it is time that the student body made themselves heard. On page three today appears a blank. We urge that each and every student cut one out and send it to a Senator. If the bill passes the Senate as is, our self-government in the shape and form of the traffic court will be crippled.

We also urge that group action be taken. Every dormitory or greek house should sponsor an activity that will let the Senators know FSU students are alive and kicking. And are they kicking!

A Few Fancies, or a Reporter In Dreamland

The following is by James Reston of the New York Times:

After the President's press conference last Wednesday, this reporter dreamed that Mr. Eisenhower let us go on asking him questions and that he answered every one fully and frankly:

Q—Mr. President, how did the Government happen to say last Saturday that the United States would "insist" on having the Chinese Nationalists in on "any" conversations about the Formosa area, then announce on Tuesday that we'd negotiate a cease-fire without the Nationalists?

A.—We goofed.

Q—I beg your pardon?

A.—We just messed it up. I was up at the farm in Gettysburg Saturday looking over the new decorations in the dining room when the State Department drafted the first statement.

Q.—Who drafted it?

A. — I think it was that new young Hoover fellow.

Q. Did you approve it?

A.—Oh, sure, I approved it.

Q.—Where was the Secretary of State?

A.—He was up at Duck Island in Lake Ontario.

Q.—Did he approve it?

A.—No, it was out before he saw it.

Q.—Couldn't you get him a telephone up there?

A. — I've talked to the Signal Corps about that.

Q.—But Mr. Dulles got back on Monday.

A. — Yes, he got back Monday and thought we should agree to talk to the Communists without the Nationalists.

Q.—And what did you think of that?

A.—I thought that was fine. Great idea. We should never give the world the idea that we are not receptive to talking about peace.

Q — But you didn't think about that Saturday?

A.—No, as I say, I was busy up in the country Saturday.

Q. — Mr. President, could I ask you something else?

A. — Sure, ask me anything. (The questioner was really dreaming by this time.)

Q—Didn't you know your switch on negotiations would make Senator Knowland mad?

A—Senator Knowland is a

Q—Careful. Mr. President!

A—Please keep Senator Knowland out of this.

Q.—Don't you like Senator Knowland?

A.—He's a fine man.

Q.—I don't understand.

A.—He's the only man in the Republican party who said that if I don't want to run again, nobody should put pressure on me to run. He says he's against having an unwilling candidate in 1956 and so am I.

Q—May I infer from that

A—You may infer from that if nominated I will not run, and if elected I will not serve, unless, of course, I change my mind. Which I may or may not do. Is that clear?

Q.—No, sir. How long do you have to serve?

A.—Twenty months, twenty-three days, twelve hours and, let me see, forty-five minutes.

Q—Mr. President, how did we ever get involved in Quemoy and Matsu?

A.—I was wondering about that just the other day. We were going along fine, trying to keep our minds on Germany and Japan, and all of a sudden everybody was talking about Quemoy and Matsu.

Q—Can't you defend Formosa without them.

A. — I can defend anything without them. I never said I'd defend them. We sort of suggested we might have to go to fend them in the hope that the Chinese Communists would get scared and agreed to a cease-fire. But they didn't scare.

Q — If we don't defend them what about the morale of Chiang Kai - shek and his troops?

A. — And if we do, what about my morale and the morale of my troops? Want me to do something?

Q.—(Eagerly) Yes, sir.

A.—I'm sick of Quemoy and Matsu. All I've heard about for weeks is Quemoy and Matsu, and if I can't get Quemoy and Matsu, it's Matsu and Quemoy. I want to get back to Germany and Japan, and all you guys want to talk about is Foster's folly.

Q.—May I change the subject?

A.—You sure may!

Q.—On this correspondence you have been having with Marshal Zhukov, isn't it dangerous these days to have a penpal in the Soviet Union?

A.—You mean politically dangerous?

Q.—Yes, sir.

A.—You mean that if I keep on writing to Zhukov, I may get into trouble with the Republican party?

Q. Yes, sir.

A.—And if I get into trouble with the Republican party for trying to make peace with the Russians, the party might not be so eager to have me run again next year?

Q.—I was going to say

The President: Oh, Jim; oh, Hagerty, take a letter!

The Florida Flambeau

Bob Folsom, Editor
Jay Robertson, News Editor
Orchid Alonso, Mgr. Editor

Editorial Consultant ..... Philip Springer
Asst. News Editors ..... Oscar Johnson, Martin Dyckman
Campus Editor ..... Jerome Bernstein
Sports Editors ..... Bob Gunting, Dick Victory
Sports Staff ..... Agee Whitemarsh, Harry Bernard
Joe Caldwell, Business Mgr.
Assistant Business Manager ..... Irma Cox
Exchange Editor ..... John Hatfield
Assistant Exchange Editor ..... Susan Houk
Distributors ..... Members of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity

Telephone 2-8000, extension 6821
211, 213 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

"Really, Don't You Notice Anything?"

Letters To The Flambeau

Thank You

Dear Fellow Freshmen:

You can be assured that I am very thankful for your support and making it possible for me to be in the run-offs for the election for Sophomore class president. I would like to urge my freshman who did not vote in the election last Tuesday to do so next week. The more students we can get to take part in school activities such as the election for our class will be

I believe we need more unity in our class and I would like to accomplish this by promoting more activities in which all of as can participate in and enjoy. Also to have a more successful indoctrination of our next year freshmen.

Your support would be appreciated and I promise that I would serve you faithfully and sincerely.

BILL CULLOM.

Dear Juniors.

I would like to thank all of my friends who voted for me last Tuesday's election, and I would certainly appreciate your continued support in the final election. You know that if you elect me to serve you in the senate you will have elected a man who will always fight for a stronger student government for the benefit of all the students.

To all who wonder, I favor a student government which is chartered as a non-profit corporation; I know the benefits that can be derived from such a corporation, and I know how to secure those benefits.

I ask for your support so our class can leave behind us a better student government and a better university.

Sincerely,
BRYCE W. FLETCHER.

Dear Fellow Freshmen,

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all of you who supported me this past Tuesday in my campaign for Sophomore Class Treasurer. Even though I was defeated in the run-off this coming Tuesday, I will remember YOU CAN'T MISS WITH CHRIS!

Yours sincerely,
CHRIS COLOCCHIO.

Dear Fellow Students,

Once again let me thank you for your vote and support in the primary election. I'm very humbled at the results of the election, because my opponent, Florine Lamb, is one of the most sincere, capable persons I could have run against.

I want the Junior Class to accomplish great things next year. You have elected officers who will accomplish many things, and I, as your class Secretary, intend to help towards that accomplishment.

Thank you again for your support.—Congratulations, Florence, on a fine campaign.

Your Junior Class Secretary,
PAT HILTON.

Dear Sophomores.

Let me thank you for the wonderful way in which you helped me in this last election. But, as you know, I am in the run-offs for Junior Women's Senate, and once again I am asking for your time and support in my campaign. I still pledge to you my best. If you choose me next Tuesday I promise you, in Senate.

Thank you very much!

Sincerely,
BARBARA HUGHES.

DEAR FRESHMEN:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank those of you who supported me in the primary elections last Tuesday, and also to remind you that there will be another election held this coming Tuesday for the run-offs.

I realize that holding a class office is a great responsibility and one that requires a qualified and experienced person. At this time I would like to take this opportunity to inform you of my qualifications for next year. I served on Freshman Class as its SOCIAL CHAIRMAN. Recently I was elected to the Lambda Delta freshman honorary. Village Vamps, and Sophomore Council.

I am sincerely interested in all of our future class projects and would like very much to serve you as your SOPHOMORE CLASS TREASURER.

Sincerely,
KAREN KIMPLE.
Candidate of Sophomore Class Treasurer.

Dear Juniors.

Thanks to the support and confidence of many of you in the primary election. I am again seeking your confidence in the run-off elections for SENIOR SENATOR.

Although the campaign has been very tiring, my desires to serve in the Senate have been ever increasing. It is my hope to take a very active part in bringing to the students of FSU a more representative senate.

Let's look forward to a better, more progressive year for our student government. Hoping to serve you.

Sincerely,
ED MANN.
Candidate for Senior Senator.

Dear Sophomores.

It was very gratifying in the last election to have received such an overwhelming vote of confidence. The inspiration received from the knowledge that my sophomore classmates had so much faith in me has given me that extra push so that next year I won't want to serve the class as its vice-president.

My three opponents were mature and sincere in their campaigns. To those who lost, the students owe a vote of confidence for their fine performance. There is one left, whom

(Continued on Page 4)

The Dissenter

Daddy Warbucks And His Fascism

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Down with "Daddy" Warbucks!

This rinsing phrase may shock you as much as it it had screamed for the workers of the world to arise. You can call me a Communist if you have a better answer. You can, if you wish, deplore my criticism of that "harmless" though ridiculous comic strip known as "Little Orphan Annie."

You can rise to its defense, that is, if you're unable to discern beyond propaganda when you see it. This comic strip isn't as harmless and the Warbucks character typifies just about everything this country is, theoretically, against.

I wouldn't call attention to this silly strip among many other silly so-called "funnies" except for the fact that because it is so common, so appealing to the masses, it is a powerful medium for conveying some of the more unAmerican ideas ever to appear in print. They're not radical, but are rather on the extreme right of the political scale.

Outwardly, "Little Orphan Annie" and its characters are quite innocuous appeal drawn to attract reader in-

Lately It Seems

Reduced To A Paper Operation

By ORCHID ALONSO

Recently elected chairman of Traffic Committee Susan Redfern may not have a job next year. She won't if the State Senate confirms James House's Bill 214 authorizing the Board of Control to regulate traffic on campus.

Not only will our elected committee have a job, but we will be caught without one of our scholarship funds. Why? Because the fines collected under the proposed system would be guilty of not following the wants of their electorate

"Ever read Little Lulu? In Wednesday's comics the young girl Pearl was supposed to tell parts for a model airplane. Abel struggled with the explanation sheet and the parts —with still no model airplane to emerge. Pearl finally folded up the explanation sheet in a paper airplane and tossed it in the air

That's what the Student Senate did this week with the Student Board of Publications. Instead of a streamlined model, they have reduced the parts to a paper operation that like Lulu's airplane, will take one look and refuse to even take a nose dive to the ground.

Needless to say, the casualties from such a crash will be the funds from Buffy II. Let a vote of "no" will save much woe. Defeat the amendment.

A student Senator once said that "Senate has degraded itself . . ." We will not exception with that statement. It is impossible for Senate to degrade itself . . . we don't degrade ourselves. We are speaking of elected groups. What it is true that the much publicized Charter is not what it was cut out to be. Senate should take advantage of what it has to offer. Something is better than nothing. While we are glad that the Senators didn't rush into anything in paper airplane fashion, the value without knowing what it means—we are disappointed in the student most of the senators still don't know what Senate is about. It is inexcusable to be this unintelligently.

Etcetera Etchings

Betsy Ross Was Never Like This

By DAVID DREIS
A BOOK BECOMES ADAPTED

DIRECTOR: Professor, youse been called in as technical advisor because it's your book we've decided to adapt.

PROFESSOR: Thank you kindly . . . my best selling book "American Women" is being made into a motion picture.

DIRECTOR: Now, while we're shooting the script, I'm assistants will take notes on how it should be done. Don't tell us about Betsy Ross, the person.

PROFESSOR: Well, there's not exactly-uh-she was head backgrounds for "Betsy Ross" Shady past, eh? Get that, Boys? Okay, go on PROFESSOR: Well, Betsy Ross had a sewing company — you might say it was a factory which employed women?

PROFESSOR: Oh, no, not at all . . . I'd hardly say Miss Reed was the type for that.

DIRECTOR: Yeh, I guess you're right. Cleo Moore would be more like it. Okay, PROFESSOR: Well, I'd hardly think so, but to get back to the story . . . She was once in love, but her lover was killed in the war of Independence.

DIRECTOR: Great! We could use a war picture this winter . . . with this country going crazy about Davy Crockett and Walt Disney. Did she kill him a la' her when he was a lover? DIRECTOR: Well, hardly. DIRECTOR: Hmmm . . . We could get Cooper to play that and do those tears from everyone. Go on with George Washington.

PROFESSOR: Well, Betsy Ross is heartbroken over this incident and tries to get lost in her work.

DIRECTOR: Say, why not Susan Hayward for the role . . . Get this boys . . . After a few years of Quartermaster reputation, Betsy Ross meets someone who changes her whole outlook on life, but Hmm . . . specialists, eh? Say, this might be another for Donna Reed

PROFESSOR: Oh, no, not at all . . . I'd hardly say Miss Reed was the type for that.

DIRECTOR: Yeh, I guess you're right. Cleo Moore would be more like it. Okay, PROFESSOR: Well, I'd hardly think so, but to get back to the story . . . She was once in love, but her lover was killed in the war of Independence.

DIRECTOR: Great! We could use a war picture this winter . . . with this country going crazy about Davy Crockett and Walt Disney. Did she kill him a la' her when he was a lover? DIRECTOR: Well, hardly. DIRECTOR: Hmmm . . . We could get Cooper to play that and do those tears from everyone. Go on with George Washington.

PROFESSOR: Well, Betsy Ross is heartbroken over this incident and tries to get lost in her work.

DIRECTOR: Say, why not Susan Hayward for the role . . . Get this boys . . . After a few years of Quartermaster reputation, Betsy Ross meets someone who changes her whole outlook on life, but when he's killed — ASSIST-ANTS: She turns t- drink —

PROFESSOR: Well, we really couldn't do that to Betsy Ross . . . was this sewing circle frequented by spies?

PROFESSOR: Well, in my book I tell how some secret code is her with General George Washington and DIRECTOR: Great. Another war story with a combination of "Battle Cry" and "Iron Men" To Execute.

ASSISTANTS: Not so many words a town of "The Gentle Girl" — PROFESSOR: Well, he sells her to design the uniform of the Continental Army for the General and gives up drink because of his sweetheart's influence. They have to get Bill Holden for the role. George Washington

DIRECTOR: He'll be terrific in the part.

PROFESSOR: Well, not really. DIRECTOR: Shaddup! We make the flag and in the closing scene we'll have a stunt extravaganza feature of Betsy Ross sewing and God Bless America. " PROFESSOR: I know think there's more!

(Continued on Page 4)

Reflections

Smoke Signals Quietly Investigated

By OSCAR JOHNSON

The "Smoke Out Smoke Signals" committee has at last issued his report. This committee has for months been investigating Smoke Signals, our campus humor magazine, and has been writing its findings down for all the world to see.

Long suspected of subversive tendencies Smoke Signals's popularity has risen to new heights. Steam Signals, The Daily Zero, and other like publications has been proven to be such a notorious boobed of malicious and ill-directed ridiculous that it must be brought out in the open.

An astounding fact, but true: Smoke Signals will throw off like thin shadow of darkness soon and preach its message of subversion. Disguising itself in secrecy Plans are now underway to convert the apparently mild-mannered mag into an actual and open representation of the brawling, mind-aliming spitfire it has been all along.

The Student Senate has been one of the first to be attacked under Smoke Signals' new campaign. The investigation given the editors of the publication have been engaged for some time in digesting the actions of the Senate and will soon throw up before the student body a magazine containing caustic articles ridiculing the solons. That last word is normally used only in headlines, but in this instance it would add a little dignity here.

Smoke Signals will not use the proper approach to attack the Senate. The correct method, as discovered by the Flambeau staff, is to sit quietly in the Senate chambers, abandoning invariably now and then, and when its over stepping across the hall to Our Side to write a scathing account of what happened. This usually suffices

Now, however, our little satirical friends in the dorm have decided it will go ape. Not only will it tell what goes on, but it might glorify it, illustrate it, bring out personalities and make sarcastic jokes—until the Senate is shaped into a chaotic mass of misrepresentation and exaggeration. We cannot let this happen without protest.

Smoke Signals should not be allowed to ridicule the Senate in this manner. It is up to the Senators to pass a bill censoring the magazine, and requiring it to attach them to the customary way.

We do not publicize the "Smoke Out Smoke Signals" committee to aid the Senate. We have another motive besides—the Flambeau will also be subjected to the same treatment. We know the student body does not attend this. Think of all the learned and respected members of the staff who would be ridiculed. In the interest of decency, these things should never appear in the mud-smeared pages of Smoke Signals.

Investigation has brought out that by these and other means Smoke Signals will soon be allowed to spread its aura of hate and distrust to the farthest reaches of the campus—while the demonical editors sit back and howl with warped glee inside their padded offices in Longmire Building. Their eyes will sparkle with black mirth and their faces will be twisted with grins of fiendish laughter.

But before they go through with it, may they heed this warning: "We have not yet begun to fight."

Georgia Nine Gains Two-Game Series Split With Seminoles

Georgia's SEC-leading Bulldogs used eleven hits to good advantage Tuesday afternoon in Athens, burying FSU under a 17-3 score. The Seminoles had captured the first game of the series Monday, 14-5, running their season's record to 15 victories, six defeats, including Tuesday's.

Thus, the split with the Bulldogs, who are ahead in the Southeastern Conference race with a 11-1 reading, evens up the score in contests between the schools. Each has won six.

Max Long checked the Bulldogs in relief Monday to register his fourth triumph against two defeats. It was his second victory in four days, the other coming against the Georgia Teachers College in last weekend's two-game series.

The Tribe hammered out 26 base hits in the series. They have now gathered 51 hits in their last four games.

An outsized junior, Dan Cabanias, starting his first game for Georgia, throttled FSU bats Tuesday. He blanked the Seminoles in every inning but the seventh, when they tallied all three of their runs.

Georgia's flashy shortstop, Reggie Andrews, led the opposition's attack with a single and two triples.

FSU	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Stewart, cf	4	1	1	2	0	0
Langley, 2b	4	0	0	2	3	0
Hudnall, rf	4	0	1	1	0	0
Tenerelli, 1b	3	1	1	8	1	0
Hall, c	3	1	1	5	0	0
Nunez, lf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Hendrix, 3b	3	1	1	1	2	1
Tuggle, ss	4	0	1	2	3	1
Ashley, p	3	0	2	0	1	0
Atwood, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Carnap	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	32	3	7	21	10	2

Atwood out for Ashley in 9th
Carnap out for Atwood in 9th

Georgia	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Brewer, cf	4	1	1	2	0	0
Campbell, 2b	4	1	1	2	3	0
Hudson, rf	4	1	1	1	0	0
Tarrh, 1b	3	1	1	8	0	0
Hall, c	3	1	1	5	1	0
Nunn, lf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Hendrix, 3b	3	1	1	1	2	0
Tuggle, ss	4	1	2	1	3	1
Ashley, p	3	0	1	0	1	0
Atwood, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Carnap	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	32	6	7	21	10	2

Atwood out for Ashley in 9th
Carnap out for Atwood in 9th

Georgia	IP	H	R	ER	BB	SO
Cabanias	9	7	3	3	1	3

Winning pitcher—Cabanias. Losing pitcher—Ashley. Umpires—Hunt, Hendrix, Tarbutton and Collins. Runs batted in—Tarrh 3, Hendrix 2, Jones 2, Cabanias 2, Brewer, Campbell, Hall, Tuggle, Ashley, Stewart, Tenerelli. Two-base hits—Hendrix, Jones, Cabanias 2, Stewart. Three-base hits—Cabanias, Andrews and Tuggle. Double plays—Tuggle, Campbell and Tarrh; Brewer, Campbell and Tarrh; Ashley, Campbell and Tarrh. Left on bases—Georgia 8, FSU 5. Bases on balls—Off Cabanias 1, Ashley 1, Atwood 1. Struck out—By Cabanias 3, Ashley 3, Atwood 1. Hit by pitcher—Hendrix. Passed ball—Hall. Time—2:10. Attendance—1,000.

IN-STALLS TV

Magnolia hall will hold an open house tonight from 8 until 10 o'clock to celebrate its new television set, the first to be installed in any dormitory.

Lengthy Baseball Season Draws To Close Tomorrow

Florida State wraps up a successful 23-game baseball schedule—its first under formal National League outfielder Danny Litwhiler—against Stetson's Hatters in a two-game series at DeLand today and tomorrow.

Only the final game will count in Florida Intercollegiate Conference standings.

It'll find Stetson, who have played 23 games since inauguration of their baseball rivalry in 1949, split two games at Tallahassee last month. Stetson took the first game, 8-7, but the Seminoles bounced back to rout the Hatters, 16-2, in the second game.

Stetson leads in the close rivalry, 12 games to 11.

The Seminoles will be after their 17th and 18th triumphs at Stetson.

Bunk Berry—Sophomore sensation Bunk Berry is carrying a large share of FSU hopes in the current Southern Collegiate Athens. Berry will be fighting for the individual title

Indian Golf Squad Seeks Intercollegiate

The finest Florida State golf team in the school's history went after the South's biggest college golf prize—the Southern Intercollegiate championship—at Athens yesterday.

Seven members of Coach Don Veller's young squad that won 11 dual matches this year are competing in the two-day, three-day meet. Seminoles Bunk Berry, Jack Fowler, Bobby Dunn, Nick Mel Fleischer, Stan Kozanski, and Dink Wise will be the Southern individual champion.

Berry and Veehle both sophomores, and freshmen Dunn and Wise, FSU's most consistent performers this season.

Such well-known golf names as Dr Cary Middlecoff, Skip Alexander, Harvey Ward, Billy Maxwell, Freddie Haas, and Earl Stewart have claimed individual championship in past Southern collegiate tournaments.

LOST — Miss Jane Adams, director of Lonesome reports that a bolt has been missing from the lectern in Longmire Auditorium since April 29 Please return it to the Auditorium.

Keep "Kool and Keen" in HASPEL
Prado Cords
in Dan River Wrinkl-Shed Cottons

We're ready to give you a fresh look for summer by featuring Prado cords on the highly popular Fleet model—the natural shoulders, the Knight jacket with center hook vent, the tapered legs of the trousers combine to give you the taller, slimmer, more youthful look that is universally admired.

IN NARROW HAIRLINES $26.50

FLASH Just received new washable "I.V." (ivy league) slacks with belted back & narrow legs. Baby blue, charcoal, & black.

Turner's
"doorway to fashions . . ."

Fraternities, Dorms Enter Final Week

By HARRY BERNARD

Both the Fraternities and Dormitories softball leagues are entering the last week of competition.

In the Fraternity league A, ATO and SC are currently neck and neck at the top of the league with identical 3-1 records in second place. SAE and SN are in position to make it a four way race for first place. SAE and SN also have identical records of 3-2.

In league B, Phi Delta Theta is the only undefeated team in the Fraternity league. With their 4-0 record they are leading the league, but KA, KS, PSP all With 3-1 records are still in the running for the league crown.

In the Dormitory league, the Pirates of West Hall are in first place with a perfect 7-0 record. The only opposition at the moment appears to be coming from three teams all tied for second place with the same 4-2 records, Penthouse of West Hall, Baptists and Day Students.

A few of the outstanding players for the leaders are at shortstop PDT has two undefeated hurlers. Bob Mathews has 3-0 and his partner James Moore has 1-0.

Over in the Dormitory league, Gordon Cox is the winningest pitcher in both leagues with 7-0 In his last effort, Gordon pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Magnolia. Only one man reached third base and only three men reached first base.

Also in the Dormitory league, Bubba Boynton of the Day Students, who leads his first two games, now has won four in a row, for a 4-2 record. In his last game against the Air Force, he pitched a no-hitter, also. Only four men reached first base.

Turning to the last sport in both the Fraternity and Dormitory leagues, swimming will be held on May 17-18. Qualifying rounds will be May 17 at 7 p.m. Teams will have finals only on the 18 of May. All the information concerning the meet has been given to the inter-mural managers of teams in each league.

Science Instrument Display Held Here Near Science Hall

A display of the newest scientific instruments is being held today on the Florida University campus.

Sponsored by the Physics Department, the display is brought to FSU by an Atlanta company, W A Brown and Associates.

A trailer-load will be unloaded outside the Science Building on Jefferson street during the hours of 8-5 p.m.

The instruments on display were recently shown in New York at a showing held by the Institute of Radio Engineering. They are devices for radio and nucleus measuring and detecting instruments.

Averaging 40 to 70 pounds, the display is the largest rodeost in North America and the second largest in the world.

Carlee Hendrix—One of the main reasons FSU currently is among the South's best in baseball, is Carlee Hendrix, sophomore third baseman from Panama City. Hendrix bats left

Junior Varsity Baseball Team Plays Today

Florida State's hustling Junior varsity baseball team, victor in six of seven games, rounds up its abbreviated schedule here today and tomorrow against Tyndall Air Foce Base of Albany, Ga.

Coach Bob Wynn's Baby Seminoles swept a pair from Turner AFB at Albany recently. Frank Blosser, along righthander from Nescopeck, Pa., will pitch against Turner tomorrow.

Blosser (3-1), a promising candidate for next years Seminole varsity, set Turner down on two hits in an 8-1 victory in the first series.

Both games this weekend are set for FSU's East Campus diamond at 3:30 p.m.

DEFEAT HOUSE BILL 314

To Senator ..... County

Capitol Building,

Tallahassee, Florida

from:

classification .....

home address .....

Dear Senator:

I am sure we are all working for a better state. As a citizen of tomorrow, I sincerely believe that our university's self-government is one of the most important processes of education today. For this reason, I cannot understand how the officials of our state could vote to do away with our campus traffic courts (even though such is not the intent?) We urge you to kill this bill in order that one can be introduced that will do only what the sponsors wanted to do.

We also want to make sure that our money from the student body will go into the university's scholarship fund instead of the city of Tallahassee. After all, they're our traffic rules, not theirs.

Thank you,

DEFEAT HOUSE BILL 314

Porpoises To Arrive Here Today

The Florida State University Oceanographic Institute is hoping to welcome two new guests today.

Expected are two porpoises from the Marine Studios at Marineland. The porpoises are to be used for research in developmentia in sonar.

Dr. W. N. Kellogg, professor of phychology at FSU, is responsible for the gift. Right now his problem is how to get them here alive. He left yesterday to bring them back by truck. He said that porpoises have never taken such a long trip by land, but have been flown by plane to the west coast.

Preparations for the trip include arranging a covered university truck with twin pool-like holders for the porpoises. Four student assistants are going along as "porpoise sitters." Their main duty will be hurning the animals along with sponges and dippers filled with water.

Dr. Kellogg is considering naming them Albert and Betty. Their new home is a pool of sea water at the Allgator Point division of the Institute.

Florida State's Track Team Faces U Of Miami Tomorrow

Florida State's surprising trackmen shoot for their fourth win of the season tomorrow at Coral Gables in a dual meet with the University of Miami.

Coach Mike Long's freshman-dominated speedsters owa wins over Mercer, Georgia Tech, and Georgia and in addition claim the Florida AAU crown. The young Seminoles have also picked up points in the star-studded Florida Relays.

Last week the Indians chased powerful Loyola of New Orleans down in the final wire before losing 71-1-3 to 58 1-3. The meet, closest in the four-year history of Loyola-FSU cinder relations, was in doubt until the final two events.

Saturday's meet will offer a special attraction for Miami track fans. Wes Santee, considered America's greatest competing miler, will run an exhibition race in an effort to beat the coveted four-minute barrier. Only Australia's John Landy and England's Roger Bannister have accomplished the feat.

FSU will depend on season-long dependables Carlie Fraundorfer (weights) Jerry Jacobs (shot) Ron Weaver (javelin) Jack Terwilliger (dashes) Vern Dure (distances) and all-around performers Joe Davis and Tetsuro Brown for a large share of points

Fraundorfer, Weaver, Jacobs, Davis and Brown were State's first-place winners in the Loyola event. Fraundorfer, FSU's all-time high point man, has 21 points in the discus, shot put, and broad jump to lead the Seminoles' individual performers.

Although Miami holds a 4-1 edge in the series, most of the meets have been fairly close. The Hurricanes won 67-60 last season and by a single point the year before. FSU's only victory came in 1952—66 2-3 to 62 1-3.

GOLF, BOWLING PLANNED HERE

Students who want to bowl or play golf will have an opportunity to do so every Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m.

The afternoons of free sports is sponsored by the University Recreation Association. Faculty advisors and students will be on hand to instruct or assist.

Clubs for golf may be checked out at the roundhouse.

Volleyballers Prep For Tournament Next Wednesday

Florida State's intercollegiate volleyball team stepped out of the college ranks here last night in an exhibition match against Pensacola Naval Air Station.

Set for FSU's West Campus gym at 7:30 p.m., the match served as a tuneup for the NCAA volleyball championships at Norman, Okla. next Wednesday. Results at press time were unknown. FSU meets the University of Oklahoma in the first round of the NCAA meet.

Ranked among the top five collegiate volleyball squads in the nation, Coach Bill Odenealn's Seminoles have compiled a 14-11 dual record this season in addition to winning the Florida AAU crown.

State's starting sextet is made up of Lyle Lacey, Phil Rhodes, Eugene Lewis, Bernie McCann, Wallace Cox, and Ray Johnson. Jack Mercer and Jack Pickett are utility men.

Which Twin Plays Violin? I Mean—

Being twins can assuse a lob of confusion sometimes At least that's the opinion expressed by Dorothy and Betty Floyd, members of the Music and Speech faculties, respectively

"Students I have never seen before come up to me and start talking about their speech class or the latest debate" Dorothy complains. Similarly, music students mistake Betty for her violinist sister.

"It used to be fun, but now it has really become a problem, the identical twins say. They added that they hoped printing this information would cut down on the confusion a little

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," etc.)

THE GREAT CAP and GOWN CONTROVERSY

The cap and gown season is upon us, and with it comes the perennial question: which side of the cap should the tassel hang on?

This is an argument that arises every year to roil the academic world, and it is, alas, no closer to solution today than it was in 1604 when Fred Tassel invented the troublesome ornament.

Fred Tassel, incidentally, never made a penny from his invention. The sad fact is he never took out a patent on it. True, his crass oversight becomes understandable, however, when one considers that patents were not invented till 1851 by Fred Patent, himself a pitiable figure. A compulsive handwasher, he died in the fourteenth year, leaving behind a wife and five spotless children.

But I digress. We were discussing which side of the cap the tassel should hang on.

For many years the universally accepted practice was to hang the tassel over the front of the cap. This practice was abandoned in 1942 when the entire graduating class of Northwestern University, blinded by laxoels hanging in their eyes during a review turn during commencement exercises and ended up at the Great Lakes Training Center where, all unwitting, they were inducted into the Navy for five year hitches.

There is one school of thought—large and growing daily larger —which holds that the tassel should be worn on the same side you carry your Philip Morris cigarettes. Thus a quick glance will show you where your Philip Morris are and save much time and fumbling.

This makes a good deal of sense because when one wants a Philip Morris, one wants one with a minimum of delay. One does not relish being kept, even for a second, from the delicate flavor of Philip Morris, so artfully blended, so subtly concocted to please the keen and alert taste buds of young smokers. One chafes at any delay that comes in the way of enjoying this most edifying of cigarettes, so pleasing to the perceptive palate. Here, in king size or regular, at prices that do no violence to the sluimmert of budgets, is a firm white cylinder of balm and pure, abiding content.

There is another group, small but vocal, that insists the tassel should hang over the back of the cap. The tassel, they say, is a symbol like the bullfighter's pigtail, signifying honor and courage.

They are wrong. Bullfighters wear pigtails for only one reason: to keep the backs of their necks warm. Do you have any idea what a draft a bull makes when he rushes past you? A plenty big one, you may be sure.

In fact, upper respiratory infections, contracted in the wake of passing bulls, are the largest single cause of bullring illness. I have this interesting statistic from the Bullfighters Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, one of the few insurance companies in Hartford, Connecticut, that writes insurance exclusively for bullfighters. Incidentally, Hactford, tha insurance capital of America, is a most interesting city and well worth a visit if you are ever in New England. The northeastern United States is, for some reason, called Hartford can be reached by bus, train, plane, and the Humboldt Current. Try to make your visit in spring, when the actuvers are in bloom.

But I digress. We were talking about what side to wear tha tassel on. An ingenious solution to this troubling problem was proposed a few years ago by Fred Sigafoos, perhaps better known as "The Quiet King of Delaware." An early forbear of Mr. Sigafoos, Humboldt Sigafoos (who later invented the cuvette which bears his name) was granted a monopoly by King George III on all quests manufactured in Delaware. Somehow the royal appointment was never rescinded and from that day to this, every quoit made in Delaware has been a Sigafoos.

Well, sir, Fred Sigafoos once suggested that an equitable settlement to the great tassel controversy would be to starch the tassels so they stood upright and hung on no side of the cap at all. Mr. Sigafoos was, of course, only seeking to broadan his market, because after graduation, what can you do with an upright tassel but hurl quoits at it?

©Max Shulman 1955

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS who bring you this column make no recommendation about what side to hang the tassel on. But with cigarettes they say: Save on the gentle, tasty, stronger side—with PHILIP MORRIS, of course.

CASH for your
USED BOOKS
We Pay HALF PRICE of Retail
Price of New Books
(IF IN USE ON CAMPUS)
Books Discontinued On Campus
We Pay Wholesale Price.
UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE

News Briefs

CAESAR SUBJECT OF TALK TONIGHT

Captain William Hochheim will speak on "Caesars Past and Present" tonight at 6 p.m. in Lemonnier Auditorium.

Hochheim is head of the Department of Persian Languages at the Berlitz School and president of the Florida Classical Association.

Following his talk, a color movie "Trumpin over Time" will be shown.

ALPHA KAPPA DELTA TAKES IN TWO

Alpha Kappa Delta, National Sociological Honorary Society, recently initiated two students having high scholastic averages.

The new initiates are Miss Mary Anne Meadows and Arnold F. Bertinetti, both graduate students. Aquila Berlin, chapter president, and Dr. F. B. Allen, faculty advisor, presided at the ceremony.

MAYFIELD AND JOHNSON WILL REPRESENT FSU

Lamar Mayfield and Russell Johnson will represent the Arnold Air Society squadron at Tindall Air Force Base this weekend.

The purpose of the meeting is to approve the newly-elected Area E officers, establish an agenda for the next school year and discuss the accomplishments of the recent annual meeting held in Washington, D.C.

UNIVERSITY DAMES HOLD EVENTS

The University Dames are holding a Box Supper and dance at the Reservation tomorrow night.

The Dames and their husbands plan to enjoy square dancing and social dancing after the Buckdance.

Reservations may be made by calling Ruth Crichton at Extension 6801 or Mary Ashford at 20003 before Friday at 5 p.m.

STEELE CHOSEN GROUP PRESIDENT

Seabaord and Bridle military honorary, recently elected Percy Steele as president.

Other new officers are George Reberman, vice president; Bobby Jones, secretary, Ken Jarret, treasurer; Jerry Connell, sergeant at Arms, and Harold Schuart, Public Information Officer.

Colonel and Mrs. Phillips honored the members at a dinner at their home.

Honored—New members of Phi Beta Kappa are, seated, (l. to r.,) Arnold F., Bechetti, Sandra A. Tyler, Phoebe A. Jackson and Peter Nimloff. Standing, l. to r., are Gould Garcia, G. Donn Teal, Alan Sundberg and Michael Doran. Dorothy Womble is in insert. Not present were Betty L. Hubbard and Eugene Lawler.

Methodists To Honor Mothers

Fairy Tales And Shakespeare Highlight This Week's Movies

By TANN HAMMOND

The story of Cinderella and the Prince has been revamped to bounds of realism without losing the fairy-tale touch. The Glass Slipper, opening this Sunday at the Capital Theater, is a superb combination of the writing skill of Helen Deutsch, the dancing talent of Leslie Caron, and the acting ability of Michael Wilding. All this plus the beauty and grace of the entire company of Roland Petit's Ballet de Paris.

Together with Wilding and Caron, wood's portrait of the daffy Mrs. Toupee, who is in a cheerless mood is Keenan Wynn as the abortionist side of the prince.

One of the most unique ballet sequences ever filmed is a highlight of this picture. Leslie Caron dances atop a thirty-foot wedding cake. And with her is Michael Wilding as flash on his feet as any Gene Kelly.

Anyone who saw Lili starring Leslie Caron will be starring first in one Sunday night. And anyone who didn't should see it and then take second place in line. The Glass Slipper is a movie not to miss.

Melodrama at its best is Escape to Burma which opens this Sunday at the Florida Theater. Turning out another excellent performance is Barbara Stanwyck who after years of above average acting and a flair for not having temperament is as much a part of Hollywood as the roar of the MGM lion.

Backing up Miss Stanwyck are Robert Ryan, a name which almost always means violence in a movie, and David Farrar, a popular British star.

The action centers on a teakwood plantation in Burma owned by Miss Stanwyck and climaxes in the steaming jungle of Burma far from the law and the natives.

Starting Sunday at the Ritz Art Theater is Richard Burton with a script straight from the Bard. Put out by a little known film firm whose small companies working with actors who care more about the meaning of the words than the size of their names on the billboard, are able to produce films that can be enjoyed for plot rather than the private lives of those involved in the show. The actors have it that this movie will be one of the few that will not send Shakespeare spinning in his grave.

MARINES TO INTERVIEW COEDS

Women's Marine Reserve officers will be on the campus May 11, 12, and 13, in the Student Lounge of the Union building to talk to interested women students about the marine program.

GAX Honors Ellie McGirr

Ellie McGirr was named outstanding senior member of Gamma Alpha Chi at the combination Honor and Founders day banquet last night for Alpha Delta Sigma and GAX.

Mary Will Davis, was also presented a scroll recognizing her as outgoing president of the women's national professional advertising fraternity.

Pledged Wednesday were: JoAnn Avril, Barbara Bachman, Scotty Dickenson, Carola McCrory, Claudine Carley, Anita Wall, Phoebe Riveaux, Rosemary Hoyne, Margorie Tindell, Joanne Dulin, Patricia Cooney, and Louise Hoyer.

Mrs. Lamar Bedoe of the Advertising Commission of Florida, now working with the legislature, was initiated as an honorary member in the organization last week.

Another pledging ceremony will be Wednesday May 11 in 416 Longmire with initiation May 18 at the home of Mrs. Royal Ray, honorary member and adviser of the Alpha Delta Chapter of Gamma Alpha Chi. After the initiation she will serve a buffet dinner in honor of the new initiates.

Officers of GAX and ADS include Patty Campbell and Mary Elizabeth King president and Dr. Royal Ray, faculty advisor.

Mr. Lew Gordon, of the Atlanta Girard & Advertising Agency was the main speaker at the banquet at Seven Seas restaurant.

Important

(Continued from Page 1)

Sara Bachman (Senate — 161, and Dick Bittner (State — 95, Senior vice-presidency. Sally Pissell — 148 and Carol Wells — 141, president. Senior Treasurer.

Miss Willmon said Wednesday that polling places for the run-offs have not yet been decided upon.

Etcetera Etchings

(Continued from Page 2)

for my book "Americas Betsy Ross"

DIRECTOR: Yeh, we'll have to re-shape the frame of the picture once we put in Cinerama-Scope and Stereophonic Sound. ASSISTANTS: Technicolor DIR"CTOR: Thank you. Professor Hamilton as Technical adviser and assisting in writing a screenplay for our next big spectacle, "Betsy Ross — All American."

"NOTE You say things like this couldn't happen? Ho-ho . . . strange things are happening in Hollywood."

STUDENT PARTY PLANS DANCE

The Student Party is sponsoring a dance at the Student Center tomorrow night.

Music will be furnished by the Collonels and newly elected Student Party officers will serve as hosts

Letters To The Flambeau

(Continued from Page 2:)

I will face in the run-offs, I hope that each and every member of the sophomore class will examine carefully our qualifications.

The freshman class and the senior class set individual election records last Tuesday. Let's show the students the sophomore class can get out and participate in student government also. Let's all vote.

Your vote will be appreciated. I am ready to serve.

Sincerely,

SHIRLEY MORGAN.

Dear Students:

My sincere thanks and deep appreciation to the sophomore class for giving to me again the opportunity to serve our class and university in the capacity of Senator.

I pledge to you my continuing work toward a better student government.

Sincerely,

"SENATOR JEM" MOORE.

Dear Fellow Students:

At this time I would like to thank the Junior Class for supporting me in the primary elections last Tuesday, and remind you that there will be another election held this coming Tuesday for run-offs. I realize that the responsibilities of a senator are many and I feel that I am capable as well as willing to accept those responsibilities.

My one goal is to represent you, the Senior Class, in the Senate. To do this, I need your confidence, your participation —and your vote.

Sincerely,

GALE PORTER.

Candidate for Senior Men's Senate

Dear Sophomores.

In the coming year I shall strive to live up to the confidence you placed in me in Tuesdays elections. I pledge to you now that I shall dedicate my time, energy and ability during the coming year to working for you and the university. Thank you for the opportunity to continue to serve you.

Sincerely,

JIM SOLES.

Members of the Freshman Class:

I want to thank all of you who helped me in my campaign. I will endeavor to represent you in such a manner as to help make the class of '58 the most outstanding class in the history of Florida State University. If any of you have any issues that you want brought before the University Senate I will be glad to discuss them with you.

Sincerely,

BILL SWIGERT.

Dear Students,

The support which I received in the election last Tuesday was wonderful, and I'd like to thank each of you for your confidence.

My past experience includes National Honor Society, Student Council, Girl's State, Class Treasurer, and Cheerleader Captain in Clearwater High School. However, my sincere interest in FSU Judicial System is the most I can offer to you, the students!

If you should be tried in Judiciary next year, I'm confident that you would expect an honest consideration of your case—the consideration which I pledge to give if you consider me your choice of SOPHOMORE WOMEN'S JUDICIARY.

Sincerely,

PATTY WAGNER

Fellow Freshmen:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every person who supported me in the election Tuesday, especially those who gave of their time and energy in my campaign.

Now that the primaries are over, I urge each member of our class to show his interest by voting again next Tuesday. Your continued support will certainly be appreciated.

Sincerely,

BILL WEAVER

Candidate for Soph. Class President

In Grecian Days

Circus Week-End Provides Chance To Entertain Prospective Rushees

By MARGARET MILLER

In recent years there is a trend to use the annual student circus production as a reason for yet another weekend of entertainment and social festivities.

It is an especially opportune time for Greeks as they can employ this colorful extravaganza for purposes of entertainment for prospective rushees. Not only high school seniors but mothers, dads, and other family members and friends take advantage of this attraction when they plan to visit FSU.

Looking toward the future, we might predict that Circus Weekend will come to rival even Homecoming Weekend. Already a sorority has started the practice of house decorating for the gala occasion.

Delta Zeta has bedecked its front lawn with paper-mache elephants and other circus symbols and has carried the circus theme into the inside house decorations as well. Parties, luncheons, a picnic and other social life have been added to plans of attending the circus specials.

Kappa Delta has a similar schedule but will combine with the Lamda Chi's Friday night for a party at the KD house. KA's and Tri Delts will entertain jointly on Friday night the same.

Phi Delta named Pete Anthony their queen during their weekend festivities. Saturday. The coronation was the result of a formal dance held at the Lodge Saturday night. New Phi Delt officers are Jim Mc president; Tom Eichhardt, president; Jim Webb, secretary; Harry Strandhagen, treasurer; Harvey Hall, warder; Wm. Plumb, pledge trainer; and Jo Nout, alumni secretary.

Delta Tau Delta named Ed Agzells "Most Outstanding Fraternity Member" recently. Agzells a senior, received the award based on outstanding leadership and academic ability.

As a project for Siema Service Week, the fraternity invaded the Tallahassee Salvation Army Home and gave it a thorough spring cleaning and returning to campus the brothers refreshed themselves by diving each other dunkings in Westcott pool.

Theta Chi's named Ed Wertis of Zeta Tau Alpha "Dream Girl" Saturday night. The formal dance which highlighted their annual swap was held at the American Legion Home. An informal B-B-Q and dance was held on the house Friday night. many of the members journeyed to the coast for an informal coast party on Sunday.

Court Changes

(Continued from Page 1)

name, in order to spare embarrassment to students involved.

Reorganize Cabinet

The Senate passed a bill reorganizing the president's cabinet. The Chief Executive now will have a secretary of the Interior, under whom would be undersecretaries of Honor and Organizations. The bill also changes the Secretary of Labor to an undersecretary responsible to a Secretary of Social Welfare, and provides for a Secretary of Labor. A Secretary of Student Events, whose duties would include those of the former Secretary of Forums cabinet post, is also created in the act.

The Senate turned down insistence by Senator Bill Slancik that the Secretary of Honor should merit a full cabinet position. The opposition contended this officer's responsibilities are not great enough to merit a full cabinet post.

Insurance Debate

A lengthy debate over whether Senate should call for new bids on the student accident insurance policy culminated in Senator Ken Gatlin's resignation as chairman of the debate committee and finance committee.

This committee, charged with administration of the program, should call for new bids to secure lower rates, maintained Vice President Gordon Gaster.

A recommendation to that effect was adopted by Senate and Dave Bachman, recently elected Senator who will take office shortly, was made head of the committee.

The Dissenter

(Continued From Page 2)

government, strong PEOPLE.

Some people call this wardjerdom. Others call it Fascism.

In America even those conservatives will admit that sovereignty is necessary to preserve civilization and prevent anarchy.

"Little Orphan Annie" sets forth instead a number of individual, fanatical, dictatorships

On the many who read this strip this philosophy sinks in and is very effective, although they couldn't analyze it. But those who call themselves intelligent and variant must analyse it. They must deal with it—not ensure it, of course, but combat its combined subtlety and insidiousness every inch of the way.

Toledo, Ohio, on Lake Erie is the world's greatest coal shipping port.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
Today & Tomorrow "EAST OF EDEN" James Dean Julie Harris	Today & Tomorrow "MA & PA KETTLE AT WAIKIKI" Marjorie Main Percy Kilbride
Sunday - Tuesday "ESCAPE TO BURMA" with Barbara Stanwyck	Sunday - Tuesday "THE GLASS SLIPPER" with Leslie Caron
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Today & Tomorrow DUFFY OF SAN QUENTIN Jo Anne Dru Paul Kelly and "KMYSER PATROL" Richard Egan	Today & Tomorrow "LUSTY MEN" Robert Mitchum and "A LION IN THE STREET" James Cagney
Sunday & Monday "ORCHESTRA WIVES" Glenn Miller Orchestra	Sunday & Monday "ABOUT MRS. LESLIE" with Shirley Booth
RITZ Today and Tomorrow "Always A Bride" Peggy Cummins TWILIGHT "Bread, Love, and Dreams" Gina Lollobrigida

50 million times a day at home, at work or on the way

There's nothing like a

Coke

1. PURE AND WHOLESOME...
2. BRIGHT, EVER-FRESH SPARKLE... distinctive taste.
3. REFRESHES SO QUICKLY... with as few calories as half an average, juicy grapefruit.

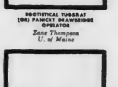
DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
Tallahassee Coca-Cola Bottling Co.
"Coke" is a registered trade-mark © 1955 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Malone's Book Store

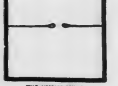
CASH FOR YOUR USED BOOKS

EVERYTHING FOR THE STUDENT

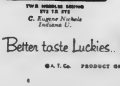


107 S. COPELAND

HEY DROODLE BUGS! HERE'S ANOTHER BATCH!



WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.



SUNBATHING SALE AT A DOUBTFUL FACTORY
Barbara Rolinda
U. of Brotherpoor

BANANA SPLIT
Donald Mills
U. of Alabama

PROTOTYPICAL TORSO AT 1001 PARTIES SYMPOSIUM
Zane Thompson
U. of Maine

TWIN SHERLOCK SEEING EYE TO EYE
C. Eugene Nichols
U. of Chicago

YOU GET A GOOD CLOSE-UP of college smokers' preference for Luckies in the Droodle at right, captioned: Lucky Strike column in a college cigarette-vending machine. On campuses all over America, college students automatically get Luckies. Why? Simply because Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better... cleaner, fresher, smoother. Next time it's light-up time, why don't you pull for Luckies?

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES!
Luckies lead all other brands in college—and by a wide margin—according to an exhaustive, coast-to-coast college survey. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Better taste Luckies... LUCKIES TASTE BETTER. Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

©A.T.Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

LIBRARY, F. S. U.

FLORIDA'S RUBIN
Another
Jumping Joe? . . . P. 2

The Florida Flambeau

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

VOL. XL, NO. 30 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1938

Katherine Montgomery—center, head of women's physical education, was honored with bronze plaque at the department's Silver Jubilee this weekend. Others in picture are Shirley Revell, left, graduate of 1854 class and Vera Dell, graduate of the first class (1930).

House Gets Finance Bill From Senate

FSU Receives Eleven Million For Biennium

The State Senate Friday passed a bill granting Florida State University a total of $11,820,721 for salaries, operating expenses and capital outlay for the 1955-56 biennium.

Salaries provided by the bill will amount to $5,396,296 the first year, along with $144,167 for expenses and $410,142 for operating capital outlay. A special item was appropriated $75,000 for the departments of zoological engineering and entomology.

If passed by the House of Representatives, the appropriation would total for the two-year biennium $10,457,31 in salaries, $288,334 for expenses, $820,445 in operating capital outlay and $150,000 for the 16 mill levy.

Home Demonstration Funds

Also in the Home Demonstration Extension will receive $79,135 in salaries, $2,274 in expense and $4,562 capital outlay if the bill goes through the House.

A bill designed to prevent expense increases for students at state universities was favorably reported favorably by the House Committee on Education Friday Saturday and the Senate Committee on Governmental Reorganization. The bills, numbered House H 46 and S. 568 are scheduled to be taken up this week.

Fees Can't Be Raised

Both require the Board of Control to limit fees for matriculation, admission and Legislature a schedule of fees and other charges to be assessed against students enrolling or doing work of an biennial budget. These stated fees may be decreased by the board but not increased during the period for which submitted.

Representative Hill, 1107 may lead to the establishment of a state university at Key West, Chairman Cato. It directs the board study "the feasibility" of establishing a state university at Key West and of assuming state university in that county.

Senate Holds Special Amendments Session

Gatlin Urges Students Ratify Bill Moore Calls Contradictory

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Student Senate, angered by the Florida Flambeau's editorial stand against the Board of Publications amendment, voted yesterday to make its side of the controversy known to all students that night in a mimeographed letter.

Men's vice-president Gordon Gaster and Senator Jim Moore fought session having the letter mimeographed after hearing Flambeau representatives assure the Senate its views would be given fair space on the front page.

The amendment itself, which the Flambeau had attacked on a front-page editorial as sending us "back" and "serf-subsidiary" bill.

Gatlin Charges

The resolution, introduced by Senator Ken Gatlin, charged that the Flambeau had "failed to print both sides" of the Board of Publications controversy and had printed a proposed letter to the student body, repeating that charge.

The letter, asserting that the Flambeau is "responsible to no one," emphasized the fact that proposed Board would have five student members, claimed that it "writes its own publications staffs," and that their only major objection to the proposed law amended by Senate was that the editors wouldn't have a majority on the Board, and warned that it the students do not accept the amendment letter by 5 p.m. today set up one of its own construction over the publications.

In speaking for the resolution, Gatlin later claimed that a "club runs the Florida Flambeau" and that if the amendment had been editorially judged by the public "it across the ball" on its merits," he never would have introduced his resolution.

Senator Jim Moore lashed out at the letter, terming it "the most preposterous thing I have ever heard of."

Contrasting statements that the Flambeau had judged the Senate in bad faith, Moore said, "I've been judged in bad faith before and lived through it."

Challenges Senators

He challenged the Flambeau with a statement that, in his opinion, most of them hadn't even read the amendment and added he termed "bad" and "serf-control."

He moved to adjourn the meeting and his motion was seconded by Gaster, but it was unanimously defeated.

Senator Jimmy Joanne said there was nothing in the letter "violent" and opposed the motion to adjourn. Said circulating it would be merely exercising "freedom of the press."

Senator Bill Stancik said the letter was bad in its editorial, "passed by Senators McFarlain, Education, and characters of the Senate members."

Vice-president Coyle Moore took the floor to ask passage of the resolution and said speakers had been invited to speak freely on any subject of their choice. During the discussion on the Flambeau program, Al Shuler will moderate.

Physics Majors Get New Degree

The Department of Physics has introduced a new curriculum leading to the BS degree with a major in radiation physics.

The new major is designed to offer the necessary background for a variety of possible specifications. The department said the number of prescribed courses has been kept to a minimum in order to permit the greatest flexibility possible.

By appropriate choice of electives during their junior or senior year students may qualify to work in radiation physics, biophysics, geophysics, chemical physics, or experimental psychology, prepare for further and challenging curricula in medical and industrial management; prepare for high school teaching, or for the professional pre-engineering or graduate with similar majors in physics, mathematics, or other science areas.

Pre-medical students may prepare themselves for careers of nuclear radiation in modern medicine.

Prospective high school teachers will be able to fulfill the requirements for certification in the areas of physics and mathematics by obtaining a major in radiation physics. They will have ample time to fulfill the general course requirements of the School of Education if they want to intern for a semester.

For further information and outlines of suggested four year curricula, contact Guenter Schwarz, Chairman, Department of Physics.

Fitzsimmons And Bennett Give Certificate Recital

Finn and mezzo-soprano were the combination featured on a certificate recital given Monday at 8:15 in Florida Gymnasium and Beverly Bennett.

Performing at 8:15 in Opperman Music Hall, Miss Fitzsimmons is a pupil of the studio of Howard Wilkins, of the School of Music while Mrs. Bennett is a pupil of Dorothy Scott.

The program will begin with Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in D# Minor" from the Well-Tempered Clavichord, played by Miss Fitzsimmons.

Choral Union Presentation Of 'Aida' Opens Thursday

Verdi's Aida will be presented in Westcott Auditorium Thursday, Friday and Saturday by the Florida State University Choral Union.

Admission will be free, with performances beginning at 8.15 p.m. Herman Gunter, director of the production, announced that the cast composed mainly of faculty members will perform Thursday and Saturday nights, while a student cast will perform on Friday.

Edith Kaup will play the lead role of Aida with Wendell Barthold as Radames. Choreography will be arranged by Ed Franklin with Ann Hoard, Martha Shannon, Lucille Turnage, Barbara Vickers, Jackie Childs, and Paula Parsons as the dancers.

Love Story

The opera is the story of a slave girl who is in love with Radames, leader of the Egyptian army How-ever, Amonasro, daughter of the King of Egypt, is betrothed to Radames. He seeks her despite opposition from his daughter and the priests.

Love Tryst

Later in the third act, Amneris goes to the Temple of Isis to pray for the success of the army of Radames. Aida also appears to keep a final tryst with her lover before he is interrupted by her father.

S. T. Bryant, Max Kilbourn Avery Watson, Jean Ervin Pruitt, Rogers Alpha Theta.

Gloria Sheffield, Gray Sala Delta Delta Delta; Julian Hodge, Nancy Cubbon Alpha Xi Delta; Kent Hearn, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Karl Allen, Laura Lee Alexander Alpha Delta Pi; Betty Sirah Delta Zeta; Arnold Greenfield, Norma Trippeda, Beverly Duperval, Virginia Lee Lett, David Wade, William Griffin, and Fred Roberta.

SMOKE SIGNALS

The announcement of the winner of the short story contest is to be announced in the May issue

Concert Slated Tomorrow At 8

By STAFF WRITER

The second "Concert Serenade" program of the 1953 season will be presented tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Music Building Auditorium with selections both the Lab Band and Concert Band.

The Laboratory Band will play popular favorites. Most have been released by student members of the band and sclaed after the works of Hal Kemp, Les Brown, Woody Herman, Gene Krupa and other big bands over the nation. Enjoyment of the type to be played by "Flamingo," "April In Paris," "Blue Moon," "September Song," "Sabina, My Baby Back Home", "Let's Fall In Love" "How High the Moon," "Love For Sale," "A Train" and "Sunny Side of the Street."

Band members have arranged the numbers in the manner of the band style that they think will appeal to those who like dance music. We're trying to appeal to the people that time who like good, popular music played well," Director Arthur Williams explained. "Although there will be a good deal of jazz played, it will not be the strictly "progressive" type which causes listeners to wonder what song is being played.

The Florida State University Concert Band will present the first part of the program, emphasizing future music. Members will lead off with such band classics as Tschaikowsky's "Marche Slave" and Romberg's "New Moon Overture." After that, Leroy Anderson's new selections will be presented. "Sandpaper Ballet" and "The Typewriter." Mr. Anderson is the well-known author of such numbers as "Fiddle Faddle" and "Blue Tango."

Directing the bands will be Roger Bennett and Arthur Williams. Both Lab Band members credit Bennett with responsibility for the success of the band, originality and unsponsored project.

The Lab Band has evolved in three years into its present size of five trumpets, five trombones, five saxophones, piano, bass fiddle, drums and various percussion instruments. This size has been determined to be the best for maximum power combined with versatility.

Students Channel 'Fletcher Charter' Campbell States

By OSCAR JOHNSON

The controversial "Fletcher Charter" purporting to enact into the student body here has been handled by the students and according to their wishes. President Campbell said yesterday.

The charter was referred to a special committee by the Student Senate last Wednesday for consideration as to whether it should be accepted or not. The committee's report could be postponed indefinitely.

President Campbell said "Apparently the students have disposed of this matter through proper channels, at least for the present." This statement reflects the apparent view that the president wishes to see the students handle the charter in their own way.

Oratory Finalists Compete Today

This afternoon, the three finalists in Intramural Oratory competition will speak before the Tallahassee Optimist Club.

Chosen in preliminaries as finalists were Jack Hellen, Herbert Lacayo and Earl Carroll, Optimist Club members will vote to determine the winner, who will be presented with a plaque.

Four of the oratory participants Harris Litwin, Harold Lambert, Herbert Lacayo, and Earl Carroll, presented their speeches in a program at the Federal Correctional Institution on May 4.

Preliminaries in the Public Speaking Event will take place today at 4:00 p.m. when the finalists are announced.

Marching Chiefs In Bowl Films

The Department of Communications and Radio has produced a sound-on-film picture entitled "The Marching Chiefs at the Sugar Bowl," according to an announcement by Dr. Hoyt Hilsman, Radio-TV.

The film features the entire half-time show presented by the Band at the Sugar Bowl on January 1, 1955, together with highlights of the trip to El Paso, Rumba and Sugar Bowl parades, minutes the movie, which is in color, the feature was first shown second recorded during the Sun Bowl half-time show.

The University owns three prints of the film, one of which has been presented to each Senator in the state. The other two prints are available for showings on campus or for community groups. Any organizations interested in arranging to obtain the film should contact Manley Whitcomb, Director Radio, or Dr. Hilsman, Chairman Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association.

Photography was by Bob Mauldin, University Photographer, with production supervised and narrated by Roy Flynn.

Speaker Cites Qualifications Of Journalists

Edwin Granberry, O. Henry prize-winning author and novelist, addressed the English Coffee Hour here Friday afternoon.

Dr. W. G. Dodd, Dean Emeritus of the college of arts and sciences, introduced Mr. Granberry as a topranking contemporary writer who is included in literature being currently used on this campus.

Granberry discussed the three qualities which he considers essential for the creative writer; a sense of wonder at the miracles of the physical universe, and imagination that sees likeness in seemingly unlike things, and thereby creates vivid imagery which gives the reader a new view of the universe, and the ability to "say it without actually saying it," that is to give a subtle significance without too obviously divine home the point. The reader says he make the application for himself, the author added.

Mr. Granberry's class in creative writing at Rollins College has turned out some successful writers, but the novelist-teacher says he believes that a course in imaginative writing is chiefly a course in clear thinking and that actual publication may be thought of as the result rather than the whole end in view.

Confusion Reigns Here As Officials Plan Installation

Newly-elected student body and class officers are usually sworn in to office before the end of school.

Student government officials were vague about when and where the installation will be held when asked by the Florida Flambeau yesterday.

Normal President Pete Nimkoff said it would be held Thursday night at 7:30 somewhere in Longmire Building, but the Student Activities office, which scheduled all events, said no such arrangement has been made.

Senior Class Advisor Jerry Meyer whose duty it is to administer the oath of office, couldn't supply any additional information.

"I don't know anything about it," seemed to be the prevailing comment.

Wise Displays In Art Gallery

A one-man exhibition, art work by Charles Wise, will be held in the University Art Gallery May 8-18.

Wise, a graduate assistant in the Department of Art will display drawings, prints and sculpture from 4-5 30 Sunday afternoon. The display is open to the public.

Wise is a graduate of the FSU art department. Wise has been employed under such prominent artists as Edmund Lewandowski, Ed Burlin, and Carl Holty.

His paintings were exhibited last year at the Jack Carr Gallery in Pasadena, California, and he was also represented in the exhibition of "Contemporary Southern Painters," held at the University of Florida.

Wise was recently selected for representation in the "Fifty Florida Artists" exhibition sponsored by the Ringling Museum of Art at Sarasota.

PHOTOS READY

Editor Don Reidel has asked all contestants in the Smoke Signals Queen contest who have not packed up short snapshots to get them from Mrs. Brady's office to the Student Lounge. Room 17.

Senators Set Up Busy Schedule

A variety of events are on tap for Seniors during this month. First will be the Junior-Senior Prom, Saturday, May 28, in the Ballroom of the Knights.

The following Friday, May 20, at 5 p. m., there will be a Senior Class Day program in Opperman Music Hall. Each Senior has been asked to wear academic costume and bring a brother or sister.

The Baccalaureate Sermon will be delivered by the Right Reverend F. Hamilton West Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of North Florida. The service is to be held in Westcott Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Sunday evening. May 29. Each graduate is limited to two guest tickets.

Monday, May 30, will be a full day for the seniors. At 10:00 a.m. there will be a reception for graduates and guests at the home of President and Mrs. Dale R. Campbell. At 5:00 P.M. a Buffet Supper will be held in the Suwannee Room. The event is sponsored by the Alumni Association and the Senior Class and is open to all invited to an on sale soon at 80 cents apiece to all graduates and their guests.

Graduation Exercises will be held at 8:15 in Campbell Stadium on the same day. Principal speaker will be Senator McFarlain, Education, and characters of the Senate members."

Vice-president Coyle Moore took the floor to ask passage of the resolution and said speakers had been invited to speak freely on any subject of their choice. During the discussion on the Flambeau program, Al Shuler will moderate

Jones asserted that the faculty would impose a ban on the Flambeau if the amendment should not pass (which it didn't) and went on this theme, saying that that threat had been held over the Senate's head by a member of the Board in the first place.

Tuesday Ball Set

Former Senator Phil Springer, presided the Senate, declared declared that such couldn't be the case that "the students have the power." He declared an amendment to the constitution would be necessary before any change could be made in control of publications, and declared that they wouldn't do anything "unbalanc" as that.

Senator Bill Stancik suggested that when the Senate passed the amendment, it did so in the belief thought the proposition "fair and fair."

Gaster then began but attempts to block circulation of a mimeographed letter saying he didn't would be "lowering the Senate's prestige." Moore continued the Sen-

(Continued on Page 4)

Tally Ho Asks For More Staff

A meeting will be held tomorrow at 5:00 p.m. in Tally Ho for all persons interested in working on the 1938 Tally Ho staff.

Editor Jim Broderick reports that a number of positions are required. People who type, write and especially those with high school experience in copy, copy writing, editorial, business and section editors, be urged to participate in planning next year's Tally Ho. Previous staff members are also asked to attend the meeting he said.

Persons who wish to join the staff but are unable to attend the meeting should contact Jim Broderick at 2896 or extension 254 any night between 6-8 30.

ODK Taps Five Men In Monday Noon Ceremonies

Five outstanding students were tapped for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, National Leadership fraternity, Monday noon.

Tapped were:

Graham Chambers for work in student government, scholarship, and fraternity activities.

John Cooper for outstanding achievements in music, religion, and fraternity participation.

Gordon Gaster for leadership in various campus activities, student government and work for his fraternity.

Jerry Jones for work in religious areas student government and fraternity membership.

Bill Stancik for leadership in many campus activities, athletics and service to his fraternity.

Group Debates Current Events

The Politics Club, the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans will sponsor a discussion of current issues tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Carnegie Auditorium.

Members of the Florida legislature will participate in the discussion and there will be a question period allowed.

Al Shuler, president of the Politics Club, Dave Kennedy, president of the Young Democrats, and Bill Hendricks, president of the Young Republicans are in charge of arrangements.

The following speakers have been invited to speak freely on any subject of their choice: During the discussion on the Flambeau program, Al Shuler will moderate

Courses Slated Tomorrow At 8

By STAFF WRITER

The second "Concert Serenade" program of the 1953 season will be presented tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Music Building Auditorium with selections both the Lab Band and Concert Band.

The Laboratory Band will play popular favorites. Most have been released by student members of the band and sclaed after the works of Hal Kemp, Les Brown, Woody Herman, Gene Krupa and other big bands over the nation. Enjoyment of the type to be played by "Flamingo," "April In Paris," "Blue Moon," "September Song," "Sabina, My Baby Back Home", "Let's Fall In Love" "How High the Moon," "Love For Sale," "A Train" and "Sunny Side of the Street."

Band members have arranged the numbers in the manner of the band style that they think will appeal to those who like dance music. We're trying to appeal to the people that time who like good, popular music played well," Director Arthur Williams explained. "Although there will be a good deal of jazz played, it will not be the strictly "progressive" type which causes listeners to wonder what song is being played.

The Florida State University Concert Band will present the first part of the program, emphasizing future music. Members will lead off with such band classics as Tschaikowsky's "Marche Slave" and Romberg's "New Moon Overture." After that, Leroy Anderson's new selections will be presented. "Sandpaper Ballet" and "The Typewriter." Mr. Anderson is the well-known author of such numbers as "Fiddle Faddle" and "Blue Tango."

Directing the bands will be Roger Bennett and Arthur Williams. Both Lab Band members credit Bennett with responsibility for the success of the band, originality and unsponsored project.

The Lab Band has evolved in three years into its present size of five trumpets, five trombones, five saxophones, piano, bass fiddle, drums and various percussion instruments. This size has been determined to be the best for maximum power combined with versatility.

'Campus Sing' Starts Saturday

18 Organizations Compete

Chorus groups from 18 campus organizations will compete Saturday night in the first elimination of Campus Sing, a vocal contest co-sponsored annually by Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha, music honorary fraternities.

The contest will take place beginning at 1 p.m. in Westcott auditorium. As an added feature the "F" Club will present its own program while the finalists are being determined by the judges from the School of Music faculty.

The three musical choruses in each division will return to Westcott Auditorium Sunday at 1 p.m. for the final judging, at which time the winning group will receive as a prize a bronze trophy and the best women's chorus will receive a cup and a silver cup. During the final deliberation, entertainment will be furnished by the Men's Glee Club and the Women's Trio.

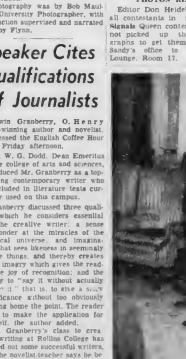
Those entering are: Sigma Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Phi and Lambda Chi Alpha.

The sole entry from the sorority division is that of the Seminole Hall, competing for the women's division cup along with Zeta Tau Alpha, Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Zeta, Phi Mu, Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Sigma Kappa, Alpha Xi Delta, Gamma and Pi Beta Phi.

The program for Saturday is as follows:

Fraternities

Alpha Tau Omega — Sidney Wilcox, conductor and Norman Hall, accompanist.



Sigma Alpha Epsilon — Robert Jones, conductor and Bill Strickland, accompanist.

Kappa Alpha—John Stanley, conductor and Bill Strickland, accompanist.

Lambda Chi Alpha — Harrison Fisher, conductor and Pasture of Sea Songs." "Anywhere I Wander."

Also Pi Kappa Phi—Paul Perry, conductor and Ann Barnes, accompanist. "Hymn to the Garner and the Gold" "Carousel Medley"; Sigma Alpha Epsilon—Robert Stake, conductor. "Violets" "Comin Through the Rye" Sigma Chi — John Cooper and Ray Kirkliter, conductors and Sara Turner, accompanist. "Serenade from the Student

Continued on Page 4)

Dr. Granberry

Manufacturing Will

The Student Senate no longer purports only to express the student will, it now aims to manufacture it also.

Yesterday the Senate passed a resolution which was supposed to have been distributed to FSU students last night. This resolution is to propagate the viewpoint of the Student Senate that the board of publications should be ratified by the student body today.

The Senate in putting on this advertising campaign to disseminate their views on the board, are telling the students that they do not approve of the Flambeau's coverage in news stories, columns and editorials.

It is evident if the board is passed the Senate will undoubtedly try to translate what is now verbal disapproval into overt censorship of the Flambeau, so it will become nothing but an adjunct of the Senate—it's public relations organ.

The resolution says that under the proposed plan the Senate wants "to see that your money is spent wisely." What they really mean is to see that the Flambeau's policy conforms to the Senate's whims.

The Senate yesterday shamelessly demonstrated, in their move to lobby for this constitutional amendment, that they cannot claim to represent the students, for they are a vested interest and like most vested interests seek to expand their power.

Reapportionment

Passed by Senate so long ago it's now all but forgotten, the intricate representation amendment will come up for student ratification today.

The only thing intricate about it is the debate from which it came, and the fact that it appears on the ballot is not sufficient reason for it to pass.

It would give Student Senate the power to apportion representation in any way the Senate might choose, so long as a two-thirds majority agree in the apportionment.

The very reason Senate decided on this amendment is the reason we think it should be defeated: Senate would have the power to change representation arbitrarily, without referring it to a popular vote.

This would mean that any one group could be deprived of its Senator merely on the Senate's own whim. At the extreme, a Senator who made himself objectionable to his fellow legislators could suddenly find himself gerrymandered out of existence as a lawmaker.

Senate was given a responsibility to come up with a more equitable and representative system than the ineffective, unrepresentative class system presently in use. After wasting countless hours of debate they could come up only with an amendment which would, in effect, give them the power to experiment with student government at will.

While we, and many others, are dissatisfied with the present system, we think it highly inadvisable to entrust such a vital matter as the nature of student government exclusively to a Senate which has, in this deliberation, shown itself incapable of bearing the responsibility.

Eight, Nine....

Senate Bill 692, authorizing the legality of contracts between local county boards of education and teachers to the effect that they will not have to teach nonsegregated classes, is not deserving of legislative consideration.

In the first place if such a bill were passed, it would be ruled unconstitutional in any test case. Secondly, it would only serve to inflict more painful wounds in the issue of desegregation.

We assert that any professional educator who would sign such a contract, is neither qualified to teach under the laws of the government, nor in the spirit of equality, which we would like to have the people of other nations believe exists here.

A third point to consider is the far-reaching influence which legislation such as this incurs in alien countries where the fight for democracy vs. communism is reaching the final round.

A few more instances like this is all the propagandists need to throw the count of "10" at our so-called practice of democratic theory.

Not Again

A possible threat to the free university in Florida is looming large in the Florida Legislature.

A bill has passed the House Judiciary Committee and soon will come to the floor to give the State Attorney General subpoena powers to investigate Communism or other subversive activity.

If this bill passes, according to Attorney General Ervin, Ellis Rubin, a Miami lawyer "will be in charge." Mr. Rubin, a special assistant attorney general, recently concluded an investigation of subversive activities in Florida, and has in his activities created quite a controversy.

According to Jim Powell in the Miami Herald, "Rubin stepped into a hornet's nest at Tampa earlier when he was quoted about communism in shipyards. It's moot whether he said anything really out of line about the shipyards, but he got in his first trouble then, and Ervin admonished him to be careful."

Also, according to the Tallahassee Democrat, Attorney General Ervin has said that he had cautioned Rubin on two different occasions not to deal in sensationalism and not to label people in a sweeping way. Ervin said "I want it (anti-subversive work) kept on a dignified plane and I do not want innocent people crucified."

We do not see how the Attorney General's admonishment of Rubin's activities can be reconciled with the former's statement that he "will be in charge" of conducting, with subpoena powers, an investigation of subversive activities in the state. The next admonishment may be too late, and irrevocable damage may have been done.

According to Mr. Powell, "Collins has indicated concern about Rubin making inquiries into teaching at the universities."

He goes on to say, "Rubin may not have gone off the deep end in his inquiries so far, but he shows inclinations at times to get out of his field and into the prosecution of his ideas on what ought to be taught."

While the danger of having a man like Rubin conduct such an investigation between sessions is obvious to us, our concern goes deeper than the personality of Ellis Rubin. If Ellis Rubin did not exist another one would be created. The problem of McCarthyism, or if you like Rubinism, goes deeper than the psychology of any particular demagogue.

Our criticism must not be of individuals who pose a threat to our freedom alone but must be directed against the creation of institutions which allow such men to thrive.

This bill would set up hearings that would deny one witness the right to cross-examine another witness.

Mr. Ervin said the new bill "attempts to protect the innocent by keeping the identity of suspects secret unless they refuse to testify or hide behind the Fifth Amendment." Mr. Ervin assumes that a man who invokes the Fifth Amendment could not be innocent. This assumption has recently been proven false by the Dean of the Harvard Law School, Ervin N. Griswold.

In the American Bar Association Journal, June, 1954, Dean Griswold says "It may be a serious error of judgment . . . to claim the privilege of the Fifth Amendment, or to refuse to answer questions; but the conduct, regrettable as it is, does not show the existence of treason, espionage, sabotage, or any other serious crime."

If this bill is passed it will demonstrate that we have learned nothing from the McCarthy fiasco. It will establish something which might be worse than anything McCarthy ever did. We must remember the Legislature will not be in session for another two years, and there may be no Watkins Committee to censure Mr. Rubin.

We must defeat this bill now, so as to not later regret the creation of a Frankenstein monster which may trample underfoot academic freedom and other liberties—liberties that have been achieved only through long years of effort.

We answer the demagogue who appeals to our fears with the words of a great American philosopher Morris R. Cohen: "Our reason may be a pitiful candlelight in the dark and boundless seas of being. But we have nothing better and woe to those who wilfully try to put it out."

The Florida Flambeau
JAY ROBERTSON—Editor
Orchid Alonso, Mng. Editor
Associate Editor — Martin Dyckman
Assistant Mng. Editor — Pat Marston
Feature Editor — Margaret Miller
Senior Reporters — Jeri Bradfield, Willie Smith, Marty Reeves
Sports Editors — Bob Gutting, Dick Victory
Sports Staff — Alan Whitmarsh, Harry Bernarn
Mary Lix King—Business Mgr.
Exchange Editor — ... Hilford
Assistant Exchange Editor — Susan Hyde
Distribution — Members of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity
Telephone 2 8000 extension 6821
211 213 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press
Oscar Johnson, News Editor
Campus Editor — Jerry Bernstein
Amusement Editor — Tann Hammond
Circulation — Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity
Photographer — Laird Anderson
Greek Editor — Pat Brady
Mary Tindell—Advertising Mgr.
Asst. Ads Mgr — Nina Ryle
Business Staff — Jeanette Puckett, Mary Dressler
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service 420 Madison Ave. New York 17
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

"Don't Peek—It's Sort Of A Surprise"

Letters To The Flambeau

Defeat Board

To the Editor:

I strongly urge the student body to defeat the currently proposed student publications board.

Not that I think the Senate version is any worse than that submitted by Flambeau staff members.

The trouble lies in the fact that students have been pressured by the administration into believing they must have some sort of board. Good points can be made for the right kind of publications board. I believe a workable one can be devised for FSU. But it's a serious step and should have considerably more planning. Boards of other universities should be studied for guidance.

During my four years at the university I consistently fought any kind of publications board. I am not basically opposed to boards. But I looked upon proposals for a board as attempts by the administration to "take over" the Flambeau, Smoke Signals and Tally-Ho.

They may do just that if students pass the injudicious board proposed in today's election.

As I understand it, Flambeau staff members themselves have been brought to propose a board:
1) by threats, and
2) by promises.

The threats are mostly along the same old line, used for so many years—that funds will not be "available" to the Flambeau otherwise.

Nonsense. Would an administration already plagued by embarrassing publicity undertake a step that would surely bring the press and many political leaders of the state down on its head?

The promises are of a new press and more frequent publication. This proposal is dangerous. As I understand it, the university could not buy a press expressly for a student publication. Presumably it would be bought as "equipment" for School of Journalism classes.

If the School gets this far, I predict the Flambeau will be under dominance of the School within two years.

There is also question whether the Flambeau would be typographically as excellent if printed under such an arrangement. It takes several linotype machines and many operators to put out the present Flambeau. The fiasco at Dye press last summer shows what can happen when inadequate and inferior equipment is used.

There is also question—serious question—of the advisability of having a university-appointed "expert" oversee the student publications. In fact there are enough serious questions about the proposed board to require its defeat.

If the students want a board—that is, if they want their editors appointed rather than elected—let it be so. But let a sensible system be worked out. I gladly offer my services to that end.

But above all let us keep student publications in student hands. Let us not let pressure, slick talk and even some good intentions blind us to the evil of the proposed board.

The present system cannot be changed without approval of the students. The power is still in students' hands. A vote "No" today will keep it that way.

Sincerely,
BRUCE GALPHIN
1953-54 editor

Thank You

May 8, 1955

To the Editor

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude for the support which you gave me in the primary election last Tuesday. Through your votes you have shown that you have confidence in me.

I am extremely anxious to be elected to fill the Sophomore seat on the Traffic Court and if I am chosen for this position, I will do everything in my power to be successful in my undertaking. Only with your help at the polls Tuesday will I be able to carry out this ambition.

As a list of my qualifications for this position, I was recently tapped for Sophomore Council. I made the Deans List with a 2.25 average last semester, and I am a member of the Florida Flambeau Staff. Even though I am engaged in extra-curricular activities, I would not let them interfere with my duties on the Traffic Court, if I am chosen for the position.

I am definitely opposed to the bill which has been introduced into the House of Representatives recently, which would abolish the University Traffic Court if it should be passed. The university affairs should be under the jurisdiction of the university courts, and not under the control of the Tallahassee police force. If this system were in effect, it would prove to be a great disadvantage to the university. The Traffic Court has done a commendable job in the past and it is more than willing to serve you as effectively in the future.

I sincerely hope that you will continue to give me the same support in the run-off election Tuesday that you have shown previously. If I am elected the Sophomore representative to the University Traffic Court for next year, I will earnestly attempt to carry out the duties in my most industrious manner. If you choose to elect me, I will do everything in my power to serve you to the best of my ability.

Sincerely yours,
JERI BRADFIELD
Student Party Candidate

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"You're flunking Math 412 because the next term offering of Math 412 doesn't have enough student enrollment."

Etcetera Etchings

Columnist Pens His Last Column

By DAVID DREIS

This morning while a morsel of food was being pushed into my mouth, my eyes fell on a copy of the latest Smoke Signals. Smoke Signals is Florida State University's humor magazine, but what my eyes saw and my heart felt was not at all funny. It was a personal slam.

Luckily this column affords me the position of answering within five-hundred words exactly how I feel about the article which appeared in the magazine. It isn't a proud feeling although it seems to compliment me through its long passages.

If you saw it, it was Etcetera Etchings with a by-line by David Dreis about David Dreis. Now, some of the greatest student and faculty response came from columns wherein I wrote and described some personal experiences. The Associated Collegiate Press especially liked the story of the stripteaser—a personal experience. Some of the nation's leading writers claim the first-person the most valuable form of style.

However, this article was not about personal experience but just praised me to the sky. I did write the story, but not for publication. Let me explain. A few months ago, News Director Ole Olson of the News Bureau of Public Relations asked yours truly to write a gloppy article about myself. I hesitated about this, but in true PRO methods he convinced me that 'outsiders' were interested in students of FSU. He told me he would rewrite all the praise in his own way. Well, the story came in and Ole Olson was all set to rewrite it. After being logged-down with his regular work he finally got to it, but before he touched a word, he left for another position. The article was "apparently" laid to rest. Somehow or another when Merrill Craig took over, he felt the story was too gloppy—which was true—and disposed of it. Somehow — or another — Martin Dyckman, ace journalist, gave it to Don Heidel the Smoke Signals editor for a gag. Now that it's printed, you can see the humor that is in it.

It's sorta like the man slipping on the banana peel. It never seems anything but funny unless it happens to you. However, there are a very few real laughs and those that do laugh their heads off are laughing because they know yours truly.

Usually, I enjoy the gag about my conceit like Jack Benny must enjoy the joke about his being cheap. Humility, as written in some of my articles, is not one of my assets, but this is what hurts. Every compliment ... might have paid me by reading this column over the past ... years seems so wasted. It would seem as if your comments to me were but straws in the wind ... wasn't. This column's primary reason is to entertain. It discussed movies because as an experiment it paid off. It was written with this sole purpose in mind—not to further myself.

When I failed to garner enough votes to win the Smoke Signals editorship last Spring, I felt that the winner would greatly carry on in giving good humor to the student body. Not only did the elected editor leave his post ... a salaried staff position, but has left it to a policy that ... lives in laughter through ridicule and while satire is humor ... ridicule is ridiculous. May I ... —very humbly—that you forgive me for giving you this impression. Your comments about ... readership have pleased me ... the past and this being the last Etcetera Etchings, I hope I ... hear from you in the future. ... been fun—for the most part—believe me.

The Dissenter

One Session Is Usually Enough—But!

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

One session of Student Senate is usually enough to make the average observer forsake his faith in democracy. Others save theirs by refusing to admit they see and hear what they think they see and hear.

Out of the sacrificial altar that is the Senate chamber have come two constitutional amendments this year which are especially worthy of note. Both of them are on the ballot today. Both should be defeated. The Senate may have passed them but that's no reason why we should.

One is the Board of Publications amendment which got amended no little bit itself between the time it was given to Senate and the time when Senate was through changing it around.

The other is the representation amendment, which is no answer whatsoever to the representation problem.

The Publications amendment was drawn up by a committee of editors who intended it to strengthen the publications financially, protect them from university control, and take the publications out of politics, where they have no business being in the first place.

The Senate, before it was through, came up with some changes that would put them more under politics than before.

This is directly the work of the Senate's most disappointed stalwart, Ken Gatlin. Angered at first by the Flambeau's refusal to let its choices for editor run on party tickets (a decision made with the realization that the parties should not pick the editor), Senator Gatlin could not be expected to look with favor on a plan which would take the publications out of politics altogether.

And so it was mainly Senator Gatlin, assisted by Sen. Jimmy Joanos, who got the Senate to keep the editors off the proposed board as voting members and provide that two of the five student members would be appointed by the president with confirmation by the Senate.

This is nothing more than giving the Senate an indirect, but powerful, say so over the editorships. Past experience has shown the Senate very quick to turn appointments into political free-for-alls in which qualifications are not considered.

At any rate, the publications amendment at the polls today is a tragic farce, and should be defeated.

The representation amendment should also be soundly rejected. All it will do is give Senate the power to rearrange student government at will without putting it to a student vote.

This came about because Senate couldn't agree on any one plan to change representation from the very unrepresentative class system that it has now.

In debate it was frankly admitted that such an amendment as that being voted ... would allow Senate to change ... representation system at will until it comes up with something suitable.

Regardless of what is ... about it, Senate Government is still too important to be used as a toy by a Senate obsessed with its own importance.

Any such a setup would ... a Senate to eradicate any member who might not be willing to stay at the level of the rest ... could graft senators to grant almost as favors.

That is democracy?

While we're voting against this mongrel today, we would do well to vote "yes" on a companion measure which would limit Senate to a two-thirds majority rule when reapportioning should the first measure pass.

Under that rule Senate ... would agree and the system would remain the same as ... but at least we wouldn't ...

Reflections

Publication Purposes Are Outlined

By OSCAR JOHNSON

"I don't think the publications' staffs themselves know what they want."

So quoth Ken Gatlin in the last Senate meeting. He meant that the people on the staffs of the Flambeau, Tally-Ho and Smoke Signals are as confused as anybody else on what to do about the board.

His attitude was evidently fostered because of an abrupt change of mind on the part of the staff supporters of the Senate bill. To be particular, Flambeau Editor Robert Folsom decided it would not be a good idea to have the faculty members of the board chosen in the manner originally specified.

After this happened, the Senate decided to get in on the act. It passed numerous changes of its own until it had set itself up as the body which in actuality would control the policies of the publications on this campus.

The only obvious reason why the Senate would so suddenly reverse itself was that its members took Folsom's actions to mean that the publications were in a general state of disagreement on what the board should be like.

This is not the case. Any differences that have become manifest do not relate to the goals sought by the publications, but merely affect the means to the ends.

We still have these purposes: To establish a body which will operate the printing plant sought by the Flambeau staff for next year, which will be able to offer technical assistance and advice to members of the Tally-Ho in the production of their yearbook; which will establish direct lines of authority for all three publications so that the principles of a free press will be guaranteed—rather than granted by the shifting consent of the present.

This is not to say I support the Senate's board. As I wrote once, a board should not be constructed hastily for fear of having one clamped upon us. I still affirm that such cannot and will not be done. To design a board that will deliver the advantages we seek over the present situation and conditions is a long-term project that does not have as its goal administrative, School of Journalism or Senate control. It has to be drawn up slowly and carefully and with a clear view of the dangers involved.

The editorial Friday on Southern Universities Student Government Association did ... across the exact point ... impressed with as delegate ... the recent convention.

This statement was accredited to me. "SUSGA has accomplished nothing in the past." Actually, the whole statement was, "At the recent convention, however, officers of the ... virtually admitted SUSGA ... accomplished nothing during ... first year of existence."

Later on, I also made the following pertinent statement: "SUSGA was born with a malignant cancer . . . it is possible that SUSGA will overcome ... deficiencies and become a ... ful group." I consider this doubtful, but there are a few ... it could accomplish that ... might not.

As one example it might ... able to set up procedures ... by leading orchestras could ... contracted on low terms to perform at various southern universities during a tour. This would result in money saved. But SUSGA has not given such benefits so far. It possibly could. That was my impression, not that it should be abandoned without further experimentation.

Lately It Seems

Flambeau Has Meaning To Staff

By ORCHID ALONSO

Elsewhere in this paper today, the readers will find an account of basic differences and personalities of the last six Flambeau editors, garnered from personal experience. And the reader can be assured of one thing—working for one's sixth "administration" on a publication is an experience.

But let us not here dwell on the subject of editors, but rather on what the Flambeau means to the staff members. What the student opinion means to the Flambeau. And what the Flambeau can do for the students.

An oft discussed topic—yet there is some doubt whether the students fully realize the love that needs to be present for journalistic work to put so much time and effort into it. Personal glory? Not always. Often the paper's hardest workers are the behind the scenes people. They get no glory—they expect none. Newspaper work is a marriage. It is an intermingling of ink with blood—of paper with skin—of a complicated network of nerves and muscle with plates and rollers.

Complaints have been registered charging the Flambeau staff members with disregarding the wishes of the students. This is true—and so is it false. It has happened—but it has been painful. And usually it's the product of one person and not of the entire staff. In spite of the remark that "editors live in a world of their own" it must be admitted that any world anywhere is an integrated mess.

Editors and staff members care about public opinion. The blissful marriage that exists with the press is turned into a monstrous divorce when the press is not credited with complying with the wishes of the reader. That is where the love comes in. As surely as happiness is satisfaction, there can be no happy conjugal relation if the readers are dissatisfied.

Necessarily, The Flambeau (fr. torch) attempts to enlighten the students. For the university it is a means of communication. Of relaying feelings and accomplishments—and failures. The latter is perhaps the basic cause for most dissatisfaction. Failure. Hearts cringe at the thought. It is a thing to be hurled. To be ignored. And then it isn't. Students should know of failures as well as of successful accomplishments. But the perpetrators of the dismal illegitimate scum of actions think otherwise. Can't really blame them.

In this vein, while spuming at the mouth, my distinguished colleagues speak of the grave injustice done the Flambeau and the other publications by the Senate. I would like to point out the injustice directly aimed at the students.

The amendment up for vote today is not only a gross misinterpretation of the original intentions, but is so gutted with misconceptions, paradoxes and virtual carelessness that if passed, it would comprise the greatest legislative farce since the Florida Constitution.

Extremely interesting of

(Continued on Page 4)

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

Many silly games being played by fraternity type people . . .

One such game is painting Santa Claus tree green. Another such is painting old SAE Joe. But biggest game is big fraternity weekend, with many silly games also being played.

Consider typical weekend just for Guys and Gals dancing to Floridian Hotel, when one couple slips out to veranda. This a cue for side game mentioned as the Pinball Syndrome. After little verbal fencing, girl accepts pin. This is followed, by congratulations from other Brothers who immediately prepare for the same number two, the Pool Party.

The unsuspecting Brother is led into a false sense of security. Nothing happens until the same party the following night, when the couple are serenaded by the chorus. This is followed by the smooch, bouquet of roses, and the same number two.

Foolish Brother is grabbed by arms hands, and dragged unmercifully to the door. He can be heard screaming "But you promised . . ." The screams are drowned out by spring tides.

On the way to the pool one small girl started wrath can be observed jumping up and down and yelling "Throw him in the pool!" Throw him in the pool." The victim later finds out this is his welcome beloved. "I'm nuts about traditions stuff" she explains prior to our bedraggled hero.

This situation now leads to side game three . . . finding out about the girl friends relatives, and other pertinent friends.

"About my four big brothers who play first string for Notre Dame . . . Dream Girl begins.

"What four brothers?" The Boy Friend screams hysterically. "I thought you were an only child."

"Oh, no," she says. "I have all kinds of brothers and sisters. In fact, one of them who is only one half brother, disguised himself as a chimpanzee to spy for the FBI. He just finished writing a book, I Went Ape For the FBI. It will probably be a best seller."

By this time the Boy Friend is quite sheets gone to the wind. "You'll just love my dog, Schnauzer," she continues. "He's a little Dalmatian, smaller than a bull dog, and weighs 125 pounds. Real cute."

"Cute" echoes the sickening boy friend.

"The only thing about Schnauzer is that he's such a baby. He can't stand to have anyone come near me. Real funny."

"Funny" says the Boy Friend.

"And then there's dear sweet daddy, with his short sun collection. What a scream!"

"Scream" says the long suffering Boy Friend who has no use for big brothers, 125 pound dogs named Schnauzer, and shot gun toting fathers.

And as the sun sinks slowly in the west, we leave our handsome hero in the clutches of his intended, wondering where he ever met this girl who lives in 408 Alhambra.

As they say in Polish, "Who started his silly game?"

All Lettermen!

The last meeting of the year for the men's "P" club will be held Wednesday nite, 7:30 p.m. at the women's gym.

Since elections for next year were postponed until this meeting it is imperative that all members be present.

Let's get the club off to a good start for next year.

HARVARD OFFERS ROSCOES

ACP—The Harvard Lampoon, student humorous monthly, recently voted "The Cute Mutter" as the best argument against naval ROTC and decided "The Love Look Failed" was the greatest waste of gas of the year.

They voted special "Roscoes" to Tony Curtis whose marcelled and mobile grease locks have inflated scores of bobby soxers, and to Grace Kelly "who easily retains the title Ironclad Virgin of 1954."

chemical reaction
Exclusive "Miracle Mix" brushless SHAVE
AFTER 28 brush-on jackets spring wood shampoo, haircut, styling, saves "natural" look, budget prices. Have more fun — go
Affer Six
Barber Shop
Next to Campus Theatre

Thinclads Upset Miami In Dual Meet

Profs Play In Softball League

By Harry Bernard

Very shortly on Tuesday and Thursday nights, certain assistant professors and graduate students will indulge in a little extra-curricular activity.

Eighteen men, organized by D. F. Keeley, have become a team sponsored by Gulf Oil Company. These men make up a softball team which will play in the Tallahassee Municipal Softball League.

Two games are played on each night, with one game at 7:30 and the other one scheduled at 9. All games are played at Bridges Field.

All soothsayer there are four teams in this league. Gulf Oil Company, Tallahassee Builders, Wylie Grocers, and Carter's Sporting Goods. The only stipulation in order to be on a team is that the member must be a resident of Tallahassee.

Last year most of these same men formed a team in this league, but they were not to successful. This year however, they hope to give a better account of themselves.

The league is divided into two halves, with the winner of each half playing in the best two out of three game series to determine the over-all winner.

Last year Tallahassee Heights won the first half with Tallahassee Builders copping the second. In the play-offs the Builders defeated the Tallahassee Heights two games to none. The winning team received trophies for all its players.

The league will run from the latter part of April to the end of July. The results of each night's games may be seen in the local papers

This year the team from FSU consists of D K Keeley, manager, Hector Keller, Bradford Bond, Oscar Crespen, Don Lonsaint, John Dolphin, Karl Dittner, Art Butler, Joseph Florin R S. Young, David Deier, Robert Setting and Claude V mon. Also Charles Watson was also a double winner for the Indians as he came home first in the 440 and later took the 220 yd. low hurdles. Following Watson in the lows were Joe Davis and Tenny Brown in that order, to sweep the event.

Indians Cop Six Firsts

By LARRY HOUNTHA

An estimated 7100 overheated Miamians sat in the blistering noonday sun last Saturday and looked forward to seeing the University of Miami Hurricanes blow the Florida State underground off their beautiful eight lane track.

The sunbaked spectators also anxiously awaited seeing the smoothest Wes Santee break the 4 minute mile barrier. The Miami track had been watered on for two whole weeks, the cinders were fine and fast, the dirt spots had been packed down and the lanes had been laid out with loving care.

Everything Ready

Everything was ready for the annual Miami-FSU track meet with two three straight decisions over FSU would and a fourth, and the soft spoken, modest Wes would crack the two-oh mark happy endings all had in their seats, ordered another beer, grazed and waited expectantly for the meet to begin.

And Then . . .

However, when the laid plans of mice and Miamians often go astray. The fast stepping Indianne Builders capping the second. In the play-offs the Builders defeated the Tallahassee Heights two games to none. The winning team received trophies for all its players.

The league will run from the latter part of April to the end of July. The results of each night's games may be seen in the local papers

This year the team from FSU consists of D K Keeley, manager, Hector Keller, Bradford Bond, Oscar Crespen, Don Lonsaint, John Dolphin Karl Dittner, Art Butler, Joseph Florin R S. Young David Deier, Robert Setting and Claude V mon. Also Charles Watson was also a double winner for the Indians as he came home first in the 440 and later took the 220 yd. low hurdles. Following Watson in the lows were Joe Davis and Tenny Brown in that order, to sweep the event.

880 Feat

Ken Sumner came roaring off the turn in the last quarter of the 880 to win in the fast time of 2:01 6. It was Sanners best half mile of the season, less than four seconds off the school record. Prosh star Vern Duce although suffering from a touch of the flu still managed to run a close second in both the one and two mile grinds.

THE SUMMARIES:

SHOT PUT—1 Groman, M; 2 Freundorfer, FSU; 3, Jacobs, FSU 52 feet 0 4 inches

120 HIGH HURDLES — 1 Clark. M; 2. Watson. FSU; 3 Donaldson, M 16 1.

100—1. Terwilliger, FSU; 2, Losch M 3 Brookman, M 10.2

JAVELIN THROW—1. Weaver, FSU, 2 2 Horwell, M. 3. Harrell, FSU 200 feet, 5 inches

MILE RUN — 1. Utter, M; 2. Duce FSU 3. Ellis M 4 47.

440—1. Watson, FSU, 2 Ferrare, M. 3. Hoban, M. 52.2.

HIGH JUMP—1. Donaldson, M. 2. Brown, FSU. 3 Larsen, FSU 5 feet 11½ inches.

880 — 1. Sganer, FSU 2. Losch, M. 3. Thomas, FSU 2:01.6.

POLE VAULT—1. D Thomas M. 2-3. Ramer and Strickland FSU. tie. 12 feet.

DISCUS — 1 Freundorfer, FSU; 2.

220—1. Terwilliger, FSU; 2 Losch M. 3 Davis, FSU; 22 4

Grossman, M; 3. Grim, FSU 146 feet 4 inches.

TWO MILE RUN — 1. Ellis; M.; 2. Duce. FSU 3. Utter, M. 10 47.6.

220 LOW HURDLES—1 Watson, FSU; 2. Davis, FSU; 3 Brown, FSU 25.2.

BROAD JUMP—1. Donaldson M; 2 Davis FSU; 3. Freundorfer, FSU; 20 feet 2½ inches.

LIKE AFTER A TOUCHDOWN, MAYBE.

LOS ANGELES—(ACP)— The Daily Trojan reports that at a USC yell leader school on the campus the theme was "when to yell." Said one of the leaders: "We've got to develop communication between the coach and cheer leaders so we'll know when to yell and when not to.

LOST — An English research theme was lost in the library Monday. Finder please call the owner, Ray Marky, at 2-0851.

Pole Vaulting Star—Warren Strickland clears the bar to place third at the Miami meet. FSU, rated as the underdog, took six first places to beat the Hurricanes by 15 points.

Vollyballers Face Tough Grind At Forthcoming NCAA Meet

The Florida State University United States Volleyball Association and committee meetVolleyball team leaves Saturday morning for the National Intercollegiate Tournament to be held at Norman, Oklahoma. The tournament will begin for the Seminoles Wednesday morning at 10:15 a.m. when they face the University of Oklahoma Boomers in a first round match.

The volleyballers will find themselves in the role of underdog in facing teams such as torate in Education at Florida U.C.L.A Stanford, George Williams College, Oklahoma Teachers, University of Washington and College of Medical Evangelism.

The Seminoles did not participate in last years tournament, but placed fourth in 1953, fourth in 1952, fourth in 1951, and fifth in 1950.

In the past four tournaments FSU has placed two men on the first All-American team and four on the second team. If the Seminoles place well in this years tournament, possibly three of its members will be named to the All-American team.

On Saturday night, May 7, a Florida State will meet the Memphis Navy and Memphis "A" in a triangular match at the Millington Naval Base near Memphis, Tennessee.

Accompanying the team will be Dr H. G. Danford who will attend executive sessions of the ing in Cincinnati, Ohio, then head.

According to the college paper, The Courier, the instructor noted the looks of utter confusion in his class, hastily explained he meant the first speaker would be Nan Aid, followed by Shirley Blood.

TODAY'S GRUESOME TOPIC

DUBUQUE, Ia. —(ACP)—Students at a freshman speech class in Clarke College here did a double-take and then shuddered when their instructor blandly announced:

"Today we'll have fetal aid and

AMBITIOUS STUDENT

credits success to Jockey brand underwear

"Next to my pearly white teeth, Jockey shorts are my greatest asset," says Brownie J. Lapetter, professional favorite. "I always sit as close to the professor as possible, so I can't afford to squirm around. Thanks to Jockey shorts, I can maintain a rigid expression of unvarying interest for hours at a time."

You don't have to be a professional enthusiast to enjoy that casual-at-ease appearance that comes from wearing Jockey shorts' Better drop into your dealer's soon . . . buy a supply of Jockey shorts and T-shirts . . . and feel as good as you look!

It's in style to be comfortable . . . in Jockey underwear

made only by Coopers Inc., Kenosha, Wisconsin

CASH for your
USED BOOKS
We Pay HALF PRICE of Retail
Price of New Books
(IF IN USE ON CAMPUS)
Books Discontinued On Campus
We Pay Wholesale Price.
University Bookstore
SEMINOLES
FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY

DO YOU NEED MONEY
Sell Your USED Books
to
MALONE'S BOOK STORE
107 S. Copeland

THE LAST WORD IN LUCKY DROODLES!

SAMPLE CASE OF BOWLING ALLEY SALESMAN
Jeanne Parsons
Hofstra
ELEVATOR SHOES FOR SHORT HORSE
Leonard Rivkin
U.C.L.A.
WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.
OCTOPUS EATS FISH WITH SWORDFISH
Jerry Lansing
University of Toledo
STILL LIFE OF AN APPLE BY HUNGRY ART STUDENT
Frances J. Desmond
St. John's U.
HYDRO HOLDING UNITS MADE FOR BEAR LIFE
Bruce Holmes
Southern State College
TOP HONORS for enjoyment go to Lucky Strike. That's why it's easy to understand the Droodle above, titled: Bird's-eye view of seniors taking Lucky break at commencement. Whenever it's light-up time, you'll get a higher degree of pleasure from Luckies. That's because Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Commence to enjoy better taste yourself—light up a Lucky Strike!
Better taste Luckies...
LUCKIES TASTE BETTER
CLEANER, FRESHER, SMOOTHER!
"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!
COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES!
Luckies lead all other brands in colleges—and by a wide margin—according to an exhaustive, coast-to-coast college survey. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.
DROODLER Copyright 1955 by Roger Price
LUCKY STRIKE
IT'S TOASTED
CIGARETTES
CA'T Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company "AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Run-Off Class Elections Slated Today Until 7 P. M.

New Scholastic Honorary Taps

The new Florida State University chapter of Phi Eta Sigma will initiate twenty-seven charter members Friday.

The National Freshman Scholastic Honorary Society will hold initiation at 5:15 p.m. in Longmire Building. Dean C. M. Thompson, University of Illinois, who is the only living founder and grand president, will be present for the ceremony. Following the installation a banquet will be held in the Suwannee Room, at 6:15 p.m.

There are eighty-seven chapters of Phi Eta Sigma in the ords of all undergraduate stu- United States. The first was depts to see who would have had started at the University of the 2.5 scholastic average re- Illinois in 1923. Its founders in- quired for membership if the clude Dean Thomas A. Clark chapter had been here when they Dean of Men, Dean Babcock, were Freshman.
Dean of Arts and Sciences, and Initiates are:
Dean C. M. Thompson, Dean Freshmen: Charles Allen An- of the College of Commerce derson, William Gustav Bach- there. man Jr., Thomas Richard Brick- man, Robert Wylly Butler, Joseph Cappels Crane, Elton Frank Henley, Raymond Law- rence Mellon, Robert Stanley Cameron McKnight, Robert Sawyer Meigs, Richard George Coyle Eller Moore Jr., William Putman Jr., William Morris Pailgian, Donald Eugene Smith, and James Gwynn Staples Jr.

FSU students who will be initiated Friday include Fresh- man, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Dean Cannon, Dean of Men here at Florida State Uni- versity explained that it had been decided to check the rec- Jr. Robert David Stearns, Sheldon Marshall Yarn.

Sophmurres: Arnold Freedan Becchetti, Franklin Ryan Ed- wards, Donald Ralph Heidel Gary Walter Nahrstedt, David Earl Raney, David Ward-Stein- man.

Juniors: Marvin Glenn Mayo, Coyle Eller Moore Jr., William Pailgian, Donald Eugene Smith, and James Gwynn Staples Jr.

Seniors: Peter L. Nuskoff and O. Donn Teal.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
Today
"Escape To Burma"
Barbara Stanwyck
Tomorrow Thru Tuesday
"The Prodigal"
with Lana Turner
PERRY HIGHWAY
Today & Tomorrow
"Phffft"
Judy Holiday
Thursday Thru Saturday
"Part of Hell"
Dane Clark
plus
"Cannibal Attack"
Johnny Weismuller

STATE
Today
"The Glass Slipper"
Leslie Caron
Tomorrow Thru Saturday
"The Racers"
with
Kirk Douglas
CAPITOL DRIVE-IN
ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Today & Tomorrow
"Against All Flags"
Robert Ryan
Thursday - Saturday
"Big Sky"
Kirk Douglas
plus
"Tanganyika"
Van Heflin—Ruth Roman

RITZ—Today & Tomorrow
Lawrence Harvey — Susan Shentall
"Romeo & Juliet"

Dean Peter Carter

Oxford's Dean Carter Speaks At Bonquet

Dean Peter Carter of Oxford, England will be guest of honor tonight at the initiation banquet of Pi Sigma Alpha, national political science honorary. Ceremonies will be held at 5 p.m. in the small Longmire Lounge.

Carter is Dean of Wadham College, Oxford, England, and is now at the University of Florida as Visiting Professor of Law during the spring and summer sessions.

To be initiated are Nathan Elsont, John Brown, Robert Canada, Warren Cobb, Bruce Fletcher, Robert Critiendeo, Beverly Du- perrousel, Rima Greenberg, John Hilburn, Jimmy Joanos, Fred Thornton, Hortense Wells Sourgeon Johnson, Jo Carol Law, Jo Ann Mc- Kay, Arnold Melcher, Al Shuler, and James Ward.

Dean of Students R. R. Oelsby will also be initiated into the hon- orary.

Dean Carter will deliver a poli- tical science lecture here tonight. His lecture on "University Educa- tion in the United Kingdom" is open to the public at 8 p.m. in Re- gusia Conrads Theater.

COME HOME, LITTLE MOOLA

COLUMBIA, Mo — ACP— Two years ago Nancy Drake, now a student at Stephens College here, wrote her name on the edge of a one-dollar bill in Minneapolis, Minn. The same bill was returned to her recently by a store clerk after Nancy had made a few purchases in downtown Co- lumbia, according to the campus paper, Stephens Life.

Job Opportunities

TUESDAY, MAY 17
DAVISON-PAXON COMPANY
Wanted, Men and women a Retail- ing Marketing Business Administra- tion, and Liberal Arts
Interviewer: S. Lila Graham

John Charles Studios
121 E. College Avenue
3-3570

STUDENT SPECIAL
One 5 × 7 black and white portrait plus six wallet-sized portraits made from your selection of proofs—
$3.95
Also Special Prizes on Color Photographs
Call Studio for Appointment

Amendments Up For Vote At 3 Polls

Five constitutional amendments, including the controversial Board of Publications and Representa- tion proposals, will be on today's ballot for the run-off elections.

Eighteen offices will also be filled today, several Senate seats among them.

Polling Places

Polling places will be located at Westcott, Student Center and Semi- nole Club, staffed by Sophomore Council, and will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., elections secretary Betty Williams said yesterday.

Offices to be decided on to- day's run offs are:

Two Sophomore Women's Senate seats, sought by Polly Atwater, Student; Petsy Dunn, Student; Jan Fletcher, ind.; and Mary Walter, Stele.

Two Junior Women's Senate seats, candidates for which are Greta Sims, Student; Nancy Cub- bon, Student; Carole Cason, Student, and Barbara Hughes Student.

Two Senior Men' Senate seats, sought by Fred Mansfield, State; Bruce Fletcher, ind., and Mary Mano, Student; and Gale Porter, State.

Soph Run-Offs

Sophomore Class presidency, Bill Weaver, State and Bill Cullom ind.,

Sophomore vice-presidency, Car- oie Dailey, ind. and Don K. Lewis, Student.

Sophomore secretary, Shirley Sue Hunter, ind. and Mary Lou Prescott, ind.,

Sophomore Treasurer, Chris Gi- nocchio, ind.; and Karen Kim- pel, Student.

Sophomore Social Chairman, Majel Hinson, ind.; and Joy Smiley, Student.

Junior Class vice-president, Bruce Jacob, ind.; and Shirley Morgan, State.

Soph Judiciary

Three Sophomore Women's Ju- diciary seats, sought by Wilma Lee Fagan Student; Martha Grit- tard, ind., Jean Hamilton, ind.; Barbara Jean Little, Student, Patty Wagner, State; and Mar- garet Stevens, Student.

Freshmen Traffic Court seat, Jerry Bradfield, Student and Patty Peacock, ind.,

Senior Class vice-presidency, Barbara Bachman, Student; and Dick Bittner, State.

Senior Treasurer, Sally Pu- sell, ind., and Carol Wells, Stu- dent.

Campus Sing

(Continued from page one)

Prince," "Medley of Fraternity Songs."

Sororities

Alpha Gamma Delta — Scotty Dickinson, conductor, and Sue Brunson, acc., "My Heart Stood Still," "Rock-a My Soul", Alpha Omicron Pi—Loren Shirley, con- ductor and Miriam Rock, acc., "Herman, the Violinist," "Hails of Ivy"; Alpha Xi Delta — Joan Scott, conductor and Myra Ann Lay, acc., "Clap Yo' Hands," "Path Leading Down to the River."

Also Chi Omega — Thalia White- burst, conductor, and La Verta Armstrong, acc., "With a Song in My Heart," "Little David Play on Your Harp"; Delta Delta Delta — Susan Linebaugh, conductor, and Joanne Poe, acc., "Gypsy Song Medley," "Tri Delt Medley" Delta Zeta—Harriet Ramsey, con- ductor, and Betty Sheppard, acc., "The Little Worm," "Paano Love Song."

Also Kappa Alpha Theta — Shirley Kellogg, conductor, and Jean Martin, acc., "The Sconce- pated Clock," "A Fellow Needs a Girl"; Phi Mu — Jean Jordan, conductor, and Melinda Brown, acc., Kentucky Babe," "Phi Mu Sweetheart Song"; Pi Beta Phi— Mary Shaw, conductor, and Betty Jane Jackson, acc., "When Day is Done," "Christopher Robin is Saying His Prayers."

Also Sigma Kappa — Charlaine Weeks, conductor, and Beth Par- rix, acc., "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," "Rise 'n Shine"; Zeta Tau Alpha — Jo Jones, conductor, and Carol Ow- ens, acc., "Wonderful Copenha- en," and "I Believe."

Dormitories

Reynolds Hall — Anita Woods, conductor, and Sally Hukle, acc., "Were You There," "There Are Such Things."

Campus Sing was organized by its present sponsors, SAI and PMA in 1950. Since that time one cup has already been retired by Sigma Chi, which has won the event 4 times out of 5 tries, being beaten only by Magnolia Hall in 1953.

Sigma Kappa won the silver cup last year in the women's division, and Gamma Phi Beta in 1953.

Flambeau Has

(Continued from Page 2)

course, in the interest desire of the Senate to "protect" the students from the staff mem- bers who are not students at all. Of course, our illustrious senators did not always feel this way about the proposed plan. In fact, 16 out of 17 sen- ators who voted on it the first time, admitted the needs of such a board. By the way, the board is not for censuring or dictating policies, so we doubt whether the students need any "protection" from the editors who live in a world of their own!

After a week had passed, Senator Nimbler revised the bill in order to have the Sen- ate reconsider it. Of course, Pete's veto had nothing to do with reconsideration. A presi- dent of the student body hasn't the right to veto a proposed constitutional amendment. But the faculty review committee thought some of the wording might be corrected. So the Sen- ate proceeded to change the bill.

By this time they were all convinced as they always are- that they should have a great deal of say-so with the publi- cations board. So now duh thee "Senate Board of Stu- dents." Entirely amiss. What matter that the Senate would discharge its duties as it sees fit. What does matter is that the discharged duties aren't so fit.

Special Session

(Continued from page one)

ate shouldn't set the precedent of "amendment."

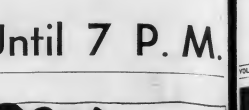
Senator Petey Dunn responded, "Even if it lowers our grades, every student should be reached."

Gaster countered with, "Who should we spend the money?"

Joanie suggested that if the Senate didn't like the bill it had passed it should reconsider it.

Members of the Flambeau staff assured the Senate their resolu- tion would be printed as their issue. Gaster thereupon moved to delete the distribution stipulation. Senator Nimbler introduced a substitute amendment which would ask the Flambeau to print the letter.

Further arguments voiced by Gatlin said if the letter were not published in mimeograph form, many students might vote in the morning before seeing the Sen- ate's side of the controversy.



Senator Fred Mansfield inter- declared that if we're going to do anything, the letter's the only way.

Senator Jim Moore, toward the close of lengthy debate, told the Senators that if they circulated a letter they would be "as guilty as the Flambeau" of presenting one side of an argument.

After Gaster's request that the Flambeau print the letter passed, he attempted to delete the pro- vision for mimeographing and circulation of the letter from the resolution, but was outvoted.

BIBLER ACCEPTS

ACP—Dick Bibler, author of the cartoon, "Little Man On The Campus" has accepted a teach- ing position at Humboldt State College in Arcata, Calif., it was reported recently in the Angelo Timberline - Port Angeles senior high school.

SUMER IS ICUMEN IN

Sumer is icumen in;
Lhude sing cuccu!

Thus, as every schoolboy knows, begins T. S. Eliot's immortal Hiawatha. And no wonder. "The Roy Orator of the Platte" as T. S. Eliot is commonly called, was moved to pen such light- hearted lines! For summer (or the "vernal equinox" as it is frequently referred to) is the happiest season of the year, mild and balmy and contented-making.

Which brings us, of course, to Philip Morris Cigarettes. They, too, are mild and balmy and contented-making. But that is not all. They are also genial, placid, and amiable. But that is still not all. They are, moreover, smooth, pacific, and lenient. But hold! There is more. They are, in addition, tranquillising, clement, and dulcet.

Indeed the list could go on and on, until every adjective is exhausted that would describe the mildness of Philip Morris, the subtlety of their blending, the delicacy of their flavor. What more perfect companion could be found to a summer's day? What more apt complement to a summer's night?

If you have been pleased with Philip Morris through the win- ter and spring—as who has not who has a taste bud left in his head?—you will find your pleasure compounded, your enjoyment trebled, when you smoke Philip Morris in the warm and joyous months before you.

My own plans for the summer (except that I will smoke Philip Morris through all my waking hours) are still vague. I have been invited to attend a writers conference, but I don't think I'll ac- cept. I've been attending writers conferences for years, and I always have a perfectly rotten time. The trouble is that Alexan- dre Dumas and Harriet Beecher Stowe are always there. Not that I have anything against these two swell kids; it's just that it breaks my heart to see them. They're so in love—so terribly de- voted and so hopelessly! Dumas will never divorce Jane Eyre while she is with Peary at the North Pole, and Miss Stowe has spent nine centuries of getting her release from the Flying Dutch- Pirates. So hand in hand, brave and forlorn, they go from writers conference to writers conference while Dumas works on his mon- umental Stover at Yale.

No, thank you, I'll do without writers conferences this summer. I think instead I'll go on another fishing trip. As Izaak Walton once said, "No man is born an artist or an angler." I often turn to the works of Walton (or "The Fordham Flash" as he is fa- miliarly called) when I am seeking fish a reliance upon it is a fact, I told him au when we met some years ago at a writers conference. Walton was accompanied, as always, by Henri- Ibsen (or "The Pearl of the Pacific" as he is known as. Ibsen (or "The Pearl of the Pacific" and Walton "The Fordham Flash"—were collaborating on Mister Roberts at the time, but they fell to quarreling and abandoned the project after, as a consequence, was deprived of a truly robust and entertain- ing comedy.

It is not uncommon, I must say, for writers to fall into disputes. They are, after all, a sensitive and high-strung lot. I'll never forget what William Makepeace Thackeray or "The Body" as he was universally called - once said to me. "You show me a good writer," said Thackeray, "and I'll steal his wife."

Well, as I was saying, I think I'll give writers conferences a miss this summer, and I recommend that you do the same. Sure don't you just take it easy? Swim and fish and sail and smoke and read and sleep and tan your lithe young limbs. I want the best for you because—if I may get a little musty in the nostrils for the Flambeau—if dressing one side of an argument.

After Gaster's request that the Flambeau print the letter passed, he attempted to delete the pro- vision for mimeographing and circulation of the letter from the resolution, but was outvoted.

Our "On Campus" campaign has departed in many respects from conventional advertising methods. We'd like to have your opinion on this new campaign — and on the product, too, if you see fit — as a means of guiding us in planning our future college advertising efforts. How about dropping us a note? Thanks—Bill Watts, Duke '50, Mgr., Philip Morris College Dept., 100 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.

TAKE little sister or brother
A
T shirt, bathrobe or denim jacket
when you g ohome this June.
UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
IN THE STUDENT CENTER

SALE--- SWEATSHIRTS
and
F.S.U. TAG PLATES
OTHER ITEMS ALSO ON SALE
UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
IN THE STUDENT CENTER

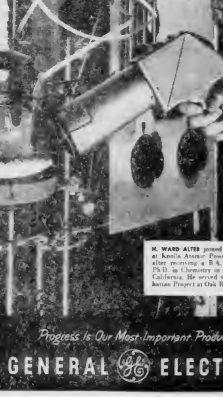
What young people are doing at General Electric

Young scientist works on new ways to handle "hot" radioactive fuel

Wherever uranium is "burned" in an atomic reactor, certain valuable elements such as plutonium are left behind in the "ash."

These products are highly radioactive, but they must be recovered because of their great value to the atomic energy program.

This is the job of 31-year-old H. Ward Alter, Supervisor of the Separations Chemis- try Unit at the AEC's Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory, which General Electric operates in Schenectady, N. Y.



Alter's Work Is Vital, Important

Alter is doing his job well. He has already received the Coffin Award, General Electric a highest honor, for developing an apparatus that makes possible faster, safer, and more efficient recovery of the valuable elements in the "ash."

The work done by Alter and his group helps lower costs, increase efficiency and ex- pand our knowledge of the chemical process- ing of spent radioactive fuels.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Alter came to General Electric in 1948, he already knew the work he wanted to do. Like each of the 25,000 college gradu- ate employees, he was given his chance to grow and realize his full potential. For Gen- eral Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

H. WARD ALTER joined G.E. in 1948 at Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory after receiving a B.S. in 1943 and Ph.D. in Chemistry in 1948 at U. of California. He served with the Man- hattan Project at Oak Ridge, 1944-46.

Progress Is Our Most Important Product

GENERAL ELECTRIC

SENATOR'S SIDE Letter 'Explained'?—P. 2

The Florida Flambeau

Semi-Weekly College Newspaper FLORIDA'S ONLY

VOL. XL, NO. 51 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1938

Prom Royalty—Senior members of the court for this year's all-student prom, honoring Juniors and Seniors, are, l. to r., Jo Ann Hutto, Billy Graham, Betty Ann Munroe, Harry Massey, Marlies Gessler, Bob Berto and Ann Yates. Not shown is Bob Canada. King and Queen will be named tomorrow night.

Constitutional Amendments Cause Dispute

None Believed To Have Gotten 25 Per Cent

BY MARTIN DYCKMAN

Campus politicians were on a quandry yesterday over whether the five constitutional amendments voted on Tuesday had or had not been passed.

In the election for class, senate and court offices, close contests were the regular rather than the exception, but word from the elections committee yesterday was that neither request for a hand recount would be granted.

The constitutional controversy over the amendments centers on the issue of whether or not twenty-five per cent of the Student Body must vote either yes or no on an amendment in order for it to pass, should it get a majority of those votes.

An estimated 1,462 votes were cast.

The Attorney General's office is making a study of the situation, assistant attorney general Beverly Dupercount said.

Thinks It Failed

In Miss Dupercount's opinion, when the termed a "prima facie guess," the amendments failed She said her statement was made on the basis of "marked" ballots appeared in ballots with no votes for the amendments

Attorney General Dave Kennedy said shortly afterward that he would not issue an opinion as such, but would present both sides to the honor courts. An appeal was then made to the Court to decide on the case.

Honor Court Chief Justice Jerry Meyer tentatively set, 4 p.m. Monday for a hearing The 1936-35 Court goes out of office after the installations that night.

Proponents of the amendments maintain that a person has voted if he drops a ballot into the box. Opponents claim that, according to the Constitution, a vote must be either "yes" or "no" to be counted.

Not 25 Per Cent

The vote on each amendment, none of which received a total of yes and no vote of twenty-five per cent of the electorate, was:

Amendment to give Senate power to set up representation by area without submitting it to student body as constitutional amendment, 431 for, 239 against. Not passed.

Amendment requiring Senate to agree by two-thirds majority when making such representation changes, 748 for, 125 against.

Amendment setting up Honor System as part of Constitution, 764 in favor, 191 against.

Amendment setting up Board of Publications, 728 for, 247 against.

Summer Council

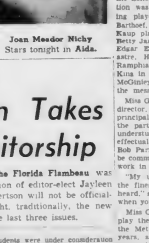
Amendment allowing Freshmen to hold office on Summer Council, 667 for, 259 against.

Senate Vacancy

In one of the close races which characterized the election Bill Cullom won the Sophomore Class vice-presidency by a vote of 322

(Continued on page 4)

'Aida' Features Students' Cast Tonight At 8:15



Garnet Key Taps Twenty - Three

Garnet Key, university spirit, leadership and service honorary for Junior and Senior women, tapped new members Wednesday night.

Those selected were, Winifred Almas, Barbara Bachman, Cynthia Brown, Nancy Carter, Carolyn Close, Harriet Davis, Mary Louise Dee, Jacqueline Dupont, Barbara Graham, Joan Hallord, Joan Johansen, Jo Jones, Joan Mikesell, Jane McKneely, and Evelyn Moll.

Also Germaine Murray, Ina Jean Pruitt, Carmine Ranieri, Madelyn Reiker, Jayleen Robertson, Jane Soper, Ellen Snow, Carol Wells and Betty Lou Whittle.

A 1.3 scholastic average is required for membership as well as the other qualifications.

Joan Meador Nichy
Stars tonight in Aida.

Bartholf Has Lead In All Performances

The curtain will rise tonight on the Choral Union's second performance of Verdi's Aida, this time featuring the second cast, at 8:15 in Westcott Auditorium.

Composed mostly of students, the cast stars Wendell Barthof as Radames and Joan Nichy as Aida. Carole Nydegger will play the part of Amneris. Peter Peck will be Amonasaro. Charles Fuller will portray Ramphis. Jack Kelley will be the King, and Bob Parrish, who has also understudied as Radames during rehearsals, will act as messenger.

Last night's performance, as well as the final one Saturday, used the first cast, composed mainly of faculty members of the School of Music. An exception was Radames, who is being played by a student, Mr. Barthof, in both casts. Edith Kaup played the part of Aida, Betty Jane Grumm was Amneris, Elmar Evans portrayed Amonastre, Herman Gunter played Ramphis, and Jack Kelley plays the King in both casts and Forrest McGinley, also a student, was the messenger.

Miss Grumm, who is also stage director, said that she felt the principals were "very pleased" so the parts than usual, and the understudies are doing the most effectual job they've ever done. Bob Parrish," she added, "is to be commended for his very hard work in learning two roles.

"My understudy has one of the finest contralto voices I've heard," she said. "It's really rare when you find them that good."

Miss Grumm, who is hoping to play the part of Amneris with the Metropolitan Opera in two years, said "I enjoy my part more than anything I've ever done I feel like I'm really living in the last act. It really is a big thrill to sing this role"

"I think this will be one of the greatest music education events of the past year," said Miss Grimm, "as so many people who've never seen an opera are getting to participate in one.

The cast is reported to be quite authentic due to the research that was done on them."

Choral Union, which will make up the chorus, is the largest choral group in the campus, numbering about 200 Mr Gunter will direct it while Mr Hobart Sedore will direct the University Symphony

Others who have helped with production are Carole Gleun, stage director Assisted by Mary Tundall, Carl Mohr, president of Choral Union and secretary director, Louise McClure as publicity director Elizabeth Bull, finance chairman.

No admission is charged.

Jr-Sr Prom Open To All Tomorrow At Suwannee

Open to the entire student body, the Junior-Senior Prom will be held tomorrow night in the Suwannee Room.

Featuring the music of the Auburn Knights, the annual affair promises to be "the best ever" chairman Hand Tews says. It is free to everyone, he said yesterday, and no invitations or tickets will be needed. It will last from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Highlight of the event will be the crowning of the King and Queen of the Prom, selected from members of the Senior Class. The court composed of Seniors and Juniors will also be presscoed.

The Court

Members of the court are Seniors Marlies Gessler, JoAnn Hutto, Betty Ann Munroe, Anne Yates, Bob Berto, Bob Canada, Billy Graham and Harry Massey. Juniors are Deane Jackson, Joan Tavel, Anita Wall Bob Crenshaw, Jimmy Joanne, and Hans Tews. The King and Queen will be announced from among the Senior members.

The dance will be held in honor of the graduating Seniors, Tews said yesterday, "and the whole student body is invited in order to give all the underclassmen a chance to wish the Seniors Good Luck".

No Corsages

All corsages will definitely be banned, he emphasized.

Refreshments to be served at the Prom include "drinks," according to chairman Tews, "I mean stuff like punch," he explained. "This is perhaps the first time in the history of FSU that one may dance to the music of such well-known band for nothing " he stated yesterday.

"This is the last time this year we will have such an outstanding band on campus as the Auburn Knights."

Tews said he would like to thank all the Juniors who "did" done such a wonderful job" in arranging the Prom.

Senate Amends Bill On Traffic

Student Court Still Supreme

Although a scheduled student protest march on the Capitol failed to materialize, the Student Traffic Court no longer stands to be legalized out of existence.

Senator Doyle Carlton Jr's, committee on State Institutions made certain amendments in House Bill 314 which the Senator said would preserve the Student Courts and channel fines into Student Scholarships.

Under the bill, the Board of Control would make traffic regulations with the force of law, but could authorize their enforcement through campus police as is done now.

A feature of the House Bill which Senator Carlton praised is that, he said, municipal police would handle violations of municipal ordinances on campus rather than County police.

An anonymous letter was circulated on campus Tuesday night calling for a protest demonstration the following afternoon at 2 against the bill. The letter in particular warned that the student courts would be abolished and that the Tallahassee police would come on the campus.

Most of the students who showed up at the "demonstration" were Flambeau reporters and sociology majors. The bill, however, had been amended to Sen. Carlton's committee by that time.

Last Coffee Hour Features Trends

Trends in current American literature will be the featured subject at the English Coffee Hour this afternoon at 4 o'clo the Westminster House.

The last session of the 1935 series of these Dr. Russell Weaver announced that a panel discussion in which other professors of English will take part. Faculty will be Dr. Claude Flory, Dr. Maginnis, Dr. Griffith Pugh and Dr. William Randel. The discussion will concern a general summary of points made at the Coffee Hour during the year by visiting lecturers, and questions from the floor will be answered.

Authors who appeared during the year were Edith Taylor Poor, Dr. Frank, Robb White Mrs. Millard Davidson, Dr. William F. Tatum, Mrs. Cecil Rhyne, Mrs. Rubes Hall, Willard Mass, and Robert Lytle.

Also John D. MacDonald, Leon Dabo Griffith, Mrs. Ernest Von Dobeneck, Dr. Frank Adelsperger, Philip Snow, Edwin Granberry, Philip Gustafson and members of the Florida State University faculty.

The English Coffee Hour this year was directed by Dr. Russell Weaver and Mrs. Olive Cross. Members of the faculty provided and served coffee.

Band Societies Install Members

Official chapters of Tau Beta Sigma and Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band sorority and fraternity, will be installed here tomorrow.

Members of the bands at Florida State University formed provisional groups and were accepted recently upon petitioning the national organizations for membership.

Students from Tau Beta Sigma and Kappa Psi chapters at Stetson University DeLand, will come to Tallahassee tomorrow to conduct the installation ceremonies and attend a banquet to follow.

Women students to be initiated into Tau Beta Sigma include Florence Ashby president of the provisional group; Virginia Cobb, Sue Allen, Pauline Sheehy, Dawn Bishop, Bebe Bebee, Anita Woods Florence Brown, Cecil Conrads-Sherlin, Jo Hood, Alice Lucas, Mary Jo Fain and Dale Fillebeer.

Also Barbara Schaller, Jackie Fletcher, Janet Graff Ann Hays, Louise Hover, Mary Griffin, Jane Jackson, Sally McNutt, Harlene Smith, Jo Thomas, Thommanne Wells and Shirley Wills.

Men to be installed are: Bill Hardin president, Bob Raulerson, Tony Swain, Howell Winfree, Johnny Creel, Bob Bethea, Jim Callrder, Frank Pansler, Jon Gilbert, Calvin Hasbrouck and Wayne Lewis.

Also Jim Ed Glass, Bob McMillan, Pat Meador, Aubrey Odon, Paul Ort, Roy McCance, Bill Pharris, Pat Stewart, Norman Watson, Frank Valdes, Sid Wilck, Richard Maye and Bob Wrisht.

Faculty Featured On Record Jury Show Tomorrow

Four FSU professors will rate today's popular records on WTNT's Record Jury tomorrow night at 8:30 The program which will hear for the first time recently-released popular records and discuss them on commercial appeal.

The professors who will be teamed alongside WTAL's Bob Tronier, are: Dr. Paul Davee, director of the speech department plays, The Beautiful People and The Crucible; Dr. Thomas Gleason, meteorology professor who has a classical music program every Sunday night; J. Dayton Smith, director of the Collegians, the Men's Glee Club and Dr. Adolph Karl, acting head of the department of art.

New Staff At Helm

Robertson Takes Over Editorship

Last Monday's edition of The Florida Flambeau was the first under the administration of editor-elect Jayleen Robertson. Although Miss Robertson will not be officially installed until Tuesday night, traditionally, the new Flambeau editor takes over the last three issues.

The new staff, which also takes over for orientation purposes, does not usually formulate policy immediately. Miss Robertson said "There's enough fire in the Longmire Bowe without adding my policy to the fuel. I'll announce it at the beginning of next year."

Staff Position

Staff positions selected by editor Robertson include Orchid Alonso managing editor; Tano Hammond, editor, Oscar Johnson, sophomore in the School of Journalism, will supervise the duties of News Editor vacated by Miss Robertson.

Other appointments include that of Martin Dyckman as Associate Editor; Pat Marston Assistant Manaeing Editor; Pat Brady, Greek Editor; Margaret Miller, Feature Editor; Tano Hammond, Amusement Editor, and Jerry Bernstein, Campus Editor.

Senior Reporters are Jeri Bradfield, Willie Smith and Marty Reeves. Junior Reporter is Howard Hartley.

Sports Editor

Miss Robertson said that several students were under consideration for the position of Sports Editor and photographer. Editor Robertson declared that the sports page would be removed, "that's for the birds" she said, and men's intramurals, greek as well as dorm have suffered in the past for lack of staff writers in this field. We hope to enlarge our sports staff to provide adequate coverage of all phases of campus and intercollegiate sports."

Exchanges

Hallford and Susan Hyde will be in charge of exchange, assisted by Pat Brady. Jeanne Putnam and Mary Dressler are on the Business Staff.

Miss Robertson declared that students wishing to contribute their services in the student newspaper would be welcome.

Porpoises Invade College Campus For Navy Research

By PAT MARSTON

Albert and Betty, the two latest additions to the FSU campus, arrived safe and sound last Friday. If you haven't heard about the pair, they are porpoises.

Now you must ask what we are doing with porpoises on campus. Are we going into competition with Rollins? Are we trying to be another University of Miami with a course in Porpoise Raising 336?

No, these two are part of a United States Navy sponsored research program directed by Dr. W. N. Kellogg, professor of psychology. The porpoises make underwater sounds that work on the same principal as sonar. The study of this pair could lead to improvement of our knowledge and application of sonar. This in turn will lead to improvement of our national defense.

Open House

The duo are holding open house this Sunday at the Allgator Point Oceanographic Institute. They will be there in their pool to be interviewed, photographed and welcomed. They wish they could send out personal invitations in everyone but since that is impossible they asked us to ask you to come.

Along with the porpoises will be various displays by the department heads which participate in the Institute. The famous FSU oysters will be represented along with some of the shrimp projects. Blue crabs and sea urchins will also be on view.

As far as Dr. Kellogg knows, Albert and Betty are the first porpoises on any college campus. They were procured at great trouble and expense. Captured by the Miami-land officials, they were transported here by truck.

This trip, some 300 miles, is probably the longest ever taken by any porpoise on land. Since they need to be wet at all times four student assistants rode back on the truck with them and kept them doused with salt water.

From their specially consructed tanks on the truck, the pair were transferred to the Algator Point

A Stretcher Case—Workers above carry purpose to tank.

Oceanographic Institute.

There they live in a large cement pool with salt water pumped in from the ocean. It not kept in this water, they will die. Porpoises do not live too well in captivity and Dr. Kellog has his doubts on how well they will survive.

"The research is an unusual and different undertakine" stated Dr. Kellog. "But this terrific job may lead to a better defense of our country.

The collegiate porpoises live on frozen fish but have not become tame enough, as yet, to be fed by hand as the more exhuloistic animals at Marineland. Probably they will become tame in time.

Betty is the older of the two, being about four years old. Her partner, Albert is much younger probably only about two years old the animals are not mature yet. Betty weighs in at a trim 300 pounds with Albert been a little lighter.

Sheet-Covered—purpoise kept soaked during trip.

Valuable for the opportunity for research, the Institute has eleven departments contributing to both the instructional and research programs.

What Do You Think?

Last Monday night a letter was distributed in the dorms. This same letter appeared on the front page of the Flambeau the following morning.

This missile, in which sponsor Ken Gatlin was giving the "senate's side" of the publication board question, described the Flambeau as having "gone over to the side" of the issue in its front page editorial.

According to the letter, the Flambeau left out three salient facts: 1. The Flambeau staff is responsible to no one but the editors. 2. The Flambeau each year spends at its "own personal whim" $5 of the students' money. 3. The amendment in question was written by the publication staffs, and 4. If the Senate version of a board wasn't accepted, the administration would set up one of their own.

The students must vote for the amendment, the letter declared, to keep "student control over student affairs—to see that your money is spent wisely."

A point the letter forgot to mention, was that the board proposed and "written by the publication staffs" was designed to serve as a financial and technical advisory board, and would affect the three publications, not just the Flambeau. In fact, they forgot to mention that the three publications staffs felt the same way about the changes the senators instituted—not just the Flambeau staff.

The fact is, the Flambeau receives only $2.50 per year from 4,000 students, not each individual student, and every cent that is spent goes through several administrative and student channels beforehand. That our "personal whims" have in mind the purchase of a press and equipment which would enable us to print at lower cost to the student activity budget, seems to have been overlooked in the letter.

Another oversight of the "Senate's side" was the principal argument they used in suddenly denying the right to vote on the board: they didn't want the editors to select the following year's editors. Perhaps they felt that the students shouldn't be reminded that they would not elect the editors the next year if the board went into effect.

It was in this section of the letter, that the senate asked the students to assume that the three editors once had the "controlling bloc" of votes on the board and could not be regarded as "student" members. This automatically assumes that the editors could twist the faculty members and the three elected students around their little fingers when they chose. That is, providing that the three editors from three distinct publications could ever (by virtue of living in worlds of their own) come to some kind of an undermining agreement.

Their revision of the amendment made the editors ex-officio members of the board, provided for three students to be elected by the student body, and two others to be appointed by the President of the Student body and confirmed by Senate. The two to be selected by student government did not have to have any journalistic qualifications—in fact, they did not have to have any qualifications until the Faculty Committee on Publications suggested they must at least be juniors or seniors and have a 1.3 average.

Senate says the students will now be fairly represented. Of course the students will continue to seek the office in a student body election won't mind serving in the same capacity as those who seek it through a political appointment, they contend. No, they continue, political parties on campus won't vie for control of the Board of Publications, and certainly those who are appointed, won't feel any responsibility to the Senate which confirmed them.

It's not that the editors mind losing their votes—it's the realization that our powers as ex-officio members were clearly demonstrated when we were allowed to address the Senate in advisory capacity, only to have them ignore our words.

When the Board was first brought up, Senate objected on the fears of censorship by the Administration, but their actions Monday night proved otherwise. We almost believed they advocated a free press—and a free staff.

If Senate's definition of "student control" means censorship of editorial comment in this paper on such matters which should concern the students (among which we count ourselves) then it would appear that Senate is delegating to itself, the powers it screamed were never to be allowed the administration.

Propositioning Peace?

To a free world which so pathetically yearns for peace and world harmony, every conciliatory overture from the Kremlin seems like a shining light in the midst of a storm.

One such "peace" proposition has just been made, but like all its predecessors, and like the cunning doubletalk of Adolf Hitler seventeen years ago, it seems to be calculated to delude us, weaken us, and ensnare us.

It provides for an abandonment of our overseas bases and a withdrawal of our troops. This would be acceptable if the Kremlin were to guarantee similar disarmament and live up to that promise.

But far more serious than the debatable armaments question is the stipulation that the U.S. must muzzle its press, radio and motion picture to prohibit any "utterances urging war and fomenting hostility among nations."

We can not agree with the face value of this Kremlin doctrine, as it has never justified in chauvinism; and the role of the journalist should be that of a peacemaker rather than a warmonger.

Yet even here is never the answer—except to the Communists themselves. Their intentions in requesting it of us are crystal clear and it is sublimely ridiculous that such an a proposal could be made.

They want to transform the world, subtlely, but surely, into a model of their dictatorship. They want to create among the peoples of the still call themselves free, an atmosphere of submission and unquestioning loyalty, an atmosphere of repression and thought control.

Why do they wish this? They seek it because in such a degraded state comes into being here, we have no democracy but totalitarianism. And among totalitarian dictatorships there is difference in name only, none whatsoever in method.

The Communists are aware that certain elements in the otherwise free countries have been hard at work attempting to set up their own dictatorships—the McCarthys, the Perons, the Francos. Aided and abetted by numerous well-meaning but misguided people, they have advocated censorship and suppression as the only ways to survival—a survival of government but not of democracy.

Commending Senate

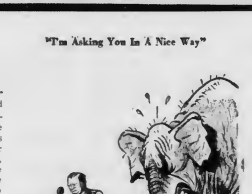
We should like to commend the student Senate for seeking to consider the $57,000 allotted to the budget quickly. They protested when Finance Secretary Donn Teal came to the meeting Wednesday with next year's budget—not in full form—with only one copy for himself, and no detailed breakdown for the senators to study.

While we feel the finance committee did a commendable job on the budget, we also feel that Senate is right in objecting to "rubber stamp" something they haven't studied. That $57,000 is not a sum to be slighted.

Signs Of The Times

If signs mean anything, FSU is slated to enter into keen athletic and social competition with the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Advance omens for a rise in activities between the two schools is evidenced in complaints from Auburn that the letters "FSU" have been painted on their buildings in that most beautiful village of the plains.

Followed by the complaints were the curious questions from this campus: "What does API mean?" "Who are the War Eagles?" "Where is Auburn?"



The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor
Oscar Johnson, News Editor

Associate Editor ..... Marion Dickman
Assistant Mng. Editor ..... Pat Marston
Senior Reporters ..... Jim Bradford, Dwight Smith, Doris Revels, Marty Revere
Junior Reporters ..... Howard Harvey
Sports Editors ..... Bob Sutting, Dick Victor
Sports Staff ..... Alan Williams, Tommy Bernard
Mary Lix King—Business Mgr.
Exchange Ed. ..... Joan Halford
Assistant Exchange Editor ..... Susan Peck
Distribution ..... Members of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity

Telephone 2-8000 extension 6821
2-1 2-3 Long—no Bulletin
Member Associated Collegiate Press

"I'm Asking You In A Nice Way"

At the Cinema

Racers And Religion

By TANN HAMMOND

Filmed in Europe with all the beauty of Paris, Rome, Nice, and the Swiss Alps, The Racers stars Kirk Douglas, Della Darvi, Lee Cobb, Gilbert Roland, and Katy Jurado.

This factual, fast moving drama of sports car racing gives the inside story of this sport with all its intrigue, romance, and hazards. And "extra" touch to this movie is the introduction of "I Belong To You" sung on the sound track and Decca record by Perez Le. This travelogue with thrills plays at the State Theatre this weekend.

It doesn't matter how many sets, changes of costume, or "stars" make a picture; if it hasn't got a well-written plot and good acting it's not worth seeing. That's just about the sum and total of The Prodigal.

When a Bible story is taken and dressed up with a sexy "love cult," it can't be more than second-rate. If one happens to be a Lana Turner fan, the show at the Florida Theatre this weekend is sad compared to her performance in The Flame and the Flesh.

Another masterwork to Alec Guinness' gallery of amusing movie eccentrics is The Detective playing at the Ritz Art Theatre tonight Saturday. In this Facet production, Guinness plays the sleuthing cleric Father Brown, who as always one step ahead of Scotland yard. Joan Greenwood is the love-star as she was in The Maa in the White Suit.

The Detective is a fascinating comand-robbers film with witty dialogue and superb acting.

Letters To The Flambeau

Campaign Thanks

Sophomores:

Just a note to express my sincere appreciation to those of you whose support made my election to Senate possible. I hope that you will find that my actions in Senate will warrant your continued support and that I may be worthy always of the confidence which you have placed in me.

Thank you very much.

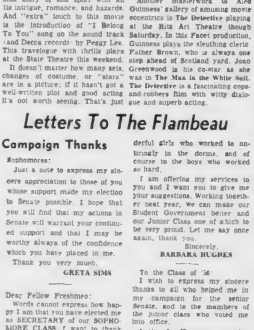
GRETA SIMS

Dear Fellow Freshmen:

Words cannot express how happy I am that you have elected me as SECRETARY of our SOPHOMORE CLASS. I want to thank each and every one of you for your loyal support and help in these elections. Without your help and cooperation, I wouldn't have been given the honor as one of your Sophomore class officers.

I will live up to my duties and responsibilities to the best of my ability. Let's make the class of '58 the greatest ever.

SHIRLEY METZ
WATCH FOR IT



Dear Freshmen.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to serve you next year as your Social Chairman. It is an honor and an obligation that I shall do my best to live up to. I sincerely appreciate all the help I received from everyone. Without it, I could never have succeeded.

Loyally
JOY SHILEY

Dear Sophomores:

With a feeling of gladness and deep responsibility, I wish to thank you for giving me the privilege of serving you as one of your Junior Senators next year. A very special thanks to the wonderful girls who a ECL g ties Offices.

"I don't know what kinda line th' Sigma Phi Nothings' give the "Rushee's", but year after year they seem to snatch away th' best boys."

The Dissenter

Did The Amendment Really Pass?

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

The air was vibrant with the spirit of progress, if substitute of the worse for the bad is progress. Five constitutional amendments had been accepted by the students.

Or had they?

It was that there is something in the Constitution which says that twenty-five percent of the students body must vote on a constitutional amendment to pass it. In Tuesday's elections about 1,600 people voted on class offices, but the five amendments had a total of even 1,000 yes and no votes.

A FEW OF THE Leonardo Hall Mob were gloating Wednesday that at last the pernicious Florida Flambeau had been put under a Board of Publications control. Or three students to be elected by the student body, and two others to be appointed by the President of the Student body and confirmed by Senate. The two to be selected by student government did not have to have any journalistic qualifications—in fact, they did not have to have any qualifications until the Faculty Committee on Publications suggested they must at least be juniors or seniors and have a 1.3 average.

Senate says the students will now be fairly represented. Of course the students will continue to seek the office in a student body election won't mind serving in the same capacity as those who seek it through a political appointment, they contend. No, they continue, political parties on campus won't vie for control of the Board of Publications, and certainly those who are appointed, won't feel any responsibility to the Senate which confirmed them.

It's not that the editors mind losing their votes—it's the realization that our powers as ex-officio members were clearly demonstrated when we were allowed to address the Senate in advisory capacity, only to have them ignore our words.

When the Board was first brought up, Senate objected on the fears of censorship by the Administration, but their actions Monday night proved otherwise. We almost believed they advocated a free press—and a free staff.

If Senate's definition of "student control" means censorship of editorial comment in this paper on such matters which should concern the students (among which we count ourselves) then it would appear that Senate is delegating to itself, the powers it screamed were never to be allowed the administration.

Lately It Seems

Columnist Describes Five Editors

By ORCHID ALONSO

With last week's election started a new era in the Florida Flambeau that has everyone guessing. Jaylen Robertson who took over the reins of the paper this week-end will carry it throughout next year has not committed himself as to his plans for the future.

Sure of one thing, however, there will be a new found cooperation between the students and the administration via the Flambeau. What this will mean, no one ventures to guess

A FEW OF THE BIGGER issues that will be said about them, we won't say anything.

Managing Editor Marion Dickman and Sports Morris was a capable, energetic worker. Not as complacent as Dunn, she still didn't have time to devote more to the Flambeau than a methodical educational program.

Business Manager Mary Lix Morris, however, was strong on one point. The school of journalism must be successful in its struggle to establish a student newspaper from the Flambeau by making it a laboratory set-up for class work. This is something every Flambeau editor has determined to avoid, including Miss Robertson.

Other administrative potentials were never put to use, for she left school, leaving the student Senators to wrangle over who they should appoint as editor to replace her. The senior staff voted for Bruce Galphin Student Body President Gladden Carstarphen appointed Galphin. The Senate decided they should decide. Galphin was finally accepted, after weeks of debate.

WITH GALPHIN CAME a renewed spirit

Reflections

Submersive Plot Discovered

(Ed Note: The following is an advance portion of a tremendous expose which is to appear in the next issue of Shame magazine. Shame, you know, is devoted to printing all the senational and scandal it can lay its hands on).

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Strategic evidence has been unearthed proving that there is a movement underway to oppress students at Florida State University. Who is doing this? Well, that remains to be seen, but the evidence is strong.

Students have been struggling under the oppression for several weeks, but few have an accurate conception of what's happening. Here at last the conclusive evidence is brought to shaking calmly along on a side-walk, doing his best to appear peaceful and innocent as all good students should—when all of a sudden he's sprayed by a drenching sheet of wet, dirty old water.

NOBODY CAN ESCAPE It You ride in your car, the same thing ahead when without warning a cascade of water comes in through the window. Sweating, you decide to keep on the lookout for sprinklers on the north side of town. You're smart. They won't get YOU.

But NO! You forget, this is framed as an oppressing vein. The odds are against you: there's no way to keep from being soaked. If you watch out for sprinklers, you fall off the road. If you close your window you suffocate from the heat. You're still getting wet.

Even so it might not be so bad if they played fair about it. After repeated trials and errors you might be able to learn the course to your destination that would miss all the water like crawling along the ditch to the Student

Columnist Describes Five Editors

With last week's election started a new era in the Florida Flambeau that has everyone guessing. Jaylen Robertson who took over the reins of the paper this week-end will carry it throughout next year has not committed himself as to his plans for the future.

Sure of one thing, however, there will be a new found cooperation between the students and the administration via the Flambeau. What this will mean, no one ventures to guess

A FEW OF THE BIGGER issues that will be said about them, we won't say anything.

Managing Editor Marion Dickman and Sports Morris was a capable, energetic worker. Not as complacent as Dunn, she still didn't have time to devote more to the Flambeau than a methodical educational program.

Business Manager Mary Lix Morris, however, was strong on one point. The school of journalism must be successful in its struggle to establish a student newspaper from the Flambeau by making it a laboratory set-up for class work. This is something every Flambeau editor has determined to avoid, including Miss Robertson.

Other administrative potentials were never put to use, for she left school, leaving the student Senators to wrangle over who they should appoint as editor to replace her. The senior staff voted for Bruce Galphin Student Body President Gladden Carstarphen appointed Galphin. The Senate decided they should decide. Galphin was finally accepted, after weeks of debate.

WITH GALPHIN CAME a renewed spirit

A Better Measure

National News Affects Students

By JEROME BERNSTEIN

The other day I was talking to a student in the junior class and asked him if he knew the importance of Gen. Port of Panama in the Indo-China. He didn't even know how to pronounce it let alone know what was going on there.

This port, which is that of Hanoi, capital of North Indo-China (Viet Nam) is supposed to be turned over to the Communists under the Geneva Cease-Fire agreement, this month. When this is done, Red China will have a deep port south of Formosa which will be free from blockade and which will have no trouble getting goods from Eastern and other European countries without being turned back.

WHAT THIS MEANS to the college student is that in next year's North and South Viet Nam elections, if the Free South wins, he may have to go in there and help back up the vote. Of course the vote could give the country to the Reds, in which case there will be no vote to back up.

Many students in the past have asked why they should care about more attention to national and international affairs than campus news. The answer lies partly in the above first paragraph which shows some students don't realize how such events will affect them in the future.

Perhaps after the student has served in the armed forces he will appreciate such news. For within six months after being drafted the student will probably be sent overseas to Europe or Asia where much of the news is being made.

CONSEQUENTLY AS a special feature this column will present Names in the News: group names and places which have made the headlines during the past week.

Names in the News: Ngo Dinh Diem—Premier of South Viet Nam who has U.S. support. Bao Dai—Chief of State of South Viet Nam who has been fired by Diem but backed by President Eisenhower. Gen. V. Draper in Vietnamese Army who led a coup to oust Diem on May 7, 1955 Bulganin—Premier of Soviet Russia Faure —Premier of France. Maxwell D. Taylor— Commander-in-chief of United Nations forces in Korea. He has been ordered to protest to the Military Armistice Commission the illegal attack made by Chinese jets on U. S. planes over Yellow Sea Tuesday.

Trackmen Leave For Hattiesburg

By LARRY HOUNTHA

F. S. U's fast stepping trackmen left this morning for Hattiesburg, Miss., and their last dual meet of the season. The Indians will be out to defeat a powerful Mississippi Southern squad which has downed them by slim margins in their only two encounters.

In '53 the score was F. S. U. 58 as against 75 for M. S., and in '54 the final tally was 67-66 as such the Tribe.

The javelin event will be watched with great interest and all eyes will be on Ron Weseyr as he tries to improve on his last week's record breaking 200'5" toss against Miami. Weseyr's loss ranks him among the top collegiate performers in the Southeast.

Lloyd Lassen, Tribe high jump standout, will enter the 120 yd. high hurdles tomorrow in an effort to add depth to the over-all Indian scoring power. It will be Lassens collegiate debut as a timber-topper. However, it is not thought he will be a serious threat to the supremacy of Harrison Dillard.

Third Straight

Carlos Fraundorfer, a dependable all-around performers, will be gunning for his third straight victory in the disc. Fraundorfer will also go in the broad jump and shot put. Also throwing in the shot will be "Greek" Mike Smith and Jerry Jacobs. Jacobs is the current F.S.U. record holder for the event.

Soph Jimmy Harrell who has been steadily improving in the distance grinds will probably go in the mile. Harrell is one of the most improved men on the squad and could be right up there with the leaders tomorrow if all goes well. Danny Thomas, who has been concentrating on the middle distance event, has also come a long way and will be out to improve on his last week's effort.

Frosh Seevers Paces Tribe At The Plate

Rightfielder Riley Seevers, a 22-year-old, service vet, is in his first year of college baseball, set an all-time individual batting mark for Florida State's Seminoles this season.

Final statistics reveal that Seevers, a slightly-built freshman from Tallahassee, collected 27 hits in 65 trips for a record-setting .415 average.

A left-handed "spray" hitter, Seevers appeared in 22 of State's 23 games this spring. On his first season under Danny Litwhiler, FSU finished with a 17-6 record, second best baseball year in the school's history.

Despite his record pace, Seevers barely eased out sophomore first baseman Fred Twomey of Gloucester, Mass. Twomey batted .302 and set new school records with 10 home runs and 36 runs batted in. The powerful built infielder also had six doubles and two triples.

Three other regulars batted well over .300, as the Seminoles compiled a new team batting record with a .321 average. They were centerfielder Bob Vaughn .301 second baseman Billy Campbell .316 and shortstop Phil Hunt .333. Campbell led the team in stolen bases with eight.

Southpaw John Ash and righthander Tommy Garcia paced the pitching staff with identical 5-1 records. Ash, who allowed only 28 hits and 11 earned runs in 41 innings, had the best earned run average, 2.41.

Relief specialists George Hehemann and Toot Avitable each won one game against no setbacks.

Junior veteran Max Lang 4-3 was the most active, working 37 innings. Lang led in strikeouts with 44.

RICHARDS SPEAKS, DOGMATISM IN SCIENCE

Dr. Harold Richards, Physics professor, will speak on "Dogmatism in Science" Sunday, at 7:30 p.m. in the East Lounge of the Methodist Student House.

The meeting is sponsored by the Unitarian Fellowship, who is the general public to attend the meeting.

HURST RECEIVES SCULPTURE AWARD

Ralph N. Hurst, of the arts education faculty, has been awarded the Leonard Canter Memorial Award for Sculpture, covered international recognition in the field.

His black walnut wood carving entitled "The Lovers" is the prize winner. It is now on display in the Riverside at the 48th Annual Indiana Artist Exhibition.

End of the road—Tom Cundy, senior netman from Bellevue, Kentucky, has played his last match for coach Kevin Pitchford's tennis squad. The slender senior was a vital factor in the Tribe's solid final record—10 won, six lost.

FSU Volleyball Team Advances In National Collegiate Tourney

Florida State University's crack volleyball squad advanced in National Intercollegiate tourney play Wednesday at Norman, Oklahoma, by winning two out of three first three matches.

The Tribe drubbed the University of Oklahoma, 15-1, 15-3, in the initial match Wednesday morning, then fell to the College of Medical Evangelism 10-15, 12-15, and bombed Central State College of Oklahoma 15-2, 11-4, in matches on the Practice Field.

Tryouts are open to all students planning to attend FSU this fall, Dean Mattox will be judged on conducting ability and showmanship. Majorettes will be tested on the rudiments of twirling as well as showmanship.

All candidates have been requested to contact Whitcomb personally or by mail. Successful candidates will have an opportunity to work with the famous FSU Marching Chiefs Band.

Thursday afternoon the Oklahoma team fell to the College of Medical Evangelism 10-15, 12-15, and bombed Central State College of Oklahoma 15-2, 11-4, in matches on the Practice Field.

Wednesday night, and thus advanced in the double-elimination tournament.

FSU's Director of Athletics, Dr. Edward Dunford, was elected to the executive committee of the United States Volleyball Association Wednesday in Norman. Dr. Dunford had previously served as regional representative to that organization.

Also in election action, FSU Director of Athletics, Ed Whitney, was chosen to head USVA a public relations program.

DANCE SLATED AT CENTER

A dance co-sponsored by Alpha Chi Theta and Phi Delta Theta will be held at the Student Center today at 8:30 with music furnished by Jake Ben.

TRYOUTS FOR BAND TOMORROW

Marley Wentworth, director of bands, has announced that drum major and majorette tryouts will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow in the Practice Field.

CAROTHERS WINNER OF FELLOWSHIP

Milton B. Carothers, 1954 graduate of FSU has been announced the winner of a Rockefeller Brothers Theological Fellowship.

Carothers is one of 47 winners who were selected from 332 nominees from all over the country.

Pi Beta Phi Wins In Swimming Meet

On Tuesday, May 10, at seven o'clock in the natatorium aquatic swimming teams held their meet to the women's crown with the Aquarist and dorm teams entering in seven events.

Pi Phi, who won the meet with 45 points, Kappa Alpha Theta placed second, with third place were Kappa Delta and East Lands.

Winners of each event were 50 yard free style: A. J. Bassett; East Lands: 25 yard breast stroke, A. J. Bassett; Swimming, Mary Margaret Williams ZTA::; 75 medley relay, Knight, Bolton, Leary Pi Phi::; 75 yd back crawl, Piper Jeannie Morphree:; diving, Melean Pi Phi::; and 100 yd. free style relay, Holton, Knight, Hoffman, Higgins Pi Phi.

The winners will be entered immediately after the meet to Ann Hoffman, captain of the Pi Phi team.

Hillel Choir Sings At Final Meeting

Hillel choir gives its final performance of the year tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Temple Auditorium. The final meeting of the Hillel organization will be held at that time also.

During the meeting, awards will be presented to members who have performed outstanding service throughout the year. An installation of next year's officers will also be held.

Judy Nafulin will direct the choir in the following numbers: "Tuma, Tuma," "Chabibi," "Zum Golly," "Shalom Chaverim." Members of the choir include Mary Ann Williams, Sandy Schin, Dotty Brenan, Carmel Ingham, Gene Josephson, Larry Abi, Lenny Seigel, Murray Berman, Alan Cordish.

In the next issue of the Florida Flambeau, the Sports Editors will give you a review of items in control where the cartoon of Chesterfields will be given away just by telling who's going to be at who's-in major league baseball action.

Among the Leaders—Bob Vaughn, Seminole backstop, gave the Tribe some of the punch they needed in the hit department this season. The stocky receiver batted 15 hits in 41 tries, including three triples. He batted in nine runs.

Tribe Baseballers Set Seven Team, Six Individual Records

Florida State's surprising baseball team wrote seven new team and six new individual marks into the Seminole record book during the past season—one of FSU's best ever.

The Indians, in their first season under former National League star Danny Litwhiler, compiled an impressive 17-6 reading against some of the best competition in the South.

New team standards included most wins in a season 17; which tied the 1952 total; best batting average .321; most hits 238; most runs 189; and most runs batted in 154. The Seminoles also belted 35 doubles and stole 67 bases for other new season highs.

Of the individual records, freshman outfielder Riley Seevers' whopping .415 batting average was tops. It was 31 points better than teammate Billy Campbell's old mark of .384 set in 1952.

Campbell, who wound up a four-year career as regular second sacker, came up with 32 hits, however, to be another all-time FSU individual high.

Big first-baseman Fred Twomey was responsible for 10 records. The Gloucester, Mass., all-around athlete blasted six home runs and drove in 36 runs in a sparkling .302 average.

Freshman shortstop Phil Hunt checked in with two more. Hunt had 80 assists for a new standard but also had the dubious distinction of committing 17 errors.

(FINAL AVERAGES)

BATTING

	AB	R	H	2B	3B	HR	RBI	AVG
Seevers,rf	65	14	27	5	1	2	9	.415
Campbell,2b	83	6	33	7	1	0	8	.316
Twomey,1b	129	17	39	6	1	10	36	.302
Vaughn,cf	39	9	4	0	1	2	9	.301
Hunt,ss	80	12	24	4	1	2	10	.300
Ash,p	41	7	12	2	0	0	4	.293
Vaughn,c	41	7	12	2	0	0	4	.293
Avitable,2b	70	10	20	2	0	0	5	.286
Veggie,rf	84	13	24	5	1	1	14	.286
Lang,p	37	3	10	0	0	0	3	.270
Hehemann,p	37	4	10	0	0	0	3	.270
Garcia,p	61	6	16	3	0	1	6	.262
Hudson,3b	84	11	22	4	0	1	14	.262
Ashley,c	50	5	11	0	0	1	5	.220
Hudson,lf	80	12	17	2	0	0	5	.213
Wentworth,p	23	1	4	0	0	0	1	.174
Wentworth,cf	81	11	15	1	0	0	3	.185
McCarron,3b	31	1	5	0	0	0	1	.161

PITCHING

	W	L	ERA	GS	GR	SV	IP	H	R	ER	BB	SO
Hehemann	4	0	3.00	11	1	0	6	1	0	2	1	6
Avitable	2	0	0.00	11	1	0	3	0	0	0	0	2
Garcia	5	1	3.70	10	3	0	34	1	3	2	3	31
Ash	5	1	2.41	7	7	0	41	2	2	1	11	44
Lang	3	1	4.50	7	5	0	37	4	2	2	11	44
Atwood	0	0	9.00	1	0	0	2	1	2	2	1	3

Attorney General Ervin Speaks For Phi Alpha Theta Banquet

Delta Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national history honorary, will initiate eleven new members Sunday at 5 p.m. in Louanice Cuhoon.

Eight new student members are Erin E. McCarthy, Betty Jo Grubbs, Derryn F. McElroy, Lawrence Moore, Jr., Robert L. Sell, George Harry Harry E. Senske and Clarence Vogelsang.

Three faculty members at Florida State University who have advanced degrees in the field of history, are also to become members. They are Dr. Louis D. Corson, Dean of Men; Dr. Richard E. Gross, acting professor of Education; and Mr. Norman L. Kilpatrick, Director of Libraries.

To Hold Banquet

Following the initiation the Chapter will hold its Spring Banquet at the Silver Slipper with President Doon Teal as chairman. Speaker for the banquet will be Attorney General Richard W. Ervin, who will be introduced by President Doak S. Campbell and will discuss the legal issues involved in the litigation in the United States Supreme Court relating to public education.

The history honorary requires better than a "B" average in at least fifteen semester hours of history and a high standard of performance in grades outside history. Delta Chapter at Florida State University was the fourth in the national organization which now comprises approximately one hundred and fifty chapters throughout the country.

ADVISORS HONORED AT FASHION TEA

Miss Frances Tacionis, Miss Ann Kroc, and Professor William Slaughter, faculty advisors of the Student Fashion Institute, were honored yesterday with a tea given by the organization.

The tea, the group's last gathering of the year, was held in Louanice Auditorium. Both students and faculty of the Fashion Institute as well as prospective members attended the tea.

This year, the Faculty Fashion Institute assisted by the student group sponsored Fashion Day, which featured a fashion show of Florida styles.

Penthouse Gang, Phi Delts Lead

By HARRY BERNARD

Phi Delta Theta continues to lead in the over-all standings in the Fraternity league with 703 points. With only one sport left —swimming — they could easily take the championship.

However, close behind them with 697 points is ATO, a team that could make the race even closer by placing in the swimming meet which is to be held on May 17, 18. Third position is still held down by Sigma Nu with 608 points.

The rest of the Fraternities and their respective standings are as follows.

4.	TC	589
5.	K.K.	554
6.	SAE	541
7.	TEP	506
8.	SPE	462
8.	DTD	460
10.	SC	447
11.	LCA	405
12.	PKT	393
13.	PKP	393
14.	PKA	365
15.	KS	353

In the Dormitory league, the Penthouse Gang of West Hall comwith 697 points is ATO, a team that could make the race even closer by placing in the swimming meet which is to be held on May 17, 18. Third position is still held down by Sigma Nu with 608 points.

The rest of the Fraternities and their respective standings are as follows.

5.	Methodists	608
6.	Baptists	590
7.	Magnolia	581
8.	Air Force	564
9.	Newman Club	512
10.	Lutheran St.	186

Continued on Page 4

Yes you'll love the way our modern Sanitone process restores that neat, crisp look to your spring suit. And whether your suit is old or new after Sanitone it emerges with new life, enhancing your appearance as only smart, clean clothes can. Look fresh, stop in today.

Low Cost Summer Storage For Winter Wear

Let Us Tell You About Our Mothproofing Service

JUST CALL 2-0652

SUPERIOR CLEANERS
308 S. MONROE

FAMOUS NEW
B. F. GOODRICH SILVERTOWN
Factory Seconds at the Biggest Savings Ever Offered in Tallahassee.

Only $11.95
Sizes 8.15-15 Plus Tax and Recappable Tire

These are carefully inspected Factory Seconds with slight imperfections that do not affect service-ability or long life. A rare buy for us—

A RARE VALUE for you.

BUY NOW AND SAVE! QUANTITIES ARE LIMITED
We may be unable to repeat this rare offer

Size Black Sidewalls	Factory Firsts Regular Price with No Trade-In	Sale Price Factory Seconds	White Sidewalls Factory Firsts Regular Price With No Trade-In	White Sidewalls Sale Price Factory Seconds
6.70-15	$24.95	$11.95	$30.55	$14.95
7.10-15	$27.60	$15.95	$33.80	$19.95
7.60-15	$30.20	$17.95	$37.00	$21.95
8.00-15	$33.20	$19.95	$40.65	23.95

THIS YEAR'S ORIGINAL EQUIPMENT TUBELESS TIRES

Size Black Sidewalls	Factory Firsts Regular Price With No Trade-In	SALE PRICE Factory Seconds	White Sidewalls Factory Firsts Regular Price With No Trade-In	White Sidewalls SALE PRICE Factory Seconds
6.70-15	$28.55	$17.13	$34.15	$20.49
7.10-15	$31.35	$18.81	$37.55	$22.53
7.60-15	$34.35	$20.61	$41.15	$24.69

CAMERON'S TEXACO SERVICE STATION
Corner West Tennessee and Copeland
PHONE 3-0619

B.F.Goodrich
FIRST in RUBBER — FIRST in TUBELESS

SELL YOUR USED BOOKS
AT
MALONE'S BOOK STORE
107 S. COPELAND

Don't Wait Another Minute
Dash to Malone's Now
ALSO FSU T-SHIRT
FELT GOODS (Stuffed Animals)
FSU AND FRATERNITY
STATIONERY AND EMBLEMS
SUNDRIES
ALL AT MALONE'S

Senate Begins Budget Study At Last Meet

After voting on several items of the proposed student budget for the coming year, 1955-56 Student Senate ended its term of office by adjourning for lack of a quorum.

The rest of the budget including a controversial appropriation for Tarpon Club, will be the responsibility of the new Student Senate which meets for the first time next week.

Outgoing Secretary of Finance Donn Teal reported to the Senate that money would be allotted to student activities on a basis of 4.40 students per year, a total of 17,640 dollars at 13.10 per student.

Special Fund

Money for 400 of the students Teal said, would go into a special reserve fund for Student Government to be distributed according to necessity. At present, it was pointed out, individual organizations have their own reserve funds which revert to the university if not used.

The Senate appropriated $2,200 to Student Government; a decrease of 200 dollars from this year's budget. The Flambeau's will receive 25 dollars, an increase of $2½. The Florida Flambeau will receive $13,-500, an increase of three issues and, reflecting lavishly increased printing costs, additional salaried positions and less anticipated advertising.

Choral Union Budget

The Choral Union requested to receive student activity money after being apart from the student budget for several years. Its request was granted, to the sum of $400, after a heated debate over a hundred dollar item for artists. Some senators objected that money might be used to finance a party for the Choral Union members, but their objections were quivered.

An appropriation for the Tarpon Club was held up when the Senators questioned why the admission fees charged to non-students for Tarpon Students were not mentioned in the proposed budget.

New Senate

This item, as well as the others not reached by the Senate will be voted upon next week by the new legislative group. All of the above items represented changes from the present year's budget. Senate did not wish to bear any intimation of unbalanced expenditures.

When Senator Ken Gatlin suggested the absence of a quorum—the necessary attendance to conduct business—count showed only less present than a quorum and so adjourned.

Penthouse

(Continued from Page 3)

Finishing up with softball in the Dormitory league, the Pirates of West Hall won another trophy as they won the championship with a perfect record of 8-0. Close behind them were the Indians of Hall who was the Penthouse Gang also of West Hall who finished with a 7-1 record.

Also in the Dormitory league the Barons won the League championship.

This year has been one of the best years in intra - mural competition mainly because of the interest shown by the students as well as the Fraternities and Dormitories.

When the new men's gym is completed, according to Mr. Ed Williamson, head of the intramural department, there will be a more varied sports program.

50 million times a day at home, at work or on the way

There's nothing like a Coke

1. SO BRIGHT 'N TASTE... nothing like it for sparkling, tangy goodness.
2. SO QUICK-LY REFRESHING... nothing like it for a bracing bit of energy, with no fats, calories or half an average, juicy grapefruit.

DRINK Coca-Cola

Tallahassee Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

"Coke" is a registered trade mark. © 1955, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Charter Celebrations On Agenda

By PAT BRADY

Sororities and fraternities all around Greek activities with circus weekend, rush parties and founder's Day celebrations.

Tau Epsilon Phi held "Founders Day" celebration last weekend ... received charter May 8, 1954 ... party at house after circus ... basketball game ... charter members vs. actives and pledges ... Hedges win "Hedge one time!!!" ... beach party Sunday at coach ... Dr. and Mrs. S. Kohre and Dr. and Mrs. D. Lucas chaperone ... new officers elected ... Leon Cutler [ASS member] elected vice-president; and Don Schwartz treasurer.

June McKneely, Germaine Murray, Ina Jean Pruitt and Barbara Granum, Kappa Alpha Theta, were among those tapped for Cardet Key . . . 8A's athletes beginning on Sept. . . . softball team added two victories to record . . . Delta Gamma's 3rd annual Derby Day, 2-3 . . . Judy Jones, Bebe Bubet and Peter Dunn—swimming team members . . . Phi Mu's have been in their parents Circus Weekend . . . pledges have been at house while actives have had softball game with noon . . . supper and circus respectively . . . three Sigma Chi's tapped for ODK national scholastic honorary . . . Graham Cracker brothers, Jerry Jones, and John Cooper . . . Pete Nimkoff, president, and Bob Bell, treasurer of L. G. Balfour Award . . . he will enter national competition for the award of most outstanding Sigma Chi undergraduate in the United States . . . John Cooper received the Gardner B. Allen Exemplary Sig Award given to the senior who most perfectly exemplifies the ideals and purposes of Sigma Chi . . . Sig Ep's have had their 3rd year in honor of a former Grand Praetor of this province . . . Bob McCall named the most outstanding intramural athlete for the year at Sig Ep.

Alpha Delta Pi's culminated circus weekend activities with a breakfast. Sunday morning at the house, at which Mother Barrett was presented the official ADPi Mother's Day pin . . . Friday night open house after circus . . . Saturday—trip to Wakulla with Sigma Nu's . . . Saturday evening—hayride . . . Sunday—beach party . . . Saturday night—dance at ADPi House with Sigma Nu's and others . . . five piece combo furnished music for in-and-outdoor dancing . . . tables set up on front lawn . . . lanterns and candlelight . . . some mischievous members painted a huge clown on dining room wall . . . walls will—will be torn down soon to make room for addition and construction on house . . . Founder's Day tea to be held this Sunday in ADPi Gardens.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon recently elected officers for the Spring Semester of 1955 . . . Howard Anderson, president; Dan Medlock, vice-president; Ron Weaver, warden; Bobby Blow, correspondent; Johnny Johnson, recorder; Fred Searist, herald; James Browning, chaplain; Hodge Prasad, pledge trainer; Norman Shipley, rush chairman; Tim Tarbuck, treasurer, and Dick Fincher, chronicler . . . Dick Sweetman, steward.

Jim Cress, Kappa Alpha, is now the one and only "First Tri-Delta dance during their weekend ... square dance at Silver Lake and a coast party Saturday . . . new initiates presented at dance Saturday night are Matilde Hume, Sara Connell, Jessie Cadenhead, Shirley Ison, Marcy Bethune, Margie Lou Hicks, Sonny Fisher, Rex Baskin, Bobbye Craig, Susan Lineburgh, Bob Wimpy Aldrich, Kitty Borland, Beverly Brown, Betty Rumbly, Loreita Lewis, Miriam Miller, Peggy Phillips, Ann Fryer, Jane Speer, Lucille Turnage, Joan Wadsworth, Peggy Wright, and Ann Dye . . . Peggy Wright was "Best Dressed" for the Cotillion dance group.

Chi Omega's entertained 29 high school Semora during circus weekend . . . had Circus Party with SAE's Friday night at their house . . . tour of campus Saturday morning . . . swim party and supper at Nan Waggnton's home party at Betty Jane Woodward's . . . Peggy Wright was "Best Dressed" for the Cotillion dance group.

Chi Omega's entertained 29 high school Semora during circus weekend . . . had Circus Party with SAE's Friday night at their house . . . tour of campus Saturday morning . . . swim party and supper at Nan Waggnton's home party at Betty Jane Woodward's . . . Peggy Wright was "Best Dressed" for the Cotillion dance group.

The first program of the week-long series will begin June 6 and will run through June 10.

Registration will begin on June 20 in the Music Building. Students may plan to arrive on June 19 and register between now and Wednesday in Westcott Building.

Summer School Offers Students Three Programs

Pre-Registration Continues Thru Next Wednesday

Over 650 courses will be offered to students during the summer session, beginning June 30.

Dr. Hoyt Price, Assistant Registrar, estimate that over 3,100 students will register. He added that this does not include students on the Panama City campus which is approximately 30% is number.

The summer session is divided into three programs: the Full University Program Professional Education Program, and the Short Term in Education Program.

The Full University Program is the eight week session (June 30-August 13- ends ish opened to undergraduates and graduate students working toward their Master Degree and Rank I Certificate.

The Professional Education Program consists of six weeks ; June 30-July 29- and is for Elementary and High School Teachers, Administrators, Supervisors, and others.

The third program is two weeks long ; July 27 to August 13. It is open to Elementary and Secondary Teachers, and to August 13. It is open to Teachers Administrators and Supervisors.

Registration will begin on June 20 in the Music Building. Students may plan to arrive on June 19 and register between now and Wednesday in Westcott Building.

Golf, Bowling Lessons Start

The Recreation Association is now sponsoring free golf and bowling lessons every Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of FSU students.

A meeting for students who are interested in the lessons was held at the Recreation Association Office. Miss Virginia Hicks, of the Women's P.E. Department, is in charge of the event, will be the instructor for the bowling lessons. Students who take this instruction have been asked to check out the necessary equipment from the equipment room house west of the Women's gymnasium.

Bowling instruction is being given in the bowling alleys in the Student Union on 2nd and 4th Wednesday afternoons also. Dr. H. Donald Lawler of the Physical Education Department is the instructor for the bowling classes.

The purpose of these two free instructional periods is to promote more participation in recreational activities on the FSU campus according to its sponsors. The Recreation Association officials said they hoped that many students will take advantage of these opportunities to take part in sports.

The most successful project of the Recreation Association has been the golf instruction and construction, which officers said was supported very well by the students.

"The Association has had the golf lessons on an experimental year to sponsor a number of out of town trips for those students who have no means of transportation," said officers, "but due to a lack of facilities, there have been enough people interested to make the trips worth while. These trips will be planned for next year also and the Association hopes that they will receive more response."

Some of the trips which were planned for this year and which will also be planned for the coming year are to Panama City, Florida Caverns, Allgator Point, St. Marks, and the Natural Bridge.

SIGMA DELTA PI ELECTS OFFICERS

New officers of Sigma Delta Pi, national honorary Spanish society, elected May 3, are: President, Mary Kelley; Vice President, Edna Runnels; Secretary, Sally McNutt; Treasurer, Mary Lou Albrecht; Program Chairman, Katherine Hartley, Dr. Gordon S. DeLand is the Faculty Advisor.

These officers replace President Dorothy Hoppman, Program Chairman Ann Opalak, and Secretary-Treasurer Verlan Stahl.

Elected Officers To Be Installed Tuesday At 6:30

Installation of all officers elected in all Student Body, Class and Class Court-Senate elections will take place Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Music Building Amphitheater.

Peter Nimkoff, President of the Student Body will receive the gavel to Cecile Moore, the president-elect, during the ceremony. Also in charge of the Honor Court, will administer the oath of office to the new officers. This is the first time in FSU history, officers will receive a formal certificate of election.

As is customary Women will wear white and men will wear coats and ties, in case of rain the ceremony will be moved to Longmire Auditorium.

Sheila Jo Grubbs, Secretary of Election, and all candidates are required to remain at their posters from the campus.

Magnolia Men Receive Award

Don Rapp and Gordon E. Speed were presented with outstanding leadership awards at the Mr. and Miss Corson, Dean of Men, at ceremonies held in Westcott Hall Wednesday evening.

Rapp was presented with a gold key signifying his achievements and cited particularly for his willingness to participate in activities and events. An accomplished student, he has maintained a high grade average and still is residence and campus social events.

Speed was cited for making the highest grade point average of any member of Magnolia Hall, earning a straight A average while carrying eighteen semester hours.

BICYCLE RIDING IS NEW VOGUE

ACP—A new exciting vogue is sweeping the American campus, according to reports from various college officials. Bicycle traffic lanes have been reported from Yale and Mount Holyoke to Illinois and Stanford.

University of Southern California's campus is placed on both the two-seater, or tandem, is the current rage on the campus, and reported the new college craze forms a large part of the license fees of 22 million registrations in the nation today.

"ACP's paper suggests the sudden popularity for bicycles is caused not only by traffic problems and high costs of automobiles and bus transportation, but also the sensational growth of many of the nation's campuses. A section of the parking lot at the football stadium will be turned over to bicycle racks this fall. The Trojan reports.

Baggett Bags 'First In Drill

Individual honors in drill competition were recently awarded to members of the Army ROTC detachment at Florida State University.

In Best Drilled competition, Cadet Private First Class Paul Leo Baggett took first place. Second place was taken by R L. McCullough and third place by N. T. Bowden.

Cadet Corporal G N Bates' squad took first place and was named Best Drilled Squad category Cadet Corporal I. E. Kecridas's squad took second place and Cadet Sergeant S S McClain's squad came in third.

In Best Drilled competition, Cadet Lt. Graham Carothers led his platoon to first place honors. Second place was won by a platoon under Cadet Lt R E Cullifer

AKD HAS ANNUAL PICNIC

Alpha Kappa Delta sociology honorary fraternity held its annual picnic Sunday, at 4 p.m. in the home of Professor T Stanton Dietrich. All Sociology majors and escorts have been invited as special guests.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA — STATE

Today Thru Tues. — Today & Tomorrow

"THE PRODIGAL" — "THE RACERS"

WITH — WITH

LANA TURNER — KIRK DOUGLAS

FERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR — CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

Today & Tomorrow — Today & Tomorrow

"PORT OF HELL" — "BIG SKY"

DANE CLARK — KIRK DOUGLAS

Plus — Plus

"Cannibal Attack" — "Tanganyika"

Johnny Weismuller — Van Heflin

Ruth Roman

RITZ—TODAY & TOMORROW

ALEC GUINNESS

"THE DETECTIVE"

New Home Economics Building To Feature Modern Architecture

By MARTY REEVES

Plans for a new streamlined home economics building are on their way to becoming a reality with excavation to begin on Pensacola Street lot next to Jennie Murphree Hall.

Expected to be ready for use in the 1956 summer quarter, the $750,000 structure will be of "strictly modern architecture," with a floor area 185 x 140 feet, "a maximum of window space," said Dr. Margaret R. Sanders, dean of the School of Home Economics.

At the present time, the department is scattered over five buildings on the campus, with some of the laboratories on West Pensacola. "This will bring together, in better facilities, those activities that have been out in temporary quarters on West Campus," Dr. Sanders said.

Specialized Rooms

Each floor of the building will be devoted to a different phase of the department with the top floor occupied with a variety of specialized rooms including classrooms, labs and modern equipment.

Starting at the bottom, the first floor is made up mostly of offices, but also features a furniture reconditioning area, small metabolism laboratory, graduate student workroom, an exhibit hall and a reception room, also equipped with a serving pantry. Plans also include a textile classroom, divided by folding doors, which may be opened to make room for meetings and socials.

The second floor also contains offices, will be used for the home and family life section. Besides classrooms and a large lecture hall, it will have a modern observation room equipped with one-way glass. "It is hoped that in the home economics department before long we can do away with the ceremonial psychology now," commented Dr. Sanders.

Clothing And Textiles

The home of the clothing and textile section will be contained in third floor. This will include a tailoring area and humidity-controlled room for testing textiles. A special section of the adjoining roof will be used for the study of textile weathering tests.

The top floor of the building will be a food and nutrition floor with the modern equipped kitchens and a dining room, scholarship room and the floor will be a biology laboratory housing animals.

"Air conditioning is not being put in during the construction of the building, room has been allowed with the hope of putting it in at a later date," Dr. Sandels declared.

Around the outside of the building will be a covered arcade leading to the one on the Music Building.

A parking lot is being included in the plans and there will also be his enough for people using the new building.

Pi Delta Phi Elects Kuiken New President

The FSU chapter of Pi Delta Phi, national French honorary fraternity, held its final meeting of the year and election of officers Sunday.

Officers elected for the coming year are: President, Jeanne Dupont; Hildegard Wagner, Vice-President; and Jane Mackelvey, Secretary - Treasurer. Ann Opalka retiring President, conducted the business meeting and installation.

Social part of the meeting was held at Lemon Knoe and Vivian Stahl.

Social part of the meeting was held at Lemon Knoe and Vivian Stahl.

Faculty members of Pi Delta Phi present were Drs. Margaret V. Campbell, G. B. Watts, Jr., and R. B. Oelschlager, Mrs. A. B. Mathes, Misses B. Ansermas and E. M. Atwood.

Special guests were Mr. Godfrey Bachmann and Misses Geraldine Givens and Elizabeth Oelschlager. Dr. Albert Leduc , faculty sponsor of Pi Delta Phi at FSU.

John Charles Studios
121 E. College Avenue
3-3570

STUDENT SPECIAL

One 5 x 7 black and white portrait plus six wallet-sized portraits made from your selection of proofs—

$3.95

Also Special Prices on Color Photographs
Call Studio for Appointment

'Campus Sing' Preparation

Greeks Practice Songs For Florida Hall Women

By HOWARD HARTLEY

Florida Hall women may wonder why they are the subject of so much chord attention of late, but the answer is simple. With preparations for Campus Sing reaching a feverish pitch, and fraternities anxious to try their new-found vocal powers on an alluring and receptive audience, the rush on Florida Hall is only a natural result.

From the wide windows of the modern dormitory, the women of Florida Hall last Saturday looked down on the moonlit lawn to see the white, shining cross of Sigma Chi, and hear the strains of their Serenade Introduction so well known throughout the nation. Thus began a series of evening singing sessions which will reach a climax this coming Sunday at 2 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium, when the two best choral groups ran through the squirted "Oh Ho, I'd Like to Have a Girl" and "Here's to Our Fraternity" and "Serenade" sung by Sigma Chi's Miss Sarah Hambley, a junior from Coral Gables and a member of Chi Omega, who will be Sigma Chi Sweetheart for next fall.

When interviewed yesterday Peter Nimkoff, a member of SAE, remarked that the chorus had been rehearsed hard, and that they expect to win even though they know that the competition, as usual, will be keen. We especially like to sing at Florida Hall because we always get such an enthusiastic response', he said.

SAE's Top

Heralded by the opening bars of "We Have Come to Serenade" the background chorus hailing from Sigma Alpha Epsilon brought the Florida Hall 'mamselles to the center front, where they stood, waited and held them enthralled for half a minute. Then the SAE's returned the compliment with a stirring chorus of their own, the song leader being Bill Lewis. All could be heard all over East campus.

Constitutional

(Continued from page 1)

to 211 for Bill Weaver.

Shirley Metz won over Mary Louise Peacock 314 to 284 in the race for class secretary.

Tom K Lewis defeated Carole Ann Page to 296 for Sophomore vice-president.

Karen Kimpel defeated Chris Hargrove 316 to 282 for class treasurer. Joy Smiley eked out one of the narrowest margins of victory, Mary Ann Hinson for the social chairmanship of the Freshman Class. The count was 285 to 279.

Sophomore Senate

Polly Wilson and Jerry Dunn, 318, were elected to Sophomore Women's Senate. Jan McAninch with 284 votes and Max Altaker with 283 with Mary Ann Fagen, 838, and Martha McGinnes, 340, won three seats on Sophomore Women's Judiciary. Lorrys in the run-off were Joy Harmon, 460; Barbara Jean Smith, 417, and Mary Ann Mayo, 476.

Patty Pascal 528 edged Jeri Bradfield, 472, for Sophomore Traffic Court.

Senior Class

Barbara Bachman, 123, squeaked out a victory over Dirk Dirksen, 113, for senior class vice-president.

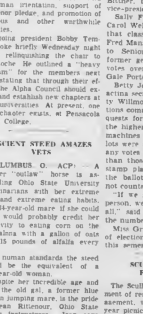
Sally Gaskill, 148, defeated Carol Wella, 83, for treasurer of that class. Ed Mann, 112, and Max Mackey, 130 were elected to Senior Men's Senate the former getting in by only 7 votes. Bob Graham, 105, Dale Porter trailed with 96.

Betty Jo Grubbs was up for actina secretary of elections Betty Willmon, said that the election chapter retains the original request for a recount because of the failure of some of the IBM machines She said that the ballots were sorted beforehand and were not counted in place where than those indicated by a check stamp placed on the ballot by the ballot box attendant were not counted.

"If we are a recount to one person, we've got to give one to everyone," Miss Grubbs noted the number of very close races.

Betty Jo Grubbs speaks for actina secretary of elections. That been interest this semester.

SCULLIONS HOLD FINAL FLING



The Scullion Club, of the dregs month of restaurant and hotel management, will have an end-of-the-year picnic Tuesday at the Pensacola from 4-7 p.m. Free transportation is scheduled to leave the apartment complex at 3:45 Tuesday afternoon. There will be a charge of 50c per person.

SPOOKY SPARKLES IN THE SINK?

MOBILE, Ala. — (ACP) — Boarders at Quinlan Hall on the campus of Spring Hill College here didn't mind the nightly footsteps in empty corridors nor the eerie murmurings and clankings chains that disrupted the wee hours of the morning. They were willing to overlook the fellow laughs that came out of nowhere, too.

But they were finally aroused by the frequent sparks of weirdness from a wash basin in one of the rooms. Investigation proved no electrical connection anywhere near the sink, nor were the sparks extinguished in the basin.

All attempts to locate the source of the spookery, reports The Springhillian, have been without success.

OUT-GOING EDITOR
Reviews
University—P. 2

The Florida Flambeau

Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper
FLORIDA'S ONLY

VOL. XL, NO. 52 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1955

Five Hundred Eighty-Nine Seniors Hear McFarland

King And Queen

Marlies and Harry—Chosen King and Queen of the Junior-Senior Prom Saturday night in the Suwannee Room were Marlies Gessler and Harry Massey. They were crowned by President Doak S. Campbell.

Honor Court Upholds Issue Of Elections

Edwards Says Abstention Vote Has Legal Role

The Honor Court unanimously upheld the controversial constitutional amendments in a decision yesterday afternoon.

Ruled valid were the Board of Publications amendment, the provision for setting up representation by Senate statute, the restriction to a two-thirds majority on the Senate for that purpose, the Honor System amendment, and the amendment giving freshmen seats on the summer council.

Edward's Argument

The Court accepted the arguments of Karl Edwards, that the 1462 people who voted that day exercised their right to vote and constituted the twenty-five percent of the eligible electorate as required in the constitution.

The Court's ruling held that those who cast ballots but did not vote on the amendments and those who did not vote waived their rights to vote, and that the election should be determined by comparing "yes" and "no" votes.

Parliamentary Code

Edwards cited Sturgis' code of parliamentary procedure for his authority.

Opponents to the amendments, Bruce Fletcher and Martin Dyckman, argued that the constitution supersedes Sturgis code, requiring that twenty-five per cent must vote yes or no to keep a small group from dictating policies to the entire campus.

Bishop West To Deliver Baccalaureate

The Right Reverend Hamilton West, D.D., will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon here Sunday night at 8 in Westcott Auditorium.

Among the accomplishments of his ministry include his present job as Bishop coadjutor of Florida and President of the Florida Council of Churches, as well as supervision of College Work for the Diocese of Florida.

Bishop West was ordained to Deaconate in June, 1931; to priesthood in December, 1931, and consecrated Bishop October 4, 1948. He received his B. A. degree at Birmingham-Southern College in 1926, his B. D. from Virginia Theological Seminary, an M. A. from the University of Idaho in 1934, a D.D. from the University of the South in 1948, and a D. D. from the Virginia Theological Seminary in 1949.

Dr. West was Chaplain at the University of Florida from 1938 to 1941, Rector of St. Paul's Church in Augusta Georgia, from 1941 to 1948, and became Bishop Coadjutor of Florida in October, 1948.

Rev. Hamilton West

Famed Orator Commencement Speaker At Campbell Stadium

President Doak S. Campbell announced yesterday that Dr. Kenneth McFarland, proclaimed by many as American's outstanding orator, will be the principal speaker at the Commencement exercises to be held in Campbell stadium Monday, May 30.

A class of 580 graduates, their parents and friends, will hear the noted speaker on the subject "Lamp Lighters", at 8 p. m. in the stadium.

Dr. McFarland, a native of Kansas, is Educational Consultant and Lecturer for General Motors Corporation. He was formerly Guest Lecturer for The Reader's Digest.

Dr. McFarland is a graduate of Pittsburg State College in Kansas and has a Master's Degree from Columbia University to New York City and has earned his Doctor's Degree from Stanford University. He is listed as one of the seven most famous American educators, past and present, in the 1951 edition of the Lincoln Library. For twenty-four years he was outstandingly a school administrator. The modern McFarland Trade School, which he designed and built at Coffeyville, Kansas, is named in his honor.

Much Travel

He travels widely and fills many speaking engagements. One airline company recently described him as "America's No. 1 Air Passenger" and said, "Dr. McFarland sees more people in more different places in the United States and Canada, and does it in shorter periods of time than any other American." This fact gives Dr. McFarland the advantage of "on-the-spot" reporting Dr. McFarland's activites and responsibilities are such that he says it is a distinct advantage for him to live in the center of the country (Topeka, Kansas) where he can be in his office all day and any place on the continent the next morning.

Foremost Speaker

In a nation-wide poll with trade associations to determine the public speaker who is making the greatest contribution to the preservation of the free enterprise system and the general American way of life by the United States Chamber of Commerce, Dr. McFarland was voted first among 200 speakers nominated He has been declared by the United States Chamber of Commerce the country's foremost public speaker.

McFarland raises registered Tennessee walking horses and polled Hereford cattle. Friends sometimes designate Dr. McFarland as a "PhD with real horse sense."

SCHOOL OF NURSING
Bachelor of Science in Nursing Education

Lorena Chesnut, Beverly Cox, Betty Jane Larson, Joan May O'Brien Nellie Wilson

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
Bachelor of Science

Lawrence Abt Jr, Edward Allen Jr, Arthur Allwood Jr, Leo Almerico, Watha Ard, Gay Argo, Iola Arnold, Lilian Avis, Isobel Balfour, Willis Bellar, Richard Benson, Robert Rerto, James Bishop, Margaret Bobbitt, Wallace Bullock, Thomas Burst

Emory Cain, George Carnes Jr., George Carter, Nancy Carter, John Casbergue, Joseph Chastain, Charles Clark, Robert Clark, David Cobb, Walter Conrad, Ashley Costin, Janice Craig, James Crews, Mary Will Davis, Faye Dean, Eliza Dick, David Donnelly, Gene Draper, Wayne Edris, Roy Ferguson, M. T. Fountain Jr, Elizabeth Garwood, William Geho, Robert Grenn

Rosanne Hagadorn, Effie Silver, Joe Southard Jr., William Stancik, Billy Sutte[illegible]yre, Ida Tindell, Ann Tucker, Henry Hagler Jr., Dean Harlan, Robert Louis Harris, Patrocia Hawes, Dona Heil

Alvin Helms, Jeanne Helvery, Jackson Henry, H Herring Jr., Nancy Hillman, Donald Hollis, Jack Houser, Robert Hudson, Arthur Ilg, Christopher Johnson Jr., Rosemary Johnson

Walter Johnson, Ronald Jutila, Kermit Kindred, Jack[illegible]n Koonce Jr, Charles Krbl[illegible]h, Charles Lester, Neil Lukow, John Magnnus, Harry Massey, Jerry Meyer, Raymond Mincey Jr, Joseph Moorer Jr

William Parker, William Perry, Ralph Pickard Jr, Dean Pohl, Sylvester Rickards, Howard Robertson, Donald Rogers, Barabra Rudin, Jeanne Rutherford, Ralph Salis, Louise Strine, William Wagoner, Erich We[illegible], Martha Wilkerson, Audrey Williams, James Williams, Shorley Wilson

Bachelor of Arts

Derry Rutz, Nancy Maze Wakefield

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM
Bachelor of Science

Carl Brett, Benjamin Brown, Ronald Brown, Claude Harden Jr, Elizabeth Harris, Patrick Hogan, Julian Hurst, Quinton Moore, Thomas Sands, Addie Summers, Lester Taylor Jr

Bachelor of Arts

Constance Coleman

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION
Bachelor of Science

Robert Canada, Cecil Carlton Jr, Earl Chandler Jr, Joe Harris, Michael Kish Jr, George Martin Jr, Fred Thorton Jr

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WELFARE
Bachelor of Science

Norma Bolton, Mary Culwell, Phyllis Ove, Iris Epps, Leah Ferguson, Patsy Fletcher, Mary Harrelson

William McArthur, Gloria McBride, Elizabeth Morrison, Betty Mu[illegible], Nancy Palmer, Gerda Poddick, Nancy Rainey, Genevieve Roys, Gordon Savage Jr, Raymond Spears, Janet Sweazie, Dorothy Zubred

Bachelor of Arts

Cary Fitzgerald, Cecilia Franklin, Edria Stone

LIBRARY SCHOOL
Bachelor of Arts

Barbara Brown, Kay Hames, Frances Mills, Janet Osborn, Helen Ray, Mary Smith, Carol Snyder, Frank Summers

SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Bachelor of Music Education

John Cooper, Patricia C[illegible], Orlano Driver, Naida Graebner, Calvin Hasbrouck Jr., Ann Hays, Jamie Hood

Martha Humphreys, Raymond Kickliter, M[illegible] Longb[illegible], Susan Lu-

(Continued on Page 7)

Dr. Kenneth McFarland

Graduate Dance At Open House

Graduating Seniors will have a chance to dance and say "goodby" to old friends at an open house Monday, May 30, in the Student Center from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Entertainment will be in the form of dancing and meeting acquaintances for perhaps the last time, according to sponsors. The Universals, Florida A and M student band, will provide the music. Women have late permission until 1 30 a.m.

Sponsors particularly urged friends and relatives of the graduates to attend. The event will be in the manner of an open house, rather than confined to a dance, said the sponsors.

Georges Carnes and Sarah Whitehead are in charge of refreshments Dan Croomiller, invitations; Martha Wilkerson, decorations and Nan Hillman, publicity. Joan Mokesell and Bob Green are co-chairmen of the affair.

Counseling Is Required Soon

Educational counseling for all students planning to return in either Summer or Fall semesters will end Thursday.

Students have been requested to discuss the following with their educational counselors: (1) Midsemester status (2) Schedule for Summer which will be worked out on trial schedule forms to be provided by the counselors, and (3) Schedule for Fall which will be worked out on trial schedule forms provided by the counselor.

For more details concerning the pre-registration procedures, a letter of explanation will be sent to students by the office of the Registrar.

Answers to questions concerning the name, location, and office hours of educational counselors may be found by consulting the office of Coordinator of Counseling, 301 Westcott Building, or by calling Extension 5331 or 5321.

HAND EMPLOYED BY BAYLOR

Dr. Jack Hand, director of the guidance center at Florida Industrial School, has been employed by Baylor University as assistant professor of psychology beginning next September, announced Dean Monroe S. Carroll.

Concert Tonight In Opperman

Men's Choral Group Sings

The Collegians will top off a busy season of concerts and tours tonight with a varied program at 8:15 in Opperman Music Hall.

Under the direction of J. Dayton Smith, assistant professor of Music, the 45-member group will sing folk songs, popular tunes, some quartet numbers, novelty tunes, and two serious works.

Collegians To Sing Narrative

Added to the program will be a narrative called "The Cavalcade of Crooners" which will highlight the history of the crooner and torch singer, and the Collegians will sing songs leading crooners made famous.

Among the cavalcade numbers will be "Someone to Watch Over Me" by Powell Brewton, another solo, "April in Paris," by Miss Mizell, "I Only Have Eyes For You," "Moon of Manakoora," and "Hello, Young Lovers." David Dreis will tie these songs together with a narration.

Few Serious Numbers

Serious numbers are fairly rare on these concerts, said Mr. Smith, who added he "just decided it would be fun to do a couple." One of them, Schubert's "Serenade" has an alto solo, which will be sung by Martha Sue Mizell, their regular accompanist. Thomas Wright, of the Music faculty will accompany her at the piano.

The other serious piece is Randall Thompson's "Testament of Freedom," the text of which is taken from the writings of Thomas Jefferson.

The folk songs will include two solos, one by Collegians president Howard Logue, singing "John Henry." Jimmy Hansley will sing "Carry Me Back to the Long Prairie" and the group will do "Old Tom Wilson."

Quartet Highlight

Highlighting the concert will be a quartet, made up of David and Danny Whipple, John Condra, and Gene Cokeroft. The quartet recently won third place in a regional contest sponsored by the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America. They are eligible to compete in the national contest due to the withdrawal of the group in second place.

Students Will Conduct

Two of the novelty pieces will be conducted by students, with Bob Rauerson conducting "The Begat," and John Stanley directing "Save Your Confederate Money, Boys." Also sung will be "Syncopated Clock" and a number entitled "Josephine, Please Don't Lean on the Bell."

No admission will be charged to the concert, which is open to the public.

CAMPUS CHEST GROUP MEETS

Next year's Campus Chest committee will meet tomorrow at 5 p.m. to the Student Lounge in Longmire, announced next year's chairman, Mary Fenn Cawthon.

APO To Open Book Exchange

Alpha Phi Omega, National Service Fraternity, will open the Student Book Exchange during exam week. Hours will be posted on the bulletin board in the basement of Longmire Building.

The book exchange is operated by APO as a service to the students.

Students who want to sell books bring them to the Exchange, where they fill out cards giving the prices they wish to receive.

APO adds a fee to this price, which does not exceed twenty cents. This goes to the book store to cover the operation expenses. When the book is sold, the student is immediately notified by mail to come for his money.

Books brought to the end of this semester will be available for sale right now. They will also be on sale at the beginning of the Summer, Fall and Spring semesters.

Sonny Selers is the new Book Exchange manager. Serving on the Book Store Commission are Jo Demper, Jon Piper, Allan Cordish, chairman, Louis Schlitt and David Barmon.

Senior Reception Held Monday At President's Home

The annual Senior Reception, honoring the graduates, will be held Monday, May 30th, at 10 a. m.

Traditionally held at the Presidents home, it gives the graduating seniors an opportunity to meet the president in person and receive his congratulations.

The family and friends of the seniors have been cordially invited to attend.

Buses will leave the rear of Westcott Auditorium for those who do not have a way to get to the President's home.

OFFICIAL NOTICE
LIBRARY HOURS

Examination Week

During Examination Weekend May 20-23 (Friday-Monday) the library will have extended hours as follows:

May 20, Friday—8:00 a.m.-11 p.m.

May 21, Saturday — 8 00 a.m. 8 00 p.m.

May 22, Sunday — 2 00 p.m.-10 00 p.m.

May 23, Monday — 8 00 a.m.-11:00 p.m.

After 10 00 p.m., Friday and Monday, and after 5 00 p.m., Sunday, the Reference, Periodical, and Reserve Rooms will be open for use as a Study Hall. Other divisions of the Library will close at the usual time.

LIBRARY BOOKS DUE ON May 26

All students, including graduate students, must return library books on or before Thursday, May 26. An additional charge of 25c per book will be made for each book not returned by this date. Check with the Library. Be sure your record is clear.

INSTALLATION

The installation of recently-elected student government officials will be held tonight at 6:30 in the Music Building Amphitheatre or in Longmire Auditorium in case of rain.

Certificates of Election will not be given to those candidates who did not submit final expense statements.

Junior English Exams Slated

The last Junior English examination of this semester will be given from 4:00 to 5:30 p.m., Thursday, May 19, in the Music Hall, in 217 and 218 and 222 Music, and in the Choral Room.

Students required to take the examination are: (1) all transfers who have not had it before, (2) all juniors and seniors who for special reasons were deferred, and (3) all sophomores who will be juniors next semester. No one will be permitted to repeat the examination.

Eligible students who fail to take the examination will be assessed a five-dollar delinquent fee to be paid prior to the next registration.

All sophomores who had in February, 1955, a minimum of forty-two hours are expected to take the examination.

Students whose examinations indicate a need for remedial work will be enrolled for Junior English classes at the next registration.

Before the time of the examination, students who have conflicts should clear their schedules in the Junior English office. They will be given an opportunity to take the examination by special appointment.

There will be another Junior English examination given for students transferring to FSU for the summer session of 1955. This examination will be given on June 21, 1955, in 222 Music. Miss Chapman declared that students were not to leave the exam early.

Massey, Gessler Get Crowned

By STAFF WRITER

President Doak Campbell, in a playful mood was the hit of the evening at the Junior Senior Prom held Saturday night in the Suwannee Room.

It was President Campbell's duty to grant the regal titles to Queen Marlies Gessler and King Harry Massey. He made what is usually a brief presentation into a mock formal and somewhat lengthier ceremony. He amused the audience by referring to them as "subjects" and conferring fanciful and high-flown titles on everyone participating in the coronation.

Court

At 10 30 the royal couple and their court made their grand entrance through aisles of ribbon held by pretty girls. Those in the court were Seniors Jo Ann Hutto, Betty Ann Munroe, Anne Yates, Boo Berto, Bob Canads, and Billy Graham. Juniors in the court were Deane Jackson, Joan Tavel, Anita Wa[illegible], Bob Crenshaw, Jimmy [illegible] and Hans Tews.

Queen Marlies, dressed in a [illegible] white, bouffant gown, was surrounded by attendents in pastel gowns.

She was presented a bouquet of roses and a trophy, which will remain in her sorority house, the Kappa Alpha Theta house, for one semester, after which it will be placed in the [illegible] fraternity house, the Alpha Tau Omega house during the next semester.

Good Music

Students who attended the dance were lavish with praise for the Auburn Knights, who furnished the dance music. They were credited with having variety in their program of dance numbers and it was commented that the male vocalist was especially good.

Almost everyone agreed that although there was a sizable crowd present there is not enough general interest on campus in attending the Junior Senior Prom. A frequent remark was "On other campuses, the Junior Senior Prom is one of the biggest events of the year but here it is secondary to other dances."

Better Attendance

Hans Tews, who was in charge of publicity, said, however, that he believes it is better attended each year. Since not enough upper classmen at-

(Continued on Page 7)

'Smoke Signals' Story

Cobb Wins In Writing Contest

Warren Cobb is the winner of the 1955 Smoke Signals Short Story Contest, with his story "Praying Mantis."

Cobb's story will be featured in the final issue of the year, along with Barbara Emmett, Smoke Signals Queen. It is scheduled to come out during exam week, Editor Don Heidel announced yesterday.

The 1955 Smoke Signals staff of editors and managers was revealed yesterday by Heidel. Holding positions are, Marcello Truzzi, Managing Editor; Conrad Horn, Humor Editor; Maggie Marsh, office manager and Horn and Marsh, Exchange.

Also Charles (Bill) Jones, Circulation, Bunn Gray, Art Editor, and George Goldstein, Publicity.

Tom Wilson, next year's Business Manager has asked that advertising students and others interested in selling ads for Smoke Signals next year, contact him at extension 4721, Box 1134 campus mail or at room 325 Senior Hall.

A meeting of the Smoke Signals staff will be held tonight at 7 p.m. in 209 Longmire Building, to discuss plans for the next year's editions. Editor Heidel asked that students who are interested in cartooning, writing or other work attend the meeting or contact him at extension 4721, box 703 or at 906 West Hall.

Campus Traffic Bill Is OK'ed

A bill authorizing the Board of Control to regulate campus traffic was passed by the state Senate yesterday. It had previously been approved by the House.

The bill will have to go back to the House, however, for the Senate amended it to allow for existence of Student Traffic Courts. Speakers for the bill said its net effect is to allow the Board of Control to step in if the traffic situation gets out of hand.

The University of Florida Student Body President has been quoted as saying that the bill as amended in Senate is acceptable to the students there.

FSU's Student Princes—Serenading Garcia Restaurant patrons after winning first place in men's division of Campus Sing are Lambda Chi Alpha members, l. to r., Harrison Fisher, Jim Hagerty, Paul Brown, Bud Brockenbrough, Jerry Connell, Guy Fountain and John Wade.

Delta Zeta, Lambda Chi Win Campus Sing

By STAFF WRITER

Delta Zeta and Lamba Chi Alpha were awarded hard-won trophies at Campus Sing finals held Sunday afternoon in Westcott Auditorium. Other finalists were Kappa Alpha Theta and Reynolds Hall in the women's division and men's finalists were Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Chi.

After four years of success in reaching the finals, Delta Zetas won first place with their rendition of "The Little Worm" and "Pagan Love Song." The girls, costumed in pink dresses and green leis, sang "Pagan Love Song" while spotlighted with changing colored lights.

"The Little Worm" with its humorous ending won a round of laughter as well as applause. Harriet Ramsey conducted and Betty Shepperd accompanied the group.

Spirited Version

The Sigma Chi's lost their first place position to Lambda Chi Alpha, who won the honor with their spirited version of "Fantasy of Sea Songs" and the more nostalgic "Anywhere I Wander." Harrison Fisher conducted the group, who like the other fraternities represented, wore formal attire.

Kappa Alpha Thetas, 3rd place winner, donned black walking-shorts, white shirts, and black bow-ties to sing the rhythmical "Syncopated Clock" and a wistful version of "A Fella Needs a Girl." Stage effects were a large clock and background "tick-tock" sound effects. Their conductor was Shirley Kellogg and Jean Martin accompanied.

Reynolds Second

Reynolds Hall, holding second place honors, had a small fifteen-member but well-selected group. Conducted by Anita Woods and accompanied by Sally Hukle, they did near-perfect renditions of "Were You There" and "There Are Such Things." Anita Woods was soloist.

Alpha Tau Omega, conducted by Sidney Wilck and accompanied by Norman Koos, sang "Halls of Ivy" and "O Joe." The largest group in the contest, they gave a strong, melodious performance.

The Sigma Chis won audience approval with "Serenade from the Student Prince" and "Medley of Fraternity Songs." During the latter song, the curtains behind the group were opened to reveal the lighted white cross of Sigma Chi.

Entertain Audience

While the judges reached a decision, members of Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha, who sponsored the contest, combined to entertain the audience with "I Got Plenty of Nothin'" and two of their fraternity songs. Barbara Foster of Sigma Alpha Iota won an encore for her solo number.

Jim Harris, faculty member of the School of Music and contest judge, commented that "From where I stand, all entries this year were far superior to those of past years. Campus Sing gets better every year, and I won't hesitate to say that the judges had a very difficult time in choosing the winners."

In Registration Material

Cubbon To Send Grid Information

Mr. Edward Cubbon, Athletic Business Manager, announced yesterday that full information concerning the purchase of student tickets to the first football game next year (FSU vs. North Carolina on September 17) will be included in registration material sent out to the students during the summer.

For all games except the Georgia tilt, FSU students will have one half of the East stand plus the region the 50 to the 45 yard line on the other side, about 5 000 seats in all. Although Georgia has demanded additional seats inside the 45 yard line, adjustments are being made so that there will be seats for both student bodies.

Students will receive their Student Activity books at registration as usual, and will use an announced coupon from this book to obtain their football tickets at the Athletic Ticket Office in the Student Center.

Tickets for non-student dates can be obtained at half price for all games except the Georgia game, which will be full price to all non-students, and will be sold three weeks in advance in order to get an attendance estimate.

Outgoing Editor Assesses FSU After 2 Years—Farewell Editorial

By BOB FOLSOM
Outgoing Editor

The greatness of a university is not measured by monuments of brick and steel or by hippodromes dedicated to its leadership. These sacrifices to Baal have in every civilization been symptoms of decline. This month, as the university receives new appropriations from the legislature to continue an ambitious building program, we must ask ourselves do these edifices constitute a university? Are they ends in themselves? I feel we must answer these questions in the negative.

Historically, from the days of the Academy of Plato, to modern times, the great universities have been characterized by a spirit of free intellectual inquiry—an inquiry that has as its aim the discovery of truth through the fostering of thinking and the development of ideas. This process must never be subordinated to the demands of politics, patriotism, partisanship or popularity.

On this point the administration, faculty and student body must not yield one inch to any group, including the legislature, no matter what is promised in return. For though we might gain millions of dollars to build a huge physical plant we will no longer have a university but a body that lacks the spark of life — a corpse.

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

In discussing the student body I shall refrain from criticizing it as a whole. All that can be said is that it is intellectually inert.

But the "elite" can be dealt with: the various organizations that are charged with responsibility and are not fulfilling their obligations. Foremost among these is student government.

The president of the student body has the greatest opportunity to exercise dynamic leadership in behalf of the students. Yet in the two years I have been here, the student body presidents have accomplished nothing — nothing good and nothing bad. In the absence of effective leadership by the student body president, decision-making has fallen almost entirely into the hands of the student senate, a body composed mainly of professional contestants appealing for support to the lowest common denominator of opinion.

The student body president must lead the way because he is the only policy-making official who has for his constituency the entire student body, and therefore can purport to express the student body's will. This is not the case with the student senate. A student senator is elected by one class and owes his loyalty to one class. Consequently whatever decisions result from the senate mill cannot be expected to be more than the outcome of conflict between narrow and partisan interests.

However, all of this is not to say that the president cannot err. I feel that both the president and the senate have acted without competence in the past. Much of this incompetence is inherent in the nature of the student senate, a political body in the bad sense of the word. This incompetence is not inherent in the office of the president of the student body, and therefore this position presents the only real opportunity for statesmanship.

And now a few words about our so-called leadership honoraries. I think it was Will Rogers who said two Americans can't meet on a street corner without one electing the other president. The truth of this phenomenon is amply demonstrated on this campus. We have so many organizations I don't know where to begin — Gold Key, ODK, Who's Who, Hall of Fame, etc.

The only time we hear of these organizations is when they elect officers or tap members. We have yet to hear them raise their voice on an issue, whatever the significance, which concerns the university.

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

The faculty has a great task in the fight to preserve academic freedom. It must protect the rights of every individual professor when they are encroached upon by the administration. The entire faculty must speak as one in the words of the Biblical injunction: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

When Professor Earl Vance of the School of Journalism is denied the right to teach his courses and is relegated to sitting alone in a wooden building on West Jefferson, not only is the integrity of the faculty challenged, but countless numbers of students are deprived of the wisdom and inspiration that I have received from him.

Earl Vance, for years, familiarized his students with articles from the Atlantic Monthly and Harper's and other quality periodicals. The fate of liberal education is connected with the fate of Earl Vance. If his great learning and moral courage is wasted then I think we have heard the death knoll of liberal arts and what Lionel Trilling happily called "the liberal imagination"—the possession of which is the mark of the truly civilized man. Important as Earl Vance's loss is, more important is the loss of the students.

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

In the light of tendencies in bureaucracies, certain observations on this administration can be made. First, to society and the university community the administration is just an instrument to further the ends of the university.

However when we look at bureaucracies we see that they function in a way other than instrumental. We see that their maintenance, perpetuation, and prestige become other sources of conduct. We see the needs of the university displaced by the preferences and ambitions of members of the administration. And we see circuses and football teams established as appendages to bureaucratic egos.

We point up these problems because they are inherent in all policy-making organizations, including the FSU administration. No matter how sincere the men in Westcott may be we must realize they are men and consequently are a little less than infallible. And once we admit the administration has no pipeline to God the necessity for student criticism of administration policy becomes obvious.

The words of Sidney Hook, head of the Department of Philosophy at NYU can be applied to this situation: "A positive requirement of a working democracy is an intelligent distrust of its leadership, a skepticism, stubborn but not blind, of all demands for the enlargement of power, and an emphasis upon critical method in every phase of education and social life. This skepticism, like other forms of vigilance, may often seem irritating to leaders who are convinced of their good intentions. The skepticism, however, is not of their intentions but of the objective consequences of their power. Where skepticism is replaced by uncritical enthusiasm and the many-faceted deifications which our complex society makes possible, a fertile emotional soil for dictatorship has been prepared."

In a sense we're confronted with a dilemma. A university needs organization and administration. But to admit this is to admit the oligarchical structure of the university. It must be oligarchic because the president has sole responsibility to the board of control and to the legislature. Decisions are made by a centralized authority: the administration. Inherent in the president's position is legal and political responsibility to the board of control and the legislature.

A realistic approach to our problems must start with this observation. But the other horn of this dilemma are the aspirations of the faculty and the students for a continued cultural growth. Our problem then is to reconcile these oft - time conflicting demands on the administration. This can only be done by enlarging the area of political responsibility of the administration to include the students and faculty.

In the absence of a "philosopher-king" this can only be accomplished by positive action of student and faculty groups in making their demands known to the administration.

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

I could have indulged in superficial criticisms of the administration but since I don't believe that devils inhabit Westcott I have tried to point up the limitations imposed upon the administration.

But while our realism shows us these limitations it also discloses possibilities for progress—opportunities for the realization of our nobler aspirations. In a word, I believe with Thomas I Cook in the "realism of idealism."

"Rest Assured That If We Find One Polio Germ Crossing A State Line — "

An Editorial

Comment On Commencement

Unless one believes with Charles Wilson that "What's good for General Motors is good for the country," graduating seniors should listen with skepticism to their commencement speaker. Kenneth McFarland is not only Educational Consultant and Lecturer for General Motors Corporation, but has been dubbed the country's foremost public speaker by the United States Chamber of Commerce. This could mean he says only what the public is interested in hearing.

Letters To The Flambeau

Critics' Oversight

To the Editor:

I am sure it was not an intentional oversight on the part of the critics to ignore the more than adequate title role in Aida sung by Joan Nichy Friday night. It is unfortunate that Mrs. Nichy's rank as student kept her from singing the lead in all three performances. From the viewpoint of courtesy to the audience, rank should not displace talent. It did, however, in this and other roles.

I found the discussion in the Flambeau humorous which stated that the principals were "more suited to their parts than usual," adding a patronizing note that "the understudies are doing the most effectual job they've ever done." Understudy Bartholf has received the majority of praise so far on both singing and acting ability.

It is almost as if the faculty is afraid to accept in public the fact that the students they are training and producing might be somewhat better performers than themselves. They should rather commend themselves on the excellent job they are doing as teachers.

But to get back to Aida. Mrs Nichy's voice had a relaxing quality not often found in a soprano. The notes were nicely pitched and slightly cooled to avoid the shrillness one often finds in that register. Aside from these and other fine vocal qualities, Mrs. Nichy was able to combine the dignity of the title role with the humility of Aida, the slave girl; Edith Kaup was barely reading the notes.

Sincerely.
BAR DEE BOND

Rot Court

Dear Fellow Freshmen:

Our first big project next year is the Rat Court for Freshmen who do not wear their rat caps. For this to be successful, it will take a lot of cooperation on the part of the Sophomore class.

Rat Court can be a lot of fun if carried out in the right spirit, and I should like to have the names of anyone desiring to participate. My box number is 2361. Please send me your name and summer address if you are vitally interested.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank you for your support in the Sophomore Class election. I promise I will serve you faithfully and sincerely.

BILL CULLOM.

Seniors—"Best Ever"

Dear Seniors:

We would like to thank all of you for the many things you have done and are continuing to do for our class, the Class of '55, the best ever to graduate from Florida State University.

Be sure to attend all of the remaining activities because they were planned just for you.

Sincerely,
HARRY MASSEY
MIKE KISH
CAROLYN JOHNSON
DODIE PLATT
HARRIET RAMSEY

History And Education

To The Editor:

It is not likely that my observations on any subject will ever be sought by virtue of the magic of a Ph.D. after my name. But I allow myself the luxury of believing that in this land logic and truth still have a certain force of their own. I must therefore take issue with the honorable Doctor who discussed so learnedly in the pages of Flambeau recently, the subject of the bill before the state Legislature to make a course in American history compulsory in all Florida colleges.

First, I would like to ask the simple question, why? I think of the eminent professor of political science of a northern university who expounds daily on the "properties and meaning" of American Democracy. Yet, when the chips were down and democracy was being basely subverted right under his very nose, he wouldn't lift a finger in its behalf. Actually he didn't comprehend the meanings of democracy, he was no better equipped to practice it than some of the least of his students. He knows all about democracy, and the American way of life, but the same cannot in any sense of the word, be said about his comprehension of it.

It already requires at least ten

(Continued on Page 8)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"Your wife just called—you left your briefcase on th' back porch."

Alabaster II

Editor Gets Educated In 3 Years

By JAYLEEN ROBERTSON

This being my first column, I assume I have the right to spout wisdom or louse the thing up.

Being unable to remember anything except the final words of my (sigh) sixth term paper, I cannot give with the wisdom, and as I would more than likely do the latter anyway, I shall proceed.

This column is dedicated to my namesake and all those who have (pardon the expression) made me what I am . . . namely the bosses, upon whose laps I learned the facts of Flambeau life.

THE FIRST RECOLLECTION of Flambeau that I have is a tearful afternoon in '52, when Emory King stood raving (as I soon learned was orthodox for staff members) and tearing my first frosh story into shreds. After a two-hour indoctrination I solemnly pledged to support the Flambeau, the whole Flambeau and nothing but the Flambeau, so help me (but nobody did).

Bill Dunn inspired me to do nothing, and in that capacity I became Asst. Feature editor at the end of my freshman year.

From Fran Cawthon, very able news editor at the time, I learned and earned the title of Feature Editor. Having obtained half a brain I was next allowed to enter the sanction called the "inner office" of Bruce Galphin where I learned that subtlety is the best policy and th[at] everyone was against our policy.

THE IDES OF March blew over, throug[h] and around me, when Al Pierce (Alabaster I) be[gan] the next phase of my Flambouyant educa[tion] on second floor of Longmire. At last I w[as] introduced to the echelon of politics and poli[ti]cans. I still maintain that ignorance is bliss.

Among Galphin, Pierce, Springer, Geor[gie] Seminole, and a newcomer, Bob Folsom, my re[putation] varied from week to week as gu[n] moll, trouble-shooter, saint, goody-two-shoes and the (don't mind the blonde, she's harm[less") Assistant News Editor. It was a n[ot] wholesome atmosphere for would-be-radica[ls] but who wanted to be a radical?

From the smoke-filled conferences on atheism, pragmatism, liberalism, socialism, Machiavellis[m] and democratism, I emerged as news editor w[ith] one ism still intact—optimism. Even if the wh[ole] world was as mixed-up as those sessions, [I] still had hope for it.

FOLSOM STILL insists that blondes are har[d-]headed, but at least he didn't classify me w[ith] the honeybuns. In fact, when he handed [me] my diploma last week, he mumbled somethin[g] about watching for wolves in sheepskins. But [the] three-year curriculum, he added, entitled me [to] look the wolf in the eye.

The Dissenter

Segregation Ruling's First Birthday

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

One year ago today the United States Supreme Court ruled segregation in the public schools unconstitutional. "Separate," it held, is not "equal."

The decision, long anticipated even by those who were to proclaim defiance to it, burst like a bombshell on the South, the nation, and the world.

Students on college campuses, skilled in avoiding current events, knew what had happened. The State Department rested easy—the Kremlin would have to find something else to propagandize against us.

YET IN THIS year segregation obviously has not ended. What HAS happened, and what does the future hold in store?

The Court did not declare an immediate end to segregation; discussion of the problem is still going on.

We have witnessed the discouraging spectacle of some states—Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina—sacrificing their public school systems in order to retain segregation.

We have seen Ku-Kluxish "Citizen's Councils" organized throughout the South with the avowed intent of terrorizing and ruining all opponents, white or colored, of segregation.

DEGRADED DEMOGOGUES like Bryant Bowles have toured the most troubled areas, preaching violent and bloody opposition to the supreme law of our land. Although frothing mobs have lapped up his anti-Semitic, anti-Catholic, anti-Negro, anti-everything harangues, he has been spurned with loathing by the majority. He tried to emulate Hitler. He failed, and is now a nonentity.

Persistent efforts are made, even in the mo[re] advanced states, to circumvent the ruling. Se[lf-]styled leader of these inveterates in Florida [is] State Rep. Prentice Pruitt, of Jefferson Coun[ty]. His measures seem unconstitutional—support [for] them wanes and is weak.

SOME—THOSE who have been the victims [of] discrimination—are understandably impatie[nt] but only harm can be done if an unwilling s[o]ciety is forced into immediate compliance. Gre[at] social changes are not wrought overnight a[nd] reality always lags behind idealism.

Florida's Attorney General Ervin pointed [out] to the Supreme Court that there is a welte[r of] problems which must be solved before integra[tion] becomes a reality. Yet it was admi[tted] that school segregation is doomed, and [this] attitude is typical of the enlightened elemen[t of] the South.

We have removed from school segregation [the] protection of law and we may soon remo[ve] segregation itself—but prejudice will rema[in]. This can only be cured through time, educat[ion], charity, tolerance, and an effort at understan[d]ing.

LET THOSE WHO will sink themselves deep[er] into the morass of bigotry and ignorance a[s] Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina have done. Let that not happen here.

It is for the South—and the nation—to adop[t] a positive attitude toward the problem of racia[l] prejudice. An effort should be made not to c[ir]cumvent integration but to make it work. [It] CAN work.

The United States must assume its place a[s] a leader of democracy unbesmirched by an[y] "if's," "and's," or "buts."

Reflections

Old Hopes Faded—New Ones Shine

By OSCAR JOHNSON

John Stenbeck, in his East of Eden, says that when a man's life draws toward its end, he may look back objectively and sum it up in one of two words: good or bad. Perhaps the same is true of student government, for it starts a new life each year, spends it one way or the other, and then comes to an abrupt, scheduled end.

We find ourselves unable to make such a nutshell commentary on its efforts during the school year. It is not wholly bad when compared with previous terms, neither can it be described as good. Perhaps the most apt word is . . . disappointment.

We are disappointed with the bright hopes which became dull and tarnished and cast aside—with things like the reluctance to meet the challenge of the student charter.

But we reassure ourselves: next year is a new life, and the bright hopes are shining again.

• • • •

THE AMENDMENT voted on in the last election compromises and unsettled issue at this writing. Nobody knows whether they passed or not. Whatever the outcome, though, the amendments elections proved the shakiness of our constitution.

Should we really care what happens to the amendments? Does it make a difference? Or should we plod along fat, dumb and happy, and blissfully ignore the cranking of the legal machinery as it decides what the students hav[e] said.

• • • •

THE STORY OF a newspaper is written upon paper. From the rough notes (on paper) to the typed notes (also on paper) to the rough draft (again on paper) to the finished story (on more paper) to the correction proof (on still more paper) to the finished product (a paper) the story winds its plot.

By the time a year's stories have completed their transformation from ideas to print, the amount of paper used is almost unbelievable. It is packed in drawers for future reference, piled in stacks in all corners of the room, on top of bookcases, files and desk tops, ankle-deep on the floor and perched precariously on window ledges subject to the scattering force of the wind.

THAT'S THE STATE the Flambeau offices are in now—chaotic confusion. But it will soon be over; the room will be renovated in preparation for the first issue of the summer session.

This "disreputable" column added its voice to the rest. Now it is glad to stop, and clear its throat so it can begin anew next year. But first it would like to change its tone to one of gratefullness and humility. It would like to use its last breath of the year to deliver a "thank you" note to all of the people it has associated with during the year. To pizza-making Alonso, frizzy-head Jaybabee, Jeri, Jerry, Pat, Pat M, Alan, Marty, Willie, Tann, Margaret, Laird, Bob, Dick, Harry and all the rest—it's been a good year working with you.

Lately It Seems

Post's Answer To Georgie Seminole

By ORCHID ALONSO

After years of thinking and searching, I have hit upon the only solution for the Flambeau. The Flambeau needs a Sylvester Perch. For those of you who wonder, "Who is Sylvester Perch?" Let me say to you—YOU have NOT read the Capital Post.

The Capital Post is Tallahassee's latest (yet earliest—its a morning paper) daily. And Sylvester Perch's role is both obvious yet subtle. Someone goofs—Sylvester writes a column, stating "how it is that the typewriter doesn't know how to Spell?" And Capital Post readers who otherwise would go around complaining about "those careless newspaper people" go around saying, "Did you see how that cute (?) Sylvester explained what happened the other day?"

AH, BUT DREAM as we might, we might as well face it, as it is that The Flambeau could never have a Sylvester who would be safe. Staff members here don't succeed in arousing in the readers' minds an aloof glory. Everyone is too close too each other. The community is too small.

For instance, Sylvester rages about the City Editor (who is also my boss, in this case) but no one bothers to find out if what he says is true. Now here is something Sylvester might write in the Flambeau . . . and immediately we might expect the students to do a little detective work and . . . well, the fact is that the story is true. Sylvester, do your stuff:

DEAR UNCLE FINLEY,

As it is I told you Tallahassee is having a great many burglaries lately? Well, the police, including Capt. Wild Bob Maigs (of Alligator roping fame) have started to be extra Careful?

Well it was that another staff member, who it is is not an important Function Editors nor makes as much money as I, although people won't believe that her name is her name, because they say sometimes its violet or Rose?

One night, it is that she is going home and it is dark and she called a cab because she doesn't get paid as much as me and can't afford a car, and waiting for a cab at the corner whe[n] it is Dark? A police car came around and looked around. And later that policecar came back and spotted the spotlight at her, as I guess it is the[y] wanted to get a good look at her, and just [to] show you what kind of people the City Editor hires, the police decided to investigate as it was she was standing in front of a service station.

SHE ASSURED them she had already called a cab, and sure enough a Cab pulled up?

Now this girl it is that she was a little scared but she said that she was glad she had cab fare that night for a Cab? For once in Daytona Beach where she went for some journalism nonsense and she didn't have cab fare so she decided to walk to the hotel—at 4 a.m. in the Morning? A police car came up and flashed the light on her, but she was scared so she kept on going, and those policemen, they didn't have an[y] burglary trouble in Daytona, because they didn't stop to investigate, or maybe they thought she was coming home from Work?

Love,
Sylvester

NOW IT IS that Sylvester is very nice and would never print such a Story? But if he does he's going to have a hard time explaining how it is that sometimes he's a her and sometimes he's a he, and everyone is Confused?

Really, though, think of the advantages. Everytime Dyckman gets over-excited and the KA's come over for a quick lynch job, Sylvester could take the blame. And then it is that Sylvester could tell the English Department that he forgot to put in the Junior English Exam notice. And he could even say he made one of our writers look silly, by having the Flambeau carry a statement that Four Roses is the only thing better than Four Roses. But like 'twas said before, he wouldn't last long.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Orchid Alonso, Mng. Editor

Associate Editor — Martin Dyckman
Assistant Mng. Editor — Pat Marston
Senior Reporters — Jeri Bradfield, Willie Smith, Marty Reeves
Junior Reporter — Howard Hartley
Sports Editors — Bob Gutting, Dick Victory
Sports Staff — Alan Whitmarsh, Harry Bernard

Mary Lix King—Business Mgr.

Exchange Editor — Joan Halford
Assistant Exchange Editor — Susan Hyde
Distribution — Members of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity

Telephone 2-8000 extension 6821
211, 213 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

Oscar Johnson, News Editor

Feature Editor — Margaret Miller
Campus Editor — Jerry Bernstein
Amusement Editor — Tann Hammond
Circulation — Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity
Photographer — Laird Anderson
Greek Editor — Pat Brady

Mary Tindell—Advertising Mgr.

Asst. Adv. Mgr. — Nina Ryle
Business Staff — Jeanette Puckett, Mary Dressler
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Big Boys Now—One of highlights of year for Senate was its session in state capital building.

Senate Had Enough Controversial Moments

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

The 1954-55 Student Senate, which met for the last time Wednesday, had enough controversial moments to satisfy even the most ambitious of headline writers, although most issues dealt with the composition of Student Government itself.

The Senate, which is repeatedly charged with having nothing to do save "to perpetuate its own existence," nevertheless made itself (and the Student Body) heard by the administration and the state at large on numerous topics.

It resolved, for example, against the University of Florida's reluctance to engage FSU in competitive sports, and the solons had no qualms about declaring that FSU should get an equal cut of race track scholarship money with the other state schools. Blasting the Tallahassee police force, it requested the Student Body President to sit down and attempt an understanding with the police chief.

One of the Senate's resolutions, airing a matter of long irritation to loyal Seminoles, even made the Associated Press wires. That Florida's license plates, which have been for many years orange and blue, the colors of tha University of Florida, should be garnet and gold—FSU's colors—every other year.

A Senate resolution is credited with revoking a new policy of deducting quality points for "F" grades. Certain Senate requests such as more parking places and car washing facilities at West Hall appear to be in the process of fulfillment.

Auburn Trip

And there was, of course, the trip to Auburn for the football game — an event which was planned, organized and sponsored by Student Senate.

The committee which had something to do with nearly all the above-mentioned student services was Senator Joan Halford's Labor, Student Services and Education Committee. Her group was never able to satisfy the Senate on food service conditions, but if situations against which the Senate protested are unrectified the administration has at least been made aware of the displeasure.

There was the Senate resolution asking that Negro dance bands be permitted for university-wide functions as a matter of policy. Some felt the Senate was going out on a limb that time, but the Inter-Fraternity Council's request that it be allowed to contract Duke Ellington was granted the next day.

Too Many Wrangles

Critics maintain, however, that the Senate spent most of its time on intra-governmental wrangles, and protest that the group's actions were largely negative instead of positive.

They point, for example, to the eight most hested issues which Senate debated this year.

1. The wrangle over a presidential appointee to a vacant Senate seat, who failed of confirmation for lack of a two-thirds majority. The Senate, displeased with tha president's choice but more probably split on party lines, suggested the president hold a special advisory election among the Juniors before making another appointment. President Pete Nimkoff, acting on the advice of Attorney General Dave Kennedy, whose own appointment had occasioned controversy, rejected the Senate's suggestion. Kennedy's opinion held that Senate was trying to assume the appointment power.

(2) A constitutional amendment, introduced by men's vice-president Gordon Gaster, resulting from the appointment controversy in which be had been one of Nimkoff's opponents. His amendment would have provided for special elections to fill vacancies in Student Senate and for presidential appointments to fill temporary vacancies, but the proposal was rejected after weeks of debate. Among the arguments voiced against the amendment was the contention that turnout would be too small to justify holding a special election.

(3.) The controversy over the method of electing Senators. While nearly all agreed that a change should be made, none could agree on the pertinent question, "What change?" A special sub-committee of vice-president Coyle Moore and Senator Nancy Vaughn suggested dormitory and class representation; this was rejected. A proposal for dormitory, class and day student and Pan-Hellenic-Inter-Fraternity Council representatives was denounced as too complicated; a combination plan was also turned down. In the end Senate passed an amendment which would allow itself to change the system of representation without going through the constitutional process of putting it to popular vote. This amendment, which received more votes for than against it in the recent election, was challenged on the grounds that not enough people voted and a Court case was to be held yesterday afternoon to decide tha issue.

(4) A bill, by Senator Jimmy Soles, which would have required placing ballot boxes in all dormitories housing aver 100 students. The bill was rejected twice on the grounds that the elections committee wouldn't be able to handle the additional polling places. Two additional polling places, a total of six, were set up for the forthcoming elections, however.

NSA?—SUSGA?

(5) Membership in United States National Student Association, which issue opened the year and stands to be the topic for tomorrow's first meeting of the New Senate. Sen. Soles advised against NSA membership at the start of the year. A delegate to the national Student Congress tha preceding summer, he asserted that USNSA has policies contrary to the interests of a southern school; that it is dogmatic in opposition to discriminatory fraternity and sorority charters, and that FSU wouldn't get any additional benefits as a member school.

The Association's president, Harry Lunn Jr., spoke on the campus during the year, denying some of these allegations, and a special committee under Sen. Jimmy Joanos was set up to study the possibility of NSA membership. He reported Sunday, however, that his committee has decided against membership "at the present."

(6) The Board of Publications proposed by the editorial staffs of The Florida Flambeau, Smoke Signals and Tally-Ho. After president Nimkoff rejected the original proposal (it has never been settled whether he had actual veto power) Senate made sweeping changes, taking the editors off the Board and providing for presidential appointment—with Senate confirmation—of two of the members. The publications charged such a Board would be overly political; the Senate was accused of seeking censorship of the publications, and passage of the amendment itself was challenged before the Honor Court yesterday afternoon. (See other story in this issue.)

Keep One Half

(7) A funds bill introduced by vice-president Gaster, which would have allowed campus organizations to keep all proceeds earned through campus projects. Senator Ken Gatlin fought the provision, and a compromise was the result. Organizations may now keep half of their proceeds—the rest must go to some project of service to the campus. Previously, one-third of all proceeds were allowed campus groups.

Charter

(8) What amounted to the biggest elation and then the greatest disappointment of the year—all within a few weeks—was the procurement of a student government charter from a Florida Circuit Court.

Led by Bruce Fletcher, a small group organized the corporation on April 27. Student Government and tha campus as a whole greeted it as something of an Emancipation Proclamation; the Flambeau headline conjectured, "Act May Bring About Era of Dynamic Government." Next Monday, however, the Senate balked at putting Student Government under tha corporation. The whola thing is now dormant.

Passive Rejection

The principal argument which led to the Senate's passive rejection of the corporation was that none of the power the Senate actually wants—a say in the running of the university with regards to the interests of the student body—would be granted by it. The charter would give the student government corporation all rights and privileges not against the laws of Florida. The hitch is that the Florida laws delegate all responsibilities for running the university to the Board of Control which in turn delegates to the president of the university.

Although Fletcher protested that the corporation could at least undertake such student services as a cooperative bookstore and a non-profit cafeteria, the Senate indicated it would rather have a charter from tha Board of Control or the Legislature, giving student government the actual power it wants.

And so on this status the year comes to an end. Student leaders in Senate and out, not discouraged by the first charter episode, still have their eyes focused on that seemingly unattainable goal. Next year may tell whether student government's destiny is to reach that pinnacle or not.

Senator Jom—Jim E. Moore tell Senate Ken Gatlin's amendment to Board of Publications bill is "ridiculous."

Ken Gatlin—Argues for amendment at Senate meeting, saying it will give students a newspaper which will represent them.

They're On Their Way

Flambeau Seniors Leave After Successful Career

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Now that all of this year's fifty-two Flambeaux have hit the racks, it may be interesting to take a glance at the personalities who will be leaving the paper.

Foremost among these is, of course, Editor Bob Folsom. Upon relinquishing the editor's chair to Jayleen Robertson for the last three issues, Bob ended a year of determined effort to produce a paper of the type he believes in.

Leadership

Under his leadership the Flambeau became a champion of civil liberties, always upholding individual rights on its editorial page. Elected as a Sophomore on the Student Party ticket, editor Folsom was by his own definition a "newspaperman" and stubbornly stuck to his beliefs through the hard times of student apathy and staff friction.

Folsom's Flambeau carried through the conservative makeup established by former editor Bruce Galphin, although more photographs graced its pages than under any other editor. Other than makeup, Folsom left the news pursuits to the rest of the staff as long as he believed they were handling it adequately. He early accepted "p. 2" as his cherished domain.

Literary Ideals

As a writer Folsom strove toward tha highest literary ideals. He often reprinted editorials from other newspapers if he believed they met the standards he sought and reflected opinions that the student body should hear. Toward the latter part of his term, Folsom's "p. 2" began carrying a harder-hitting note. He fought vigorously against measures and people whom he thought acted against the interests of the student body.

His work went largely unappreciated. The very students he cared for often turned against him. Yet when the sum-total of Bob Folsom's Flambeau achievement is marked upon history's ledger, one outstanding quality will predominate, a courage of convictions.

Departing these pages along with Folsom will be the familiar name of David Dreis. "Familiar" because Dave was a veteran of four years' experience on the Flambeau as writer, columnist and Amusement Editor. Besides his newspaper activity, Dave undertook a heavy role in various plays and speech department productions on campus all during his stay here. He was also the master of ceremonies for his own radio show, "Record Jury".

Official Reviewer

As a Flambeau staff member, Dave reviewed numerous musical and drama productions. His column, "Etcetera Etchings", established what must be an endurance record for this paper. In it he sought to introduce FSU students to the off-campus amusements field although his attention frequently pin-pointed campus issues.

During this school year, the Flambeau offices were the scene of probably more open discussions on national and local issues than any other spot on campus. And one of the most active participants was a Senior named Phil Springer.

During the last month or two, Phil became editor Folsom's right-hand man in deciding matters of policy. He contributed ideas for many of the best editorials to appear on Bob's "p. 2" during that time, editorials which captured praise from students of politics and society both among the students and faculty.

Outspoken Views

Phil was always outspoken in his views and earned a reputation as among the most well-versed persons on campus in political philosophy and akin subjects. His contribution, however, to the betterment and improvement of the Flambeau, was not realized until Bob officially recognized him as "Editorial Consultant" — on the "p. 2" masthead.

Phil's broad knowledge will be hard to replace on next year's Flambeau. Brilliance is a rare quality.

From the Business Staff, departing members of the Flambeau are Business Manager Joe Caldwell; Assistant Business Manager Irma Cox, and Ed Andrews, circulation manager.

Dittmer Elected ACS Chairman

Dr. Karl Dittmer became Chairman of the Florida section of the American Chemical Society last week-end.

Dr. Dittmer, Head of the Department of Chemistry at FSU, is now chairman of the organization devoted to the professional activities of 600 Florida chemists.

Speaker at the installation banquet was Dr. Joel H. Hildebrand, president of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Howard E. Skipper, Assistant Director of the Southern Research Institute, received the Florida Section award.

Fourteen research papers were presented by member of the FSU Department of Chmistry, David F. Dever, Ernest M. Grunewald, Russell H. Johnson, Graham Brealey, Michael Kasha, Rowland E. Johnson and J. Harding Owen.

Also Robert West, H. W. Barrett, R. J. Keirs, R. D. Britt, Jr., Charles R. Crane, Walter Magnuson, Earl Frieden, Werner Herz, H. M Walborsky, M. Baum, Leonard Spiegle and Herman Rolfs.

SCHOLARSHIP CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The FSU Scholarship Club, under the supervision of Dr. Sam Lastinger, recently elected new officers for tha 1955-56 school term.

Those elected were Doris Hisler, president; Mary Ann Turpin, vice-president; Jean Campbell, corresponding secretary, Betty June Bishop, recording secretary; Susan Johns, social chairman; Louis Bashaw, treasurer; Larry Moore, historian, and Earnestine Johnson, parliamentarian.

The club will hold their first meeting September 22 at 7 p.m. in the Longmire lounge.

Four Students Compete Today

Four students have been selected from a field of 23 to participate in the finals of the Intramural Public Speaking Contest.

Betty Struth, Gloria Sheffield, Arnold Greenfield and Tom Woods will compete before the Toastmasters Club of Tallahassee, today at 6 p.m.

Betty Struth, representing Delta Zeta, will speak on "Should teachers in the public schools be required to sign a loyalty oath?" Gloria Sheffield's subject is "What can be done about the complaint that our students can't read?"

Arnold Greenfield, representing Magnolia Ball, will speak on the subject "Should we adopt President Eisenhower's program for federal guarantees of local school bonds?" Tom Woods, representing Theta Chi, will speak on "The Florida Junior College System."

Public Speaking is the last event in the Intramural Speech Contests. Former winners were Fred Roberts, first place in After Dinner Speaking, and Earl Carroll, first place in Oratory, speaking on "Social Promotion."

Next Tuesday night the Debate Squad will hold its last meeting of the year in the Methodist Student House at 8 p.m. At this meeting the senior and junior debate squad managers for 1955-56 will be elected, and FSU's recommendations for next year's debate resolution will be discussed. The meeting is open to all interested persons if thy will first contact Dr. Gregg Phifer at extension 2061.

Education Frat Votes DeLaura

Lewis DeLaura, graduate student in Education and teacher at the Demonstration School, has been elected president of the campus chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, men's professional education fraternity.

Other officers elected were Kenneth McLaughlin, Test Service Bureau, first vice-president; W. L. MacGowan, second vice-president; Maurice Peterson, South City School principal, recording secretary; Harry Day, graduate student, treasurer, and Morris Sica, graduate student, Historian.

Faculty sponsor is Dr. H. A. Curtis, professor of Education at FSU.

Dine in a Comfortable Atmosphere
for Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

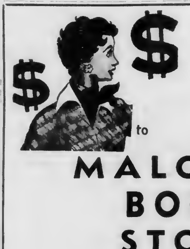
Open 6 A.M. til 12
Saturday til 2 A. M.



Complete Dinners
From $1.50 up
APPROVED BY AAA

Let us plan your banquet or luncheon. Private Banquet Room has capacity of 110.

TALLAHASSEE DINING ROOM
1630 North Monroe
Phone 2-3428 Mr. Bishop, Mgr.

FILTER TIP TAREYTON
with the Pearl-Gray Activated Charcoal Filter
PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company

CASH
Sell the books
you no longer need
to
MALONE'S
BOOK
STORE
107 S. Copeland
HIGHEST CASH PRICES FOR ALL CURRENT TEXTBOOKS.
We buy books whether used at F.S.U. or not.
See Us Before You Sell!

FAMOUS NEW
B. F. GOODRICH SILVERTOWN
Factory Seconds at the Biggest Savings Ever Offared in Tallahassee

Only $11.95
Sizes 6.70 15
Plus Tax and Recappable Tire

These are carefully Inspected Factory Seconds with slight imparfections that do not affect servicaability or long life. A rare buy for us—
A RARE VALUE for you.

BUY NOW AND SAVE! QUANTITIES ARE LIMITED
We may be unable to repeat this rare offer
THIS YEAR'S ORIGINAL EQUIPMENT TUBELESS TIRES

Size Black Sidewalls	Factory Firsts Regular Price With No Trade-In	SALE PRICE Factory Seconds	White Sidewalls Factory Firsts Regular Price With No Trade-In	White Sidewalls SALE PRICE Factory Seconds
6.70-15	$28.55	$17.13	$34.15	$20.49
7.10-15	$31.35	$18.81	$37.55	$22.53
7.60-15	$34.35	$20.61	$41.15	$24.69

CAMERON'S TEXACO SERVICE STATION
Corner West Tennessee and Copeland
PHONE 3-0619

B.F.Goodrich
FIRST IN RUBBER — FIRST IN TUBELESS

Chiefs' at Sun Bowl—Largest crowd in history packs Sun Bowl stadium as the FSU Marching Chiefs parade 130-strong during halftime. Rocky mountains in background.

Flambeau's Pictorial Review of '55

Going Underground—Workars above prepare to lower radioactive Cobalt into underground enclosure from circular lead shipping container. Scene is inside laboratitoy between History and Science buildings here. Material will be used for radiation studies in connection with a naw curriculum to be offared soon leading to the Bachelor of Science dagree in Radiation Physics.

At Sigma Phi Epsilon Weekend—The 1955 Queen of Haarts and her court are, l. to r.. Bob Gutting, Vivian James, Laura Eiler, Norman Burth, Bernie Paolin, Rie Weber, Haskell Fulmer, Lynnell Reynolds, Lorina Chestnut and Gay Argo.

Queen of Delta Tau—Nancy Vaughn is crowned Queen of fraternity at annual Spring dance last week. Bob Culliver, Delta Tau Delta, performs the honors.

Students Examine—Exhibit at University Museum on Florida Indians, on permanent display. Museum and Art Gallery were active this year, setting up twelva displays. Officials plan to have the same number next year.

Freshman Queen Candidates—Chosen at time of Freshman Carnival were, l. to r., Patty Marley, Janet Johnson, BarbaraCraig, Ann Farquharson, Myra Lay, Sallie Gladding and Sa'zanne Stokes. Miss Gladding was chosen queen and Don Noot reigned as king of the avent.

AT Groundbreaking—President Doak S. Campbell breaks ground for naw Kappa Sigma fraternity house. Holding box is Steve Edwards Jr.

Bridge Champs—L. to r., Jean Tedder, Sarah Boone, Dr. Claude Flory, Susan Quarterman and Barbara Essig. Dr. Flory shows plaque to winners of campus contest.

During Homecoming—Magnolia Hall won the decorations prize for its effort depicting Seminola pushing Furman player through sawmill, emerging as live monkey.

They're Champs

Phi Mu's, Pi Phi's Win Bridge Tourney

Barbara Essig and Susan Quarterman, Phi Mu; and Sarah Boone and Jean Tedder, Pi Beta Phi, are the 1955 campus national intercollegiate courtset bridge champuons at Florida State University.

This announcement was made Wednesday by Fred Vogel, Counselor for Student Activities. In addition to winning the local champonship in the North-South Division, Miss Essig and Miss Quarterman won second place among all colleers competing in the Southeastern region of the United States. A team from Georgia Tech won first in the Southeastern region and teams representing the University of Texas and Whitman College won the national championship.

Approximately 2,000 students at 141 colleges and universities in 44 states and the District of Columbia took part in the tournament. A total of 14 teams participated in the competition at FSU.

The play here was supervised by Dr. Clyde R. Flory, professor of English; Dr. Rhea Tinney, Assistant Co-ordinator of Counseling, and Mr. Merrill Hall, graduate assistant in the education department, with Meredith Payne and Gene Turano as student directors. Certifeates were awarded to each of the four campus winners by Dr. Flory Wednesday afternoon. Their names will be engraved on a plaque which will be placed in the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

J. Wayne Stark of Texas A & M was national director of the tournament and Geoffry Mott-Smith, bridge expert, analyzed the hands in determining local, regional, and national winners.

Archaeology Summer Session To Go Diggin'

The anthropology and archaeology department will offer students an opportunity to "dig into the past" during its Field Session this summer.

"If you have a burning interest in dead Indians and would like to know the difference between a shard and a shovel," said a department member this week, "make your plans for summer school with Dr. Charles H Fairbanks, director of the session." The Field Session begins June 20 and ends August 12.

The course is offered on two levels, general and advanced, and is open to both men and women students. The Field Session is devoted to the teaching of prehistoric Florida culture history and archaeological field techniques. Six credit hours may be earned during the eight-week session.

A large burial mound near the Gulf Coast, south of Tallahassee, has been selected for the summer "dig." Transportation to and from the site daily will be furnished by the university.

Dig That "Dig"—Carol Irwin, Dr. Charles Fairbanks and Bruce Linebaugh examine contents of a test pit at archaeological site near the Gulf Coast, where excavation will be located this summer.

Dr. H. G. Smith, head of the department of anthropology and archaeology, said this particular site is "one of the finest I have ever seen in Florida, and offers an excellent field laboratory for the prospective archaeologist."

The Ballet Theatre—A return performance?

Cardboard Palaces—Above is typical West Campus structure.

Amusements This Year Were Of High Caliber

By DAVID DREIS

Variety shows and all other amusements on campus this year were of a high caliber and were more unified and professional than ever before.

Starting the year off, the Freshman Stunt Night had many professional qualities. The amateurishness which marked some Stunt Nights was almost gone and Tom Speck proved an amiable emcee for the affair.

The School of Music opened up its production season with Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" in which Delano Driver and John Zilles were featured as the principal characters. Zilles, a freshman, later was cast into Sandspur and presented a little more stage presence than he had given in "Carousel."

The Department of Speech presented a roster of plays which differed greatly from previous years; each one was well-known and highly praised on the Broadway stage. The age-old favorite "Charley's Aunt" gave Eb Thomas a chance to try his hand at comedy and while sometimes he lost the savor of the "fun" of the play, it nevertheless showed a supremal effort which is a trademark of educational theater. The next month, flashing with the School of Music's "Carousel," the Department of Speech presented "Seventh Beautiful People" by William Saroyan. This play was a bit confusing to some spectators, but refreshing to anyone who is familiar with Saroyan's work.

Dancing Stressed

"Gymkana," this year seemed to stress dancing and music rather than clever gymnastics although some of this was needed evident. With a theme of "Toyland Capers" the show came off pretty well with the exception of a few spotty signs of disorganization. It did however appeal to more people than previously because it did not emphasize gymnastics as much as was seen in years before. Formerly a spectator had the feeling that he was attending a gym meet, but this year he knew it was a show.

Ray Eberle's appearance at the Homecoming Jessavites was the only sore spot in the band roster this year. Eberle had strictly very little with the exception of a sweet voice made famous by the Glenn Miller orchestra. He picked up nothing in the way of dance stylings from the late Miller.

Ballet Theater

The Ballet theater launched the 54-55 Artist Series with a performance that the reviewer called "a definite success." The Artist Series was, at the time, so enthused that they were talking about a return engagement. Later on in the year, the Artist Series presented the Dublin Players in an Irish drama, one the "Far Off Hills" which would have been best to have remained there, and the celebrated play "Juno and the Paycock" which showed just cause for it's success.

Les Elgart furnished the music for the Military Ball and was just about the best dance orchestra of the year although Duke Ellington's IPC appearance was extremely great and his concert held a devoted audience jammed to the rafters and crying for more. Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey appeared here for a concert and almost everyone agreed that what the Artist Series paid for their appearance was a well-spent effort. The number of students who attended the performance showed that the organization feel no money in their endeavor.

'Sassanah'

"Sussanah", an original musicale-drama by Carlisle Floyd in the School of Music was extremely good. It was also the first time that a director of drama directed the drama and a director of music directed the music. This should be a must for all dramatic and musical productions on this campus.

Zo-Zo-ba, the Sandspur production, was expected to be in the traditional style of previous productions—quite amateurish—but this year it showed signs of unification. Herb Richmond returned from service and again directed Sandspur under Frances Stokes. Sandspur, the all-original musical comedy, proved a success.

The Theater Dance Group presented its big affair and displayed more originality on the part of the performers than ever before. Under the direction of Nellie Bond Dickenson the Theater Dance Group provided an evening of fine entertainment.

Yma Sumac's appearance here was indeed an experience. The Peruvian singer displayed a consciousness of commercial appeal. She appeared here complete with melodic songs and a troupe of dancers that added to the spectacle of the show. As for artistry Yma Sumac's voice has been heralded for some years now and praise well justified. We could hardly wait for her to break into a classical or popular aria but she remained Peruvian.

Jazz Stylins

Dave Brubeck presented his jazz stylings before a meager crowd that could be counted on one's fingers after the intermission. For the jazz enthusiasts, it was fine, but for those who liked their music soft and mellow it was a rather disturbing evening.

The Crucible and T. S. Eliot's Cocktail Party were presented by the Department of Speech. The first was a fast-moving drama of the witch trials of Salem a few centuries ago; the second, an idealistic slow-paced, words' dramatic presentation which must have kept those who are philosophically inclined on the end of their seats.

T. S. Eliot was also represented with the English Department's presentation of "Murder In A Cathedral." The only difference is that the English Department made no pretense about it's wordiness and presented the play as a concert reading.

Aida Opera

The School of Music closed its active year of concerts, etc. with the opera "Aida" which went up and down on the caliber scale like a barometer. What night you went was quite important in rating the performances.

That's the year's amusement activities wrapped up and reviewed in espiaple. A better year, no doubt, and an indication that as Florida State University grows so grows the quality, the amusement on campus.

Disgruntled Students—Above students who appealed successfully to the Music School faculty for longer practice hours in the Music Building last week. L. to r., Walter Donaldson; Pat Johnson, president of the music students, and Daniel Ravenaugh.

West Campus Cardboard Palace Was Haven Of Florida State Men

By BOB TAYLOR

Come May 20, and aradaeffio, the last of the west campus huts will be gone. For it was in the class of '55's freshman year, that west campus last lived. Over half of FSU's senior boys roomed there in '51-'52, and with graduation, all but the memories will be gone.

West campus was fabulous for its pranks, drunks and shenanigans. In a way it was almost uncivilized. West Hall makes those old barracks look like the wilds of Africa. What actually went on out there three years ago? Here are a few of the recalled "incidents."

Cardboard

The dorms were rickety, and the walls were paper thin, thus you could hear noises from one end so the other. In the winter, you didn't just reach over and turn on the heat, you got up and shouted and banged on the walls hoping to wake up the janitor. Half the time he was nursing a hangover, and you wound up freezing to death.

We were fortunate enough to have a drummer in our dorm—old 396—and at mid-semester he bought a 24 inch cymbal—his roommate almost finished his education at Chattahoochee. Upstairs we had a weight-lifter. Every time he dropped 200 pounds, the whole dorm vibrated. But the worst noise came when a mechanic downstairs put a motorcycle together, and then decided to try it out in the hallway—and with no muffler!

We, of course, had our share of parties, and drunks. The cold showers were always going early in the morning, and the hoppin' came one spring night. That was the night a dozen guys, loaded to the gills, came home and settled on the lights to a practice football field next door. There they proceeded to have a full fledged scrimmage at 3 a.m. Fortunately some fanatical condition shortened the contest.

Big Joke

Pranks were the order of the day. One of the best, I remember was played on a Brooklynite. Seems he was a heavy sleeper, and had an 8 o'clock class. Back then, you had to be up by seven, jump a bus to east campus and then grab breakfast to eat. Well some fellows sneaked in at 4 a.m. after a tool, and one of them shook "Brooklyn," woke him up with a sober face told him he had overslept again. Brook tore off for the shower, shaved, dressed and raced out to catch a bus only to find it still pitch black outside—he didn't speak to anybody for a week.

The recent panty raid scare had nothing on the west campus boys. We had one too. Ours also fooled, but the fracas that

(Continued on Page 7)

Going Home
for the Summer?
GO GREYHOUND!

Greyhound Schedules
As Follows:

Gainesville—Ocala—Orlando
Lv. Tallahassee:
6:30 a.m. 1:15 p.m.
9:30 a.m. 7:45 p.m.

Tampa—St. Pete—Ft. Myers—Sarasota and Bradenton
Lv. Tallahassee
6:30 a.m. 4:45 p.m.
9:45 a.m. 9:45 p.m.
1:15 p.m. 11:59 p.m.

Lake City—Jacksonville—West Palm Beach
Ft. Pierce—Ft. Lauderdale—Miami—Key West
Lv. Tallahassee:
6:15 a.m. 4:30 p.m. 11:45 p.m.
9:30 a.m. 7:45 p.m.
1:00 p.m. 9:45 p.m.

Montgomery—Birmingham—Dothan
Lv. Tallahassee:
1:05 a.m. 1:15 p.m.
4:15 a.m. 4:20 p.m.
6:45 a.m. 8:15 p.m.
8:15 a.m.

Marianna—Pensacola—New Orleans
Lv. Tallahassee:
1:05 a.m. 1:15 p.m.
4:15 a.m. 4:20 p.m.
8:15 a.m. 8:15 p.m.

CHARTER SERVICE AND SPECIAL COACH
SERVICE FOR GROUPS.

SAVE 20% ON RETURN PORTION OF YOUR ROUND TRIP TICKET.

Call Greyhound Bus Terminal
Phone 2-1650

Kappa Delta To Install Tonight

Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary at FSU, will initiate new members tonight at 8 p.m. in the Large Lounge of Lonsmire followed by a banquet at 6:30 p.m. in the Suwannee Room.

Dr. Milton Carothers, Dean of the Graduate School, will be toastmaster and Dr. A. J. Brumbaugh, director of the Higher Education Council, will speak on "Scholarship and Citizenship."

Those to be initiated are Mary Virginia Alexander, Heleo W. Carothers, Rocella Greenlee, Betty Greasery, Waren Gunlason, Christine P'Simer, Irell Hardwick, E. Muah Allsworth, Lois C. Allsworth, Mildred Carlton, Frances E. Harrison, Carole Jenkins, Carol A. Wells, Jane Ellen Jones, Ruth Ann Kegel, Shirley M. Larsen, William Lee Pierce, Ann Pistone, Glynge Smith, Betty L. Boyd, Mildred Esther Jones, Virginia Macagnoni, Florence Hazel Pate, Jane Putnam, Janice Louise Southerland, and Lillian Zachary.

Carothers Elected Gold Key Prexy For Coming Year

Graham Carothers was recently elected president of Gold Key for the coming year.

Other officers elected were Hans Tews, vice-president; Joan Sweeney, secretary; Bob Crenshaw, treasurer; Coyle Moore, Alumni Secretary and Don Holder and Jimmy Joanos, executive committee members.

Recently initiated into membership were Dean Ralph Ogiesby, Dean Louis Corson, Mr. James Carr, Graham Carothers, Jim Padgian, Hans Tews, John Cooper and Don Holder.

Symphonic Band Gives Last 'Starlight Serenade' Tomorrow

With strains from their last Starlight Serenade still fresh in students' ears, the Symphonic Band will present its third and last serenade of the series tomorrow night at 8:15 on the Outdoor Theater.

Directed by Manley Whitcomb, professor of Music, the group specializes in lush classics and popular music with "no high-brow stuff," said band manager Jim Ed Glass.

By popular demand, the drum trio composed of Andy Odum, Jon Gilbert and Clura Welker, will appear again. "They played at the first Starlight Concert and made such a hit that people requested that they return," said Glass. He added that the trio were "outstanding" on the band's recent tour.

Several of the players are seniors and will be appearing with the band for the last time. Among them is Calvin Hasbrouck, who will do the trumpet solo in Haydn's "Concerto For B-Flat Cornet."

A trumpet trio composed of Calvin Hasbrouck, Bob McMillan, and Shirley Wallace will present LeRoy Anderson's "Bugler's Holiday." Anderson is also the composer of the popular "Blue Tango," "Fiddle Faddle" and "Sandpaur Ballet."

A flute trio, made up of Louise Hoyer, Sally McNutt, and Susan Lucas will play Simeoni's "Flute Cocktail." Also on the program are several popular marches, among them "Thunder and Blazes," and "The Purple Carnival March."

Band members expect "another big crowd" judging from the turnout at the last two concerts. In case of rain, the concert will be held in Opperman Music Hall.

OAK RIDGE MEMBER TO LECTURE

Dr. Norman G. Anderson, of the Biological Division of Oak Ridge National Laboratories, will speak on "The Concepts of the Origin of Life" at the Sigma Xi Lecture, tomorrow in 124 Science Building at 8 p.m.

10% DISCOUNT
TO F.S.U.

The Silver Slipper

CHICKEN

SEA FOOD

—AIR CONDITIONED—
CHARCOAL BROILED STEAKS

OPEN EVERY DAY — 2000 S. MONROE — PHONE 2-4961

WEDNESDAY MORNING SPECIALS

STRAW BASKETS

Trimmed With

☆ SHELLS ☆ FLOWERS ☆ FRUIT

(as shown)

2.98 plus tax

OUR REGULAR 5.00 STYLE

BLACK, AND COLORS
WHITE, NATURAL

MILLER'S Cootery College Ave

NECKLACES
ROPE

Reduced To .79 plus tax

Formerly to 3.00

Beautiful Rope Bead
Necklaces of All Materials
And All Colours . . Perfect for Summer wear or lovely gifts—

MILLER'S Cootery

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

By copping the NCAA volleyball crown the Florida State athletes have finished what may prove to be the best season of any college in the country.

This victory—which was FSU's second national title in two weeks, proved to be a glittering finish to a spectacular season.

The series of athletic victories was very ably started by Coach Nugent's fired up Seminole football team that suffered few defeats and won a trip to the Sun Bowl for their noble efforts The Bowl game, without much turning out in our favor, was the first time a Florida team participated in a bowl game outside of the state.

Keeping up the tradition of winning teams was Coach Bill Shults' mermen. Although facing up against some of the toughest southeastern and southwestern conference teams the mermen easily outdistanced all foemen to complete their third unbeaten season.

Outstanding swimmer of the team was all-American Ernie Stock, who also went to the NCAA meet in Ohio, but failed to place there.

Next on the list are the well known Seminole gymnasts, under the direction of Coach Hartley Price.

In another spectacular year, the gymnasts captured all three odd titles. Some of them, like the Alabama Invitational and Georgia and Florida AAU, they held for the fifth straight year.

In addition, Don Holder, Jack Miles, and Rafael Lecuona saw action at the Pan American games held in Mexico City, where Miles placed second in the all-around event.

This team also placed seventh at the NCAA meet at California and took first place honors for the third time at the NAIA meet at Rochester, two weeks ago.

The thinclads have also been active this year. We started out but one of their dual meets and upsetting such favorites as Miami and Gainesville.

Don Veller's golf team also had the finest year yet, producing 10 triumphs in 11 duel starts. Two of his boys finished under par for the 11 meets. They were Bunk Berry and Jack Veshte. Veshte turned in a score of 70 strokes in 11 matches for the lowest overall score of 71.6 strokes, and Berry turned in 72's strokes for a 71.9 average.

Climaxing the season's victories was the volleyball team's comeback at Norman, Oklahoma to win the NCAA meet.

Although trailing behind, the Seminoles put on one of the greatest comebacks in collegiate history to topple the championship players of the College of Medical Evangelists of Los Angeles.

Three members of the team were also named to the United States Volleyball Association's All-American squad. Tiger and Phil Staton, named the most valuable player of the tourney, and Wally Cox and Bernard McCann. Three other Seminoles, Ray Johnson, Lee Graham and Eugene Levis, received honorable mention.

With a record such as this, Florida State can certainly stand up to any school in the country.

Volleyballers Win National Championship

Thinclads Outdistance Mississippi Southern, 68 - 58

Another Record Set By Weaver

By LARRY HOUNTHA

The Indian track team continued their winning ways last weekend as they downed Mississippi Southern 68-58 at Hattiesburg. It was the first time the Tribe defeated the Mississippians in their 3 year rivalry.

The meeting marked the end of the 35 under season which was undoubtedly the best in the history of FSU.

SOUTHERN TOUGH

Even though they lost, Southern tracksters got up a touch battle taking eight out of 14 firsts and producing the meets only double winner. Mississippi Southern's timber-topped Farrard romped the 220 lows in the nifty time of 23.6; he also took the 120 highs in 15.2. Distance man Axelson was home first in both the mile (4:34) and 880 (2:03.5) for Southern.

Perhaps the best performance of the meet however was turned in by Gray of M.S who got off a beautiful 51'5½" broad-jump.

SPRINTS BEST

FSU's Jack Terwilliger hit the tape first in the 220 in the century which was won by Franzen of M.S in a sm1t 9.9 Chester Watson outdueled his nearest rival in the quarter to win in a good 50.9 The mile relay was called off by mutual consent.

WEAVER SETS RECORD

Ron Weaver flipped the spear 207' 10" for a new FSU record once again. It was the 3rd time in as many weeks Weaver has set a mark in his event.

Jerry Jacobs won the shot with 43'1. Carlos Praundorfer scored for the Tribe in the discus with an effort of 126'1".

SUMMARY

MILE — 1. Axelson, MSC. 2. Duce, FSU — 3, Linden, MSC 4.34

440—1 Watson, FSU. 2. Henry, MSC. 3. Goodwin, MSC 50.9

100—1. Frazen, MSC. 2. Terlliery FSU. 3. Davis, FSU 9.9

120 HIGH HURDLES — 1. Farrard, MSC. 2. Gray, MSC. 3. Brewer, MSC and Lassen, FSU. :15.2.

880 — 1. Axelson, MSC. 2. Goodwin, MSC. 3. Thommis, FSU 2.03.5

220—1. Twilliger, FSU 2. Farzard, MSC. 3. Franzen, MSC. 23.1

3-MILE—1. Linden, MSC. 2. Duce, FSU. 3. Harrell, FSU. 10.39.8

220-LOW HURDLES—1. Farrard, MSC. 2. Davis, FSU. 3. Watson, FSU :23.4

SHOT PUT—1 Jacobs. FSU. 2 Praundorfer, FSU. 3. Smith, MSC. 45 feet 2 inches.

HIGH JUMP — 1. Hollinsworth, MSC. and Browning, FSU. 3. Gray, MSC and Lassen, FSU. 5 feet 11 inches

BROAD JUMP — 1. Gray, MSC 2. Jacobs FSU 3. Praundorfer, FSU. 23 feet 5½ inches

DISCUS — 1 Praundorfer, FSU. 2. Jacobs, FSU 3. Parker, MSC 136 feet 1 inch.

RELAY — 1. Gray, MSC. 2. Taylor, MSC., and Strickland, FSU. 12 feet.

JAVELIN — 1. Weaver, FSU 2 Parker, MSC 3. Harrell, FSU 205 feet 2½ inches

MILE RELAY—Cancelled by mutual consent.

Classified

Lost—yesterday on the bus between the Post Office and the Administration, a white gold watch and band. If found please return to Martha Rush, Delta Zeta house.

Will the person who picked up my purse from outside the Westcott Bank, please leave it where it can be found. I need the papers and keys in it. Willa Dean Trice.

Top Flight—Lettermen pitchers Ron Ash and Max Lo ng, who have been instrumental in helping the Seminoles achieve their best ball season yet.

Phi Delts Suffer Defeat At Hands Of ATO's

Softball League Playoffs Today

In the action packed fraternity softball playoffs an improved ATO team defeated the Phi Delts 17-1.

The score, worst suffered so far by the Phi Delts, was run up during the first four innings of play. One of the chief scoring posers for the ATO's was Ackerman, who hit a home run during the second with the bases loaded.

Winning pitcher was Dick Ackmerer, who held the Phi Delts down to one home run among pitcher was Mathews.

Even with this defeat, however, the outstanding Phi Del's intramural team have totaled a record 783 points to lead the intramural league fraternity sports. Closest competitor is the ATO's with 697.

As it stands now, the Phi Delts should have no trouble winning the trophy as the leading sportsmen on campus.

The playoff games in the softball league began yesterday, with the Phi Delta playing the KA's Results of this game were not available at press time.

Today the winner of this game will play the ATO's to wind up the softball league this year.

Omicron Nu To Initiate 11

Omicron Nu, Home Economics honor society at Florida State University will have its spring initiation ceremony Thursday, May 19, at 5:30 p.m. in the club room in the Lonsdale Building on the FSU campus.

This will be followed by a banquet in the Suwanee room honoring initiates.

The initiates are Barbara Burke, Mildred Carlton, Lena Cochran, Joan Curtis, Jacquelyn Elsbeth Ferguson, Martha Garrett, Florence Gelner, Nancy Weir Hollis, Harriet Love, and Donna McNab.

Nugent's 'Football Carnival To Have Many Attractions

Students at Florida State University's June football clinic, "Football Carnival," will have plenty of attractions to occupy their attention.

Seminole Coach Tom Nugent has lined up seven of professional football's brightest stars— Otto Graham, Doak Walker, Adrian Burk, Tobin Rote, Charley Trippi, Hugh Bonez Taylor, Lou Groza—to head FSU's second football clinic here June 9-10-11.

More than 400 coaches, players, and fans from 22 states attended FSU's football school "Palooka Party," a year ago.

FSU's unique clinics feature color demonstrations, lectures, panel discussions, movies, and question-and-answer sessions, led by the professional game's greatest players.

Nugent said today that movies of the major 1955 bowl games as an added feature. will be shown at intervals throughout the three-day clinic The pros will narrate movies of outstanding professional games of the past year.

Indoor clinic sessions are scheduled for an air-conditioned auditorium on the FSU campus. FSU's Doak S. Campbell Stadium will be the scene of outdoor exhibitions.

Applications for "Football Carnival" already are pouring in, Nugent said. Many of the coaches are bringing their quarterbacks, backfield potentials, and specialists. Football fans who don't have any close connection with the coaching profession have also been invited to attend.

Cost of "Football Carnival," which includes housing in FSU's modern 11-story men's dormitory, West Hall, is $15.

Gaster Prexy Young Demos

Gordon Chaster has been selected president for the Young Democrats.

Other officers are Jim Boles, vice-president, Irene Rodrigues, secretary; Guy Milner, treasurer.

Bruce Fletcher, Fred Mansfield, Coot Jackson, Lon Hatton and Russell Alderman are Executive Council members.

Kurt Edwards will serve as Publicity Committee Chairman, Jim Moore is membership committee chairman, Arnold Greenfield will head the Speakers Bureau with Mary Fenn Cawthon as chairman of Ways and Means committee.

MODERN CAVEMEN

BOWLING GREEN, Ky.— ACP.—Fourteen spelunkers (cave explorers to you from Western Kentucky State College spend more than fifty hours in complete darkness recently while exploring Mammoth Cave system.

The College Heights Herald, campus newspaper, said the group could be in the cave for 1,300-yard long "Volcano Room," where a reserve group was maintained at all times in case of emergencies. Telephone communication was set up with the main entrance.

Samples and photographs were taken from various areas, and passageways where no human foot had passed before were mapped.

Second Title For FSU In Two Weeks

Florida State University reclaimed its second national sports championship in two weeks Thursday when the intercollegiate volleyball team won the 1955 NCAA volleyball crown.

Scene of the FSU triumph was the University of Oklahoma at Norman. The Tribe met together the greatest crossover in collegiate volleyball history Thursday to drench the championship desires of College of Medical Evangelism of Los Angeles.

FSU, enjoying its best all-around sports season, also won the national AAU gymnastics championship at Rochester, N. Y. April 30.

One of the few universities in the nation which includes volleyball on its intercollegiate athletic program, FSU won its NCAA title by defeating the Seminole town College of Medical Evangelism.

FSU strted again in the National Open on Friday but after a first-round triumph over Pepperdine, Col., 15-8, 15-12, the Seminoles ran out of gas against Dayton, 15-8, 15-5, 15-6, 15-7, 15-6, and were eliminated by Wichita, Kan., 15-9, 15-5

It was a simple case of muscle exhaustion. But the National Open defeat didn't take anything away from capturing the collegiate title.

It was another one of those "team" efforts. Phil Staton and Elarbe was named the tournament's most valuable player and selected to the USVA's All-America squad. So were Wally Cox and Bernard McCann. Three other Seminoles, Ray Johnson, Lee Graham, Eugene Lazear, and Eugene Levis gained honorable mention

The final won-lost reading is 32-14, which includes a hard-fought triumph in the Pan-American AAU tournament at St Petersburg in March.

DRAFT BOARD MISSES ON MISS

MIAMI, Fla.— ACP—A University of Miami co-ed recently ended up name is Sidney Gene Johns, who not only received a draft notice, but has been hazarded with literature urging her to join the Marines. Naturally Gung and Navy.

When she graduated from high school she received the pile of folders from various men's services, came to Miami U, and found she had been assigned to the men's dormitory. The Miami Hurricane reported.

When she finally got her problem straightened out with the service officials she promptly received an invitation to an auto fraternity council smoker and membership in a Sigma Chi rush party.

Sidney was assigned after a male friend of the family Tweeted a telegram addressed to "Hank's the fastest idea when the Gene came from"

When the records became lie the school finally tracked their down—in the dean of men's office. It took two months for Spanish professor to stop calling Sidney "Jose". But the mail forms are her real headache Most of her business correspondence "hasn't the faintest idea where the Gene came from"

7.95

CAPEZIO'S
FAMOUS SKIMMER

- BLACK KID
- PINK KID
- SAND KID
- NAVY KID
- WHITE KID
- PASTEL BLUE KID
- RED KID
- NATURAL STRAW

Exclusive with

Strickland's

...1930-Silver Anniversary-1955...

115 E. College Ave.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
Today: "The Prodigal" Lana Turner, Edmund Purdom	Today "Rage At Dawn" Randolph Scott
Tomorrow Thru Saturday "Strange Lady in Town" Greer Garson, Dana Andrews	Tomorrow Thru Saturday "The Sea Chase" John Wayne, Lana Turner
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Today & Tomorrow "The Best Years of Our Lives" Myrna Loy, Fredric March	Today and Tomorrow "Sabrina" Humphrey Bogart, Audrey Hepburn, William Holden
Thurs. Thru Saturday "The Raid" Van Heflin, Anne Bancroft plus "The Iron Glove" Robert Stack, Ursula Thiess	Thurs. Thru Saturday "The Stand At Apache River" Stephen McNally, Julia Adams plus "The Cockleshell Heroes" Jack Hawk ins, Donald Sinden

RITZ THEATRE—Today & TOMORROW
"The Fighting Pimpernel"
With David Niven, Margaret Leighton and Jack Hawkins
THURS. THRU SAT.—"HANSEL AND GRETEL"

Gym Stars—Don Holder and Jack Miles, who led the Seminole team in the recent NAAU victory at Rochester. Both boys also represented the United States at the Pan American games in Marach.

Letters To The Flambeau

(Continued from Page 2)

Letters-Education

years of advanced study beyond high school before one is ready to practice medicine. This takes the would-be M.D. to his 28th birthday before he can even initialize at his chosen profession —only seven years short of half his life expectancy. Law requires from six to eight years of post high school study. And it will soon be the same for engineering.

At this rate there will not be many more generations to come and and so before any professional person will have to spend half of his normal life in the schools of merely getting ready to live. If some refinement in our educative process is not accomplished presently, the continued expansion of the sum-total of human knowledge will progressively increase the proportion of a person's life expectancy that he will have to spend to the preliminary process of mastery of a profession, to the end that one will be ready for the grave before he is ready for life.

However, instead of trying to find ways to increase the efficiency of this process, so that the totality of the time required to accomplish the same ends, professional educators are forever trying to tack on something additional here and there to make the process even longer and more elaborate.

If the college professor, whose knowledge of history and politics and law, etc. was so abundant, could not put that knowledge to practical use, what could we expect of a boy, say of average intelligence or less, and whose special aptitudes may lie entirely out of the field of social science? Knowledge may be power, but not until it is used, and knowledge that cannot be understood and comprehended, can never be utilized.

So we teach every entering freshman to college enough history to enable him to quote the first ten Amendments to the Federal Constitution verbatim, what would it profit us when most of our U. S. Senators don't understand their constitutional their purpose?

History is an abstraction. It is were taught accurately, without selection, without flattery, it would reduce all educations to fiercely struggling masses of humanity engaging in about the same kind of warfare between institutionalized mediocrity, selfishness, and-or corruption, and bold, noble surges of human intelligence, a few times in a while, which is seldom, if ever seen in any history classroom on any level, and is rarely portrayed by a darling novelist.

I too hope to be, presently, a professional golfer, but my real business will be directing the educational careers of young men toward the elimination of wasted study time to the end that their maximum personal efficiency — to keeping with their natural endowments—can be derived at the earliest possible time to their lives. To force a contestant with a mentality that is below normal to struggle for hours on end trying to squeeze some meaning out of Hamlet, the military campaigns of Napoleon, or the solution of quadratic equations could hardly be justified by the diverse arguments of "the dissemination of culture," or "my son shall not be denied the opportunity to become President of the United States." Educators who knowingly practice this sort of thing should be held responsible for the misuse of their funds.

Suppose we do teach history to all college freshmen. But let's make it all history. Let's have more than just the nice-reading stories of our military exploits which constitute a magnificent foundation for an arrogant nationalism. Let's have more than just the great victorious struggles of the noble white man against the awful "savages" who occupied the country when the first settlers came. Instead, let's teach all of history. If each country would teach all the facts about its particular section of humanity, without selection or coloration, then history would point the way to real understanding between people and nations. It would knock the props out from under nationalistic emotions, and would remove these "riffs" between peoples which, in this instance, are being used as justification for the teaching of a kind of history which, I strongly suspect will increase these "riffs" rather than reduce them.

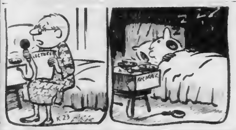
It is altogether probable that these unpleasant things the Russians are saying about us are propaganda inventions, but it is not at all impossible that some of them, at least, could be those unflattering facts about ourselves which we just don't bother to include to our history courses.

Knowledge may be power, but it is also true that a "little knowledge is dangerous."

V. L. McCARTY

A graduate student to the Dep't. of Education and Psy.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler



"Her system is to study books—I study the professors."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"Looks like an interesting news item, Professor Snarf—would you mind removing your shoe?"

TAKE A SOUVENIR HOME!

Terry Cloth Shirts
Sweat Shirts
T-Shirts
Felt Good
F.S.U. Ashtrays
F.S.U. Glasses
all at
MALONE'S BOOK STORE
107 South Copeland

This new AIR-FLITE will last longer than any other high-compression ball ever made!

No other high-compression ball can resist scuffing like the new DURA-THIN* covered AIR-FLITE.* This exclusive Spalding cover adheres to the ball with a new strength to defy cutting up . . . even on high-iron and explosion shots.

It's a more compact ball, too . . . offers you longer play and real economy.

Play your next round with this great new Spalding AIR-FLITE. You can expect AND GET new uniformity in distance and accuracy . . . better shot control . . . better golf.

SPALDING sets the pace in sports

*Trade-mark

Five Hundred

(Continued from Page 1)

cas Richard Mays, Robert McMillan Jr, James Poppler, Jean Rohme, John Stanley, Shirley Traxler, Donald van Nus, James Wallis Jr, Barbara Willis

Bachelor of Music

Barbara Agey, James Hussong, Gene Johnson, Doris Shoenberger, Janet Sitges

SCHOOL OF HOME ECONOMICS

Bachelor of Science

Joann Avril, Barbar Burke, Lena Cochran, Patricia Cooper, Joan Curtis, June DuBois, Richard Dunn Jr, Jacqueline Dupont

Aurelia Fischer, Anne Gardner, Martha Garratt, Dolly Getzen, Priscilla Giffen, Marilyn Goble, Mary Harvey, Mary Hill, Nancy Hollis, Miriam Howard, Jo Ann Hutto, Dorothy Leslie

Nell Limbaugh, Gloria Parrish, Sylvia Rabb, Virginia Sheldon, Beatrice Smith, Jocelyn Standish, Jane Wardlaw

Bachelor of Arts

Mary Davis, Roberta Forrest, Laura Fox, Jennie Ranshaw, Sara Hartness, Jo Ann Hixon, Bettye Ray, Sarah Woodward

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Bachelor of Science

Charles Allen Jr., James Barkuloo, Kenneth Bliss Jr, Lionel Brenneman, Carroll Brock, Virginia Burquest, Robert Crittenden, Frederick Cummins, Thomas Cundy, Charles D'Auguetine, Cecil De Mille, Bennie Dudley, James Fadigan, Richard Farmer, Frank Finger

Harrison Fisher, Jerry Fortune, Joseph Fracassi, Robert Gibson, Carl Green, Harry Hall, Helen Hamilton, Coy Harris, William Harris, Wendell Heston, Jean Herron, Richard Hutto, Jan Jarrett

Claire Jensen, Spurgeon Johnson, Dorothy Kannon, Harold Kastner, William Kelly, David Kennedy, Andrew King, Ronald King, Marcie Lee, Ronald Lee, Harold LeVay

George Marchetti, Mary Martin, Linan Matthew, Eloise McGirr, Barbara Meadows, Bertram Miller, Marilys Miller, Charles Miner

Charles Nelson, Frank Orrick, Thomas Perkins, Ivester Pope, David Porter, Wallace Reichart, Jack Reingold, Raymond Rogers, Douglas Scott, Edward Selleck

Alfred Shuler, Morris Singletary, Nancy Sossamon, Philip Springer, Joseph Thoine, Cornelie van Dorp, Harry Vaughan, Joanna Wells, Nancy Kehner, Gladys Wiggins, Walker Wood, Anne Yates

Bachelor of Arts

Judith Ash, Arnold Borchetti, Cecil Beehler, Charles Biersborn, Judith Bliten, Byron Campbell, Paul Caro, Mary Council, Barbara Donnelly, David Dreis, Delores Duguid

Nancy Fagen, Beverly Fisher, Patricia Fitzsimmons, Cecil Gatlin, Rita Greenberg, Nancy Hassell, Bobbie Hartsfield, Phoebe Jackson

Margaret Jennings, Jarnme Jones, Marilyn Keefer, Carol Labensk, Jo Law, Christina Martinelli, Nancy Maxwell, Frank Melvin, Selma Morgan, Mary Newton

Peter Nimkoff, Jeanne Parker, Peter Peck, Charlotte Ream, John Rooney, Mary Sanchez, Marie Schorman, Robert Settine, Mary Smith, Victor Spoto

Dorothy Stephens, Donn Teal, Eberle Thomas, Richard Wagner, David Whittlesey, Ann Wiley, Dorothy Womble, LaVarne Wright, Donald Wyly, Catherine Wynne

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Master of Music Education

Richard Boyer, James Larkin, Edwin Santana, Marilyn Wright

Master of Music

Howard Richards, Marion Seifert, Eda Sullivan

Master of Science

Saud Acotta, Charles Allen, Lois Allsworth, Robert Beasley, Robert Britt, Jainee Burnsted

Stella Carter, Michael Castagna, Charles Cazeau, John Coley, William Dellow, David Devar, Nancy Douglas, John McCollough, Edward McIntosh, Edward Mileff, John Owen, Margaret Pinkston

Christian Rapp, Leary Ratcliff, Helen Rainnold, Andrew Ference, William Evens, Andrew Ference, Joseph Frosin, Sterling Gilbert, Wanda Gustafson, Myrtle Hardy

Elsie Hargraves, Origina Hartman, Doyle Hutto, Lucille Leslie, Virginia Leslie, Douglas Lilly, Richard Malone, James Rogers, Parke Saffer, James Simmons, Frances Smith, Jesse Smith, Tim Smith

Gerald Stephens, Anna White, Jack Wise, Kenneth Zankel

Master of Arts

Rose Biancarosa, Nathan Blount, Mary Borden, Frank Buckley, Alan Downes, Esther Flory

Michael Greenberg, Benjamin Henry, Konrad Hopkins, Maria Lacayo, Rhoda Lelton, Lina McMullan, Thomas McRae, Donna Moore, Roald Mykkeltvedt, Emily Ragsdale

Patricia Rose, Margaret Slind, Dorothy Tharpe, Pranomart Tuwayanonna, Marie Wildner, Nona Willoughby

Master of Social Work

Millie Barrow, Jewell Chimers, Eli Epstein, Charley Jackson, Lydia Kimenker, Miriam Mizuno, Sarah Morrill, A J Muckerheide, Marian Nassau, Irma Richards, Martin Sylvester, Betty Warren

Doctor of Education

Michael Bennett, Joe Hall, James Luck, Lloyd Slind

Doctor of Philosophy

Ralph Becker, Acotta Berias, William Bond, Adalbert Bradley, Eugene Byrd, Franklin Cahoun, Elise Duvall, Stanley Fowler, Theodore Johannis, Shin-Kung Liu, Walter Magnuson, Frances Oakes, John Presley, George Spencer, Stanley Tocker, Nicholas Vincent, Ezzat Younathan

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Bachelor of Science

Theodore Aggelis, Doris Amos, Edna Andrews, Mary Armstrong, Susan Bailey, Roberta Baker, Elizabeth Bandy, Robert Bell, Jenisu Bartley, Faye Bass

Barbara Beers, Mary Bavis, Patricia Blair, Arnold Bobson, Betty Braddock, Nancy Brenner, Cynthia Brown, Ursula Brown, Dorothy Browning, Joseph Caldwell, Alice Campbell, Margaret Cantey

Eva Carlovitz, Richard Carroll, Charline Caviness, Chatoon Chantrakrua, Betty Clopton, Sylvia Closter, David Collins, Alice Cook, Betty Corbett, Alice Cornwell, Jeanne Cromiller, Kathleen Crutchfield, Martha Cunningham, Mary Duck, Iris Duggar

Charlotte Dunn, Susan Earle, John Eichleberger Jr., Margaret Elsworth, Miriam Evans, Lois Everette, Dollis Fahle, Patricia Filson, Auro Folsom, Monia Gaines, Janet Goralczyk, Adrienne Gregory, Betty Grubbs, Carolyn Grumbly, Joan Guard

June Gurley, Richard Gutting, Edward Harding, Mary Hargrave, Donna Harper, Mary Harris, Betty Haynes, Helen Hicks, Joan Higgins, Norma Hodges, Dorothy Horne, Janella Hull, Elizabeth Johnson

Hazel Jones, Joe Jones, Patria Jones, Ruth Kegel, Margaret Kennedy, Lynda Lane

Mariana Loos, Sonia Lovell, Helen Luster, Alex Makowiecki, Irena Mantsansa, Iona Marraine, Anna Marsch, Nancy Mayer, Roy McDonald, Mary McFarland, Jo McKay, Jane McKneely, Betty McLeod

Joan Medlin, James Messineee, Joan Mikasell, Ardrenn Miller, Betty Miller, Charlotte Miller, Effie Miller, Mary Miller, Danny Morris, Joan Mynthan, Mercetta Napier

John Nash Jr., Betty Nasrallah, Eugene Ogden, Joan Paris, Gail Parker, Betty Parmer, Mary Perkins, Virginia Phillips, Marie Pippen, John Pistone, Cedora Platt, Eleanor Poteat, Sadie Presnelli, Barriett Ramsey, Esther Racier, Cora Rickey, Madelyn Riekker

Bettye Roberts, Mary Robertson, Joyce Rowan, Betty Ryan, Dorothy Seals, Marilynne Searight, JoAnne Setzer, Mary Sheppard, Mary Shoemaker, Lila Shuler, Imogene Simons, Shirley Simpson, Mary Smith, Susie Snell, JoAnn Snipes, Margaret Spies, Dorothy Starbird, Sally Stevens

Frances Stokes, Betty Struth, Iris Sullivan, Minnie Taylor, Iva Thornton, Suzanne Tindell, Mary Twitty, James Verran, Joann Vogel, Clyde Walker, Edwin Wesley, Sara Whitehead

Helen Whitamore, Audrey Williams, Janis Williamson, Margaret Wilson, Jo Anne Winter, Judson Wood.

West Campus

(Continued from Page 8)

followed it was sensational. With everyone keyed up, nobody felt like sleeping. So somebody stole every light bulb in the house. Then everybody who walked up the stairs including the monitor, was greeted by a trash can full of water. Fire alarms were rung, toilet paper was flung and the pandemonium kept up almost till dawn.

All flareups weren't impromptu however. Some were well planned, like the time when the boys filled tubing with gunpowder, and aimed it at the monitor's door, setting it off like a rocket. They made a gunpowder bomb for the monitor too (we really liked him), but he found it and doused it in water. These gunpowder boys had their own private feud too. One night, while one slept, the other drilled a hole from the next room, tied a firecracker on the end of a coathanger, and let it go right in the poor fellow's face. They called a truce after one turned the other's dresser drawers upside down. Ever try that?

'O' Center Caw

The worst deal I ever got hooked on came one night while I was soda-jerking in the old "O" club, which has since burned down. That particular night, we were having a faculty dance, and just as the guests were arriving, some of my good "buddies" drove in a cow. Now can you picture a cow in the student center? Needless to say, Bessie left a calling card, and I was kept busy while the boys doubled up with laughter. I was tabbed west campus' "cowboy" for the rest of the year.

Another time my next door neighbor was drenched by some funmakers at another dorm. His roomie was a three point chemistry major, and that night they plotted to get even. They settled on a smelly acid, and dumped it on the funmaker's floor in the middle of the night. The smell was so bad, the boys woke up at 4 a.m. and even though it was a freezing November night, they had to finish their snooze down on the old postoffice table. They tried everything but the stink stuck with them for over a month.

Bull sessions, water fights, beer can brawls, and clothes auctions were all commonplace, but the craziest thing I ever saw came one night late in the semester. I was talking to a fellow about guns, and their potential power, when all of a sudden he unwrapped a "22" from under his bed. Without warning he aimed chest-high at the wall and fired. The shot scared me to death, and after examination, we found that it had gone through three rooms which were very fortunately unoccupied at the time—I said no more about guns to him.

All in all it was a great year, one I wouldn't trade for anything, but honestly, I think now I'd take the serenity of east campus before I'd go through it again. It was a great part of college life, even though it was radical most of the time, but come May 30, only the memories will be left.

Massey, Gessler

(Continued from Page 1)

tend to make it necessary to do otherwise. Freshmen and Sophomores should feel free to come, he said. They should take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy what was was this year "s tremendous band" and to mix and mingle at a social function one last time with their senior friends.

Graham Carothers agreed with Tews on each point and added that those in charge of arrangements should be complimented for doing an excellent job, especially Shirley Dallas, who he said did a great job.

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATES
GOOD LUCK AND HAPPY VACATION

Joe's
SPAGHETTI HOUSE

SPECIALIZING IN
- Italian Spaghetti
- Western Steaks
- Fried Chicken
- Sea Foods

PRIVATE DINING ROOMS FOR PARTIES AND BANQUETS

"Dine In Air-Conditioned Comfort"

DIAL 2-9131
Jacksonville Highway

Max Schulman Speaks On Graduation

On Campus with Max Shulman
(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," etc.)

THE GIFT HORSE

Many of our friends will soon be graduating. What kind of gifts should we give them?

Here is no simple question. It is never simple to find gifts for people who have everything, and college students, as everyone knows, are the most richly endowed of mortals. They've got beauty and truth. They've got rhythm. They've got stout hearts, willing hands, and a clear vision that dispels the miasmas of the future as the morning sun seare away the last wisps of a cool night's fog. They've got heaps and heaps of money, as who would not who has been receiving such a huge allowance over four years of schooling?

What can we give them that they don't already have?

One infallible gift for the person who has everything is, of course, a stethoscope. New models, featuring sequined earpieces and power steering, are now on display at your local surgical supply house. Accompanying each stethoscope is a gift card with this lovely poem:

When you hear your heart beat,
When you hear it pound,
Remember me, your buddy,
William Henry Round.

If, by some odd chance, your name does not happen to be William Henry Round (you're laughing, but it's possible), here is another dandy suggestion for the person who has everything—a gift certificate from the American Bar Association.

These certificates, good at your local lawyer's, come in three convenient sizes: small, medium, and large. The small certificate covers title searches and writs of estoppel. The medium size covers torts, claim jumping, and violations of the Smoot-Hawley Act. The large one covers kidnapping, murder, and barratry.

If, by some odd chance, you don't know what barratry is (you're laughing, but it's possible), it is arson at sea. This interesting crime is called after Cosmo "Bubbles" Barrat, a captain in the British navy during the last century, who was addicted to burning his ships. One man o' war after another fell victim to his incendiary bent. The Admiralty kept getting crosser and crosser, but every time they called in Captain Barrat for a scolding, he would roll his big blue eyes and tug his forelock and promise faithfully never to do it again. Oh, butter wouldn't melt in his mouth, that one!

So they would give him another ship, and he would soon reduce it to a scattering of charred spars. He burned more than 120,000 ships before he was finally discharged as "doubtful officer material."

After his separation from the navy, he moved to Vienna where he changed his name to Freud and invented Scrabble.

But I digress. I was listing gifts for the person who has everything, and here is another one. This gift, in fact, is not only for persons who have everything, it is also for persons who have nothing, for persons who have next to nothing, for persons who have next to everything, and for persons in between. I refer, of course, to Philip Morris cigarettes. Here is the cigarette for everybody—for everybody, that is, who likes a mild relaxing smoke of fine vintage tobacco in a handsome brown package that snaps open with the greatest of ease. For those, if such there be, who like dull, nondescript tobacco in a package that requires a burglar's kit to open, Philip Morris is definitely the wrong gift.

Among the newer gifts that warrant your attention is a revolutionary development in the enjoyment of recorded music. This is the Low-Fi Phonograph. The Low-Fi, product of years of patient research, has so little fidelity to the record you put on it that if, for example, you put Stardust on the turntable, Melancholy Baby will come out. This is an especially welcome gift for people who hate Stardust.

Finally there is Sigafoos Shaving Cream, a brand new kind of cream that makes whiskers grow in instead of out. You just bite them off in the morning.

©Max Shulman 1955

To Max's suggestion to give PHILIP MORRIS for graduation, the makers of PHILIP MORRIS, who bring you this column, add a hearty amen.

On Campus with Max Shulman
(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," etc.)

THE GREAT CAP and GOWN CONTROVERSY

The cap and gown season is upon us, and with it comes the perennial question: which side of the cap should the tassel hang on?

This is an argument that arises every year to roil the academic world, and it is, alas, no closer to solution today than it was in 1604 when Fred Tassel invented the troublesome ornament.

Fred Tassel, incidentally, never made a penny from his invention. The sad fact is he never took out a patent on it. This tragic oversight becomes understandable, however, when one considers that patents were not invented till 1851 by Fred Patent, himself a pitiable figure. A compulsive handwasher, he died in his fourteenth year, leaving behind a wife and five spotless children.

But I digress. We were discussing which side of the cap the tassel should hang on.

For many years the universally accepted practice was to hang the tassel over the front of the cap. This practice was abandoned in 1942 when the entire graduating class of Northwestern University, blinded by tassels hanging in their eyes, made a wrong turn during commencement exercises and ended up at the Great Lakes Training Center where, all unwitting, they were inducted into the Navy for five year hitches.

There is one school of thought—large and growing daily larger—which holds that the tassel should be worn on the same side you carry your Philip Morris cigarettes. Thus a quick glance will show you where your Philip Morris are and save much time and fumbling.

This makes a good deal of sense because when one wants a Philip Morris, one wants one with a minimum of delay. One does not relish being kept, even for a second, from the clean, delicate flavor of Philip Morris, so artfully blended, so subtly concocted to please the keen and alert taste buds of young smokers. One chafes at any obstacle, however small, that is put in the way of enjoying this most edifying of cigarettes, so pleasing to the perceptive palate. Here, in king size or regular, at prices that do no violence to the slimmest of budgets, is a firm white cylinder of balm and pure, abiding content.

There is another group, small but vocal, that insists the tassel should hang over the back of the cap. The tassel, they say, is a symbol like the bullfighter's pigtail, signifying honor and courage.

They are wrong. Bullfighters wear pigtails for only one reason: to keep the backs of their necks warm. Do you have any idea what a draft a bull makes when he rushes past you? A plenty big une, you may be sure.

In fact, upper respiratory infections, contracted in the wake of passing bulls, are the largest single cause of bullring fatalities. I have this interesting statistic from the Bullfighters Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, one of the few insurance companies in Hartford, Connecticut, which writes insurance exclusively for bullfighters. Incidentally, Hartford, the insurance capital of America, is a most interesting city and well worth a visit if you are ever in New England, as northeastern United States is, for some reason, called. Hartford can be reached by bus, train, plane, and the Humboldt Current. Try to make your visit in spring, when the actuaries are in bloom.

But I digress. We were talking about what side to wear the tassel on. An ingenious solution to this troubling problem was proposed a few years ago by Fred Sigafoos, perhaps better known as "The Quoit King of Delaware." An early forbear of Mr. Sigafoos, Humboldt Sigafoos (who later invented the current which bears his name) was granted a monopoly by King George III on all quoits manufactured in Delaware. Somehow the royal appointment was never rescinded and from that day to this, every quoit made in Delaware has been a Sigafoos Quoit.

Well, sir, Fred Sigafoos once suggested that an equitable settlement to the great tassel controversy would be to starch the tassels so they stood upright and hung on no side of the cap at all. Mr. Sigafoos was, of course, only seeking to broaden his market, because after graduation, what can you do with an upright tassel but hurl quoits at it?

©Max Shulman, 1955

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS who bring you this column make no recommendation about what side to hang the tassel on. But with cigarettes they say: Stay on the gentle, tasty, vintage side—with PHILIP MORRIS, of course.

Punch-line to the year's hottest power story—

Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"!

This is the engine that's writing a whole new chapter in the book of automobile performance records. This is the engine that has stock car timers doing a "double take" at their stopwatches wherever experts gather to compare the abilities of the 1955 cars.

For example, in the recent NASCAR* stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolet literally ran away from every other car in its class—and a raft of others besides. In the one-mile straightaway run for low-priced cars, the first two places—and six of the first ten—went to Chevrolets. And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, the Motoramic Chevrolet beat all other low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

What's behind this blazing performance? A compact honey of a V8 that only the world's leading producer of valve-in-head engines can build. Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8".

It puts a new kind of fun in your driving life. You're in charge of 162 high-spirited horsepower—or if you're looking for even more excitement, the new "Super Turbo-Fire V8" (optional at extra cost) puts 180 h.p. under your toe!

Pick the one you'd rather have fun with, then come in and get behind the wheel. You'll see why the Motoramic Chevrolet is showing its heels to everyone else on the road!

*National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

'55 PACEMAKER
CHEVROLET

Faculty Senate Approves New General Education Recommendations

Faculty Senate Friday passed a recommendation of the Curriculum Committee which makes sweeping changes in General Education requirements.

The new program will go into effect as soon as all administrative problems can be worked out, although there is no guarantee that it will be used next year.

The present minimum overall requirement in General Education is 47 hours of pre-designated subjects with few substitute subjects. The new program asks for 75 hours of designated subjects and an additional 6 hours of electives in any General Education courses. Seven hours have been eliminated from present requirements.

In the Communication area, a student may be credited with 9-15 hours in comparison to the more rigid previous requirement of 12 hours. Only Written Communication and Basic Mathematics are required, and Oral Communication (speech), Mass Communication, and Foreign Language are now elective.

Six of History

Six hours of history are still required with a choice offered of Western Civilization or History of the Americas.

Compared to the 18 hours of Social Science formerly required, 9-12 may now be taken.

A 3 hour course in Social Science is required with Principles of Economics, World Geography, American Government, and General Sociology elective.

A revolutionary change is the integration of Humanities into a 6 hourse course in comparison to the 9 semester, 9 hour series currently required. Six and 12 hours will be the maximum and minimum credited in the Humanities area. Electives are Appreciation and Criticism of Art, Approach to Literature, History and Appreciation of Music, Development of Philosophic Thought, and a foreign language.

New Integrated

Biology and Physical Science have each been integrated into a 6 hour course with 8-14 hours in the Natural Science area credited. Electives are general courses in Bacteriology, Botany, Geology, Astronomy, Chemistry, Geology, Weather and Climate, and Physics.

No hours in Personal Development the freshman year, the integrated hours whereas 8 hours were formerly required. Electives in this field are Elements of Nutrition, Personal Health Problems, Contemporary Problems of Family Living, Personal Development now integrated into a 2 hour course: General Psychology, and Preparation for Marriage.

Freer Curriculum

A student is allowed to substitute an elective course for a required course in order to satisfy a specific curriculum. He must, however, have a dean's approval.

The sequence of courses include communication, basic mathematics, and history durshould be prerequisite to the integrated courses in social science laureate credit. Other than the elective in tor area. The integrated course in humanities should be given on the 200 level and the second semester should be corequisite to the elective course—except in foreign languages—in the area.

Exams Compulsory

Competency examinations in written communication, math, and social science will be compulsory. Competency exams in the second semester of written communication, oral communication, biological science, first and second year foreign language, history and humanities will be elective.

Students placing above a selected level of achievement in each of the general education courses as shown by examination would receive full baccalaureate credit. Other than the first level of achievement mentioned above, a second level will be selected. Students reaching this level on the competency examinations will be allowed to take more advanced course work in that particular area.

From A To Z

FSU Has Bands Yes, All Kinds

By Marty Reeves

The various band and symphonic organizations on campus have had a busy season this year, covering the field from opera to jazz, and performing everywhere from Westcott Auditorium to the "Flying High" circus tent.

The Symphonic Band presented its formal concert last March, and played lighter music in a series of "Starlight Serenades", the last of which will be presented tomorrow night in the Outdoor Theater. They also went on tour the end of April, presenting six concerts in Florida high schools and played for a clinic for visiting band directors in February.

Symphonic Band

Not to be confused with the Symphonic Band is the Concert Band, which also presented a "Starlight Serenade" this month as well as a formal concert in March. Robert T. Braunagel, assistant professor of music, helps Whitcomb in directing this group.

Under the complete direction of Braunagel is the Lab Band, a small group of about 16, who specialize in progressive jazz. They gave a "Starlight Serenade" this month as well as an indoor program in April.

The Pep Band, another small organization, is under the direction of student Richard Mayo, and played at a large number of basketball games, as well as a few football games and rallies. They also played for the Swedish Olympic gymnastic team when they appeared here in February.

Circus Band

Last but not least of the bands is the Circus Band, who play for "Flying High."

The State Symphony, under the direction of Dean of the School of Music, Dr. Karl Kuersteiner, gave four concerts this season, one in December, February, and two in April.

Taken from the personnel of the State Symphony, the University Symphony is directed by Robert N. Sedore. Besides their recent performance with the Choral Union of Verdi's "Aida," they played for the Light Opera Guild's presentation of "Carousel." University Singers and Choral Union concerts, and gave a concert last January. Their final concert will be Thursday night.

Trumpet Trio—To perform in last Symphonic Band Concert Wednesday night are Bob McMillan, Shirley Wallace and Calvin Hasbrouck. They will play LeRoy Anderson's "Bugler's Holiday."

University Symphony To Present This Year's Last Westcott Concert

The University Symphony, under the direction of Robert N Sedore, will present its final concert of the year Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium.

Except for the "Water Music Suite" by Handel and Harty, the music will be by contemporary composers. It will contain drums and barbarian sounds as well as poetic sounds, but not the unbelievably discordant harmony," said Mr. Sedore.

Roy Harris

Highlighting the program will be Roy Harris' "Symphony No. 3", "one of the greatest, if not the greatest, symphonies of the twentieth century," in Mr. Sedore's opinion. He also has a high opinion of Harris, calling him "one of our greatest American composers."

An unusual number will be the "Mary Janos Suite" by Kodaly, a Hungarian contemporary of Ernest von Dohnanyi, of the School of Music Taken from the opera of the same name, the suite tells about the hero of Hungarian folklore who corresponds to America's Paul Bunyon. According to the story the hero performs unbelievable feats, including the defeat and killing of Napoleon.

Full Instrumentation

The suite calls for extremely full instrumentation, and Mr. Sedore, including a part for a Hungarian gypsy instrument, the Cembelo. A piano will be used in its place.

Also on the program will be "Pavanne for a Dead Princess" by the impressionistic composer, Ravel.

The orchestra of 70 members will have two former members with it for this concert, Virginia Rouse, violist with the Atlantic Symphony, and Mary Sue Barns, cellist from Quincy.

Special guests will be the Florida Art League and members of the Legislature. Admission will be free tickets for reserved seats up until 8 p.m. may be obtained from orchestral members, the Music Building office and downtown music stores.

Seventeen FSU Undergrads Tapped Into Phi Kappa Phi

Phi Kappa Phi, honorary society initiated seventeen undergraduate and eleven graduate students last Friday.

Undergraduate initiates were Donn Teal, Betty Parmer, Jane Sisen, Patricia Finnammona, Bill Poppler, Betty Jeanne Grubbs, Arnold Beeckler, Sandra Ann Tyler, Michael Doran and Peter Nimkoff.

Also Shirley Simpson, Patricia O'Brien, Sybil Ireo Snell, Alan Sundberg and Rhonda Imogene Simons, Jenau Bartley and Sylvia Earle.

The graduate students initiated included Richard Bover, Maria Lazaro, Konrad Hopkins, Leonard Henry, Frances Smith, and Andrew Ference.

Also Jack Wise, John Owen in absentia, Nicholas Vincent in absentia, Mrs. Louise Wills Walker in absentia and George Spencer.

Dr. Phifer Conducts

The ceremonies were conducted by the president, Dr. Gresa Phifer, of the speech department, Dr. Milton Carothers, Dean of the Graduate School, Mrs. Aurora Givens, modern languages, Mrs. Hortense Gross, Home Economics, and Dr. Ralph Noonan, Dean of the School of Education.

Following the initiation, the new members were entertained at a banquet in the Suwannee Dining Room. Principal speaker at the banquet was Mr. Ralph Odum, Assistant Attorney General.

Donn Teal, one of the initiated undergraduates, has been awarded one of the five Phi Kappa Phi scholarships for graduate study to be awarded in the nation.

STATION SIGNS OFF CAMPUS

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—ACP—After 34 years of service, St. Louis University's radio station WEW, second oldest in the nation, has signed off the campus.

Sale of the station to a private firm was announced recently in the campus paper, The University News, which reports that WEW was the first station west of the Mississippi to be granted call letters, and was also the first educational institution in the nation to be granted a license to broadcast.

The history of radio goes even further back though, on the St. Louis campus. In 1912 the University's science department broadcast weather reports from the school's weather observatory and in 1916 the Department of Commerce granted an experimental license to the University, assigning it the call letters of SYK.

When the station became WEW in 1921, the surrounding community was "entertained and educated" with the first daily market and news broadcasts in the nation, while recordings were played into a microphone between reports.

Solon Group Against USNSA

Say Advantage Not So Great

A special student Senate committee will advise against membership in United States National Student Association at tomorrow's Senate meeting.

Sen. Jimmy Jones, newly-elected vice president of the student body, told The Florida Flambeau his committee will recommend against NSA membership in the hopes that FSU will present membership in Southern Universities Student Government Association (SUSGA) can be developed.

Luna Contradicts

The original committee was set up after Harry Lunn Jr., national president of USNSA, and Dr. Ralph Noonan, Dean of the School of Education, visited the campus.

Following the initiation, the new members were entertained at a banquet in the Suwannee Dining Room. Principal speaker at the banquet was Mr. Ralph Odum, Assistant Attorney General.

Joanos emphasized that the report is "not to be regarded as a definite no."

"A lot depends on what happens to SUSGA," he said. "If it develops into a workable organization we will remain in it."

Overcompensate

"We the committee felt advantages of USNSA membership at the present time would not overcompensate for disadvantages," Joanos said.

Asked to enumerate "disadvantages," he doubted student government's ability to afford costs of sending delegates and membership dues.

Shortly after Lunn spoke to the Senate, the President's Cabinet recommended membership in NSA, stipulating that membership in SUSGA should be retained. Joanos' committee has decided membership in the regional organization is adequate.

Other members of his committee are Senators Joan Halford, Petey Dunn, Liz Cerny and Carolyn Close. All except Senator Halford will be members of the 1955-56 Student Senate, which will hear the report at its first meeting tomorrow.

Teal Receives Scholarship To Pennsylvania

Donn Teal, Senior at Florida State University, has been awarded a scholarship by Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary.

The scholarship, one of the five given nationally, is for $1,500 to be used for one year of graduate study at any university. Teal has decided to study the history of the Far East at the University of Pennsylvania.

The scholarship winner made an A average for his whole four years, the basic academic record of any member of his class in the College of Arts and Sciences. He is a member of both Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honoraries.

He is presently Secretary of Finance; president of Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, and a member of "Who's Who."

Teal was the author of the Sandspur script for this year and has had one of the major sinning roles in it. He also is a member of the University Singers.

Donn Teal

SEE YOU THURSDAY

Mona says the words of the week are "See You Thursday." A special award will be made to anyone closing a conversation with this remark at the Sweet Shop.

From The Editor's Desk

Senate Revises Women's Rules

Women's Senate has come up with a revised version of university rules for women.

If passed by the remainder of the Student Senate and the Faculty Review Committee, efforts will be started to have the revised rules published in an indexed handbook.

Changes in Rules

There are few content changes in the rules, but they have been reduced to outline form that is easier to understand than the previous form. As drawn up by a Women's Senate committee and four women's dormitory presidents, the major changes are:

(1) Unlimited overnight trips for upperclass women, instead of the previous limit of three.

(2) Hours from noon until closing time for entertaining men in parlors and recreation rooms of residence halls, instead of the previous beginning time of 2 p.m.

(3) Signing out for the library will be done on the social engagement card, and it is impossible to request someone else do it for you instead of doing it personally.

Late Rules

(4) Women returning late between midnight and 12:30 a.m. from a trip are subject to Men reduced to outline form that is Council and after 12:30, Easier to understand than the Jury. Previously any late arrival previous form. As drawn up by a had been a Judiciary offense.

(4) A 15-minute extension per semester for late entry into one of ten minutes.

If passed, the revised rules will be published in a handbook and distributed to all women students. The rules will be discussed denia. The rules will be discussed at the next Senate meeting.

Congratulations Graduates
from
John Charles Studios
121 E. College Avenue
3-3570

STUDENT SPECIAL

One 5 x 7 black and white portrait plus six wallet-sized portraits made from your selection of proofs—

$3.95

Also Special Prices on Color Photographs
Call Studio for Appointment

Talquin Inn
FINE FOODS
WONDERFUL SEA FOODS
AIR-CONDITIONED

OUR SPECIALTY
CHOICE STEAKS
PRIVATE DINING ROOMS FOR PARTIES AND BANQUETS
HOURS
Week Days 5:00 P.M.—1:00 A. M.
Sundays 12:30 P.M.—1:00 A. M.
FOR RESERVATIONS CALL
2-9041
HARRY A. TAYLOR, PROP.
New Quincy
Intersection of Hwys. 90 and 20

Join
the Flambeau
Staff

Sell All Your Used Books
to
MALONE'S
BOOK STORE Highest Cash
Prices
For Used Text
Books
107 South Copeland

Word's sure getting around campus:
WINSTON tastes good—
like a cigarette should!

WINSTON brings flavor back to filter smoking!
■ College smokers are welcoming Winston like a long-lost friend! They found flavor in a filter cigarette — full, rich, tobacco flavor — when Winston came along!
Along with finer flavor, Winston also brings you a finer filter. The exclusive Winston filter works so effectively, yet lets the flavor come right through to you.
Smoke WINSTON the easy drawing filter cigarette!

First Artist Series Monday Night 8:15

The Summer Flambeau

Candidacy Declaration Due Monday

VOL. 1, NO. 1 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1935

Vocal Duo To Star In First FSU Summer Artist Series

By GEORGE GOLDSTEIN

Muriel Birkhead and Charles Dunn, vocal duo who will appear on the first Artist Series program are excellent illustrations of "split personality" developed by successful young American singers today.

A survey of Musical Comedy" in the format of these talented people, who will appear in Westcott Auditorium Monday night at 8:15.

Miss Birkhead, at 16, became the youngest church soloist in New York City. Shortly after, on the less ecclesiastical side by was an assumed Slavic name she took New York by storm in the famous Kretchma.

Supper club dates lead to featured spots at the St. Moritz and Viennese Lantern, where Miss Birkhead's musicianship and voice caught the attention of the CBC Lipton Tea Musicals in Canada. Later she was discovered by Maestro Toscanini, under whose baton she performed in a number of NBC concerts.

Advanced coaching by Hans Heller, German artist, also appearances on the Chicago Theater of the Air and Town Hall performances as soprano soloist with Concert Choir are some of the serious work she has done.

Broadway beckoned with a part in "My Darlin Aida" and an understudy job as the lead in "My Romance"

Charles Dunn of the same antedestrious quality has been signed a number of times under a number of a state-wide contest sponsored a voice scholarship at Milliken University.

Annie Get Your Gun" was his Broadway debut, since then he has had roles in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," "Top Banana" and "The Girl in Pink Tights"

Television audiences will remember Mr. Dunn as the hair lead opposite Ann Sothern in "Lady in the Dark."

Last season Dunn was named winner of the coveted Colgony Award by a board of Metropolitan stars. His first musical stage and film role has made him much in demand as an operatic soloist. His theatrical ability brought him to the attention of the lighter side of the musical world.

Their program is composed of show tunes. Jerome Kern, Rodgers and Hammerstein and George Gershwin are only a few of the composers whose tunes they have selected to present.

"Musical comedy in our opera and has somehow seemed a natural outlet for the composition," the artists declared. "The wealth of material is inexhaustible."

In addition, Miss Birkhead and Charles Dunn offer backround music. Miss Miss Birkhead's group of European pop-ular songs contains idioms that are used in great Broadway show and Mr. Charles Dunn specialises in Broadway borrowings from British and American folk songs.

Japanese Films Shown Friday

The Embassy of Japan will make available to the Department of History a series of films on Japanese civilization to be shown this summer on the campus, it was announced today by Dr. Frank Horton, head of the department.

The films, many in color, include such titles as "Ancient Japanese Sculpture," "The Medieval Art of Japan," "Japan: The Land and the People," "Men Who Rule," "Rice Farming in Japan," "Meet The Watanabes," and "Conspiracy in Kyoto."

These films will be shown every Friday, during summer session, from 2:10 History at 11:40 a.m. Individual students and small classes in other departments or schools of the university are welcome to attend these free showings within the seat limitations of Room 219. For further information call Dr. George A. Lensen.

Puerto Rico Scouts Tour FSU Campus

Boy Scouts from the Puerto Rico Council are on their way to the encampment at Fishimont, New Mexico, declared Scout Master Mr. O. L. Turner, whose son, Bunny, is a member of the Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity on campus, made arrangements with APO to get accommodations for the group.

Iota Rho of Alpha Phi Omega is looking forward to a happy meeting with the Scouts. We hope it will increase understanding between the little isle of Puerto Rico and the students of Florida State University," said Dan Gotham APO president.

Papers Hinder Or Aid Problem Of Delinquency

Newspaper attitudes can either aid or hinder the solution of juvenile delinquency in our society

This conclusion was supported Monday night in a panel of newspapermen, Malcolm Johnson, executive editor of the Tallahassee Democrat, Jim Powell, Capitol reporter for the Miami Herald, and two professors of the School of Social Welfare here Dr. Earl Lomon Koos and Dr. Vernon Fox represented the sociological viewpoint in the panel led by Dr Sidney Fox Kobre of the School of Journalism.

Highlights of the discussion was a hot argument among the panelists as to the discretion of newspaper displays on crime stories. Dr. Kobre introduced an exhibit of tabloid newspapers which devoted an entire front page to what Dr. Koos termed "lurid" headlines.

Kobre's contention that such treatment gave society necessary shocks which reality of its condition was voted down by the panelists 3-2. Prominent display of crime stories was favored by the panel, however, where the emotional appeal problems of the community and follow-up stories on their possible solution were received as well.

The panel also considered the present statistics on juvenile delinquency which say that each year some 1,150,000 juveniles are taken into court.

Johnson commented that "things are no worse than they used to be—we just have better reporters" Powell added that he was a boy, "swiping a watermelon didn't make a person a statistic."

Fox interjected that statistics do have value and that a balance between group relationships have decreased. He noted that present society revolves around interest-groups and said the neighborhood consciousness has become more impersonal than ever.

Powell, quoting a recent lecture, said that the decline in delinquency in the Miami Herald, Johnson that there is a balance for the negative statistics don't the White House Conference 100 cases goes down on the court records.

Both the newspapers in aiding the solution of delinquency said Koos, is that of being a constant agitator to the causes of juvenile vandalism.

Johnson pointed out that vandalism is not prominent in Tallahassee, adding that a few ago two teenage groups who called themselves the "Dirty Dozen" and the "Naughty Nine" were mentioned in the Democrat but were not known to the rest of their school. Further publicity was withheld when the newspaper learned that the reason in question liked the write-ups and wanted them to keep on so they take pictures of them as they scrubbed the tepia clean.

Powell, however, expressed agreement that in such instances publicity is necessary for further delinquency.

However, as Prof Kobre stated, the panel agreed that "Newspapers should X-ray as well as mirror crime in society.

The panel discussions was the first of the series entailed in the annual School of Journalism Southern Regional Conference. Students are in attendance here from Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia, Louisiana, Illinois.

Summer Elections

Wednesday, July 8 Polls open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Westcott, Student Center, and Dining Hall.

Officers To Be Elected:

Eight Councilmen, a Chairman, and Secretary.

Who May Vote:

All Students, including graduate students who have paid the Student Activity Fee.

Alderman Sets Date For Summer Council Elections Campaign

Eight Positions; Campaign Cost Limit Students

Active Campaigning Opens Next Week

Members of the Student Body will seek supreme executive, legislative, and judicial powers of the Student Body for the Summer Session in the coming elections, Eight seats on the Summer Council, and the chairmanship and Secretariat of that body are at stake.

The council is to be composed of two men and two women of junior or senior standing and two men and two women of sophomore or second semester freshman standing. The chairman must be a junior or a senior.

Mr. Alderman, chairman of summer elections, announced that active campaigning may begin Thursday, June 20, at 8 a.m., at which time "posters may be distributed and posters put in place, provided that posters are not "placed on trees or plastered on walls".

Candidates must declare for office in the summer elections must file their declaration of candidacy by 5 p.m., Monday, June 27, according to the plans announced by Mr. Alderman and his committee, which will be named in a statement is to be filled out. These forms will be available to all persons interested in running in the coming election in Mr. Alderman's office in the Longmire Building. Both forms should be turned in on time if a candidate's name is to appear on the ballot.

Expenses Limited

Campaign expenses of candidates, including gifts received, must not exceed the following limit: Chairman, $25; Secretary, $20; and Council members, $15.

The Student Body Constitution stipulates that the academic requirements for the Chairman and Secretary of the Council is the achievement of a 1.3 average last semester or an overall 1.3 average and council members are required to have achieved a 1.0 average.

Constitution

ARTICLE V SUMMER GOVERNMENT

Section 1 Summer Powers

The Executive Council Session, all powers of the Student Body shall be vested in a Summer Council, except those powers delegated to summer courts by this article and the Women's Senate of the Regular Session.

Section 2 Composition of Summer Council

The Summer Council shall be as follows:

A Summer Council Chairman, of Junior or Senior standing who shall preside.

Eight Councilmen, as follows: two men and two women of Junior or Senior standing and two men and two women of Sohomore or second-semester freshman standing.

C A Secretary of the Summer Council, who shall be a nonvoting member, for the purpose of keeping the Council records and taking the minutes of the meetings

Section 3 Elections of Officers and Powers of Council

(Continued on Page 4)

VOCAL DUO—Muriel Birkhead and Charles Dunn appear on First Artist Series, Monday night at 8:15 in Westcott.

REGISTRATION HAPPY TIME—or so it seems by the satisfied looks of summer students. Seated at the table are: Gretchen Everheart and Barbara Einel. Registering is Sadie H. Beggs.

Students Enroll Summer Session

Approximately 2,500 students registered last summer for their summer vacation here in Florida to Hoyt Price, Assistant Registrar, this semester's figure will top that.

The exact number was not known at deadline date because both Dr. Doak S. Campbell and Vice-President A. B. Martin were attending a Board of Control meeting in Gainesville, Florida.

Students were aware of opening session by the "Rah, Rah" of Boys Rate, crowded lines, packed parking areas, and lost and confused students.

For credit for one to four hours, students may pay 20 dollars. For any number of hours above two the full fee of 45 dollars will be required according to the Assistant Registrar.

Graduates and undergraduates have a full program here offering more than with exception of a few highly specialized courses. Some of these courses offered are Journalism, Speech, Science Library Training, Public Administration, Physical Education, Languages, and Education.

More than 200 teacher and supervisors from vocational schools in Florida, Georgia and Alabama have enrolled in the Trade and Industrial Education Short Course here.

Dentists, nurses, railroad engineers, and powerlineman, are also registered.

"They have a common need for the training that will improve the skills and knowledge they themselves possess," according to Dr. Ralph Bohn, director of the short course and Professor of Education and Head of Trade and Industrial Education here.

Guidance, tests, measurements, psychology of vocational teaching, occupational analysis and organization are a few of the courses being offered for these people.

June 30 through July 5 is the period for the week 11 through July 26, is the second session.

Scholarships Open In Summer Session

Summer school students at FSU are eligible to receive scholarships from the Florida Health government to honor George M. Marshall, former Secretary of State of the United States. Twelve of these are available during the year, three from the South.

The scholarships are available to students of either sex, and they must be students of the States, classified as Juniors of age on October first in the year of award and graduates of a degree granting college or university of the United States.

The scholarships are tenable at any university in the United Kingdom for a period that may be extended for a three year period.

Applications for 1936 must be in the hands of the registrar of universities by October 15, 1935. Prospective candidates should write to the British Consulate-General at 16 Exchange Place at 403 International Trade Mart, New Orleans 12, La. Telephone Canal 5152.

The value of a Marshall Scholarship is 350 pounds (sterling) a year. A married man's allowance is increased by 200 pounds (sterling) a year. Marshall scholars receive their transportation to and from their university in the United Kingdom.

BUCHANAN ATTENDS MEETS

Dr. James M. Buchanan, Head of the Department of Economics at Florida State University, will attend the annual Western Economics Conference on Economics and Freedom this week in Crawfordsville, Indiana.

Dr. Lawler Named Consultant To Conference On Education

Dr. Eugene S. Lawler, Professor of Education at Florida State was appointed as a special consultant to the staff assembled for the White House Conference on Education.

Dr. Lawler will serve specifically as consultant to a subcommittee on school organization, appointed by Dr. J. Harold Vest of Denver, Colorado, State Commissioner of Education. The subcommittee is one of six named by Miss McElroy to make extensive studies of the topics selected by the Committee to form the discussion groups for the White House Conference on Education at Washington November 28-December 1. The topic assigned to Dr. Vest's subcommittee is: "In what ways can we organize our school systems more efficiently and economically?"

The five other topics assigned for subcommittee study and discussion are: (1) What school should our schools accomplish? (2) What are our school building needs? (3) How can we get good teachers—and keep them? (4) How can we finance our schools—build and operate them? (5) How can we obtain a continuing public interest in education?

Dr Lawler brings wide knowledge and experience in school organization to the White House Conference on Education program. For the past four years he has been at Florida State University, teaching school law, finance and administration. Prior to that time he was Professor of Education at Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois, for 17 years. He taught graduate and undergraduate courses in educational administration and was also the Southern Regional Director of the Southern States Work Conference. He is the author of many publications on school organization and finance, and contributes frequently to educational journals.

Dr. Lawler is a native of Amarillo, Texas, and was graduated from Trinity University at Waxahachie, Texas, and received his doctorate from Teachers College, Columbia University. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, American Association of School Administrators, American Education Research Association and other national groups. He is married, has two children, and lives at Tallahassee.

The White House Conference on Education is part of a national plan to enlist citizen interest in improving education. It is sponsored by the Old Congress in response to President Eisenhower's request for a nationwide program of State conferences, to culminate in a national conference. Congress appropriated $700,000 to help States defray their conference costs. All 48 States, plus Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the District of Columbia are taking part in this unprecedented movement to better education.

The President appointed a 33-member Committee to conduct the White House Conference Program. The Committee assists States who requested in planning and holding conferences. It will conduct the national conference and prepare a report to the President on the "significant and pressing problems in the field of education."

Dr. R. Sheline Is Presented With Fulbright

Dr Raymond K Sheline, Associate Professor of Chemistry at FSU, has been awarded Guggenheim and Fulbright Fellowships for one year of research in the University of Niels Bohr in Copenhagen, Denmark and in a nuclear physics laboratory in Holland.

In his research Dr. Sheline will be using radio-active nuclei. The nucleus, tiny kernel at the center of the atom, contains nearly all mass and yet is only 1/100,000 the size of the atom as a whole. The energy emitted from radio active nuclei may allow one to determine the structure of the nucleus.

Dr. Sheline, Mrs. Sheline and their three children will leave by plane from New York in the latter part of August. In commenting on the trip, Dr. Sheline said "We are going with a great deal of enthusiasm, not only for the professional experience and depth which this trip offers, but also for the opportunity to live in a different or undergraduate credit.

Dr. Lynn E. Orr, who will lead the theatians through this summer's production, met with the class Tuesday and outlined the course and possible schedule for the summer session.

Participants in this "laboratory" course will have an opportunity to work on many phases of theatre work' makeup, lighting, scene construction, acting and directing

The morning session, 10-12 noon, will be primarily crew work. The afternoon and evening sessions, 1-5 p.m. and 7-10 p.m., will be devoted to rehearsals.

It proves to be a very busy summer for the group as they plan to produce three plays in six weeks—each play will be rehearsed for two weeks with the last week overlapping with rehearsals for the next play.

Monday, June 27, a high school institute will arrive on campus which will possibly bring their work merging with the summer stock productions.

Dr. Orr and Dr. Davee, directors held a group reading of the plays tentatively being considered "My Three Angels" by Sam and Bella Spewack will be the first production to be presented in two weeks. Other productions will be announced at a later date.

Mr. Charles Reimer, technical director, will be in charge of the stage crew and Mrs. Frances Lyle will be costume director.

Library Hours Listed

Library hours for the summer session, June 21-August 13, are as follows:

Monday-Friday—7:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Saturday—8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sunday—2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Speech Department To Sponsor '55 Summer Stock Productions

By CAROLYN BROWN

Dr. Lynn E. Orr, the Speech Department has been making preparations for a summer stock theatre on the campus at FSU.

It has been announced so that a student may receive six or nine hours of either graduate or undergraduate credit.

New VA Ruling Sets Conditional Discharge

Veterans Administration recently ruled that "conditional" discharges, granted to servicemen only to enable them to change military status, need not bar them from building up further entitlement to education and training under the Korean GI Bill.

Instead, they may continue to accrue GI training after August 20, the end of the period they originally were ordered to serve—usually two years in the case of those drafted, and three years for those who enlisted.

Korean GI training must start, VA ruler, within three years from the date a serviceman receives his first "unconditional" discharge, or prima servicemen on active duty on January 31, 1955, to earn GI training entitlement up to the date of their "first dishonorable release from such service."

Training Limited To Training

In its ruling, VA declared that "conditional" discharges would not serve to put an end to the accrual of GI training time. "Conditional" discharges usually are granted to permit a serviceman to accept a commission as an officer or warrant officer, or to reenlist in the regular active service. These discharges do not give him the right to leave the armed forces for civil life, therefore, they are "conditional," not "unconditional."

Entitlement to education and training under the Korean GI Bill, VA explained, is figured at one and one-half times the length of allowable service credit, up to a maximum of 36 months of training.

The serviceman who accrued entitlement during his two-year service period, therefore, would be entitled to three full years of training—the maximum.

Although VA would stop accruing entitlement at the end of the two-year period, he would not be terminated to serve, his starting dead-line—three years from discharge—would not be measured from this point.

Instead, it would be measured from the date he received his first "unconditional" discharge or release. Assuming he received such a discharge on May 25, 1957, his three-year-starting would be computed from that date. Or, he would have to begin GI training by May 25, 1960, to get it.

And, since training must end eight years from discharge or by January 31, 1966, whichever occurred earlier, the veteran would not be permitted to train beyond the 1966 date In his case, that is the date that would come first

Campbell Talks At First Lecture

The first talk of the summer lecture series at Florida State University was given yesterday evening in Opperman Hall by Dr. Doak S. Campbell, President of Florida State University.

In his talk, entitled "Moral Responsibility," President Campbell said "A child can be led by a skilful teacher to read, to spell, and to make arithmetic computations. In our economy and under our system it is the obligation of the teacher to assist the child in learning these things. A child can also be led into the attitude and the practice of honesty, fair play, truthfulness, appreciation of the good and the beautiful. It would be pitifully weak to admit our obligations to do the former but to leave the latter to the whims of circumstances.

"This nation of ours was founded upon the promise that there is a good life and that good and evil are conditions that involve man's relationship to God almighty. Every safeguard is present in our Constitution to provide that man may exercise his right to worship for himself his relation to God and the divine principles.

"Inherent in this provision is the assumption that man by his very nature has need to maintain a vital relationship with God. The ideals of our government are founded upon faith and upon the assumption of certain basic standards of human conduct," President Campbell stated.

FOLK DANCE OFFERED

The First Annual Florida Square and Folk Dance Short Course will be offered on the Campus of the University of Florida, August 19-20, 1955. The course will be conducted by the General Extension Division of Florida in cooperation with the Florida Square and Folk Dance Callers and Teachers' Association.

For further information call the Tallahassee office at extension 5621.

Contemporaries Form Exhibition In Museum

The eighth annual Traveling Exhibition, sponsored by Contemporary, Inc., of New York City is now on exhibition at the University Museum location in the Seminole Inn.

Contemporary Art, Inc., founded in January, 1939, is a non-profit, co-operative association for the promotion of American art.

Artists are invited by museum directors to exhibitions throughout the country. Circulating traveling exhibitions to universities and art associations wherever desired.

Twenty-five of these modern paintings are now on display here at FSU with an account of each painter.

Hours for the museum and Art Gallery are during most of the summer are 12:30 to 5 p.m. daily, Saturday through Friday, from 9-12 noon on Saturday, and from 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday. Both are closed on Monday.

Lost And Found Office Packed With Students' Belongings

Lost anything? Especially if it is the way of most of us, cards, eye glasses, pens, pencils, notebooks, money or pair of Miss Jane Adams, Director of Lost and Found.

Articles which have been lost may be returned and claimed at the Information Center main floor of the Longmire building.

All misplaced things are returned to the Information Center by description and place found When Miss Adams is returned to owner a record is made so no two people can claim the same article

"It is important to know that this is the official place to claim and bring in any lost belongings of someone. Most articles usually come from the Library and the Gymnasium," stated Miss Adams.

Students bringing in lost articles will have a 96 day wait in order to claim the lost piece

They brought in. Articles not claimed will be put in storage for six months to a year then sold at a clearance sale. Pieces not sold at the sale are then donated to charity.

Articles which have been lost may be returned and claimed at the Information Center main floor of the Longmire building.

All misplaced things are returned to the Information Center by description and place found When Miss Adams is returned to owner a record is made so no two people can claim the same article

"It is important to know that this is the official place to claim and bring in any lost belongings of someone. Most articles usually come from the Library and the Gymnasium," stated Miss Adams.

Students bringing in lost articles will have a 96 day wait in order to claim the lost piece

They brought in. Articles not claimed will be put in storage for six months to a year then sold at a clearance sale. Pieces not sold at the sale are then donated to charity.

Articles which have been lost may be returned and claimed at the Information Center main floor of the Longmire building.

All misplaced things are returned to the Information Center by description and place found When Miss Adams is returned to owner a record is made so no two people can claim the same article

"It is important to know that this is the official place to claim and bring in any lost belongings of someone. Most articles usually come from the Library and the Gymnasium," stated Miss Adams.

Students bringing in lost articles will have a 96 day wait in order to claim the lost piece

They brought in. Articles not claimed will be put in storage for six months to a year then sold at a clearance sale. Pieces not sold at the sale are then donated to charity.

Articles which have been lost may be returned and claimed at the Information Center main floor of the Longmire building.

All misplaced things are returned to the Information Center by description and place found When Miss Adams is returned to owner a record is made so no two people can claim the same article

"It is important to know that this is the official place to claim and bring in any lost belongings of someone. Most articles usually come from the Library and the Gymnasium," stated Miss Adams.

Students bringing in lost articles will have a 96 day wait in order to claim the lost piece

They brought in. Articles not claimed will be put in storage for six months to a year then sold at a clearance sale. Pieces not sold at the sale are then donated to charity.

Articles which have been lost may be returned and claimed at the Information Center main floor of the Longmire building.

All misplaced things are returned to the Information Center by description and place found When Miss Adams is returned to owner a record is made so no two people can claim the same article

"It is important to know that this is the official place to claim and bring in any lost belongings of someone. Most articles usually come from the Library and the Gymnasium," stated Miss Adams.

Students bringing in lost articles will have a 96 day wait in order to claim the lost piece

They brought in. Articles not claimed will be put in storage for six months to a year then sold at a clearance sale. Pieces not sold at the sale are then donated to charity.

Articles which have been lost may be returned and claimed at the Information Center main floor of the Longmire building.

All misplaced things are returned to the Information Center by description and place found When Miss Adams is returned to owner a record is made so no two people can claim the same article

"It is important to know that this is the official place to claim and bring in any lost belongings of someone. Most articles usually come from the Library and the Gymnasium," stated Miss Adams.

Students bringing in lost articles will have a 96 day wait in order to claim the lost piece

They brought in. Articles not claimed will be put in storage for six months to a year then sold at a clearance sale. Pieces not sold at the sale are then donated to charity.

Articles which have been lost may be returned and claimed at the Information Center main floor of the Longmire building.

All misplaced things are returned to the Information Center by description and place found When Miss Adams is returned to owner a record is made so no two people can claim the same article

"It is important to know that this is the official place to claim and bring in any lost belongings of someone. Most articles usually come from the Library and the Gymnasium," stated Miss Adams.

Students bringing in lost articles will have a 96 day wait in order to claim the lost piece

"Students who have returned to school and are missing a pair of glasses may check to see if theirs are among the 40 pairs of glasses that were lost," requested the director

Students will be notified by mail or notified through means of identification on the lost articles. Students are urged to keep checking by the office so that their lost belongings have been found.

Summer Flambeau Explains Policy

'Summertime and the livin' is greasy" as the popular saying goes. The Summer Flambeau welcomes everyone to a hot, dripping, sweltering Summer Session (Oh you lucky music and geology students with air conditioned class rooms).

The policy of the Summer Flambeau, though under different control and budget, remains similar to previous issues. News stories try to present the news of, by, and for the students accurately and unbiased as humanly possible. Editorials contain the views of individual students backed by a majority of the staff opinion. Bylined columns contain personal ideas and aren't necessarily the paper's stand or viewpoint. Any comments by readers may be published in a letter-to-editor column. Letters must contain name and address, not necessarily for publication. The editor maintains the right to censor undesirable expressions before publication.

Columnists for the summer issues will include:

Jayleen Robertson

The regular Editor-in-chief, who at present time is working for the Tallahassee Democrat.

Orebid Alonso

A junior and next year's managing editor. In 1953 she was editor of the Summer Flambeau.

Martin Dyckman

An able journalist who is noted for his fiery attacks.

The Summer Flambeau belongs to its readers. Its columns are open to you, and our goal is "to publish an interesting informative and thought-provoking newspaper, written with discretion and keeping the reader in mind."

Fate Of Summer Council In Balance

There's a big question mark this summer about the life of the Summer Council, the summer governing body of Florida State. Last summer was the first time the group convened. This summer, a secretary of elections was appointed by Coyle Moore. 55-56 student body president. Declarations of candidacy will be turned in through June 27.

Not much interest was shown last year, the closest race was decided by only eight votes. Only 258 students out of group of 2,000 voted for the Summer Council chairman. It seemed students don't care what runs them, makes their rules, and thinks for them. They might be right in saying, "What can the summer council do?" That's the big problem, or rather was ... last year the council voted on the NSA delegate and investigated the usage of student activity money, and day trip hours for women. Cheating was also discussed and an announcement that the Honor Code was also in effect in summer was made. Only other business was the controversial publication dates of the Summer Flambeau.

We suggest this year's council give serious thought, talk and action to the parking situation which grows worse each day. Maybe some investigation of the stalmated publication board is in order and a few changes in women's rules. Possibly the Summer councilmen might make Homecoming band arrangements to alleviate the confusion and time limits of the fall session. Whoever runs for summer council should keep in mind that the Summer Council can be active and that this summer may be the deciding point for future summer government.

Bored? Shouldn't Be!

The University Recreation Association again this summer is offering a full schedule for Summer Session Students. Its program, under the leadership of Miss Christine Painter consists of a weekly planning board of interested students who organize recreational pursuits for students. Among this year's planned activities are trips to Wakulla Springs, deep sea fishing, Myers Pool swim trips, Marina Cavers, Stephen Foster Memorial at White Springs, Ft. U. S. Marine and Laboratory. Alligator Point, St. Marks Lighthouse and Wild Life Preserve.

There are movies every week, square dances. Artists Series, a watermelon cutting, the President's reception, an ice cream social, "Smarty Party" for card enthusiasts. Candlelights dances every Friday, speech productions. Spaghetti supper and sports of softball, tennis, bowling, badminton, leagues.

Each issue, the Flambeau and This Week publications will print a listing of individual and weekly activities that may serve to relieve the daily class schedule.

Chemists Partly Work Photosynthesis With Spectroscopic Study

Professor M. Kasha of Florida State University's Chemistry Dept. together with Ralph S. Becker, Kennedy Associate, has announced completi n of a spectroscopic study resulting in the clarification of an important part of the puzzle of photosynthesis—the process by which the plants turn sunlight, carbon dioxide and water into food.

Using very low temperatures and a 35 million candlepower arc in excite the chlorophyll molecule, they have caused the molecule to emit light (photofluorescence) in a manner indication that an energy-rich persistant state exists in chlorophyll. This state is known technically as a triplet state. The possibility of its occurrence was long suspected, and reported more by M. Calvin and coworkers of the University of California, but their barely perceptible observation of the chlorophyll phosphore s c e n c e could not be repeated later.

The existence of the triplet state of chlorophyll was tentatively abandoned by photochemists researchers because of these difficulties

Kasha and Becker applied two new tools to prove the existence of the triplet "State of chlorophyll.

First, they used a spectrograph with 20 times the optic gathering power over that which other workers used. The spectrograph is a camera, wavelength instrument used in spectral studies.

Second, the Kasha - Becker chemist team decided to subject the chlorophyll molecule to an intense magnetic field. They did this by bathing magnetic copper atoms in the chlorophyll molecule, replacing the normal magnesium atom. This turned the trick, for the chlorophyll molecule became strongly photophosphorescent. Although the 35 million watts available because its wavelength corresponds to infra-red light, was clearly seen by the spectrograph.

Professor Kasha has published many papers in the field of molecular energy and has attended numerous conferences recently on the theory of photosynthesis.

Becker who received his doctorate degree this week at FSU for his work on chlorophyll, is to be Assistant Professor of Chemistry at the University of Houston, beginning next September.

The research in FSU's spectroscopy laboratory was sponsored by the Office on Naval Research.

'Soldier Of Fortune' Best Bet Now Playing At The Florida

By BANDA SUE OWENS

Sloan Hayward and Clark Gable are cast as Ernest K Gann's best seller "Soldier of Fortune" at the Florida. It is a adventure packed story filmed in Hong Kong and directed by ward Dmytryk. Susan Hayward as Jane Hoyte the wife of a jobless free-lance photographer goes to Hong Kong in search of her husband who disappeared into the Red China on a flying mission. Upon arrival she finds that he is running a contraband into Red China. While helping her husband's secretary for her husband, Gable falls in love with her. The story spans Gable on to find the missing man because he feels that he cannot be happy with her as long as Ethel Rennie a British journalist, Martha Gable organizes a rescue which ends in a gun battle at a coo-o-loo's night. Other members of the cast are Gene Barry as the missing husband., Alex D'Arcy as a French expatriate, Tom Tully as a pub owner, and Michael Pate as a poetry-quoting ex-Chinese gunrunner.

"Jump Into Hell" and "Unchained Play" Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz. Both chase stars Elroy Crasslegs, Jackie Gleason and Barbara Rush in the story of China, a prison without bars founded by Keoron Hollis (Gleason) and Dr. Sam Scudder's book Prisoners Are People. Both of the films shall be rated affected and produced by Hall Bartlett.

"Jump Into Hell" is the film story of the gallant stand at Dienbienphu, starring Jack Hernaa, Kurt Kasznar, Peter Van Eyck and Norman Dupont. These four men parachute into Dienbienphu to aid their general, Aroldo Moss and their country, Although they are forced to surrender, the victory belongs to the vanquished because the story of their gallant battle is told and spreads a message of hope.

"Jump Into Hell" on State Friday and Saturday is another double-feature with Jackie Gleason, Rory Calhoun and John Adams and "Cult of the Cobra" with Faith Domergue, Marshall Thompson.

"Drums Across the River" starring Audie Murphy and "Second Greatest Sex" M-G-M's production starring Jane Russell, Marilyn Maxwell and Bob Ireland play at the Capitol Drive-In Friday and Saturday.

Jeffrey Hayden and Arthur Franz star in Battle Taxi" now in commission out The Law vs. Billy the Kid" play Friday and Saturday at the Perry Highway Outdoor Theater.

"Battle Stripes" M-G-M's action packed drama in Cinemascope and color will be shown at the Florida Tuesday Sunday and Monday. The movie is based on the book Combat Squad by Lieutenant Colonel John Houseman.

A rare of international favorites stars Stewart Granger, George Sanders, Ava Gardner, Joan Lindsford, Jon Whitely, and Melvin Cooper head a large supporting cast in the picture. The gallant swagger who is pursued by the beautiful Ava Gardner in Pivet was directed by Fritz Lang who has directed some of the screen's greatest successes.

Board Selected Randel For IEP

Dr William Randel, professor of English and Director of American Studies at FSU has been selected by the trustees of the Fulbright Scholarships to participate in the International Exchange Program under the Fulbright Act.

The specific assignment of the award is to lecture at the University of Athens, Greece. The State Department describes this exchange as having the greatest significance for the first years of the Program and since they occupied by a succession of distinguished lecturers.

Besides courses in American Civilization at the University of Athens the holder gives a series of public lectures and also as senior Fulbright lecturer is requested to speak at other parts of Greece.

Professor in Finland

Professor Randel, who joined the FSU faculty in 1951, spent the year 1950-51 in Finland, where he was the first visiting professor of American Studies and Civilization at the University of Helsinki. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the American Studies Association; he is also a member of the Modern Section of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association.

Randel, a native of New York with degrees from the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia, has taught at the University of Michigan, University of Missouri, and Duke.

Childhood Educators Discuss Health Service, Kindergarten

Day-care centers for young children, public school kindergartens, health services, teacher education and private schools were the topics discussed by the Childhood Education Conference.

The four-day meetings today and tomorrow which coincide with the session, were at Florida State University under the direction of Dr. Sarah Long Hammond, director of the FSU kindergarten. Dr. Hammond presided the need for an adequate nursery school and kindergarten program.

"Feeling, values and lessons established during this period tend to become permanent," stated the director. Greatest emphasization was that these years in the child's life are of great importance.

Purpose of the conference is to consider what is involved in providing young people and children and to develop standards for this activity. Leaders in the field of work with children under age will participate in this session.

Dr Hazel F Gabbard, specialist in extended school services and parent education from the U.S Office of Education will be chief consultant during the four-day period.

Other county members affiliated with the FSU early Childhood Education program, representatives from agencies who work with programs for children under six, and representatives from the subcommittee of Teacher Education Advisory Committee of Florida will be consultants.

Reports from 11 counties and from all Florida on "what is being done in Florida in the field of early childhood education will be read during the conference. A discussion on "what needs to be done" will follow the reports.

THE SUMMER FLAMBEAU

Published by the students of Florida State University, Tallahassee each Thursday during the Summer Session.

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Editor

Managing Editor ..... Pat Brady
News Editor ..... George Chubbuck
Movies ..... Wanda Sue Owens

Sports Editor ..... Bob Gutting
Society ..... Jim Jonnes
Church News ..... Virgil Austin

RAYMOND G. HEMANN—Business Mgr.

Advertising Mgr. ..... James Van Middlesworth
Exchange ..... Joan Halford
Photographer ..... Roger Herndon
Assistant ..... Catherine Rogers
Circulation ..... Jim Silverman
Business staff ..... Margie Tindall
Louise Petering

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service
420 Madison Ave., New York
Offices: 211, 213 Longmire Bldg.
Member: Associated College Press, Intercollegiate Press
Phone 2-8486, extension 6821, 6822

Traffic—Like 'Topsy' Grows

By RAY HEMANN

A serious problem facing faculty, administration as well as student body is traffic control on campus. In a recent interview with Mr. Herry P. Day, the director of traffic it was brought out that something is being done about the problem and the administration is not sleeping on the job to completely unravel all of the problem as many people seem to suspect.

The State Road Department and a board of students and faculty members are now studying the problem and making proposals for the re-routing of traffic through campus, parking and traffic enforcement. "The biggest problem at present until these organizations have finished their research and steps are taken to alleviate the problem is the whole hearted support of every member of the student body, faculty and administration. In the observance of present traffic regulations.

"During the summer session," said Mr Day, "there is an over-flow of traffic on campus, especially with all the people who are here for only a few days at a time Many of these people do not know the existing traffic regulations, but everything possible will be done to enforce traffic regulations and still be fair to everyone concerned."

Particular attention is drawn to parking in front of fire hydrants, in loading zones and in the fifteen minutes zones reserved for visitors.

The ten traffic regulations follow:

1. No parking will be permitted near fire hydrants or street entrances to sidewalks and building or along painted yellow curbs.

2. "Loading Zones" must be observed between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. except on Sundays or University designated holidays.

3. Vehicles parked on University streets are to be parked parallel to the curb, within 12 inches of the curb, and within the white lines, unless angle parking is indicated and outlined in white lines.

4. The first four spaces to the right and to the left (north and south) of the east asta in front of the Union Building will be reserved for 15 minute parking for use by students and university employees.

5. The maximum speed limit on all campus streets is 20 miles per hour.

6. All Stop" and "Slow" signs are to be observed.

7. Reckless and careless driving is forbidden on the campus.

8. Movement of traffic along a main thoroughfare will not be obstructed by stopping in the streets for any other purpose than for parking.

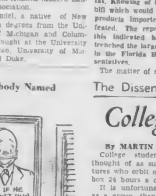
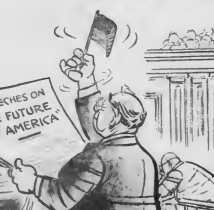
9. Parking on the lawn or sidewalk is prohibited except in university streets are not provided, in front of buildings.

10. Pedestrians may be held responsible for failure to observe traffic safety regulations on the campus.

Fines for violation of these rules are as follows:



1. If paid within 24 hours after receipt, the fine, per ticket, shall be 50c



2. If paid within 48 hours after receipt, the fine shall be raised automatically to $1.00

3. If held over 48 hours after receipt, the fine shall be raised automatically to $1.50

The main purpose of the Traffic Court Proceedings is to prevent as many traffic and parking problems as possible and to make Florida State University a safe and enjoyable place for students, faculty and visitors to drive their automobiles.

Until something more can be done about the traffic and parking problems, only you can help by cooperating and giving your full cooperation in making the Florida State University Campus a success at Florida State University.

Alabaster II

Philosophy, Comic Strips And Cats

Is back Alabaster II with new illusions once again glorified reporter on junior staff Alwell as Confusion, say, "Every dog will have his day..." or was it? Confusion that said that! But then Chinese philosophers have always been hokey to Seminoles anyway

Speaking of Dirk Tracy, Alabaster II has become a movie type press card, three additions to family living in basement-style apartment—economy-sized mama cat is called Mumbles; two small-type kittens so far; with lion-type thinking, named Neki and Rokar.

Being friendly - type person that people seldom speak to, Alabaster is learning much about human behavior from Frima Fanna. Now running close race with Ruby, is quite conditioned tha human by cats.

When Mumbles starts meowing someone at the door, Alabaster places three saucers of milk outside and watches all three drink from same saucer. Is good Charley Johns' bill didn't get through state power, or Alabaster's friends all in jail now for teaching subversive ways of drinking.

Are nice kittens, Neki and Rokar—like to play games of hide and seek with Alabaster. Until 1 a.m. last night in fact. Neki got hot as well, he couldn't get out from behind refrigerator. But then Neki is friendly-type kitten and feel want to come out until company—two round cars, one fire department, and my roommate—came to visited Neki and Rokar.

Alabaster II is learning much about human behavior from Frima Fanna. Now running close race with Ruby, is quite conditioned tha human by cats.

When Mumbles starts meowing someone at the door, Alabaster places three saucers of milk outside and watches all three drink from same saucer. Is good Charley Johns' bill didn't get through state power, or Alabaster's friends all in jail now for teaching subversive ways of drinking.

Are nice kittens, Neki and Rokar—like to play games of hide and seek with Alabaster. Until 1 a.m. last night in fact. Neki got hot as well, he couldn't get out from behind refrigerator. But then Neki is friendly-type kitten and feel want to come out until company—two round cars, one fire department, and my roommate—came to visited Neki and Rokar. Ah, so, anybody wannabura cat? Two? Grey?

Was great meeting of two minds last week when Alabaster II met Alabaster I (Al Pierce) in New York City for lunch in Big Apple. Alabaster II was paid on the waterfront in here good news of great attendance—is now writing catalogus-type ad copy for man's suspenders in Montgomery Ward.

Big city cousin not agree however, to ask Montgomery or Ward to perforate catalogue pages at binding ...

On subject of good old days, am writing Alabaster 1 to give up ambitions—for penny, get ahead these days. The Hermit say boy presidents still have vitals tensile property to grow old. Is requesting Pete a change in General Education?

Is good to be back in south from spending week in Tynesland—is kind of early sign of progress in downtown newspaper office to stay writer! It say, "My Mom's Made up—Don't Confuse Me With Facts."

Is good slogan for college already?

Is wearing Alabaster new button—this one not say I Like Ike, not say I Still Like Ike—is new type reversible button may Dee for Adlai on one side and Welcome to FSU on other. Is here conscientious Alabaster wearing joyful side out and saving other for exam week

Beyond The Gates

How Much Now, Brown Cow

By ORCHID ALONSO

WARNING: TODAY'S COLUMN IS A SPECIAL! The big dairy interests in Florida has won another round—with the help of the varied representatives of the people of this state—for the people who don't drink milk because their allergy thin purses to pay for inconceivable prices for precious milk, nature's most perfect food.

One of the most controversial bills of this session, about the Milk Commission bottle was the dominance by a representative from Miami, Florida Dairymen Association in Tallahassee that a majority of the members must control the Milk Commission. The same representative also has control of these members in reporting Wisconsin milk with a 2 to 3 per cent butterfat content and retailing it in cartons labeled 4 to 5 per cent butterfat. Knowing of this prompted a bill which would standardize the milk imported. It was defeated. The representative and this indirect how deeply entrenched the dairy interests are in the Florida House of Representatives.

The matter of mislabeling milk products is both legal and moral. Small Florida dairy farmers who must compete with these activities are at times forced to sell their milk under cost to meet competition. Actually, the Department of Agriculture has the authority to regulate such activities—but it hasn't.

Ask Kenny of the dairy council their already thin purses to pay for milk nature's most perfect food.

One of the most controversial bills of this session about the Milk Commission bottle was the dominance by a representative from Miami, Florida Dairymen Association in Tallahassee that a majority of the members must control the Milk Commission. The same representative also has control of these members in reporting Wisconsin milk with a 2 to 3 per cent butterfat content and retailing it in cartons labeled 4 to 5 per cent butterfat. Knowing of this prompted a bill which would standardize the milk imported. It was defeated. The representative and this indirect how deeply entrenched the dairy interests are in the Florida House of Representatives.

The matter of mislabeling milk products is both legal and moral. Small Florida dairy farmers who must compete with these activities are at times forced to sell their milk under cost to meet competition. Actually, the Department of Agriculture has the authority to regulate such activities—but it hasn't.

Ask Kenny of the dairy council their already thin purses to pay for milk nature's most perfect food.

Summer recreation committee has consistently promoted entertainment, relaxation and scalings off of the highest caliber. Has summer should not grow dull under it.

President Doak S. Campbell has gone on record as stating that 18,000 enrollment for FSU should be the maximum that the school is to maintain adequate academic standards. In a conversation with Dr. Campbell has had the foresight to wage the fate of FSU before any one has a good school, but not if they think numbers and not academic standards is institution—They don't—not our policy of bigger and better football games.

On the subject of expansion—each and every new student at FSU this summer is just a link in the big family of growth and pains. One way to help alleviate those gnawing feelings is to make the most of the activities of the school, cooperating in every way to bring in a more mature and adult participation in the student government.

The Dissenter

Collegians Intellectual Teetotalers?

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

College students are often thought of as sub-human creatures who orbit around the bar box 24 hours a day.

It is unfortunately true that, as a group, they do nothing to correct the impression.

Take, for instance, the old complaint that "too much noncampus news" creeps into the columns of the F. Flambeau's editorial page. This represents a patriotic, self-imposed ignorance from reality.

"That doesn't concern us" is the old platitude.

College students can't rightly say that the world around them doesn't concern them. Can a salesperson, a doctor, a teacher, a laborer or an artist isolate himself into a group and read "only that which concerns me"?

The essence of a college's existence is a supposed development into maturity and citizenship. This purpose, however, is forsaken at the start if the students wishes to avoid the world around him. And this is what so many do.

There is no dividing line between the campus and the world.

You can't expect the intelligent housewife to discuss politics only at the League of Women Voters. She will take the same attitude to her husband, her friends—all in the sanctity of the home circle.

Then why should the collegian to notice political affairs only in the political science classroom?

There's a great deal to be said against granting the 18 year olds the vote if they still think of it as the only area which concerns them deals with campus society and campus sports.

It's tiresome to hear a familiar, cliché - trabitious assertion: "We read these things in the local papers so why see them in the Flambeau too?"

They don't read the papers, unless it's for the crime wave, sports and comics, with the social columns and editorials a poor third.

Many great man have developed this ability without the

(Continued on Page 4)

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

Many students attending Florida State for the first time this summer may be wondering what school has to offer in the way of varsity teams, since this seems to be the prime importance in today's academic world.

During the past year, the FSU riders ran up an incredible number of wins in all sports to help gain a footing an a par with any school in the country.

During the football season Coach Nugent's fired up Seminoles very ably carried the ball, scoring few defeats and ending up at the January Sun Bowl game at El Paso, Texas. The bowl game, although not turning out in our favor, was the first time a Florida team had participated in a bowl game outside of the state.

In addition to many other victories, one of the team's outstanding ends, Tom Fennario, was picked by the Baltimore Colts in a football draft. Although eligible to play in the professional ranks, Fennario has elected to finish out his college career here at FSU before signing up with a professional team.

Keeping up the tradition of winning teams was Coach Bill Kelly' mermen. Although trailing up against some of the mighty Southeastern conference teams the mermen easily outdistanced the rooters to complete a splendid unbeaten season.

Outstanding swimmers of the season was all-American Ernie Beck, who also went to the YMCA meet in Ohio, but failed to place there.

Next on the list are the well known Seminole gymnasts, under the direction of Coach Hartman.

In another spectacular year, the gymnasts retained all their old titles. Some of them, like the Alabama invitational and Georgia and Florida AAU, were held for the fifth straight year. In addition Don Holder, Jack Miles, and Rafael Lecuona saw action at the Pan American games held in Mexico City where Miles placed second in the all-around event.

This team also placed seventh at the NCAA meet at California and took first place honors for the third time at the NAAU. Two of his boys finished under par for the 11 meets. They were Burke Berry and Jack Vegter. Vesbte turned in a score of 700 strokes in 11 matches for the lowest overall score of 71.8 strokes, and Berry turned in 751 strokes for a 71.9 average.

Climaxing the season's victories was the volleyball team's victory over Oklahoma A&M to win the NCAA meet.

Finishing a close behind the Seminoles put on one of the greatest comebacks in collegiate history today to topple the championship players of the College of Medical Evangelism of Los Angeles.

Three members of the team were also all-American.

FSU Offers Driver's Ed This Summer

FSU new driver education courses, plus a seemingly insignificant bill passed by the 1955 Florida Legislature may become literal life-savers for Sunshine State motorists.

The bill provides an increase of 25 cents for Florida's automobile license fee. The additional 25-cent fee, which will amount to $900 000 in the next two years, will go toward the support of driver education training in the schools of Florida.

The bill was prepared and passed after research in other states had shown a decided decrease in the number of accidents, injuries, and deaths after driver education programs were included in public schools.

Certification requirements for a driver education instructor in Florida include one course in Driver Education, one course in General Safety, and one in First Aid.

FSU will offer all of the above courses during its summer session, which opens today.

FSU's driver education program is designed to provide prospective teachers with the desirable attitudes, specialized information, and techniques necessary for teaching driver education in the high schools of Florida.

In addition to the time spent in the classroom, these prospective teachers spend approximately 24 hours in a dual control car, becoming familiar with the methods and techniques of teaching a beginner how to drive safely and effectively. FSU's dual control car, furnished through the courtesy of Alford Chevrolet Company, is equipped with dual brake and clutch.

It is possible for a person to take the necessary courses and become fully certified to teach driver education during one summer session at FSU.

Alderman Sets

(Continued From Page 1)

Chairman, the Secretary of the Summer Council, and the eight Councilmen shall be elected by a plurality of those voting in the Summer Elections, to be held the second Tuesday after classes commence.

B Summer Elections shall be conducted by a Summer Elections Committee, appointed by the President and confirmed by the Student Senate during the Regular Session.

Section 4 Powers and Duties of the Summer Council

The Summer Council shall:

A Administer and enforce all laws of the Student Body.

B. Appoint such committees as it may deem necessary.

C. Enact, by majority vote, Summer Statutes, to apply to the Summer Session only. Such Statutes are to supplement, and not contradict, Statutes enacted by the Student Senate of the Regular Session.

D Require the Summer Flambeau to print such notices as it may deem necessary, but shall have no power to restrict freedom of expression except on grounds of obscenity

E Exercise those judicial powers assigned to Honor Court during the Regular Session

Section 5 Limitation of Powers

A No law, act, or charter of any type passed by the Summer Council shall be construed to limit or modify any of the provisions of this Constitution or its by-laws of the Regular Session, the Student Body Statutes.

B Policies or legislation of the Summer Council shall be subject to faculty review in the same manner as legislation of the Student Senate of the Regular Session.

C. Judicial decisions of the Summer Council shall be subject to review in the same manner as decisions of Honor Court of the Regular Session.

The Dissenter

Continued from Page 2:

benefit of formal education. They used to the fullest that with which they were born. Abraham Lincoln was such a man.

It is not tragic that a college student should ignore an opportunity which men such as Lincoln never had?

MAKE MONEY PART TIME

by simply Reading my Publicity Story to people in your community . . . by appointment. No canvassing.

$50 to $90 WEEKLY

For a few hours work daily.

Simply help people to receive our patented product . . .

ABSOLUTELY FREE

Everyone knows about it . . . everyone needs it . . . yet no one has it.

Help us introduce this product to your community.

SEND NOW FOR FREE DETAILS

GENERAL PRODUCTS
4934 North Lincoln Avenue
Chicago 25, Illinois

STUDYING PLANS for Girls State at Florida State University tomorrow through July 2, are left to right, Mrs. LeRoy Collins; Governor LeRoy Collins; Mrs. Mary Marshall, director of Girls State; and the Collins' daughter, Jane. Girls State is sponsored annually by the American Legion Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Collins is a member. Governor Collins is a member of the American Legion, while Jane belongs to the Junior Legion Auxiliary.

Cuba Sightseeing Trip July Fourth Weekend

Want to see Cuba? Students and their families will have the chance to view this South American neighbor over the July Fourth weekend for only one hundred dollars.

Persons planning on making this trip should contact Miss Christine Palmer, room 18, Administration building. A deposit of $15 will hold a reservation for all takers.

Passports are not required of U. S. citizens going to Cuba or returning. Naturalized citizens, citizens of other countries, check with Miss Palmer for further information.

Travelers will be required to declare in writing all articles required abroad. U. S. residents are allowed 200 dollars' worth of foreign merchandise for personal or household use duty free.

Cigarettes, cigars may be purchased at the ship's area and at popular prices. A ton of less those in the U. S. Automotive, post cards, toilet articles can be bought there.

Transportation will be by railway buses and by boat. All Florida will leave Miami at 8 a.m. July 1.

Old and New Havana will be the first tour. Different California, Columbus Cemetery, Tropical Gardens and a trip to the Rum Distillery will be on the agenda.

"Shopping in Cuba should be fascinating to embarrass as well as seeing the Capitol in Cuba which is considered for its beauty and architectural challenge." related spokesmen.

Coro Castle and Cabanas Fortress will be among the ancient sights one will see. Lectures will be given along these trips.

Seeing the nutskirts of Cuba will be the last tour of this short. Different country sites, dinner through towns and villages like Arroyo Arennas.

Ever see a "rock fight"? Those who go to the experimental Cuban Farm will see one in action. Coffee, pineapple, tobacco and sugar cane plantations will also top the list of tours.

Tourists are asked to wear comfortable clothes and shoes as lots of walking is expected. Evening clothes are recommended as the Night Club tour will require only street dress. Dresser things may be taken along for dinner and dancing on the boat.

FSU Film Club Elect Officers, Schedule Set

The FSU Film Club board members recently elected Dr. George A. Lensen, Assistant Professor of History, as president; Mr. Karl Dittmer, treasurer; and Mrs. Bobbie Lensen, secretary.

In consultation with Dr. Robert L. Fairing, director of the Florida Film Classics Council, the Board made plans for the presentation of a first-rate program next year. Films under consideration include The Medium (Italy, 1950) based on Menotti's opera, the French thriller Panique (1946) and the Red Balloon (1953) as well as The Seven Deadly Sins, the recent Japanese drama The Imposter (1953), and such British comedies as Brandy for the Parson (1951) and A Run for Your Money with Alec Guinness.

The board will be glad to receive recommendations or requests for 16 mm foreign movies and shorts via FSU box 3049, Tallahassee, Fla.

GYMNASTICS INSTALLED

The new officers of Gymnastics, Gymkana Honorary at FSU, recently installed for the coming year are Barbara Vickers, president, Tom McDonald, vice-president, Gerry Lehner, secretary; Janice Eberly, treasurer; Margaret Donaldson, social chairman; and Norma Lapinsky, historian.

Public Health And Welfare Positions Open

College graduates will have many opportunities in public welfare and public health sanitation with state and county agencies this summer, according to an announcement of the Florida Merit System in Tallahassee.

In the public health field vacancies for sanitarians now exist in Broward, Hillsborough, Madison and Taylor Counties, and in addition a class will be selected for in-service training at the field training center in Gainesville beginning the first part of July.

The appointment of welfare visitors and sanitarians will be made after competitive examinations to be conducted in several centers throughout the state. Those accepted will be eligible for graduate scholarships after one year of service.

Full information concerning nature of positions, salaries, minimum qualifications, and application forms may be obtained at local offices of the health and welfare departments, the State Employment Service offices or direct from the Florida Merit System in Tallahassee.

Music Society Elects Thirteen Members

Thirteen new members were elected to Pi Kappa Lambda, honorary scholastic music society at Florida State University. Professor Herman Gunter Jr., president of the organization, announced today.

New initiates were installed Wednesday in a formal ceremony which was followed by a banquet in the Tropic Room of the Student Center. Dr. Gunter Schwartz, Chairman of the Department of Physics at Florida State University, was the guest speaker.

New initiates include James Staples, Harriet E. Ramsey, Meredith Dawson, Ellen Boone, William Holston, Barbara Agee, Joanne Poe, Gomer Pound, Dorothy Flory, Helen Hartmeyer, Claude Rhea, Frank Prindl and Edward Kilmyi Jr.

Sanitarians, 4-H Convene At FSU For Short Courses

Over 500 Florida 4-H Club girls and approximately 100 Florida sanitarians hit the campus a week ago for their respective annual short courses which highlighted workshops, seminars, and special camps for high school students.

An extended 4-H course is on the agenda for art to eight weeks during the summer session and possibility of going over to the opening of the fall semester.

Annually speaking in the 40th year the girls have met on this campus. The five day course which ended recently was directed by the State Office of Home Demonstration Work. Highlight of the Session was the address of Governor LeRoy Collins.

The course for the state sanitarians will be the first of its kind on the campus. It was sponsored by General Extension Division of Florida and Florida Association of Sanitarians, with FSU and University of Florida providing the faculty.

Church News

Religious activities on the campus this summer will be many.

Tentative plans for a wide variety of activities have been decided upon by the directors of the various student houses on campus. However, the final plans for recreational and other types of activities will be decided on by the students.

B.S.U.

Baptist students will take part in a program which includes Vespers Tuesday at 6:30 p.m., breakfast and Morning Watch Friday morning at 6:30, and a revival at the First Baptist Church. Other plans are forthcoming from the students themselves soon.

METHODIST

Rev Austin Hollady of the Methodist Student House announced a schedule of events composed of three services on Sunday, a midweek devotional on Wednesday night, and a Friday afternoon coffee hour and social. There will also be many recreational events scheduled later on.

WESTMINSTER

Though the Westminster House has no planned program there will be a vigorous summer effort planned to meet the needs of the summer students. Services will definitely be regular Sunday morning services with several periods of meditations during the week.

RUGE HALL

Sunday morning Communion services and regular services have been planned by the Episcopalians at Ruge Hall. The hall will be open daily for study and meditation.

NEWMAN HOUSE

Roman Catholic students are invited to attend Mass Sunday at 7:30 and 10:00 a.m at the Newman House. The Catholic students' center and its library are open at all times.

Science Studied By High-Schoolers

The third annual science camp at Florida State University got under way with the registration of 74 high school students from Florida and Alabama.

Two weeks of intensive work in a wide range of science fields await the high school sophomores, juniors and seniors. Classes and laboratory sessions will be offered in anthropology, bacteriology, botany, chemistry, geology, mathematics, meteorology, oceanography, physics, physiology, psychology and zoology.

In addition to classwork, the students made two all-day field trips during the camp. A geology and anthropology trip took them to the Florida Caverns State Park near Marianna where they saw various rock exposures and land forms of geological interest.

The science campers also visited the Alligator Harbor laboratory of the FSU oceanography department. Aboard the laboratory's research vessel, "Sea Quest II," the students left into the harbor and Gulf and collected marine plants and animals for observation and study.

Among the many things that the potential scientists will see and do while at FSU are examining and working with rocks and minerals, specimens of ancient and extinct forms of life found in the rocks of the earth, and various kinds of maps made and used by practicing geologists. They will also perform experiments with plants, in chemistry and in physics.

The physics of the astronomical world will be illustrated with the aid of the university's telescope and Spitz Planetarium. The workings of a field instrument for obtaining weather data will also be explained and demonstrated.

Women Dorms Hold Meeting

Florida Hall and North Cawthon, the two dorms open to women students during the Summer Session with the exception of the Gamma Phi Beta House, open to sorority members, will hold compulsory house meetings tonight, at 10 p.m.

The slate of officers will be presented to the residents for vote.

All rules enforced during the Regular Session will apply to the Summer Session. Students will be reminded of these regulations at the meeting.

Male residents are accommodated in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Nu, Delta Sigma Pi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Pi Kappa Phi fraternity houses.

Cadet Officers Selected For FSU ROTC Regiment

Cadet officer positions in the Army ROTC program for the coming year, have been announced by Col. Phillip S. Greene, professor of military science and tactics.

Selected as commanding officer of the FSU ROTC Regiment is Percy L. Steele, Tallahassee, with the rank of cadet lieutenant colonel. Assisting him as cadet officers will be Harold L. Stewart, Jacksonville, Robert E. Culliver, Ft. Lauderdale, and Anthony N Avitable.

Appointed as captains are Charles D. Caraway, Bobby C. Jones, George J. Hebemann, Lawrence W. Williams, Donald J. Holder, Charles P. Adkins, Kenneth E. Jarrett, Ernest T. Stevens, Vernon C. Edge Jr., Wayne G. Pattoo, Herbert Lacayo, Jerry C. Connell and Allen C. DeGraw, Jr.

To be first lieutenants are James G. Russ, Hugh H. Rhodes, George S. Nunez, Hans W. Trexler, Orrin C. Bozza, Benjamin B. Powell, Elliott A. Whitton, Robert N. Bashaw, Fred L. Mansfield, John J. Hodge, Alan D. Mariena, James E. Berg and Jack A. Mitchell.

Cadet second lieutenants chosen are Samuel S. McClain Jr., Earle E. Peterson Jr., Floyd J. Gangloff, John D. Beaver, Jerry D. Roberts and James E. Moore.

Also among the announced officer ratings, the following were appointed as master sergeants: Charles L. Bowen Jr., Ronald R. Anderson, Roger L. Berry, Roland L. L. Taylor and Sion A. Alford.

Assigned as cadet sergeants first class are Jimmy J. Chrisp, Raymond O. Reinhardt, Frank N. Keney, Laird B. Anderson, Jerry T. Tucker, John M. Bennett, Robert C. Skiff, Alan W. Whitmarsh, John C. Perry, Charles D. Rowland, Gibson N. Bates Jr., Isaac J. Tyre, Wilbur L. Beahaw and William C. Bowen.

Other sergeants first class are Hamilton J. Bass Jr., Ludwig A. Casca, Paul A. Jones Jr., Thomas Turpin Jr., Herbert Purdom, Thomas B. Beach, Edwin E. Eatridge III, William C. Ponder, Jackie W. Webb, Raymond A. Mc-Coy, Gary E Smith, Edwin C. McGough, Nathaniel T. Ragland, and Richard M. Fletcher.

To be sergeants are Carl R. Lourton, Oscar D. Johnston, Patrick O. Bayer, John L. Berry Jr., Richard L. Keck, Charles W. Mason, David A. Morris, William L. Collins, Harold B. Elliott, Joseph W. Haddock, James G. Kinsaul, Jack R. Lamb, Alfred H. Williams, Richard G. Pittman Jr., Jackie V. Sykes, Donald J. Smith, Thomas D. Branch Jr., William L. Dean, Harry A. Whitehurst, Thomas D. Wofield, Henry R. Wetherington, William L. Hodgingway, Jere F. Daniels, Duncan Marshall and Robert L. McCullough.

Also selected as cadet sergeants are Stanley G. Pillerat, George R. Day Jr., Henry H. Hair Jr., Edward S. McCall Jr., Bob D. Mathews, Edward P. McIntosh, Jimmy G. Peurando, Joseph Thompson IV, John R. Tomberlin, James C. Davis Jr., Benjamin A. Pridgeon, John R. Terwilliger, Richard H. Johnson, Leo P. Bagett, Carl W. Barber Jr., Thomas R. Bruckman, Thurman K. Dail, Elton F. Henley, Orvo R. McCarron, William R. McKenzie Jr., James M. Moore, William L. Roche, Broward R. Rutrell, Dave Maaco and Robert B. Wilmark.

Civil Defense Trains Staff

An All-Florida Civil Defense School conference sponsored by the State College and General Extension Division of Florida and the Federal CDA, will be conducted at the University of Florida June 29-July 1. It will offer Floridians an intensive five days of training in the latest concepts and techniques of preparing their home communities for an enemy attack or for the reception and care of thousands of homeless evacuees from target areas of the nation.

James E Kessel, State Director of Civil Defense, said as open to all persons interested in local civic defense organizations, municipal and county officials, police, fire, welfare, engineering, transportation, plant protection, and other officials or key workers with civil defense responsibilities.

He especially urged sororities and communities which have already completed or will be in the State in organizing civil defense to send representative to the course. Registration should be made immediately through county civil defense director or through the State Civil Defense office at Tallahassee. There will be no tuition charge, and minimum cost housing will be available and university cafeterias will be open to the students.

A spectacular demonstration featuring the use of fog for fire fighting will be staged June 30 at the Florida State Fire College at the Gainesville Fire Department.

SPECIAL AT

KAHLER'S

STANDING ROAST OF BEEF

CARVED TO ORDER.....45c

BUDDY HOURS AT

KAHLER'S

(2 to 4 P.M.)

BRING A FRIEND OR DRAG A DATE AT OUR EXPENSE. YOUR FOUNTAIN ORDER DUPLICATED FREE DURING BUDDY HOURS

FREE

CAMPUS HEADQUARTERS AT

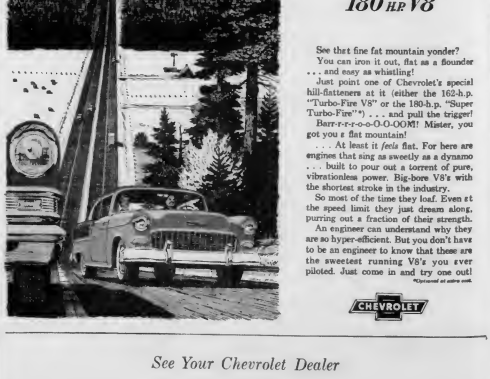
KAHLER'S

EVERYTHING FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

FREE DELIVERY SERVICE—SUNDRIES

DEPARTMENT—FINE FOODS

105 S. COPELAND



(Next to Malone's Bookstore)

WELCOME SUMMER SCHOOL STUDENTS

FOR ALL BOOKS AND SUPPLIES GO BY . . .

MALONE'S BOOK STORE

107 S. Copeland Street

Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners!

162 HP V8

180 HP V8

See that fine fat mountain yonder? You can iron it out, flat as a flounder . . . and easy as whistling!

Just point one of Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners at it (either the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire") . . . and pull the trigger! Barr-r-r-r-o-o-O-O-OOM! Mister, you got a flat mountain!

. . . At least it feels flat. For here are engines that sing as sweetly as a dynamo . . . built to pour out a torrent of pure, vibrationless power. Engines V8's with the shortest stroke in the industry.

So most of the time they loaf. Even at the speed limit they just dream along, purring out a fraction of their strength.

An engineer can understand why they are so hyper-efficient. But you don't have to be an engineer to know that these are the sweetest running V8's you ever piloted. Just come in and try one out!

*Optional at extra cost.

CHEVROLET

See Your Chevrolet Dealer

Traffic Problem Discussed. See Page 2

The Summer Flambeau

Reisman Trio Perform At Artist Series

VOL. I, NO. 8 PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1955

Reisman Trio Will Appear On Artist Series Program

Program Starts July 6 At 8:15

The Reisman Trio, scheduled to appear in Western Auditorium, July 6, at 8:15 p.m., is the only professionally concertizing pianoviolin-cello trip in America that is genuinely a family affair.

Shirley Reisman, pianist; Mona Reisman, violinist, and Barbara Reisman, cellist, are sisters. Their professional paths separated them for a number of years, but four years ago they joined forces officially and formed a permanent ensemble.

The pianist studied at the Fontainebleau Conservatory of Music with the French pianists Robert and Gaby Casadesus. Appearing on the concert platform since her childhood, Shirley Reisman has performed extensively in the East both as a soloist with symphony orchestras and in recital.

Mona Reisman numbers among her teachers the eminent violinist Oscar Shumsky. When not performing with the Reisman Trio, she makes frequent appearances with various ensembles, including the Bach Aria Group orchestra and the Westchester String Quartet.

Mona Marvlee Violinist

The only one of the sisters to have married thus far, Mona brought another musician into the family, a violinist, William Schorr. He is a member of the Columbia Broadcasting Concert Orchestra and the Claremont String Quartet.

Barbara Reisman, the youngest of the three, has followed the pattern set by her sisters with a scholarship and study with well renowned teachers. At Juilliard School of Music, where she is a fourth-year scholarship student with the distinguished cellist Leonard Rose, her extension credits include winning of both the Arthur Godfrey and Paul Norman awards. At 22 years old, as well, she studied voice at the Manning College of Music.

Cross-Country Tours

Eastern concerts, radio, and TV appearances preceded the Reisman cross-country activity of the Reisman Trio recognition by critics has been unusually warm; each artist brings to the Reisman Trio a skill and a temperament that illumines the ensemble.

Three concerts are imbued with a personal conviction and a grace of expression only possible among artists who are closely associated over a period of time.

Tickets will be on sale to the public at Westcott Auditorium the night of the performance. But they will be admitted upon presentation of their ID cards.

Research Papers Presented Before Chemical Society

The Florida section of the American Chemical Society held a recent meeting in Orlando at which fourteen research and educational papers were presented by FSU chemists at the section's sessions.

Dr. Dittmer, present chairman-elect, will assume the role of chairman of the organization January 1, 1956.

Dr. Joel H. Hildebrand, president of the society, was the principal speaker for the installation at which Dr. Howard J. Hopper, Assistant Director of the Southern Research Institute received the Florida Section award.

The fourteen FSU chemists who presented research papers were Russell H. Johnsen "Ionization Density Effects in the Solubilities of Carboxylic Acids"; Graham J. Brealey and Michael Kasha, "The Role of Hydrogen Bonding in the Blue-Shift Phenomenon"; David F. Dever and Ernest M. Grimsrud, "The Vapor Pressure of Methanol and Its Complexes with Other Existing Thermodynamic Data"; Rowland E. Johnson and Harding Owen, "Cinnamic Trifluoride-Chlorine Exchange Reaction"; Robert A. West and H. W. Barrett, "Gross Metabolism of Halogeno Pyrimidines in the Mouse"; R. J. Kern and D. B. Britt, Jr., "Phosphorimetry. A New Method of Analysis."

Charles R. Crane, "Sub-Ppm Amino Acid Chromatography"; Karl Dittmer, Professors in General and the Public"; Walter E. Masmann, "Magnesium Determination in Animal Tissue"; Earl Frieden, "A Versatile Warburg Flask Washer"; Werner Herz, "Synthesis in the Nagakawa And Series"; H. M. Walborsky and M. Baum, "Chemical Effects of the Trifluoro-methol Group"; Leonard B. Spiegel and Karl Dittmer, "A Study of the Structure of the Phenylmercuric Chloride Solubilities of Lower Quinolinedione"; and Herman Rolfs and Karl Dittmer, "The Toxicity of Phenols - Chloro - and Cresols - Bromodihydrine in the Rat."

Polls To Open Wednesday At Three Points

Student Center, Westcott, And Seminole Room

All of the offices are without opposition, except two, in the summer council elections announced Sam Alderman, chairman of elections. The position of Summer Council Chairman, and that of the Junior-Senior Councilwomen are the only offices that will be contested.

Competing for the office of Councilchairmen are Kee Galvin and Daniel Gorham. Those seeking the office of Junior-Senior council women are Pat Hilton, Mary Carolyn Spence, and Elizabeth Sugg.

The only candidate for the office of Junior-Senior councilman is Rodney Wilson. On the ballot for Freshman-Sophomore councilmen are Virgil Austin and Ariel Drufus. The office of secretary of Summer Council is also sought, unopposed, by Carolyn Redfern.

No candidates have filed for the office of Freshman-Sophomore councilwomen. This leaves three offices to be filled by appointment or write-in ballot.

Mr. Alderman announced that active campaigning may begin Thursday, June 30, at 5 p.m. at which time posters may be distributed and posters put in place. Alderman has announced the "placed on trees or displayed on walls".

Expenses Limited

Campaign expenses of candidates, including gifts received, must not exceed the following limits: Chairman, $25; Secretary, $20; and Council members, $15.

The Student Body Constitution stipulates that the academic requirements for the office of Secretary of the Council is the achievement of a 2.3 average last semester or an overall 1.3 average and sophomore members are required to have achieved a 1.0 average.

Election Schedule

Wednesday, July 6. Polls open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Westcott, Student Center, and Dining Hall.

Officers To Be Elected:

Council Councilmen, a Chairman, and Secretary.

Who May Vote:

All students, including graduate students, who have paid the Student Activity Fee.

HOUSTON APPOINTED ASSISTANT FIELD DIRECTOR

Arvold F. Houston, Jr., a graduate of FSU, has accepted assignment as an assistant field director in the American Red Cross service at military installations. Houston recently received the rank of 1st Lieutenant and will be posted for duty at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Fishing Trip, Dance Provided For Fourth of July Weekend

For the many students who will remain on campus for the Fourth of July week-end the Summer Recreation calendar provides a number of recreational opportunities. A deep sea fishing trip will go out from the campus early Saturday and sail out into the Gulf of Mexico some forty or fifty miles for the deep sea grouper and other game fish. Jim Gause graduate assistant in the program will accompany the trip.

On Saturday evening the Student Center will be open and Mrs. Grace Bateman, social director, has announced that although the food service of the Center will not be operating the social program will continue with the G Bach orchestra playing from 9-12 p.m.

There will also be a double feature movie in the Music Auditorium, one a musical with familiar songs, the other the story of the President's Ladies which should be of interest to campus people because of the connection of the Tallahassee Girl with the Hermitage Andrew Jackson's home.

On Monday evening the Bowling League will play at 7:30 p.m. and there will be a watermelon cutting at the Reservation from 8-10 p.m. Bus will run from Westcott to the camp for those who desire transportation. Miss Ruth Dee will be in the camp as social hostess.

Beginning Tuesday, July 5th, campus people will have an opportunity to swim at Myers Park pool. Buses will run from Westcott at 4 and 4.30 p.m. and return to campus at 5 and 5.30 p.m. Myers pool is one of the beautiful city parks available to the public. The summer recreation program has scheduled late afternoon swims in order to be there as a time the pool may not be so crowded.

Miss Foster Attends AAUW As Delegate

Dr. Christine Foster, professor of physical education for women at Florida State University, is attending the biennial convention of the American Association of University Women in Los Angeles, June 27-July 1.

Miss Foster will attend the convention as the delegate of FSU. She was president of the Tallahassee Branch of AAUW in 1954 and was active in the work of the association in Tennessee, Georgia, Indiana and Virginia before coming to Florida in 1949.

Summer Stock Produces 'My Three Angels', Coming

My Three Angels watch Maree. Left to right are students in the 3 act comedy presented by Summer Stock: Carolyn Brown, Lee Hildman, Eb Thomas and John Anderson.

FSU Gym Team Member Killed

JACKSONVILLE — Robert Owens Sharpe, 18, a student at Florida State University, was killed yesterday afternoon when the motorcycle he was driving crashed into a car driven by Mrs. Violet M McKeithen of Jacksonville.

Sharpe was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Vincent's Hospital. His driver was also a student at the school, according to city patrolmen.

The son of Mr and Mrs. Grady B. Sharpe, 1456 E. Eighth St., Sharpe was a freshman at FSU during the 1954-55 school session.

A promising member of the FSU gymnastic team, he was active in the college Student Christian Association and had been selected to represent the Jacksonville YMCA at the Centennial Conference for Youth men to be held at Paris, France, next month.

He had been serving this summer as a counselor at the YMCA Camp Immokalee.

Dr. Hartley Price coach of

(Continued on Page 3)

"TV Is What People Make It" Flynn Tells Audience Of 300

"People will first have to be wakes known in order that they aware of what they want, in order to get what they want in television programming," stated Roy Flynn, Director of Radio and Television at Florida State University. He spoke on "Television and You" told an audience of more than 300 in the Music Hall on the FSU campus last night.

They will have to make their

Faculty Recital Features Sellers, Boer, Glotzbach

A Florida State University faculty recital featuring flute, piano and string quartet was presented last night in Opperman Music Hall.

The concert complimented the 300 high school members of the FSU summer Music Camp now in their second of five weeks' residence on campus.

Bertil Boer, flutist, offered Sonata in F Sharp by two movements by Telemann as the opening number. He was accompanied by Robert Glotzbach, pianist, and assisted by Owen Sellers.

Other flute selections presented by Boer and Glotzbach were Andante Pastorale by Taffanel and Pan and the Nymphs by Mouquet.

The Piano Quintet, Opus 34, by Brahms was presented by the faculty quartet and Edward Kilenyi, pianist, as the second half of the program. The quartet were Robert B.-dore, first violinist, Robert Stone, second violin, Eugene Crabb, viola, and Owen Sellers, violoncello.

After the recital guests were invited to a reception staged in the patio of the Music Building in honor of the concert's faculty artists. Mrs. Christine Wilson, counselor at Gilchrist Hall and the girls in the Music Camp assisted as hostesses.

Marcus Elected Girls' State Head

Joanie Marcus of Miami was elected governor of Girls' State today, succeeding outgoing Governor Arlene Shahaty of Miami.

The 270 high school girls serving on the campus of Florida State University, chose Miss Marcus, the Nationalist Party candidate for the top office in a close contested race over Kathleen Burton, the Federalist candidate.

The Nationalist Party also elected the chief justice and two associate justices, while the Federalist Party swept all the other offices.

Elected chief justice of Girls' State Supreme Court was Debbie Sears. Associate justices chosen were Sara Lee Ward, Miami; Jo Deane Cates, Roberta Ashmore, Martha Sharp and Ava Moore Jane Collins, daughter of Florida's Governor LeRoy Collins, was elected secretary of state.

Others elected were Cyrenus Williams, attorney-general, Emily Johnson comptroller, Elaine Timmons, superintendent of public instruction; Berlie Nipper, commissioner of agriculture, and Amelia White, state treasurer.

Girls' State, sponsored annually by the American Legion Auxiliary, is aimed at stimulating a meeting practical experience in the working of government.

Kellogg Awarded Science Grant

A $5,600 grant has been awarded to Dr. W. N. Kellogg, professor of psychology at Florida State University, by the National Science Foundation.

The award was made to Dr. Kellogg for one year's work in the continuation of his research in "Underwater acoustics with special reference to naval sonar. This work is jointly sponsored by the Foundation and the Office of Naval Research.

LIBRARY CLOSED THIS WEEKEND

The Library will be closed on July 2, 3, and 4 Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Cast Of Ten Present First Stock Play

The first of a series of three plays which the Department of Speech is to offer for the summer season will be presented on July 7 and 8 at 8:15 p.m. in the Augusta Conradi Theatre in the History Building. The play is the recent Broadway success "My 3 Angels" by Sam and Bella Spewack.

The cast of this production is composed of students registered for the new summer course which the Department of Speech is offering for the first time. Members of the cast are:

Felix Ducotel	Joe Hull
Emile Ducotel	Marjory Tindell
Marie Louise
Ducotel	Carolyn Brown
Mme. Parole	Lenea H. Bluey
Joseph	Lee Hildman
Jules	Eb Thomas
Alfred	John Anderson
Henri Trochard	G Goldstein
Paul	Max Erex
Lieutenant	Virgil Austin

Scenery and lighting are under the supervision of Mr. Charles L. Reimer. Costumes and makeup under the supervision of Mrs. Frances Levine.

Tickets will go on sale at 10 o'clock on the date of the production. Box office will be open from 10-5 and the nights of the productions from 7-8:15. Student rates will be available at 45¢ and general admission at 75¢.

The Christian Science Monitor describes the plot of one which "Exudes a welcome and refreshing air of humanity." Chapman of the New York News says "Engaging and pleasant preposterous comedy."

"My 3 Angels" tells how three bedmen—convicts in fact —befriend and avoid angels of a sadly harassed household. The scene is French Guiana a region where on Christmas day the temperature is usually down to 104 degrees, and where convicts can not only hire out but apparently do have a trysting back. The Means Plot of My 3 Angels" is compact as a cobra by a family in dire danger of having no roof over their head, on the way from France is a snarling cousin to oust them from the business he has botched. Along with the cousin is his cold-blooded nephew who has designs on Christmas for an heiress. The three angels—two of three murderers are third a swindler—take the visitors on. All three bedmen have sunny natures, warm hearts, clever hands, sleepless brains, all three are passionate believers in the robinhood of man.

Possessing every criminal attribute but the will to kill, these misfits aiaht in a Gallic CHRISTMAS SPIRIT, where it is simpler to bump Scrooge off than convert him.

SIGMA TAU DELTA ELECTS OFFICERS

Sigma Tau Delta Professional English Honorary at FSU, announced today the election of officers for the coming year.

They are Dawn Sharp, president; Gerald McBay, vice-president; Ruthie Henshaw, secretary; and Taylor Littleton, treasurer. Dr. Harold Perry Professor of English, is the faculty advisor for the group.

Collegians Not Among Leon County's Juvenile Delinquents

By ROCK PAYNE

Florida State University students make little or no contribution to juvenile delinquency in Leon County

Mrs. C. Tully, counselor and juvenile court advisor, said she could think of none in a year which single university students were contributors to delinquency and had handled several cases involving children of students.

Guest speaker Monday afternoon in the class of Dr. Ernest Prescott of Juvenile Delinquency, conducted by Dr. Vernon Fox of the School of Social Welfare, Mrs. Tully indicated that most cases involving college or university students were primarily a result of neglect and finance. Most of these cases followed closely after the war when so many servicemen entered school, she said.

Counselor Tully stated that many children in the impersonal society of today were called delinquent when, by her opinion, they were not delinquent at all.

"Why, a boy just can't even steal a watermelon anymore," she remarked, "without ending up as a near criminal. He would be hauled in for Kindred, as we say in Florida."

Many of the summer school students in the social welfare classes are teachers or others in close daily contact with children. Mrs. Tully advised them to "always remember that you were once a child. Please always remember that."

She further advised the policemen present to be sure to have a natural self Talk like the people you work with and they'll understand you."

Telling of the many juvenile cases she handled in Leon County, Mrs. Tully emphasized in parental neglect one of the big factors leading to delinquency among children.

"Children are going to get attention one way or another even if it's attention on the police blotter," said. "Most children don't mind one bit going to court. Same the them just love it."

Mrs. Tully handles both white and Negro juvenile cases in Leon County. She said the juvenile delinquency rate was a little higher among white children.

She said there was more delinquency today because of an increase in population but that the rate of delinquency was no higher than in previous years.

After her talk the class was opened for discussion and broke down to smaller groups of confidential discussion.

Far Eastern International Situation Similar Century Ago, Dr. Lensen

The international situation in the Far East in regard to Japan today in a sense is very similar to that of a century ago believes Dr. Georee A. Lensen, assistant professor of history at Florida State University.

In Dr. Lensen's latest book

Dr. George A. Lensen, holds over his recent book, "Russia's Japan Expedit on of 1852 to 1855" which will be published this month.

"Russia's Japan Expedition of 1852 to 1855", published this month by the University of Florida Press, a strong United States and Russia are now competing for control of Japan, which is unable to resist this pressure militarily and has almost exclusively on diplomatic weapons.

"The situation of a century ago is similar in that both Russia and the U. S. are attempting to get favorite position in Japan and the Japanese diplomats are taking advantage of this by playing one against the other," the history professor said in an interview.

"Although this does not mean that Japan is about to embark on lining up with Russia against the U. S.," he added, "the policies followed by Japan a century ago 100 years ago toward the U. S. and Russia could be of great help, particularly, because at this moment Russia and Japanese negotiators in London are trying to come to terms with each other."

Dr. Lensen pointed out that even though the U. S. since World War II has done very much for Japan economically, the Japanese feel the Russians today have much to offer.

"The Japanese would like to get back some of the territory, such as the Kuile Islands, which the Russians have occupied—one of the islands that Japan claims they negotiated 100 years ago," he said.

While the story of the American Japan Expedition under the command of Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry has been told many times, that of Russia's Japan Expedition under Vice Admiral Evfimii Vasilyich Putiatin is little known in the West.

"Russia's Japan Expedition of 1852 to 1855" is the first book-length account of the expedition by which Russia was competing with Britain, U.S. to procure diplomatic and commercial relations with Japan.

The book reconstructs the activities of the Russian expedition on the basis of diaries, reports and letters in Japanese, Chinese and Russian, as well as of additional material in German and French.

Included in the narrative is a description of the Russian Japan policy of the first treaty between Japan and Russia.

Among the illustrations for the book are copies of original paintings of the actual scenes of the negotiations.. The inded painstakes were employed in locating the Japanese paper by a Japanese artist for use by Dr. Lensen.

Dr. Lensen holds an A. B. degree from Columbia College and has M. A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago and Japanese at Columbia University.

During World War II Dr. Lensen served as a United States Army intelligence officer in India, China and Japan and two months in Tokyo.

Dr. Lensen is advisor of the Florida Peace Corps at FSU. In his research he utilizes original sources in Japanese, Chinese, Russian, French, German, Spanish, Latin and English.

"Flastarave" And "Seminole" Available

Mr. J. L. Rider has a 1933 "Flastaxone", volume twenty, in good condition and a "Seminole" of 1934 from the University of Florida if anyone is interested.

Mr. Rider may be contacted at 1006 Ann St., Montgomery, Alabama.

Women's Rules Need Revisions

Dav thup check-in hours for women should be lengthened during the Summer Session. Many students wanting relaxation take off for Alligator Point, St. Marks or other areas labeled "coast". Sometimes picnic suppers are taken or hot-dogs, hamburgers or flounders purchased or gigged. After a swim and a nap on the beach, the stomach starts feeling empty.

A person can't prepare and cook supper on the beach, starting at 5 or 6 in the late afternoon, eat, and then signin the dorm by 7 p.m. (Unless indigestion is involved) A reason given for the early sign-in: It's not right for a girl to be out-of-town after dark! At 7 it isn't dark yet. Even an extra hour would solve the problem of the car race back to Tallahassee which endangers lives and limbs.

Closing hours for The Reservation should also be extended. Groups find it difficult to serve supper, eat, clean up, and leave the camp before closing time. (Another indigestion case. The soda manufacturers must be making money in Tally.) The Reservation, with no without water, should serve the students and their needs.

Track Credit Maybe?

Half credits in track should be added to the records of students whose classes are far apart. Students are late for roll call in classes, must leave their previous class early and nearly pass out from the heat of running to and from classes in steaming weather.

For the last few years, bus schedules have been identical. No one, it's assumed, has bothered to rearrange bus schedules to meet class schedules, conditions, traffic or the amount of students needing transportation at specific times during the day.

More buses should be waiting for students in central stations to help them get to classes in outlying buildings, geology, arts or new Administration Annex. There is no wonder that Florida State has a traffic problem, when cars are essential in making classes on time and in a reasonable state of health to participate in discussion without panting from the recent workout. There has been rumor of limiting cars to upperclassmen. This might help the traffic problem somewhat but what's a poor "frosh" going to do, if he must run from the Science building to the geology building (See Letter to Editor). Adequate transportation must be provided. Only by campus buses will students be coerced into leaving their cars at home or parking them off campus.

Apathy Revealed

(ACP)—A psychology research poll taken before the University of Colorado student elections revealed that 847 students had voted for two non-existent candidates.

In addition, the tests showed that students definitely were swayed in their opinions by percentage reports and that a non-existent candidate with a common familiar name of "Stevens" was an overwhelming favorite over the equally fictitious "Mr. Pomryn."

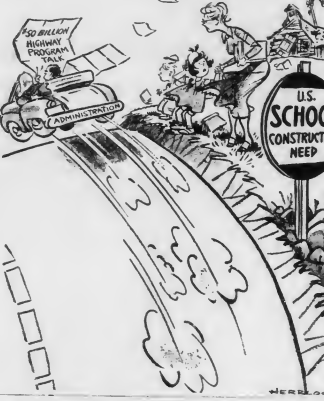
The poll was conducted by Marvin N. Nachman, assistant professor of psychology, and the results could indicate apathy of voters not only on campuses, but in regional and national elections as well.

Here's how it worked, as reported by the Colorado Daily Boulder:

Sample ballots were distributed among 555 students, asking them to select two preferences between actual ASUC candidates and two fictitious names, the fictitious names. The actual students were Fletcher and Watts; the fabricated candidates were Stevens and Pomryn.

On each sample ballot was this explanation: "We are interested in week-to-week changes in student opinion. The results of the first week's poll (which actually was never released) for these positions were as follows on the ballot ..." The ballot then listed imaginary percentage figures beside each candidate's name.

The experiment showed a marked influence was made on student voters by the fictitious percentage figures. For example, on one set of ballots Fletcher was shown to have had "62 per cent" of the votes from "the previous week." and as a result he accrued 60 per cent of the votes on the dummy ballot. On another set of ballots, however, Fletcher was shown to have had only "38 per cent" of the "previous week's total," and the students passed him in favor of another candidate.



To see whether names had any influence, the psychologist chose the common name of Stevens and the unusual name of Pomryn for their fictitious candidates. Stevens was an overwhelming favorite.

Only eight of the 555 students involved in the test discovered the two dummy names.

"As you see, Biss Latour, when you coma in lata you disturb the whola elasa."

"They're Going By Awfully Fast, Aren't They?"

'To Walk Or Not To Walk' That Causes The Congestion

By RAY HEMANN

"To walk or not to walk, that is the question . . ." On the campus and in the immediate surrounding city streets and parking lots there are approximately 1100 parking places to accomodate a total of 2709 registered automobiles and next year there should be even more automobiles on the campus. Last week I wrote about the problem of the students, faculty and staff members can do to help ease the problem temporarily while steps are being taken to correct the problem permanently. This week I would like to give a few possible answers to the problem.

The most apparent solution to the parking problem but one the administration will probably steer clear of if at all possible is that of ripping up some of the lawns and making parking lots out of them. Although this would solve the problem, I think there are some other methods which would be just as effective and still leave the campus intact.

One of these other methods would be to narrow Landis Green by about five feet on each side thus allowing angle parking. This would allow a car every twice as many cars to park in that area and still it wouldn't narrow the street. If the street that goes past the three freshmen women's dormitories was made a one way street then angle parking could be used on one side of the street and parallel parking on the other.

Still another solution would be to prevent certain faculty and staff members who have their cars parked all day from parking on the campus or in any of the campus parking lots. This might cause some hard feelings because of the danger walk to the office, but it would greatly relieve the congestion on campus.

A variation of this latter method that is a little more complex but has been proven successful on several campuses around the country is that of having some parking by noted parking, only those individuals who had to move their cars frequently and were running from one place to the next all day would be permitted to park in the immediate areas surrounding the administration building and some of the class room buildings. People who have to drive to work or class, but who do not have to move their cars very often during the day would be required to park in some of the more remote places on the campus and in other of the campus parking lots and city streets immediately adjacent to the campus. Still others, who live fairly close to the campus and who do not have to change clothes or go anywhere in a hurry would be encouraged to park on campus. Windshield stickers of different colors could be provided, so there could be no mistake about which zone a car is entitled to park in.

A zoning method of parking would probably cause a lot of hard feelings first and has met with resentment from those who couldn't park on the campus, but with strict enforcement it could be made to work.

These are only a few of the solution to the problem, but they would be a step to help the situation until something better can be done. With traffic increasing every year and with three new buildings that will soon direct a major part of the traffic to an area where there are very few parking places something must be done. If not an improvement on the parking space then a way to get three cars into one space should be voiced. Whatever the solution, it is bound to be an improvement over the present situation.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor,

Through the process of trial and error I have found that it is practically impossible to get from the fourth floor of the Science building to the Geology building in ten minutes. I have also found it is a difficult feat for most of the other students who are dumped on their only means of transportation to journey from one end of the campus to the other in the given length of time, with the exception of a handful of collegiate heroes.

The culmination of this theory brings a question to mind: why can't the campus buses be synchronized with the class bells? Just as the east campus classes are out the bus is just pulling in from the Student Center for the fifteen minute wait. The buses therefore, have few riders, and the students are rewarded on their races from one class to another. Action, please!

AN IRATE STUDENT.

The Paint Is

Former Editor Hears Truman

By BOB FOLSON

On Friday evening in the San Francisco Opera House and heard Harry S. Truman speak at the United Nations' tenth anniversary. It was one of the high points of this week's commencement session, a man returning who had played a major part in the 10-year rote of the UN. The ex-president looked in good health, and received a tremendous standing ovation amidst cries of bravo. He reaffirmed his faith in the United Nations, and said it was "the best hope of mankind for deliverance from mutual destruction."

Earlier in the afternoon, Secretary of State Dulles spoke on the cold war, and said one method of ending it would be to observe the UN Charter The next day I found the Hearst papers playing their familiar Mr. Dulles was splashed across five column headlines. Mr. Truman a one-column twoline head below the fold. Actually it was difficult to find.

The West Coast is saturated with Hearst newspapers, with some cities, like San Francisco, that have two papers, a morning and afternoon. Of these lines aren't Hearst on the coast are Republican. The one-party press in some of the campaign talks the N.Y. Times' James Reston who tried recently to analyze this myth which Time magazine is generously reprinted. would be a good dissertation in itself.

There is a rather large percentage of Catholics in San Francisco and the ones I've talked to are most distressed by the activities of Argentine Dictator Juan Peron. Their dislike for this dictator is heightened at the moment because of his attacks on the Catholic Church, but this career as Peron didn't do any of these individuals any good until now They all seem to forget what happened before That all Peron had gained the support, and as a matter of fact was the open defender of the Church, fined as was Franco in Spain, and Dollfuss in Austria He's all the reported land reforms, and other seemingly humanitarian acts. Peron is a Fascist, and no matter until he begins his attack on the Church do we hear loud outcries from American Catholic it.

THE SUMMER FLAMBEAU

Published by the students of Florida State University Tallahassee each Thursday during the Summer Session.

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Editor

Managing Editor — Pat Brady
Sports Editor — Bob Gutting
Movies — Wanda Sue Owens
Church News — Virgil Austin

RAYMOND G. HEMANN—Business Mgr.

Advertising Mgr. — James Van Middlesworth
Exchange — Joan Halford
Photographer — Rodger Herndon
Circulation — Sam Alderman

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service 420 Madison Ave. New York Offices: 211, 213 Lonymire Bldg.
Member: Associated College Press, Intercollegiate Press
Phone 2-8066, extension 6821, 4624

The Dissenter

Has The United Nations Failed?

By MARTIN DUCKMAN

Editor's Note: Columns do not necessarily contain University or the paper's opinions.

In this, the tenth anniversary of the United Nations, can we say the organization has failed?

The United Nations has not failed, even though its acknowledged goal is world peace The objective has not yet been securely attained, but the short word for this is not "failure"—it is "effort."

At the present, the future of the United Nations appears bright.

The Kremlin and its subjects don't want a war, unless they are insane instead of cunning. Victory war would mean the end of civilisation—capitalist and Communist alike.

So rather than destroy themselves, the Reds are turning toward the United Nations as an organisation within which they and we can coexist.

More than likely they would also welcome the services the UN can provide—educational, health, social and cultural facilities.

Let us not forget the peoples who are ruled by imperialistic Communistic governments. We would like to see them free. but we need not commit ourselves to a terrible war to achieve this end. Humanity is eternal—dictators die. . . .

Within this country there is an obnoxious faction which has a direct threat to the UN. They are in the Florida Legislature under the names of Segregation, Peterson and Sloughfox, among others. They speak for the American Legion. They form into "citizens committees." They wallow in the hatred preached by fascists like Gerald L. K. Smith.

Extreme words? Not when you consider such things as the Anti-UNESCO bill and further accusations that the UN is Communist, out to subvert the U. S. Constitution and make us all obey some man in a far-off country.

To begin, mankind is not ready for any sort of world government. When hatred and jealousy are still the prevailing human emotions, individual nations must exist so that the next fellow can be different.

Here is what the UN does to make itself anathema to the isolationists:

It believes in only one race—the human race. It works for the good of all people. It does not acknowledge any country supreme—there is no "My country is in the right whether right or wrong" attitude Men of color are not treated as "second class" citizens. Its funds are not spent where collected, but where needed.

This some cannot tolerate

Let them try to destroy the UN Let them waste their inventive spare. A Pretzel then to spatter it with epithets. They have the right to speak.

As long as there are men who believe that peace must be brought about through mutual desire and action; who believe that there should be a brotherkeeper; who acknowledge a few fundamental human rights for all men, regardless of race as to have fought, the UN will not be allowed to die.

Alabaster II

Let The Words Die Undistorted

By JAYLEEN ROBERTSON

This column is dedicated to the cliche-type, slogan-type, and mouth-type phrases which are not practice what he preaches.

For the sage uttering generalities garnered from our forefather's knee, are becoming cliches.

Look for a moment at the terms—democracy, equality, and freedom. Do these reveal life, or one of 23 daily news stories reported? Are these expressions "deadlock" in the State legislature? Are any of these terms recognizable as definitions, or "alone applicable? I think not

Or how about life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness? A glance around a majority of college campuses does reveal life, and the pursuit of happiness But what are these without the link. Does one live happily to the fear of being taken to task for not being a member of the communism, socialism, United Nations and World Government, or atheism—regardless of their content? How about freedom to apologize in today's classrooms before using the word "God"?

At this point, one out of every five people who read this column are thinking—"Why should I read further—it's just another gripe. Everybody has it!" The answer is yes, but the question is—for how long? Day by day, every liberty is changing its meaning. It has always been subject to qualification, but now these qualifications are so many that they can be qualifications existed without destroying liberty itself? Is the doctrine of "rugged individualism" and "free competition" dead, and can we live in the platitude—government of the people by the people, and for the people But, here is the mockery of socialism of the average American who is by nature competitive, with his personalities, but with the abstraction of free, being set forth by the "for and of" people.

People of the U S would overtolerate Hitler, Stalin, or a Mussolini to be born here if the American spirit of liberty ceased to conceive with that of suppression and dictatorship. The same factors here that made the free world is already fighting. If we fill Pandora's box with the present day unrecognizables, and so allow them to grow and ripen in the form of a new goodbye the curious who is implied meaning.

Neither can we fill the box with pleasant-sounding phrases hoping that anyone believes in them as most empty shells for their grandiose meanings.

Words which have been a part of us for centuries too exactly are losing hands as they hit the floor.

When we cease to mean words in some connote, let us not continue promise ourselves not to use definitions—let the words die. Undistorted and undefiled for a new, factual vocabulary to take them.

Political Prognasticats Picking

Beyond The Gates

By ORCHID ALONSO

Summer Session Correspondent

East Coast Politicians have come up with a very edifying and most intelligent observation this year that the governor from Tallahassee has LeRoy Collins as a candidate to succeed himself. Now, Collins will say neither yes nor no. They will say neither yes nor no. They will say neither yes nor no. LeRoy gives the word, everyone will know for sure. Don't know what the state would do without the help and advice of our astute political prognosticats.

The bitter quarrel of with many okays conveners Florida's ex-governor Fuller Warren, Fuller, you remember, purchased an general sales tax, but signed into law a limited sales tax. Warren was the first governor who hooked his Cadillac and governmental powers to refused to accept his pay until his program had cleared the state of the almost impossible task it had fallen into.

Then a very-willing game will Fuller run for Governor? Or rather, Fuller is, vs. Fuller isn't. Advertising for the former say why else the weekly TV appearances, Sunday tours, and catering to the Dade County Unions (Hotel workers: Fuller represented the workers in recent Supreme Court Hearing on picketing.)

Those who either know Fuller well or at least think they can ably and legitimately sift through reason and logic for no answer. Insist he will not be a candidate. At least not now. "Last he may be drafted, but his actions right now are non campaign actions, but will paid public relations.

They claim that the law firm which employs Fuller has gotten enough business from Warren's popularity to warrant him a salary that can rent a suite of offices at $1,000 per week. The friends claim that Warren's salary is not paid on the basis of his being the best lawyer in North America, but on the grounds that he can bring in business. Besides, word from Jacksonville (where brother Julian Warren is in politics) claims that Fuller is "content with his Dade county home".

It's a safe bet to be on any side of the fence in this battle. Warren can run, is probably not planning on it but his actions will assure him of a fighting chance.

Church and State

Church and state should separate, but the way of the Person is not the way to separate them.

Person, a ruthless dictator, loved the typical tyrant's pattern of attacking anything greater than himself.

Chasers in political structure such as the divorce of religion from government, must be destroyed immediately. Schism (i.e., suppression, attack, censorship, burials, rioting and looting) is hardly demorable.

I don't agree with Catholicism as a religion, but I will defend a man's right to be a Catholic without fear. I will seek to separate church and state—but not with a meat cleaver.

Churches were burned in Argentina Peron's government banned on the "Communist" Adolf Hitler did the same. Churches burned the Reichstag and took power in the aftermath of the fire that he created.

The people of Argentina are mitted when Peron massacred the independent newspaper La Prensa When this foul creature struck at their religion the forces, they would take on more.

They arose. They were put down, true, but Peron is not dead. At once was Peron to Lucero and the arms' hold power for him. some believe that Lucero has the power to selves.

A military dictatorship is better than an individual tyrany, but Lucero will not dare as far as Peron. Perhaps today democracy will come to Argentina.

"I think tha trouble with most of our Freshmen is that ih' high schools just aren't teaching them to read."

FSU SHORTS

nal has been given, the academic council held its monthly governor, and his money in elections will begin just to thing that will change Dade's mind about electing a homosexual.

FSU SHORTS DEPT. Wonder if there is a course in Public Administration or Labor laws being taught as FSU fills concrete. The very mixed up laboratory session right on campus during the mornings must be finished within a certain date, or somebody's going to be hard-earned shirt—off back

OH COME, NOW, SIR.

THINK MAGIC

(ACP)—From the Kansas State Collegian's college newspaper Collegian, in a long and serious article entitled "Are You a Thinker?" we find this opening paragraph:

"There's a four letter word for the meaning of which there is no formula or concrete in the mind, to refer to the matter in question. The word is THINK

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

The success has once again applied to Florida State generally and very aptly, I also add, by the State legislature.

I am referring to the recent appropriations given to the state supported schools for their athletic program.

As could be expected, the University of Florida was given the largest share in this arrangement due to that schools higher status. This action is justified but the lower scholarship appropriation for FSU is no big snort of a catastrophe, as is the lesser sports on campus are concerned.

Coach Nugent has built a fine team the short time he has been here and in all probability will continue to do so as long as he can get the material to work with. The tightening of scholarships will mean a reduction in power.

As Coach Nugent will not have to worry too much True, he will be faced with a smaller squad but he will probably get a larger percentage of the talent found.

By talent that really will be the strain are the smaller sports such as swimming, track, tennis, and volleyball. Those teams, that have consistently put on a fine performance and brought recognition to FSU throughout the country, will be so hampered as to not prove a threat in competition if they do not cease to function all together.

In all fairness it should be pointed out that while the football squad usually is of prime importance in the modern college, the other athletic teams have gone around the country in competition building up a name for the school.

In recent years Coach Hartley Price's famed Seminole gymnasia have won five National titles in competition in Los Angeles, Chicago and Syracuse, New York. During this same period, three members of the team have been Olympic members and also participated in the Pan American Olympic games in Mexico City.

Coach Jimmy Suits' mermen have been undefeated in competition in three years, an enviable record indeed, and one of his boys traveled to the recent NCAA swimming meet in Ohio.

The volleyball team has been especially active in the small sport category, and last May brought home the NCAA volleyball title that they fought so hard to win in Norman, Oklahoma. Three members of this team were named to the United States Olympic Volleyball Association's All-American squad.

Coach Veller's golf club also turned in a fine performance winning 10 of all dual starts. Considering the cut in athletic funds, the sports picture may become glum.

Many people are of the opinion that if the only reason an athlete was given an athletic tuition requirements, is imperative for many of the athletes here that is that really shows this up is the gym team. In the last three years, only two members have been from the Florida, the rest coming from New Jersey Pennsylvania, and Illinois and even from as far away as Colorado.

These men are not motivated by money, but want to compete as directed by the people who wanting of the out of state tuition, they could ill-afford to come here.

Another thing to be taken into consideration is the competition offered by other schools. If an athlete is offered a better deal at one school than he is at another, there is little doubt what his decision will be. The only way to get around this is to be able to at least be on the same footing as other schools when it comes to dishing out the scholarships.

After all, when in Rome, do as the Romans do

Sports Log

Monday, July 4
7:30 pm. Bowling Summer Recreation League Bowling alleys located in Governor's Gym.

Tuesday, July 5
7:30 pm. Badminton. Summer Recreation Tourney Game room. Women's gym.

Wednesday, July 8
7:30 pm. Softball. Summer Recreation League Softball diamond located adjacent to baseball diamond. Softer than mushmaccer shops on Call Street

Thursday, July 7
Make reservations by 4:00 pm. for deep sea fishing trip on Saturday. Reservations may be made at Business Office, 208 Wescott $5.00 per person

Saturday, July 9
6:45 a.m. Deep sea fishing trip leaving from St. Marks Harbor pier at 7:00 am. Those persons desiring transportation are requested to meet at the Recreation's office in Landis Hall at 6:00 am. Those persons furnishing their own transportation should be at St. Marks pier by 6:45 am.

Don't Wash Your Pretty Cotton Dresses at Home!

HEARD ABOUT THE SANITONE DRY CLEANER'S NEW "COTTON CLINIC"?

YES—HE'S THE ONLY ONE WHO GUARANTEES COTTON DRESSES WILL LOOK CRISP AND SMART AGAIN!

SANITONE

• Spots gone
• Perspiration removed
• Fabric "body" restored
• Colors and pattems brightened

You'll be amazed at the difference in your pretty cottons after our new secret treatment. They'll come back looking and feeling "new"—again, perfectly pressed. Call today!

SUPERIOR CLEANERS
PICK-UP AND DELIVERY SERVICE
308 S. Monroe
Dial 2-0532
Just Across the Street From Sears

at yours TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

Thurs., Fri., Sat.
"LOVE ME OR LEAVE ME"
with DORIS DAY and JAMES CAGNEY
Sun., Mon., Tues.
"THE MAGNIFICENT MATADOR" with MAUREEN O'HARA and ANTHONY QUINN

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

Thurs., Fri., Sat.
"TWELVE O'CLOCK HIGH"
with GREGORY PECK PLUS
"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"
Sun. & Mon.
"THE AFRICAN QUEEN"
with HUMPHREY BOGART & KATHARINE HEPBURN

STATE

Thurs., Fri., Sat.
WALT DISNEY'S
"THE LIVING DESERT"
Sun., Mon., Tues.
"TOP OF THE WORLD"
with DALE ROBERTSON and EVELYN KEYES

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

Thurs., Fri., Sat.
"JOHNNY DARK"
with TONY CURTIS PLUS
"STRAWBERRY ROAN"
Sun. & Mon.
"SUSAN SLEPT HERE"
with DICK POWELL and DEBBIE REYNOLDS

The Team—Members of the 1954-55 Seminole team who beat Mississippi Southern to win a trip to the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas. Are such teams due to extinction due to cuts in the athletic fund?

Coach Don Veller in happier days surrounded by other coaches. The reduction in scholarships could well spell the finish to his prize linksmen.

'55 Girls' State Delegations At FSU For Week

The ninth annual Girl's State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, is getting established its mytnical 49th State of Seminole at FSU

They were officially registered by Mrs. Pearl Adams, department secretary of the auxiliary, in Jennie Murphree Hall where they will live a full week. Large delegations of these two hundred and seventy outstanding senior high school girls represent all sections of Florida.

Roger Cuter of the Florida State Highway Patrol has been assigned to Girls State as official escort during the week of session.

INAUGURAL BALL

The girls were honored by Boys State at an inaugural ball in the Sunanee Room, June 24, but the next day they settled down to learning about democratic government in all state and local levels. The FSU School of Public Administration is cooperating on giving instruction.

Mrs. L. S. Marshall presided as director at the opening meeting in Opperman Hall where the girls were greeted by Dr. Doak S. Campbell president of FSU, Mrs. Linder Fort, former auxiliary department president; Joe Jenkins, former commander of the department; and G. H. Wyman, department chairman for the 1955 Girl's State

The girls have been officially divided into two parties, Nationalists and Federalists, electing their party chairmen and setting up five-plank party platforms.

Their state is set up into twelve cities and six counties Cities are Ocala, Ocoala, Ormeo, Palatka, Immokalee Okaloe, Ocee, Olustee, Wauchula, Okeechobee, Alachua and Manatee. Counties are Apalachicola, Suwannee, St. Johns, Miami, Homosassa, and Kissimee

Member Killed

(Continued from Page 1)

the FSU gymnastic team, said that Sharpe had the potential ability to be one of the best gymnastically as the members of the Olympic Games gym team

He was a winner of the Georgia AAU competitive title and winner of the All-American Junior Florida AAU title He was to have been general chairman of the FSU Gymkana show next year, a high honor for a sophomore member of the gymnastics team to hold at FSU.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. Seabole is in charge of arrangements.

Carroll Elected Veep In Orchestra League

Jack Carroll, manager of the Toledo, Ohio, Symphony Orchestra and former member of the music faculty at FSU was elected vice-president of the American Symphony Orchestra League at the annual national convention of the League held recently in Evansville, Indiana.

During the past year Carroll has been a member of the Board of Directors of the League, a non-profit association of symphony orchestras in the United States and Canada

He also served as chairman of the managers' workshop for the convention, which was attended by five hundred conductors, managers, musicians and members of symphony women's association.

FAIVER'S RESTAURANT

SPECIAL ON TUESDAYS

9" PIZZA PIES .85

PIZZABURGERS .35

CURB SERVICE
1312 W. TENN.

AIR-CONDITIONED DINING ROOM

Let's Face It

NAACP De-Segregation Action?

By JIMMY SOLAS

Most of the South let out a sigh of relief when the Supreme Court handed down it's ruling on the implementation of last year's decision outlawing segregation The ruling followed closely along the lines recommended by Florida's Attorney General Richard Ervin by allowing for gradual de-segregation and refusing to set a date by which total de-segregation must be accomplished. It was probably the best ruling that the Southern states could possibly have hoped for, and surprised many Southern leaders by the large amount of leeway allowed the states in carrying out the court's orders.

However, the Court held that the states must accomplish desegregation as quickly as local conditions would allow. Most Southern states will attempt to postpone de-segregation, hiding behind this "local conditions" term. But with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People already sworn to use the county systems to bring about immediate de-segregation, it is doubtful that the states will be able to use local conditions as an excuse for long . . . especially if they are not able to show the courts they have started work on the problem . . . and most of them won't be able to.

Should the courts allow the states to use this "local conditions" clause in relation to post-secondary schools, it is extremely improbable that the clause can be used to hinder the desegregation process in state institutions of higher learning. Therefore, it is most likely only a matter of weeks before the NAACP will file suits in Florida courts to force our state universities to open their enrollment to Negro students.

The administrations and students of both universities might as well open their eyes to these facts. Only the stupid and the dreamers can hope for the possibility there will be no such cases Past actions of the NAACP prove that they will press their advantage in every way. And should anyone hope that such cases would result in a favorable ruling for pro-segregation forces because they would be tried before southern judges, he must remember that in the event such a ruling was made the case would continue to be appealed until it reached a court sympathetic to de-segregation views.

Nothing will be accomplished by the universities or the students playing ostrich and hiding their heads in the sand . . . pretending that no such problem exists. It does. It is a reality that must be faced and the sooner the better if anything is to be done to prepare for de-segregation, to make the process easier for colored and white alike.

It cannot offer a ready made solution as to how this can be accomplished, but one question does loom large in my thoughts will my generation be great enough to accomplish de-segregation peacefully?

ELI ROBERTS
SINCLAIR STATION
THIS WEEK ONLY
LUBRICATION JOBS 75c
WITH OIL CHANGE
CLIP THIS COUPON
1 Block North of FSU on Copeland

"DINE IN AIR CONDITIONED COMFORT"

Joe's SPAGHETTI HOUSE

Specializing In

- ITALIAN SPAGHETTI
- WESTERN STEAKS
- FRIED CHICKEN
- SEA FOODS

Private Dining Rooms for Banquets and Parties Large, New Banquet Room

Dial 2-9131

1¼ Miles East of N. Monroe St
East Jacksonville Hwy.

Survey Aid Exam Given

A Civil Service examination for Cartographic Survey Aid has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., for filling positions paying from $2,400 to $4,205 a year in the U. S Coast and Geodetic Survey. Jobs are located with most field units operating throughout the United States. However persons unwilling to travel almost continuously should not apply for this examination, since unit location is frequently changed.

Applicants may qualify on the basis of appropriate experience or education or a combination of such experience and education without a written examination. For jobs paying $3,175 and above a part of the experience must have been in specialized field survey work. The agency desires only men for these positions.

Applications will be accepted until further notice and must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Coast and Geodetic Survey, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from many post offices throughout the country or from the U S Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. A bulletin is available at the Flambeau office on the second floor of Longmire.

MIAMI STUDENTS IN-FORMATION REQUESTED

Summer students from the Miami area are requested to send their names, addresses and college activities to The Summer Flambeau office, care of Mary Elizabeth King in Longmire 211.

College Queen Contest Open To Summer School Students

College girls, between the ages of seventeen, and twenty-four years of age, are invited to enter the first annual National College Queen Contest, announced the contest committee. Contestants must be undergraduate students attending summer school of colleges either in the state of Florida or their home states.

The purpose of the contest, sponsored by the City of Asbury Park, is to select and crown the most outstanding and all-around representative college girl in the nation. Entrants must fill out information sheets and in the story blank forms, pertaining to personal background, college activities, scholastic attainments, extra curricular accomplishments, hobbies, and sports. Snapshots or photographs, and an original essay of two hundred and fifty words or less on the subject "What College Education Means To Me", are also required.

After entries are received, contestants receive a questionnaire form which they fill out at Asbury Park. Judges will represent avanta, historical topics, sports, scholastic subjects, home economics, fashion, and local questions.

The Youth Research Institute of New York City, an organization devoted to survey and research in the college age bracket, is the official screening and marking body for the contest.

Round Trip Transportation

Each of the forty-eight state college queen finalists competing in the national grand finals in September will receive round trip transportation. While in Asbury Park, the finalists will be guests of the city and will be housed at leading beachfront hotels that are also the competition. They will be under the supervision of the Asbury Park Univeen pageant women's Club, official hostesses to the contestants.

Prior to their arrival, groups of state winners will stop off in New York City where they will participate in a tour function during the city's annual Summer Festival celebration They will also appear as guests on several coast - to - coast television programs Accompanied by their assigned hostesses, they will leave for Asbury Park in special charted busses, making sightseeing tour stops en route to the east coast.

Prizes Awarded

The National College Queen Winner at the grand finals will receive the 1955 National College queen trophy on stage at Asbury Park before the nationwide live and television newsreels, wire service and magazine photographers and reporters, as well as the thousand spectators. She will also receive $5,000.00 in prizes, scholarships, wardrobe of designer's apparel, jewelry and wrist watch, perfume, vacation tour of Florida, and a grand tour of Europe in the summer of 1956.

She also will receive modeling assignments which will not interfere with her school terms as well as personal appearances to earn finances for her further education. These assignments appear immediately after her crowning on the coast-to-coast NBC-TV network program, "The Ann Sothern Show" in New York where famed Bess Flowers will crown the girl. This "Cashmere Bouquet Girl" will introduce her. She will receive a wardrobe by Cashmere Bouquet courtesy of Colgate's Cashmere Bouquet.

A national board of authority judges will help select respective state and nationial college queens as well as the National College queen Mother and contest group at the grand finals The board is headed by Col Clarence E Lovejoy, noted educational author and counselor. Ern Westmore, famed Hollywood beauty authority, Bureau of Hollywood, photographer to the Stars, Lana Lapiska, movie film star, Candy Jones, beauty and fashion expert.

The entry blank forms and contest information can be obtained by writing to College Queen Contest Director, Convention Hall, Asbury Park. The grand finals of the contest will be held at Convention Hall September 9-11, 1955.

1947 CHEVROLET
New tires, radio and heater, Price $295.00 or highest offer. Phone 2-9745 or drop by 808 West St Augustine, 2 blocks south of Florida Hall.

50 million times a day at home, at work or while at play

There's nothing like a Coke

1. BRIGHT, RIGHT TASTE... tangy, bracing, ever-fresh.
2. FAST REFRESHMENT... a bit of energy for a wholesome little lift.

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY [illegible]-Cola Bottling Company
"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1950, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Sports Afield

By TED KESTING
(Editor, Sports Afield Magazine)

The smallmouth bass is not an easy fish to understand. Like the trout, he a exasperating and has a complicated personality. He's moody, super-sensitive, erratic, wholly unlike his big-mouthed cousin. In fact, it's unfortunate that most people have never had a chance to really acquainting how many experts who should know better talk about "black bass" as if they were one.

The smallmouth's environment is specialized. It is stark, severe, uncluttered, especially as compared to the lush pasture of the large-mouth. In an article in Sports Afield, Byron Dalrymple pictures the smallmouth as poised, shy controversial, while largemouth is the crude, hippy roustabout with few manners and less judgment.

The smallmouth may be considered predominantly northern. The smallmouth of waters are in southeastern Canada, New England and the Great Lakes region. The rest of the list of the largemouth lover of bly pads, weed beds and warm water, even though in actual range extends into Canada

Typical smallmouth water is a stream of moderate size with many deep holes, large rocks in it and along its banks and, clear and cold, gravel or rock bottom. This sounds like a trout stream, but it isn't. The smallmouth is seldom found in the same stream as trout. They're also found in some lakes—moderate size and depth, cold, clear, usually lacking in vegetation.

Here are a few simple rules for finding smallmouths: 1- Fish mid-depths first and most -five to 15 feet- with rocks somewhere in sight. 2- Don't hesitate to try deep water (down to 30 or more feet); for this use a fast-sinking lure. 3- Figure on smallmouths being in the shallows mainly in mid-spring and mid-fall. But fish the shallows also at night in midsummer. 4- In streams, in addition to spots behing boulders and along rock walls and deep ledges where currents sweep, fish the mouths of tributaries and also search closely for gravel bar that lie deep, ten feet or more 5- Where stream water is low and still, never overlook the choppy edge just outside the hard push of the current, nor the "island" of slick water in a riffle.

Dental Care Of Veterans Now Permanent Law

Dental outpatient care for vet erans, previously provided on a year-to-year basis under Congressional appropriations, now will be providing under permanent legislation signed by the President June 26, 1955.

Veterans Administration said the new law continues all present conditions for dental outpatient care except one.

The lone change in the new law (P. L. 83) removes the limitation previously required of two groups of wartime or Korean veterans applying for treatment: (1) those whose service-connected noncompensable dental conditions or disabilities resulted from combat wounds or service injuries, and (2) former prisoners of war with service - connected noncompensable dental conditions and disabilities.

In the past, these two groups of veterans had to apply for treatment within one year after discharge or separation from active service or by December 31, 1956, whichever was later. Under the new law, they may apply at any time.

Unchanged by the new law are eligible for outpatient dental care are the following groups of wartime veterans:

1. Those whose dental conditions or disabilities are service-connected and compensable in degree—that is, serious enough to rate 10 percent or more VA compensation—no time limit for applying and no limitation on the number of treatments furnished for these conditions or disabilities.

2. Those whose dental conditions or disabilities are service-connected, but not compensable in degree, which are shown to have been in existence at time of discharge or release from active service. These veterans must apply to VA for outpatient dental care within one year after discharge or release from active service. They may receive treatment only on a one-time completion basis, unless the treatment is found by VA to be unacceptable within the limitation of good professional standards.

3. Those having nonservice-connected dental conditions or disabilities which are found by VA to be directly related to and aggravating a service-connected condition or disability—no time limit for application and no limitation on number of dental treatments furnished.

4. Veterans of the Spanish-American War, including the Boxer Rebellion and the Philippine Insurrection—no time limit for application and no limitation on number of dental treatments furnished.

5. Disabled veterans of World War II and of the Korean conflict period who are training under the vocational rehabilitation acts—Public Laws 16 and 894—who need dental treatment in order to proceed in their training, or who are found to be eligible for outpatient dental care, must meet the applicable requirements of the foregoing groups and, in addition, must have been discharged for a disability incurred in line of duty in active service or are receiving VA compensation for a service-connected disability.

MILLER'S Cookery

Dine in a Comfortable Atmosphere

Complete Dinners From $1.50 up

Approved by AAA and Duncan Hines

LET US PLAN YOUR BANQUET OR LUNCHEON

Our Private Banquet Room has a Capacity of 100

TALLAHASSEE DINING ROOM

1630 N. Monroe Phone 2-3414

Mr. Bishop, Mgr.

Birthday cake is served at the Student Center each week for those whose birthday is soon. Left to right are: Mike Morelly, Mrs. G. Cone, Jack Terwilliger, James Cockeroft, Bill Daniel, past president of the University of Florida, and Mary Fenn Cawthon.

Music Camp Set Record This Year

FSU's 14th annual Music Camp, largest and oldest of its educational programs for high school students, is off to a running start.

Directed by Dr. Karl Kuerster of the School of Music with J. Davison Smith and Owen Sellers, the associate directors, the camp runs for five weeks, June 20-July 22.

It's enrollment has reached an all-time high this year of two hundred and ninety-one outstanding high school students, coming from all parts of Florida, Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, and Ohio. The number includes about fifty day students, but the rest are living on supervised university housing units. The girls are being housed in Gilchrist Hall and the boys in three adjacent fraternities on Woodward Drive.

Music campers, all interested in some field of music, are organized into six bands, one hundred and ten in one and one hundred in the other, a chorus of one hundred and thirty, an orchestra of sixty, a dance band of about thirty, a baton twirling class of sixty-four, and a drum major class of fifteen.

All musicampers are required to take formal music courses and from one to four hours a week of private lessons. Such activities as baton and drum majoring are optional.

The camp traditionally offers a number of free, public concerts.

CONCERTS TO BE GIVEN

These concerts will be given at 6:15 p.m. on July 3, July 10, and July 17 in Westcott Auditorium. A choral concert will be offered at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, July 13, and on July 20 at 8:15 p.m. at which the chorus will present an opera, "Lovina Sue," by Alec Wilder.

A banquet will climax the camp July 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Suwannee Room, followed by the final gala concert in Westcott Auditorium featuring performances by all organizations.

The program for the July concert to be presented in Opperman Music Hall at 8:15 p.m. in Summer Music Camp Gold Band

Summer Music Camp Band
Personnel
Flute
Jo Ann Morrison
Clarinet
Bass Clarinet
Saxophone
Trumpet
Trombone
Baritone
Tuba
Percussion
Piano
Bass
Guitar
Director

Summer Music Camp Concert Band
Personnel
Flute
Piccolo
Oboe
Bassoon
Clarinet
Bass Clarinet
Saxophone
Trumpet
Trombone
Baritone
Tuba
Percussion
Piano
Bass
Guitar
Director

Summer Music Camp Orchestra
Personnel
Violin
Viola
Cello
Bass
Flute
Oboe
Clarinet
Trumpet
Trombone
Percussion
Piano
Director

Seminole Slate

Today: June 30

Make reservations in business office for Deep Sea Fishing Trip Saturday.

6 th General Culture make up exam, required of all juniors or better, in Science.

Saturday, July 2

6:45 a.m. Fishing trip, leave from bath. directors office, Doak Hall.

8 p.m. Movie, amphitheatre, "Wait Until the Sun Shines Nellie," and "President's Lady."

Sunday, July 3

6:15 p.m. Music Camp band, and orchestra concert, Opperman Music Hall.

Monday, July 4

Bowling League

8-10 p.m. Watermelon cutting, Recreation Center.

Tuesday, July 5

11:30-2 p.m. Faculty luncheon Tropic Room, Student Center.

7:30-10 p.m. Swim trip. Movie pool. Buses leave from Westcott Adults 25c, children 15c.

7:30 p.m. Badminton, women's gym

7 p.m. School of Education Lecture Series, Mr. Sam Baptista and foreign students Opperman Music Hall

Wednesday, July 6

12:45-1 p.m. Ladies Union steel luncheon Mrs. Doak S. Campbell, official hostess. Tropby Room, Student Center.

7:30 p.m. Softball, lighted field by Women's Gym.

8:15 p.m. Artist Series, Reiman Trio, chamber music.

by Dirk Bibler

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"Are you reading ahead in the assignment again?"

AIR CONDITIONED
SILVER SLIPPER
Offers FSU Students and Faculty
10% Discount on Regular Dinners
Featuring
CHARCOAL BROILED STEAKS
SILVER SLIPPER
2000 S. MONROE
DIAL 2-4961 FOR RESERVATIONS

Income Raise Report Asked

Veterans and the widows and children of deceased veterans receiving pensions from Veterans Administration should report immediately any increase in income which would raise their annual income above the statutory limitations, announced H. P. Dickenshaw, manager of the Pass-a-Grille VA Regional Office.

To remain eligible for pensions under the law, according to Mr. Dickenshaw's, pensioners of World War I, World War II and of the Korean conflict may not have an annual income from other sources exceeding $1,400 without dependents, or $2,700 with a wife or one children.

Subject To Recovery

Later, if the person receiving the pension fails to notify VA promptly of an increase in income which raises his annual income above the statutory limit, payments will be discontinued retroactively to the first of the year. This creates an overpayment, Mr. Dickensheets said, and is subject to recovery by the Government. If the person receiving the pension notifies VA promptly of such an increase, payments will be discontinued as of the date the last payment was made and no overpayment will result.

Any VA office can explain for dividuals circumstances for pensions.

Mr. Dickensheets also extended two important warnings for veterans and dependents of deceased veterans who receive monthly checks. If they change their address, they promptly. Should notify the VA office which handles his records, which both the old and the new address. Also, if a monthly check is lost or destroyed with or without endorsement, he should notify his VA office at once, giving facts of case.

Thorough Identification

In writing to VA about such matters, veterans and dependents should identify themselves thoroughly. "The best way to do this," said Dickensheets, "is for the veteran to give his VA file C number; (the number VA assigns to the claim). A dependent should also give his "XC" number. These were as compensation number." Under the law, the Post Office normally may not forward a VA benefit check to a new address.

Veterans living in fifty-seven northern counties of Florida are served by the VA Regional office located at Pass-a-Grille.

NOTICE TO VETERANS

Students who have had at least ninety days active military service may have their military service evaluated June 27 through July 15. You will need to bring your separation papers, GED Tests results, and any evidences showing service schools taken while on active duty to Miss Glover, 102B Westcott. Monday through Fridays, 8-12 noon and 1:30-4:30 p.m.

Church News

Baptist Student Union

Summer has brought a new director to the Baptist students. Mr. Bill Moyle In connection with the current student-sponsored revival, the Baptists on campus have planned a beach party for Saturday at ten. Also on the schedule for this week are Morning Watch at 6:45 Friday and Vespers, Tuesday at 6 p.m.

Newman House

Catholic students are invited to attend Sunday Mass at 7:30 a.m. and 10:00 a.m. at Blessed Sacrament Church. The Newman house is open at all time to these students and their friends.

Methodist

At the recent election of summer officers, Susan Weisenberger was chosen summer president of the Wesley Foundation. Plans of the several committees necessary to maintain the program of the Methodist students were also elected. Plans for a vigorous program of worship and recreation were also discussed.

This week's schedule includes: because of the July 4 holiday only a small portion of the regular program. Sunday morning, at 9:45 a.m. buses leave the Student House for the downtown church. At 10 a.m. they return in time for the Sunday school service. Fellowship hour will be held at 6:30 p.m. and buses will leave for church at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. there is a program of meditations.

Westminster

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jones, acting directors of the Westminster House for the summer, have arranged a varied schedule of events for the coming week. Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. morning worship at 11, and evening worship at 8 will all be held in the First Presbyterian Church. Tuesday at 9:30 p.m. there will be a program of evening devotional at the Westminster House.

Press Group Attend Journalism Shop

FSU's annual Southern School Press Institute, sponsored by the School of Journalism, is being held on the university campus, June 19 — July 1. The week long institute offers teenagers an opportunity to learn the fundamentals of all phases of journalism and have fun in the process.

The institute will be a two concurrent programs, one for newspaper staffs and the other for yearbook staffs. Both programs will be designed to help youngsters plan, edit, finance and produce better school publications.

Subjects include reporting, feature writing, interviewing, editing and balancing the budget. The institute is guided by members of the university journalism faculty. The students are housed in university dormitories and have access to many university facilities. Recreational features give participants all the fun of a summer camp.

Army ROTC Cadets Leave For Six Weeks

The following Army ROTC Cadets from Florida State University reported to Fort Benning, Georgia yesterday to begin a six-week summer camp for Cadets from all over the Army area.

Adams, Charles F.; Arnable, Anthony N. Boras, Drew C.; Carothers, Charles G.; Ham, Robert Earl Jr.; Connell, Jerry C.; Culliver, Robert E.; DeGrave, Allen C.; Edgar, Vernon G. Jr.; Foley, Robert P.; Hehemann, George J. Hodge, Robert Jones, Joseph E.; Lacayo, Herbert, Jr. Mansfield, Fred L.; Patton, Wayne G.; Sinclair, Jack A.; Slovacek, J. II; Stewart, Harold L.; Whitten, Elliott A.; Williams, Laverne W.

While at Fort Benning they will receive extensive field training in military subjects with emphasis on small unit tactics and the use of military weapons. This summer camp is an integral part of the Army ROTC program which will lead to the commissions of these cadets as Second Lieutenants, U S Army Reserve, upon their graduation from the University in May, 1956

BEAT THE HEAT
IN COOL, AIR-CONTIONED
BENNETT'S DRUGS
Try Our Refreshing
Sodas 20c
Sundaes 30c
Splits 35c
COMPLETE SODA AND LUNCHEONETTE DEPARTMENTS
Bennett's Drug Store

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL

Sophmore Men's Council and Sophomore Woman's Council are asked to please sign up at Miss Adams office in Longmire if they can work at the ELECTION POLLS, July 6, anytime between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

WW II Program For Veterans Ends In July

World War II veterans training under the original GI Bill were reminded today by the Veterans Administration that July 29, 1956 marks the end of the program for all but a handful of them.

Even though a veteran may still have unused GI training entitlement at that time, or even though he may be in the middle of a course, his GI training payments will come to an end on July 29, 1956.

VA advised World War II GI trainees to keep the deadline in mind, in working out plans for the remainder of their training programs.

The small group of veterans exempt from the July 29, 1956 deadline are those who enlisted or re-enlisted under the Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act, between October 6, 1945 and October 5, 1946. These veterans will have four years from the end of their enlistment or re-enlistment to end their GI training.

The 1956 deadline applies only to World War II trainees. It is not appropriate. It does not apply to veterans training under the Korean GI Bill.

During the 11 years the World War II GI Bill has been in effect, more than 7,800,000 veterans—or half of all veterans in World War II—received some form of training.

The program reached its peak at the end of 1947, when more than 3,500,000 World War II veterans crowded into classrooms and on-the-job training establishments throughout the nation.

At the present time, the program has dropped to one-seventeenth of its former size, with 230,000 veterans still in training. Of these 65,800 are in colleges, 82,800 are in schools below the college level, 8,000 are in farm training programs, and more than 2,000 are training on-the-job

Dr. Koos Appointed To Health Institute

Dr. Earl Lomon Koos, professor of Social Welfare at FSU, has been appointed a special consultant to the National Institutes of Health by Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele

Dr. Koos will serve on the Public Health and Nursing Study Committee in a technical advisor on matters relating to medical research affairs of the nation.

With other study sections members in his field, Dr. Koos will make recommendations for research grants and help determine areas in which research activities should be initiated or expanded

Since the first of the year the FSU professor has also served as a consultant on migrant labor problems. Early in January of this year's study project being conducted by the State Board of Health and FSU. Financed by the U S Children's Bureau.

Dr. Koos joined the FSU faculty in 1953 after ten years of public health work in New York State. He has worked with the health education, nursing, and other public health groups from Maine to Arizona and participated in a number of meetings of the American Public Health Association.

FOR YOUR NEEDS
Supplies — Sundries
COME TO
MALONE'S BOOKSTORE
107 S. Copeland

Doris Day, James Cagney Sta In 'Love Me Or Leave Me

By WANDA SUE OWENS

Playing at the Florida, Tuesday thru Saturday is MGM's fabulous "Love Me or Leave Me" in color and Cinemascope. Starring Doris Day, James Cagney, Cameron Mitchell and an outstanding supporting cast. It is the story about real people. Doris Day portrays Ruth Etting, the famous singer who rose from a dime-a-dance girl to the Ziegfeld Follies, then to Hollywood. James Cagney plays "Martin-the-Gimp," the mysterious dangerous man who dominated her life, making her dreams of glory come true. Cagney plays a hard-hitting role, one of the greatest of his great career. Cameron Mitchell, a handsome piano player on the road to fame, captures Miss Day's heart but she makes herself forget him.

One of the high spots of the movie takes place when Ruth Etting "Doris Day" gets bounced from her job as a "dime-a-dance hostess" for kicking a fresh customer. However, it was at that time when she was noticed by Marty "James Cagney." She sings 15 top songs including: "Love Me or Leave Me", "You Made Me Love You," and "Everybody Loves My Baby."

A Walt Disney combination above started yesterday at the State Theater. Walt Disney's first feature length, true life story "True Living Desert" will be enjoyed by the older folks and the children too." for kicking a fresh customer. However, it was at that time when she was noticed by Marty "James Cagney." She sings 15 top songs including: "Love Me or Leave Me", "You Made Me Love You," and "Everybody Loves My Baby."

A Walt Disney combination above started yesterday at the State Theater. Walt Disney's first feature length, true life story "True Living Desert" will be enjoyed by the older folks and the children too."

Joining Darin and Strawberry Roan" form companion bits on the Buena Vista Drive-In Today through Saturday. Tony Curtis, Piper Laurie, and Deo Taylor star in "The Prince Who Danced," of "Johnny Dark." Strawberry Roan" with the all-time favorite of "cow boy" -Western? movies, Gene Autrey.

Color performance is given by Gregory Peck who stars in "Twelve O'clock High" Thursday through Saturday at the Par Highway Outdoor. Also in "Riders of the Purple Sa with George Montgomery.

In case you're a stranger town and don't know where t theaters are, the Capitol is lo 3 miles out on Monroe Stree the Outdoor is 4 miles east of Capitol steps on the Perry Hat way.

Seven of Mexico's most fam matadors actually play in Edw L. Alperson's Cinemascope p duction in color, "The Magnific Matador" released by 20th Cen tury Fox and starring at the Fl da theater Sunday through Tu day. Technical adviser for t movie was Carlos Arruza, a arenatest living bull-fighter wh tired from the ring as a mill aire at 33.

Starring Maureen O'Hara a Anthony Quinn, the picture is shot in authentic locales in Mexico. It also introduces Marcos Ji jas, who heads a large supporti cast.

now
• lustrous oxford cloth
• trim-tailored vest
• extra long wear
VAN HEUSEN
Oxfordian
ONLY $4.50

Purchasing Group Meets In July

The Purchasing Agents Institute to be held at the Port Benjamin Harrison Grand Cheyenne, July 14, 15, and 16, will be the third year that the Purchasing Agents Association of Florida and the General Extension Division of FSU have cooperated in conducting an educational program for Florida's purchasing personnel.

Two days of discussions have been planned and designed specifically for both industrial and governmental purchasing agents. The discussions will center on the national frailties as well as those problems associated with the problems of Florida.

This will be an educational conference — not a convention. Members of the Association will meet on business session and will have plenty of time to play for relaxation.

For further information on the program, registration, fees, etc. call the Flambeau office at Ext. 6821.

KEEPSAKE DIAMONDS
ELGIN & BULOVA WATCHES
Fine Watch Repairing
PAUL TURNER JEWELER
102 S. Monroe Phone 3-1442

Not a single detail of this beautiful oxford shirt is ordinary or average. The Oxfordian is trim-tailored with just enough cloth tension at the waist to prevent bunching at the belt. Woven of fine, long-staple cotton ... for extra softness and extra wear.

Turner's

Want to Get in the Swing of Things?
Want to Know What's Going On?
Want to Enjoy This Hot Dripping Summer?
Why not spend your time in the cool Summer Flombeou office —(working of course) Con't write, inexperienced? So what— We need people to replace our invisible stoff. So come on up and write, type, sell ods, drow or just moke jokes.

"My Three Angels" Tonight And Tomorrow In Conradi

The Summer Flambeau

President's Reception Starts At 5:00 This Afternoon

VOL. XL, NO. III — PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA — THURSDAY, JULY 7, 1955

Third Artist Series Presents Donizetti's 'Don Pasquale'

Operatic Comedy Sung In English

The National Grass Roots Opera Company will bring an amusing attraction to Westcott Auditorium on July 12 at 8:15 p.m. for the third Artist Series program, the presentation of "Don Pasquale" by Donizetti, sung in English.

The story of this famous opera comedy presents some common possibilities of which the singers of the Company seem to fail to capitalize on them.

Plot

The wealthy, aging Don Pasquale decides to marry and spend his fortune instead of leaving it to his nephew, with whom he has quarreled. Then Don seeks the help of a doctor friend in finding a bride for the doctor, feeling the matrimonial knots prove a remedy for the old man, plots to trick him, once and for all, of his fallacious ideas.

All entangled with the sweetness of the nephew to impersonate the doctor's sister, a beautiful girl just out of convent. The young lady agrees to the plan, playing the demure role to perfection until a fake marriage ceremony is performed and the atmosphere of the household undergoes a drastic change. She raises the wages of the servant, orders new horses and carriages, plans elaborate and insults the old man to the extent that he is about to throw her out. The story reaches a climax to the satisfaction of all, including the audience.

This unique group was formed in 1951 by S. J. Fletcher, a Raleigh, N. C. attorney who has the great need of opportunities for talented young singers to gain experience in public performance. A singer himself, Mr. Fletcher realized that opera in English was the excellent entertainment but had never been accepted as such by the American public as a whole.

Grass Roots American singers, in the thought of going to opera. He associates the "full opera" with some very fine performance in a language he cannot understand.

PRODUCED IN ENGLISH

Mr. Fletcher and his Grass Roots Opera Company set out to show that the public generally is the wrought to enjoy and appreciate performances if skillfully produced in English. He has proven this has been proven by fact that the productions have drawn 325 performances and there is a growing demand each year.

Hammond Director of Opera at University of Vocal Arts in Philadelphia recently stated Roots Opera as the only company I know of which is actually creating large future audiences for opera, and doing it in a way that makes them the average citizen."

The National Grass Roots Opera Company is made up of young artists from all over America. In this season's roster many states are represented, including North Carolina, Texas, New York, and others. The forthcoming production will be under the direction of the company's full-time director, Albert Bird, formerly with the New York, New Orleans, and Mississippi opera groups.

Artist Series Box Office opens at 7 p.m. on the evening of the opera. FSU students will be admitted to the concert by presentation of ID cards only for faculty, staff and the public is seventy-five SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE for Summer Council Chairman was Ken Gatlin.

FSU Music Camp Bands Present Weekly Program

The FSU Summer Music Camp has scheduled a busy week of activities for the coming week This Sunday the Summer Music Camp Concert and Gold Bands and the Camp Orchestra will present their weekly program at 6:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall.

The orchestra will start off the program with Marche Modulo Funicage from the Suite Algerienne by Saint-Saens which will be followed by Rimski-Korsakoff's The Young Prince and the Young Princess from Scheherazade. The orchestra will close its portion of the program with Khachaturian's popular Gayne Ballet Suite Number 3 with Robert Sedor conducting.

The orchestra will be followed by the Gold and Garnet Bands and the Summer Camp, conducted by Marion Whitcomb and Oliver Nibbs. The Gold band will play the Mississippi Suite by Grofe the "Little Italian Rhapsodie" by Beeler, and will close with the Melodie Caravan" by McHugh.

The Garnet Band will present "Pageant" by Persichetti, Comedy in Grass by Wagner, and present for the first time, the Hawaiian Special" by Charles Carter.

Mr. Carter is one of America's outstanding young composers and is a graduate assistant in the School of Music. His works have been heard from time to time throughout the past two years on the campus.

The program will be concluded with waltzes from Der Rosenkavalier.

Canoeing Trips Start Saturday

There is still time to sign up for the Canoeing trips if you have not already done so, says Miss Ruth DeKalb, Acting Camp Director.

Tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. all entrants will meet at the pool to be checked on swimming ability test and to get the low-down on the plans.

The first trip on Saturday, July 9 will be on the Wakulla River, starting at Wakulla and Terminating at St. Marks at 5 p.m. University Buses will leave from the Women's Gym at 10 a.m.

A SCENE from the third Artist Series program which features the National Grass Roots Opera Company in "Don Pasquale."

Gatlin Wins Chairmanship Of Government

Ken Gatlin, graduating Senior, was swept into office by a mere 126 votes, yesterday, with only 180 students out of 2860 voting. His opponent, Dan Gorham, received 42 votes.

Carolyn Redfern was elected to the office of Council Secretary unopposed, with 163 votes. Council members are Rodney J. Wilson, 198 votes, and Sam Alderman, 18 write-in votes. Men's Junior-Senior Councilmen, Pat Hilton, 194 votes, and Beth Suggs, 76 votes. Women's Junior-Senior Councilmen, and Virgil R. Austin, 160 votes, and "Breezy" Dreyfus, 94 votes. Men's Freshman-Sophomore Councilmen.

Decisions regarding the write-in votes for Women's Freshman-Sophomore Councilmen will be announced later, said Sam Alderman, Secretary of Elections.

Carole Spence, candidate for Women's Junior-Senior Councilman received 72 votes. Bud Leonard and Al Pacetti received 5 write in votes off the office of Men's Junior-Senior Councilmen.

Summer Council will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Senate Room of Longmire Building, stated Ken Gatlin, newly-elected Summer Council Chairman.

Panel Discuss 'Education In Many Lands'

Four foreign students representing Formosa, India, Holland, and Thailand were featured on the Summer Forum series Tuesday night in Opperman Music Hall.

Dr. Shih Kung Liu who has a PHD in chemistry told of the differences in education in Education and American. He noted that the education system was similar to the European system. In 1910, scholars from Formosa were sent to Europe to study systems of education and adopt and modify them to suit the country's purpose. He stated there were no exams, not enough schools, no term subjects, no room and schooling wasn't compulsory. Entrance exams are given for high school and only one out of ten high school graduates get in a college. Majors must be declared before entering freshman year, starting in order for competition of student with similar fields of interest.

In Formosa boys and girls are educated together but in high school they are segregated. In college the education again becomes co-educational.

Miss Sirikanya Kanjanavanit Miss Anna Marie Erdman of Holland. She is working on her doctors' studies are located at 118 and 116 Music Building on the ground floor.

Major program emphasis is on good music drawn from an extensive library of long playing records, electrical transcriptions and taped excerpts from faculty and student recitals.

The station serves as laboratory for students enrolled in courses which relate to radio Students interested in working on WFSU-FM as a leisure time activity are also welcome.

Most staff openings at the present time are non-paying jobs. Firms emphasized, however that students who qualify for these jobs will work under supervision and will be eligible for student assistantships in the fall.

Persons interested in writing or announcing for the station, contact Flynn or Ray Chandler, Assistant Director, by calling Ext. 4831.

Jobs Open At WFSU Station

WFSU-FM the University educational radio station, has staff openings for writers and announcers, according to an announcement by Roy Flynn, Director of Radio and Television.

The station broadcasts seven days a week running on currency 9 a.t. 4 p.m. and signs off at 10 p.m. Modern, air-conditioned studios are located at 118 and 116 Music Building on the ground floor.

Major program emphasis is on good music drawn from an extensive library of long playing records, electrical transcriptions and taped excerpts from faculty and student recitals.

The station serves as laboratory for students enrolled in courses which relate to radio Students interested in working on WFSU-FM as a leisure time activity are also welcome.

Most staff openings at the present time are non-paying jobs. Firms emphasized, however that students who qualify for these jobs will work under supervision and will be eligible for student assistantships in the fall.

Persons interested in writing or announcing for the station, contact Flynn or Ray Chandler, Assistant Director, by calling Ext. 4831.

President's Reception This Afternoon At 5P.M.

DR. AND MRS. CAMPBELL are pictured at their home discussing the reception tonight at 5:30 p.m. By Roger Herndon

Summer Stock Debut Set Tonight By Spewack Play

By GEORGE GOLOSTEIN

Tonight marks the debut of the newly organized Summer Stock Group here at FSU with their presentation of My Three Angels," a three act comedy written by Sam and Bella Spewack.

Working nine hours a day for their credit, the class taking the summer stock course here worked on scenery, props, and costumes, in addition to memorizing their lines and "polishing" their respective parts.

Painting the set, putting up the scenery, mixing paints and making props which are unusual or hard to get, were a few of the tasks set for the thespians. "Getting a Christmas tree, decorations, a breakfront, old time bureau and a live chicken were the hardest jobs in the property line," stated one member of the cast.

After working on the set in the mornings and early afternoon the class went into rehearsals from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

During this period, readings were held to find out where the actors were stationed in the course of the play or as it is technically called "blocking the show." Once scripts were off the was and lines memorized, the actors settled down to the serious task of interpreting their parts.

Guiding the actors through their performance is Dr Lyon Orr, director of the show. In charge of the technical aspects is Charles Reimer while Mrs Frances Leeuze is costume and makeup director.

"My Three Angels" was described by John Chapman of the "New York News" as an "engaging and pleasant perspectacle remedy." The New York production starred Walter Slezak and was directed by Jose Ferrer.

"My 3 Angels" are played by Eb Thomas, John Anderson and Lee Hildman. Thomas is a stranger to audience here as he is known for his work in regular session productions in "Night Must Fall," "Papa Is All," "Beautiful People," "Charley's Aunt," and "Susanah."

Lee Hildman is another "oldie" in the realm of Summer plays here Viewers will remember him as Pepa in "Papa is All" and in Night Must Fall."

John Anderson, newcomer to the Augusta Conradi Theater, has done mostly theater in the round Where he has appeared in Phonix College, Arizona, and Florida Southern in such plays as "Blithe Spirit," "The Importance of Being Earnest," and Light Up The Sky."

Felix Duvoisel, played by Joe Hall, is no stranger to Quincy townspeople where he teaches at the local high school during the regular session. "East Lynne" and "Our Town" are two of his favorite plays that Mr. Hull has worked on.

His wife who is portrayed by Margie Tindell will be remembered for her performance as the hysterical daughter in the Crucible." Miss Tindell has also worked on "Romeo and Juliet," "The Insect Comedy" and "Life With Father."

Carolyn Brown, who is her daughter is also a newcomer to the FSU has had leads in John Love Mary" in which she played the title role, and in "Jenny Kissed Me." She has done work with Pensacola Junior College.

Another member of the family is Henri Trochard, taken over by Grorge Goldstein Goldstein has worked on such productions as "Cinderella" in FSU Childrens Theatre production and "Barrier a Martin's Theater Guild production here.

His nephew Paul, is portrayed by Max Epps, who is graduate student and former teacher at Baker County High School "Lady Not for Burning," "Hello Out There," "Aria Da Capo" are some of the plays he has worked on.

Leona H Shirey takes over the role as Madame Parole who is quite a character. Practically born in a trunk Mrs. Shirey has varied experiences from acting to crew work, and musical comedy Her favorite role is that of Calamity Jane.

Rounding out the cast is Virgil Austin, who is noted for his work in "The Crucible," "Cinderella and "Carousel" Mr. Austin is the first freshman to be in Les Jongleurs, drama honorary here and is vice-president of the group.

Interesting to note is that background music will be played by Dr Lyon Orr on the harmonica

Tickets will be sold at the Augusta Conradi Theatre in the History building Box office opens at 6 o'clock on the curtain

It will also be open on the night of the productions. Special students rates will be available at 40c and presentation of ID card General admission is 75c

MARIE LOUISE (Carolyn Brown) toast her three angels in a scene from the speech production. Left to right are: Lee Hildman, John Anderson, Eb Thomas and sealed Joe Hull and Marjorie Tindell. Photo by PRO

Informality At Home Stressed

By VIRGIL AUSTIN

Students are invited to Meet the President at the home of Dr and Mrs Doak S. Campbell today at 5 p.m. The president of FSU and his gracious wife will be at their home to all students enrolled in summer school as well as the faculty and staff members

The occasion, strictly informal, has become a tradition of the summer session. This year marks the fourteenth annual observance of the reception

In addition to the Students meeting the executive another important purpose expressed by the administrator is his becoming better acquainted with the students He said, Mrs Campbell and I are always glad to welcome the summer students. We are looking forward to seeing them informally this afternoon."

Assisting Mrs. Campbell in the entertainment will be members of the executive council, their wives and members of the executive council recreation committee Mary Penn Cawthon, chairman of the committee listed the following girls who will help: Pat Brady LaVera Amatrona Francis Annis, Becky McMillan, Hilda Hawkins, Rosemary Rhyne Sondra Golden, Faya Risby Mona Gay Miles, and Marjorie Blount. These girls, clad in their summer cottons will minale with and assist the many guests

Proper dress for the occasion will be informal Students will be welcome to come in their regular classroom attire.

The lovely Campbell rose gardens will be a spot of great interest to many students, and they are cordially invited so inspect them as they will. Students are welcome to stay as long as they wish or may merely stop by for a few moments.

Buses in front of Bryan Hall will leave for the reception beginning at 4:30 p.m. Students who drive to the reception may park on either driveway and will be assisted in parking by attendants in the parking areas of the president's estate.

PDK Initiates New Members

The Gamma Theta Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, men's professional educational fraternity, will have a summer initiation on Thursday, July 7 at 5:30 p.m. in the Geology Auditorium.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 in the Trophy Room, at the Student Center Local members of PDK and those visiting this summer are cordially invited to attend this affair.

The final summer meeting of PDK will be a buffet luncheon on Monday, July 18 at 1 p.m. in the Trophy Room at the Student Center Dr Sam Moore will speak on "Supervision in Florida."

Reservations for both of these meetings may be obtained through Albert Clarke 226 Reynolds Annex, or by calling Ext. 6381.

Canoeing Trips

There is still time to sign up for the Canoeing trips if you have not already done so, says Miss Ruth DeKalb, Acting Camp Director.

Tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. all entrants will meet at the pool to be checked on swimming ability test and to get the low-down on the plans.

The first trip on Saturday, July 9 will be on the Wakulla River, starting at Wakulla and Terminating at St. Marks at 5 p.m. University Buses will leave from the Women's Gym at 10 a.m.

GRADUATE EXAMS GIVEN

Graduate record exams will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. and Saturday from 8:15 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in 125 Science instead of in Luminaire as previously announced.

Meaningless Celebration Disheartening

Monday was the glorious Fourth . . . yet most people celebrated without much meaning I fear. One hundred and seventy-six years ago, patriots gathered together to declare themselves free. Free to guide themselves with their own laws of living . . . Yet today, in the "land of the free and home of the brave", we side-step our fought-for rights by ignoring and breaking as many rules as possible.

The common expression now is "Rules are Made to be broken." If this is so why make rules in the first place? Do we have them to curtail personal enjoyment? Do we elect representatives to study measures for the benefit of the people, only to have the people put on the face of indifference?

It has also been said that Americans make governing laws, ordinances, and codes to be used at will. This statement is true. Wars are still being fought and blood is still running for our precious liberties and four freedoms: worship, speech, press and assemblage. Americans seem to have regulations of right living. Likewise, we become more aware of the suffering that provided us with a free America, America will cease to be free.

To the credit of Florida, only five persons died over the holiday weekend, six less than the national average, according to Highway Patrol statisitics. Accidents don't just happen. They are caused by the three I's of the highway—incompetence, indifference, and irresponsibility."

Rules are made by the living and for the living—the dead don't break them. It's your life . . . use it wisely.

Cheat Season Not Open

Though summer classes might be easier or harder and we know hotter . . . it isn't an open cheat season . . . Summer students, both undergraduates and graduates are expected to follow our Honor Code which states: "I pledge myself to uphold the highest standards of honesty in every phase of my university life, and I refuse to tolerate dishonesty on the part of another."

Students weren't required to sign such pledges this summer, maybe because they were considered more mature and responsible in their efforts of learning. Cheating, stealing, and lying are summer offenses also.

Honesty has no size limits . . . not only are the weak betraying themselves but they sometimes hurt the innocent . . . those who are striving to obtain an honest grade. In curve systems, every point counts and it is discouraging to the honest to be outclassed by a rank cheat.

Older and transfer students are also encouraged to familiarize themselves with the Honor Code (which should be posted in most classrooms) and to abide by it as mature, intelligent citizens.

True Texas Tall Tales

An unusual amount of honesty and strength prevailed at the University of Texas last week. Five victorious student officials were ousted because their politically party didn't follow the promises.

The elected president, vice-president, secretary, justice, and yearbook editor were disqualified because 2,000 handbills were distributed without passing a clearing house required for all campaign literature. Such an approval system might prove of value at Florida State in eliminating any questionable expense limit cases.

Texas students will soon be required to take and pass six hours of American history. A bill, signed by Governor Allan Shivers, provides that no state-supported institution may grant an undergraduate degree after July 1, 1936 to any person that has not taken and passed six hours of Amerfcan history.

Though it is folly to compare the University of Texas with Florida State University, its problems do bare some resemblance. Excerpting from a recent editorial:

"Crucial Days lie ahead for this institution: Reason: rocketing enrollments; inadequate housing, limited parking space; possible undergraduate intergration; a constitutional showdown for more money; and others."

Masterpiece Of Disney, Nature, God

Walt Disney has again surpassed his competitors and even his own productions with "The Living Desert" and the cartoon short, "Ben and Me". It's a shame the "Living Desert" can't be shown in every school in connection with the study of science and shorts that equal "Ben and Me" be used as teaching history.

The field of audio visual is budding into many fields of a child's growth and development. Even one who saw the recent movie agree that it was a delightful experience and wondered at the time and patience poured into such a production of nature's wonders.

"Sometimes We Almost Feel Like Giving The Kids a Break"

THE SUMMER FLAMBEAU
Published by the students of Florida State University, Tallahassee each Thursday during the Summer Session.
MARY ELIZABETH KING—Editor
Managing Editor ... Pat Brady
Movies ... Wanda Sue Owens
Sports Editor ... Bob Gutting
Church News ... Virgil Austin
RAYMOND G. HEMANN—Business Mgr.
Advertising Mgr. ... James Van Middlesworth
Exchange ... Joan Halford
Photographer ... Rodger Herndon
Circulation ... Sam Alderman
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service 420 Madison Ave., New York Offices: 211, 212 Lincoln Bldg.
Member: Associated College Press, Intercollegiate Press
Phone 5-8600, extension 4821, 4822

"That's The Kind We Want — You Can See Just What He's Not Thinking"

Walt Disney's Davy Crockett Comes To Florida Screen

By WANDA SUE OWEN

Now you too can see that fabulous hero that everyone has been singing about for weeks and weeks. Davy Crockett, "King of the wild frontier." This is a full length feature adapted from the original "Disney head" television productions. Directed by Norman Foster, the historical drama dipicts the legendary life story of Davy from his young manhood in the backwoods of where he fought Indians under the command of General Andrew Jackson, through his political career as a cane-brake legislator and U.S. Congressman, to his final days at the Alamo where he met a patrious death with Colonel Jim Bowie and other heroic men.

Fess Parker, a new star, is introduced and lends the title role. The co-star is Buddy Ebsen, as Crockett's life-long friend. Others in the cast are Basil Ruysdael, Hans Conried, and Kenneth Tobey. This movie was filmed in its natural setting throughout Texas.

Davy Crockett started yesterday (Wednesday) at the Florida and plays the week-end through Saturday.

The Man From Bitter Ridge, starring Lex Backer, Mara Corday, and Stephen McNally, directed by Jack Arnold and produced by Hen and Pine is playing now at the State Theater. This movie with its fights, heroings, "xplosions, handsome hero, attractive heroine, and wicked villian, has all of the essentials of a really good western.

Lex Backer, who is very serious about his career as an actor, is anxious to shake off the title of "Tarzan." a role he played in several pictures. He feels that the constant reminder that he was once a screen "Tarzan" is a definite handicap toward winning recognition as an accomplished actor. Although he will admit that his "tree-climbing role of Tarzan" gave him much publicity and made him a better known personality than he had been before.

Mara Corday, in her first starring role, is most deserving of honor. She plays a fiery frontier belle who can shoot a rifle without blinking an eye, and she looks good, even in levi's and tailored shirts.

Stephen McNally has always been a wonderful villian since he first menaced Jane Wyman in "Johnny Belinda." However, Mc-Nally's good looks are a definite contrast to his dastardly deeds as Alec tha "Badman."

Others in the cast are Trevor Bardette, John Dehner, and Myron Healey . . .

Hundreds of Montana's colorful frontier days are the location scenes of Republic's "Timberjack," a trucolor drama which comes to the State Friday and Saturday, July 8 and 9. Starring Roger Pryor, Vera Ralston and David Brian star with Ben Welden, Monte Hoskle Carmichael and Chill Wills.

These husky woodsmen engage in a stupendous free-for-all brawl with the equally husky movie "Timberjack"

The fights features handling instead of fists. The results of the wild-whooping free for story.

"Six Bridges to Cross" was a Collier's best selling novel and a Reader's Digest book club selection. It is the story of Sidney's most daring holdup, the secret behind the great $2,500,000 Boston robbery, their capture and trial. Jackie Adams "Six Bridges to Cross" plays at the Outdoor Sunday and Monday July 10 and 11.

Coming to the Outdoor Tuesday and Wednesday July 12 and 13 is "The Black Knight" with Alan Ladd and Patricia Medina.

Playing at the Capital Drive-In Sunday and Monday is the wild adventure story "Three Texas Steers" with Mike Gaynor, Kefe Brasselle, and Jeffrey Hunter.

PHFFT! That is the title of the show playing at the Drive-In Tuesday and Wednesday. But do you know what it is? It is the Jack Lemmon-Judy Holliday marriage breaking The stars are Judy Holliday, Jack Lemmon, Jack Carson and Kim Novak

Letters To The Flambeau

For the past month the Florida Legislature has been in session trying to solve, if they say, the problem of reapportionment. The only way which seems to have held up the solving of this problem is the Senate. That so-called the group of lea-makers seem to find the task of re-apportionment beyond their capabilities The tax-paying people of Florida have a right to demand that the Senate carry out it's duty under the Constitution and stop this wasteful spending of State income.

Re-apportionment will be realized only when a certain handful of the Senate Club come down off their high-horse and think of state interest, forget their own political ambitions, and sectional jealousies. Perhaps this article today too much of this august body, since they feel that the House has no business in the reapportionment of the Senate.

In my opinion, the House has offered the only plan which carry out the mandate of the Constitution. Each time the House has passed a bill of this nature the Senate, under the leadership of Senator Davis, Senator Clark and Senator Johns, kills the bill with a gusto you would expect to find in a dictatorship.

In a few cases the Senate has agreed to appoint a conference committee whose purpose is to work out the differences between the House and Senate. Each time the Senate demands and will not compromise with the House's feelings or wishes.

CHARLES CHESTER

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

Rumblings From An Empty Stomic

Is here Alabaster II on empty stomach—hot dogs, potato salad and baked bean feast last Friday's picnic being finally gone . . . In teaching Nokl and Hobie to like hot dogs and beans as well as not to have catnip taste on leftover pocketbook.

Speaking of pocketbooks, many of journalistic tribe are not paid to be journalists . . . In fact, many are paid not to be. Some say it not pay to teach, either. . . But then educators and newsmen but share financial risk in job . . . only have to defend selves against nice little old ladies who want stories in paper and carry lead-weighted umbrellas—or happy parents of quiz kid with IQ of 50.

Newspapers in way are schoolmaking too—for instance, Alabaster notes candidate for summer office chair mail copy Flambeau and write campaign letters . . .

Big Ideas in brain of Alabaster see much more to be done—In hoping summer council will make resolution asking Math dept. for room in old "dorm" school so Flambeau can purchase press equipment . . . or get permission for Semester maidens to take day-safaris to coast and return hour later than usual . . . or retract big mistake in beard of publication which let editors out . . . or put sign on prep for marriage lab beneath School of Social Problems . . . or offer concrete solution in concrete spaces for packing problems . . . or ask philanthropist-type millionaire if he's interested in salvation of FSU football spirit who's got one foot in grave . . .

* * *

Speaking of grave . . . Is Alabaster composing here sophisticated and intellectual prature obit for long-lost Doctor ist acquaintance engaged non-dangerous profession ready yet described . . .

"Friend of Audubon" her threnody before her de at the hands of internecine ile old ledres. Obsequies commence at 3 p.m. EST the 1st Tuesday after first Monday in Septe the always liked phrases . . . Cremains ar pesa-du-soie and the sa phalus will be interred at archids. The epitash on Parliament will read. "She the facia."

Alabaster sends thanks to Rudolph Peach for teaching him to read. . . .

* * *

Is Alabaster making prediction on fall styles for wo —need only to add cr and pearl in all tunic-type dr ers and sales to Autra Kamarous will skyrocket. . .

Traffic Solution Still Unknown

By RAY HEMANN

In a previous article I reported that there was at present a committee of students, faculty and a staff members working on the traffic and parking situation Yesterday a copy of the report of the findings of this committee came into my possession and a couple of rather startling discoveries were made. First, the committee was dead. Secondly, the committee held its last meeting November 1, 1936, and has not done anything since then and second the committee's primary function was not to study the parking problem and traffic flow so much as to study the effect of vehicle registration and student traffic cost.

Let there be no mistake, the committee did some good and long hours of work. Alleviating some serious traffic problems, but undoubtedly they are the things that go little noticed by the majority of the students who are concerned principally with parking and traffic congestion.

Recommendations to the effect that all cars on campus were to be properly registered, established the policy on traffic fines and recommended that the traffic regulations be printed in the Pow-Wow and Faculty Handbook.

As far as traffic congestion and parking are concerned the committee had the following to report:

"The committee feels that at the present time there is a lack throughout policy regarding either the handling of traffic problems or of the parking of cars in parking areas on the campus. This lack is due largely to the lack of effort on the part of the University Administration but is probably due to the lack of experience in dealing with such problems. However, they are of such magnitude and importance as to be detrimental to convenience and beauty of the University that the committee recommends:

1) That the University employ an expert in traffic problems to study the campus and make recommendations for directing and controlling the traffic on campus.

2) That the University employ an expert in city planning to draw up a plan for parking areas on the campus. Such a plan should take into consideration the following points:

(1) Adequate parking area conveniently located to accommodate all cars brought to the campus each day.

(2) Adequate provision for open space and grassy areas to insure a beautiful campus.

This report was turned over not such an expert in the field Road Department and fast year back to the University week

What remains to be done before another committee is formed to decide on just all of the expert assistance may by the State Road Department should be advised and to see that enough time is given to action as may be necessary carry out these ideas . . .

It is not until next fall for committee to be formed in accordance to directive of which should be taken Before a plan is decided on and be worked over so that the Department for action there should be adequate time and without a delay at the end the line to further impede progress.

Little Man Cartoons Censored

Some weeks ago, Dick Bibler of "Little Man on Campus" fame faced like disapproval of the modernistic university and almost was subjected to censure. Every day, his fellow students seemed to feel the pointing finger directly on their foreheads as though they had committed some sort of felonious deed.

Like the movies, radio, and television, cartoons have come in for their share of censorship action. But unlike the movies, cartoons have stricter taboos and pass a more critical judgment. Like the other three, cartoons are censored, but cartoons seem to have more bearing on the lives of the people than the other three.

One can reason this out by the many congratulatory notes an editor gets when Little Orphan Annie gets out of a jam. or when some comic strip couple have a blessed event. As the psychiatrist reveals, the average reader attaches himself to the situation of the comic strip's characters and becomes a part of it.

All magazine and newspaper editors are aware of this and are very careful to look into every cartoon that passes their eyes.

According to Dave Breger, one of America's leading cartoonists, two types of censorship are practiced by the editors. There is legal censorship, which keeps the law in line and acts: This includes the penal laws against obscenity, libel, inciting to riot, and the defamation of character, immoral acts, and other crimes and sins against the commonwealth

And there's the arbitrary or social kind which can be against offending someone, somewhere, sometime This as a rule is the cartoonist's big action. But unlike the movies, cartoons have stricter taboos and pass a more critical judgment. Like the other three, cartoons are censored, but cartoons seem to have more bearing on the lives of the people than the other three.

One can reason this out by the many congratulatory notes an editor gets when Little Orphan Annie gets out of a jam. or when some comic strip couple have a blessed event. As the psychiatrist reveals, the average reader attaches himself to the situation of the comic strip's characters and becomes a part of it.

All magazine and newspaper editors are aware of this and are very careful to look into every cartoon that passes their eyes.

According to Dave Breger, one of America's leading cartoonists, two types of censor-

The Survey

Writer Asks 'What About Sex?'

By DANIEL GORHAM

We did not need the repercussions from two Kinsey reports to warn us that modern attitudes toward sex are confused and contradictory. Contemporary art, literature and advertising reflect, even while they mock, a startling array of conflicting opinions and practices. Family theorists and marriage counselors appear to regard obvious disorganization as little more than regrettable "growing pains" in an age of transition. However, case histories and crime records suggest that what was once considered socially pathological is rapidly reaching the status of institutionalized normalcy.

In matters of sex, to be sure, action and ideal, practice and theory has seldom coincided perfectly, but, at least in Western culture, men have had ideals and have aerended in theory. Never before have they appeared so bewildered about the very meaning and function of sex itself. Faced with the problem of sex, Western man has wandered down many false trails and frequently lost his way. Only in the first time he has lost his address.

Here in America we have always been a participant in the broad stream of Western Christian culture and has traditionally shared its standards of the personalist concept of the function of sex. On the other hand numerous powerful and vocal groups in American society have rejected the Christian view of the nature and destiny of the human person, with the result that for many the personalist approach to sex has been deprived of its rational foundations. Much of the confusion concerning the function of sex in American society today has its origin in the fact that the traditional and still theoretically approved norms and practices have been erected on a concept of the person which is no longer accepted by many—and in no longer consistently recognized as the only rational basis for the Christian code by many more.

No wthe personalist approach to the control of the reproductive drive is logical and can become operative only if the human person is viewed in its integrity, i.e., only if the person is considered capable of acting at an objective norm of morality and is judged morally responsible for its acts. In other words, the personalists approach implies that there are moral norms governing the exercise of the reproductive drive and that the violation of these norms constitutes a moral evil or sin. This is the rationale of the personalists approach; to reject it is to render the norms and practices based on it meaningless and ultimately inoperative.

Among some contemporary thinkers tha traditional Christian concept of the dignity and supremacy of the human person has been twisted into a grotesque caricature, for he has been deprived of his transcendental goal by some contemporary thinkers, and individuality and several essential prerequisites to society. The result is the emergence of the "autonomous" individual avidly seeking the "development of his personality," though it should not require the cumulative experience of mankind to convince us that such a creature is at best a fiction—at worst, an anarchist.

The problem of sex in America throws some light on why so many have been led astray in education and eventually disintegrated. Necessary action is paralyzed by the divergence of opinion. Where there is no unanimity on ultimate values there tends to be little consensus in educative practices since conflicting ideologies tend to neutralize each other. Sooner or later, traditional ways of thinking and doing are called into question since there is no consensus on ultimate values, there is no foundation for maintaining the old and no basis for constructing the new While divergent minorities major efforts to promote their respective ideals, the majority of Americans go along with the times and society as a whole aimlessly drifts

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

Summer school seems to be the most popular sport with the people who can be observed coming up many sections of the inner days.

One of the top athletes to take the courses is Ill "Tha Rockhornheim, recently discharged from the army, who is now up in preparation for a coming career in southern Illinois ball.

Ranked as the best all-around man of the United States, receiving 3[illegible] in 1948 and massive degrees in physical education at his state before entering the army years ago.

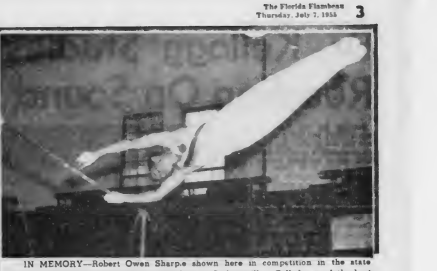
He started his gymnastics career early in Chicago, Illinois. At the age of 18, while a junior at FSU, was selected to compete with the United States in the 1948 Olympics held in London. He was the first collegiate freshman to achieve this honor.

His gymnastics career Bill was called on many times to represent the United States in competition the first time during his freshman year when he was on the U.S. team that competed against Czechoslovakia.

Later competed against the same team 1950- and won the same event.

In 1951 he once again competed for the United States, this time at the Pan-American games at Buenos Aires, Argentina. At this meet Bill won the high bar and all-around events.

In 1952 Bill was once again picked for the Olympic team, and entered the world competition at Helsinki, Finland.



In addition to these other honors, Bill also holds numerous National Collegiate and NAAU titles, including the NAAU all-around championship in Chicago in 1949, the National AAU all-around and high bar at Los Angeles in 1950, the NCAA all-around and high bar at Ann Arbor, Michigan in 1951, and the NAAU all-around, high bar, and side horse at Detroit in 1951. Bill also took the NAAU side horse crown in 1952.

During his time at this university Bill also chalked up many individual and team honors in competition in regional and team competition, and won the Florida AAU all-around, high bar, and calisthenics crowns for three years running (1950-53).

At the close of the summer session Bill will return to the north, but it has certainly been a pleasure having him here again, even for a period as brief as the summer months.

STATE NETTERS—Coach Keith Pitchford, FSU tennis coach, is shown explaining some intricate aspects of the game to last year's squad. Several of these men have graduated and will not be bac k to play next season.

IN MEMORY—Robert Owen Sharpe shown here in competition in the state AAU's, was killed last week in an accident in Jacksonville. Called one of the best Olympic prospects of the team by Coach Hartley Price, Sharpe will be deeply missed in future competition. Robert was only 18 at the time of his death.

Sports Afield

Trout is it that so many angler go so few fish during hot summer weather? Because fail to understand that the tactics which worked fine only weeks earlier—and which will be good again in fall—are definitely useless now. If they do use proper tactics for this part of season, they'd catch fish. During this period you should able to land plenty of trout, bluegills, and enough bass to satisfy anybody. For other fish it's pretty certain to be fishing now.

Here are a few hints from Bill Lucas, angling editor of Sports Afield magazine, for summer fishing:

Trout—Trout fishing, more so than any other fishing, is a game of place. Good anglers, in many spots, doesn't fish about the middle of the day. The only thing to do is to stay with someone living where you want to fish for a week and tell you about conditions.

Since the water is generally fast and clear now, flies should be the trout lure. And because of the clear water you can nearly always do best on small flies to match colors. Clear water calls for a long, fine-tapered leader and the ability to make reasonably long cast and to use the fly lightly.

Bass—One simple trick here: Fish there fishing at the first hint of daylight in the morning. Not only will bass still be in the shallows and still feeding actively, but there won't be many anglers out to scare them deep water. Lucas favors the outer edge of dense weeds or lily pads casting into them. In areas with no water vegetation, he bass where deep water comes up to the shore, he casts from shore from the out-

Both bass lures and methods vary with either a surface lure or fly-rod popper. The popper gets them now. Let it lie a long time where it lands, some leave it still as long as two or three minutes, then twitch it sharply, trying to move it more than an inch or two. Repeat this several times. A shallow runner or a bit of streamer may get more, but will get a lot less. The deep runner is apt to get down to than the surface lure and more a deep runner is also certain to get most. Again, the retrieve will pay off.

Bluegills—Flies will get more fish will live bait. Don't worry too much about pattern; use flies larger than 10's. Make fairly long cast and wait before retrieving until the fly sinks at least six feet. Retrieving the fly very slowly, with long pauses ness.

and little perks

With properly matched tackle, some idea of where to find fish, and a light tread so as not to scare the daylights out of them, anybody can catch trout on flies, claims Jason Lucas, angling editor of Sports Afield magazine.

Now practically all expert anglers agree on that the size of the fly is the most important thing in trout fishing, granted that one has some knowledge of how to fish it. The unsuccessful angler uses flies which are too large. For trout found in most places, 10's are the largest that will get good results, while 12's, 14's and even smaller down to 18's are sometimes better. Skimpily dressed flies are best—you may have to buy overdressed ones and trim them with a scissors.

Don't bother too much about patterns, but get some No. 10 or 12 wet flies that are mainly black, white, gray and brown. Later, after you're catching trout well, get some of the same colors in smallers sizes, still later, you can start playing around with patterns—that may cost you you may more trout, but it's lots of fun.

Lucas says he'd like to print BIG CAUTIONS in red letters so inch high, in the feeble hope that it will make some impression on careless anglers. Here are some good general rules in this matter:

1- If you are where you can see a trout, he can see you too, so be sure you're still, so he's gone 2- The calmer the surface of the water the farther he can see you 3- The higher you are above the surface the farther he can see you 4- It's a danged sight better to be too cautious, which will keep you from catching them, than to be just a shade too careless which sure as heck can. No matter how broken the surface, nor how low down you are, get at least a foot than 30 feet to the spot you are going to fish

A word about leaders—the finer and less visible the leader, the more trout will take your fly. Use a tapered leader one 6 to 7½ feet Lucas feels that unbodied leaders are more productive

DAAVY CROCKETT SONG

Davy Davy Crockett might well have been the echoing shout of the young pioneer who held forth among the lively and furry beasts of the park in the center of the campus yesterday. Despite "showers" of protest from the astonished beavers, he remained staunchly at his post with B.B. gun in hand.

Soon, however, he saw the futility of his hunt in that area and moved on in greater wilderness.

BASEBALL ANYONE?

Jordan Writes On Campbell

Weymouth T. Jordon, Professor of History at FSU, is the author of the recently published, George Washington Campbell of Tennessee: Western Statesman, the seventeenth in a series to FSU historical studies.

This book is the history of George Washington Campbell, consistent supporter of the Jeffersonian and Jacksonian political parties and the interests of those Americans who lived west of the Appalachian Mountains first in Henry Clay, he was perhaps the best known statesman of the West during the entire Jeffersonian period and does not deserve the obscurity that has been his lot, according to Professor Jordan

Order forms for the book may be obtained at the University Bookstore.

Why Not Let Hair Down For Summer

Students seen walking to and from classes in the "good old summertime" are partaking in the various summer sessions offered to interested individuals at Florida State.

Benefits of these courses are many. The atmosphere assumes a nature of summer relaxation, the campus is less crowded, providing the instructors time to handle individual problems. Time otherwise spent on the diversions of various summer activities are applied to the art of learning and gaining invaluable knowledge. For some out-of-town students, the summer sessions offer a short "vacation," pleasurably spent on a university campus.

Besides the regular summer sessions, special short courses are featured. These sessions are offered through the combined efforts of the various departments.

High school conferences in journalism, music and speech offer courses guided by well-trained instructors and valuable experience gained by workshops.

SEMINOLES IN ACTION—The Florida State football team is shown here in a play against Villanova last fall. This season's first game will be played on Sept. 17. The opponent will be North Carolina State.

Fellowships Offered Medical Students

Postdoctoral students, staff trainees and staff members, and those holding the degree of M.D. are eligible for the National Science Foundation postdoctoral fellowship awards 1955-56.

To be considered the applicant must be desirous of pursuing further training or research in one of the basic medical sciences. Also qualified for the award is anyone who will have completed his doctorate by February, 1956.

The fellowship includes a $350 (1 month stipend with allowances of $250 per dependent to married applicants. Those who accept the award must be willing to devote themselves to full-time study and/or research. Selection will be made on the basis of graduate records and recommendations as to ability.

The fellowship is usually awarded for one year only, and those who make use of it cannot have other scholarships or assistance

For further information see Mrs. Blair in the office of Vocational Guidance and Placement in 203 Westcott.

MANY PURPOSES

The Escorial is a famous edifice of New Castle, Spain. Built by Philip II, it at once a palace, a church, a monastery, a museum, and a burial ground. The solid pile of granite has been called the eighth wonder of the world

FOUND LAKE

First white man ever to see Great Salt Lake was the famous western scout, Jim Bridger, who made his way to the shore of the lake in 1842 while on a trapping expedition

SECOND LARGEST

Few people ever have persisted the woods of Labrador to see North America's second largest waterfall, Grand Falls of the Hamilton River.

Auger Falls, south of Peter Ida., has a peculiar formation of the rock in the river channel, which causes the water to descend in an apparent spiral.

$300.00 EASY CAMPUS AGENCY
We need a campus agent to sell nationally advertised drawing sets and a wide range of engineering textbooks at a fair. Tremendous profits and investment required. Free posters and brochures and printed selling helps furnished. Write Empire Engineering Supply Co. P. O. Box 14 Canal St Sta., NYC 13, N.Y.

COOL - REFRESHING
BENNETT'S DRUGS
While Shopping
Stop in and Try Our
Sodas 20c
Sundaes 30c
Splits 35c
COMPLETE SODA AND LUNCHEONETTE DEPARTMENTS
Bennett's Drug Store

"What's This About Your Letting the Common People Come in Here and Read Books?"

HERBLOCK
©1955 THE WASHINGTON POST CO.

All your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
Today Thru Saturday
"DAVY CROCKETT"
with
FESS PARKER
Sunday thru Tuesday
"THAT LADY"
Olivia DeHavilland

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
Today Thru Saturday
"RAGE AT DAWN"
Randolph Scott
"BLACK TUESDAY"
Edward G. Robinson
Sunday & Monday
"SIX BRIDGES TO CROSS"
with Tony Curtis

STATE
Today
with
Lex Barker—Mary Costa
"THE MAN FROM BITTER RIDGE"
Friday & Saturday
"JIMBER JACK"
Sterling Hayden
Sunday Thru Tuesday
"PURPLE PLAIN"
Gregory Peck

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Today Thru Saturday
"APACHE"
Burt Lancaster
"DRIVE A CROOKED ROAD"
Mickey Rooney
Sunday & Monday
"THREE YOUNG TEXANS"
Keefe Brasselle
and
Jeffrey Hunter

WEEKLY LUNCHEON FOR WOMEN STUDENTS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Women students are invited to attend the weekly luncheon for faculty and students, Wednesday noon, in the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

Mrs. Dusk S. Campbell, official hostess recommended the affair as "very lovely." She urged that all women students take advantage of this opportunity to become better acquainted with one another and the faculty members as well.

KEEPSAKE DIAMONDS
ELGIN & BULOVA WATCHES
Fine Watch Repairing
PAUL TURNER JEWELER
102 S. Monroe Phone 3-1442

The Department of Speech announces
My 3 Angels
July 7 and 8 Conradi Theater
8:15 p. m.
General admission: 75c
Special student rate: 40c
With Presentation of I.D. Card
Tickets on Sale 10–5 p.m.
Days of Production

Want to Get in the Swing of Things?
Want to Know What's Going On?
Want to Enjoy This Hot Dripping Summer?

Why not spend your time in the cool Summer Flombeou office—(working of course) Con't write, inexperienced? So whot—and write, type, sell ods, draw or invisible staff. So come on up We need people to replace our just make jokes.
ALL PERSONS INTERESTED COME TO THE FLAMBEAU OFFICE TOMORROW AT 5 P. M. FOR A MEETING.

Dr. Kellogg Studies Sonar Reaction On Sound Waves

Beneath the sea there are sounds which you and I do not have the ears to hear, yet, these sounds underly a principle upon which one of our main lines of national defense is being developed. The propellor of an enemy ship makes a sound. Our navy now has a weapon—the homing torpedo, for example, which are sensitive to the sound of an enemy propellor. When released in water, these homing torpedoes will head straight for the ship propellor and be detonated by the sound. Underwater sound is the basis of sonar, which is like radar except that it operates under water.

Sonar makes use of sound-waves going out from a source making contact with an object bouncing back, and thereby giving the location of the object. If the sea were silent except for the sounds of enemy ship's propellors, defense of our coastal areas would be a simple business. But fish and other marine animals also make sounds. A homing torpedo could be detonated by the sound of a fish

Kellogg Makes Recordings

Dr. Winthorp Kellogg, professor of psychology at FSU, has made sound recordings of marine animals, assisted by aerated-lake students in the Oceanographic Institute of the University. Several of the records-ings were made in 1932 in the Gulf of Mexico and near the Bahama Islands. They are part of Dr. Kellogg's research into underwater sounds, being done under contract to the U. S. Office of Naval Research. Recently Dr. Kellogg's work has also been sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

DR. W. N. KELLOGG, professor of Psychology

His work with porpoises is particularly interesting and has attracted international attention. The porpoise, it seems, makes use of sonar in finding direction. He has a built-in sonar system many times more effective than anything our Navy has and he can locate smaller objects. The porpoise sonar seems far more selective than the Navy's system. The Navy hopes to learn from Dr. Kellogg's work how to pattern their sonar after the porpoise's built-in system, thereby making it more effective.

Three Areas Of Study

His work divided itself into three areas. First he had to discover whether or not the porpoises actually had a broadcasting system . . . a means of sending out sounds. This fact has established. Second, he had to prove that porpoises have a receiving station . . . a means of hearing the echo of the sounds they send out. This has also been scientifically established. The third stage, and by far the most important is proving that the porpoises actually use this sonar system for finding direction. Dr. Kellogg says that it is obvious that they do but scientific proof involves more than pointing to the obvious.

Experiments in this area will begin shortly at the new porpoise pool at the Oceanographic Institute laboratory at Alligator Harbor.

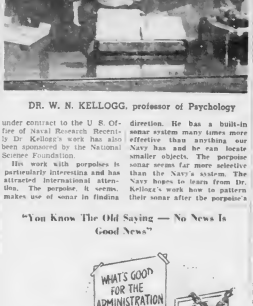
After Dr. Kellogg has proved beyond doubt his third point, there will still be much to investigate. How do the porpoises differentiate between sounds, for example? How and why do they vary the frequency and rate and tone of the sound they send forth?

These are the secrets of the porpoise which Dr. Winthorp Kellogg has set himself the task of finding out. And when he has learned these things, there will be all the other under-sea noises to be investigated.

Dr. Karl Views Film Releases In Rome

Dr. Adolph Karl, acting head of the Florida State University Department of Art, had to go abroad, to Rome, to see a new RKO film review. They are part of "Finian High," the FSU all-night cram.

The vacationing professor dropped into a plush theater offering English-speaking films for relaxation. He drowsed through a picture he had seen a year ago in Quincy, Fla. but came wide awake when "Finian's Irish" acte flashed on the screen as part of the news.



Fellow Dr. Karl is decorationChief Coach Jack Hawkins identified the actor as The Prince De Cromo. Three Coeds in a High Spin—Fave Moses and Sylvia White of Tampa and Sandra Wesley of Sebring and Ilse Rolfe of Jacksonville—Lost in Mystery of Barlow and Diana Hanbury of Cairo, Ill.

Dr. Karl is one of the numerous showmen in that film future, taken by RKO photographers right at the May 19th Dance Show in Tallahassee. The coach said:

Carter's Sporting Goods

TENNIS RACKETS
TENNIS PRESSES BALLS
SHOES
Racket Restringing

Dial 2-0054
117 S. Adams St.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES REDUCED FOR STUDENTS

The Education Department of Time Inc. announces a special summer reduction of special interest subscription rates for summer school students.

New subscriptions or renewals

Time magazine are three dollars per year and six dollars for two years. Life magazine are four dollars per year and seven dollars for two years, and to Sports Illustrated is twelve and Fortune magazine are seven dollars and fifty cents per year.

No name is required with your order. The publishers will bill you. Guest speaker Dr. A. J. Brumbaugh, director of the Higher Education Council spoke on "Scholarship and Citizenship."

The new initiates are Mary Jo Alexander, Helen Marsh, Rocella Greenlees, Betty Gregory, Wanda Gustafson, Christine P'Simer, Trell Smothers, Jr., Hugh Allemoin, Lois Allsworth, Phillip Harrison, Charles Perkins, Carol Wells, Jane Jones, Ruth Kearl, William Proctor, Shirley Lawson, John Pologne, Glynise Smith, Betty Stuth, Mildred Jones, Virginia Marquis, Florence Pate, Jane Pulman, Janice Southerland, and Lilian Zachary.

Classified

LOST: One red wallet containing $70 and identification. Please contact Nancy Bastlet at Phidau Rho.

MILLER'S Gallery

50 million times a day at home, at work or on the way

There's nothing like a

Coke

1. PURE AND WHOLESOME... Nature's own flavors.
2. BRIGHT, EVER-FRESH SPARKLE...
3. REFRESHES SO QUICKLY... with as few calories as half an orange, juicy grapefruit.

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.

"Coke" is a registered trade mark. © 1955, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

FLASH! JUST RECIEVED

NEW SHIPMENT "IV's"

BLACK TWILL WASH PANTS
PLAIN FRONTS WITH IVY LEAGUE BELTED BACK

IDEAL TO WEAR WITH ALL YOUR SPORTS WEAR
Sizes 28-36

only 5.00 PER PAIR

Turner's

European Studies Institute Offers Scholarship Awards

The next regular courses of the University Institute of European Studies of Turin will be conducted mostly in French by professors of various nationalities and experts from international organizations from January to May 1956. They will have as their objective an advanced academical and professional education and will deal with the main problems concerning politics, law and economics in connection with the historical and cultural development of Europe. A detailed programme will be published later, an adequate preparation will be required as the part of the students.

Applications will combine teaching, as provided by lectures and seminars, with researching.

The participants will be required to collaborate by assisting professors and tutors in their work as well as by setting up study groups. Attendance to classes will be required.

Participants having passed the examinations required will be granted a Certificate of Higher European Studies after the second year will be mostly devoted to research.

Applicants may be sent in by candidates of any nationality and must reach the Secretariat of the Institute by October 31, 1955. Each application must be accompanied by the following documents:

1- Curriculum vitae

2- Certificates stating that applicant has obtained a University degree preferably in law, in economy, in politics or social sciences. the certificate must also indicate the various special grades obtained, well as the courses attended.

3- A photograph (passport size).

4- Any further documents which mabit be useful in ascertaining whether the applicant is qualified for attending the courses of the Institute such as publications, recommendations by competent authorities, documents stating the candidate's knowledges of foreign languages, etc.

The Institute is offering:

Thirty scholarships, covering board, lodging and tuition in Turin for the whole period of the courses.

Applications for scholarships must reach the Secretariat of the Institute by July 31, 1955: they must include an application for admission together with the above specified documents and a favourable statement signed by an academic authority.

Should the candidate be the recipient of another scholarship, or of any other subsidy, he is expected to report this to the Institute at the same time specifying the amounts involved.

The decision of the Board of the Institute are final regarding admission and the grant of scholarships. The Institute has furthermore a right: a) to exclude from the above economic advantages and from those courses those students considered as unworthy or lacking an adequate knowledge of the French language; b) to admit students not in great scholarships to candidates who should prove particularly deserving, although not answering all the above mentioned requirements, or to candidates whose qualifications for good reasons, may reach the Secretariat after the prescribed date; c) to admit in the courses of the second year those students who have not followed the first year courses; d) to admit auditors.

For any further communication or request of information please apply to the Secretariat of the University Institute of European Studies: via Conte Rosso 3, Torino-Italy. Telegraphic address: Eurostudi Torino.

Schmidt, Roth Perform On 2nd Faculty Recital

A Summer Music Camp faculty recital was given last night by Harry Schmidt, clarinetist, and George Roth, pianist.

The general public attended this concert which was held in Opperman Music Hall.

Opening and concluding groups of selections was given with piano accompaniments.

"Concerto, Opus 107, Rondo" by Mozart opened the program, followed by Introduction, Opus 116, No. 4 by Brahms and "Premiere Fantasy" by Marty.

The piano selections were "Goblin Dance" by Dvorak, "Di Ballo Del Roth" by Schubert-Liszt and "Polonaise in A-flat" by Chopin.

Final clarinet selections were "Sonata Andantine and Finale" by Bernstein, "Lament and Tarentelle" by Grovelz and "Grand Duo Concertant" by Weber.

Honorary Initiates Education Students

Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary at FSU, held initiation ceremonies for new members followed by a banquet in the Rotarian Room on the Milton Carothers, dean of the Graduate School, as toastmaster.

Guest speaker Dr. A. J. Brumbaugh, director of the Higher Education Council spoke on "Scholarship and Citizenship."

The new initiates are Mary Jo Alexander, Helen Marsh, Rocella Greenlees, Betty Gregory, Wanda Gustafson, Christine P'Simer, Trell Smothers, Jr., Hugh Allemoin, Lois Allsworth, Phillip Harrison, Charles Perkins, Carol Wells, Jane Jones, Ruth Kearl, William Proctor, Shirley Lawson, John Pologne, Glynise Smith, Betty Stuth, Mildred Jones, Virginia Marquis, Florence Pate, Jane Pulman, Janice Southerland, and Lilian Zachary.

Church News

METHODIST

Mrs. Dodd, mother of Mrs. Austin Holladay, co-director of the Methodist Student House, is in charge of the student house this week during her daughter and son-in-law's absence. She reports that activities will continue according to the usual schedule, and that the Friday afternoon social will be an ice cream social this week. This morning the student house played host to a group from Wakulla School for Girls of Thomasville, Ga.

BAPTIST

This evening at 5:30 the Baptist YWA will hold a supper meeting. The meal will be free, and a speaker will provide an illustrated lecture on his experiences in Japan.

Baptist Students, in connection with their Weekly activities, have deputation groups to the local jail and T. B. hospital. Betty Haas, president of YWA, has charge of services at the jail. Edwards' B. B. Hospital is David Mikell, head of B.M.O.C. takes care of the jail visits.

This Will Give You An Idea

HOW RELIABLE

Superior Cleaners Is

With Confidence You Can Have Your Clothes Cleaner.

Guaranteed and Complete Dry Cleaning Service.

Pick-up and Delivery Service

SANITONE

Serving Tallahassee Since 1929

SANITONE WITH

SUPERIOR CLEANERS

308 S. MONROE
DIAL 2-0652
JUT ACROSS THE STREET FROM SEARS

UNIVERSITY RECREATION COMMITEE Pass many summer activities. Left to right are: Marry Fea Cawthon, chairman; Mary Gail Bass, Sara Torne Frances Annis, Faye Rigby, Pat Brady and Miss Christine P'Simer, co-ordinator of Summer Recreation. T committee also serve as ushres for the Artist Series.

Photo by Roger Herod

Two-Day Conference Held On Elementary Evaluation

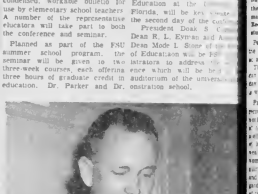
A two-day conference to discuss ways of evaluating the elementary school programs in southern states will be here today and tomorrow.

Methods for improving reading, citizenship participation and the supply of good teachers will be among subjects discussed by teachers, principals and supervisors from about 16 southern states.

The conference, directed by Edna Dean Baker, FSU School of Education, will serve as a prelude for a six-week seminar to produce a condensed, usable bulletin for use by elementary school teachers. A number of the representative educators will take part in both the conference and seminar.

Planned as part of the FSU summer school program, the seminar will be given to two three-week groups differing over three hours of graduate credit in education. Dr. Parker and Dr. Sarah Lou Hammond will preside.

Dr. W. T. Edwards, head of elementary education at FSU, will make a conference address. The scope and organization of the program to be evaluated by the workshop will also be set for the seminar.



Dr. A. J. Gesser of the executive secretary of the Association of College and Research Libraries, and Dean R. L. Evans and Associate Dean Mode I. Stone of the School of Education will be present to address the conference which will be held in auditorium of the university.

Godfrey Views Vascular Plants

Dr. Robert K. Godfrey, associate professor of botany at FSU is cooperating in an intensive study of the vascular plants of the southeastern United States recently instituted by the staff of the Arnold Arboretum and the Gray Herbarium of Harvard University.

The ultimate aim of the project is the preparation of a revised manual of the flora of this region, according to Dr. Kim Mervbotany department head. He said the lack of such a publication has been a serious handicap to investigators in the South for some time.

Dr Godfrey will participate to the project through field explorations and collecting in north Florida. In addition to contributing to the knowledge of the flora of region, the project will make possible the addition of valuable plant collections to the FSU Herbarium of which Dr. Godfrey is the Curator. Field work involved in this study is supported by funds contributed by Harvard University.

RUNNER-UP candidate for Summer Council Chairman is Daniel Gorham.

Speech Seminar Enrolls Thirty-Five High Schoolers

Miami has a monopoly on the number of students enrolled in Florida State University's second annual Summer High School Speech Institute being held at that school July 16, with 13 out of the enrollment of 35.

The students are Bob Reisenauch, Rita Russell, Judie Webb, Julie Blackburn, Janet Campbell, Janet Hall, Elaine Ward, Jeanne Sparks, Patsy Bass, Richard Green, Rosa Castro, Gloria Rina and Margie Arth.

Other Florida students enrolled in the institute are Melvin Perera and Barry Lasinger, Edna Black and Ruth Braxton, Randell Roacll, Susan Campbell, Doctors Inlet, Faye LeVerne and Carol Newman, and Harold Kay, Jr.

The Georgia students are Jan Dickey, Holly Hershberg, Jeanne Rogers and Martha Covington. Linda Archbold, Wright Turner, Eleanor Best and Jane Mann. Sue Crawford, Margie Alexander and Jo Bess Smith.

Alabama is represented at the institute by Cody Lou Anderson of Spring Hill and Nortu Carolina by Billy Frank Gantt of Cherryville. The institute is divided into forensic and dramatic divisions with

NEW HANDBOOK FREE TO ANGLERS

A new thirty-four page handbook by Lee Wulff is available, without cost, to the and fisherman.

The book, a solid mine of detailed information on fishing fishing including fresh and water, records, proper equipment methods of fishing, information on guns and a section on woodcraft.

The request for the booklet, one dollar value, should contain suggested tip for the outdoorsman, written on business or and not over 25 words.

The booklet, made available by the Ancient Art Distilling Company without charge, can be secured by writing Sports Afield magazine, 926 5th Avenue, New York 19, New York.

Go To Malone's Book Store

For all your supplies, books, and sundries.

"Everything for the student"

107 S. Copeland

One-Act Plays Tonight In Conradi Theater

The Summer Flambeau

Dr. Jordon Publishes New Biography

VOL. XL, NO. IV — PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA — THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1938

Permanent Meeting Dates Set At First Council Meet

Standing Comittee Selected By Gatlin

At the first meeting of the Summer Council, Chairman Ken Gatlin appointed the various standing committees of the council.

Those appointed were rules committee, chairman Rod Wilson, and Virgil Austin; constitutional committee chairman Sam Alderman and Beth Suggs; recreational and social committee, chairman Pat Hilton, "Breeze" Overton and Trudie Perry. These committees will function beginning immediately, throughout the summer term.

Though there is yet one vacant seat on the council, Trudie Perry was elected by write-in vote to be one of the freshman-sophomore women seats.

An appointee to fill the other seat will be announced soon.

Jean Halford, acting as a representative of the council, was appointed to serve as chairman of the student-faculty traffic committee. This committee includes Dean Oglesby, and the managers Blackburn substituting for Mr. Jim Carr), Ray, and Vogel, representing the faculty, and Sam Alderman, Trudie Perry, Carolyn Redfern, and Ray Hemann, students.

Permanent meeting times of the council were also established at this meeting.

The meeting will be held Monday evening at 7:30 and Thursday afternoon at 5. The public is welcome at these meetings.

Dr. Hilton announced that the curriculum committee will be meeting on two major problems of the summer session immediately. These are the extension of hours for day trips and the serving of shorts on campus between students. Letters of inquiry have been sent to colleges and universities nearby in regard to the latter, and members of the recreation and social committee have met with the dean of women in connection with this matter.

During the first meeting, a bill was passed creating the title ruler of procedure for the 1938 council. Below is a copy of these rules as submitted by Sam Alderman and accepted with minor changes by the council members.

At the second meeting of the council Rod Wilson was appointed to help make some adjustment in the faulty bus schedule present in operation. He will be Mr. Ray and with him work out some solution. Also a member of this committee is Breezy Overton.

Sam Alderman introduced in effort to have the summer council and Summer Flambeau represented in the Talla-Ru. Appointed to a committee to study the matter were Pat Hilton, chairman, and Sam Alderman and Virgil Austin.

At the coming meeting the constitution committee, headed by Sam Alderman will make a special report on the information received through writing to various southeastern state universities in regard to their plans of summer government. This information will be used in bettering FSU's summer government organization.

STUDENTS INVITED

All students have the privilege of attending their student government meetings. Council meetings invite a week as an opportunity for observation of democracy at work. Take an interest in your school. Follow your school leaders in action.

TRAFFIC FEE SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE: Left to right seated Carolyn Redfern, Mrs. Margaret Blair, Assistant Director of Vocational Guidance and Placement in charge of Scholarships. Behind them are Dean of Students Oglesby and Joan Halford.

Recipients For Davis Brothers Scholarships Are Announced

Recipients of two new scholarships, to be known as the Davis Brothers Scholarship, were announced today by President Doak S. Campbell.

Rene Davis, a senior in the College of Business, was awarded a $200 scholarship from the W. A. L. Freed Storey Foundation of Jacksonville, sponsors of the scholarships. Ray Johnson, also a senior at FSU and a major in chemistry was awarded $200 by the Foundation.

Senior Men Have Priority

The new scholarships are intended for senior men primarily, with good academic standing, good character, potential promise and with financial need. They must have resided for ten years previous to attending FSU in either Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi or Kentucky and must intend to live in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi or Louisville, Kentucky, after leaving school.

Rene Davis, who is a graduate of Avon Park High School 1932, is the son of James Marshall Davis, II. E. Waycross Street, Avon Park, Florida, not related to the donors, and is one of a family of four. Davis has worked in dining halls and as a switchboard operator at FSU and for the past three summers has worked in a hotel in North Carolina where he is helping to meet his expenses again this summer. His grade point average is 1.29.

Johnson, who has been a student assistant at FSU for three years, is a graduate of Albany High School and son of Mrs. James Leslie Johnson and the late Mr. Johnson of 523 Pine Avenue Albany, Georgia. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta and the pre-medical honorary Phi Lambda. Alpha Epsilon Delta.

The scholarship committee stated the awards in addition to President Campbell, included: Dr. Louis Carson, Dean of Men at FSU, and Peter Nimkoff, President of the Student Body.

Church News

BSU

Open house will be held Friday night at the Baptist Student House Saturday at 7:30 p.m. members of BTU will hold a costume party, for which guests will come dressed as song titles.

EPISCOPAL

Episcopal students and faculty members are invited by Dr. and Mrs. Harcourt Waller to attend an open house each Thursday evening from 8 to 10 p.m. At these informal gatherings a man light refreshments will be served.

METHODIST

This Saturday afternoon, Methodist students will hold a picnic at St. Marks from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Sunday morning at Sunday School the speaker will be Dr. Glenn James, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church who will speak on a portion of the Lord's Prayer.

Traffic Study Group Formed At Florida State

The new traffic Committee, headed by Joan Halford, has started active work in combating the traffic problem, long neglected at FSU.

At a recent meeting in Dean Oglesby's office, the committee opened discussion with particular points that needed immediate attention—the parking problem, traffic congestion, and the problem of the entrance to the University at Fourteenth street.

Suggestions for a possible relief to the parking situation seemed to emphasize zoned parking, as well as an increase in available parking areas. However, there will be no decisive action till the next meeting, said Joan Halford, chairman of the committee.

In regard to the congestion, the State Road department has recommended that certain of the campus streets be widened to permit a safer flow of traffic. It is planned that the street that goes in front of the Freshman Women's dorms will be made a one way street before the fall semester.

Other members of the committee are Trudy Perry, Ray Hemann, Carolyn Rebern, and Sam Alderman, representing Student Government. Dr. Mercitt Orkle representing the faculty; Mr. Blackburn substituting for Dean Carr, Mr. Shaw business manager; and Mr. Harry Day, assistant business manager.

Two Winners Announced For Co. Scholarship

The two annual $200 Reiss Roebuck Foundation scholarships for freshmen entering Florida State University as business economics majors were announced today by Dr Margaret B. Sandels, dean of the FSU School of Home Economics.

The scholarship winners for 1938 are Miss Sara Elizabeth Bevan, daughter of Mr and Mrs Hatcher S Bevan of Quincy, and Ruth Ann Hedden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hedden of Fort Myers. Miss Bevan was selected on a basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and extracurricular achievements and accoming from rural homes.

Miss Hedden, a graduate of Miss Bowen is already established in a dormitory at FSU as a summer school student. She intends to complete her four years of college in three years, including summers. Active in 4-H Club work for nine years, she was one of 20 to represent Florida last November at the 4-H National congress of the organization in Washington, D. C.

Civil Defense Leaders Take Intensive Training Course

Florida has added immeasurably to its reservoir of trained leadership ready to act effectively in saving lives and property from any attack or natural disaster, Civil Defense spokesmen point out in reviewing results of the State Civil Defense Staff College at the University of Florida.

State Civil Defense officials said they were highly pleased over the fact that many local government officials were among the 30 students graduated in the five-day course June 27-July 1. This indicates, they add, that progress is being made in building civil defense into existing governmental services at all levels of government.

These key leaders are now better prepared to confine the work of organizing their home communities to survive disaster—whether from natural causes such as hurricanes or tornados or from enemy attack, it was pointed out.

Instructions in methods of minimizing loss of life and property by adequate organization of human and physical resources of

(Continued on Page 4)

'Mr. Pim Passes By' Next Conradi Speech Production

SUMMER STOCK—"Mr. Pim Passes By" is the next attraction for theater goers. In the cast are: left to right, Margie Tindell, seated and standing John Anderson, Carolyn Brown, and Eb Thomas. Photo by Rodger Herndon

One - Act Plays Presented Tonight By Speech Institute

Following the footsteps of their "older cousins" the drama group of the Speech High School Institute, which is being sponsored by the Department of Speech here, will present two one-act plays tonight.

Curtain goes up at 8:15 p.m. at the Augusta Conradi Theatre where audiences will view "So Wonderful in White" by N Richard Nusbaum and "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" by Josephina Niggli. Admission is free.

Theme of the first play is that of dormitory life of nurses and how they live. Putting their practical knowledge to use the girls solve their own troubles and as well as solving others.

Appearing in the play are:

Ginte Brash	Jane Mann
Peg Nilpman	Sue Crawford
Gail Sterrin	Fern Le Velie
Jane Held	Carol Newman
Eleanor De Witt	Liberta Kuta
Iverson	Holly Hertsberg
Basselman	Margie Alexander
Frankel	Linda Archibald
New Girl	Jessie Rigers

From the sick dormitory we are taken south of the border and learn of love, war and Robert Nesbit in "Sunday Costs Five Pesos." It's a play where a girl loses her love and regains him though everyone rises efforts.

Rounding out the cast in this play are:

Fidel	Bill Frank Gantt
Berta	Cindy Lou Anderson
Lupe	Margie Percy Airth
Tonia	Jo Bess Smith
Celestina	Sue Covington.

These plays are part of the Speech High School Institute, yearly event, for high school students to visit the campus for an intensive three week course in Speech Activities.

Students attend classes in stagecraft, acting, makeup and costume design. In the afternoon and evenings they attend rehearsals for their productions and work on the scenery.

Under the supervision of the regular staff members here at the Speech Department the students have done all the work such as painting and building of their own scenery.

Musicampers Ready For Final Week of Fun, Study on Campus

The 16th annual Summer Music Camp at Florida State University, 300 strong, is all set for the fifth and final week of fun and musical events participation on the university campus.

The musicampers will present a band and orchestra concert in Doper-Leak Music Hall, and an opera, "Lowland Sea" by Alec Wilder, at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, July 20, in Westcott Auditorium; and the gala wind-up concert at 8:15 p.m. Friday, July 22, in Westcott—it will include demonstrations from all musical areas covered by the camp, even the elective, baton twirling.

All camp musical performances, including the opera, are free and open to the public. The camp has presented regular Sunday evening concerts and numerous individual recitals, ranging from organ to voice during its stay on campus in this largest camp in history.

The camp is made up entirely of high school students from all parts of Florida and from a number of other states. There are even a couple of band aficiona from as far away as Toledo, Ohio.

Most of the students have definite musical talent. There are 51 in the 1935 camp on scholarships, 13 of that number having partial scholarships.

The students live in dormitories or fraternity houses on the campus, and eat all of their meals in a university dining hall room. They have the use of all university facilities, including gym, library and recreational camp on Lake Bradford.

WALT WHITMAN DISPLAY IN LIBRARY

An exhibit of letters, papers and manuscripts commemorating the 100th anniversary of the printing of Walt Whitman's Leaves of Grass will be on display in the foyer of the Library until August 13th.

Second Stock Play Features 3 Angels Stars

Summer Stock of '38 will make its second bow with "Mr. Pim Passes By" by A. A. Milne at the Augusta Conradi Theater a week from this Thursday.

Rehearsals have been in session for almost a week during the performances of the last play. Five of the cast in the former play, "My 3 Angels" will be seen again in audience.

Those appearing for the second time are Lee Hillman who plays the title role of Mr. Pim; Eb Thomas as George Maiden and Margie Tindell as his wife. Romantic interest in the play will be handled by Carolyn Brown and Frank and John Anderson as Brian Strange.

New to summer audiences here are Cecil Tracy who plays Lady Warden. Tracy has done Little Theatre work and also helped in various ways on "My 3 Angels" but makes her summer debut as Mrs. Elizabeth Maya in the role of Anne. She has worked in all capacities with a little theatre group in Carolina and was control-board operator for the last play.

Adults, as well as children, will enjoy the delightful story of "Winnie the Pooh" which was written by the same author of this three act comedy.

Mr. Pim Passes By" takes place in England where each family or part of it at least is trying to do modern while the other side tries to remain loyal to the stand on "unmodernistic thinking" as set forth by their forefathers.

Love plays an important part in this family upheaval from the viewpoint of getting married against the wishes of the head of the household as exercised by the Lady of the house is accused of heresy.

With the passing of Mr. Pim into the Maiden household the task of restoring the marital rolling. After all-how would you like to find out your deceased husband is really alive and not dead.

Remaining sequences will tell the finish of this three act marital affair. Tickets

Dr. Lynn E. Orr is the director of the play in charge of Technical effects is Charles Reimer and handling makeup and costuming is Frances Levine.

Crew work such as staging managing lighting and properties will be taken care of by those not cast in the play.

PDK Initiates 12 Members

The twelve graduate students recently initiated into Phi Delta Kappa national educational honorary, at FSU are John Gustasson, Louis Hershbergen, George Schaffer, Agnes Cleveland, Grace Valentine, James Cooper, Wilson Frederick Hall, Edward Nall, Richard Kelso, Victor Rogers, and Boyd Wilborn.

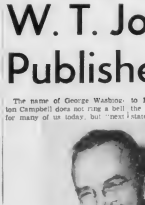
J. Norwood Baker, a retired Pennsylvania educator spoke on the Challenge of Phi Delta Kappa. He ended as the three major challenges to help meet the needs for the influx of school population to aid the state and graduate students and to provide equal educational opportunities for all.

W. T. Jordan, History Head, Publishes New Biography

The name of George Washington Campbell does not ring a bell for many of us today, but "next statesman of the West during the entire Jefferson period."

That is the opinion of Dr. Weymouth T. Jordan, acting head of the Department of History at Florida State University whose new biography, "George Washington Campbell of Tennessee: Western Statesman", is published under auspices of the FSU Research Council.

Dr. Jordan has worked on the research for this book since 1931, the first draft of the biography at Vanderbilt as a graduate student. With footnotes, bibliography, notes and bibliography, the book is dedicated to Robert S. Cotterill, "gentleman and scholar", professor emeritus of history at FSU.



Both Dr. Jordan and Campbell have roots in North Carolina and Tennessee. The professor was born in the Tar Heel state while Campbell was a native of Scotland, migrating to North Carolina with his family at the age of three. Both moved into Tennessee as young men.

How the Scotch immigrant boy grew into a "rabid" member of congress during the War of 1812, later became secretary of the United States Treasury and ultimately minister to Russia is quite a story. There are not considered died of typhus fever within a week in Russia, but he and his wife and baby boy, Rodney Russia, stayed on at his post in St. Petersburg a full year after the tragedy.

Russia's stand on ratification of the treaty clearly drawn between Spain and the United States over the disposition of Florida was a factor in 1819 when Campbell was minister to Russia. His report from St. Petersburg, "Russia hoped for a peaceful settlement of the Florida treaty" was welcome news in Washington.

Dr. Jordan's scholarly biography presents a new slant on a critical period in United States history. Its focal point is the life of a statesman who "made valuable contributions to the development of legislative, executive, financial and diplomatic policies of the national government" and "does not deserve the obscurity that has been his lot."

The book is 17th in a series of Florida State University Studies by professors at the university, and is embellished with the FSU seal. It is the first monograph in the series which includes a wide variety of subjects, ranging from "Conclusions in Geometry" to "History and Literature."

Dr. Weymouth Jordan, acting head of History department, publishes biography.

Two Canoeing Trips Planned

Last Saturday's first Canoeing trip conducted and sponsored by the staff of the Reservation, was such a great success, that it is necessary to schedule two trips for this weekend.

There will be one trip on Saturday, July 16th, leaving from the women's gym at 10 a.m. and returning to campus at 4 p.m. The Sunday trip, July 17, will leave from the women's gym at 1 p.m. and return to campus at 9 p.m.

All participants will canoe downstream from Wakulla, on the Wakulla River, to St. Marks. If you are going on the Saturday trip it is advised to bring lunch; however, those going on the Sunday trip should make plans to eat evening dinner at St. Marks' restaurant.

All new participants (those who did not make the No. 1 trip) are required to Log for the No. 2 and/or the No. 3 trip on the Bulletin Board outside Room 202 in the Women's Gym before tonight's meeting. At 5:30 p.m. there will be a necessary briefing session at the pool. Members of the faculty and staff wishing to participate in these trips must obtain them from the Office of the Business Manager, in 207 West Gym before qualifying.

HIGHSCHOOLERS PRACTICE for tonight's productions of "Five Pesos On Sunday," one of the two one-act plays presented by the Speech Institute. Standing, Bill Frank Gantt and Carol Newman, in the well, Fayn Le Velie.

Value Of Traffic Council

The organization of a Traffic Council shows forethought for our expanding university and traffic problem. Other leading universities have found the need of such a committee. Previously at Florida State there has been a Traffic Court with power to fine (oh dirty word) charge fees for traffic violations on campus. With the advent of the Legislature's new law, traffic on campus will now be handled by the City of Tallahassee. This seems to eliminate the traffic court, so it's about time students and staff worked together in solving ever recurring traffic difficulties in congestion, parking, roads, and violations. Personally, it still seems that the bus situation should be cleared up with the addition of busses and schedules that coincide with class bells.

Many students steel feel that Freshman cars should be banned but there are numerous reasons this seems unlikely. Tallahassee is in the top part of the state, nearly five hundred miles from the Miami area. Freshmen will find it extremely trying to move clothing and equipment to Tallahassee before the school term and then send the car home. Campus transportation is inadequate for most students and their schedules. Commercial busses, plane and train lines are time-consuming or expensive with running schedules that are irregular with the ending of classes for holidays. Eating places around and on campus during holidays are practically non-existant and during the regular session many of the finer restaurants and churches are beyond the city bus lines.

A.U. Texas alleged administrative "railroading" of the ban has been sharply criticized by students and faculty members; at Indiana, reasons given for no freshman car rules are being questioned.

Indiana trustees gave "education and automobiles don't mix" as the philosophy behind the new rule. The Indiana Daily Student quoted the dean of students as saying" . . . it has been our experience that the possession and use of an automobile is a distracting influence to serious study and a serious handicap to superior scholastic achievement." I ask . . . who is trying to fool who?

Here's a plea for extensive research by the new Traffic Council before any major decisions are submitted to the student government for approval.

President Speaks Wisely

When President Doak S. Campbell says the university should not grow too big he is voicing the thoughts of most responsible educators.

Being a big school can mean a bigger curriculum; a fatter budget and a more impressive campus. It by no means insures better education.

There is something about a small school that is conducive to learning. Perhaps it is the closeness of instructor to pupil; it could be the fact that the student is an individual and not a number.

We can remain under 10,000 but we can become great. "All it takes," to quote a popular song, "is heart."

Military Preparedness Essential

It looks as if every young man is going to have to spend the best years of his life on active military duty and then in the reserves.

It's not a pleasant prospect. Yet some sort of military preparedness is called for. Disarmament is good only when attempted by both parties to the dispute.

There are grave dangers inherent in any full-scale military training. Before we leap into such a situation we should be aware of the ramifications.

In a society where all the young men, at one time or another, dress alike, march alike, talk alike and act alike, there is a compelling tendency towards thinking alike.

Specifically, a military leader, by virtue of his uniform and authority, could command the loyalties of most young men who soon grow older and take wives and have children.

Such would be a lot of power to vest in a symbolic suit of khaki.

Similarly, the whole society can become imbued with a pseudo-militarism, an enthusiasm for war as its instruments, and a desire for strong and authoritarian leadership.

Translated into history, such is the psychology which Adolf Hitler created in Germany, where millions of people worshipped their Fuhrer.

Can't it happen here?

The reason it might not would be that we made such a choice. External vigilance is the price of democracy.

We owe it to ourselves and our children to constantly look for some way to stay ready and yet not transform ourselves into an army of identical puppets.

Perhaps, even within universal military training on a scale of that presently under consideration in Congress, we can retain our individual minds. We can attempt to retain them.

Whatever the alternative or courses of action, we must not succumb to panic and assume that because none other has been tendered the first plan must be accepted.

Traffic Problem Near Solution

By RAY HEMANN

Results at last! I have just come from the first meeting of the new traffic committee and the wheels are finally in motion for solving the traffic and parking problems. The function of this new committee will be to handle all questions concerning traffic and related affairs on campus. At present the committee is composed of Joan Halford, chairman, Dick Ogletree, co-chairman, Trudy Perry, Carolyn Redfern and Jean Alderman, all from student government, Dr. Merritt DeVe representing the Faculty, Mr. Blackburn substituting for Dean Carr, Mr. Shaw, business manager, Mr. Harry Day Assistant Business Manager, and myself.

Under the guiding hand of Joan Halford, the meeting was set in an informal manner with an open discussion of the problems we are faced with and which need immediate attention. Number one on the agenda is the parking problem! The several possible solutions brought up seemed to point toward some type of zoned parking along with an increase in the parking areas available. This, however, is not definite and will not be decided until the next meeting when the proposals of several of the members of the committee will be discussed and voted on.

As for traffic congestion, according to the survey made by the State Road Department there is no problem as far as traffic connection is concerned. The report reads in part: "Peak fifteen minute surge does not exceed capacity of intersection" . . . "Volumes insignificant" . . . "The volumes of traffic on the various campus streets are very low and little evidence is shown of serious congestion." The only report of no problem as far as traffic congestion is concerned. The survey also recommends that some of the campus streets be widened in order to provide a safer flow of traffic. Also recommended is the elimination of the need of something being done about the old rustic, traditional gates in front of Westcott. These problems along with others are going to have to be taken up by the traffic committee and soon as the parking problem is settled.

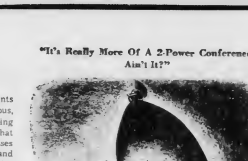
As for immediate programs under way, the committee goes in front of the freshmen women's dormitories. Suwanee St. will be made a one way street before the fall semester begins and the stop sign at the intersection of Suwanee and the North Circle around Westcott will be replaced by a "Yield Right-of-Way" sign. This means that the motorist will no longer have to stop at this intersection unless there is traffic coming.

The new traffic committee is a step in the right direction to the administration of Florida State University and an addition from which can come nothing but good constructive ideas. It will be made to do just these ideas. A word of advice to the committee: Don't let your staff members who will scoff at this committee and try to break it off as being another bunch of people who think they are doing something." Give them time before you start making noise. To the members of the committee who might lose interest, try "coasting" along or figure that they won't be missed by "just this one meeting." Look around you, don't kill a good thing.

Movie Review

(Continued from Col. 5)

of the emotions between John Hoskins and his wife. This relationship, between husband and wife, is sensitive, motivates many of the most stirring scenes of the movie.



Sterling Hayden and Alexis Smith take the parts of John and Sue Hoskins, and Dean Martin has the role of Admiral Thomas L. Semple, a four-star officer and friend of the family.

"The Eternal Sea" has an unusually large supporting cast and was filmed with the cooperation of the United States Navy.

Playing at the Perry Gudelsky Theatre Thursday, Friday, and Saturday is "Tennessee Champ," starring Shelly Winters. Also a companion hit, "Revenge of the Creature" with Lori Nelson. At the Outdoor Sunday and Monday is the "Big Heat" starring Glenn Ford and Gloria Nelson.

"Battle of Rogue River," starring George Montgomery, plus "Riot in Cell Block II" are at the Capitol Drive-In, Thursday through Saturday. Sunday and Monday Fred MacMurray and Kim Novak are in "Pushover" at the Capitol.

"It's Really More Of A 2-Power Conference, Ain't It?"

Play Reviewer's Impression Equals Earthy Wisdom, Wit

By TANN HAMMOND

With earthy wisdom and wit "My Three Angels" bring its too brief, two-night run was good summer theatre. The three angels, each with an angle, Lee Hillman, Eb Thomas, and John Anderson, were not only humorous, but they were continually setting the spirit and pace for the audience and other actors.

While the humor kept up with this triple combination of murder and mercy, not all the cast could keep in step. It is unfortunate that George Chisholm believes that shouting and raising his eyes heavenward is synonymous with acting. Tee rolex which demanded understanding and sympathic portrayal as in those of the father and the nephew. Joe Hull, excepting a rare minute or two, and Max Estes sounded like eastural Florida politicians reading campaign speeches over the radio. They were not directed.

Carolyn Brown and Marjorie Hoskins as Marie Louise and her mother gave fine efforts at "straight men" for the angels with clarity touched by realism. It will be interesting to see what these two capable actresses still do in roles with greater depth.

Madame Parole, acted by Leona Shaw, while somewhat stiff and forced, had an air of being some one who everyone knows, but "just can't think of her name." The third act brought Virgil Austin on stage as the future of Marie Louise. Small as his part was, it was done with surprising freshness.

One of the best scenes in the play was the mock trial when the angels were on the other side of the law they had not been able to beat. With "Freddy" seriousness and broad humor while acting as the judge of mugging, they tried, convicted, and executed the villian. It was this and other scenes that gave Thomas, Anderson and Hillman the right to be called the stars of "My Three Angels." They interpreted enough of the tenderness of the three lonely men to create that wonder of the theatre—actor-audience empathy. For all their angles, they were truly angels.

Marilyn Monroe Is Star In "Seven Year Itch" At Florida

"The Seven Year Itch," starring Marilyn Monroe, started Yesterday at the Florida and will play for one full week. Tom Ewell, who was a great hit in the Broadway version of "The Itch," also has the lead in the Twentieth Century Fox movie. Marilyn Monroe plays "The Girl"; Tom Ewell, the husband; Evelyn Keyes, the wife, and Sonny Tufts the friend. Others in the cast are Robert Strauss, Oscar Homolka, Marguerite Chapman, and Victor Moore.

Tom Ewell, the summer-bachelor, husband sent his wife and son to a summer resort and resolved to lead a quiet life. But his vivid imagination results in a continuous chain of hilarious incidents. He has dreams when he visualized himself as Chaucer, dreamed of many beautiful women. When he invites "The Girl" Marilyn Monroe in for a drink and really complicates matters. She likes his air-cooled apartment so much that she moves in to stay for the summer. Matters become even more chaotic when Victor Moore, the complete plumber, has to extricate Marilyn Monroe's toe from a faucet, in which it got stuck while she was taking a bubble bath.

The most publicized scene in the show is the famous stair-blowing sequence which was filmed on location in New York City, the locale of the story. When the scene was shot, traffic was jammed for blocks and there were more than 2,000 interested onlookers. The still photo of the stirr blowing as Miss Monroe stood over a subway grating made page one in newspapers all over the nation.

This Cinemascope movie in Deluxe color is a Charles K. Feldman Group Production.

"The Marauders," an M-G-M western, plays Friday and Saturday at the State with a cast headed by Dan Duryea, Jeff Richards, Keenan Wynn and introducing Jeanne Lewis. The story centers on the desperate attempt of an honest "squatter" to protect his homestead from being taken over by cattle ranchers. The complete action, including gunplay and romance, takes place over a period of twenty-four hours.

"The Marauders" was directed by Gerald Mayer and produced by Arthur M. Loew, Jr.

Filmed with dynamic action, gripping emotion, and a warm love story, "Republic's "The Eternal Sea," which opens Sunday at the State with Sterling Hayden, Alexis Smith, and Dean Jagger, is one of Hollywood's truly fine motion pictures. Based on the heroic career of Rear Admiral John M. Hoskins, who returned to active service after losing a leg, "The Eternal Sea" is much more than a service picture or drama of the sea. It is essentially a love story, an account

Continued on Col. 3, This Page

By Dick Bibler

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"Certainly. I think it's a good piece of creative work—I though so in 1951 when I first graded it."

Alabaster II

Reapportionment — A La Southern

By JAYLEEN ROBERTSON

In the good old southern drawl tradition of collegiate definitions, some of our backwoods State Senators from the "little county" interests seem to define reapportionment in this way: re- undistributing, means what it means—again" . . . but (apparently they're "up" to get your but (shun) what the constitution ment).

If this is the true meaning of the word, then let's commend our Senators for their stand on a super-duper and thorough job of carrying it out to the letter.

But the people of the state may well be in the State Supreme Court's ruling on Governor Collins' power to veto the the measure submitted to him after a two weeks' period without giving extra session.

Would it were within the rights (temporarily) of the Governor to veto the re-election of certain political names in this state—such one who have become so saturated with personal publicity as to one another that they cannot hold their obligations to the people of our state.

At this point, a bit of the Kingfish's tire would aet Governor Collins squarely on the shoulders of the state's voters. But he is to be commended for keeping a level head while watching the future of Florida stagnate in the hands of the legislature.

Criticism by the press has only recently made some ears burn red. But fortunately it's not just the "press" that decides the actions on the reapportionment issue—it's also the letters to the editors as well.

If Collins is allowed to veto the present reapportionment bill we hope the legislature realizes the only way to save its face without overtly upsetting the apple cart they've stacked thus far would be to pass Collins' proposal known as the 5% plan. It would give additional seats to Bay, Monroe, Manatee and Sarasota counties, and settle the present apportionment until the people of the state can elect a legislature which will do the job in the right spirit and within the intents of the constitution . . . said constitution which legislat . . . and pro bono publico.

Beyond The Gates

Pike Promotes Tampa Catastrophe

By ARCHIE ALONSO

Even if the proposed tour to Tampa from the Turnpike goes through it's the writing it has met with favor there is doubt whether Tampa and the Florida West Coast will reap the benefits to adjust themselves to the eventual industrial catastrophe the Pike is certain to cause.

There is now in Duval County (Jacksonville to you) so much concentration of industry, that once the Pike comes along with the same old attitude of laissez faire, there will be no stopping them. In the event that the Jacksonville interests take advantage of the transportation ease, the bitter conflict and competition that will develop will find Jacksonville emerging as the winner. There is no doubt.

What Tampa and the Central Florida small businesses can do when faced with competition, big and underrated them is not known. It is almost certain that there is NOTHING they can do but fight a useless battle.

The worst feature about it is that Duval County is ripe. Tampa's surge in recent years has left Jacksonville reeling at the mouth and tugging at the leash. This is their big chance, and they're not sitting back. They're preparing for the long battle.

The smaller tourist areas along the east coast, who do also miss their pockets for the taxes to help support this Pike, can only hope the claim is true that enough will stop the big 'cats, the revival of the Buccaneer Trail, known otherwise as the Central Highway will have a great many tourists not only to stay from the Turnpike, but from the West Coast.

This statement is on the basis of a certain hands-to-hell brush about tourists: they come to Florida to see Florida.

Already plans are being developed to go into still competition with the state for the privilege of running tourists down Florida way. AIA and some of the other coastal highways will entice the visitor with sunny scenery and leisurely driving and we're sure that The State, because it has to meet the demand of the paramedia for news a big project as the Turnpike must sell the visitors on the idea of a fast way to get through Florida, whether they'll see it or not.

Although there is no evidence to indicate that the Pike will help the smaller tourist towns and merchants along the coast, the people must assume that those desiring a faster route should be so accommodated, as is their privilege (including the big Jacksonville interests).

The smaller tourist areas along the east coast, who do miss their pockets for the taxes to help

Continued on Page 4

Inner-contain ments . . . Hamilton Basso's book, The View From Pompey's Head, moving to the book market as a good package as a startling insect for the intermediate in the Southern tradition of ancestor-importance. Besides all it's inferiority to the original lot of romance and mystery, he has something to say that anyone in a small southern town from either side of the tracks will grimace immediately. He calls it the "Status" tradition of the South . . . The seven Year Itch was written by Marilyn Monroe. This column is not sure what brought the play to Broadway four three years ago, but we attend the movie to find out. The prediction now is that it will have more eye appeal than the written pages of type did. . . . Congrats to the "Three Angels" in the summer stock production. They did a professional job. Current massaine says Humphrey Bogart and Aldo Ray will be two of the three "angels" in the forthcoming film title, "We're No Angels." No cream lines were given in the story as to the Aldo Ray play, but the name sounds suspiciously identical.

'Gradual' Desegregation Displeasing

Violent demogogues who preached open murder had to be silenced.

Other municipalities, in the South, equally in revolt, have indicated their willingness to abide by the Constitution as interpreted by the courts of the South's largest cities, is among the most encouraging.

There is, as we minds expect, more visible opposition to Integration in the deep South states to apply distinctly unfavorable pressures on those who would reject segregation as the law of the land.

They see to it, for example, that a white grocer who opposes segregation goes out of business. A Negro leader is not to be whipped And so forth.

But the conception on which these "citizens councils" are founded is wrong in every way. That any part of the country can exist by itself.

Southern boys are put into unsegregated army units.

(Continued on Page 4)

The Dissenter

Russia's Friendliness Questioned

The Survey

By DANIEL GORHAN

It is worth noting, at this time, to have a quick look at the story of Austria's relations with the USSR. The story goes back to the 1943 Moscow Conference when Russia agreed to re-establish a free and independent Austria. This carrying out of this pledge was under informmittee discussion for seven 1947 and 1949, the months of Molotov's "No! No! No!" way of achieving international understanding. Despite this, considerable progress was made over Austria, such early objections as Austria's payment of heavy reparations and her handing over parts of Carinthia and Styria havins been overcome.

Then Russia suddenly began to make it clear that even if agreement on paper was nearly reached, she had no intention of agreeing to any Austrian treaty. To ensure this, Russia in 1949 refused to budge until the Trieste question had been settled. Negotiations were resumed in 1952, but once again Russia used abortive excuse Russia invented a new excuse as fast as the Western Powers agreed to her demands.

The Western Foreign Ministers in despair agreed to accept the Russian version of articles which would have been carried out if the Russians had been reached, to which Russia answered that she must keep occupying forces in Austria until a German treaty had been signed. And until three or four months ago Russia was maintaining that the ratification of the Paris Agreements would ruin any prospect of reaching a solution of the Austrian question.

It would be hard to think of any other so clear example of the determination of a great power not to settle a question even though all its demands had in principle been agreed to. Russia, it remeed, could not afford for strategical and political reasons to release this small country from its iron-curtain to the Iron Curtain system of defense.

From The Sidelines

By JIM JOANOS

Florida State University head football coach, Tom Nugent, will greet 33 returning lettermen on the Seminole gridiron when grid practices commence in September. Leading the list of veterans are team captains Bob Crenshaw and Jerry Purvis. Crenshaw, a three-letterman, is an ace lineman and an excellent offensive center. He weighs in at 190 lbs.

Purvis, a tackle, weighs 207, and is also noted for his outstanding defensive play.

In addition to Crenshaw, one other lettermen center returns to the 1954 squad. 190-pound junior Bill Cullom of Huntsville, Alabama.

Other award-winning tackles returning from last season's very successful Seminoles are Bob Lee and Ray Sneab. Barber, who was shifted to guard this year is looked upon as one of the team's most outstanding players.

Tony Barnes, who lettered in 1953 before entering the service, returns this season to add strength to the tackle slot.

Five letterman guards return this September. They are Jerry Cain, Al Pacifico, Vince Gibbs, Lee Baggett, and Charles "Bo" Jerry Jacobs, a three-letterman, is rated not only as one of the team's best guards but also is a likely defensive standout in 1955. Pacifico weighs 203 and is a scrappy fighter. Gibbs, Baggett, and Charles Jacobs are also very fine lettermen.

Although only three lettermen will return, that position stacks up as one of FSU's strongest for the forthcoming campaign. The three who return are all outstanding. Big Tom Preamier, 6 foot 7 inch, 250 pound giant, leads the trio. Preamter was All - Florida and All - America mention last year. He caught 28 passes for 442 yards and six touchdowns. Sophomore Ronnie Schomburger's five receptions last season were good for 164 yards and two td's. Jimmy Trado also handles himself well at the flank positions and rounds out the trio.

New candidates for the backfield slots will find the competition keen as nine lettermen backs return. They are Lee Corso, John Grimer, Joe Holt, Bud Leonard, Buck Metts, Billy Odom, Vic Prinzi, Leri Swantic, and Bill Weaver. Corso, a halfback, scored 6 touchdowns and 3 extra-points to lead the teams scoring last year with 39 Holt and Grimer, both fullbacks, are excellent defensive backs. Holt is also one of the team's best hookers and an exceptional power runner.

Leonard lettered at end last year and was shifted to fullback during spring drills. Metts is a shifty halfback who accounted for three td's last year. Odom a 185 pound junior, is one of the fastest men ever to wear the garnet and gold.

Prinzi and Swantic are quarterbacks. Prinzi completed 13 of 37 attempted aerials in '54 for 373 yards and four six-pointers. Swantic was successful in 28 of 56 for 3753 yards and four touchdowns.

Weaver, who was hampered by a broken jaw last year, is a rugged tackler from the defensive halfback slot.

CO-CAPTAIN—Bob Crenshaw, a three year letterman, will help guide the Seminoles in their grid clashes this fall. A top linebacker and offensive center, Bob weighs in at 190.

Gym Threat — Don Holder, Florida State Olympic team member, is now attending summer school and will return in the fall to h elp strengthen the FSU team.

You think you got it rough?—This is the only way I can get to school due to lack of parking facilities.

TOP TACKLE—Bob Barber, who will return for action this season. Shifted to guard in the spring drills, Barber is looked upon as one of the team's most outstanding candidates.

Sports Afield

By TED KESTING
Editor, Sports Afield Magazine

A great new time has come to the sport of outboarding. It has come almost unrecognized, even by the industry. The young boys of America, from eight years on up, are taking to driving outboards the way they have to bicycles.

These boys aren't speed demons. It's fishing motors they're running—3 hp is the popular ayer, age. And can they handle them! They not only run them, but fix and mix the gas, care for them, lub them, and are even learning to work on them.

Three recent developments have made outboard driving by young boys practical and sensible. First, the modern kapok life-vest. Next, today's motors start easily. Finally, eight years is a lot older than it used to be when outboards were cast-iron and smoky. The post-war kid learned the elements of steering in his baby stroller; he played with mechanical-action toys, take, sparts and put-together.

The question often comes up, what age motor should a boy have for his first? Small motor for small boy is the obvious answer, suggests Willard Crandall, boating editor of Sports Afield magazine. Of course, the motor must always fit the boat, but get your boy a motor in a size he can handle by himself.

Incidentally, what to do on land—how to care for and store the motor, instruction in working on it—shouldn't start until he's mastered all his operating lessons afloat. If you do begin such lessons too soon, especially if he's mechanical-minded, you will dilute his interest and attention away from the much more important boat handling and driving.

By the time he's 13 a boy's ideas about outboard driving are pretty well set and you may have a difficult time melting them down. Your chance to do the real molding — instilling boating fundamentals—is much earlier.

There's another reason for starting them young at outboards. In less than 15 years the boy now eight may be driving a truck, a jet plane, or anything between. Certainly he'll be driving a car. Piloting an outboard now, he learns to judge distance while in motion, exact steering wheel and throttle response, and much else, and does it during those important learning years of eight to 15.

Literally millions of people are turning to boating for recreation; many of them are entirely new to boats and this means an inevitable increase in the number of accidents.

There are two approaches to this matter of boating safety. There's the legislative—pass a law about it. There is the educational—teach the boater what safety rules he should follow, and convince him to do it.

Most town boards and county supervisors considering boating legislation welcome information. Water laws are something new to them. You can give them the address of the Outboard Boating Club of America -307 N. Michigan, Chicago, Ill.- so they can get a copy of the booklet on uniform boating regulations.

With the help of some of the wisest boating heads in the country, the OBC has drawn up this recommended uniform boat regulation act. Its excellence is largely due to the careful following of these basic principles: to exclude everything found unenforceable or ineffective, to include only what can be made to work, and to follow as closely as practicable the laws and regulations the Coast Guard now enforces in federally navigable waters.

Willard Crandall, boating editor of Sports Afield magazine, says there are a hundred ways a boating or sportsman's club can help in safety: printing and putting up safety posters at docks, landings, resorts and boat shops. Such or boat cruises—how can the participants help but learn a lot about boats and water, special juvenile membership and activities present an unlimited field.

Even as an individual there is much you can do to promote local water safety because, basically, safety violations are much more often caused by ignorance than by carelessness. It can work like this:

You see a stranger about to leave a pier with an overloaded boat. You can't tell him to stop, that he doesn't know safety. He might shove you off the dock. Instead, you ask if he likes his boat. It is a little tippy. You had one once much like it, and it was, and that's why you asked. Of course, you never realized that yours was tippy until one day you stayed out longer than all the other boats . . . blame yourself for a near tragedy with that boat—you were a should-know-better fool to take risks with a big load and a small boat. Of course he'll go right out with the whole load; but you'll have started him thinking.

VETERAN GUARD—Jerry Jacobs, a three- year letterman, is rated not only as one of the team's best blockers but is also a likely defensive standout in 1955.

ANYONE!

We need an Advertising Manager. If you can sell, layout, and makeup advertising (slight recompensation) drop by the Flambeau office, second floor Longmire Building, and see the Editor.

NEW COOLIES:

New Coolies for the Flambeau staff! The F S U Police have been very co-operative in transporting these busy journalists on their duty-connected journeys throughout the capital city.

DEEP SEA FISHING

Boats will leave from St. Marks pier, this Saturday, at 6 45 a.m for another Deep Sea Fishing Trip, sponsored by the Summer Recreation Association. Fishing will take place in the Gulf.

Participants are requested to bring a lunch. Departure will take place from the Night Director's Office at Landis Hall.

SUMMER COUNCIL men and women meet at their first meeting. Seated are Beth Suggs, Ken Gatlin and standing: Sam Alderman, Trudy Perry, Pat Hilton and Rod Wilson.

at yours TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
Today Thru Tuesday
SEVEN YEAR ITCH
with
MARILYN MONROE
TOM EWELL
Wednesday
"FOX FIRE"
with
Jeff Chandler
Jane Russell

STATE
Today
"THE WILD ONE"
MARLON BRANDO
plus
"BAIT"
CLEO MOORE
Friday and Saturday
"SANTA FE PASSAGE"
JOHN PAYNE
Sunday Thru Tuesday
"ETERNAL SEA"
ALEXIS SMITH

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
Thurs. Thru Sat.
"Tennessee Champ"
SHELLEY WINTERS
plus
"Revenge of the Creature"
LORI NELSON
Sunday & Monday
"Big Heat"
GLENN FORD
GLORIA GRAHAM

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Thurs. Thru Sat.
"Battle of Rogue River"
GEORGE MONTGOMERY
plus
"Riot In Cell Block 11"
NEVILLE BRAND
Sunday & Monday
"Pushover"
FRED MacMURRAY
KIM NOVAK

Get Your Beach Supplies at BENNETT'S

SUNTAN OIL
BATHING CAPS
SUNGLASSES
FILMS, CAMERAS MAGAZINES AND COOLING FOUNTAIN SPECIALTIES

ALL AT AIR-CONDITIONED
BENNETT'S DRUGS
200 S. Monroe

Bid neas for lovely ladies—Clark Gable takes on wife number five. Don't fret though. You could be next!

MILLER'S Cottery

KEEPSAKE DIAMONDS
ELGIN & BULOVA WATCHES
Fine Watch Repairing
PAUL TURNER
JEWELER
102 S. Monroe Phone 3-1442

For Your Daily Needs:
Stationary
College Outline Series
Pens, Paper, Ink
Pencils, Greeting Cards and Sundries.
go to:
MALONE'S BOOK STORE
Between Kahler's and the Mecca

Twin Pipes that play sweet music!

Chevrolet's "Super Turbo-Fire V8" with 180 hp.

You can spot this one by the twin tailpipes. No matter what you drive, you're going to see twin-exhaust Chevrolets pulling away—in traffic, on the toughest hills, on the long straightaways.

. . . Unless you have a "Super Turbo-Fire V8"* of your own. And then you'll know what it's like to pilot the car that sets the pace for everything else—and doesn't pause to read the price tags!

What makes the Super scat? Chevrolet's superb valve-in-head V8, with the shortest stroke in the industry, the most power per pound, and the only 12-volt electrical system in its field—all this plus a four-barrel carburetor and free-breathing twin exhausts.†

Want to sample this silk-lined cyclone? Just give us a call, any day this week, and we'll be proud to show you just how hot a V8 can be.

*Optional at extra cost.
†Station wagon models have single exhaust pipes.

CHEVROLET

See Your Chevrolet Dealer

CARD SHARPS get started before "Smarty Party" begins at the Student Center. Seated are: George Massoth, Gordon Merims, Sonny Dave and Jack Gardner.
Photo by Rodger Herndon

Recreation Group Sponsors Mid-Summer Dance, Movie, Foster Memorial Excursion

The unedfraduate students of North Cawthon and Florida Halls will be bosiesses for their mid-summer dance to be held in the North Cawthon Paiio, tomorrow—from F 12 :o 11:45 p.m.

Harold Parkman, Aristo-Cats Orchestra will play for the occasion. Dress for the dance will be summer formal, said Miss P'Simer, Summer Recreational Directo'.

Shirley Dallas, social chairman of Florida hall and Betty Ann Peacock, social chairman of North Cawthon hall, are the co-chairmen for the dance. Other members of the committee are Barbara Rogers, Doris Cashoo, Corinne Lawerty, decorations, and Carol Roth, Sarah Pfennor, Janet Waxman, refreshmeota.

Smarty Party

Today the Summer Recreation Association is sponsoring the first Smarty-Party in the Trophy Room at the Student Center from 7:30 till 9 p.m. The party consists of bridge, canasier, and scrabble games made up of your awo play-ers or those arranged by the Dames Club, the official hostesses for the occasion. Desert will be served before the games begio.

Movie

Tomorrow there will be another free movie presented, "David and Bathsheba," in the Munte Amphitheatre starting at 8 p.m.

Saturday evening there will be a Candlelight Dance at the Student Center with Music by the G-Bach Quintet. At 10 p.m. that evening there will be a birthday cake-cutting party in the Trophy Room.

Foster Memorial Trip

This Sunday, July 17, there will be a day trip to the Stephen Foster Memorial at White Sulphur Sorings. Buses will leave from behind Weisiont at 8 a.m. There are picnic areas for those desiring to bring their owo lunch and reservations for a complete duck dinner at the hotel, there, may be made in the summer recreasion office in the basement of Lonsmire. There is no charge for admission to the Memorial.

This year is the 129th anniversary of Stephen Foster who wrote more thao two hundred songs between the ages of eighteeo and thirty-seven, the time of his death.

The Reservation. FSU's camp on the nearby Lake Bradford is opeo to students every day except Monday. If you have not yet become acquainted with this recreation area, now is the time to do so. A variety of activities are available: shuffleboard, pink pong, volleyball, badminton, or just take a good book along to read in the shade.

PARTICIPATING in the Summer Bowling is Judy Rehard.
Photo by Rodger Herndon

Varied Musical Program Was Presented At Third Concert

Third in a series of weekly concerts of orchestra and band music, free and open to the public, was presented on the Opperman Music Hall at FSU on Sunday, July 10, at 6:15 p.m.

Featured in the concert were the Summer Music Camp Gold and Garnet bands and the Music Camp orchestra. The bands were directed by Robert Brumagrl, FSU assistant professor of music, and Oliver Hobbs, director of the Leon High School band to Tallahassee Robert Sedore, director of the FSU symphonic orchestra, conducted the orchestra.

Orchestral numbers included Saint Saens' "Marche Militaire Francaise" from Suite Algerienne; "The Young Prince and the Young Princess" from Scheherazade by Rimsky-Korsakov and Tchaichovsky's "Coyoe Ballet Suite No. 1."

Selections by the Summer Music Camp Gold and were Ferde Grofe's "Mississippi Suite" "Little Italian Rhapsody" by Walter Beeler and McHugh's "A Melodie Caravao."

The Garnet band played "Peanut" by Peracbetti, "Havana ooo Special" by Carter; Strauss waltzes from "Der Rosenkavalier"; "Third Street Rhumba" by Clifford Shaw and Cline's "Valor and Victory" march. Another Garnet Band number, "Concerto Grioso" by Joseph Wagner, featured cornet players Eugene Kitchens, David Justis and Harold Parkmso, and baritone player Larry Morgao.

Music Camp Held Concert Last Night

The chorus of the Florida State University summer music camp presented its annual concert last night in Westcott Auditorium.

The program was under the direction of James M Harris, Vida K Petin and Eric Bera were assistant directors, and Roxyann Abernathy student director. Margaret McRae accompanied the group.

Members of the baton twirling class, under the instructorship of Donna Konia, were a feature of the program. The faculty string trio also took part.

The program included religious selections and folk songs of several countries with emphasis oo American spirituals.

Civil Defense

(Continued from Page 1)

a community, how to recruit, train and utilize volunteers in civil defense activities, and actual experience in command and control functions under simulated disaster conditions were features of the school.

The students were told that Russia has the capability &r striking key American cities with nuclear weapons and that 'h out of 100 enemy planes would penetrate our existing defenses. They were also told that the numerous vital armed forces establishments in Florida would make this state an inviting atratesic target.

The Staff College was spoosored by the General Extension Division of the University of Florida, the Florida Civil Defense Council, and the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Dan Gorham Survey

(Continued From Page 2)

of conflicting claims between two equally honest parties, from their own points of view, but simply the result of absolute obstructions from the Communist side. It is worth bearing this in mind, for it has been the Western case that Soviet obstruction, not intrinsically insoluble differences, accounts for persisting international tension. Were than this, this has been the view of the numerous critics of Western policy in Europe and this country. In this one striking example, the "reactionary" view has been shown to have been absolutely correct.

Why did Moscow think it worthwhile making this sudden and unexpected change of front? The reason is obvious. By showing how stalemanlike Communism can be, the Soviet hopes to win sufficient goodwill to Germany to frustrate the Adenauer policy of German military alignment and integration with the West.

The whole business is unappareot and the first fruits of the plan are so blatant that one would think it could have no hope of success; and so many of our more "practical" journals seem to have shown themselves blind once again!

CUBAN TRIP. FSU students having dinner at a Cuban restaurant during the recent Havana trip sponsored by URA.

Gradual Desegregation Delightful?

(Continued From Page 2)

Southern children, for all of the frantic censors, are exposed to movies, magazines, television programs and newspapers in which men of all races live and act together.

Trains and buses passing through the South are, in theory unsegregated. More and more edtorators stand up and speak their conscience and denounce segregation and the purile hatred for which it stands.

The leaders of the churches proclaim that all men are equal and alike under God. A few may disagree, but the great Southern church groups have resolved against segregation.

Exposed to all those influences, the young southerner cannot always vies the habit of segregation, as his elders implore, as an unfalible and inconistable way of life. Even if he will not so admit, doubts gnaw within him.

Children are not born prejudiced They are taught to think that way. If their diet of hate and fear is exchanged for one of kindness and love they will not grow up to think that color makes or breaks the individual.

Warfare for segregation? Those who preach it are cowards. They will not make good their vain, vote-getting boasts.

Aside from our own consciences, we face the world. A nation which preaches democracy must practice it. If we expect Asian and African nations to follow democracy it must appear worth-while.

Given courage and determination, we can end segregation. And we can diminish the blight of all misfortune. There is nothing we cannot do toward the goal of human freedom if that is sincerely our goal

RAINCOATS HAZARD

Raincoats are a hazard on campus it seems. The presence with their owoers is bound to keep the sun shining but leave them in the dorm and all——— breaks loose from the clouds.

DR. GREEN SPEAKS FOR LECTURE SERIES

Dr Alex E. S. Greeo of the physics department will address a limited audience on "The Constellations" tonight at: 8:30. The lecture will be held in the southwest corner of Westcott on the third floor. Tickets will be made available by calling extension 5696 for reservations.

NEW ARRIVAL—Jeannie Bigers, playing the New Girl in a nursing school comes to renew the faith of Peg Shipman, played by Sue Crawford. Looking on is another student nurse, Gilly Brash played by Jane Mann. Gail Stephens, registered nurse and friend of Peg looks pleased. She is played by Favn Le Veille.

The COTTON CLINIC will keep your cotton dresses like new....
TAKE THEM TO
Superior Cleaners
who use a special cleaning process, not washing. It puts back into the dress the original sizing present at the initial purchase.
SANITONE
"Across the Street From Sears"
308 S. MONROE

50 million times a day
at home, at work or while at play
There's nothing like a
Coke
1. BRIGHT, RIGHT TASTE .. tangy, bracing, everfresh
2. FAST REFRESHMENT ... a bit of quick energy for a wholesome little lift.
DRINK Coca-Cola
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
Tallahassee Coca-Cola Bottling Co.
"Coke" is a registered trade mark © 1955, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Get "free-wheeling" comfort with "Feel-like-a-million"
Jockey brand
underwear
Made only by COOPERS
See our complete "Underwear-drobe" today!
Short 1.20
Sleeveless Undershirt 1.00
T-Shirt 1.25
Turner's
Gateway to Fashions

Dollar Days
Thursday — Friday — Saturday
And as usual, just what you would expect to find at:
MAYERON'S
BARGAINS GALORE
SHORTS
Size 10-20
2 for 3.00
1.99 ea.
T SHIRTS
S-M-L
1.00 ea.
NYLON PANTIES
• Brief Style
• White
• Sizes 5-6-7
2 for 1.00
Limit—2 to a customer
BLOUSES
• Sleeveless
• Short Sleeves
• Values to 8.98
1.99 ea.
Cotton Dresses
Cotton Lingerie
Summer Sleepware
1/2 Price
COSTUME JEWELRY
Values to 2.00
2 for 1.00 plus tax
All Summer Skirts
Values to 7.98
3.90 ea.
MAYERON'S
COLLEGE AVE AT ADAMS

Speech Play Begins Tonight In Conradi

The Summer Flambeau

Music Camp Final Gala Concert Tomorrow

. XL, NO. 5 — PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA — THURSDAY, JULY 21, 1955

eading Dramatist Makes are Appearance Tuesday

aniel Reed Billed n Final Artist eries Program

e final production on the er Artist Series will feature Reed, in "Showbusiness," scott Auditorium Tuesday July 26, at 8 15 p.m.

e Daniel Reed talks about usiness" or gives one of s demonstrating the con- of America in the arts, ss whereof he speaks. The own dramatist - director, has figured in the three of the American Renaisnning as a child-actor in mpanies of Nat Goodwin e stock companies of the Coast, where he played ng from juveniles to cen- he soon became one of est stage-managers in a e the productions were stic and elaborate that ght sometimes be mu pieces He also wrote and med his own sketches in rs when vaudeville was a ng form of theatre.

Little Theatre Work

reaction against over-pro- sm he turned to the theatre and acted in cago Little Theatre, then ed the St Paul Little Thea- and almost immediately the Town Theatre of Co- South Carolina, which a group of resident thea- that area. In Chicago, he part of the great Mid-West ence and, around his circle Carolina developed an part of the Southern ence, including Du Bose d, Harvey Allen, Julia Henry Ballamann and ter eight years, directing and its associated Chil- Theatre, he returned to professional theatre, di- the Eastman Theatre, ed Theatre Classics, Inc., ew York, became general ory director of all the interests, turned in a as writer-director at Para- studios on Long Island, he was credited with the sound picture that was beard."

was he author of a string beginning with Scarlet Ma which was a star- cle for Ethel Barrymore documented in her recent phy After a five-year term wood as writer-director which he had a great deal most of today's lead he returned to New eventually, to his first ng One of the busiest on Broadway and in tele- his characterizations have the term, 'a Dan Reed explains his theory that has an acting talent, any good story teller, begins on a story." He to mimic some local He will walk like him. him That is the begin- of acting "

Explains Theories

Reed has another theory, informal shows would prove it. That is, that a great deal of drama en by the playwrights of A playwright him Reed has pointed out that of the best and most ex- drama may be in modern especially the free-style at came up in America e banished the cherubs he English nightingale from like verse of a past era. he said, "I'm throwing mystery books Reed's ction to poetry is more ea-

DANIEL REED, dramatist, director and actor comes to Florida State campus Tuesday night in Westcott for the last of the Summer Artist Series.

Conveyance Purchase Grant Extended For Disabled Vets

The deadline for eligible disabled veterans to apply for a government grant toward the purchase of an automobile or other conveyance has been extended for two years under a new law signed by the President

Eligible veterans now have until October 20, 1569 or five years after discharge or separation from the armed forces, whichever is later in which to apply Previously the application deadline was October 20 1954 or three years after discharge or separation, whichever was later

The new law also extends the program to cover two main groups of veterans They are those who qualifying disability occurs subsequent to discharge or separation This group of veterans has three years after the disability occurs in which to apply; and those whose qualifying disability was not adjudicated to be service-connected perhaps after the basic time for ed until long after discharge or filing This group of veterans has one year after the disability has been declared service-connected in which to file

VA is authorized by law to make a payment not to exceed $1 600 toward the price of an automobile or other conveyance, including special appliances, to World War II and Korean compensation for three types of disflict veterans entitled to combilities These three types of disabilities are, loss or permanent loss of use of one or both use of one or both hands, and feet, loss or permanent loss of complete loss of sight in both eyes or permanent impairment of vision in both eyes to a degree constituting total blindness

VA said eligible veterans may file applications at the VA office nearest their home.

Final Play's Cast Listed By Davee

Starting rehearsals for the third and last play of the Summer Stock season are the cast of "An Inspector Calls" by J B Priestly under the direction of Dr Paul W Davee.

Playing the title role is Lee Hildman as the Inspector, who in this play also upsets the family apple cart Head of the house is M. Birling portraved by Max Estes Supporting him as his wife is Mrs Elizabeth May

Carolyn Brown is the daughter of the family while Eb Thomas is cast as her failure Portraying her older brother Eric, is John Anderson Taking care of the household duties is Leona H Shirey

Set will be designed and constructed under the assistance of Charles Reimer Costumes and makeup supervised by Mrs. Frances Levine

Choral Union Will Present Handel Work

Handel's "Judas Maccabaeus", ao oratorio in three parts will be presented this Sunday at 5 p m. by the Choral Union in Opperman Musical Hall This religious work is under the direction of Walter James, Associate Professor of Music.

Soloists for the performance are: Judas Maccabaeus, Malcomb Brown, doctoral candidate in the school of music; an Israelitish Woman, Joan Coley, graduate music student, and Rachel James, wife of the director; Simon the High Priest and Messenger, Jack Lawler, graduate student from Tallahassee and another Israelitish Woman, Carole Ann Nydegger, undergraduate music student from the studio of Betty Jane Grimm. The chorus of forty are Israelitish people. Accompanist for the group is Bill Spivey, graduate music student.

The story is taken from the Bible and concerns a war involving the Israelites and the king of Syria. Judas Maccabaeus, who a the brother of Simon, the high priest is the chosen leader of the Israelites. The conclusion of the work reveals that the campaign is successful for the Jews and includes a chorus of praise and thanksgiving to God

The performance is open, free of charge, to the general public. Louise McClure, acting Publicity Director for the group, stated that a preview of the work given to the music camp was received very enthusiastically.

Council Plans Vote Revision

Chief item of business in the past two meetings of the Summer Council has been the revision of the election laws for Summer Council Since it was felt by the group that inadequate interest was evidenced in the past electioo, they resolved to help correct the lact of interest in summer government by "bringing the election to the students"

Though no definite bills have been passed on the matter it has generally been thought that representation by dorms would stimulate more intest. A special committee has been delegated to study the matter and attempt to come up with a feasable solution.

Also under frequent discussion at the past meetings has been the problem of girls' being allowed to wear shorts on campus. Various proposals have been studied including those suggested by other leading Southern institutions. These plans include the wearing of shorts only on Saturday, only in the afternoon, etc.

TWEET TWEEEE—T

Cheese it the cops' Or at least there are quite enough whistles to convince one of the fact that there is a raid going on. Actually this maddening sound comes from the music camp drum majoring class. Well, they'll be gone next week, and we can have a little peace in the afternoon — if we're still sane.

English Life Comedy Opens Tonight, Friday In Conradi

HOUSEHOLD ACTIVITY is really at its peak when "Mr. Pim Passes By" to upset the "family apple cart". Appearing in the play are: Majorie Tindell as Oliva Marden; Eb Thomas as George Marden; Lee Hildman as Mr. Pim; John Anderson, Brain Strange and Carolyn Brown as Dinah. Actors are named in left to right order.

Summer Work Stockers Show "Mr. Pim" Play

By VIRGIL AUSTIN

"Mr Pim Passes By" a delightful comedy of English life, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night by members of the summer stock class of the FSU speech department

This story of a benign but all-too-forgetful, old gentleman who "passes by" in the life of a British household has long been a favorite of theatre-goers the world over The author of the play, A A. Milne, is also noted for having written the fascinating children's series about Winnie the Pooh

Featured in the FSU cast of the play will be Lee Hildman a graduate student, who will play Mr. Pim. Eb Thomas, a familiar figure of importance to students and faculty devotees of drama will play the somewhat stodgy, but nevertheless lovable master of the household, George Marden. His vivacious and very clever wife, Olivia, will be played by talented Marjorie Tindell, who was seen as the wife of a shopkeeper in "My Three Angels" earlier this summer season.

Again holding the ingenue lead for this production will be Carolyn Brown, promising young Junior actress from Pensacola Her opposite will be John Anderson who will be remembered as the impetuous Alfred of 'My Three Angels '

Miss Cecil Tracy of Tallahassee makes her first appearance in the Conradi Theatre as the old-fashioned, horse-loving aunt of the household, Lady Marden Also in the cast and again in her first appearance of the year will be Mrs Elizabeth Mays, who was formerly associated with a stock compaoy in the Southeast

Director of the play is Dr. Lynn Orr Mrs Frances Levine is responsible for the many attractive costumes worn in the play. Charles Reimer technical director designed the set He also painted the many reproductions which appear on the walls of the set Max Estes will be stage manager for the production. Miss Leona Shirey will take charge of ushers, and George Goldstein will be in charge of lighting effects. These and other members of the production crew are also members of the summer stock class.

WHAT PROPS:

The scenery in the amphitheatre has been exceedingly nice in the mornings Music camp girls and their lovely instructors Mrs. Donna Kozan and Janet Blake have been providing a gorgeous human backdrop during their practices in baton drills. Too bad to lose all those beautiful bits of scenery this weekend.

FSU Transportation Extra Bus Aids

In order to ease the bus situation, which has until now been very unsatisfactory, another bus has been added to the daily schedule

This bus will service students en route to classes near the Student Center. It will run between Westcott and the Student Center every half hour, leaving Westcott at 25 and 55 minutes past the hour Return trips will leave the Student Ceoter 10 and 40 minutes past the hour The bus is in use from 8 25 a m. until 11:40 a.m.

This brings into use a total of three buses this summer session. The other two buses run every half hour between East and West Campus at 10 and 40 minutes past the hour. These services continue until 2.40 p.m. Hourly service to West Campus then runs until 11.00 p.m.

The addition of this bus was brought about through the efforts of the Summer Council and Mr. Harold Day, Director of Personnel Units.

FREE MOVIES

The remaining two free movies will be held in Opperman Music Hall, rather than the ampbitheater, regardless of rain or shine.

Final Gala Concert Presented Tomorrow By 14th Music Camp

The 14th annual Summer Music Camp at FSU, 300 strong, is winding up its final week of fun and musical events participation on the university campus.

The musicampers will present a gala wind-up concert at 8 15 p.m., tomorrow, July 22, in Westcott. It will include demonstrations from all musical areas covered by the camp, even the elective, baton twirling

The camp has presented regular Sunday evening concerts and numerous individual recitals, ranging from organ to voice, during its stay on campus in this largest camp in history.

The camp is made up entirely of high school students from all parts of Florida and from a number of other states There ere even a couple of band students from as far away as Toledo, O.

Most of the students heve definite musical talent Of the group, Mr J. Dayton Smith, assiciate director said, "This is by far the most outstanding group of young high school musicians ever represented at the FSU Summer Music Camp"

Friday evening parents and friends of these 300 youngsters will be present for this big occasion. A capacity crowd is expected to fill the Westcott auditorium. However there will doubtless be room for interested students, faculty members, and citizens of Tallahassee.

Below is a facsimile of the program for the concert:

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF MUSIC
SUMMER MUSIC CAMP
FINAL GALA CONCERT
SUMMER MUSIC CAMP
DANCE BAND
Sonny Hawkins, Director
SUMMER MUSIC CAMP
BATON TWIRLING CLASS
Mrs. Donna Kozla, Head Instructor
SUMMER MUSIC CAMP
DRUM MAJORING CLASS
Richard D. Mayo, Instructor
SUMMER MUSIC CAMP
James M Harris, Director
SUMMER MUSIC CAMP
ORCHESTRA
Robert Sedore, Conductor
SUMMER MUSIC CAMP GOLD AND GARNET BANDS
Manley Whitcomb and Oliver Hobbs, Conductors
Westcott Auditorium, Tallahassee
Friday July 22, 1955
7:30 p.m.

I

I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm — Irving Berlin
Blues from 'An American in Paris" — George Gershwin
Flamingo — Grouwa-Anderson arr Glen Heinlen
Summer Music Camp Dance Band
Sonny Hawkins, Director

II

Baton Twirling Class
Mrs Donna Kozla, Head Instructor
Drum Majoring Class
Richard D. Mayo, Instructor

III

Kde Su Kravy Moje — Slovak, ale, H A Schimmerling
Balm in Gilead — arr William A Dawson
J. l Jenkins, Soloist
In That Great Gitting' Up Mornin' — arr Jester Hairston
Mickey Mathews, soloist
My Lord, What a Mornin' — arr Harry T Burleigh Summer Music Camp Chorus
James M Harris, Director

IV

Non Nozis, Domnie — Roger Quilter.
Summer Music Camp Chorus and Orchestra
Robert Sedore, Director

V

Overture to Iphigenia in Aulis — Gluck revision by Richard Wagner
Symphony Number 2 (Romantic), First Movement — Howard Hanson
Sabre Dance from Gayne Ballet Suite Number 1 — Aram Khachaturian
Summer Music Camp Orchestra
Robert Sedore, Conductor

VI

March "The Liberty Bell" — John Philip Sousa
Espana Cani, Paso-Doble

Continued oo Page 4

Education Fratenity To Hanar Initiates

Smmer initiates of Kappa Delta Pi, men's education honorary, will be honored at a supper immediately following their initiation this coming Monday at 5.30 in the Club Room of the Longmire Building

The supper will be held in the Trophy Room of the Student Center Reservations are available through Mrs Frances Hawley 215 Education Building. Deadline for getting tickets will be tomorrow, Friday, afternoon. The price of the meal per person will be $1 35.

Dr Sam Lastinger, president of the group, urged all members to attend. He also stated that he expects it to be a very interesting and worthwhile affair.

FUTURE TRUMPET MEN in the music dance band rehearse in preparation for the Final Gala Concert

Dr. Meyer, Former Professor NamedCentralCollegeDean

Dr. Samuel L. Meyer, director of the Oceanographic Institute and since 1951 head of the department of botany at Florida State University, has beeo named dean of Central College at Fayette, Mo., according to an announcement today by Presideot Ralph L. Woodward of the college.

DR. SAMUEL L. MEYER, head of the FSU botany department since 1951 and director of Oceanographic Institute, has been named dean of Central College in Fayette, Missouri.

Dr. Meyer holds A. B. and LL.D. degrees from Central College, the M.S. degree from Vanderbilt and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Virginia. He has a broad background of teaching, research and administrative experience

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Dr. Meyer is president of Alpha of Florida Chapter of that society. He also is a member of many other scientific and learned societies, including the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Botanical Society of America, Association of Southeastern Biologists, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida Academies of Science, American Bryological Society, and National Association of Biology Teachers.

He is a member of Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Eta Sigma Phi Sigma, Omicron Delta Kappa and Pi Kappa Delta

While a student at Central he was a famous leader in religious activities, oratory and scholarship. He was winner of the Dockery Prize for highest scholarship in the college in 1929, won the Shafroth Prize as the best individual debater in 1929 and 1930, won the Men's Intercollegiate Debate Championship in the Missouri-Illinois-Iowa Province of Pi Kappa Delta in 1929, and won first place in the Missouri Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest in 1930. He was student body president at Central his senior year.

At Vanderbilt, he won the Founder's Medal in Oratory in 1932, and received the Fleming Prize in Biology for excellence in scholarship and in research accomplished at the University of Virginia in 1940.

After leaving Central in 1931 he held teaching positions at Vanderbilt, the University of Virginia, the University of Tennessee and Emory University, before going to Florida State.

In 1952-53, while on leave of absence from Florida State University, he served as executive director of the American Institute of Biological Sciences and executive secretary, Division of Biology and Agriculture, National Research Council.

He is listed in "American Men of Science," "Who's Who in America," and "Who Knows—and What" He is the author of many articles in the fields of botany and biology.

Dr Meyer is married, his wife being the former Martha Elizabeth Roberts of Nashville Mrs. Meyer received her A B degree from Vanderbilt in 1933, and her M S in 1934.

Dr and Mrs Meyer have two children—Samuel Lewis III, born June 21, 1944 and James Barton, born Nov 11, 1950 The family will move to Fayette in August.

Dr. Meyer succeeds Dean Leslie K Patton, who has accepted a position at East Tennessee State Collee Johnson City, Tenn.

appa Deltas reak Ground

Kappa Deltas of FSU ground for a new chapter yesterday at their new site, southeast corner of and Jefferson Streets. mbers of the sorority house ation that participated in remony are Mr. and Mrs. McClure, Mr and Mrs. Boggs, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur ff Turnbull, Mrs. James mpson and Mrs. Dick Harris, allahasseeans.

s Florence Tryon, faculty or of the chapter and im- ate past president of the ty province, and Mrs. s Graham, the new province ident, are returned from at- ng the current Kappa Delta onal convention in Bedford Pa., in time for the d breaking.

nstruction work on the sor- house will begin immedi- and the house should be pleted in about nine months. be traditional embassy brick painted white, two in front and three stories back.

Education Individual As Tooth Brush

"Mass Education, college editors believe, substitutes quantity for quality," revealed a recent survey by the New York Journalism department.

NYU quizzed 66 editors of college newspapers reaching more than 500,000 students. These young journalists agreed by a two to one majority that mass education has reduced standards in colleges. They commented on the loss of close student-teacher relationships and complained courses are designed for the "average" student.

"Education should be as individual as a tooth brush," one of the student editors noted.

Many tax-payers and Florida legislators seem to think, that because a certain class has only a few students it should be discontinued or the teacher's salary cut to balance with another general education class of 200 students. In fact, one legislator was overheard telling an educator that all the money he (representing the school) received should put him (the educator) on his knees.

It is realized that money doesn't grow on trees but neither can we educate everyone to the same degree or even endeavor to. It is essential in a democracy to have different levels of occupations, activities and classes.

"Who is qualified to say which is the most important . . . the training of 20 average students in cutting up frogs (This isn't to be taken as an attack on any certain department, for each school has some minimum required courses with equally interesting activites) or the training of one person in the development of a medical atomic reactor (to cite a recent event at UCLA).

Educating, meaning the developing and cultivating mentally through study or instruction is all important, but there is also educating to knowledge . . . the understanding and perception of truth.

Literary Publication College Need

Campus publications serve their communication purpose in Florida State campus. Our yearbook, THE TALLY-HO is awaited anxiously each spring as a recording of a single year's happenings with special emphasis on those graduating.

SMOKE SIGNALS, our humor? magazine delights students and confuses them in guessing when the next issue will come what is the background and meaning of certain jokes.

POW-WOW, our orientation handbook serves to acquaint the new and former students with rules, events, and information. THIS WEEK, provides students with an accurate weekly event calendar.

THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU is the students' official newspaper, the only biweekly in Florida. It serves the students by giving detailed accounts of news happenings, acting as a hearing ground for personal opinions, gives official announcements from all levels of the administration and provides Tallahasee merchants an advertising media directed toward the student.

With the abundance of these publications, it seems students would have all they needed. But one important phase of college material is omitted. Each day, hundreds of students' papers are filed or thrown away. Much of the work is trite and superfluous but some is worth sharing. Students are interested in what their fellow students think and write. Sure the Flambo provides an airing ground for Dykemans and Alonso's but other students have opinions, short stories, prose, poetry, articles, reviews and features that rate printer's ink and type. There is a need for a literary magazine. Smoke Signals when it was called Talaria provided space for student contributions at the discretion of a board of students. But student wanted more humor or so the editors believed. Talaria was changed to Smoke Signals with humor? as the policy.

Why not start a literary publication, issued once a month, that contains material from every school in the university. The staff would layout and make up the magazine with editorial comment on each contribution. Professors would select superior material from class work or make special assignments for writers in certain fields of study. For example . . . A physical education person might write on archery, showing its value as an individual or family sport, or the strengthening and healthful growth of shoulders ,back and muscles, and its ever increasing popularity. Some one in the science field may write an essay on atomic reactors in medical clinics or a medical would submit poetry and prose. Book reviews and critiques would be a possibility from every department and art work and design from certain classes in Art.

Only that work with literary merit would be published but then students would be able to delve into the outstanding thoughts and writing of their contemporaries.

A CORRECTION

Campus traffic, so the traffic committee corrects a recent editorial, will not be taken over by the city of Tallahasee. Also, the Traffic Court is still functioning.

Daily Texan Types Examination Taker

Finals: Friday through Monday.

Me, scared?
Never.
I'm confident, happy, and serene. Just 'cause all of my long fingernails are gone is no reason to say that I'm afraid of exams. Why should I worry while unopened books stare ferociously? I'll just put another layer of purple finger nail polish on the ends of my dissipated digits and forget.

But maybe you're not my type.

Perhaps you're one of the more conscientious souls like:

. . . the quiet, self-assured character who get panicky when exam stars. He taps pencil, kicks desk in front of him, and while his stomach growls, he groans.

. . . suave fraternity man who goes on wild bent bust the night before finals and comes with looped to take test. Ends up making better grade than studious girl who crammed for weeks.

. . . brain who says "I never study" and broadcasts after exam that he couldn't possibly have passed it. Then comes out with 100.

. . . type who memorizes odd, irrevelant facts and arrives at exam fifteen minutes early in order to air them and impress his colleagues. Exam turns out to be full of the same irrevelant questions.

. . . cool cat who's scared pinker than his shirt. Chews gum, pencil, finger nails, and has trouble keeping from asleep in exam paper.

. . . pop-eyed student doped with No-Doz who looks as if he'd just consumed a quart of dill pickles and who stayed up all night studying English only to find that he has physics this morning.

. . . smart person who stayed up two days and three nights studying for exam and then sleeps through it. Bad alarm.

. . . and then there's the hawkeyed gulmaster who glaringly watches a small, nervous boy who wouldn't hurt a flea. In the meantime, a girl in back of the falcon of finals eness furiously.

One just can't win.

DAILY TEXAN

Letter to the Editor

"A Short Story"

The Recreation and Social Committee of the Summer Council has been doing research on social rules and regulations at other university cities, especially in connection with the wearing of bermuda shorts, peddle pushers, etc. by women students on campus. We wrote letters to about 15 southern universities which are about resort areas and have climates similar to ours.

Many of these universities have regulations regarding the wearing of sports clothes which are strict, if not more so, than ours. However, from several of these letters we got some ideas that we would like for you to consider. I would like to quote from several of these letters which did have favorable information on:

From the University of Kentucky—a state institution such as ours.

"We do not have any hard and fast rules in regard to the wearing of sports clothes on the campus. We prefer to leave this question to the good judgment of the students. All residence halls have regulations to the wearing of shorts, bermuda shorts, etc. in living rooms; otherwise, we do not have specific regulations regarding clothes which can be worn. The majority of our students exercise good judgment in all matters as long as they are not worn to classes or into the library or other administrative building. During the summer session we are somewhat more lenient in permitting girls to wear bermuda shorts during the afternoon when classes are over simply because of the heat and the fact that we are near a number of resort areas

From Florida Southern College at Lakeland—a Methodist school:

"On Saturday from noon until evening curfew a special privilege is given Bermudas, peddle pushers and bermuda shorts may be worn without coats."

Although we realize that certain said regulations for our university will not necessarily work for another, we are trying to work out some compromise which will give our women students a little more freedom in wearing of sports clothes, especially on these warm afternoons during summer school. The plan whereby women students would be permitted to wear bermuda shorts, slacks, etc. on Saturdays without a rain coat might be the answer.

Our plan is to work out that something will be approved by the administration and the student body as well. However, we must point out that if we do get a revision in our regulations it will be only as long as the student body does not abuse its privilege.

In the near future we should have some definite information for you—or the boss that's even convince the administration that F. S. U. students are not trying to lower the standards and feel the need for a little more leniency along some lines —mainly the wearing of sports clothes on the campus. Almost everything changes with time—so could rules.

PAT HILTON
Chairman Rec. Social Committee Summer Council

You Slowed Up By Heat? Then Try These Suggestions

Is it getting too hot and stinky? Is Tallahassee's current heat spell slowing you down? Here are some "beat the heat" suggestions from a doctor selected by the Dade County Medical Association:

DO

Wear loose, absorbent clothing.

Eat more meat, vegetables and salads. Ure lots of salt.

Get regular exercise, short rest periods with periods of purposeful activity.

Put on a coat upon entering an air-conditioned room, then take it off when you leave. This will cure that "tired feeling" you experience when stepping from a cool room into the hot outdoors.

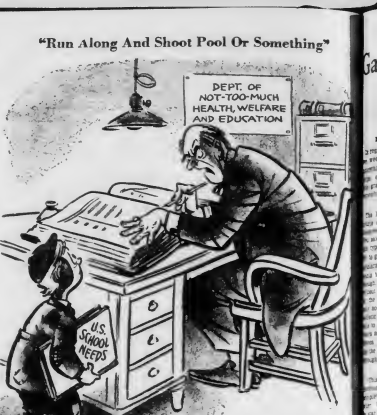
DON'T

Wear tight belts, collars or cuffs

Eat a great many fried foods or use heavy salad dressings.

Use much sugar or eat many sweets. They pile up fuel for more bodily heat.

Indulge in long rest periods. A game of golf or tennis followed by a 10-minute nap and a cold shower will have you more rested than two hours of inactivity.



LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"Anyone else like to disagree on what the test should have covered?"

"Run Along And Shoot Pool Or Something"

Beyond The Gates

Governors — Good Or Bad Folks?

By ORCHID ALONSO

Governor LeRoy. it is rumored in some circles, is not a good boy all the time.

Fernandez, the Trumpike bill, and Collins have been written by Charles Auslev, Collin's "former" law partner will cost Florida taxpayers an extra hundreds of thousands of dollars. A provision in the bill states that the public must pay the expenses of moving all polls, underground wires, cables, etc of all utilities which might be in the Turnpike's path.

If you'll recall, the State Supreme Court ruled that the firm building the Jacksonville Bridge-Expressway should pay utility costs. If you'll go back even further, you'll find that during Fuller Warren's administration, the policy was to make the utility companies pay the expenses — a policy which the Warren-Road Board adhered to and eventually wound up in the higher courts.

And up the higher courts. Le Roy Collins, representing the Utility Companies — lost the case.

Mr. Ausley is senior member of the Tallahassee Ausley and Ausley law firm, which originally read Ausley, Collins and Ausley. The same Mr Ausley has been named by Collins to the Miami Inter American Authority Trade Center.

The utilities section, say some, is proof that if Spessard Holland, strong man of the Holland-Collins combine, decides Collins should run for Governor instead of for Senators' seat, Collins will run under the colors of big interest corporations

As for Collins' eligibility, the State Supreme Court may be pragtically "packed" by the time the issue is finally decided Collins just creemly appointed a man to fill Mahaney's post. Sehring has retired. And Collins will fill his post soon. To top it off, Hobson and Terrel are at the point of retiring, making it a possible four Collins appointees on the bench This will leave B. K. Roberts pretty much alone.

A Miami Herald politcal writer has called Collins' veto of the reshuffling bill as a sign of strength This followed close on the heels of a statement by ex-Gov Fuller Warren in Williston last week that a Democratic governor has the courage to veto any acts of the Legislature which is not to the best interests of the people of Florida

And speaking of following "close on heels." the Newspaper Editors who slighted Ted David and awarded Sen. Verle Pope and Farris Bryant top legislator awards did so "close on the heels" of a verbal blasting of Pope by Fuller Warren.

Warren pinned the label of "deliberate falsehood" on a statement made recently by Pope on the Senate Floor.

The utilities section, say some, is proof that if Spessard Holland, strong man of the Holup his (Warren's) lousy bill." Warren challenges law maker to prove that to produce the other twelve witnesses—If he could. Warren made the statement that he never in the presence of Pope for more than a few minutes and had never during administration "sent for him" to discuss his Bills

WILL FULLER RUN DIES —The big question many are rounding Fuller Warren's ability to the next elections is cres be more noise than the ballots decide whether LeRoy or Fuller would bet Odham's votes

Jack Levine, former Democratic Committeeman and Fuller's administration, a candidate plaguing mosquito overpass, assumed office this writing, foaming at mouth.

"To think of it." To think anyone could doubt that Fuller will run."

After calming down Jack explained "Julian Warren was late so I called Fuller mine." Miami 587641.

Fuller said the public knows exactly about Pope and he did himself "That proves Pope going to run." smiled Jack.

Yes, we guess it does"

Capitol Notes Miami Herald's Tom Shale Executive Senator George Smathers announced the veteran newspaman administrative assistant He takes over his new duties August 1. Oh Tom, Fuller still has hit the big time!

The Survey

NEA Booklet Poor Public Relations

By DAN GORHAM

Criticism of the public schools and the attacks on the teaching methods stemming from John Dewey's educational philosophy are more vocal today than ever before. The attempts of a generation of school administrators to play down the role of history in the classroom have been blasted, partly or entirely, by those who part in occasioning juvenile delinquency. Excessive "socialization" of the learning process is named as contributing to the decline of standards of personal responsibility.

The effect has been to put the schools on the defensive. Their strongest lobby, the National Education Association, has been understandably concerned of late with a greatly expanded program of public relations.

At one major point this public -relations campaign has a broken down. In January the Educational Policies Commission of NEA and of the American Association of School Administrators issued a handsome brochure, Public Education and the Future of America. This book is meant as a major effort in the NEA counterattack on the critics of public education The book, however, is a serious set back It has badly misfired Instead of shoring up the good relations of the schools with the American public, it damages the already shaky image. The very self-assurance of its style and the omission of any thinkly masks the highly defensive position from which the NEA propounds its views.

Unless one adopts the NEA assumption that only public school education can be American education, this booklet is a failure. The fact is, though, It is a direct affront to all those parents and teachers who are paying taxes for public education, have chosen to give their money, and sometimes their lives, to the construction of private and parochial schools for the education of their children. Jews, Lutherans, Quakers, Episcopalians and Ethical Culturists are here put in the same position as Catholics. The NEA consigns them all to a second-class status and hints that they are second-class citizens.

This sort of propaganda is a striking example of bad public relations. Just when the schools need the support of our entire citizenry, what gained by insulting a major segment of the American people because they exercise their natural and constitutional rights to send their children to schools of their choice?

The problem would be better met if the Public Relations and the Future of America booklet merely involved the NEA in a breach of approved public relations techniques. But for Americans it is also a matter of etiquette They are profoundly convinced that the very philosophy of education which underwrids this document is destructive of the NEA is unwilling to accept the hard facts of the cultural and religious pluralism of the United States. Despite their hat-doffing to American tradition and diversity, these philosophers of American education seemingly want to iron all this out into a stiff common denomination of uniformity.

Democratic life has always been poised between unity and diversity, and this tension

Continued on Page 3

Alabaster II

Is Here True Shaggy Dog Story

Is here Alabaster with shaggy dog story Long-bared friend of musle camp students increased music enrollment by five yesterday by giving birth to five puppies in the outdoor amphitheatre . . Is good case for biology students to study in genetics. They are never finding out breed of pups with bulldogs nose, spaniel ears, and collie tails, but could maybe decipher why four are black and white and one is white, but probably will be black sheep of family. Long-haired music dog very friendly so field trippers need not worry . . .

Missing Alabaster good friend of FSU's Marties Gessler now on field trip to Miss U. A. campus in rival state called California . . Is hoping feminole Princess will top field and not trip on sandals.

In predicting Alabaster that certain peanut-selling boy in city will be head of Advertising agency someday or at least President of U. S. Small-type crew cut with horn-rimmed glasses approaches customers with sour bon-mouth grin in hand. He say" Take free sample. If you like, buy a bag." Is not saying he has new angle, but the sight of sample peanut not appetising, many customers filling his pockets, and his business is not peanuts.

Is Alabaster's column much about nothing because of searching brat . . Monday was so hot Alabaster vowed to forget he ever lived on such day, but forgot so hard he thought Wednesday was Tuesday all day. Was not good excuse for editor Kira, much to Alabaster's regret How can anybody think when bottle of anchovine for joy-juice cocktail sits in fronte of it with sweet note from Editor attached.

THE SUMMER FLAMBEAU
Published by the students of Florida State University Tallahasee each Thursday during the Summer Session
MARY ELIZABETH KING—Editor
Managing Editor ..... Pat Brady Sports Editor ..... Bob Gaillo
Movies ..... Wanda Sue Owens Campus Editor ..... Virgil Austin
RAYMOND G. HEMANN—Business Mgr.
Exchange ..... Joan Halford
Photographer ..... Rodger Herndon
Circulation ..... Sam Alderman
Offices: 211, 213 Longmire Bldg.
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service 420 Madison Ave., New York
Member of Associated College Press Intercollegiate Press
Phone 2-8000, extension 6821, 482

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

In regards to the article printed two weeks ago in the Flambeau concerning the athletic scholarships of well known athletes graduated in June wrote a revealing letter.

The Letter

The letter said "I liked your article on scholarships . . . but I agree with you on one point. Why is it that some fellows need type of financial help in order to get through school athletic scholarship. Baloney! If a man wants to go through college bad enough he'll find a way to do it without a handout from the state or the Alumni Association. He may not be able to become a big school hero, and he may not be able to join a frat and spend four years each day sitting around the room or Kahler's romance. But he will be one who will be worth the school he definitely can."

"Big Handout!"

"This is the day of the big handout. A new Pontiac or a wardrobe taking with the generals only landed a star high school football player as an inducement to get them to go to good old Podunk U. On top of that, the Career Counselors throughout the land have shocked at the number of boys who honestly believed they could only get through college was to have someone else pay for it. Why the responsibility to attain a education should be taken off onto someone else I don't know. Who took the job and put you through?"

The letter was received from a fellow who worked his way through school, and during four years was given only two $25 scholarship During this period he also managed to win two National gymnastic titles.

Distressed At FSU

In all fairness to Coach Tom Nugent and the Florida State football team, it should be pointed out that such a system of implied privileges and Pontiacs does not exist at this school.

In an interview with Coach Nugent shortly after his arrival at FSU over a year ago, the coach mentioned that the only benefits his players received were free tuition, books, dormitory, meals, and laundry. When asked if each of the squad were promised other things before coming here he gave an emphatic "No".

"There are many universities that do give the players many inducements, all over the non-scholastic school, including automobiles," Coach Nugent said "But I would rather not have that type of person playing on my squad. These people are usually not interested in going to college, but merely interested in how much they can get out of one school or the other. People like this will in the long run hurt you more than much, but continue to sponge off society as long as they can."

Athletic Program

Since the publishing of that article, many changes have been brought to my attention. The athletic program will not suffer by the new ruling, but be helped by the same appropriations that they had last year. The only difference being that the size of the teams will increase.

Work there is to move underway now to let the students donate to an athletic fund for future scholarship purposes. If this move is successful, the increased revenue will greatly improve the FSU athletic teams

Jane's Got Jeff In "Foxfire" Now Playing At The Florida

By WANDA SUE OWEN

Combining the talents of Jane Russell, Jeff Chandler, Dan Dureya and Mara Corday, Universal International's "Foxfire" started Wednesday at the Florida From the hen-scratched novel by Anya Seaton, an action-packed romantic adventure has been woven Jane Russell in the role of Wanda a wealthy eastern heiress meets and falls in love with Jeff Chandler, a rugged western mining engineer while vacationing at an Dana Dude ranch. Their associations, so entirely different, begin to clash almost the last note of the wedding march. The rest of the exciting story is how their love goes on the rocks until a solution is found.

Jane and Jeff both turn in one of the best performances of their careers. Dan Dureya and Hugh Sinter, the mining baron who attempts to win the affections of Miss Russell during her liff with Jeff. Mara Corday is Maria, the "mis-steine love" of Dan Dureya. "Foxfire," in Technicolor, was directed by Joseph Pevney and produced by Aaron Rosenberg.

Flaxine at the State Thursday and Friday is a double-feature program with "Black Dakotas" starring Gary Merrill and Wanda Hendrix, plus "Outlaw Stallion" with Phill Carey and Dorothy Malone. Showing at the State for two big days, Friday and Saturday is "The Marauders" one big blast of thrills, with Dan Duryea, Jeff Richards and Keenan Wynn.

Joan Crawford plays the Texan who loves "Johnny Guitar" in "Johnny Guitar" playing at the Capital Theatre on Friday and Saturday, July 21, 22 and 23. Also showing those nights is the co-hit "Man of Conflict" with Susan Morrow and John Agar.

Playing at the Perry Highway Outdoor Thursday, Friday and Saturday is "Chief Crazy Horse" with Victor Mature and Susan Ball. The second feature stars Edward G. Robinson and Vera Ellen in "The Big Leaguer."

"Interrupted Melody" starring Glenn Ford and Eleanor Parker on the Florida screen.

In a lyrical love story based on the dramatic life of Marjorie Lawrence, Eleanor Parker stars who at the height of her career was stricken with polio. It is the story of the inspired courage of a girl who refused to give up and who, aided by the devotion of her doctor husband, continued to sing in the opera and concert stages despite the fact that she was, and is today, confined to a wheel chair.

The new M-G-M picture was filmed in Cinemascope and color against a background of some of the world's greatest music. Arias from eight operas are heard as well as a number of popular songs. The operatic sequences include "Il Trovatore," "Don Carlos," "Madame Butterfly," "Carmen," and Delilah." The popular songs are "Over the Rainbow," "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree," "Anchors Aweigh," and others essential to the vitality and strength of democratic institutions. NEA's Educational Policies Commission, however, appears to have forgotten this completely in place of this dynamic statement we are now to have a new conformity achieved by public education. Conformity to what? This is never defined, though apparently it is the rather opaque "Americanism" which, in the charged prose of the NEA booklet, takes on the vague, evocative symbolism of a mystical mystique.

The Survey

Continued from Page 2

Public Education and the future of America should be recognized as subtly unconstitutional and implicitly totalitarian. A four-square repudiation of its secular dogmas of conformism and nativism is obviously in order

STAR REFORMER—Jamia Ashmore, gym star from Dallas, Texas, shows the form that has earned him a name throughout the country in gymnastics. Along with teammate Rafael Recuena, Jamie will take on the responsibility of chairman of the fall Gymkana program.

Sports Afield

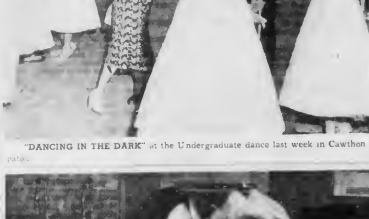
By TED KASTING

This time of year does require special care. Bodily cleanliness and sanitation around the kennel house and yard are absolutely essential to a dog's health. Parasites of all kinds thrive during the hot summer months, and particular care must be taken during this period if the dog's comfort and well-being are to be insured.

The dog-kennel mix that has about solved the flea problem, but care should be exercised in its use. Short periods of strength are highly recommended. Dog's powder is especially effective in the control of external parasites, according to Henry P. Davis, dog editor for Sports Afield magazine.

Clipping your dog will make him feel cooler but it will also make him more vulnerable to insects and he may get badly sunburned. Davis never recommends clipping long-haired dogs. He prefers to "strip" them with a stripping or plucking knife. This removes the dead hair, thins out the undercoating but leaves an adequate coat for protection.

Be sure your dog has a fresh supply of water at all times and plenty of shade. If you have no natural shade, plant sunflowers in the kennel yard. They are fast-growing plants and make excellent shade



There is no real need to keep your hunting dog idle during the summer. It is neither pleasing to him, nor to his advantage. His muscles become soft, his keen ambition fades, and he is prone to forget some of the lessons he has learned in game handling manners. This period offers the hunting dog owner wonderful opportunities for training and conditioning, in preparation for the open season ahead.

The pointing dog and spaniel fanciers can divide the late afternoons to yard training lessons and to brushing up on the retrieving department. For the retriever owner, summertime is the best period to introduce youngsters to work in water. Cool, damp summer evenings offer the hound man no opportunity to give his dogs much-needed exercise and training experience by turning them loose on drag races. The coon hunter can use the drag races to good effect, also.

Be sure to make all the lessons short ones. And pick the coolest part of the day. The first sign of tiring on the part of the dog, stop. Pet him, reward him, and then take him back home.

"DANCING IN THE DARK" at the Undergraduate dance last week in Cawthon patio.

Why not take advantage of the Campus Pool located in the Women's Gym.

An Editorial

Road Camps Stink

The legislature is still busy arguing the merits of reapportionment. But perhaps they should get off this subject temporarily and spend some time on other subjects.

One good red hot subject is the road camps run with convict labor that are situated throughout the state. At a recent visit to a camp in the vicinity of Tallahassee as part of a course, the camp director pointed out what is known as a "sweat box." This apparatus is nothing more than a tightly built, small wooden structure used for the punishment of disorderly prisoners. The director pointed out that this box cured any disorderly prisoner.

The usual length of time spent in the box is 40 hours, but in one extreme case a prisoner, released last week, was kept in the box 361 hours! This prisoner was said to have been a constant trouble maker and unruly.

It was also pointed out that this was the only punishment that could be handed out to the prisoners, regardless of what they did. But the prospect of sweating it out in the summer months in the box is a big deterent to wrongdoing in the road camp.

This, however, is not the point.

Conditions at the camp as a whole did not look too promising. The food seemed to be all right, but the main thing that was missing was any type of rehabilitation facilities for the prisoners.

There was no recreation, and no library. A ball field is supposed to be built, but to date little has been done in this line.

As it stands, the prisoners have nothing to look forward to on weekends (when they are not required to work) except listening to the radio. Chances for rehabilitation in a situation like this are small.

An authority on criminal behavior was asked what he thought the chances were of rehabilitating someone like the unfortunate prisoner who had spent 361 hours in the sweat box. "The fact that he is disorderly and argues proves that he has something to work with and so could be rehabilitated." However, this person admitted that the surroundings were not condusive to such a program. The chances are that when this prisoner is released, he will eventually get into more trouble, again be locked up, and therefore cause a greater burden on the taxpayers of the state

These conditions should not be overlooked. With such a program existing in Florida for prison inmates, that of using convict labor for road work with little recreation and rehabilitation existing the state may well be breeding a group of professional prisoners, who will not be able to remain outside the gates very long.

This becomes a burden on the state and in turn drains the taxpayers money for maintenance of these institutions, when it could better be used for rehabilitating these persons and keeping them out of jail.

So when looking for some legislation, I refer the representatives to the state road camps.

Liquor, Beer Sale Prohibited On New State Toll Roads

Kentucky Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby's recent approval of a plan to prohibit the sale of liquor or beer, as a safety measure, in any restaurants to be built along that state's new toll road brings new emphasis to a little known fact—you can't buy a drink on any toll road now in operation in the country.

Turnpike authorities in states where toll roads are still on the planning boards or in the construction stage have already made it clear that this policy will be the practice on their highways

New Building Era

This decision takes on added significance at this time when the nation stands on the threshold of the greatest highway construction era in its history. The Senate recently approved a highway building program calling for combined Federal and State expenditures of over 25 billion dollars for over a period of the next five years.

But, as it has often been pointed out by safety engineers, safety can be built into super highways and into super automobiles but all to no avail if drivers insist on drinking in the the recognition of this danger—authorized immunity for traffic speeds on the super highways that has prompted the planning boards or in the construction stage have already made it clear that this policy will be the practice on their highways

A survey of the 15 turnpike authorities in 14 states shows that all without fail prohibit or will prohibit the sale of alcohol on toll roads under their jurisdiction.

CLASSIFIED AD

LOST: Ladys steel wrist watch on leather band. Lost in front of old demonstration school Thursday, July 14. Reward offered Return to Mrs. Olive Cross in the English Office Building on Call St.

LOST, One pair of polaroid sunglasses, brown plastic frame. Please return to Longmire.

NSFA Awards Research Grant

The National Science Foundation has awarded a research grant of $7,000 to the Department of Physiology at Florida State University to support study by Dr. Arliss Denyes on hibernating animals.

Dr. Denyes wishes to determine the physiological changes which occur when an animal hibernates and lives for months without food or water.

Hamsters will be used for some of the experiments, forcing them into hibernation in a refrigerator at several degrees above freezing for several months.

Miss Jessa Hassett of Fort Myers is Dr. Denyes' graduate assistant.

"Of all the changes she's planning for him . . . sending his clothes to the Sanitone Dry Cleaner is going to make the most difference!"

Look, Guy! He's getting a gal who knows what a difference a Sanitone Dry Cleaned suit makes. All dirt and spots removed, perspiration gone. No cleaning odors, and a better press, that lasts and lasts. Call us today!

SANITONE

Superior Cleaners

"Across the Street From Sears"

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

TODAY THRU SAT.
"FOX FIRE"
Jane Russell
Jeff Chandler

SUNDAY THRU THURS.
"INTERRUPTED MELODY"
Glenn Ford
Eleanor Parker

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

TODAY THRU SATURDAY
"CHIEF CRAZYHORSE"
Victor Mature
Susan Ball
plus
"THE BIG LEAGUER"
Edward G. Robinson

SUNDAY & MONDAY
"KISS ME DEADLY"
Ralph Meeker

STATE

TODAY
"THE BLACK DAKOTAS"
Gary Merrill
and
"OUTLAW STALLION"
FRIDAY & SATUROAY
"THE MARAUDERS"
Dan Duryea
SUN.-MON.-TUES.
"TALL MAN RIDING"
Randolph Scott
Dorothy Malone

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

TODAY THRU SATURDAY
"JOHNNY GUITAR"
Joan Crawford
plus
"MAN OF CONFLICT"
Susan Morrow
John Agar

SUNDAY & MONDAY
"3 HOURS TO KILL"
Dana Andrews
Donna Reed

Free Handbook For Sportsmen

A new thirty-four page sports handbook by Lee Wulff is available without cost, to the hunter and fisherman.

The book is a gold mine of detailed information on hunting and fishing, including fresh and salt water records, proper camouflage methods of fishing, information on guns and a section devoted to woodcraft.

The request for the booklet of one dollar value should contain a suggested tip for the outdoor enthusiast, either on hunting or fishing, and not over 25 words.

The booklet, made available by the Ancient Age Distilling Company without charge, can be secured by writing Sports Afield magazine, 908 8th Avenue, New York 19, New York.

BUSY EXECUTIVE

Seen preparing his office for action this fall was Student Body President Coyle Moore. He came by the office for a few minutes yesterday to check up before leaving for conventions up the country.

BIG CAR HUB

Some 3,216,000 tourists visited Florida by car in 1954.

Keep Cool at Bennett's

Air-Conditioned

Fountain and Luncheonette

MAGAZINES
GIFTS
DRUGS
COSMETICS

For Fast Motorcycle Delivery
Call 2-8980 or 2-4450

BENNETT'S DRUGS

200 S. Monroe

CAMERON'S
TEXACO SERVICE STATION

1 BLOCK FROM CAMPUS

West Tennessee & Copeland

Phone 3-0619

TIRE SALE

Size 600-16—$12.95
plus recappable tire and tax!

OTHER SIZES AS FOLLOWS:

SIZE	LIST PRICE WITHOUT TRADE-IN	SALES PRICE PLUS TAX and RECAPPABLE TIRES
670-15	$18.70	$14.95
710-15	20.70	16.60
760-15	22.65	18.25

'Psychology And The News' First In Field, Published

By PAT BRADY

Dr. Sidney Kobre professor of Journalism at FSU, and Mrs. Juanita Parks, a graduate of FSU, are the co-editors of the first text ever written in this field, "Psychology and The News."

"Psychology and the News" aims to correlate for the first time, psychology and newspaper work, showing how this science can be used in writing more adequate news, news-features, and editorials for newspapers and magazines.

Psychology has been applied to medicine, education and industry with excellent results, but its findings have not been applied systematically in journalism. Since the bulk of news deals essentially with people, psychology which studies their behavior can be of considerable use in the newsroom.

This text shows how the newsman can write better personality sketches and obituaries. It he has a background in psychology, with illustrations of psychological profiles and obituaries drawn from newspapers. Sunday magazines and wire service dispatches.

The volume also deals with the problem of murders in the headlines, considering many of them as mentally ill. This is the subject for the reporter Case studies that the authors have developed are included for illustration.

Covering suicides from the standpoint of psychology is dealt with in one chapter with both news and feature articles about suicide, a psychological problem of great significance in America. Also a special case study of the suicide of U S Defense Secretary, Jame V. Forrestal is given.

Considerable attention is devoted to the writing of newsfeatures about mental institutions and clinics. A chapter is devoted to "beats" which have psychosocial aspects, schools, clinics, and university research laboratories. The need for developing better psychological columns and features is also explained with numerous examples being furnished.

In the final chapter the valume points out how psychology can be used in editorial writing. Examples are drawn from various newspapers and from Dr. Kobre's own experience.

Mrs. Parks is a graduate of Florida State University and has done extensive work in the field of psychiatry, working with veterans. She has taken graduate courses in Journalism which aided in her extreme interest in this phase of psychology.

Dr. Kobre is the former managing editor and editorial writer for newspapers in Baltimore, Md. and Newark, N.J. He is, presently, director of the School of Journalism's Bureau of Media Research and Service and professor of Journalism. Dr. Kobre is the author of "Backgrounding the News," "Development of the Colonial Newspaper" and "Press Coverage of the Florida Legislature 153."

DR. SIDNEY KOBRE, one of the co-authors of the first text in its field, "Psychology and the News."

Beverage, Narcotic Education Workshop Offered At U. of F.

There will be a Leadership Training Workshop to be conducted by the General Extension Division of Florida, with cooperation of the University of Florida's College of Education, the Florida Cooperative Committee on Beverage Alcohol and Narcotics Education, United Christian Action, Inc., and the Florida Council of Churches.

The workshop is designed for the training of leadership for a more effective and constructive educational program in the home, church, the school, and the community concerning the alcohol problem.

Its main objectives are to asin an objective and realistic understanding of the beverage alcohol problem in modern life, to provide helpful discussion and guidance for effective teaching about beverage alcohol in the home, the church, and community, and to provide a background content of information which is needed by church and community leaders in establishing programs and methods in beverage alcohol education Instruction will cover the administrative, scientific, educational, moral, and religious aspects of the alcohol problem.

Christian Citizenship

This will be a leadership training workshop for individuals interested in Christian citizenship; that is, public school teachers, counselors, civic leaders, church and club women's groups, supervisors of public education, school principals, leaders of temperance leaders in Parent-Teacher Associations, Sunday School teachers and leaders, leaders of church and community youth groups, and Christian Education workers.

All sessions will be held in Broward Hall, air-conditioned, located on the University of Florida Campus, Gainesville Florida. Double rooms are available at two dollars per person and single rooms for three dollars. Meals will be served in the University cafeteria at approximately $2.50 per day. The registration fee is two dollars for each person enrolling for this non-credit workshop. The expenses for persons on the campus should not exceed $20 each.

Registration will take place on Monday, July 25, between the hours of 8 and 10:30 a.m. at Broward Hall.

For further information and application blanks write to Troy M. Wakefield General Extension Division of Florida. Room 207 Seagle Building, Gainesville, Florida.

Fun Activities Scheduled by URA Group

SMARTY PARTY

Again this week the Dames Club will play hostess to students at the Smarty Party. This is the second such occasion which features all sorts of card games—bridge, canasta, etc. — and Scrabble. Dessert will be served before the games begin. The party is slated from 7:30—11 p. m.

MOVIE

Tonight and tomorrow at 8 p. m. "The Farmer Takes A Wife" will be presented in the Copeman Music hall.

CANOE TRIP

This weeks canoeing excursion will begin at Chattahoochee and move down the Apalachicola River to Bristol. Interested students may take the bus at the Women's Gym Saturday at 8 a. m. The return trip will be made in order to arrive on campus by 6 p. m. Reservations must be made before noon today by signing the log on the bulletin board outside the camp office.

SQUARE DANCE

Saturday at 8 p. m. on the lighted tennis courts there will be another square dance. The caller is Dr. Bill Tait. Music will be supplied by the G-Bach Quintet.

Psychological Fish To Highlight Tour

Meeting Betty and Albert, the psychological porpoises will be one of the highlights of the trip to the Marine Laboratory at Alligator Point. This excursion will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m.

Included in the trip will be a tour of the laboratory, swimming in the Gulf and a picnic supper on the beach. Transportation will be available at Weaver's cott at 1:30 p. m. and the return trip will end at 6:30 p. m. at Wescott. Those taking the trip must bring their own picnic suppers.

Final Concert

Continued from Page 1

Pastoral Marguina arr. Robert Cray.

Oliver Hobbs Conducting

Green Acres Overture — John J. Morrissey

Parandoe from L'Arlesienne Suite de Concert No. II

Georges Bizet

Summer Music Camp Gold Band

Manley Whitcomb, Conducting

VI

Chorale and Alleluia — Howard Hanson

The Paloma Game Overture

Adler-Ross arr. Alfred Reed.

Manley Whitcomb Conducting

Pines of the Appian Way

Ottorino Respighi arr. Antonio d'Elia

March "The Stars and Stripes Forever" — John Philip Sousa

Summer Music Camp Garnet Band

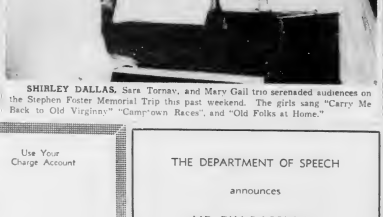
Oliver Hobbs, Conducting

VII

Presentation of Awards and Certificates

Dr. K O Kuersteiner, Director.

Summer Music Camp, Presiding



IX

Summer Music Camp Theme song "Suwannee River"

Stephen Foster arr. Charles Carter

Summer Music Camp Garnet Band

Manley Whitcomb, Conducting

SHIRLEY DALLAS, Sara Tornav, and Mary Gail trio serenaded audiences on the Stephen Foster Memorial Trip this past weekend. The girls sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" "Camptown Races", and "Old Folks at Home."

"DOWN THE OLD MILL STREAM" was never like this for Davey Crocke. Students begin their summer recreation sponsored canoeing trip down the Wakulla River. Oh Davey what you missed!

Nuclear Reactor New Too For Research, Cancer

By S. L. WARREN, M.D.
Dean of the U.C.L.A. Medical School

The nuclear reactor to be built as part of the new Medical Center at the University of California at Los Angeles will give medical science a powerful new tool for research and cancer therapy.

Although several nuclear reactors have been built and operated successfully this is the first which has been designed specifically for use in medical research and therapy. The U C L A medical reactor has been designed and will be built by North American Aviation's Nuclear Engineering and Manufacturing Division, Los Angeles.

This new medical tool will provide two types of radiation—gamma rays and thermal neutrons—which can be beamed selectively at deepseated cancers, often difficult to treat by surgery and present forms of radiation.

Gamma ray may be used to bombard malignant tissue directly. Thermal neutrons may be used in conjunction with certain injected chemicals to cause powerful but localized secondary release of radiation within the cancer tissue itself.

The use of neutrons, available only in reactor-type therapy, is thought has a distinct advantage over X-ray and other forms of radiation therapy. There is evidence that a greater selective absorption of radiation by malignant tissue occurs with less damage surrounding healthy tissue.

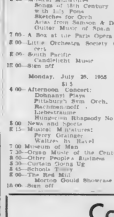
An example of a type of cancer that will be treated by this form of therapy is the glioblastoma multiforme, a brain tumor that infiltrates through healthy brain tissue. Preliminary studies at the Atomic Energy Commission's Brookhaven Medical Laboratories indicate that when borax is injected into a patient with this cancer, boron from the compound concentrates in malignant tissue.

When the cancer area is bombarded with neutrons, the boron captures neutrons. This causes a nuclear reaction in the boron, thus releasing powerful alpha particles. The alpha particles bombard the malignant tissue and destroy it but are absorbed before they reach nearby healthy tissue.

This and similar approaches give hope that with the new medical tool we can treat many such deepseated cancers without damaging healthy tissue often unavoidable in surgery and present radiation therapy.

We should like to emphasize that the new reactor will not be available for clinical use for at least two years, it is now completed. This means about 150 skilled Stafford L. Warren, M.D. Dean of U.C.L.A. Medical School. There will be a long period in which we must develop physical methods of measuring the proton and gamma output of the reactor. We must also develop physical methods for measuring energy absorption from the radiation. This procedure is known as calibration and must be performed with most new devices.

Then will follow another period of testing the device with biological specimens, including animals. This is necessary to determine the dosages where they can be applied to human cases. The part of the program will be under the supervision of the Department of Radiology of the U C L A Medical Center.



In addition to clinical application of the reactor, an extensive research program is planned. The reactor will be available to biomedical research programs supported by the Atomic Energy Commission at the U C L A Atomic Energy Project.

The research program will include radiation genetics and chemical research primarily with the aim of radiation protection. Other studies will include the manner in which radioactive materials are deposited in human bone and neutron effects on cancer. Particularly the lens of the eye of this part of the program will be directed so a better understanding of mechanisms of radiation effects and the conditions of neutralization of the radiation reactions. A new textbook will be done so as to keep abreast of safe practices.

We also plan a wide training program with the reactor, Dr. Warren related. This will include instruction of medical students, health physicists and others in techniques of research and utilization of neutrons, gamma rays and produced isotopes. At a later date we also hope to make the reactor available to other campus departments for the training of engineering and physics students.

Simultaneously with the various uses of the reactor, radiation can be made so important to the peaceful needs of mankind every day. Radioactive isotopes of iron and chlorine — also of isotopes very much in demand at present—could be made in the reactor. ABC lineup to add private affiliated programs because of the short lives of isotopes. Oak Ridge cannot supply them to the West Coast in practical amounts.

We feel that this reactor is another big step forward for the world. In America are determined to make exploitation of its benefits. It will lead to a new era of economic rather than a new age" concluded Dr Warren.

MUSICAMPERS REHEARSE for programs pl this summer for audiences here. They are Jimmie land and Zelma Allen with Harry Schmidt, direc looking on.

KEEPSAKE DIAMONDS
ELGIN & BULOVA WATCHES
Fine Watch Repairing
PAUL TURNER JEWELER
102 S. Monroe Phone 3-1442

Turner's

50 million times a day at home, at work or on the way

There's nothing like a Coke

1. SO BRIGHT 'N TASTE... nothing like it for sparkling, tangy goodness.
2. SO QUICKLY REFRESHING... nothing like it for a bracing bit of energy, with as few calories as half an average, juicy grapefruit.

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
Tallahassee Coca-Cola Bottling Co.
"Coke" is a registered trade mark. © 1955 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

No Exchanges
No Refunds

MILLER'S Correct
Semi-Annual Shoe Classic
Continues

Use Your Charge Account

Patrizia . . . Delmonette
Mademoiselle . . . Bare Foot Originals

8.95
Formerly 12.95 to 24.95

Naturalizer . . . Joyce . . . Sandler
Penaljo . . . Town & Country
Demoisette . . . Rhythm Step
Cover Girls

5.95
Formerly to 12.95

MILLER'S Correct

THE DEPARTMENT OF SPEECH
announces
MR. PIM PASSES BY JULY 21, 22
CONRADI THEATRE
8:15 p.m.
General admission: 75c
Student rate: 40c with presentation of ID card
Tickets on sale 10:5 p.m. days of production

Complete Line of COLLEGE OUTLINES
POCKET BOOKS
ANCHOR BOOKS
VINTAGE BOOKS
MODERN LIBRARY
FROM 35c to $2.45
at
Malone's Book Store
BETWEEN KAHLERS AND MECCA

WFSU-FM Program

Sunday, July 24, 1955
WFSU-FM
91.5 kc

4:00—From Paris to Peacock
5:00—Musical Miniatures
Bridge of the Century
With Judy Poole
Music from North America
Overture, Scherzo & Dervish
Oyster Mayor of Nova
7:00—A Bit of Paris Opera
8:00—Little Orchestra Society Concert
9:00—South Pacific
Candlelight Mayor
10:00—Sign off

Monday, July 25, 1955
91.5
4:00—Afternoon Concert:
Debussy: Piano
Pittsburgh Symphony Orch.
Rachmaninoff
Liebestraume
Rhapsody No. 2
5:00—News and Sports
6:00—Musical Miniatures:
Percy Grainger
Irish Tune from Derry
7:00—Museum of Man
7:30—Opera Music of the Centuries
8:00—Other People's Business
8:30—Curtain Going Up
9:00—Concert Hall
9:55—The Red Mill
Morton Gould Showcase
10:00—Sign off

Happy Birthday To FSU's Own Dr. Dohnanyi

The Summer Flambeau

Will Shorts Find Their Way To FSU

VOL. XI, NO. 6 — PUBLISHED BY STUDENTS OF FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA — THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1957

Council Pushes Girls' Rules Revisionment

A resolution permitting and encouraging the wearing of sports attire by women students on Florida State campus was introduced on Monday by Pat Hilton, junior councilwoman. It was adopted unanimously and presented to Dean Dorcas Warren.

The resolution reads:

"Women students at F.S.U. be permitted to walk to and from a walking city dressed in Bermuda shorts, shorts, slacks, tailor pedpers and jeans without consent covering and Saturday or anyother day for a day off with the exception of Sunday.

"Women students at FSU be permitted to wear bermuda shorts, shorts, jeans or pedal pushers every day during the summer session with the exception of Sundays.

"It will be understood that this rule is not to be worn in the library, eating places, or administrative building including the downtown area of section where sports clothing is to be worn."

Dean Warren, at the publication of the paper, has not issued any statement about the resolution, she mentioned, she replied that she has and hadn't had time to consider the matter, but would next week.

Bob Sims gave the report of the discussions committee who after discussing the capacity of the people in the summer session, representation in council should be based on either fraternity or sorority. At the previous meeting the committee had recommended representation for each of the groups in each dormitory. Pat Hilton, a two man and one woman section from the day students another suggestion. Elections will be held during the house sessions when dormitory officers are elected. Two polls would be taken for voting on day student representation and for Chairman and secretary of the Council.

Councilman Sam Alderman pointed out that a change of this kind would stimulate interest and help the council find out first hand the problems of day students.

Don Ramsey, newly appointed member of the council, was introduced at the July 16 meeting.

Dean Dorcas Warren and Social Recreation committee reported that letters had been received from 14 colleges and universities concerning the wearing of bermudas such as shown in pedal pushers etc on campus. Many these letters stated that the policy was left up to the good judgment of the students but that there was no university law against the practice.

"INSPECTOR CALLS"—rehearsing for the next summer stock production are l. to r. John Anderson, Max Estes, Carolyn Brown, Lee Hildman.

An Inspector Calls Set For Final Summer Play

By VIRGIL AUSTIN

Who is the mysterious inspector who calls at the home of the distinguished English gentleman and his family? What is his purpose in coming? Why does he accuse each member with their own confessions of guilt? Is he really an inspector, or is he?

These are some of the problems posed by the coming production of "An Inspector Calls." This J. B. Priestley play will be presented one week from tonight and tomorrow night as the final production of FSU's first summer stock company.

Theatre-goers will be able to again see their favorite actors and actresses in entirely different roles. This is the one play of the season that treats a serious theme. This play, as is true of many of Priestley's works, has a very unusual and quite surprising conclusion.

Again holding a title role, his third in a season of three, will be Lee Hildman, versatile graduate student. Although he was a mathematics major during his undergraduate career and now teaches math in Frostproof, Fla., Hildman would easily satisfy someone's desire as far as his performances have been this season. He is cast as the arrogant wife-fulfilling, the middle-aged mother and father roles in the play are Mrs. Elizabeth May and Max Estes. For Mrs. May this is her most important part thus far. Estes will be remembered as the mercenary lover in "Time Limit Anarchy," the first production this season. Both roles are very difficult, "heavy" parts.

The three juvenile roles in the play are portrayed by Carolyn Brown, Ed Thomas, and John Anderson. Thomas plays the role of the "sensible" suitor of the daughter of the family. Miss Brown. He will also be remembered for his sensitive portrayals of the pensive Julie in "My Three Angels" and the old-fashioned, but wonderful, George Marden in "Mr. Pim Passes By."

Anderson will portray the tortured son of the family. This is his first serious role of the season. He played lighter characters in the first two productions.

Completing the cast will be Miss Lenore Shivey, veteran performer from Altha, Fla. She will play the part of the maid. Her outstanding performance this season was that of the "absent minded" Madame Parole in "My Three Angels."

Director for the production is Dr. Paul Dietz who is also directing such "psychological dramas." The set is being designed and executed by Charles Reimer, technical director. Costumes and makeup are designed and supervised by Mrs. Frances Levine.

Other members of the summer stock group will fulfill roles as lighting technician, stage and house manager, and property chairman.

Tickets will be on sale the nights of performance and during the day Thursday and Friday, August 4 and 5. The price of admission is forty cents to students and seventy-five cents to faculty, staff, and all others.

Wright Leaves For Nashville

Thomas Wright, associate professor of music at Florida State University, will leave Saturday for Nashville, Tenn., where on July 28 he will present a Gershwin Festival Concert with the Nashville Symphony.

Wright will appear as soloist with the orchestra and also present two groups of piano solos. The concert will be given on the Peabody College campus as a feature of the Summer Artist Series. Dr. C. B. Hunt, dean of music at Peabody, as the conductor of the orchestra.

The concert will be similar to the Gershwin Festival Wright presented last March in the FSU Westcott Auditorium, offering all the major piano works of Gershwin.

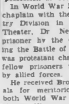
Dr. S. R. Neel Appointed As Dean of Men

Dr. Samuel R. Neel, Jr., was appointed Dean of Men at Florida State University, Dr. Doak S. Campbell, president of FSU recently announced.

Dr. Neel, University Chaplain and Professor of Religion at FSU will assume his new post August 1, meanwhile handling the duties of University Chaplain for the time being he succeeds Dr Louis Corcoran who became Dean of Men at the University of Alabama.

A member of the FSU faculty since 1948, Dr. Neel's teaching was interrupted by the war in Korea where he served as a front line chaplain. His unit, the 31st Infantry Regiment won distinction in battles for possession of Truong Hill.

In World War II as a combat chaplain with the 106th Infantry Division in the European Theater, Dr. Neel was taken prisoner by the Germans during the Battle of the Bulge. He was protestant chaplain for 8,500 fellow prisoners until liberated by allied forces.



He received Bronze Star Medals for meritorious service in both World War II and in the Korean War.

Receives Degrees

Receiving his B.A. degree in 1935 from Emory and Henry College, Emory, Va., he was awarded the PhD degree from Duke University in 1942.

A member of the American Philosophical Association, Blue Key, and American Association of University Professors, to mention a few, Dr Neel has written a book entitled "Personality Development, as well as numerous magazine articles.

Born in Alderson, W. Va., the son of a Methodist minister, Dr. Neel was the director of Inter-Church Student Fellowship at Kalamazoo, Michigan, before coming to Florida State University in 1948.

DR. LOUIS CORSON, former dean of men at FSU.

Scholarships Now Available

There are several scholarships available for Freshman students entering Florida State University, Miss Margaret Wilson, who is in charge of Scholarships at FSU, announced today.

These scholarships are $100 gifts each, with the money being taken from FSU's Student Loan Court fund.

The standards that have been set up for possible recipients are financial need, character, academic standing and in addition extra-curricular activities will be considered.

The applicant should address a letter to the Chairman of the Committee on Scholarships, Miss Westcott Building, Florida State University, Tallahassee, giving the approximate income in the home, the number dependent on it, and any unusual circumstances causing financial hardship.

The applicant should also ask the high school principal to send a transcript of his or her grades along with a recommendation to the Chairman of the Scholarship Committee.

A letter from another member of the community, not related to the applicant, should also be sent, certifying legal residence as the parents or guardian must have lived the last five years in active months in Florida. This letter should also include information on financial need and recommend the student for fine character, industry, and initiative.

Tally Ho Ready For Distribution

Tally Ho '55, Florida State University yearbook have arrived for student distribution Students who registered in September '54 and January '55 are eligible to have a yearbook. Last semester 1. D. card must be presented when one receives his Tally Ho. Those who do not have their cards must prove they attended FSU for the summer.

Yearbooks can be obtained in the Student Lounge basement of Longmire

Graduation Services Award 337 Degrees In Westcott, Aug. 13

DR. SAM NEEL, JR.—New Dean of Men

Polio-Like Epidemic Related To Weather Condition In Fall

Tallahassee's polio-like epidemic last fall seems to have been closely related to weather conditions at that time.

That is the belief of Holbrook Landers, a meteorologist at FSU, who has made a preliminary research survey which establishes the relationship between cases of the diseases reported and relative humidity, temperature range, and minimum pressure. His test period is the month and a half from Sept. 14 to Oct. 30 both when 43 per cent of all reported cases occurred. Peak of the epidemic was Oct. 1 when there were 32 reported cases.

Landers has made a Tallahassee area polio-weather graph which indicates it may be possible to predict peaks and lulls in epidemics of a similar nature. Such predictions would be valuable to a stricken town or city in providing hospital space and preventing mass hysteria.

Four Graphs

The FSU research faculty member made two separate graphs, one illustrating daily variations on the disease and the other daily weather conditions over the same period. He then made a third graph, superimposing his weather graph on his disease graph.

The ups and downs of the two graphs are strikingly similar, but less marked after Oct. 8 when the first of two cold fronts passed Tallahassee and the pattern is almost lost nine days later when the second cold front arrived.

Still a fourth graph compares the length of as a graph of "human discomfort," possibly of low physical resistance to disease.

He undertook the research because he became keenly interested in "the concept of a polio-season and the rather common-sense idea that a cold spell will break the back of a polio epidemic."

The researcher found no effect of rainfall or winds in making his survey, but thinks what was a big plus factor in the year-end record for the last 50 years in Tallahassee. The fact may well have played an important role in the origin and intensity of the outbreak."

Circus Practice Going Strong In Summertime

By PAT BRADY

The students of Florida State University are like children in their expectations of the "Flying High" circus performed by their fellow students.

Known nationally through publicity and throughout the immediate South because of personal appearances, the all-student circus features, among other things, aerial acts, clowns, and dancers.

Coach Jack Shakin, director of the student show, declared that in his opinion members of the "Flying High" troupe have developed a feeling of "belonging" to an organization and in many cases the performers have learned to work as units rather than as individuals.

Money Put Into Show

Money derived from the show is put into the show itself. There is no real effort to make profit, but rather to make ends meet and to meet the cost of transportation, lighting, trunk rentals, and awards, as well as costuming and other materials.

This summer students enrolled in the university are working out each day on routines that would ordinarily take a great deal of time if inaugurated during the regular session. Five prospective freshmen from Tallahassee are coming to the grounds for practice so they will be capable of joining the troupe in the fall.

Those working this summer are Mary Mary Fran Cawthon, Barbara Chalin, Jo Bethea, Bessner Star Routine, Jim Byrd and Barbara Chalin. Unicycle Act: Janet Graff, Swinging Trapeze, and Pave Moore. Cloud

Continued on Page 3)

Circus Flyers take to the sky even during the summer.

More Degrees Given Here This Summer

Commencement exercises for the three hundred thirty-seven candidates for degrees will be held Saturday, August 13, at 8 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium. The graduation message will be presented by Judge Harold L. "Tom" Sebring, associate justice of the Florida Supreme Court. His topic is "The Duties and Obligations of an Educated Citizen."

Justice Sebring received a B.S. degree from the Lenoir Rhyne College, and an L.L.B from the University of Florida. He then practiced law in Florida until 1934 when he was appointed Judge of the eighth circuit. In 1942 he was appointed to the Supreme Court. In 1945 he took a leave of absence of absence to serve on the war trials in Germany. He then returned to his position in the court. He has only recently resumed his place to become head of the law school at Stetson University.

Chairman of the committee in charge of the commencement. The Committee on Academic and Non Academic Conventions is Dr. Ervin Shores. She has announced that the commencement will be as traditional for the summer and mid-semester graduations, be in Westcott. None of the social activities which usually accompany a commencement will be held, as baccalaureate, class day, etc.

In charge of the arrangements at Westcott is the Student Service House Arrangements which is headed by Miss Ann Hall. The committee has charge of decorations, ushers etc. Other members of the committee are Dean Dorcas Warren, Dr. Bowman and Mr. Martin, the FSU bursar. Mrs. Mae Thomson succeeds Miss Sally Williams at this post. Miss Williams served on the committee for twenty years.

Undergraduates who would be interested in helping for the occasion are urged to contact Miss Thomson in the History Building if they are able to serve Saturday.

Candidates for graduation are listed below according to school and degree

SCHOOL OF NURSING

Bachelor of Science in Nursing

Betty Sue Bradshaw, Linda Faye Bush, Mary Ann Cox, Ruth Ann Hall, Mary Jane Hall, Muriel Abernathy, Jonnie Washington, Charlotte Wilson.

Bachelor of Science in Nursing Education

Elizabeth Fay Bell.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Bachelor of Science

Wesley Lee Barber, Leroy Bolling Bell, Jr., Jerry Alvin Bennett, M. Crews, John Andrew Curtin III, Jerry Dale Davis, Jr., Ralph Dempsey Dorsett, Jr., Benjamin Harrison (Cum Laude), Ralph W. Harris, Jr., Robert Lee Hodges, John Wharton Hodges, Jr., Jerry Lee Hollingsworth, Jr., Richard Smith, Fred J. Koch, Jr., Joseph James Smith, Jr., Clem Carter Wigley.

(Continued on Page 8)

Love, Guernsey On State Board

Mr. James Love and Mr. Kenneth Guernsey were recently appointed to the State Board of Control.

Love, a native of Quincy received his BS degree from Davidson University in North Carolina, and his LL.B. from the University of ODK. He was a second lieutenant in World War I, receiving his training at a special camp for college men in Plattsburg, New York At Villanova in Philadelphia, he was also a military instructor in the fall of 1918.

Love was sent by the State Department as one of a team of twenty business men on a survey trip in Europe in April 1954. On this trip he spent six weeks studying business and farming conditions in England, France, Spain and Egypt in connection with the government's Point Four project.

Mr. Love was also director of the Quincy State Bank and director of the Winn and Lovett Co. in Florida. He has special interests in several tobacco and cattle farms and a tobacco and peat marsh in Quincy

His daughter, Mary Shaw Love, was a graduate of FSU in 1945.

Guernsey—Native of Orlando

Guernsey, a native of Orlando, has been with the Gulf Life Insurance Co., there for a number of years Later, being made president of the company, he established his permanent residence at Jacksonville

He has been a prominent Rotarian for the past thirty years District Governor of the all Florida district, director of the Rotary International and later president of the Rotary International

Dohnanyi, Pianist-Maestro Celebrates 78th Birthday

Ernst von Dohnanyi, pianist-composer-conductor, anticipated his 78th birthday on July 27 in quiet manner.

It should be a fine day for Dr. Dohnanyi, for what happens to be the first day of his vacation," the Hungarian musician said.

Since joining the FSU faculty 13 years ago as head of piano composition, Dr. Dohnanyi has added second piano students summer school as well as duties the regular university year. He is enthusiastic about teaching and also enthusiastic about hobbies.

"I live in the present," said Dohnanyi, whose music is played frequently in many countries. He is interested in TV, and thinks it a great future, particularly educational purposes and for ing sports events. And he for air-conditioning which is now throughout the FSU ool of Music and his own

"My rich memories include performance for royalty, including ones from Brahams, also intiing stories about Lant sold to by his cello-playing father.

Beloved Memories

But some of his memories are marred by World War II, Dohnanyi lost both of his sons ell, one at the hands of the and the other by Russians. ly married of the tragic death ne was a displaced person Austria. The blightest memory last period is of the gift of a ano by some American soldiers warming of his plight. They used" it up a mountain to Dohnanyi is able to compose ll a piano. He continued pour out orchestral works. ng chamber music, songs many piano pieces in war-lous settings with bombs flying all around him. As refugees, he and his wife and two young step-children frequently experienced hunger before finally escaping to the New World to begin a new life.

WORLD FAMOUS composer, conductor Dr. Ernst von Dohnanyi celebrates his birthday.

In 1800 Dohnanyi made his first concert tour to the United States, and he made another in 1925, so that he was not a stranger when he arriver via South America to make his home here in 1949

Tribute To America

His American Rhapsody" which combines and blends folk tunes for orchestra, is a tribute to his adopted country. It was written last year for the 150th anniversary celebration of Ohio University at Athens

On his 78th birthday Dohnanyi plans to sleep late, and do his exercises, and relax during the all day. He counts an many friends calling in the evening and far into the night to wish him "many happy returns." His home his wife will serve his favorite Hungarian delicacies, a work-of-art-and-labor birthday cake.

It is to be the kind of celebration the maestro likes best, an informal day at home with his family with the usual visitors and revolving around him because it is his day, and time out to participate for good food and good music preferably not his own. That is the way he celebrated boyhood birthdays in Pressburg, then a Hungarian garrison coutnation town, but now a part of Czechoslovakia.

After Dohnanyi became famous throughout Europe, he tried to escape even public celebrations of his birthday. He recalls his 60th birthday as "the worst of the lot." After slipping away to a quiet retreat in the Austrian mountains he chose a quiet little rustic dining room for his first meal and almost choked when a radio program from Vienna, commemorating him as a man and a musician, sounded and resounding over the mountains.

That was in 1937, when he was at the height of a phase of his career, conductor of the Budapest Philharmonic Orchestra for a quarter of a century. He left his half-eaten meal, and hurried back to Budapest, just in time for a surprise hotel banquet arranged in his honor and attended by over 1,000. Every possible official made a speech, and Dohnanyi had to bow and make appropriate responses until utterly exhausted.

Thank You–Goodbye From Final Summer Flambeau

One, one and one half, one, two, one-half . . . with the count of headlines, and flickering of red-rimmed eyes from copy and proof reading, the Summer Flambeau is put to bed for the last time in 1955.

The opportunity is now taken to express our appreciation to those whose help in production was vital. Thanks to the staff: Managing editor, Pat Brady a sophomore from Pensacola whose major is nursing; Ray Hemann, a junior in prengineering as business manager; Virgil Austin, late appointee as news editor who is working with the Summer speech productions; Bob Cutting our sports editor and a history major; Rodger Herndon, our faithful photographer, George Goldstein, another speech major; our reviewers Tann Hammond and Wanda Sue Owen, our exchange manager Joan Halford and circulation Sam Alderman, and our many columnists: Jayleen Robertson, next year's editor in chief; Orchid Alonzo, Martin Dyckman, Daniel Gorham, Jimmy Sobs, Bob Folsom, and late comer Oscar Johnson.

Besides our faithful skeleton staff: thank you PRO office, Mr. Craig, Mrs. Anderson, Kay Vernon for her aid in Artist Course, Mr. Harry Davis and all in traffic columns, Audio Visual Darkroom, and the patient typesetters and linotype men at the Tallahassee Democrat where the Flambeau is published.

We wish to commend the newly-organized Summer Stock under the able leadership of Dr. Lynn Orr and Dr. Paul Davee, who provided the summer issue with abundance of news.

Now a resume of things editorialized this summer: the fate of the Summer Council, the variety of the summer recreation program, the revision of girls' rules, the scheduling of busses to meet class schedules and student traffic, cheating and the Honor Code, meaningless celebration of July 4, value of audio visual as in "The Living Desert", value of traffic committee, military preparedness, Dr. Campbell's commendated for his stand to limit enrollment, the need for individual education, the need of a campus literary publication, the disgrace of state road camps, on committing murder on highways, and an explanation of policy.

As is seen by the variety of column and editorial material and the wide-interest range of staffers, the Summer Flambeau is produced by a cross-section of students, with a cross-section of ideas.

Last, we wish to thank our readers who endured our mistakes in stories, and many typographical errors and still tried to understand our garbled sentenced. Our apology for the error in last issue's veteran story on conveyance purchase . . . it read . . . "Eligible veterans now have until October 20, 1596 or five years after discharge or separation from the armed forces . . ."

"Pretty Good — How Have Things Been Going With You?"

See Oscar Johnson's column for more information.

Zoned Parking By September 30

By RAY HEMANN

Zoned parking is to go into effect on campus by September 30, 1955, according to Traffic committee in their meeting held Wednesday after which stickers have been ordered and should be here in plenty of time for the faculty and staff to register their cars before the students get here for fall registration. Faculty and staff members will be allotted last year's stickers provided in re-registering their cars.

The new windshield stickers will be blue and white for cars which are entitled to park in the restricted zone and red and white for all others. These new stickers will completely eliminate the old garnet and gold stickers now in use. No cars will be allowed on campus after September 30 without one of the new stickers unless the car belongs to a visitor.

The zoning system as it was finally approved reads as follows.

1. Designate street area which consists of Suwannee running South from gate entrance to Old Demonstration School to the library and Western Drive together with the parking area at the Music Building and Old Demonstration School as a restricted parking area.

2. In this restricted area only cars bearing a sticker which identifies the owner as living inside the area adjacent to the campus would be permitted.

3. Designate as area adjacent to the campus the following:

Virginia Street on the North, Boulevard Street on the East

Augustina Street on South.

Murphree Street on the West (coming from Tennessee Drive) to Campbell Stadium

4. At the time of registration give out appropriate sticker identifying car owner as living adjacent to campus or outside boundaries as established.

5. In other words, at registration time all people who live outside the area designated as adjacent to the campus whether they be students, faculty or staff members, will be issued a windshield sticker of a different color than those persons living inside this area. This sticker will entitle these people to park in the area they wish on the campus while people living inside the area designated as being adjacent to the campus will be allowed to park anywhere but inside the restricted zone.

This entire plan has been accepted on a trial basis due to the fact that no one can know for sure if the restricted zone will provide enough parking spaces or not. If, on the other hand, there will be too many spaces. In the event that there will not be enough parking spaces available in this restricted zone it will further expand so that the parking lots next to the Schwalmeyer House and on the corner of Call and Copeland streets be added to the restricted zone.

Also passed by the committee was a proposal to print pamphlets explaining the zoning system and the traffic rules of the University which will be passed out to everyone during registration. This pamphlet will include a map of the campus which will vary greatly from the restricted zone for the benefit of the students as anyone else who will not be familiar with the new system.

The next topic to be taken up by the committee will be that of providing more efficient bus transportation for those who will not have cars or who will have to walk too far from where they park their cars.

Since this is the last issue of The Summer Flambeau this summer I think it appropriate to say that although all the traffic problems are far from being solved and although there are many more topics to be discussed by the committee the committee has done a good job. The big thing the committee did was lay the ground work for a zoning parking system, but this was not the only thing the committee did, not by a long shot. There were many other small things that were done by them that had to be done before parking could be tackled. The

FOR A JOB WELL DONE

The summer's traffic committee is to be commended for their work and effort to aid students, staff and faculty. Few committees, composed of students, staff and faculty have gotten as much accomplished over so short a period of time. Thanks to Jean Hallford, chairman; Dean Ogier, Dr. Truett Perry, Carolyn Bufferm, Sam Alderman, Dr. Merritt Cole, Mrs. Blackburn substituting for Dean Carr, Mr. Rod Shaw, Ray Hemann, and Mr. Harry Day. M.E.K

committee might well sit back for a moment and enjoy a big sigh of relief, but not for a very long moment because this is only a beginning.

The committee has cleared the way for a better parking and driving on campus, it is up to you, the students and faculty and staff members to make it work. Without your cooperation what has been started may fizzle out and with it the organization which has been under the committee of atomic forces of the United States Air Force.

Recent newspaper and magazine articles have told the Strategic Air Command's role in part, but this is the first time the movie camera has been allowed to go on one of the long-range air-arm's bombers, manned by fighters and maximum security fields. "Strategic Air Command" is, above all, a human story, told against a full of wonderful family humor. Jimmy Stewart, particularly as baseball player recalled to active duty and assigned to Strategic Air Command as B-36 bomber pilot, offers a superb performance. At first, unwilling to give up fear that his baseball career is smashed, and not at all convinced of the importance of the Strategic Air Command, he has to face a series of astonishing adventures before his thinking can right itself. Around his problems is the emotional reaction to the disruption of their home life and the intensity of the clash is a source of great dramatic suspense. People have come away deeply stirred by this engaging type who combines the finest dramatic talent with an unbeatable romantic appeal and maintain the entertainment level at a realistic peak.

Cecil B. DeMille's picture "Is Against the House" starring Guy Madison, Kim Novak and Brian Keith, opens at the Florida, Friday. Alvy Moore and Wallace Ford are also featured.

'If you ask me, the whole thing is the result of the world socio-economic-political turmoil, enhanced to a degree of finesse by the industrial capacity of a capitalistic society which seeks to express itself in the culmination of a deposit of iron ore into an enchanting mobile structure. It, other words, there's too darn many cars around here."

THE SUMMER FLAMBEAU

Published by the students of Florida State University, Tallahassee each Thursday During the Summer Session.

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Editor

Managing Editor ... Pat Brady
Sports Editor ... Bob Cutting
Movies ... Wanda Sue Owens
Campus Editor ... Virgil Austin

RAYMOND G. HEMANN—Business Mgr.

Exchange ... Joan Halford
Photographer ... Rodger Herndon
Circulation ... Sam Alderman
Offices: 311, 312 Longmire Bide.

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service 420 Madison Ave., New York
Member: Associated Collegs Press, Florida Collegiate Press
Phone 5-6202, extension 6821, 6221

Play Review

Oscars, Blue-Ribbons For Professional-Like Stockers

By TANN HAMMOND

Perhaps as one member of the Mr. Pim Passes By audience said, "A Mr. Milne should have stuck to Winnie the Pooh." But that was no one he said that about the actors should go back to another profession.

Lee Richardson in the title role made the bufoglified Gilderaleeve type character so real as to be irritating. Using a slight lisp, vague gestures, and the facial expression of a bewildered cocker spaniel. Hildman made the most of Mr. Pim. On the other side, while never breaking character, he did bend it a bit. Even the minute she waited on stage till the final curtain call, Marjorie Crandell brought Olivia Marden to life as a very clever, warm human being. Much of the merit found in this play was presented by Miss Crandell. Her facile glances she made while "getting around" her husband.

Eb Thomas' portrayal as the blustering stuffy husband handled his complex role with ease. By showing the other half of Mr. Pim's son-in-law den's personality, the awkward tenderness, Stiff and in true picture of a heaven conscious middle-aged man in love. This calls.

Movie Review

"Strategic Air Command" Plays This Week At State

By WANDA SUE OWEN

A motion picture vitally important to the security and peace of mind of the whole world, and sweepingly majestic in its revelation of a great human drama took its audience by storm yesterday when Glenn Mount's "Strategic Air Command" opened at the State theatre. Starring Jimmy Stewart and James Stewart, the film brings a startling look at the men, the planes and the top-secret operations of the mightiest weapon in the world—the atomic forces of the United States Air Force.

Recent newspaper and magazine articles have told the Strategic Air Command's role in part, but this is the first time the movie camera has been allowed to go on one of the long-range air-arm's bombers, manned by fighters and maximum security fields. "Strategic Air Command" is, above all, a human story, told against a full of wonderful family humor. Jimmy Stewart, particularly as baseball player recalled to active duty and assigned to Strategic Air Command as B-36 bomber pilot, offers a superb performance. At first, unwilling to give up fear that his baseball career is smashed, and not at all convinced of the importance of the Strategic Air Command, he has to face a series of astonishing adventures before his thinking can right itself. Around his problems is the emotional reaction to the disruption of their home life and the intensity of the clash is a source of great dramatic suspense. People have come away deeply stirred by this engaging type who combines the finest dramatic talent with an unbeatable romantic appeal and maintain the entertainment level at a realistic peak.

Cecil B. DeMille's picture "Is Against the House" starring Guy Madison, Kim Novak and Brian Keith, opens at the Florida, Friday. Alvy Moore and Wallace Ford are also featured.

Letters to Editor

A letter from the Summer Council Chairman concerning the regulation of clothing.

It was my hope that the resolution concerning the regulation of clothing passed unanimously by the Summer Council requesting a more up to date and reasonable attitude on the part of the office of the Dean of Women will be acceptable.

Pat Hilton should be congratulated on the outstanding work she has done on this project. The resolution she submitted to the Council is just the most minimum a reasonable person could ask. The Resolution only asks that the women here at FSU have about the same amount of freedom in their choice of clothing that they experience at home, the freedom would still probably be less and than in most homes.

In the survey the Council made of other schools on about similar regulations, a very striking reply was received from a large Southern school. The Dean of Women said that she left the choice of clothes up to each individual girl's good judgment, and that she assumed that the girls had good judgement. It is my personal belief a similar policy could be put into effect at FSU. It is my desire to see such a policy adopted.

Ken Gaills.

Alabaster II

Casting Their Seeds To The Wind

By JAYLEEN ROBERTSON

(With apologies to St. Matthew:—Reapportionment. Creed? . . . And the senators opened their mouths and taught them, saying Doomed are the poor in representation for theirs is the kingdom of the House.

Doomed are the meek: for they shall inherit the Senate.

Doomed are they which do hunger and thirst after fulfillment of the constitutio, for they shall not be filled.

Doomed are the merciful: for they shall not regain their seat in Senate.

Doomed are the pure in heart: for they shall be tramped.

Blessed are you, when the people of the state shall revile you, and persecute you, and speak all manner of truth against you, falsifully, for my sake.

Rejoice, and be exceedingly glad: for great is your reward in Senate: for so persecuted they the senators which were before you.

You are the salt of the government: and if the salt has lost its savour, wherewith shall it be salted? It must still be good for something? Don't let it be cast out and trodden under the feet of the constituents.

You are the light of Florida's future. A legislature that is set on a hill must be hid . . .

Still Biblically speaking, it looks as though the raisemakers are trying to equal the record of 40 days and 40 nights. Have tried to outlox them by changing my lunch hour, but am still unsuccessful. Maybe I'm getting a persecution complex. Speaking of persecutioo, best wishes to those on the summer council who are crusading for the advent of Bermuda shorts on weekends for the comfortable, but still respectable FSU woman. It seems these shoo who fear FSU women will not wear such attire wearing their manners and femininity. Other schools, in disnity to Florida State, permitted their women students to do this with no loss of grace. Their women are considered, don't you?

Orchids deppressmen: The traffic council for their work to see rewards soon.

The new Dean of Men: Joy Neel, and best wishes for success in his new position. he's still a troublesshooter for the only difference is now he's got to climb the hill to see . . . To the 1955 Tally: So it was worth waiting for. Mary Liz King, and that fine job of putting out that with the aid of only two co-eds, cohorts.

Snoitcelfer

Russians Really Jolly Fellows

By MIHAIL POBLAYSK

As Told To Oscar Johnson

Have you noticed lately that the Russians are really jolly fellows?

Fritnance, there's the recent summit conference of the four powers. This final feast broad Russian smiles, carefree bauouts, and friendly visiting between Premiers Ike and his wartime buddy, Marshal Zhukov. As the conference processeon, Associated Press dispatches began telling of Ike's and people drinking champagne toasts and chatting on the Russian villa overlooking Lake Geneva

Ike, it is said, "wasn't born yesterday," and in order to forestall any mention of a possible reversal of policy such as made with the Russians during WW II, guaranteed he wouldn't make any secret agreements. Although the conference was a slap in the face to the U. S. and its "peaceamaking organization," this was overlooked because the conference was supposed to ease international tensions and promote a relaxation of peaceful type negotiations on international matters.

As if the "goodwill conference" wasn't enough to put across a point, the Soviets sent some of their ablest men to spread the word on this side of the creek. Twice did Soviet film leaders came over to inspect and sample some of that good old Yankee corn. The Russone even posed in the cornfields to show their appreciation and went so far as to sample the products of same, so the story goes, to report of some of the farms they visited.

Probably the keenest bit of all was scored by delegation leader Vindimir Matskevitch, who, according to the AP "turned out to be an exceedingly able diplomat with a turn for the right phrase at the right time."

Yes, we must admit that the Russians come can hardly call them 'Communists' any more, a word with nasty implications; have turned out to be not at all like we had imagined them to be in the past. Somehow, we had the idea that they were bloodbloods in a red jeeper, the bully-boys of the UN and the

The Survey

Restore Respect For Moral Code

By DANIEL GORHAM

In Boscoe, a little youth delivered a lesson to his elders and he certainly presented the quintessence of common sense: "With all the talk about the increasing aerial and stories of brutal murders blasted across the front of newspapers, with monkey codes being revised in one direction only, with the pockets full of sloodle money which does irreparable harm to the nervous system, with the talk with alcoholism skyrocketing, is it any wonder that youth, which naturally thinks for themselves you eet, should pick the road which is bad and dangerous?

These remarks show the why and wherefore of Juvenile crime and delinquency.

I have read innumerable writ. And in city after city, the crime and it seems to me that the experts are more interested in finding the cause behind the delinquent teen-ager than they is located. One man will tell you about the nefarious devices employed by a child who is unnerved by his parents or whose parents are alcoholics. We don't need to know precisely what happened when the parents went off the track. We want to know why they did and how to get them back on it.

The problem is augmented by the fact that not only the parents but society in general are off the track. And the child is offered the same standards of good and evil by his whole environment.

It is easy to make progressive education the scapegoat. It is true that it has contributed a great deal to the matrix. It tends to make a child a law unto himself and the undisciplined child will have little respect for a moral law. But the problem is much more larger than a question of educational technique.

Others say that juvenile delinquency is inevitable. One is the measure of the health of society and society is neurotic and jumpy in a cold war. Therefore, the child will share in the tensions of the cold war.

This seems to me an utterly groundless argument and disproved or confirmed.

Psychiatrists say that man is a social animal. That is easy. The child-joiner is to be trying to find some way satisfying an inner urge. Emotionally thwarted, he becomes disoriented and a gang of discontents. He does not find his agressive pulses on the line and takes them out on the grocer. So, according to psychiatrists, he suffers a lack of emotional and social recognition. One naturally begs to wonder what happens when a well-adjusted teen-ager can be led into an emotionally and socially sick gang.

What is the philosophy of that two-bayers read as a billboards in suggestive ad see on TV? What is the ethic in the air like breathe? What drink and be merry for tomorrow we die." Adults far removed from having fully left the bent of cherries and should be taken seriously. Those which they mean that unless you give free play to spontaneous impulses everyone is sick and will deverend upon you for a pall. It is any wonder that adolescents should grasp at these notions to justify the total infusion of biological drives? Our century more than all others has glorified instinct and impulse to the detriment of reason and divine law.

We must proceed to public opinion a real respect for moral code.

by Dick Bibler

Don't worry about those chapters we skipped—I've covered them adequately in the final."

Gabbing With Gutting

By BOB GUTTING

For the purpose of orientating freshman biology students in the proper methods of classifying cats on this campus, the writer has just completed an all inclusive extensive survey.

First, it should be noted that all cats come under two family groups which are the High Class or Keep-Your-Cotton-Picking-Hands Off'n-Me type, and the Low Brow or Cat Type Cat.

Upon further investigation, it may be noted that these animals are further divided into sub-groups or Genus, as follows:

1. High Class
   a. Persian
   b. Angorra
   c. Siamese
2. Low Brow
   a. Tom
   b. Alley
   c. Female Type Wimmin

Typical characteristics of the first class are a haughty and aloof manner, the air of a suave, continental Count, and a frustrating disrespect for the wishes of the persons they own.

Fortunately for mankind, this type is not too prevalent on campus, but are content to lay around on the best chair in some unfortunate persons house, doing little more for entertainment than basking in the sun. Chief difference between these three species is that the Siamese cat has slightly slanted eyes, while the Persian meows with a decided foreign accent.

The second class, which is more common hereabouts, consists of all kinds of crazy characters.

Characteristic of this wounding breed is the Tom type cat. These creatures can be seen strutting magnificently down the street tail twitching, looking neither here nor there, and wearing a rakish grin. These animals are truly the Clark Gables of the animal kingdom.

The second sub group, or alley cat, is usually a nondescript, scraggy looking affair that looks like a cross between a drowned rat and the result of a tussle with a grizzly bear. These creatures do not walk but slink around the with eyeballs roving to search of someone's leg to bite or other such frivolous pastime to while away their waking hours. This type also loves to play kangaroo, whereby they lay in wait in the bushes for hours until someone comes along whom they may playfully pounce upon.

The third sub group, or Female Type Wimmin, I refuse to discuss other than pointing out several references that the devoted cat studier may look to for research.

The first such reference is Case Histories of the Fair Sex, which points up some rather intriguing jury trials involving women. The book was compiled by the famous sociologist, Dr Hons von Schmerzinstroop, who met a dire fate at the hands of a member of this species.

It seems that Hans was away in Africa doing research on ultimate conditions of what causes Army ants to join the army when a vision appeared before him. This vision, in three short acts and six curtain calls, showed his beautiful young wife, Sachia von Kloop der Himmserchpiol der Schmerzinstroop, in danger of drowning. So Hans quickly flew back and found the vision was correct. His wife was in danger of drowning — in a barrel of malt beer in the cellar in which she was drunkenly swimming a water ballet, to the accompanyment of a Bavarian Bop orchestra.

Well, old Hansy just flipped his lid and proceeded to chop up the procceedings with a genuine Tanganyika synthetic stone axe (H. J. Littlehorn and Co. $3.98) when the rhubarb was disrupted by the Kaisers Korps of Knuckleheads, or KKK for short, which hauled him to the local edition of the Bastille.

While incarcerated in such a fashion, old Hansy, being a sociologist and a practical man (it's possible) set about writing his memoirs and compiling his now famous book. Undoubtedly old Hansey would be there still, but due to lack of adequate facilities for political prisoners he was released Hitler in the late thirties.

Of course if this fails to satisfy you, I would heartily recommend you to the more recent Kinsey Report.

Sports Afield

By TED KESTING

The take-off is the hardest part, the only hard part, of simple water skiing. Usually, after around seven hours of straight skiing the beginner is able to balance well enough to learn a few tricks. Today water skiers in the hundreds of thousands, from coast to coast, ride in rough water and can do straight riding and some ride behind slow boats and fast boats.

The rapid increase in this sport is due in part to betterdesigned skis of improved weight, balance and construction. The once-neglected but important foot-harness has been developed to near perfection. Even towropes and handles have been improved.

A shallow-water take-off is often suggested for the beginner. Willard Crandall, in an article in Sports Afield magazine, recommends practice on land first. Place the skis about eight inches apart; put your feet in toes first, then pull up on the heel binding. Now sit on the rear of the skis, your knees against your chest and seize the towrope handles. Next have someone take hold of the rope, brace against the front tips of the skis, and pull you up. Don't you help. Just concentrate on keeping your knees bent, arms straight and body slightly forward.

Then set to about 2½ feet of water and do this with a boat. The driver should start off reasonably fast at steady speed. Let the boat pull you up, as practiced on land. Keep your crouched weight balanced over your feet. Don't strive or pull up with your arms.

Skis a little under six feet are the most popular for general skiing. The more weight to be carried the larger the skis should be for steady riding. Skis long in proportion to weight are easier to get up on, but more sluggish and harder to control under way. Very short skis are too maneuverable for the amateur. Slick-bottomed skis are easier to pull, and easier on the skier's arms.

Standard tow-rope length is 75 feet; ropes a bit shorter are often used. A ¼-inch three-strand of Manila rope is best. Don't use nylon—it may stretch dangerously as the skier pulls on it. A 10 hp motor is the minimum that can pull an adult skier, a 16 hp is much better; a 25 is recommended.

Circus

(Continued from Page 1)

Swing. It is interesting to note that this act on the Cloud Swing has never been attempted by a girl student. The act calls for abundant strength due to the lack of any type loop or wrist locks.

110 EXPECTED TO RETURN

One hundred and ten members of the old troupe are expected to return for the fall session, leaving fifty places open to competion among new and old students, said Coach Haskins.

About one half of next year's shows are already scheduled: two nights in Orlando and one night in Coco, Enterprise, Ala., Americus, Ga., Albany, Ga., Decator of Atlanta, Ga., and Panama City. There is also a possibility of an appearance in Dothan, Ala.

"Mis-fire", the "Flying High" bus has been of service to the circus for over two years. To get into the swing of things she is in the process of getting a new wardrobe—a paint job! One thing is left—you're right—the bus driver is getting a new uniform.

Get Your Beach Supplies at Bennett's

Suntan Oils and Lotions for this weekend

Swim Caps
Sunglasses
Sundries

Complete Soda Fountain and Luncheonette
Free Delivery Service
at
BENNETT'S DRUGS

ALL-AMERICAN—Three time winner of an All-American rating, Howie Gould is shown with Coach "Wild Bill" Odeneal. The volleyball team is a fine example of the sportsmanship and desire to win of the small sports on campus.

CHAMPS—Dr. Hartley Price is shown with his prize winning Seminole team of one year ago after they won the Southern Intercollegiate gymnastics title for the fifth year in a row.

Graduates

(Continued from Page 1)

Donald J. Sweet, George Keith Walker, Oliver Slaton Woollard, Jr.

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM
Bachelor of Science

Donna Jean Carr, John Harold Danahy Jr., Frederick Lawrence Harold, Warren J. Vergason

Bachelor of Arts

Dorothy Anna Massey (Cum Laude)

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION
Bachelor of Science

Henry S. Holley

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WELFARE
Bachelor of Science

Virginia Steen Kirby, Beverly Shannon Koach, Marlysa Sue Lindamood, Jack Kelly Luttrell

LIBRARY SCHOOL
Bachelor of Arts

Marietta G. Manion

SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Bachelor of Music Education

Mary Anne Regina Baucino, Florence Paulina Brown, Sarah Gail Jackson, Joyce Elaine Thomas

SCHOOL OF HOME ECONOMICS
Bachelor of Science

Patsy Dowling Denmark, Barbara Ann Hobbs, Jacquelina Lupton, Jeannetta Lee Pittard, Eleaner McDonald Scarborough

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
Bachelor of Science

Ruby W. Lindsey Ba... Baise, Vauncila Bell, Sadia Harrell Boggs, Clydine Marshall Bringaman, Jean Rrownlee Still, Jean Bruner, Perla O. Caules, Maida Grant Coon, Agnes Mitchell Crawford, Eliza Rowland Crutchfield, Luther Nelson Donnell, Bernice Fermo (Cum Laude), Helen Jones Figley, Claire Louise Franks

Willie Belle Spears Galloway, Shirley Rowden Griffin, James Edward Harkins, Lillie Jean Hassfurder, Hilda Hawkins, Laura Wynn Hinton, Bacreuth R. Howard, Nell Patterson Howell, Betty LaRue Inman, Richard David Ireland, Myrtle M. Jernigan, Esther Oliva Johnson, Clydie Gertrure Jones, William Telford Leuria, Jr., Virginia Carolyn Lett

Sylvia Lewis, Gwendolyn Loy, Chrystella Hudson Lutz, Arrie Marshall, Pansy Shipes Marshall, Essie L. McDonald, Edna Jean Srock McFatter, Julia Jackson McLellan, Patricia Rose Meredith, Doris Shelton Nichols, Annie Lee Pippin, Gordon Parker Revell, Allie L. Ferrell Roberts, Marian Bailey Rude, Lottie Elliott Sapp, Olin B. Shuler

Kathleen Rrowna Slade, Myrtice Michaux Smith, Anne Kay Souter, Nell Mickler Stanlill, Florence Davis Statson, Wanda Jeanena Stokes, Fred O. Strickland, Elizabeth M. Suggs, James H. Tanaka, James Kenneth Thompson, Zillan Hutchinson Thompson, Janet f Vancusa, Carolyn Clark Wagner, Laura Hammack Wiggins

Bachelor of Arts

Frances Delores Sholner

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES
Bachelor of Science

Mary G. Almere (Cum Laude), Ed M. Andrews, Edwin E. Brown, Richard M. Bryant, Jr., C. Elaina Chapman, Estle E. Cheeseman, Jr., Warren Hyland Cobb (Cum Laude), Cecil D. DeMille, Samuel R. Faircloth Jr., Berry Kenneth Getlin, William A. Graham, William Durant Gray, Jr., John Edward Grider.

Homer F. Harrington, Jean Stanton Herron, Constance Kay King, Oscar G. Laurene, Marcia Ray Lee, Calvin Weber Miley, Emmanuel George Moshonas, Barbara JoAnn Murphy, Eric H. Phinney, William H. Reese, Harold Scrafield Schaus, Jr., James Edwin Vause, Jr., Howard Taylor Whitehurst, John Russell Wilson

Bachelor of Arts

Dean DeLoss Bartlett, Loratta Joan Bryen (Cum Laude), Richard Oscar Cutlar, Sandre Louise Fisher, Marilyn M. Ingram, Tommie Fallon Jones, Peter Llewellyn Nimkoff, Clarence Edgar Vogelgesang

GRADUATE SCHOOL
Master of Music Education

Clyda Guess Cauthan, Mary Elizabeth Davis, Richard Lee Hawkins, Bruce M. Hudson, James Gordon King, Clyde Arthur Pinughe, Virginia May Sewell, Len Wayne York.

Master of Music

June Patricia Batcher, Edith Campbell Kaup, Frank Richard LaMar, Peggy Lee Pennel

Master of Science

Shelly Clayton Adams, Willard Richard Adams, Luis Raul Almodovar, Jessie Ayers Bailey, Kent Baylor, Merion Ferrell Buford, Eapin Earle Bullock, Jehs William Burgason, Royce Johns Burt, Jr., George Parks Callan

Hugh Gregory Campbell, Halen Elizabeth Carlton, Carlos Eugena Chefin, Joseph A. Cipriano, Joseph F. Clark, Frances Louise Lester Collins, Millicent Kickliter Cook, Wallace P. Cox, Earl Howard Craft, Ruben M. DeCastro y Suarez, Harold Raymond Demarest, Alice Post Dixon, Robert Braden Dunmire, Jr., David Glenn Erwin, Louis Edward Fischer

Joanne Caroline Fila, Joseph Angelo Floris, Connie M. Fries, Bessie Emmelina Gainey, Richard H. Garth, Frances Virginia Gaskins, James Harlan Gause, Miriam Yvonne Glover, William F. Georg, Rocelia Irving Greenlee

Raymond Robert Gregory Jr., Henry Lee Griffin, Park Edwin Guilford, Jean Jarnigan Gwinn, Martha Ann Hall, Robert Malcolm Henry, John Richard Hill, Fern Kathleen Robertson Irwin, Joseph O. Johnson, Richard LaVarn Kantack, Anna Estella Kallay, Richard Wayne Kelso, Robert A. Lee, Emilio John Lepore

Hilton Coy Lewis, Albert Markevitz, Alice Jean Masters, Harold Alvin McCarty, VonCall McCreary, Joy McDaniel, John P. McElrey, Arthur Gena Melhorn, Edward Cecil Nall, Allan O. Nelson, Arthur P. Newcomb, Jr., Audrey Newman, Travis J. Northcutt, Jr.

Ralph D. Oleson, Betty Pauline Pilsbury, Edward L. Pipkin, Edith Grace Potter, John Ford Price, Daniel S. Raden, Donald W. Rapp, Patricia Florine Redfarn, Gladys Maria Riley, Ray E. Rilling, Jr., Bertie Sue Roberts, M. E. Threlkeld Robinson.

Anna Else Rodgers, Victor Jackson Rogers, Julius Salacz-Dohnanyi, George William Schafer, John O. Schiltz, Richard Vair Shanklin, Jr., George Carla Shaw, Phylis Stafani, Ruth Magdalane Stempia

Yvonne Fossett Stephens, Albert Carson Strickland, Harold Gordon Swain, Robert John Trafford, Anna Rebecca Turner, William James Turvaville, Riker S. VanArsdell, J. B. Ward, Curtis D. West, Jr., Thomas Edgar White, Boyd Wilborn, William Worth Williams Jr., Kenda Carolyn Wise, Robert Carlton Wynn.

Master of Arts

Dixie Jean Allen, Boonchue Ankapredit, Doris Knowles Basnar, Harold Everett Bergman, Lucy Dardan Blackledge, Betty Jean Bolling, Kathleen McGeachy Braxton, Alice Proctor Brown, Mary Heaton Radcliffe Cadman, Wilda Larson Clowera, Thelma Wells Coggin, Raul de Guzman y Policarpio, Irvin Dorass, June Davis Ellingsworth

Lois Pridmore Emminger, Francine Sadlay Faulhaber, Lewis Ermina Fann, Jr., Anne Joy Flanagan, Elizabeth Bowman Flory, William D. Frank, Dorothy Eldridge Gray, Maurine Swarthout Graiser, Annie Louise Guess, Tom A. Hagan, Juanita Rucker Hamnar, Robert Clifford Henning, Mae Hines

Margaret Linda Hoadley, Olin Barker Houghton, William Amzie Hudson, Eloise Tarpley Jones, Morris Glenn Lamb, Josie Lewis, Mary Elizabeth Marshall, Glen Edward Martin, Ethel Matthews McLendon, Elizabeth Patricia Mims, Ann Stillmen Morrill, Barbara Myatt, Joan Louisa Peterson, Joan Lucille Reitsma

John Ralph Rippey, Margaret Moore Santana, Anna Mary Scott, Earl Prentice Scott, Verlan H. Stahl, Evelyn Clark Tidwell, Frederick Leon Tucker, Elle Lee White, Sidney Jeanette Wiley, Margaret Josephina Young, Lillian B. Zachary.

Doctor of Education

Harold Manfred Covel, Dale L. Wemble

Doctor of Philosophy

Sarah Frances Anders, Malvin Baum, Hoyt Edwin Bowan, Joe Wood Cable, George Christopher Chamis, Harpik Der Hovhannisian, Marian B. Faulkner, Jack Harold Fehon, Edward J. J. Kramar, Kluck Lee, James A. Parrish, Jr., Joseph Ridley Wilkinson

IT'S MALONE'S
for "everything for the student"
SELL YOUR USED BOOKS
CASH AT
MALONE'S BOOKSTORE
Between Mecca & Kahler's

An Editorial

Deficiency In Police Forces

The American public has long felt that protecting the rights of the individual counts more than the conviction of persons for criminal activity. This has resulted in the passing of many laws that the people want to have on hand in case they want to use them, but they are laws which, on the whole, they do not want rigidly enforced.

A big shortcoming in this traditional American feeling is the obvious deficiency of many of the country's police forces.

In a typical town, such as Tallahassee, the City Fathers hesitate to appropriate sufficient funds for the payment of patrolmen. According to Police Chief Frank Stoutamire, the starting pay of a patrolman is $261 per month. The pay steadily increases with longevity, so that a patrolman, after 25 years service to the community, receives the appalling amount of $303 per month. A Sergeant draws $25 more per month than a patrolman, a lieutenant $25 more than a Sergeant, and a Captain $25 more than a Lieutenant.

This means that if a person is lucky and gets several promotions after 25 years he will be making the astounding figure of $378 per month. That is, if he doesn't get himself killed in the line of duty.

This situation makes it increasingly difficult to obtain patrolmen for the force, and it is practically impossible to get any one with much formal education of any type.

Chief Stoutamire was determined to get several people with college education when he first took over, but found it difficult to get people with even a high school education.

What are the net result of this situation? According to Joseph O'Connor, representative of the Florida Peace Officers Association, many of the persons attracted to the profession do so only for what they can get out of it. Many also join the force so they can become what he terms "legal killers." These people like to carry a gun because it gives them a feeling of power and importance. These men are dangerous, and likely to shoot on the slightest provocation. Mr O'Connor cited a case in southern Florida where one Sheriff was notorious for the fact that he seldom brought in a prisoner, particularly a colored person, alive.

Another outgrowth of the low salaried policemen too often is the much publicized payoffs and graft. People may wonder why a policeman will agree to take protection money from a Bolita operator, who actually is not a notorious criminal, without taking into account the low pay of the job and the increasing cost of living. Many of them are forced to take these drastic measures in order to feed their wife and kids.

If police organizations were paid what they were worth, then people would be getting the type of protection they were paying for.

Committing Murder On Highways

We're committing murder on our highways.

Yes, of course, you've heard this all before. And it's not going to help you to hear it again, is it? Now that you've imbued yourself with this negativism, go on out and get yourself killed and let the typesetters and proofreaders finish this editorial.

There are a few things we could do to increase highway safety immeasurably.

First, driving takes a healthy mind. There is a great temptation to use an automobile as a means for showing off, or as a medium of revenge. The braggart, the show-off, the easily angered person, the road hog—their troubles are emotional, not physical.

And they shouldn't be allowed to drive. Administering psychological tests to would-be motorists would cut down greatly on the number of drivers. It would slice thougands off the morgue lists.

Second, re-examination of drivers. Many people come into the state inadequately taught. Many lack the physical prerequisites for motoring. They pass in other states; many incompetents pass right here in Florida. A periodic re-examination would weed them out.

It is one thing to be sentimental about old people who have lost their facilities but still need to drive; it is also being sentimental when we think of an awful lot slice thousands off the morgue lists. and shouldn't be allowed on the road. We must take our choice.

Adequate training for drivers is another vital factor. Provision for this has already been made. This you will realize when you pay for your driver's license this September. It will cost you 25 cents more.

The money is to be used to finance driver education programs on a statewide basis.

These driver ed courses in high schools aren't a lot of hogwash. Studies show that accidents are 50 percent less among driver ed graduates than among people who picked up nervous habits and improper methods from relatives or friends who never knew the delicate art of handling a two-ton potential coffin.

Decent roads are a necessity. Rutted, lumpy, narrow highways with sharp curves, narrow bridges, soft shoulders and countless blind spots are first cousins to Death.

Sound automobiles are indispensable. Even the oldest car, if properly cared for, can be safe to drive.

The state should set up its own inspection program, administer the testing itself and enforce the results. Weak brakes, dim headlights, ruined steering gear and shot windshield wipers are the coequals of cyanide, arsenic and a twenty-story drop.

And then, of course, people can change. They can be a few minutes late rather than a few hours dead; they can afford to stare at the other fellow's taillights rather than pass where they haven't got a few hundred yards clear visibility ahead. But of course people won't change.

So let's correct every situation in which it is our power to effect a change, and then pray to whatever power we want to pray to change the human mind.

DIG THAT JUNK!!!

Modern trends in popular music, as evidenced by the many blaring jukeboxes on campus, seem to indicate that the American taste is toward more noise and less melody. It would seem that a pronounced slow and heavy beat and a thudding immovable bass line are the ultimate in music. Why do we, who are supposed to be reasonably cultured individuals, sit back and allow this trash to surround our every indigestable meal?

Dine In Cool
Air-Conditioned
Comfort

Complete meals
- Breakfast
- Lunch
- Dinner

AAA
Approved Restaurant

Open from 6:00 A.M.
'Til Midnight
Saturday 'Til 2 A.M.

Private Dining Room for Banquets

Tallahassee
Dining Room
1635 N. Monroe
Mr. Bishop

SANITONE DRY CLEANERS' NATIONAL CONTEST!

WIN A $1000.00
MARSHALL FIELD & CO.
DREAM WARDROBE

...and a FREE round trip to Chicago for TWO on UNITED AIR LINES!

Plan now to enter the national Dream Wardrobe Contest sponsored by the Sanitone Division of Emery Industries, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio.

SIMPLY FINISH THIS SENTENCE IN 25 WORDS OR LESS

"I prefer Sanitone to ordinary dry cleaning because . . ."

(Sample Sentence: I know I can trust Sanitone to do a better job on everything from children's clothes to finest evening wear—yet it costs no more".)

It's just as easy as that and you might win a "new you" . . . everything from shoes to a glamorous new hair-do . . . casual to evening wear—and all smartly styled for "Field's" by the world's foremost designers. The first prize winner also gets a round trip to Chicago for TWO on United Airlines . . . with 3 days' hotel, meals and taxi fares paid for by Sanitone Dry Cleaning Service.

In addition to the first prize of $1,000.00 Dream Wardrobe, there are 25 other wonderful prizes.

Contest starts August 1st and closes September 30th, 1955.

APPROVED SANITONE SERVICE

Get your official entry blank and complete details from

SUPERIOR CLEANERS
305 S. Monroe
Dial 2-0652
"Across the street from Sears"

Square Dance Planned Saturday Night By URA

Due to exams the activities planned for students the next two weeks will be limited.

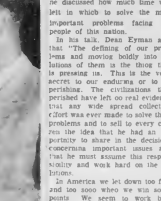
"Swing your partner left and right down" to the last Square Dance session of the summer Saturday, 8 o'clock at the tennis court. Bill Tait will be on hand to lead you in your do-se-do's.

Bridge, Canasta, or Scrabble happen to be your favorite games then come join the Smarty-Party down in the trophy room at the Student Center. This form of recreation has been a big hit this year stated a spokesman.

"Drums Along The Mohawk's" is the feature movie this week and can be seen in the Amphitheatre at 8 p.m. In case of rain it will be held in Westcott.

Naresia, faculty or anyone who wishes to attend the Spanish Supper ran still make reservations in the basement at Longmire by tomorrow noon. See Miss Christine Palmer in the Recreation office. You may call 3281 or 4761 for reservations.

Trip to Wakulla Springs is in the offering for this Monday. The bus leaves Westcott at 3 p.m. and returns at 8 p.m. Snacks can be purchased at the Soda Shop there.



On August 4 there will be a Fish Supper to Ft. Marks. People will be able to view the wild life, and swim and eat. Trip will cost approximately $1.75.

"An Inspector Calls" presented by the Summer Stock group will be their last presentation in the Augusta Conradi Theatre August 4 and 5. Curtain time is 8:15. See story in this issue for details.

Dance honoring Graduates in August commencement will be at the Student Center. After commencement Presidents and Mrs. Doak S. Campbell will honor the graduates, family and friends in the Main Lounge of Longmire.

"This years Summer Recreation Program has come off very well indeed," commented Miss Christine Palmer, director of the activities planned for summer students. One outstanding feature of all this was the group singing that was on the bus trips or before the movie in the amphitheatre.

It is noted that people have come from all parts of the U.S. on the different trips. Philadelphia, Oregon, Baltimore, Texas and New York are just a few of the states whose members participated on the excursions in the past few weeks.

GOVERNOR LEROY COLLINS is shown receiving the first Seminole Booster tag from Spencer Burrus, (right) of Tallahassee, president of the Seminole Boosters, a club set up to help Florida State University in athletic and scholarship programs. The club has nearly a thousand members throughout Florida. Members of the organization are looking forward to the opening game of the football season on Sept. 17, when FSU meets North Carolina State at Doak S. Campbell Stadium in Tallahassee.

Public Relations Workshop Runs Two-Week Session

A workshop in educational public relations problems of colleges and universities, will learn of the various tools available in the area. They will hear lectures and take part in discussions pertaining to media of public relations. Three hours credit will be available at graduate or advanced undergraduate levels. Daily hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. with only breaks for lunch.

MOVIE PLANS CHANGED

Plans have been changed again by the Summer Recreation Association regarding the free movies. They will be held in the Opperman Music Hall Amphitheatre if weather permits.

ASPIRIN DEADLY

The 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council has just been released and the authorities to be the most common drug killers of young children. Barbiturates are next. All are frequently kept in the family medicine chest within reach of children, the Council says.

WORKERS HURT

About 20,000 office workers suffer disabling injuries each year, according to the 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook but off the press. The disabling injuries probably run to hundreds of thousands.

CANOE TRIP

The Canoe Trip announced in the current issue of THIS WEEK for Sunday, July 31st has been postponed to Saturday July 30th. Time of departure from the Gym is 9:00 a.m. and will return to Campus after exploring the Chipola River, at 4:00 p.m. Sign the Trip Log box by noon today, and come to the Pool tonight at 8:30 for the required Briefing. There will be no Sunday trip, and this will conclude the Canoeing program sponsored by The Recreation.

Eyman Speaks On "The Time Line" At Series

The last of the summer lecture series at Florida State University was given by Dr. Ralph Eyman, Dean of the School of Education at FSU. The title of Dean Eyman's talk was "The Time Line" in which he discussed how much time was left in which to solve the most important problems facing the people of this nation.

In his talk, Dean Eyman said that "The defining of our problems and moving boldly into solutions of them is the thing that is pressing us. This is the very secret to our endurance or to perishing. The civilizations that perished have left no real evidence that any wide spread collective effort was ever made to solve their problems and to sell to every citizen the idea that he had an opportunity to share in the decisions concerning important issues and that he must assume this responsibility and work hard on the solutions.

In America we let down too fast and too soon when we win some points. We seem to work best when we are scared and a crisis is at hand. This we must examine and correct. The Communists never let down when they win a point. The persistence of their drive and determination is something for us to recognize. Projects ahead and planning is a weak point in our culture." Dean Eyman stated.

DR. FRANKLIN C. W. OLSON arranged for the trip through the FSU Oceanographic Institute. Students heard a lecture by a graduate assistant on the various types of sea life abounding in the waters around Alligator Point where the lab is situated, the children on the trip were fascinated by the porpoises which were fed while the group was there.

Photo by Rodger Herndon.

MEETING PLANNED FOR SANDSPUR MEMBERS

All members of this years past Sandspur are asked to meet in the Student Lounge this Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Discussion on band is the constitution for the newly revived Sandspur organization.

Speech Institute Results Announced By Dr. Lewis

With the close of the second annual Southeastern Summer High School Speech Institute on the campus of the Florida State University, results in Institute contests was announced by the director, Dr. Thomas R. Lewis, professor of speech.

In the oratory division, ten teams debated one of the topics proposed for high school use in 1955-56, "Resolved, that governments should be granted according to need to high school graduates who qualify for additional training."

Five trophies were awarded left a team from Miami Jackson Hugh school undefeated and in sole possession of first place. Jerry Baird and Bob Revennaugh. Second place also went to Miami Jackson. Rosa Castro and Jeanne Sparks. Third place award was won by Julie Bussemann of Miami Jackson and Melvin Peters of Leon High School, Tallahassee.

The two highest ranking individual debaters in the tournament were Rita Russell of Miami Jackson and Richard Essen of Coral Gables High School.

First of the individual events of the institute was after-dinner speaking. Miami Jackson swept the first three places. Rita Russell, Bob Revennaugh, and Rosa Castro. Honorable mentioon went to Elaine Ward of Miami Jackson, Jan Dicker of Danville and Martina Desh of Wauchula.

The second individual event was extemporaneous speaking in which participants drew a topic in the general field of education. First place was won by Richard Essen of Coral Gables. Second went to Rosa Castro of Miami Jackson and third to Bob Revennaugh of Miami Jackson. Honorable mention award went to Sara Campbell of Green Cove Springs.

Original oratory brought another sweep for Miami Jackson High School. Janet Hall placed first, Rita Russell second and Elaine Ward third. Honorable mention went to Edna Black of Lake City, Melvin Peters of Leon High School in Tallahassee and Ruth Stratton of Lake City.

Instructors working with the high school institute, forensics section, were Dr. Lewis, who taught voice and articulation, Dr. Wayne Minnick, who taught public speaking and Dr. Gregg Phifer, in charge of discussion and debate.

LET US ALONE

When Florida became a state in 1845, the state flag had five horizontal stripes in blue, orange, red, white and green and displayed the motto, "Let Us Alone."

LANGUAGE EXAM

Language examination for doctoral candidates will be held from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, July 30.

Marilee Gessler, competed as Miss Florida in the Miss Universe contest last week.

Dr. Menzel Presents Papers On Southern Oysters Tuesday

Dr. R. Winston Menzel, assistant professor of the Oceanographic Institute at Florida State University, will present two papers on Southern Oysters at annual meetings of the National Shell Fisheries Association, Aug. 1-4, in Baltimore, Md.

The meetings are co-sponsored by the Oyster Institute of America and the National Shellfish Growers and Dealers Association.

One of Dr. Menzel's papers is on additional differences between Crassostrea virginica, or the commercial oyster, and Ostrea equestris, a smaller oyster of no commercial importance. Both genera are found in the Gulf of Mexico.

The other paper Dr. Menzel will present will be titled, "Crabs as Predators of Oysters in Louisianna"—he is the senior author with Dr. S. H. Hopkins of A and M. College of Texas.

The FSU oyster biologist is currently working on a two-year research project financed by the Fish and Wildlife Service, studying oyster reefs in Apalachicola Bay with special emphasis on the ecology or environmental background of the predators and parasites.

Dr. Menzel earned his doctor's degree at Texas A and M and his other two degrees at Wisconsin and Mary before joining the FSU staff in the fall of 1954. His major sub-sets are botany, aquatic biology and zoology.

Dr. Gover Tully Serves In Brazil

Dr. Gover E. Tully, director of vocational guidance and placement at FSU has been granted a two-year leave of absence to serve as an educational in the Institute Operations Mission to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Dr. Tully was recruited by the U.S. Office of Education for the overseas job, and his appointment came from the International Cooperation Administration.

In Brazil, the FSU director will work with secondary school teachers on a vocational guidance program. He leaves Aug. 2 for Washington, D.C. and orientation. He will return the latter part of the month to Tallahassee to be followed by his family for the foreign assignment.

Mrs. Tully is the former Rose Mae Carver of Graceville, in a native of FSU. Their only child is one-year old Susan.

Born in Tallahassee, July 19, 1912. Dr. Tully received a BS and MA in education at the University of Florida and his doctor's degree in student personnel at the University of Illinois. He joined the FSU staff in 1947 as supervisor of personnel records and was named to his present position in the fall of 1948.

Mrs. Margaret Blair, who has been Dr. Tully's main assistant for several years, will serve as assistant director of the FSU Brazil during his absence.

No Minor Vices

Short Story Huh

By GEORGE GOLDSTEIN

It seems that at FSU it is a "nice" to wear a pair of shorts, slacks or any other informal sportswear when it comes to the female population of this campus.

Summer Council has passed a law—a resolution is provided for the wearing of sports clothes by women students on this campus. This law is not the choice of a radical crazed minded group, but the voice of the student body.

If seems silly for a girl to walk out of the dorm to a car with a raincoat over her because she might be "seen" in shorts, yet when she goes for example to the coast or any other seaside area she is clad in a bathing suit. You figure it out.

In the hot broiling sun especially in the summer and even in fall or Spring one doesn't like to wear her best suit to loaf around. I'm sure if someone were to stop a minute and think what they wear on Saturday when they relax for an informal they don't wear their best clothes.

True there is a place for everything including proper dress but as noted in the FLAMBEAU last week even "Parochial" colleges permit the wearing of sports wear without a raincoat or any other makeshift covering.

Slacks, pedal pushers or torador pants can be just as neat and nice as any other vehicle of clothing Curtain places like beach pavilions, campus, postoffice or just walking along the walks are okay to wear sports clothes.

On Sundays, library, schoolrooms, restaurants coff campus and the downtown area are another story.

Male view point agrees girls can look their best when dressed properly in proper areas.

"I think that if a girl wants to wear shorts let her and if she doesn't want to, it's her privilege," states one Summer councilman.

"Kinda silly to see a raincoat on a clear day. In fact I laughed at the girls when I first saw them On campus' in other areas of the states they have more freedom than here" remarked one male. "Girls were respected for the dress DeSoto or INFORMAL.

Florida State is growing and expanding with new modern classrooms, buildings and educational needs but its views on this particular matter is contemporary with the "Victorian Age". If we are going modern let's go, but don't stand at a "time line".

Kappa Delta Pi Initiates Fifteen

Alpha Delta Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary society in education, initiated 15 persons Thursday, July 21.

The initiation took place in the Trophy Room of the Longmire Building at 5:30 p.m. Following the ceremony, the members adjourned to the Trophy Room of the Student Center for a buffet supper honoring the new members.

Alumni session minutes included Ray E. Rollins, Robert Trafford, Bernadine Johnson, Mrs. J. C. Holland, Mary Cadmar, Carrie Redfern, Dora Hendrix, Ouida Hightower, Betty Pilsbury, Grace Larson, Shirley Yates, Margaret Boyd, Thelma Coates, Rose Spicola and Naomi Vaught.

INTERVIEW LISTED

Crawford and Company Insurance Adjusters of Atlanta, Georgia, have sent Mr. A. B. Rose to interview students Aug. 2. Tuesday in Vocational Guidance and Placement. Interested persons may call Mrs. Farmer at 3281.

Turner's

KEEPSAKE DIAMONDS
ELGIN & BULOVA WATCHES
Fine Watch Repairing
PAUL TURNER JEWELER
102 S. Monroe Phone 3-1442

50 million times a day at home, at work or while at play

There's nothing like a Coke

1. SO BRIGHT . . . so right for you . . . so tangy so taste, ever-fresh in sparkle.
2. SO BRACING . . . so quickly refreshing with its hint of wholesome energy.

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA COLA COMPANY BY
Tallahassee Coca-Cola Bottling Co.
"Coke" is a registered trade mark. © 1955 THE COCA COLA COMPANY

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
TODAY
"Interrupted Melody"
Eleanor Parker
Glenn Ford
FRIDAY & SATURDAY
"Five Against The House"
SUN., MON., TUES.
"Pearl of the South Pacific"
Virginia Mayo
Dennis Morgan

STATE
TODAY THRU TUES.
"Strategic Air Command"
James Stewart
June Allyson

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
TODAY THRU SAT.
"She Wore A Yellow Ribbon"
John Wayne plus
Abbott and Costello
Meet the Keystone Kops
SUNDAY & MONDAY
THE DAY THE EARTH STOOD STILL Michael Rennie
TUES. & WED.
ANCHORS AWEIGH
Frank Sinatra Gene Kelly

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TODAY THRU SAT.
"Column South"
Audie Murphy
Joan Evans
plus
"Two Guns and a Badge"
Wayne Morris
SUNDAY & MONDAY
"PLAY GIRL"
Shelley Winters
TUES. & WED.
"ON THE WATERFRONT"
Marlon Brando

THE DEPARTMENT OF SPEECH
announces
"AN INSPECTOR CALLS"
by J. B. Priestly
AUGUST 4, 5 CONRADI THEATRE
8.15 p.m.
General admission: 75c
Student rate; 40c with presentation of ID card
Tickets on sale 10-5 p.m. days of production

MILLER'S Cafeteria

CASH For Your USED BOOKS
We Pay Half Price of Retail
Price of New Books
(IF IN USE ON CAMPUS)
Books Discontinued on Campus
We Pay Wholesale Price
UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
IN THE STUDENT CENTER

25122

INTERIM

Vote On Homecoming Dance
See P. 3

The Florida Flambeau

Florida's Only
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

Vol. XLII No. 1 — Published By The Students Of Florida State University — Tuesday, September 20, 1955

Freshmen Fill Auditoriums To See Stunt Night Show

Crowds Pack Westcott, Then Fill Opperman

[illegible] a few people had quite [illegible] time at Freshman Stunt [illegible] night.

[illegible] about the biggest un[illegible]ent that could be made [illegible] the annual Fresh[illegible]

[illegible] students filled up Auditorium an hour be[illegible]ent was scheduled to [illegible]ot so crowded, in fact [illegible]ance hurriedly shifted [illegible] a second performance [illegible]gain to be held at Op[illegible] Music Hall. This, too, [illegible]ed up.

CAPACITY CROWDS

[illegible]pacity of the two auditoriums 2,200.

[illegible] the opening curtain went [illegible]Westcott, the Freshman per[illegible]got right down to work [illegible]ough to make sure the [illegible]ould not be disappoint[illegible] Masters of Ceremonies [illegible]Jones with his "Uke" and [illegible]Aminoff with his accor[illegible]dorned things off with a [illegible]ondy routine.

[illegible] Opperman Jimmy [illegible]ayed as impromptu Mas[illegible]Ceremonies following [illegible]s timed to give the per[illegible]y a chance to get from [illegible]tage to the next

PIANO DUET

[illegible]e comedy routine Phil [illegible]ard Jerry McCullom [illegible]a Malaguena piano duet[illegible]n Jean Roanne singing [illegible]ion of the Blues." Bev[illegible]ton sang Blue Moon [illegible]a trombone solo. "The [illegible] was given by John [illegible]er.

Talla-Lassies," Gail[illegible] Marcia Messer, Susan [illegible]and Susie Hays, sang [illegible]ola Wants." Jane [illegible]soloed with "Blue Star" [illegible]by Nettie Black's medley [illegible]ion tunes. Doris Gerard [illegible]ed a ballet dance and [illegible]a Where You Find It [illegible]ma by Jean Werner.

[illegible]ors Bild, Mary Alice Do[illegible]ris Hughes, Ava Rose [illegible]Merriman and Sue Throck[illegible]ve an act which can be [illegible]ppropriately described as [illegible]dy dance routine. This [illegible]an call "The Goons."

TURKEY IN STRAW

[illegible]ions of Turkey in the [illegible]were played by a flute [illegible]ocating of Frank Freed [illegible]Frankie Lane and Marion [illegible]. Record pantomimist [illegible]Slagle" was inte[illegible]by Marilyn Jones while [illegible]sang "I'll Never Stop [illegible]."

[illegible]ance was performed by [illegible]Boyd. A piano arrange[illegible]Virtual Fire Dance" [illegible]ayed by Raymond Kuni[illegible]

[illegible]w as a whole was un[illegible]ersion of Jimmy Soles [illegible]ion by Barrie Baird, Mi[illegible]Prissy Mass and Joyce [illegible]

GYMKANA TOO

[illegible]hen took over, with [illegible]en as Master of Cere[illegible]Highlighting his every [illegible]outine tricks by Boesch [illegible]and Bob Eliant two [illegible]noon performance pa[illegible]FSU. A free exercise [illegible]as performed by Gerald [illegible]om Canada, followed [illegible]ree exercise demon[illegible]Raisel Lecouna and [illegible]Ashmore.

[illegible]e annual Impast Chick Chin[illegible]e Program with a [illegible]Exhibition and voca[illegible]

Going Strong—Emcees Paul Armbrecht and Pat Green cut up during Fresh Stunt Night and Photograph by Simmons

The Goons—Startle the audience with their appearance. To see who they are—or maybe what they are if you're wondering—see page 4, and

Marilyn Jones — Correct pantomimist entertains audience with cowboy Bette Hutton numbers, and

The Talla-Lassies—Received whistles for their "unusual" dresses, then sang "Lola".

Freshmen Told Of Elections

Freshmen primary elections are slated for Tuesday, November 1, followed by final elections a week later, according to Winston Secretary of Elections.

The following offices will be filled: Vice-president, Treasurer, Social Secretary and six Senate seats. The candidates are urged to campaign for offices after the opening date to make them subject to discussion.

Students who are interested in working on the Elections Committee are requested to see Betty Wilmon at Kappa Sig Theta house.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

All students who were notified that they had been scheduled to do interp teaching the second semester of 1955-56 should get application papers from the Internship Office immediately so they can be filled out and filed in the Internship Office by not later than noon, Thursday, November 30. It is desirable that applications be filed before that date if possible.

Campus Chest Slates Dance To Open Drive

Campus Chest will initiate its 1955 program with the first big campus-wide dance of the school year.

To be held at the Suwanee Room on Oct. 7, the affair will feature a floor show and several campus orchestras, which promises an evening of worthwhile entertainment. The dance will begin at 9:00 P.M. announced general chairman Mary Fern Cawthorn.

The two weeks following the dance have been designated Campus Chest Weeks and a goal of $5000 has been set.

Unlike most other charitable drives, this goal is not to be reached by individual contributions, but by combined efforts of all groups and organizations on the campus. During the two week period, fraternities sororities, dorms and other groups will sponsor fund-raising projects. Ideas for these activities can be submitted to Fraternity Chairman—O. B. Smith, KA House, Sorority Chairman—Carolyn Close Reynolds Hall, Chairman of Men's Dormitories—Soles, Manatee Hall and Chairman of Women's Dorms—Gloria Lania, Florida Hall.

Calendar of Events

A calendar of events will be published when all groups have been submitted.

The Campus Chest each year sponsors a drive to raise funds which it contributes to certain worthwhile charities as directed upon by a student committee when the campaign is completed. Organizations such as the Red Cross, and the World University Service which finances the student Exchange System, have benefited in the past. In a recent poll of FSU students and is presided over, this year by Mary Fern Cawthon.

Ideas for projects should be submitted immediately to your organizational chairman and men. If a pretty coed asks you if she can shake your shoes for you, it's not only the chance of a lifetime it's an opportunity to support your Campus Chest.

107 Try Out For Cheering

Bouncing with enthusiasm, 11 leaves and 96 Indian maidens of pow-wowed Saturday at the music amphitheatre for cheerleading try-outs

Tom Wood, head cheerleader, explained to the group that practice would be held Monday, and Wednesday for the girls, Tuesday and Thursday for the boys—both on East Landis events at 5:00 o'clock Out of this group one boy and one girl will be picked to cheer on the Seminole squad.

The final elimination contest will be held next Tuesday. Poise, ability to execute cheers, general enthusiasm, and personal appearance are the qualities the new cheerleaders must have.

The freshmen were then split into groups of all male leaders and cheers by Pat Harris, Sarah Hambley, Margaret Ann Ballinger, Sticks" Andrews and Billy Kirkland.

The candidates were urged to practice the cheers in private at their dorms.

2,000 Buy InsuranceHere

Nearly 2,000 students have purchased the Student Accident Insurance Policy, Student Body President Clovis Moore said Friday.

He stressed that the assurance policy can be purchased through the end of the week. Blanks can be obtained at the Student Government Office, 214 Longmire, or at the Information Desk. Long mire Building.

"Reaction to the Insurance Policy by the students is very good," Moore said. The price of $6.25 is a reduction of $2.65 from last year's premiums. A student will be covered for one complete year with a $1,000 accident benefit insurance policy, regardless of where he is or what he is doing.

"This policy is good for the complete year, not for just the nine months of the school semester," Moore emphasized.

Anybody for bicycles? Harry Day, director of service auto, who has charge of vehicles, will gladly erect bicycle racks.

He said last week, as person after person came into his office to inquire about the parking problem, that someone should break the ice by riding one of the two-wheelers.

"I'd gladly ride one," respond. ed a well-known professor, "if my wife would let me."

Top Enrollment Seen; Traffic Problems Grow

New Regulations Will Cope With Bad Conditions

Students returning to campus next week found a revised traffic situation which many seemed to think was nothing short of an upheaval.

As for the incoming Freshmen, there was no adequate way to measure their feelings after seeing Florida State University parking and traffic conditions for the first time

Actually, the major change has been the institution of a zoning system to ease a parking problem which has been growing by leaps and bounds in recent years. The zoning action stemmed from the realization of a Student - Faculty - Administration traffic committee this summer that the great increases in student car ownership would require some long-range planning

Cars

This semester their concern has been borne out by the registration of 3,000 students with university-employee cars at last count. The committee members hope that of this number, those who live a considerable distance from the campus will have the handicap minimized by the zoning set-up.

Another change which caused some concern when first seen by students is the switch to one-way traffic on Jennelle Boulevard, which now runs past the Freshman women's dormitories to the Library. Besides affecting car owners, this change also meant re-routing all the university buses to run in south instead of north along this street

The Rios

With the initiation of the no-park-permit-required regulations calling for blue and black stickers on particular cars, Vehicles belonging to students and university employees all fall under those regulations.Parking

(Continued On Page 5)

Housing Code Move Planned

A uniform code regulating Florida's housing off-campus may be established in about a year, Dr. Samuel P. Neel dean of men, said Sunday.

Dr. Neel said Tallahassee landowners, students and university officials would attempt to develop adequate accommodations for men who cannot be housed on campus

Dean Neel said as far as he knows there are no poor accommodations currently occupied by students.

"I have no evidence that anyone is being housed poorly" Dr. Neel said "The houses I've been in are all right. I haven't been in any that are inadequate If there are any we hope to find them and work with the people who own them to make them more adequate."

Talk It Over

Of the contemplated code, Dr. Neel said "We would confer with the homeowners, and would want to work with them in trying to come to some satisfactory understanding on what constitutes adequate housing and what constitutes suitable rent."

Factors in adequate housing, he said, would be minimum health conditions, adequate baths, sanitary quarters, proper study facilities, and environment.

"The men themselves would keep their quarters in a sanitary manner," he said.

He said Tallahasseans have greatly helped the university in housing the overflow of students this year.

WFSU Auditions Saturday Morning

Campus radio station WFSU-FM will audition for announcers and other personnel Saturday morning from 9 through 12. Thus auditions will be for upperclassmen and for freshmen who were not auditioned last Saturday.

Ray Cheydleur, assistant to the director of radio and television, said there are still for announcer will be tested on reading and speaking ability. Jobs will also be available in writing, producing, and other management fields.

Cheydleur said several of the positions may carry salaries

WFSU-FM went on the air Sunday afternoon at 2. It will broadcast every day from 2 to 10 p.m., carrying a heavy fare of concert music and light classical music in of Educational Broadcasters programs.

278657

★ High Atop West Hall ★

A-1 Estimated 3,000-students, a portion shown above, took in the big Freshman Dance held Friday in West Hall. Two bands, The Devilaires holding forth in The Penthouse and The Commodores downstairs in the Patio, entertained what is reported to be the largest crowd ever to attend a campus dance. Two elevators broke down from the efforts involved in hauling enthusiastic crowds searching for more elbow-room. The intermission talent show featured some fancy accordian playing and the Tally-Lassies, a local quartet. Vocalist for the Devilairs is at right.

Yearbooks Available Only By Registration Before Dec. 1

Only those students who have their pictures taken or who register at the Tally-Ho office by December 1 will be automatically assured of receiving a copy of the 1956 yearbook.

By this plan, unclaimed annuals, regardless of whether the money which could be used toward offering the students a better yearbook, will be avoided, said editor Jim Broderick.

A new system has been arranged for taking senior and undergraduate pictures for the Tally-Ho. No appointments will be necessary. Each student may have his picture taken at his or her leisure any time within the period assignment to his class The schedule is:

Seniors — September 22 through 30.

Juniors—October 3 through 14

Sophomores — October 12 through 28.

Freshmen — October 20 through November 4

The studio located on the fourth floor of the Longmire Building will be open Monday through Friday from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Pictures will cost $2 per person.

Caps and gowns will be furnished seniors and undergraduate men are requested to wear coats and ties, Broderick said. He noted that undergraduate showing women may dress according to their discretion.

"All students are urged to have a picture made," Broderick said, "and the success of the 1956 Tally-Ho can only be assured if every student shows an active interest by having a picture in the class section. The new system of no appointments and night picture taking, as well as afternoon, should make it ultra-convenient for every student on campus."

FILM PREVIEWS SCHEDULED

Film Previews will hold its first meeting in the Trophy Room at 7:30 tonight. This is sponsored by the Audio-visual department.

Four films which will be on the agenda are "The Pilgrims" "France and its People," "Marco Polo's Travels" and "How To Raise a Boat" A brief discussion on the films will follow the showing.

Complete Figures Not Yet Available Says President

All indications point to a record enrollment this year, although registration figures are not be released but Dr Doak S. Campbell president, said yesterday

Dr. Campbell cited demands for housing as a factor He said a Board of Control regulation prohibits enrollment figures from being made public until registration is complete Registration for evening courses will be held tonight and tomorrow night and late registrations are still coming in

The student activities office has issued 6,000 of activity books, with 5,500 already distributed. This is seen as the truest indication of the number of students involved in campus life

The activity office said all students who did not receive activity books can get special permits at the office. Longmire basement, to admit them to the VPI and Georgia football games.

Demand Heavy

Both Robert Brewer, director of men's residences, and Miss Edith McCollum, director of women's residences, said demands for housing were extremely heavy

Brewer said his office had no count of the number of girls, other than regular day students, living off campus. He said the freshmen have been housed temporarily in eight fraternities on campus. West, Senior and Magnolia halls house a total of 885 men, with the eight on-campus fraternities accommodating 316 more The seven fraternities off-campus he said, house a smaller number.

Miss McCollum said some rearranging still is going on residence hall smokers, conference, and party rooms. She said they will be moved into permanent accommodations as soon as vacancies appear. Meanwhile the transition may not be complete until interim leave October 22

Harry Day, director of services said yesterday 3,062 car registration stickers have been issued

The unofficial count of blue-off-campus-stickers to students was 1,800 and 896 black parents stickers were issued. 785 blue faculty markers and 133 black faculty stickers

Westcott Auditorium, with a seating capacity of about 1,400, was filled the first night of orientation week President Campbell cautioned yesterday against using that fact as an indication of enrollment, however. Transfer students as well as freshmen and some returning upperclassmen were in the audience

Each year's freshman class, however, is thought to come close to 2 000 in number.

Kay Vernon To Coordinate Ticket Sales

Ticket sales for all Florida State University events will be coordinated under one system since coming school year. This policy has been put into effect to better serve the Tallahassee area and community, the Dean of Students' office announced.

Mrs Kathryn Vernon, Artist secretary and editor of The Week, will be coordinator as an administrative assistant to Dean R. R. Oglesby

All cultural, social, recreational and professional events, with the exception of athletic events, will come under her jurisdiction. Included in the agenda will be Artist Series, four major speech department plays and a children's matinee, both Dance Guild productions and Sandspur musical opera—events which are open to the public for a small fee.

Mrs. Vernon's office will be located Westcott Ticket Booth, at the entrance to the auditorium on the ground floor of Westcott Building. Her telephone extension is 241.

Off-campus groups wishing to use university space or facilities are requested to clear with Mrs. Vernon who will be in charge of Central University Calendar.

The coordinator will continue preparing copy for This Week and Artist Series, and will also be in charge of arrangements for short courses

ATTENTION GRADUATES

An election of officers will highlight a Get - Acquainted party of Indy Pulp mail for Graduate and Mature students, Florida Hall Recreation Room at the meeting place and 7:30 p.m.

Beware!

Rat Court Opens '55 Frosh 'Season'

By CHARLEY POINTZVINT
"Freshmen Beware"

This is the word from the Honorable Judge of Rat Court, Bob Simmons, as of last Saturday when open season was declared on all low-ly rats.

Simmons and Sophomore Class president, Bill Cullom are now in the process of planning a "new and better" court for the unsuspecting '55 freshmen.

They are now thinking of proper penalties but not humiliating penalties for the rats, who are being quizzed by upperclassmen.

Punishments in the past have required freshmen to wear name tags, "I am a RAT" and open doors at various eating places for their superiors.

The Rules

The official proclamation has been issued and here are the things freshmen should know.

a- Freshmen are required to wear their rat caps every day except Sunday till 5 p.m. Boys will maintain the standard rules of etiquette in wearing their caps.

If it is essential that each freshman memorize the following for recitation at the request of any upperclassman at any time.

a- Definition of a Freshman: A Freshman is a rat of the lowest species.

b- Definition of an upperclasman: An upperclassman is to be respected as the ideal of all rats

c- Honor Code- "I pledge myself to uphold the highest standards of honesty in every phase of my university life, and I refuse to tolerate dishonesty on the part of another"

d- The words and tune of the Alma Mater and Fight Song must be memorized

e- Sophomore Class Officers: President, Bill Cullom; Vice-President, Don Lewis; Secretary, Shirley Metz; Treasurer, Karen Kimp; Social Chairman, Jim Smiley

f- All Freshmen are required to smile and speak to all Upperclassmen.

g- Freshmen are requested to attend all home football games. When the Alma Mater is played, Freshmen must stand with an attitude of due respect holding their rat caps over their hearts while they sing When the band plays the fight song Rats must rise and cheerfully wave their caps while they sing h- The names of each school and the scores of each game will be written on the "RAT CAP" with ink or pencil The words "BEAT GA TECH" will be written across the bill of the RAT CAP.

"Remember — any rat being caught unprepared is liable to trial and punishment on THE RAT COURT." warned Judge Simmons.

LIBRARY
FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA

A Responsible Policy

A new yaar, a fresh slate, unchewed copy pencils, rat caps at tha typewriters and a new editor. As customary, it is tima for Flambeau to state its policy, to announce whethar it shall be gung ho or nonchalant, read or looked at, liberal or conservative, radical or stereotyped, unpopular and educational or popular and conversational.

We feel every nawspaper is entitled to a certain amount of each of thesa attitudes and from time to time you will recognize their presence in these pages. But the only element we shall promise consistently is responsibility.

Some staffs hava tried to plaase tha students, others the administration, and still others themselves only. It is our intention to maintain a free press dedicated to serving the interests rather than the pleasure of the University, which, we hope, includes all three.

But explanation of our definition of the University should be made. We assert that tha University is an institution for tha prasarvation and dissemination of knowledge, that it encourages its students to explore the new brick as well as the ivy-covered. It endeavors to let them think themselves into maturity and does not meet their challenges for them. The University promotes as well as defends civil rights, and last, its outlook is not limited to tha narrow confines of its physical plant, but is as broad as the unexplored.

We hold ourselves responsible to these university ideas. The Flambeau will criticize, but with facts and figures, when anything endangers the existence of these things. It will praise whenever these ara avidanced.

The Flambeau is not ours alone to carry. Any torch will burn out that is not relighted and refueled, and tha student body is the match and the fuel for a sound student press and a significant one.

Lambs Or Individuals

In addition to welcoming the class of '59 to Florida State University, we would lika to offer a one-word editorial on the best way to mature intellectually and emotionally.

THINK.

And do it for yourselves. While we are proud of our unique counseling system at Florida State, which covers everything from courses to sleep, it makes it very easy for a person to forget that he or she is really on his own.

While here, you will encounter all kinds of persons, each of which will try consciously and subconsciously to influence you. You may lunch with an atheist, sit next to an agnostic in class, and go to church with a religious person on Sundays. There will be beer parties, teas, and dances. Discussions will range from Marx to sex and on to the uncountable number of "isms" with which you will soon become familiar.

Even a mind well forged from morals, high principles, and a purpose in life, will find itself challenged. Accept nothing as truth except that which you can understand and incorporate in tha light of your personal integrity.

To quota editor emeritus, Bruce Galphin, "Fruit from the tree of knowledge is sometimes bitter and it is never acquired easily." Many maxims and rose-colored pictures of life, perhaps learned at your mother's knee, will be altered in their contacts with reality.

Pessimism is the last thing we would encouraga, though it might seem this discussion would advocate it. Rather, we are promoting a serious outlook on the less-mentioned aspects of a college education.

Your education here cannot be tha storing of facts alone, but must include the tempering of personality, goals which only you can set and strive for, and a victory in tha battle to maintain ideals.

We repeat, THINK, and do it for yourselves. Today's lambs are slaughtered tomorrow, but today's individuals are the victors of the unknown future.

Contributions Welcome

Columns for the editorial paga of the Flambeau ara, at present, written by members of the staff, but do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the entira staff.

Contributions from the students are always welcome, and the newspaper is instituting a guest column each week in order to gain a mora varied view of the campus and its personalities. However, we raserva the right not to publish anything which is libelous, lacking in dignity, or contrary to the interests of the University, as expressed in our policy editorial above.

Letters to the editor are welcome and will be printed if signed by the writer. Names will be withhald on request, and tha Flambeau reserves the right to shorten letters which exceed the 250 word limit.

Go Seminoles!

Congratulations to Coach Tom Nugent and tha team, also to the Marching Chiefs and Director Manley Whitcomb for their fina performances under trying conditions Saturday night.

Perhaps Student Government will sea to it, taam, that tha student body can travel with you to face either or both of our major foes his season, Miami and Georgia Tech. All the way, big team, all tha way.

It's About Time

The Inter-Fraternity Council is to be commended for their new system of rushing. It is high time rushees were compelled to visit all fraternity houses during rush week, aliminating a majority of the "dog-eat-dog" methods in the past.

The institution of registration of fraternity rushees and IFC checks on their attendance at the various rush parties is an efficient and long-needed method of seeing that all fraternities and rushees have a chanca to see which fence has the greenest grass on the other side.

Odd And Ends

Our Old Dodge Has Personality

By HOWARD HARTLEY

Room 48, Magnolia Hall, if things keep on the way they have been recently, is going to be sort of crowded—with music lovers, especially music lovers who go for accordian music. The man with the accordian is Paul Antonacci. Paul hails from Miami, where he is well-known to the natives for his many appearances on TV, his radio stints, and endless performances at various hotels and night spots.

Those of you who attended the Freshman Talent Show will remember the short, stocky, blackhaired freshman with the smile and racing fingers, which incidently, he has been training for 11 years. Look for this young music major to "go places."

Speaking of Talent Night we guess a lot of people were surprised when pianist Ray Liebau, announced by emcee Claire Green, turned out to be none other than a gymnast. All kidding aside, it could happen to anyone.

Jimmy Hines a freshman from down Frostproof way, made a good emcee . . on three minutes notice.

* * * *

Our old Dodge may not have emergency brakes but it has personality. Sister brought it up to college with her, but it seems the Dodge (called Betsy) doesn't like hills . . in fact she won't stay on one, or have anything to do with one. Sis had to persuade Betsy somehow, so she took to tying Betsy to fences, and putting concrete blocks under her tires.

When the Dodge was loaned to a boyfriend one day, he took 100 feet of parking fence with him when he tried to drive Betsy away. This surprised him very much . . . I suppose it surprised Betsy, too. It didn't surprise Sis, who had tied the reluctant Dodge to the fence to keep her from wandering off.

* * * *

One of the selections of music wafted out over the loudspeaker at registration, to soothe the nerves of anxious freshmen waiting outside, we presume, was "They'll Never Believe Me."

Incidently, the new registration system seema to be working out very well, with the exception of an occasional final check bottleneck, and of course the headaches of those students unfortunate who have to change their schedules. Most students finished in an average of a half an hour, with some students completing their registration in a phenomenal fifteen minutes.

* * * *

Student Government officials have somehow persuaded Smoke Signals staff to move to the fourth floor of Longmire, relinquishing their office to Student Government.

A lot of students seem to think 1954-55 Tally Ho was worth waiting for . . . now that they can finally read it.

* * * *

Interfraternity Council's new regulation which requires men rusheea to register, gives a rough index of 600 new students or thereabouts, who are interested in fraternities.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Jahnson, Managing Editor

Associate Editor — Martin Dyckman
Feature Editor — Margaret Miller
Senior Reporters — Jeri Bradfield, Marty Reeves
Circulation — Alpha Phi Omega

Mary Liz King—Business Mgr.

Asst. Bus. Mgr. — Joan Halford
Telephone 2 8000 extension 682
211, 213 Longmire Building

Member Associated Collegiate Press

Pat Marston, News Editor

Sports Editors — Bob Gutting
Photographers — Pierce Lehmbeck, Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer, Larry Keck
Campus Editors — Jerome Bernstein, Howard Hartley
Greek Editor — Charlet Poitevint

Virgil Austin, Advertising Manager

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Sour Note In The Horn Of Plenty

At Tha Movies

Collegiate Pranks Head Weekend's Film Fare

By WANDA SUE OWEN

Unusual college capers are to be shown on the Tallahassee screens this week-end. At the Florida the old and the young, the smart and the "not-so-smart" all parade the college campus in "How to be Very Very Popular" tomorrow through Saturday. This kind of adventure doesn't happen very often at universities. Heaven help us if it did! Have you ever seen a couple of very attractive show-girls wandering around campus with nothing on but net and sequins; and have you ever seen a couple of such females in a fraternity house?

In "How to be Very Very Popular," Betty Grable and Sheree North, who were eye-witnesses to a stage murder are harbored in a fraternity house of Robert Cummings, Tommy Noonan and Orson Bean. Things become even more involved when Charles Coburn, 79-year-old actor, who plays the college president, gets kissed 42 times by Sheree North. Filmed in color by DeLuxe this 20th Century Fox film was written, directed and produced by Nunnally Johnson.

Starting today and playing through Saturday at the State Theatre you will find Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis romping the campus of an all-girls school in "You're Never Too Young." Five new songs "Simpatico," "Love Is All That Matters," "I Know Your Mother Lovea You," "I Like to Hike," and "You're Never Too Young" are to be heard in this top comedy. Co-starring with Martin and Lewis are Dianna Lynn and Nina Foch.

On the more serious side is "Prize of Gold" playing for its last day at the Florida Theatre. Richard Widmark as Joe Lawrence, plays an army sergeant stationed in occupied Berlin where he meets and falls in love with Maria, Mai Zetterling. Maria's main interest is not romance, but the welfare of a dozen war orphans, for whom she has worked and stolen to acquire money. It is for Maria that Joe Lawrence embarks upon a plan to hi-jack about two billion dollars in gold bullion. Needing help to carry out his plan, Widmark finds it in George Cole, an English sergeant, Nigel Patrick, a wartime pilot and Donald Wolfit.

Filmed on actual localea, "A Prize of Gold" has scenea in Berlin and in the back-streets of London. Producer Irving Allen believea that filming a motion picture in its actual locale adds 50% more to dramatic interest. Although filming on location adds tremendously to the production costs, he believes that it more than pays off in entertainment value.

Letters To The Editor

Summer Council Report

Dear Students

I feel that a report should be made to the entire Student Body on the several projects that Summer Council undertook this past summer so that you may realize the importance of summer government to the Summer School students and to you, the regular students.

One item that was of great benefit to the Summer School students was obtaining an additional bus on the bus route and arranging for the schedule to better meet the needs of the students. This was accomplished through the efforts of Rodney Wilson, Breezy Drefus, and Mr Harry Day, Director of Service Units.

There was also a matter of Constitutional revision. The committee on this subject was Sam Alderman and Beth Suggs. They came up with what appears to be the only practical answer to some of the problems of summer government. These amendments provide for dormitory representation on the Summer Council and give summer school students opportunity to amend their section of the Constitution. This amendment would give summer government an opportunity to make their needed revisions without having the regular student body ratification. However, this amendment itself needs the approval of the students, which I feel it will receive.

Another project was undertaken which will benefit all the students in the long run. This concerned the social regulation pertaining to the wearing of shorts, sport clothes, etc. for women. Pat Hilton did outstanding work as chairman of the committee. She made a survey of our Southern schools and found that many of these schools, including some church schools have regulations that are not as strict as ours. The Dean of Women of one large school even said that she believed the students had judgement mature enough to decide when they should wear shorts, sports clothes, etc. All of these facts were pointed out to Dean of Women Miss Katherine Warren but she refused to make any changes in the regulations.

Although this attempt to bring the social standards up to date must be termed a temporary failure, it is my person-

(Continued On Page 6)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

Please Pass The Salt

The Visitor

Senior Surveys Freshman Faces

(Editors note: This is the first in a series of guest columns by upperclass personalities on campus. The Flambeau will try to obtain a cross section of student government and the various student organizations on campus. The guest column will appear weekly, and contributions are welcome.)

By HERBERT LACAYO.

It happens every year as the leaves begin to fall, as the nights begin to chill and football hits the air. Again the campus is invaded by that ever increasing horde of young hopefuls—The College Freshmen. Like a swarm of locusts setting down to feed, you see them sprinkled here and there from Westcott to West Hall. A very cosmopolitan group whose only apparant change is that they seem to be getting younger every year.

All types of kids from the boy with last year's cadillac and enough beer money for half a fraternity to the guy who's not sure what he's going to use for eating allowance when his limited funds run out a month from now.

From the girl who was last year's debutante to the young lady who had to argue with her parents all year to be allowed to go to college.

In contrast to the students in whose family it has been a tradition to seek a higher education, we find those people who come to acquire the financial assets of a college degree or its social value.

* * *

Upon a given pre-arranged signal, they gather into Westcott, some with dreams to be fulfilled and others, many who are earnestly here for an education with a few who will do the work required of them and many others.

At last the young men on the platform begin to talk. "Never before has FSU . . ." As the silver words float over the honeycomb of faces, we begin to see definite personalities. They always seem to be there.

On the first row . . . The boy from Dunville High. You don't have to be told he's from Dunville, you just seem to know by looking at him. In a few years there will be a definite change in this lad. Yes, his blue jeans will fade.

A few rows back, we spot the high school big shot, easily identified by his white bucks, crew cut, and confidence. But most important of all is his key chain on which he has his Key Club key, Hi Y award, his conference football and other less identifiable honors. You can tell he's coming by the way he jingles.

More interesting in the middle of the auditorium is Gladface, the freshmen politician. We're always glad to see Gladface because he's always smiling so sincerely. Very charming, firm hand shake, visits around, gets to know everyone. He even has half of his posters made before he comes to school.

The smooth tones of [...] young man on the platf[...] ring out: "I've never see[...] freshman class with so m[...] pretty girls, never before[...]

The girls, the girls, we [...] ways see the girls. Most Fre[...] men girls, like wolves, tr[...] in packs. Here we have a [...] "generation of vipers," s[...] struggling for recognition [...] man's world, others just st[...] gling for a man.

Over there we have a be[...] tiful young thing who will [...] around with animal patie[...] waiting for the inevitable [...]

In contrast we have [...] young eager beaver girl hu[...] who goes after what she wa[...] This "Student Center Swe[...] heart" is often seen at a da[...] leading her date from place [...] place.

On the whole, however, [...] have girls who have never re[...] ly been away from home, [...] trying hard to adapt to so[...] thing new and strange.

This year with 8 per c[...] more freshmen men than g[...] there will be less razor tong[...] young ladies, less of the l[...] learned, "intellectual" and [...] less of the girls with the [...] back home.

But in a few months [...] raw mass of untutored huma[...] ty will begin to form into w[...] is known as a group of typ[...] college students, who will l[...] back and wonder, "Could [...] have been me?"

The Dissenter

Why Colleges Become Diploma Mills

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

America's colleges are not attended merely by people who want to remain civilian, get married, or put off for four or more years the rigors of regular employment. There are some who come to learn.

We can not afford, however, to ignore the people who believe college education is a term for extended vacation. They may be wrong but they are only mis-concluding from some very embarrassing realities.

There are all too many people in school who don't really care to learn but realize the necessity for a degree. While they're here they rationalize, they might as well enjoy themselves. Many of them cannot even make the grade, while numerous qualified but poor high school students never get the chance.

Robert M Hutchins, better-known here for his hasty attack on the FSU circus than for his rational views on present education, is not the only critic of the situation.

Dr. Paul N Elbin, president of state-operated West Liberty College in West Virginia, echoed a current thought when he said in a Sunday newspaper magazine article this week:

"This craze for college diplomas is debasing our colleges. Indeed, it is converting many of them into diploma mills . . . but the worst feature of the diploma fad is not so much what it does to colleges as what it does to students. Family and social pressures that push them into a world they aren't equipped to cope with can mark them for life. A student who has flunked out of college is often worse off than if he had never begun."

Dr. Elbin said many students who cannot handle an honest college course are attending because they can afford to, while many who have superior intellectual promise can not go to college. There is little arguing this point.

Aside from this human tragedy, there is the danger that the "diploma fad," as he calls it, will lower the standard of education to a point where colleges will actually be four-year vacations.

Extra-curricular activities are necessary, but in some schools they are over-emphasized to the point where bad reputations have resulted. Such detracts from the educational level. The University of Miami Hurricane once let loose at its readers with a cartoon showing a bathing-suited student shaking his fist at the sky and about[...] "Why isn't the sun out? I p[...] my tuition!"

There are a lot of th[...] which could prevent the gro[...] of the "diploma fad." We n[...] first, keep our schools small [...] that the student's associa[...] with the learning of his pro[...] sors and his contact with e[...] cational materials can be d[...] nite and intimate, rather [...] reminiscent of an assembly [...]

This brings to mind the p[...] for numerous community [...] leges, with the older institut[...] accepting only the brig[...] graduates.

We must have more scho[...] and scholarships. Florida [...] only its teaching scholars[...] to satisfy one real need, but [...] state is in dire need of inte[...] gent, trained citizens in all p[...] fessions. As long as we wo[...] more about some other sch[...] taking our football players th[...] we do about the dwindling [...] the sciences and the liberal a[...] which prevails everywhere [...] can only say we have scho[...] ships but not many scholars [...] It would be well for our fre[...] man class to remember th[...] is, or should be, more to sch[...] spirit than football enthusias[...] It should include pride in [...] school's educational facil[...] and successes as well.

Much Ado . . .

Football In Three-Quarter Time

By CLYDE WARD

Another school year is unveiled. Another football season, another crop of freshmen, another year of tolerating campus food because we can't afford to eat at Joe's or the Silver Slipper every night.

Another year of hearing Coach Nugent say, "The Seminoles are growing. We may lose, but we're learning."

True, Coach. We're growing. One question, though. Is all our growth in the right direction? If the stream of traffic to the stadium on game night grows any more, all late comers will spend the game behind the wheel of their car. By latecomers, I mean the ones that leave after 7 p.m.

The ones fortunate enough to get through the gates before game time should be able to watch three quarters in comparative comfort. The first quarter will be spent looking for seats, or trying to convince the people trying to claim your seats that you're right and they're wrong.

Sad situation, especially since this one would be so easy to improve. They could start by numbering the sections of seats instead of the aisles. It's fairly easy to find the right aisle, but you do some tall guessing as to where your seats may be.

Next, they could start the seat numbers at the aisles instead of the center of the seating section. Saturday night, our tickets were in aisle 10, row Y, seats 1 and 2. Well, now. That's just keen, I thought. Easy in, easy out, we disturb nobody. That's what I thought. From either direction, we took the chance of mashing 15 pairs of toes before we found the seats.

We were fortunate, at that. When we finally found 'em, they were the right seats. Most of the first quarter, though, our vision was blocked by people standing around arguing over the seats around us. At best, you count on see[...] three quarters of football.

The ushers could really h[...] here. I'm not being so br[...] as to suggest they learn [...] seating arrangement, but [...] they're going to be wrong [...] least they could agree on H[...] they're going to be wrong. [...] confusing to have five dif[...] ent ushers tell you five d[...] ferent things.

We're growing, thou[...] Maybe they'll give us m[...] ushers at the next ball ga[...]

Short Cuts Across the Gr[...] —There is one person at F[...] (in the Flambeau office [...] less), who doesn't like fo[...] ball . . . Can anyone here [...] member West Campus in [...] besides Al Ruda, Hal Rutla[...] Ron Skelton, and myself?

The flag at the Student C[...] ter looks real cool, especi[...] with gold lights on it . . . M[...] Bateman is back, trying to [...] that people enjoy themse[...] at the Student Center. [...] she remembers West Cam[...] in '51.

Wandering With Wiljohn

Wanderings To Fill Etchings Spot

By WILJOHN SHIFFERMULLER

Last year a column called "Etcetera Etchings," by David Dreis, greeted your eyes in this spot. This year, I invite you to go "Wandering With Wiljohn," as I report on the latest in Music and Show Business.

At this time last year, the music scene all over the country was in a different mood, style and tempo. The top song here was "Shake, Rattle and Roll," by Bill Haley. This song served, at the time, to help kick the nation off on its crrraazy Rhythm and Blues hit. Oddly enough, Bill Haley also waxed the latest R&B platter, "Rock Around the Clock," just before the black-biscuit-buyers booted the country to the homespun, coonskin ballad. As a result, the present hit (even over Davy Crockett) is Mitch Millers' "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

Last September's favorite male vocalist was Roy Hamilton, while we now have the never-fazable Frank Sinatra on top. There hasn't been a month this year that the Bow-Tie Kid hasn't had a waffle somewhere on the Hit Parade.

The 1954 Orientation Week mob got their kicks from Doris Day and Jo Stafford on the "Thrush-hold." This year anyone who isn't stoned by Georgia Gibbs is wasting his buffaloes in the disk-machine.

Bands are harder to tab but in '54 Billy May paved the way. Now Les Baxter seems to be the No. 1 boy.

The only consistent performers were the Four Freshmen, who led the vocal groups last year and lead them now, although The Four Aces are currently climbing high with their waxing of "Love Is a M[...] Splendored Thing."

So much for the comparis[...] You probably weren't intere[...] anyhow but reading this is [...] ter than paying attention to [...] lecture. If there is anything [...] would like to have me write [...] throw me a line at Box [...] Campus Mall. Be flippin' [...] answers, man.

* * *

Winchell type section . . . F[...] pianist-composer Ryan Edw[...] is working on a suite for [...] pianos to be choreographed [...] Kathy Hartley. . . . The n[...] tenor voice making the retu[...] 'ng tenors in the music dep[...] ment break into a cold aw[...] belongs to Sam Jordan, a tra[...] fer student from Oklahoma B[...] tist University. . . . The L[...] Opera Guild will present [...] New Moon," by Sigmund Ro[...]

(Continued On Page 6)

Students Vote Asked On Homecoming Dance

(Editor's Note: The following article by Graham Carothers is an editorial on the problems which confront the homecoming dance and on their plans for the 1955 celebration. It is imperative that all students express their opinion on the form which the annual fall homecoming is to be enjoyed by everyone.)

The primary problem is this: The Suwannee Room, the usual site of past dances have been held, is entirely too small to accommodate the number of couples needed to make a big dance of this kind. Homecoming dance committees in the past have wound up in the red many times and in fact, and have been required to use revenue obtained elsewhere to make up the deficit.

Plans have been suggested that the committee encourage fraternities and fraternities to have their own dances in either own houses or at in-town clubs which are available. Most of the dorms could sponsor their own dances in the residence halls. There would be either one dance in the Suwannee Room to accommodate the dorm students, and other students who wish to go to the big dance; or three smaller dances at the Student Center, Suwannee Room, and possibly the Women's Gym.

This suggestion is substantiated by the arguments of some of the fraternities that sufficient time was not allowed for entertainment of their visiting alumni nor enough space for them in the Suwannee Room.

It seems that should be made that this is purely a tempo-rary plan that need not be traditional or even customary.

The men's gymnasium should be completed by next year with ample room for the larger dance space now before needed in the University. The students would revert back to the central, large homecoming dance if they so desire.

The students, however, feel that the central homecoming dance is overcrowded or not, is essential to a successful homecoming.

In order that we might please the students and preserve for a fun-filled homecoming, the dance committee requests that fraternities sororities, dorms, day students, and those students interested, fill out the form below and submit to the committee. The fraternities, sororities, and dorms might hold meetings and submit one vote stating the preferences of the group instead of submitting individual ballots.

The dance committee wants the homecoming dance to be a success and a result of the desires of the majority of the students. We will welcome your suggestions. If any student prefers to work on this important student committee, please indicate so on this ballot.

Graham Carothers
Chairman
HOMECOMING DANCE COMMITTEE

HOMECOMING DANCE
NAME OF PERSON OR ORGANIZATION .....

Please check one:

We would prefer the same large homecoming dance in the Suwannee Room .....

We would prefer to have our own dance, with several orchestras

Ballots should be mailed in campus mail to:

Graham Carothers.
Student Government
Alumni Building

VOLUNTEERS

Jan Halford, Student Government Secretary of the Infirmary has announced that a number of the campus parking lots are being opened and volunteers are needed to form a team. All interested persons are requested to meet in the Longmire Infirmary Desk on Wednesday

MIAMANS ASKED FOR INFORMATION

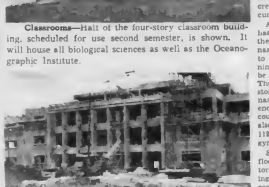
Attention Miami Students. You are requested to put your name, major courses of study, home address, campus address and activities on a card or paper and turn it in to Room 211 Longmire Building. This will be used for publicity purposes.

Small Dances Proposed For Homecoming

There may be several small dances instead of one large affair in the Homecoming Weekend this year, E. D. Whittlesey, public relations director and Chairman of Homecoming has revealed.

The chance is contingent on student approval, Whittlesey said.

Dances would be held in such places as Suwannee Room, Student Center, Florida High gymnasium and possibly the Women's Gym. Orchestras would not be "big name" bands as in the past, Whittlesey said, but admission would be free to all students. All dances would probably be formal.



Lack of space, Whittlesey said, is the reason for suggesting the change. Previous Homecoming dances have been held in the Suwannee Room at three dollars per couple. The larger dance space should relieve needed in the University. The students revert back to the central, large homecoming if they so desire.

Alumni or students who either don't want to dance or don't wish to spend the whole evening dancing may attend a concert by the School of Music faculty, Whittlesey said.

This year's Homecoming is November 18-19. The Citadel, military college of South Carolina, will be the foes in the Homecoming football game.

Classrooms—Half of the four-story classroom building, scheduled for use second semester, is shown. It will house all biological sciences as well as the Oceanographic Institute.

Library—About 500,000 volumes, as well as facilities of the library school, will be housed in the new library scheduled for use by late spring.

Says R. K. Shaw

Four Major Buildings Slated For Completion Within A Year

By DAVID EVANS

Four major buildings now under construction on campus will be finished in staggered order in less than a year, according to Business Manager R. K. Shaw.

Shaw said all four buildings will be completely air-conditioned and be of reinforced concrete construction with brick curtain walls.

A delay in delivery of steel has slowed down construction on the million dollar men's gymnasium, but Shaw expects work to move along quickly beginning Oct. 1 and he expects it to be completed by mid-summer. The structure will be a three story building containing a gymnasium, 184 by 119 feet, large enough for three basketball courts side by side. There will also be an end platform, 66 by 119 feet, for staging various gymnastics demonstrations.

Shaw pointed out the gym floor can double as an auditorium, holding up to 5,000 folding chairs for such an event as commencement. When the floor is in partial use for a basketball game, a seated crowd of 4,000 can be accommodated. The basement will be adequately equipped with shower and locker rooms, and the two upper floors around the gym floor will be given over to classrooms, offices and rooms for specialized instruction in the physical education program.

CLASSROOMS BY FEBRUARY

February 2 is the target date for the classroom building which will house all biological sciences. It is to have 24 classrooms, 29 offices, 64 laboratories and will cost $750,000.

By late spring the $2,100,000 library will be prepared for service, Shaw said. On the ground floor of the four-story building will be the Library School, a 150 seat capacity lecture hall, projection booth, and kitchenette, and equipment for shipping building and mechanical purposes. The first floor with 400 chairs will contain general education reference circulation, technical processes, administrative offices, and special collections. Both the second and third floors will be divided into two large subject areas: humanities and social sciences; government documents and maps, and science technology. Each area will have a typing room, graduate individual study and seminar rooms at each house.

The library will have a total volume capacity of about 500,000. Each floor will have a smoking room. The building will have one service and two public elevators.

At present the home economics building does not appear to be as far along as the library, but will not call for as much interior work. Shaw said the $850,000 home economics building will house the FSU School of Home Economics, and the State Office of Home Demonstration Work. Florida Agricultural Extension Service, and be finished in late winter. It will be a five-story building with 15 classrooms, 23 laboratories, and 50 offices.

BUILDINGS GROUPED

All the buildings now under construction, except the men's gym, are grouped together between the administration building and student center, which is the geographical center of the future campus under its 50-year master plan. The library, home economics building and the library face Call Street, and the classroom building is roughly across Call Street from the library, facing Pennsylvania Street.

The 1953 Legislature, which appropriated the building money also provided $200,000 for remodeling three buildings—the present library, science building, and demonstration school. When the demonstration school occupied its new building last fall, its former building was immediately converted into university classrooms. But the other two remodeling jobs must wait —when the school of Home Economics moves out of the science building, the space vacated will be utilized for expanded chemistry and physics departments, and the remodeled library is destined for additional much-needed classrooms.

Asked about the 1955 Legislature appropriation request, FSU, Shaw said both the million dollar buildings for the School of Education and for the School of Education are in the planning stage. He expects the half million dollar State Geological Department, also provided for by the recent Legislature to get under way soon. It has been delayed as a result of the year-old FSU geology building, and is part of a plan for a campus geological center. Across Woodward Ave from the Student Center.

Art Students Exhibit Work

Twenty student, who have done outstanding work the last two years in the Department of Art at Florida State University will have their work shown at an FSU exhibition at the Forum Gallery in New York.

Artists chosen for the exhibit, which will run from Sept. 28 to Oct. 8, are Antonio Jaggart and Myra Cook, Franklin Adams, Jan Doc Middlebrooks and George Milton, Evon Stretman, Alex Hay, Joseph Almyda, Astrid Dewaldt, Dorothy Kannon, Jane Wheeler, Lee Pearce, Joe Stephens, Marilyn Miller, Jackie Spencer, Lee Ann Kimeren, and Jack Wise.

The prize won for organizing the New York exhibit was Howard Jones, FSU associate professor of art, it worked with Robert Kaufman, founder, and Leo Steppat, director, of the gallery.

The Forum Gallery, which is primarily concerned with showing superior work from colleges and activities on a card or paper and turn it in to Room 211 Longmire Building. This will be used for publicity purposes.

Greek "Police Squad" Investigated Possibility Of Dirty Rush This Year

A unique change in this year's stag fraternity rush procedure was initiated by the Inter-Fraternity Council, whose members formed a sort of volunteer police squad.

This group of boys traveled in pairs to all men's dorms and fraternity houses to investigate possibility of "dirty rushing" or rushing during the period preceding Sunday, September 18, at 1 p.m.

Before this time, no fraternity man could legally have personal communication with freshman or other prospective rushees. No fraternity man was allowed to visit a freshman residence unless invited to the freshman's residence could be reported to the IFC advisor by the president of the fraternity making the charge.

They Sign Up

In order to participate in rushing activities, students were required to register on September 13 in Westcott Auditorium and on September 14-16 in the Fraternity Advisor's office.

Rushees were required to visit every fraternity house during the once house period on Sunday, September 18 and Monday, September 19. Failure to visit all fraternity houses results in the loss of pledge privileges for a period of five days after official pledging.

Today, fraternity rushees will receive date cards between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. in Longmire. The first rush parties will be held tonight from 5 to 9 p.m at all fraternity houses. Informed whether from a party for which he is scheduled will cause any rushee to become automatically ineligible to pledge any fraternity for a period of 20 days if his name is reported to the IFC Advisor's office by 10 a.m. of the day following the party.

Parties Limited

Parties will also be held tomorrow, Wednesday and Friday in all fraternity houses from 5 to 9 p.m. On Saturday, September 24, bids shall be issued from noon to 1 p.m. to Longmire. Fraternity men are not allowed to be present while bids are issued.

Quiet hours, or the period of time in which no fraternity men may communicate with rushees, will be in effect from the close of the rush party on Friday, September 23, until Monday, September 26 at 7:00 a.m. At any time after this date, formal pledging may be held.

The disciplinary action for all violations of rush rules will be a fine of $100 and/or denial of pledging privileges for 60 days by the fraternities. A rushee will be deemed pledgeship with the fraternity involved for that semester.

IFC president Tom Day reports that rush procedure will be greatly organized and concentrated thus previously "for the benefit of new students."

Womro's rush procedure is identical to last year's schedule with more careful observance of rules. Pushellcue rules concerning communication between rushees are even more strict than IFC rules. Until bids are accepted, no communication is allowed between rushees and sorority members except during rush parties. This rule goes into effect as soon as a freshman arrives on campus. Assigned Rush Counselors are on their honor to avoid mention of sorority rushing.

Sorority Rush

Registration was held on Friday, September 16. Rush formally begins Thursday, September 22 with formal receptions in all sorority houses from 7-9 p.m. Formal receptions will continue Friday from 8-11 p.m. Rushees are required to attend all formal receptions.

Groups of rushees will be accompanied to the various houses by a Panhellenic Counselor and shall be allowed only 15 minutes at each house.

Saturday morning from 9-11 date cards for the five Saturday afternoon parties will be given out in Longmire Auditorium. Each party will last 45 minutes and each rushee may have only one date with any one chapter.

More Date Cards

More cards for Sunday parties will be given in Longmire on Sunday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Four parties will be held Sunday afternoon, including one dinner party for which the rushee is required to go. Each rushee may have only one date with any one chapter.

Monday date cards may be picked up in Longmire from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Three evening parties from 5-9 p.m. will be held. The one dinner party will be paid for by the rushee.

Tuesday is officially "Dead Day." There will be seven penalties if the rules of no communication between sorority and rushee is violated.

On Wednesday, rushees will fill out preferential cards in the Panhellenic office from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Girls receiving bids will be notified on Thursday and may pick them up in the Pannellenic office. Pledging may be held any time after 5 p.m. on Friday, September 30.

Traffic Committee

New Traffic Regulations Set

By RAY HEMANN

The old students returning to the campus this semester are faced with entirely new traffic and parking regulation. Those changes and more where we to fe low were announced as the efforts of a new committee on traffic regulation which was formed this summer.

This committee is composed of Joan Halford, chairman, Dean Oz-ocke, ex-officio, Trudy Perry, Carolyn Redfern and Sam Alderman, all from student government, Dr. Merrill Oeike representing the faculty, Mr Blackburn, substituting for Dean Carr, Mr Shaw, Business Manager, Mr. Harry Day, Assistant Business Manager, and myself. The committee was formed not to study the situation as many in the past have done, but to see that something is done to alleviate the problems concerning traffic.

The system which was adopted is in essence a simplified zoning system. It has been tried and successfully in several universities around the country and is to be used on a trial basis beginning this fall. The proposal was approved by the committee is explained in a story on page one

This system has been accepted on a trial basis because of the fact that no one can know for sure if the restricted zone will prove satisfactory for Seven Acres or if on the other hand, there will be too many spaces. In the event that there will not be enough parking places available in this restricted zone It was further suggested that the parking lots next to the Schwaimeyer House and on the corner on Call and Copeland Streets be added to the restricted zone.

The committee realizes that this new zoning system is perhaps not the final solution to the parking situation, but it realizes also that this is a step in the right direction and that the ground work has been laid upon which a better system can be built if the need arises.

The traffic committee is a long overdue addition to the administrations of Florida State University and an addition from which can come nothing but good constructive ideas and plans.

The committee asks for the application of these ideas, Suggestions should be obtained with the support of everyone in observing the new system with an attitude of doing everything possible to help the plan become a successful one rather than with an attitude of procrastination or defiance to a new system and toward those trying to enforce it.

As it stands now, the car registration for this year has far exceeded the number predicted by several members of the traffic committee, and the zoning system as it was adopted, will probably be due for some changes as soon as the committee meets next week.

To give the uninformed some idea of the problem facing the committee, there are approximately 1100 parking places on the campus and in the immediate surrounding city streets, and parking lots to accomodate approximately 3000 automobiles. Any ideas?

Enjoy Superior
FRIED CHICKEN
and
'The Best Coffee In Town'
at
the 3-D's Drive In 1800 N. Monroe

Records
Phonographs
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

The big news breezes in...

Two new campus styles arrive, via Arrow. This button-down shirt, with soft roll collar, marks a great advance—a new full-length back pleat for never-before comfort. As a fitting companion, Arrow offers a new chino slack with tapered legs, pleatless front and adjustable back strap. Chino slacks at $4.50 and grey, $5.95. Oxford shirt, $5.00, in stripes and solid colors.

ARROW
—first in fashion
SHIRTS • TIES • SLACKS

the RAVEN QUINTET
FSU's Leading Combo
4th Season
'Fine Dance Music in a Style That's Different'
Contact—Bob Wright
447 W. College—2-4970
or at Kappa Sigma House

DIAMONDS & WATCHES
Gifts ... All Kinds
PAUL TURNER
JEWELER
Complete Repair Service
102 S. Monroe St. Ph. 3-1447

WELCOME
For Back-to-School Needs
Shop at BENNETT'S
AIR CONDITIONED STORE
COMPLETE SODA AND LUNCHEONETTE DEPARTMENT
GIFTS — DRUGS — MAGAZINES
Nationally Advertised Cosmetics
For Fast Motorcycle Delivery
Call 2-8980 or 2-4450
Bennett's DRUG STORES, INC.
200 S. Monroe

WELCOME
STUDENTS & FACULTY
Everything for the Student
BOOKS
SUPPLIES
MALONE'S BOOK STORE
FOR ALL KINDS OF SUPPLIES
Make Malone's Your Headquarters

Tribe Edges Wolfpack 7-0

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
—Flambeau Sports Editor—

A BOOK—

It'll be called 'Florida State University Football—1955 Edition.' The first chapter was written Saturday night. Nine more will follow.

This mythical book will be filled with an Irish flavor—the story of a man who believed, and of some 75 aspiring youngsters who wanted to play football. It will tell the story of their first year in major college football.

Tom Nugent supplies the Irish bit, and more than his share of the believing part. The 75 or more youngsters, those who made the team and those who didn't, make up the rest. The NCAA supplies the major college recognition.

But the dialogue may not read so well this year.

N. C. State they're in the past. Miami, Sept. 30, VPI, Oct. 8, Georgia, Oct. 15, Georgia Tech, Oct. 22, Villanova, Nov. 5, Furman, Nov. 11, The Citadel, Nov. 19, Miss. Southern, Nov. 26 and Tampa, Dec. 3.

To play the leading roles in this "book," Nugent has seven of his eleven '54 regulars back. And looking at some of them, we we find it easy to understand why the dapper Irishman's 'magic of believing' attitude goes undaunted.

At one end he has Tom Otey Feamster, the biggest flankman in collegiate football today. This 6' 7", 250-pound giant earned All-Florida honors and All American mention last year when he caught 28 passes for 442 yards and six touchdowns. To top off his line first year with the Seminoles, he was a top pro-football draft choice at the season's end.

On the opposite flank, replacing little All-American Jimmy Lee Taylor, is Ronnie Schomburger. A sophomore of average size, Schomburger will be out to prove himself this season.

The tackle spots took a beating last season with the graduation of Little All-American Al Mackowcicki. But team co-captain Don Powell and Bob Barber displace 400 pounds together at these posts this year. In reserve stands 250-pound Bill Procter.

Nugent rates his guards as perhaps his strongest spots. A. Pacifico and Jerry Jacobs work from these pull-out positions. Both are veterans. Vince Gibson, too, rates as a possible starter.

And at center, Nugent has 168 pounds of Bob Crenshaw. "Not enough for a lot of coaches," Nugent remarks. "But when I think of Bob I always add 30 pounds for the size of his heart and he comes out a pretty big boy."

He has four "good" quarterbacks — Juniors Len Swantic and Mike Norman and sophomores Vic Prinzi and Pat Versprille. Swantic was his choice as the starting field general Saturday, but the other three saw plenty of action and should continue to do so. Versprille is tabbed as having the most possibility. "The 6' 3" 200-pound "growing boy" is plenty fast, he can pass and he's a good kicker. Prinzi may be the best runner of the quartet and Norman is perhaps the best passer. Swantic got the nod this past Saturday night because of his experience and all-around ability.

Due to recent injuries, the Tribe's halfback corps isn't up to par and might not be for some time. But Lee Corso at left half is a shining light. The Miami junior showed his worth Saturday night and should continue to do so. He's dubbed by many as one of the southland's finest all-around backs. Buddy Reynolds and Bills Weaver were no.'s 1&2 at the right halfback side, but injuries fixed that. Buck Metts, an understudy to Corso, has been moved to the vacated post and seems to work in well. Gene Cox, FSU's 5' 6" "El Toro" supplies the needed reserve offensive power here.

The fullbacks, too, have had their share of injuries. Though Joe Holt, Nugent's choice as starter, hasn't felt the injury pangs yet his most able reserve, John Griner, has. Griner played the N. C. State game with a cast on a broken right hand.

These, then, are the characters who will fill the pages under each of those chapter tnples. All of the chapters may not tell a happy story for Seminole readers, but it will be written with a self-instilled pride—a pride which is representative of the growing athletic poweress of this University.

Team Hopes For Win Over Miami

Fresh from their North Carolina State win Saturday night, the Tribe began preparations this week for what might easily be their toughest test—taming a Hurricane called Miami.

Though defeated 14-6 this past weekend by Georgia Tech, Miami still ranks as a power of the southland. According to writers covering the game, the Tech subduing of Miami was a "lucky break." The Hurricanes almost completely dominated offensive play throughout.

The Tech win was termed a "minor upset" in some circles and FSU head coach Tom Nugent is hoping it can happen again.

"All they were talking about in Miami was Georgia Tech and Notre Dame," said Nugent. "They haven't taken us too seriously—and maybe that will be our big break."

The Hurricanes meet mighty Notre Dame the week following their Florida State clash.

The Tribe has two weeks to get ready for the trip to the "Magic City." And its a two weeks direly needed by the Seminole camp.

Florida State entered the N. C. State game this past Saturday night greatly undermanned due to injuries. Right halfbacks Nos. 1 and 2—Bully Reynolds and Billy Weaver—were sidelined with Nugent moving Buck Metts, a left halfback understudy, to the vacant spot. Don Powell, tackle and team co-captain, played the Wolfpack game, but saw limited action due to a badly sprained ankle.

In Miami, the Tribe will run into an offensive machine which last year carried the south Florida institution into a position of national prominence.

Head coach Andy Gustafson has the Hurricanes dealing their offensive power off Miami's famed "drive series." The system is a variation of the split-T and the "fullback ride" where every play looks the same, but features different ball carriers hitting different holes. Even the passes look like the runs. What it all boils down to is a back hits the line on every play and has to be brought down whether he has the ball or not.

This continued rugged line play could prove disastrous to the Seminoles along the lines of the depth situation. Always a coaching pang at FSU, the Tribe stands in not much better position this year.

Though FSU will be expected to base much of its offensive punch on a good aerial game, fans can look for a two-way running duel between FSU's Lee Corso and Miami's All American halfback candidate, Whitey Rouviere. A native of Miami, Corso will be playing before a hometown crowd and should be at his best. Rouviere, who was pretty well bottled up during the Georgia Tech game, will be trying to live up to some of his pre-season expectations.

But the man for the Seminoles to watch will be Mario Bonofiglio, Miami's magician quarterback. The deft little field general set the sports world to talk last week of another All American quarterback at Miami.

JOHN ZABUTY, Wolfpack halfback, is brought down from behind by an unidentified Seminole Saturday night in Florida State's 7-0 win. Harrison McKeever, N. C. State fullback, prepares to move FSU's Lee Corso out of the play.

GYM TEAM HOPES ON FROSH TALENT

By BOB GUTTING

Dr. Price's star-studded gym team, top heavy with new talent, is composed of the best freshman class in the history of gymnastics at Florida State. According to Dr. Price, "This team should really burn up the mats."

Topping the roster of fresh talent is newcomer Bob Elliott, of Amarillo, Texas. Bob fills the bill in the trampoline event, a position left vacant with the graduation of Dick Ireland.

A graduate of Amarillo Senior High school, Bob received his start with the Amarillo Boy's Club. While in competition for this group, Bob won the TAC Texas Open trampoline event six consecutive times, from 1949 to 1955. He also copped the tramooline title for the Texas Open in 1954, and the Southeastern AAU Trampoline crown from 1951 to 1955.

In 1953 Bob traveled to his first national meet, the NAAU in Chicago. In the preliminaries he was defeated for first place by one-tenth of a point by FSU Dick Gutting, but only placed fifth in the main events.

The following year, while only 17, Bob managed to hit and won the 1954 NCAA trampoline title. He followed this up by winning the Canadian Open at Vancouver, B.C. the same year.

This year proved to be a repetition of last year for Bob, who once again twisted and turned his way into the NAAU trampoline championship, a difficult feat for anyone, including seasoned veterans.

Elliot has long been interested in furthering his gymnastics career under the guiding hand of an outstanding coach so it was only natural that he finaly decided to come to FSU, turning down offers from five other universities including powerful UCLA and Illinois.

Bob is also a close friend of gymnastics whiz Jamile Ashmore, and has competed with him in several Southeastern AAU meets. "But it was Dr. Price who really convinced me that FSU was the place for me" said Elliott. "After watching the FSU boys compete at the National meets I was convinced I would be with a great group of athletes and Dr. Price talked to me at the meets and encouraged me to come so here I am."

Other gym stars returning to strengthen the team include Olympic men Don Holder and Rafael Lecuona, twice a member of the Cuban Olympic team. Another returning star is Jack Miles, back for another year as he studs towards a Master's degree. This outstanding threesome where also picked to represent their countries at this year's Pan American Olympic games held at Mexico City. The boys turned in a fine performance at this event with Miles taking first and Holder third in the coveted all-around event.

Other lettermen returning include rings champ Joe Taylor, Jim Fadigan, Laird Anderson and Jim Tanaka.

Enthused over the crop of newcomers Dr. Price said "We've got plenty of muscle and flexibility and are really going to show it off to advantage. Among the others there is a boy named Cicio from Brooklyn who may turn out to be Olympic material and a graduate student from Berlin, Germany named Ceska who has been prominent in World Competition. With a team shapeing up like that, our possiblities are endless. Of course, we have been faced with several losses, but these have been filled up pretty well. Our biggest loss is Bob Sharpe, who was killed in a motorcycle accident this summer. He was developing into good all-around material and would have probably been Olympic material some day. He was a good athlete and we will miss him around here."

Nugent Gets Car As Gift From Alumni

Florida State University's male alumni showed its appreciation for a "job well done" Saturday night by presenting head football coach Tom Nugent with a new station wagon.

"I don't know exactly what to say," said the Seminole mentor as he accepted the gift. "It sure comes at a time when I can use it."

Nugent said the gift came as a "symbol of a bright future. That these male alumni, so few and so scattered, would do this we're bound to have a great future. Such loyalty should put together a great organization."

WHOA, WAGON WHEELS! Lee Corso, FSU ... back and an ... Wolfpack halfback George 'Wagon Wheels' Marinkov ... the Tribe's 7-0 win Saturday night. Marinkov ... the classiest backs ... FSU, netted 68 ... N. C. State's ... total of 167 yards.

Swantic To Feamster Brings Triumph In Tribe Opener

By PIERCE LENMBECK

An 'ace in the hole' in the form of a 49-yard play from quarterback Len Swantic to giant end Feamster launched Florida State University's '55 fo[otball] campaign on a successful note here Saturday nig[ht as] the Seminoles edged North Carolina State, 7-0.

The Tribe, stymied offensively by a rugged Wolfpack forward wall and reeling under a multiple attack led by a "wagon-wheels" named Marinkov, turned the fourth quarter into an aerial circus to notch their first win in a season opener under the three-season reign of Tom Nugent.

Swantic, a junior from Columbus, Ga., displayed remarkable accuracy with a wet ball as he connected four times in succession to bring the Seminoles out of an offensive laxity. Tom Feamster was the payoff target on the 49-yard touchdown play. Tackle Bill Proctor added the extra point.

Florida State had its troubles for the first three quarters as the determined Wolfpack tried desperately to register their first win over the Tribe in three years. Winning only the series opener in 1953, N. C. State lost to Florida State in '54 by a 23-13 margin and again last season, 13-7.

N. C. State threatened five times while the Seminoles couldn't get beyond the 20 until Swantic's payoff pass with six minutes remaining in the game. The 'pack moved on separate occasions to FSU's six, 11, 19, 21 and 33-yard line, but each time a surprisingly strong Seminole forward wall held its own.

THE TRIBE SCORE

The Seminoles began their telltale drive from their own 14-yard line with the final quarter about half over when Swantic launched a supposedly dormant aerial game. He hit Feamster, Joe Holt and Lee Corso with successive aerials, setting the stage for the main toss.

Swantic had a perfect setup for his throw. Reeling under the surprising air attack, the 'Pack called time and came back with their defenses drawn up tight when play was resumed. The 6' 7" 250-pound Feamster ... down the sidelines taking [Swan]tic's throw all by himself ... went the remaining 35 yar[ds un]touched.

Swantic's aerial show ... somewhat phenomenal und[er] existing circumstances. Pl[aying] with a wet ball and on ... rained on for nine straight ... the little junior with the ... right arm connected for ... eight tosses accounting fo[r the] Seminoles' complete aerial ... of 105 yards.

Except for the surprise ... ing score, the Tribe had ... hands full trying to keep ... 'Pack pride, halfback George [Mar]inkov, tied down. The 170-p[ound] speedster, called "Wagon Wh[eels"] by his teammates, rolled ... around and through Seminol[e de]fenses for a total of 68 yards ... spite the muddy turf, he r... to bog down and kept FSU ... fenses on their toes.

Teamed with halfback Joh[n Za]buty and fullback Harrison [Mc]Keever, Marinkov and co... outdistanced the Tribe on ... ground with 167 yards as a[gainst] 115 for FSU. The difference ... ever, was in the passing ... 105 for FSU, while the ... could muster only 28.

DEFENSIVE STANDOUTS

Feamster, who stands an e[xcel]lent chance of becoming F[SU's] first major All American, ... standout defensively, also ... biggest end in collegiate foo[tball] Feamster pulled down thre[e of] the four tosses he could g[et his] hands on. The fourth wa[s ob]viously due to the slipper[y] ... the wet ball. The nation's ... all-around end last season, F[eam]ster dropped only one pas[s the] entire year while being c... with 26 receptions for six [touch]downs.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," etc.)

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH

Today I begin my second year of writing this column [for] Philip Morris Cigarettes. Once every week during the com[ing] school year I will take up, without fear or favor, issues t[o] inflame the minds and quicken the hearts of college stude[nts] everywhere. I will grapple with such knotty questions as: [Is] compulsory attendance the reflection of an insecure faculty? and "Is the unmarried student obsolete?" and "Are room-ma[tes] sanitary?"

While each week I make a bold assault upon these burn[ing] issues, I will also attempt to beguile you into smoking Ph[ilip] Morris Cigarettes. Into each column I will craftily weave s[ome] words in praise of Ph[ilip] Morris. I will extol, ... lliquely, the benign m[ild]ness of Philip Morr[is'] well-born tobacco, ... soothing fragrance, ... tonic freshness, its de... temperateness, its oh ... welcome gentleness in ... spiky and abrasive w[orld] of ours.

For saying these k[ind] things about their ci[ga]rettes, the Philip Mo[rris] Company will pay ... money. This is the Am[eri]can Way. This is [De]mocracy. This is Enlig[ht]ened Self Interest. T[his] is the System that Ma[de] Our Country Great, and anybody who doesn't like it [is] MALADJUSTED.

Perhaps it would be well in this first column of the year [to] tell you a little about myself. I am 36 years of age, but s[till] remarkably active. I am squat, moon-faced, have all my tee[th] and am fond of folk dancing and Lotto. My hobby is collect[ing] mucilage.

I first took up writing because I was too short to steal. Ba[re]foot Boy With Cheek was my maiden effort, and today, fourte[en] years later, I continue to write about college students. This is called "arrested development."

But I can't help it. Though I am now in the winter of my life, the problems of undergraduates still seem to me as pressing as ever. How to pursue a blazing romance with exams coming up next Friday in physics, history and French; how to convince your stingy father that life is a bitter mockery without a yellow convertible, how to subsist on dormitory food — these remain the topics that roil my sluggish blood.

And in this column from now until next June you will re[ad] of such things: of dating and pinning, of fraternities and soror[i]ties and independents, of cutting and cramming, of athletes a[nd] average-raisers, of extra-and intra-curriculum, of textbooks a[nd] those who write them and those who sell them and those w[ho] read them and those who don't.

And, slyly woven into this stirring tapestry, the story [of] Philip Morris, America's gentle cigarette, in the handy Snap-Open pack, in king-size or regular, at prices all can afford.

©Max Shulman 1...

The makers of Philip Morris are happy to be back with you for another year of good reading and good smoking — with gentle Philip Morris, of course.

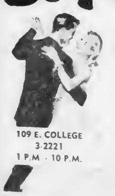
'SAMMY' SURVEYS SEMINOLE SCENES

Been wondering about the flagpole in front of the Student Center?

It's the result of an idea of head baseball coach Danny Litwhiler which is to reflect exactly just how the athletic fortunes at Florida State are proceeding.

The idea is in the form of a golden flagpole which reaches skyward with a maroon and gold bulletin board at its base upon which all FSU ... will be posted.

And high atop the pole, on the day of any athletic event on the campus, will be the flag of Sammy Seminole with the brash little Indian gazing far and yon as the master of all he surveys.



Should the Seminole athletic squad be successful that day a bright beam of light will play on Sammy all night. But alas should the FSU team meet defeat the light will be extinguished and Sammy will be withdrawn into the anonymity of his darkened tepee.

It is the fervent hope of all on the Florida State campus that little Sammy will be a windblown individual by the time the school year 1955-56 draws to a close.

Phone 2-2892
for Hamburgers—15c • Milk Shakes—19c
Chicken in the Box—$1.25
Shrimp in the Box—$1.25

Be Popular

YOUR SUCCESS IS GUARANTEED WHEN YOU'RE AN ARTHUR MURRAY GRADUATE

Everyone can enjoy this kind of fun and popularity if they put themselves in the hands of an Arthur Murray expert. These talented teachers will show you the quickest and easiest way to become a good dancer. The whole secret is in Arthur Murray's famous "Magic Step"—the key step to all dances. Even a beginner can master this step in one lesson and with just a little practice popularity is yours.

109 E. COLLEGE
3-2221
1 P.M. - 10 P.M.

FOR RENT
DAY OR WEEK
Skin Divers Outfit Complete
Lung, Regulator, Fins & Mask
Ph. 3-2221
1 p.m.—10 p.m.

M & N Cafe
DAILY SPECIALS

Broiled Filet Mignon, French Fries, Salad, Mushroom Sauce $1.00

Entree, Two Vegetables, Salad, Drink, Dessert 75¢

TUES.—Whole Shrimp, French Fries, Chef's Salad, Seafood Sauce—$1.00

THURS.—Whole Broiled Lobster, French Fries, Salad, Lemon Sauce—$1.00

FRI.—Fried Trout, Scallops, Shrimp, Deviled Crab, F. F., Salad, Hushpuppies—$1.00

BEST AND CHEAPEST FOOD IN TOWN

ATTENTION
FSU STUDENTS and FACULTY
The Air-Conditioned
SILVER SLIPPER
Offers You
10% Discount
on
• CHARCOAL BROILED STEAKS
• SEAFOOD • CHICKEN • GRECIAN SALADS
AND
ALL REGULAR DINNERS
Enjoy the Finest in Food
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK 5 P.M.—12 P.M.
Phone 2-4961 For Reservations 2000 So. Monroe

New Regulations

(Continued From Page 1)

...ace marked with blue paint, ...en reserved for car owners ...ssigned to have blue window ...kers.

Those given blue stickers live ...s area bounded on the north ...West Tennessee and Virginia ...ets, on the east by Boule...rd Street, on the south by ...ugustine Street and on the ...st by Murphree Street. These ...undaries, faculty administ...ation members are allowed to ...rk in either the blue or black ...a.

Those who live nearer to or ...the campus have been issued ...ck stickers, which entitle them ...park cars in all parking lo...ions not marked with blue ...d red.

Penalty

Penalty for not observing the ...rking regulations is 50 cents ...r ticket if paid within 24 ...urs after issue, $1 if paid ...within 48 hours after issue, and ...imum fine of $1.50 after 48 ...urs.

Parking violations other than ...ose in the wrong zone are ...ing in Visitor's Circle and ...ilure to show university car ...gistration sticker. Also parking is prohibited on campus ...eets between 1:30 a.m. and 6 ...m. for all car owners. This last ...gulation which would allow uni...rsity employees to park during ...ese hours.

Failure of students to pay ...es within 30 days will "result ...disciplinary action through ...e office of Dean of Students."

...ording to the regulations ...ade: Al lviolators of traffic ...gulations are "subject to City ...ice action in accordance with ...ose Bill No. 314, Chapter ...723 of the Florida State Legis...ture," the folder continues.

Regulations

In general, the university re...ulations are listed as follows:

1- No parking will be per...itted near fire hydrants or ...ose entrance to sidewalks and ...ading or along painted yellow ...rbs.

2- "Loading Zones" must be ...served between the hours of ...m. and 5 p.m. except on Sun...ys or university designated ...idays.

3- Vehicles parked on uni...rsity streets are to be parked ...rallel to the curb, within 10 ...ches of the curb, and within ...e white lines.

4- The maximum speed limit ...on all campus streets is 20 miles ...r hour unless otherwise posted.

5- All "Stop" and "Slow" ...gns are to be observed.

6- Reckless and Careless ...riving are forbidden on the ...campus.

No "Other Purposes"

7- Movement of traffic along ...the campus streets is not to be ...obstructed by stopping in the ...streets for any other purpose ...than for parking.

8- Parking on the lawn or ...driving on campus where university streets are not provided, is ...forbidden.

9- Pedestrians may be held responsible for failure to observe traffic safety regulations on the campus.

10- Only authorized individuals will be permitted to park in areas reserved for handicapped students.

Appeals may be made by students to the Student Traffic Safety Court, which meets at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays in Room 204 Longmire Building to hear appeals of students who were issued traffic tickets during the preceding week. Other violators may make appeals through room 104, Westcott Building.

TALLY-HO MEETING CALLED TOMORROW

There will be a special meeting of the 1964 Tally-Ho staff tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Tally-Ho office, room 402 of the Longmire Building. This is very important and all members are asked to attend.

Scholarship Given To Eugene Lawler

Gene Lawler, former Student Body Vice-president, has been awarded a $600 per year scholarship to Yale University Law School for three years.

Lawler attended Harvard University last year where he earned his Master's degree in mathematics.

He was Student Body Vice-president during the term 1953-54 and edited the Summer Flambeau last year. He was a member of Gold Key, Omicron Delta Kappa, and Phi Beta Kappa.

IFC, Dorms To Set Intramural Slate For Year

Three members of the Interfraternity Council and three representatives from the men's dormitories will meet this afternoon at 4:4o to set up an intramural program for this year.

"Touch football which is the logical sport to start with, probably will not be played first because of the lack of space," says Marshall L. Walters, director of men's intramurals.

"However this and other problems will be worked out at a preliminary meeting for planning and setting up promotion," he continued. The program is scheduled to start the first week in October.

A complete program including touch football, tennis, track, swimming golf, bowling, gymnastics, badminton, horseshoes, basketball, soccer, wrestling, table tennis, boxing and evening bridge and chess will be played.

There are three classifications in which one may play: Fraternity, Dormitory and Religious houses and Independent groups. However a man can not play for teams in different classifications in the same sport.

There is a trophy given to the winning team in each group at the end of the year. Winner is determined by points given for the number of men participating, attendance at the contests, and winning percentage of a team.

This year the board is considering giving achievement certificates to members of winning teams and winning individuals.

Speech Group Has Tryouts

Auditions for students who wish to participate in the Theatre Program of the Department of Speech for the first production will be held tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the Augusta Conrad Theatre.

Dr. Lynn E. Orr, director, said the audition will enable the directors to know who is back on campus and meet new students.

It is from the auditions that a call for readings for the individual productions will be made. The selection of plays for the season will depend upon both the number and type of talent that show for these auditions.

Audition material will be provided. It is not necessary for students to have had previous experience in the theatre, Dr. Orr said.

Four major productions and a Children's Theatre Production are planned for the season. The plays will be announced at a later date.

JAMES MUNDY CREWS

Jim Crews Named Fraternity Advisor

James Mundy (Jim) Crews, who was president of the FSU Kappa Alpha Order chapter last year, has been named a regional advisor by the Executive Council of his national fraternity.

Crews, 22, will visit twice each year 31 of the order's 77 chapters. Officials said he will act as a general advisor. His headquarters will be in Atlanta, Ga.

Kilenyi Opens WFSU Series

Repeat Performance, the tape recorded program broadcast by radio stations in Florida, Alabama, and Georgia, will begin this week its fifth year of carrying FSU School of Music productions to the public.

Roy Flynn, director of radio and televisions, said about 26 stations will broadcast Repeat Performance, picking their own times to do so.

Locally, it will be carried by WTAL Sunday afternoons at 2:30.

The first program will feature piano and harpsichord works performed by Edward Kilenyi, professor in the school of music. Dr. Doak S. Campbell, president of the university, will speak.

Among stations which have agreed to broadcast the program are WSB, Atlanta, WIRK, West Pal Beach; WIRA, Fort Pierce; WJPC, Lake Wales; WMBR, Jacksonville; WOOP, Orlando; WPHR, Sanford; WSIB, Winter Haven; WSUN, St. Petersburg; WDBR, Lake City; WMYR, Ft. Myers and WCNR, Quincy.

Tryouts Delayed For 'Flying High' Until October 4

Tryouts for the Florida State University Circus will be held later than usual this fall, announced Coach Jack Haskin, because he doesn't want to waste time listening to alibis.

They will be held at the Circus practice field on West Call Street on October 4 and 5, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Haskin says the late start will give new students a chance to make up their minds about sororities and fraternities, recover from any initial homesickness and know their schedules.

Haskin's maximum figure for circus personnel is 200. He has 92 experienced troupers returning, about 30 on the circus band, and wants around 75 new members.

Circus is in the blood of the returning troupers, and they are already working out on the practice field, practicing acrobatics on trapeze and the Spanish Web. The troupers have wasted no time getting into the practice routine, a habit which nulls Haskin because he is anxious to whip a first class road show into shape.

"Flying High's" out of town schedule is fairly complete. There are a few minor changes on dates that may develop. The first road show will be given Oct. 27 in Enterprise, Ala., followed by another show Oct. 29 in Americus, Ga.

The next scheduled show is Delray Beach, tentatively set for Feb 17. Next comes Cocoa Beach, Feb. 18, Orlando, March 2-3, Jacksonville, March 23, and Palatka, March 24 (tentative). On March 31 the Circus moves up into Georgia for a show in Waycross or Atlanta, then in Panama City for an April 13 performance and Dothan, Ala. later in the month. The three day home show is set for the first week in May, 3, 4, and 5, in Campbell Stadium.

WELCOME
FSU
STUDENTS & FACULTY
SANITARY BARBER SHOP
219 S. Adams

Politics And Romance Found In FSU's Student Government

By MARGARET MILLER

Politics may seem to be a foreign subject to many girls, but it's not always just a lot of controversy and heated arguments.

As a case in point—or rather, three cases in point—consider the experience of three FSU couples who found politics to be just what they were looking for. The couples are Jim Moore and Barbara Hughes, Ray Wagner and Nancy Harn, and Ken Catlin and Joan Halford. All are engaged to be married.

The first couple, both Junior Class representatives in Student Senate, claim that the student politics provided the initiative for their romance. In the second case, Ray Wagner, numbered among his accomplishments at FSU the vice-presidency of the Junior Class—last year. As for Ken Catlin and Joan Halford, they each held several terms in Student Senate and Joan is the current Secretary of the Interior. Though Ken has graduated from FSU, last semester, he plans to continue in politics by studying law at the University of Florida.

But how much does student politics enter the picture? Let's let Jim Moore—perhaps better known as "Senator Jem"—answer that one.

He first met Barbara at the round-house where he was checking out equipment. Both were freshmmen running for office. A conversation about their future plans as political candidates quickly arose and their friendship began.

However, Jim decided he didn't want to spoil a good thing by going too fast. So it was several months later before he asked Barbara for their first date.

SPEED RECORD

Jim stepped up the pace after that, and see what must be some sort of speed record, because it was only an hour and fifteen minutes after he received his Alpha Chi fraternity pin that Barbara was proudly wearing it beside her own Alpha Xi Delta pin. That was last year.

The couple recently announced wedding plans for October 29, inviting all their friends to attend.

Jim, who confidently says he will someday be governor of Florida, is majoring in Political Science and plans to enter law school at UF after graduation. Barbara is majoring in Early Childhood and Elementary Education.

STILL POLITICIANS

But politics play such an important part in their lives that Jim says Barbara and he "always" talk student government on dates. Contemplating her future with a politician, Barbara foresees her life, in her own words as "mighty strange, but wonderful."

And how does a politician feel about marrying a girl such as Barbara? Jim likes it. "I think she makes a good politician," he says.

Choral Union, Women's Glee Club Look For New Members

Florida State University is one place that believes in music.

There are several music organizations on campus that are open for membership to all freshmen, transfers, and interested people.

The largest choral organization is Choral Union under the direction of Herman Gunther, Jr. Membership in the group is not limited to music majors, but is open to people either on or off campus. There are no tryouts. Anyone interested in singing is welcome.

Choral Union presents a Sacred work during the fall semester. Some past works have been Schubert's Mass in G, Randall Thompson's The Peaceable Kingdom, and Judas Maccabaeus and The Messiah by Handel. In the spring, Choral Union presents an opera Il Trovatore and Aida by Verdi and Mascagni's Cavaleria Rusticana have been performed in past years.

Another vocal organization is the Women's Glee Club, directed by Miss Betty Jane Grimm. This is the oldest Glee Club at FSU. The Women's Glee Club's Annual Christmas Vespers on Dec. 11, and a Spring Concert are their two main events. There are no tryouts and anyone interested should contact Miss Grimm or Carol Wilson, president, at the Music Building.

Music Education's National Conference, an organization whose aim is to acquaint the prospective public and private music teacher with their responsibilities, is open to both applied music and music education majors.

NEW LOCATION
109 E. CALL STREET
Across from Democrat Bldg.
Smith-Corona Electric Typewriters
Victor Automatic Calculators
SMITH-CORONA—ROYAL—OLIVETTI—UNDERWOOD
OLYMPIA PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
We lend you a machine free while we repair yours
Sales Repairs Rentals
WYATT'S BUSINESS MACHINES
2-1098 Call For and Delivery 2-1098

Welcome to Quality Dry Cleaners
FOR EXPERT
CLEANING REPAIRING
PRESSING ALTERING
CALL OR GO BY
2-5097 215 W. College

4 UNIVERSITY FOOD SERVICES

THE STUDENT CENTER
THE SEMINOLE CLUB
LONGMIRE SODA SHOP
WEST HALL SNACK BAR
SEE US FOR BANQUET PARTY SERVICE

Frosh Welcomed By Rain, Confusion, Pool Tables

By BILL KING

It was another good weather day as our Scene-Chasers were bound for mechanized fish bowl, landed in town. The sun was shining and the rain was coming one hour two of each kind were thrown into the chaotic business of collecting sundry baggage which was in back at the bus terminal and railroad depot, and transporting same, including two of each kind, to the GREAT CAMPUS.

The next hour is still very hazy in my mind. It seemed to be a conglomeration of sure frills, as though the building, our acrosstha field and go in the basement and that had no stairs, no aisle over crowded, nothing available at the present, except temporary accommodations in West Hall reception room, we'll notify you just as soon as we find a room, don't call us we'll call you, here's a map, and good luck."

Sleeps On Pool Table

The cab whizzed me (was) as I waved apathetically to my three fortunate companions, one of one kind, two of the other, who had found quarters more comfortable than a pool table or a bowling alley. My agent also lifted slightly as the cabbie (Victory Cab No. 400, fer $2.50 - pounds) our FSU's answer to the Fountainbleau's West Hall. I even had visions of mink lined pool tables.

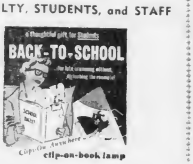
West Hall may be the second Fountainbleau, but its elegance make for much more confusion than the mink-clad set of Miami. Another hour of confusion passed as I filled out two million forms and received directions on how to reach the rec room. I started down a dark hall, turned right, then quickly left, through a hatch hall, and finally arrived in the rec room. Very appropriate name, and down a steel ladder, another rec room.

"This," I thought, "is a rec room? Where isn't the word for it, dungeon could be much better. For this, I thought, "I left the quiet solitude of my own green bench in the Sunshine City."

Have you ever seen a Picasso painting . . . all color and confusion? If I were handy with the brush I would have been famous ears ago. What a picture! ages, a good big breath, that near-zero

WELCOME!
Flambeau Cartoon By Mike Brady

ience is a dilly. It was a long room with a brain green tile out, turn white enclosing my life, or reach the oceans to keep army bunks, loo-lockers and suitcases in all colors, sizes and shapes, books, clothes, bedding, fans, radios, clocks, laundry bags and a Texan complete with guitar, boots and a loud, mustard, relish and catsup colored shirt; a very young he never should have left the comforts of the Army, a fuzzed major lingering in training a gathetic Fresh weeping bitterly, a Don Juan telling of FSU's many affection not the circus. "Rats," the other kind of peoples), and a bug-eyed guy being led away by two men in white coats.



Night of Rest

I sat down and was about to take a nap from my Old Spice after-shave when the "Reception Men" of West Hall greeted me. Amid much ado about nothing I unpacked, finally devised a method of putting a sheet on the mattress (a term I use loosely) with out acquiring a brain concussion, and made ready to spend my first night at FSU.

The mattress, which is used for an archery target in the off season, was suspended on barbed wire attached in a bag-hazard fashion to a wooden framework called a bunk. I was finally able to catch the exact rhythmic pattern of the evening monitors and jumped aboard. But once in the

STATE BAKERY
and
DELICATESSEN
★
The South's Most Unusual
ONE STOP FOOD SHOP
WE HAVE SOMETHING FROM EVERY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD
"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"

WELCOME
Students & Faculty
Sodas - Sundries - Luncheonette
Tussy Cosmetics
the SWEET SHOP

WELCOME
FACULTY, STUDENTS, and STAFF

You are invited to see us for FRATERNITY and SORORITY PLAQUES ALARM CLOCKS
PENS and PENCILS
BINOCULARS and OPERA GLASSES
TALLAHASSEE SOUVENIR PLATES
Putnam
REGISTERED JEWELERS
AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY
Jewelers
308 SOUTH MONROE STREET

though I could find no way to get though I could find no way to get out, turn white enclosing my life, or reach the oceans to keep our good old Tallahassee weather from me. After some time I was with my body, and my head was caught between two boards that held the whole monster together. I had just about induced myself into a hermitage by contemplating on a spider that swung gaily above my head when a torrent of good old Tallahassee weather cascaded upon me. Somehow I managed to close the window with my left foot while keeping the top bunk from crushing me with my right foot — and by this time my arms were paralyzed from holding on to a steam pipe.

Still More Confusion

Blackness fell upon me—I don't know if I was sleep or a coma or if I had finally given up the ghost—but it was a relief. I was resurrected by a loud crash from above me similar to the sound of an atom blast and found myself standing in a foot of water.

"The Russians have come!" I yelled. Sound the alarm, call the National Guard, and let's get out of here!"

But to my dismay, my pleadings fell upon deaf ears. My four companions, who must have dragged themselves, were either dead or asleep. I dragged my self, bedraggled in a foot of water, to the water valve I had opened with my very dearest left foot, and jumped back aboard walking Matilda. I collapsed into another stupor and dreamed of feather beds.

Old Smokey, Too

Suddenly I found myself "On Top of Old Smokey," and opened one eye to see if I was still in the land or in my right mind. What a beholden sight a Texan makes, complete with guitar and Stetson, relish and catsup colored shirt, and especially at 5 a.m. What an even more beholden sight a Texan makes with his head sticking through a guitar.

I unwrapped myself from the Full Latin position in the only comfortable way to sleep on walking Matilda, and put on my regulation Kinkis white bucks and dirty T-shirt. The next thing to do was to decipher the orders from mamma and get acquainted with the "Week of Organized Confusion."

Completely equipped with pack (canteen, Old Spice, 'O, vintage, St. Bernard, rope, pick, compass, radar, OZ, and the Acme all-purpose weather coat), I started towards Westcott. The trip was long and hazardous . . . oh, well, you could go on forever.

I'm here, I love the place, and I wouldn't trade FSU and all the people I have met for a cool million!

Church News

NEWMAN CLUB

Three FSU Newman Club members, Helen Dardis, Mary Lou Snook, and Mary Clare Lanigan, recently attended the National Newman Club Convention at the University of Colorado. Over 800 delegates attended the sessions at which business and religious meetings were held along with social events and trips to the nearby Rocky Mountain National Park.

Next Sunday, the Newman Club will have a Pour-Point program. This includes a supper, a social, and a spiritual and business meeting. A football movie narrated by Coach Tom Nugent is on the agenda for October 2. Daily mass at the Newman Chapel is at 7 a.m. Sunday mass is at 10:30.

WESTMINSTER FELLOWSHIP

Activities now under way for Presbyterian students at the Westminister House include Devotions Tuesday night at 9:30, and a supper at 5:15 Thursday. After supper a theology Club meeting and choir practice a, 6:45 will be held.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

Vespers and every Tuesday night. Vespers will be held at the Baptist Student Union at 6:30. The first meeting of the year will be September 21, when the Church will be host. Every Friday at 7:30 a.m. Topics will be "Will your faith grow" and "Will you be a witness?"

Meditations Wednesday night will be led by Jimmy Sides at 7:15 p.m. Coffee will be served at Open House on Friday evenings from 10 to 11 p.m.

Letters To Editor

(Continued From Page 2)

al equipment necessary changes must be made in these regulations and that the Student Government should continue with this project until a reasonable set of social standards are adopted.

Members of the Council worked on a solution for the traffic problem. This committee headed by Joan Halford, consisted of faculty administration and student members. The summer council was represented by Sam Alderman and Trudie Perry. The results of their work will be seen this year. The committee is to be congratulated for their fine work.

All in all I consider the Summer Government successful in that it has made some contributions to the welfare of the students at FSU. I wish to thank each member of the Council Sam Alderman, Pat Hilton, Beth Sager, Trudie Perry, Bleecy Dreftus, Rodney Wilson, Kate Ramsey, Virgil Austin, and secretaries Carolyn Redfern for their tireless efforts in making the Summer Council a success.

Ken Gatlin, Chairman of the Summer Council

SCIENCE SCHOLARSHIPS

Four Science Exploration scholarships in chemistry will be offered to talented high school students this year.

Offered by a group of Tallahasseeans, each scholarship provides $10 a month of the student's work afternoons or Saturdays in the Florida State University chemistry department.

Welcome to FSU
JENKINS MUSIC STORE
123 S. Monroe
STATE

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES
FLORIDA
Last Times Today
"A Prize of Gold"
with
Richard Widmark
Tomorrow thru Saturday
"How To Be Very, Very Popular"
Betty Grable, Sheree North
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
Today and Tomorrow
"Broken Lance"
Thursday thru Saturday
"Canyon Crossroads"
and
"Bud Abbott and Lou Costello Meet the Mummy"
STATE
Today thru Saturday
"You're Never Too Young"
with
Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis
CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Today and Tomorrow
"The Caine Mutiny"
Today thru Saturday
"Revenge of the Creature"
and
"Bullets for Rustlers"

Dr. S. Fox Replaces Meyer As Director Of Marine Institute

Dr. Sidney Fox has been appointed as director of the Oceanographic Institute at Florida State University.

He succeeds Dr. Sam Meyer who is returning as dean to Central College in Missouri.

Dr. Fox will also be a professor of marine sciences here. He comes from Iowa State College where he has been a professor of chemistry. He did undergraduate work at the University of California and received his doctorate at the California Institute of Technology.

Dr. SIDNEY FOX

Wanderings To Fill

(Continued From Page 2)

bers in the fall. Scores are available at the Book Store while the lone libretto is on call in the Music Library. . . The brush has started. All available space and campus dances seems to be outside. . . . Anyone notice any pantastic resemblances between the stylings of Mr. Robert Goldbach and a fellow named Brubeck at the President's Party Tuesday night? Terrific job on the 88, Mr. G. . . . Really a tremendous band. Too bad the Suwanee Room wasn't as cool as the music. They should sell scorecards. You can't tell the Freshmen from the upperclassmen without one. . . . Last year, when a consensus was asked for and taken, the band in demand for the fall dance was Ralph Marterie, with Les Brown running a distant second. Now that the powers that be have gone to seek to obtain either of these, the call is almost unanimous for Ray Anthony and the Marterie-Brown combination is barely raising an honorable mention . . . I have heard that there may not be a big dance and or name band at Homecoming. . . . Instead, there may be several small dances at West Hall. The Summer there was a rib small local combos offering the music. . . . But attention for those who like to scuffle to name band stylings, book smooth and hot. . . . See ya next week.

Withycombe Heads ROTC

Recently arrived at FSU is Col. Rowa d J. Withycombe, who will be Professor of Air Science and Commander of the Air Force ROTC unit.

Col. Withycombe succeeds Lt Col. Paul W. Campbell, who has served at Florida State since 1951. Lt. Col. Campbell will serve with the Northeast Air Command at Pepperrell AFB, Newfoundland.

Col. Withycombe served last as commander of the 68th Troop Carrier Group in Germany. He is married and has two sons.

He is a graduate of San Jose State College, where he majored in economics and business administration.

Col. Withycombe joined the Air Force in 1941, and became a pilot with a 2nd Lieutenant's rank upon graduation from flying school. He was graduated in 1948 from the Air Command and Staff School at Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

Goons Unmasked—It was all just a gag, as these smiling Freshmen from Miami seem to be saying. Left to r. are, first row, Avis Howe, Carol Merriman, Sue Throckmorton; back row, Mary Alice Dotson, Lorna Elder and Barbara Bild. For what they look like while "performing", see page 1.

Registration . . .

Was It A Methodical Maze?

By CAROLINE WATT

"Hey, where do you sign up for Accounting!"

"What does BLY mean?"

"Got more cards than a canasta deck!"

These and similar remarks were muffled in the general din caused by registration last week as a multimillion number of freshmen, transfer, upperclassmen, and graduate students registered for this semester.

This registration procedure, many thought far surpassed any of previous semesters. It was better organized and involved less than an unorganized scramble for classes. General opinion was favorable for this system.

Students also seemed happier with the lengthening of registration from two days to a week.

OPINIONS? LISTEN:

Many and varied opinions were voiced by the students leaving the registration area. Typical comments were:

"Thank heavens we only have to do it once a semester!"—Pat Simpson, freshman.

"Registration was better this time than I've ever seen I went through in 25 minutes."—Clifford Mayfield, senior.

"It only took me thirteen minutes and I was most satisfied."—Don Kyser, senior.

"The guides were a necessity for the new students; more guides were needed. It only took me 25 minutes to register and it was a lot better than previous semesters."—Buddy Jordan, junior, guide.

"I feel as though I'd been put through a cement mixer"—unidentified freshman.

"I had no trouble at all. It took me an hour to register."—Mary Frances Horn, junior.

"It was different and confusing. I was going in circles. It took me an hour and a half but I did get the schedule I wanted."—Kate Armoury, freshman.

EDITOR'S NOTE. Two years ago you would have thought you were browsing through. Four hours was a common ordeal those days!

Meet Me at the Mecca

Freshmen
Make New And See Old Friends
WELCOME BACK
STUDENTS & FACULTY
"For Better Food at Lower Prices"
111 SOUTH COPELAND

Smoke Tomorrow's better cigarette* Today-
Enjoy a Cool Mildness never possible before!

Chesterfield
BEST FOR YOU!

Get Georgia
Football Tickets
See P. 3

XLII No. 2

The Florida Flambeau

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Florida's Only
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

Friday, September 23, 1955

Senate Confirms Five Nominees

Senators Change Name Officially

As of Wednesday's student Senate session, Junior Class Senator Jim More isn't on the rolls. Instead, it's "Senator Jem."

Moore, whose marriage to Barbara Hughes, also a Junior Class senator, on October 28 would have placed two Senator Moores on the rolls, asked the Senate Wednesday to permit his change of name.

"Senator Jem," who has announced he will be governor of Florida in 1972, said having two Moores would cause confusion.

U of F Colors To Be Dropped From Car Tags

A 1955 Student Senate resolution asking for garnet and gold state license tags won't be used by the University of Florida's colors won't adorn automobiles any more either, Student Senators were told Wednesday.

Vice-president Jimmy Joanos, presiding over the Senate's first session this year, announced the decision of Motor Vehicle Commissioner Ina Thompson.

The commissioner, Joanos said, fears placing FSU's garnet and gold on the roads every other year would evoke similar requests from other colleges in the state, including Florida A & M University, the other state-supported institution. She assured Joanos, however, that the University of Florida's orange and blue colors have been the auto tag colors since 1930, will be replaced in 1956 by blue and white —nobody's colors.

Student Senate waived 11t rules Wednesday to confirm the appointments of five elections committee members.

Serving under Secretary of Elections Betty Willmon, whose appointment was confirmed last year, will be Mimi McCullough, J. P. Jones, John Smith, Gene Williams and Shirley Dowling.

Senate agreed to accept Student Body President Coyle Normal confirmation under the emitta a week or more of consideration by a Senate committee.

Committee Members

Vice-president Jimmy Joanos said assignments to the Senate's five standing committees will be made before next Wednesday's meeting Senators were asked to submit their preferences.

The committees are Judicial and Rules, which considers proposed Senate constitutional rules as well as legislation affecting the court set-up, elections and appointments, which is supposed to consider all appointments of the Student Body President which he weighs proposed election legislation; organizations and finance whose big job is annual consideration of the student budget; labor, student center and other labor matters under whose jurisdiction come parking, student wage scales, and maintenance matters, and the recreational and social committee which considers topics such as intra-mural athletics and football junkets to other schools.

Graduate Class To Elect Officers

The Graduate Class of Florida State University will elect new officers tonight in Landis Hall recreation room.

Dr. Milton W. Carothers, dean of the Graduate School, will open the informal meeting at 7:30 with a brief welcoming address.

The slate of officers, formulated by a committee headed by Mrs. Val Taxwood, retiring president, includes Adriana Fischer, president; Marvin Rosenblatt, vice-president; and Mary Ann Hall, secretary.

Other nominees are Fred Vogel, treasurer; Edward J. Sylvia, Gearhart, publicity; and Marie Hinman, social chairman.

Additional nominees from the floor are in order, Mrs. Taxwood said, particularly in the case of nominations of the nominating committee are no longer on campus.

The committee which formulated the slate of officers this summer was composed of Fred Vogel, chairman; Mrs. Kathryn Vernon, administrative assistant in the School of Education; Sam Baptista, foreign student advisor; Jim Massey and Miss Bice.

Moore To Spur Legislature On Representation

Student Body President Coyle Moore said yesterday he will tell Student Senate "it's fooled around long enough" on the campus' own inapportionment problem when he addresses the Legislature Wednesday.

The occasion will be the president's annual opening speech to Senate, sometimes dubbed "State of the Campus Address."

Not Implemented

Moore disclosed he will urge the Senate to excite the reapportionment issue, which divided the group last year and resulted in a Constitutional Amendment giving Senate the power to alter the Senatorial set-up at will. Previously, such changes were voted on as constitutional amendments.

Debate centered upon what groups—fraternities, classes, day students, dormitories—should be given representatives in student government, and upon what the proportion should be. Few Senators seemed themselves to be in favor of the status quo—representation by class senators alone.

NSA-SUSGA

Moore said also he will discuss the controversial National Student Association issue. Moore, who attended the Student Body Presidents' Conference supported in Minneapolis this summer by the NSA, told Senate he will praise NSA but recommended against membership this year.

"It has good objectives," he told the Florida Flambeau, "but I don't think it is practical enough to outlook. I don't think it can do FSU any harm to join although the national dues and effort be great enough to permit joining at this time."

In his address Moore will also review, he said, objectives for the year and discuss why the student government has not been able to get done things it wants to get done."

Law School Test Applications Ready

Applicants for the Law School Admission Test, to be administered December 10, must first secure their applications from the Test Service Bureau and submit them to Florida Law School.

Pre-Law Adviser, Professor Ben Krentel, stated that as a reminder to all interested students that most schools, among them the University of Florida Law School, require this test of all entering students.

The test will not be readministered until February, no interested law student's advisor should call or stop by 203 Westcott and see Mrs. Hopper as soon as possible. Telephone is 5281, Placement Office.

Play Tryouts Begin Monday

By CHARLET POTTEVINT

Dancers, singers, and actors! Tryouts will soon be held for Dear Light Opera Guild's fall production, Siamund Romberg's "The Student Prince."

Chorus tryouts will be held in the Choral Room (223 Music Building), 7:30 p.m. Monday. The chorus will consist of 30 men and 20 girls. Dancers will meet at 7:30 in Opperman Music Hall Tuesday and Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

At a later date, small bit parts will be assigned for the singing and dancing in the chorus.

Cast for the production will include the doorkeeper and proprietor of the tavern, Admiral DeJean, the butler, seamstress, flower girl and footlicks.

Dancers' Parts

Dancers' parts, also to be auditioned later, are a Spaniard and girl dancing to "Deep in Love," and a boy and girl who Tango.

No preparation is necessary for the chorus although scores may be seen in the Music Library. For a part, a prepared one libretto is available in the music library. Copies of the musical scores may be checked out for short periods.

PRINCIPAL ROLES

The principal speaking roles are Vicomte Rikaud, a Parisian Prince; Princess Marie, his daughter; Lutz, the tavern keeper; Other singing and an exhibition involving a study of man's bederkly traits and how they have been affected and altered through the years.

Hours

The Museum is open Tuesday through Friday between the hours of twelve to five; on Saturday between nine and twelve, and Sunday, one to four. Admission is free.

Most of the displays, which are designed by Dr. Hale Smith, director, and Russel West, curator, are changed regularly. In addition to several exhibits traveling on loan from larger museums are Fr: Philippe, Roberts friend, (First Tenor to High C).

Publication Date Not Set Says Smoke Signals Editor-In-Chief

"Due to technical difficulties Smoke Signals does not have a publication date set for its first issue," editor Don Heidel revealed this week.

Students will receive their copies through the university Post Office's mailing system and authorities getting theirs in their houses, Heidel said.

Day students will receive their copies through the mail after paying twenty cents for postage service. Otherwise they will pick up copies at Smoke Signals office in 410 Lonnie's with their ID card for identification.

Persons requesting extra copies of Editor Heidel's petition blanks at the Smoke Signals office, Heidel continued. Five issues will be mailed.

Editor Heidel says there are a number of staff positions open to anyone who is interested. Smoke Signals needs an advertising manager who is in charge of selling ads and ad copy, and "an art editor who will be in charge of layout, cover design, ad illustrations, and cartoons."

Other jobs open are literary editor, illustrator, ad salesmen, humor writers and joke contributors.

Staff positions are Marcello Truzzi, Managing Editor; Tom Wilson, Business Manager; Con Horn, Humor Editor; Maggie Marsh, Office Manager; Bill Jones, Distribution Manager and Gordon Sanders, Public Relations Photographers are Laird Anderson, Larry Keck and Bob Simmons.

Scholarships Available For British Study

Students at FSU are eligible to receive scholarships set up by the British government to honor George C. Marshall, former Secretary of State of the United States. Twelve of these are available during the year, three from the South.

The scholarships are available to students of either sex and they must be students at the University of Florida who are 21 years of age on October first in the year of award and graduates of a degree granting college or university of the United States.

The scholarships are tenable at any university in the United Kingdom for two years but may be extended for a three year period.

Applications for 1956 must be in the hands of the regional committee by October 15, 1955. Write to the British Consulate General for the Southern region at 400 International Trade Mart, New Orleans 12, La. (Telephone CAnal 5152.

The value of a Marshall scholarship is 550 pounds sterling a year. A married man's allowance is increased by 200 pounds sterling a year. Married scholars may receive their transportation to and from their university in the United Kingdom.

Other Activities

The extent of the seminar is "A Symposium on Computers and University Research." Speakers will be Dr. Robert Tompson of the Mathematics Department; Dr. Nicholas Heerema of the Mathematics Department and Dr. Charles Grisp of the Sociology Department.

Refreshments will be served.

Departments Join In Seminar Today

A joint mathematics, meteorology and physics seminar meets today at 4:30 in Room 124 of the Science Building.

The subject of the seminar is "A Symposium on Computers and University Research." Speakers will be Dr. Robert Tompson of the Mathematics Department; Dr. Nicholas Heerema of the Mathematics Department and Dr. Charles Grisp of the Sociology Department.

Refreshments will be served.

Blood Situation Declared Now At Emergency

The need for blood donations for the FSU student and faculty accounts has reached a state of emergency, declared Miss Mary Alice Rees of the Tallahassee Blood Bank yesterday.

The faculty account, especially has reached an all-time low with only 17 pints remaining. Thirteen pints of Coprodinia are needed next week," said Miss Rees, "and haven't a single pint of O-negative in case anyone should need it."

Needs Blood

In immediate need of blood from the university are Mr. J. W. Price an employee of the University Book Store who is in critical condition at Orange Laild, of Sigma Kappa fraternity, needs blood badly, is was reported.

The need for blood is great," agreed Dr. R. O. Holloway of the University Hospital. "Every next month we should start a campaign to maintain. I'll be happy to work with the students and the Blood Fund on some kind of plan to insure consistant donations," he said.

Monthly Drive

Dr Hallaway suggested that the drive be put on a monthly basis, with each residence hall or Greek organization responsible for each month. The program would be carried out through April, followed by an announcement in May of the which donated the largest amount. "When we have one big drive," as we did last year," he said, "the students are inclined to forget about donating as soon as it is over."

Meanwhile, until a program is established students can make by first going to the University Hospital for a blood test, and then to the Blood Bank, located at 309 Gaines Street. Students under 21 who are not in ROTC are required to have written permission from their parents. Also some of the students would give to the faculty account, it certainly would be a help," said Miss Rees.

Meeting Slated For Upperclass Girl Students

Britains upperclass women students together into a "sense of oneness" will be the object of a convocation Thursday night in Westcott Auditorium beginning 7:30, according to Women's Vice-president, Ali Gibbs.

Miss Jones said Women's Senate is sponsoring the convocation, durina which women will be acquainted with the role of female students in student government, from the dormitory level on up.

Urging all upperclass women to come she said the convocation will be informal.

The vice-president said similar convocations were held for upperclass women students every year before old Westcott Auditorium was torn down. "As that a large hall again exists the tradition may be resumed, she said.

Moll Appointed To Honor Court

Evelyn Moll has been chosen by Student Body President Coyle Moore to fill the vacant senate seat in Honor Court. It was disclosed yesterday.

Others appointed to positions were Harold Stewart, undersecretary of finance for funds; and Betty Willmon, FSU secretary and Herbert Lacayo, assistants to the attorney general.

Vice-president Jimmy Joanos said it is likely the Senate will vote on confirmation Wednesday Normally an appointment must be studied by committees for a week after being by the full Senate Joanos said announcement in order that government would replace the committee consideration, however.

It will take a two-thirds vote to install Miss Moll in the vacant Honor Court seat, of Student Senate, who did not return to school President Moore said Miss Moll "has been active in Student Government for the past two years, serving as a member of the Judicial committee her freshman year and as undersecretary of finance for funds her sophomore year."

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

The first meeting of the International Students Club will be held Thursday, at 7:30 p.m in the Lonanice Building. Lounge

All foreign students and American students interested in international relations are invited

Here's To You—Attending are of the many fraternity rush parties this week were L to r., Steve Eits, Jim Cavay, Ann George and Rube Waddell. Co-eds attended as guests.

Flamenco Photos by Tom Sawyer

Care To Join?—Is what these students seem to be saying to Joan Cunningham, on piano. Standing, l. to r., are Dale Koch, Bill Barkhardt and Dick Wilson.

Film Club Starts Fall Program At New Dem School Oct. 1

Stephant Bey," a British film and also a Rudyard Kipling's "Toomai of the Elephants," will open this year's Florida State University film club schedule October 1.

This year's films will be shown on Saturdays in the air-conditioned auditorium of the new Demonstration School. Showings will be at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m., with ticket sales limited to 300 for each. Only season tickets may be sold for the series, which is sponsored by the General Extension Division of Florida in connection with the Florida Film Forum Council.

George A. Lensen, local dramatic critic, stated the club's program to be "full of promising, sometimes racy, and generally highly entertaining films."

He also pointed out that all films will be shown in the Demonstration School Auditorium for the convenience of all from one auditorium to another encountered last year, well settled."

The purpose of the FSU Film Club is to stimulate a cultural appreciation of the best foreign and American films of the past, as well as to present recent productions not readily accessible to the general public. Appreciation programs to be offered this season are such stars as Anna Maria Alberghetti, Alec Guinness, and C. Fields, and such well-known films as "The Cruel Sea" "The Medium".

Those who wish to purchase season tickets, which are $2.50 each should mail their check or money order, payable to FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY FILM CLUB to FSU Film Club Box 68 Florida State University, together with the following information: Name and university address number of tickets requested for which showing is preferred—2 or 3:30 p.m.

Program for the 1955-56 season is as follows: October 15th, "Outcast Boy"; British. 1950. October 29th, "The Medium", British 1950; November 12th, "The Spy", French, 1953; November 19th, "Murderers Among Us", German, 1946. December 3rd, "Ready For the Parson", British, 1947. January 14th, "Panique" French 1946; January 28th, "A Date for your Money", British, February 8th, "The Impostor" Japanese-American Premiere, 1955. February 22nd, "Every Body Sing", French, 1932; March 8th "The Cruel Sea", British 1952; March 22nd, "The Emperor Waltz".

Kilenyi Gives Piano Recital

Edward Kilenyi of the piano faculty will be the artist at the first faculty recital presented by the School of Music.

Friday, September 30, is the date of the first of a series of recitals to be presented in Opperman Music Hall for the enjoyment of the Florida State students.

School at the next faculty recital Friday, October 21 will be Miss Betty Jane Grimm On Friday, November 4, an all Beethoven piano program will be given by Francisek Zachara, the duo-pianist. Dominant on Kilenyi will present a recital in Westcott Auditorium on Friday, December 2.

Climaxing the recitals for the semester will be Bertile Bice, instructor, who will present a program January 13.

OUTSIDE EARNING OK ANNOUNCES VA

The Veterans Administration has announced that money received outside of class by veterans in college under the Korean GI Bill has no bearing on the amount of GI allowance paid them by the Government.

Some veterans still confuse the Korean GI Bill with the original World War II GI Bill which did have an income "ceiling" that applied to veterans taking all types of training—college, on the job, and on-the-farm.

J. C.'s Elected Dorm Officers

Junior Counselors in the freshman dormitories recently elected officers to serve for the coming year.

Broward Hall elected Edna Mary Runnels as social chairman, Evelyn Nelles, hreakfa l chairman; Faye Moser, intramural chairman; Sylvia Brice White, fire marshal; Shirley Nichols, Lavene Craig and Irene Bishop, assistants.

Sorority Hall elected Marion Ard as social chairman, Toni Moore, intramurals chairman; Carolyn Nelles, breakfast; Earlene Ford, Jean Cooper, Susan Vredenburgh, Jane Boser, and Carole Armstrong are floor chairmen.

Chosen for Reynolds were Pat Hilton, social chairman, assisted by Betty Lou Gaskins; Betty Spence, breakfast chairman, assisted by Nancy Thomas; Marian Benson, intramural chairman, assisted by Alice Gunnard, Carolyn Oliver, fire marshal, assisted by Judith Coulter, Evelyn Moll and Virginia Ann Hall, first floor chairmen Nancy Cubbon, unit floor chairmen, June McCaskill and Sandra Pearce, assistant floor chairmen; and Shirley Derring and Kathleen Pearce.

Fredericks elected last spring are Virginia Nesmith, Brian; Barbara Jeffries, Broward; Sylvia Britt, Jennie Murphree, Ann Perry, Penn Cawthon for Reynolds.

Moore's choices otter is was told Life Five have previously served on the Elections Committee.

What's It Like?

Frosh Advised On Joining FSU's Circus, Flying High

By MARGARET MILLER

"What is it like to be in circus?"

Hundreds of beginning students at Florida State University are at least by now this side and experimentally contemplate it. To get an almost complete picture of circus life, I went to the FSU circus lot any weekday afternoon.

While old performers continuedly swing and tumble on the high trapeze or revolve dimly on slates and barrels below, the frustrated freshmen become hopelessly entangled in contrary ropes and webs. There is a lot with color, motion, and the noise of exhuberant shouts and laughter.

Circus Parties Is

As Pave Moses, junior and veteran circus performer explains it, "Sooner or later, you'll meet almost everyone on campus and in Tallahassee. I've been with four years of circus success to be credit, and I've found the greatest pleasures of circus work is the number of friends she has made for me."

Coach Haskins reports that applications to join the FSU circus are filled, but he expects to make selections from a plentiful crop of remaining freshmen. Many students tried out last year, and more are expected to try out this semester, Coach said.

Tryouts Simple

"Tryouts are simple," says Burt Herndon, "but give an idea of the student's coordination, poise, showmanship, and their ability to quickly grasp the idea involved in performing a stunt."

Another factor considered Sun which the coaches particularly notice is the student's desire to. One who is eager to learn and shows a willingness to work often wins a position, although he may not "catch on" as quickly as another.

New Friends

Mary Fenn Cawthon, three time veteran circus performer encourages members like to see new students join the circus. "Here," she says, "a student can make many new friends in wholesome surroundings. Everyone in the fresh air and sunshine," she continued, "tends to relax your mind from the mental grind of studies and classes."

When asked if circus consumed too much of a student's time, Burt Herndon replied that "it takes only as much time as a student is willing to give it. I have found that being interested in an extracurricular activity necessarily teaches me to budget my time so that I can accomplish more."

Many Students

Many students, she said, engage in a number of other activities of great succesful students and circus members. Many hold part time jobs and are members of the band. "Circus life takes a lot of time. "Almost all the majorities are in circus," she said.

This year there will be six weekend trips before the big show —Enterprise, Alabama and Americus, Georgia on Oct. 27-29; Bay Branch and Cocoa, Feb. 17-18 Orlando, Mar 23; Jacksonville and Palatka, Mar. 25-26; Albany and Waycross, Georgia, Mar. 30-31, and Panama City and Dothan, Alabama, April 13-14.

'Do-cano' Needed

Jim DeCoono, who coaches the high-flying act, has a vacancy on his "Flying DeCoonos" team for experienced performers. He is on duty again as catcher and the other two places now filled are Jones, Distribution Manager and Gordon Sanders, Public Relations Photographers are Laird Anderson, Larry Keck and Bob Simmons.

Big Cop

Coach DeCoono says it may take a couple of years for the high wire act to reach the level of performance of last year's team, Losing Sandy Sanderson and Ann Cullahan leaves a big gap in the team, he said. These two performers were married during the summer, and that year Sandy is entering dental school at Emory University.

Students interested in "around work" may fill positions as costume designers, artists, choreographers, trainers and ring leaders. Riggers are considered important to the circus as they are responsible for setting up, transporting, and packing circus equipment and rigging.

No Pay

"A circus member receives no pay, although some extra-curricular activities offer that," commented Ben Herndon, "and there are no grants or scholarships for circus members." But none of the circus members seemed to mind.

All of them spoke of the sense of well-being gained from physical development, the fun and friends that circus meant to them, and then Pave Moses summed it up for all of them "Circus is something special. It's a family. We all laughed at her enthusiasm, but no one argued the point.

Sandy Sanderson Is Engaged

Miss Sandy Sanderson, Alpha Delta Pi, has announced her engagement to Jim Cavay, Sigma Nu.

Miss Sanderson is a member of the Flying DeCoonos circus team.

Cavay is a member of the Flying DeCoonos circus team.

Museum, Art Gallery Open

Gallery Features Honor Art Work

By ARLEIDA RIES

The University Museum and Art Gallery, features a student exhibition of honor art work, is now open for inspection.

All the entrance to the Museum and Art Gallery is a slide projector which automatically displays thirty clips depicting the various artistic talents of the students. There are to be shown in the Forum Gallery of New York between September 26 and October 30

Among the permanent wall exhibits are two displays of the semiisolo Indians and the Appalachian Indians, both of whom have lived in Florida at one time or another.

Exhibits

A recent expansion to Panama resulted in the Museum receiving various pieces of pottery, idols, shown, and other samples depicting the typical workmanship of the different Central American Indians.

Another portion of the Museum is given over to exotica. This is an exhibition involving a study of man's bederkly traits and how they have been affected and altered through the years.

Hours

The Museum is open Tuesday through Friday between the hours of twelve to five; on Saturday between nine and twelve, and Sunday, one to four. Admission is free.

Most of the displays, which are designed by Dr. Hale Smith, director, and Russel West, curator, are changed regularly. In addition to several exhibits traveling on loan from larger museums are

Blood Situation Declared Now At Emergency

The need for blood donations for the FSU student and faculty accounts has reached a state of emergency, declared Miss Mary Alice Rees of the Tallahassee Blood Bank yesterday.

The faculty account, especially has reached an all-time low with only 17 pints remaining. Thirteen pints of Coprodinia are needed next week," said Miss Rees, "and haven't a single pint of O-negative in case anyone should need it."

Needs Blood

In immediate need of blood from the university are Mr. J. W. Price an employee of the University Book Store who is in critical condition at Orange Laild, of Sigma Kappa fraternity, needs blood badly, is was reported.

The need for blood is great," agreed Dr. R. O. Holloway of the University Hospital. "Every next month we should start a campaign to maintain. I'll be happy to work with the students and the Blood Fund on some kind of plan to insure consistant donations," he said.

Monthly Drive

Dr Hallaway suggested that the drive be put on a monthly basis, with each residence hall or Greek organization responsible for each month. The program would be carried out through April, followed by an announcement in May of the which donated the largest amount. "When we have one big drive," as we did last year," he said, "the students are inclined to forget about donating as soon as it is over."

Meanwhile, until a program is established students can make by first going to the University Hospital for a blood test, and then to the Blood Bank, located at 309 Gaines Street. Students under 21 who are not in ROTC are required to have written permission from their parents. Also some of the students would give to the faculty account, it certainly would be a help," said Miss Rees.

Scholarships Available For British Study

Students at FSU are eligible to receive scholarships set up by the British government to honor George C. Marshall, former Secretary of State of the United States. Twelve of these are available during the year, three from the South.

The scholarships are available to students of either sex and they must be students at the University of Florida who are 21 years of age on October first in the year of award and graduates of a degree granting college or university of the United States.

The scholarships are tenable at any university in the United Kingdom for two years but may be extended for a three year period.

Applications for 1956 must be in the hands of the regional committee by October 15, 1955. Write to the British Consulate General for the Southern region at 400 International Trade Mart, New Orleans 12, La. (Telephone CAnal 5152.

The value of a Marshall scholarship is 550 pounds sterling a year. A married man's allowance is increased by 200 pounds sterling a year. Married scholars may receive their transportation to and from their university in the United Kingdom.

Other Activities

The extent of the seminar is "A Symposium on Computers and University Research." Speakers will be Dr. Robert Tompson of the Mathematics Department; Dr. Nicholas Heerema of the Mathematics Department and Dr. Charles Grisp of the Sociology Department.

Refreshments will be served.

Departments Join In Seminar Today

A joint mathematics, meteorology and physics seminar meets today at 4:30 in Room 124 of the Science Building.

The subject of the seminar is "A Symposium on Computers and University Research." Speakers will be Dr. Robert Tompson of the Mathematics Department; Dr. Nicholas Heerema of the Mathematics Department and Dr. Charles Grisp of the Sociology Department.

Refreshments will be served.

'DAMES' HOLD TEA

The Florida State University Dames Club, wives of married students, is having a tea Sunday afternoon at 4:00 to 5:00 at the home of President Campbell. All married students are invited and encouraged to attend.

Traffic Problem

Freshmen may be denied the use of cars next year as one solution to the university's growing traffic problems. Administration officials privately confirm investigation of this idea.

If anyone's going to have to walk, it appears logical that restrictions should begin with the freshmen, but blanket denial would work undue hardship.

A car is not only a necessity for travel between home town and campus, but a source of income for many students who work part time. Too, those who own cars will not relish the many "brisk walks" during Tallahassee's winter months.

A possible solution would be the establishment of one big parking lot for cars belonging to freshmen, allowing them to bring their vehicles to Tallahassee with the understanding they shall not be used on campus between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

This appears to be as fair and as extensive a restriction plan that could be enacted.

Art Theatre Reopens

The Ritz Art Theatre will reopen its doors on Thursday of next week. We were glad to learn that rumors to the contrary were unfounded.

The Art Theatre, begun more than a year ago on the suggestion of University people, serves to fill a cultural need in Tallahassee in the way of entertainment.

If well supported by the students and faculty of the University this year, Mr. Thomas Hyde, manager, promises it will continue to operate and bring films to Tallahassee at the request and suggestions of groups on the campus.

While we are a little tired of seeing Gina Lollabrigida, we welcome her appearance in the film to be offered, "Four Ways Out." The chance to compare Italian stars with American, as well as style and direction techniques is an educational opportunity. However, we favor and applaud the selection of "Aida", the opera, starring Sofia Loren and Lois Maxwell, to be offered a week from next Thursday.

Our support of the theatre, which has remained closed for the summer for lack of air-conditioning, will determine to some extent the choice and quality of the films to be shown, so let's get behind it. It is a service being extended to University people by the Tallahassee theatres, one which has brought them no great profits in the past.

More Buses Needed

The transportation and time elements involved in getting from the History or Science buildings to the Geology building for classes in the ten minutes allotted students at becoming even more of a problem than it was last year.

A bus leaves Bryan Hall supposedly at 5 minutes of the hour, destination West Hall, and another at 10 minutes of the hour, going to West Campus. With the increased enrollment, and larger number of classes held in the Geology building are proving to be too much for these two buses to handle.

One bus loaded 69 students in its interior on Wednesday of this week, taking 5 extra minutes to do so, and was unable to proceed at a pace faster than one could walk, to the Student Center. Aside from the safety factors involved in packing students so tightly as to have trouble closing the doors of the bus, students were a total of 15 minutes late to class in the Geology building.

Perhaps the congestion is due to the first week's enthusiasm for class attendance, but if it does not slack in the immediate future, more buses are going to be needed or more time allotted between classes.

If the overloading and travel time continue to make students overlate to class, it is suggested they register complaints with the Transportation Department or the office of Business Manager, Mr. Rod Shaw. Officials have been more than cooperative in the past in correcting these situations.

Junior Colleges, Yes

The Tampa Morning Tribune printed an editorial yesterday, advocating and supporting the establishment of a fourth state university in that City. City representatives are before the Board of Control meeting today, to request that Tampa be considered in the race which will soon ensue for location of additional state-operated junior colleges and universities.

The editorial, while suggesting many excellent reasons for Tampa being the site of a fourth university, neglected to point out that a fourth state-operated university would create more problems of course duplication than already exist as a major point of conflict among the three universities regarding appropriations.

The addition of several junior colleges, perhaps one in Tampa, would be of great value in dispersing students of better than average standing in the general college curriculum before the university stage where they may specialize. Other students wishing only the two years of general knowledge or vocational training, according in their choice, would be able to achieve this knowledge at less cost, in smaller classes, and under higher standards than are presently becoming the norm in the state universities.

While we can see the definite need for a fourth state university in the not too distant future, we can see more, the need for immediate action in the line of Junior colleges. Perhaps a junior college in Tampa could later be expanded to university size, but present conditions and funds would be better spent in alleviating the currently overcrowded institutions rather than duplicating existing problems.

Hope For Argentina

In separating church from state, Peron was anything but neutral. He arrested churchmen. He banned public meetings, thereby ensuring the already angered crowds to higher peaks of indignation. When churches were burned he called it the work of "communists," although the debacle was so similar to Hitler's burning of the Reichstag, also conveniently blamed on "communists," it wasn't even a halfway passable lie.

The people had been loyal, or at least submissive, to Peron and all of his crimes, until that most basic to them, their religion, was touched. It is peculiar that few can recognize a danger until it is about to swallow them up.

The June 16 revolt was hastily planned and abortive. The last and successful one was planned and well executed.

Let us hope that the government which succeeds Peron's puppet show is truly liberal and democratic.

Let it serve as example in such countries as the Dominican Republic and Franco Spain, whose rulers, President Trujillo and Dictator Franco, are no better than Juan Peron.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Owen Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller
Senior Reporters ..... Jen Bradfield, Marty Reeves
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Mary Lia King—Business Mgr.
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... Joan Halford
Telephone 2-8000, extension 6821
311, 313 Longmire Building

Member Associated Collegiate Press

Strong-Man

At The Movies

Benedict Arnold, The Sahara, And Surgery Are Film Topics

By WANDA SUE OWEN

Those campus jokers are still on the screens of the Florida and State theaters for the weekend. How to Be Very Very Popular at the Florida and You're Never Too Young at the State.

On Sunday, MGM's story of one of the American Revolution's most infamous treacheries, The Scarlet Coat, is brought to the Florida screen in Cinemascope.

The tale of Benedict Arnold's treason and the part played in it by the gallant British officer, Major John Andre was uncovered recently when Andre's journals and correspondence were rediscovered.

Cornel Wilde (as the American Secret Service leader), Michael Wilding, as Andre, George Sanders and Anne Francis head the cast, with Robert Douglas enacting Benedict Arnold. Other important roles are played by John McIntyre and Bobby Driscoll.

Scenes for The Scarlet Coat were filmed on locations along the Hudson River, near Tarrytown, utilizing pre-Revolutionary buildings and actual locales, such as the exact spot where Andre was captured, tried as a spy, and executed.

Walk a couple of blocks and you've traveled from the American Revolution to the sands of the Sahara to see Desert Sands at the State starring Ralph Meeker, Maria English, J. Carrol Naish, and that fellow who changed his name from the sophisticated, Robert Van Orden, to plain John Smith!

Tuesday and Wednesday there will be a double feature program at the State: Bad for Each Other starring Charlton Heston, Lizabeth Scott, and Dean Fosters and The Mad Magician featuring Vincent Price in the title role.

In Mad Magician, Price plays the world's master of illusion and disguise who uses his talents for evil purposes. Mary Murphy, recently seen as the romantic support to Marlon Brando in Too Wild One, plays Price's girl-type assistant. Zsa Zsa Gabor portrays a femme fatale who is one of Price's victims.

Columbia Picture's drama, Bad for Each Other, is the screen adaptation of Horace McCoy's best-selling novel "Scalpel", and the film reportedly describes the "ghost surgeon" racket — doctors, women and "blood-money".

Charlton Heston is seen as a young surgeon who puts money and the bonuses of the rich above medical service to the poor with whom he grew up until, in a coal mine explosion, he is forced to choose between luxury and love.

Miss Scott plays the kind of glamorous bad girl role she has made famous. Dianne Foster plays an idealistic nurse. In addition to the stars, the picture brings back to the screen Marjorie Rambeau, who was forced into retirement by a motor accident in 1945, and features Mildred Dunnock, who won an Academy Award nomination for her work as the mother in Death of a Salesman.

Skinner McCoy who wrote the original work, "Scalpel" also wrote the screen play with Irwin Wallace. William Padmen served as associate producer. Irving Rapper directed.

It Could Be Verse

(Editor's Note: The following poem is reprinted from the first issue of Flambeau 36-51, under editorship of Earl Dobert. We have had several requests for a poet's corner. If this inspires anyone to emote on anything, please submit it for review and possible publication.)

—By DOUG ALLEY

March onward, all ye Freshmen true
But hold Our banners high
Reach forth thy hand to pluck a star
But don't cave in the sky.

Stand silently and listen when
Another starts to speak;
And follow those who know the way
For then you'll reach the peak.

March onward, all ye Freshmen true
Tomorrow you will be
The leaders then to navigate
Someone across the sea.
Sweep o'er the mountains, hills and dales
That oft rise in your way:
Remember always aft the night
There is a brighter day.

FSU CAPERS

(Flambeau Cartoon by Mike Brady)

Well honey, that Prep for Marriage course ought to be a snap!

The Dissenter

Antidote For Too Much Growth

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

For years they've talked about FSU's "growing pains." If our minor problems to date were pains, our present situation is agony.

Rumor aside, FSU's sudden growth has created some very serious problems self-evident to anyone on the campus. We should be able to take pride in Florida's university enrollment. In a country whose size and growth are cardinal virtues it seems strange they should occasion complaint.

What is our problem? Enrollment figures, when announced, will be drastically up. There are over 3,500 students on campus who have paid the activity fee and many other special students. When bootstrap and extension registrations are calculated FSU might well reach the 10,000 mark.

The significant figure is 3,500. These students are part of campus life. They use university facilities. They are entitled to every benefit of the activity fee. Yet there were not enough activity books on hand to distribute to the seventy students who registered after book number 3,500 was signed for. The Florida Flambeau's budget only anticipates 3,800 copies an issue. And what if, by some stretching of the law of averages, all those 3,500 didn't try to attend a football game or an artist series?

No one needs to be told of the housing problem. Reports of men who came from as far as Chicago and who had to return home are heard. There is an overflowing waiting list for men's housing. Women's dormitories are overcrowded.

Everyone is irritated by the parking problem. The two thousand cars driven by faculty and staff who live far from the campus must be parked. West Hall and Mabry Heights residents have an equally good case for theirs, but there are only so many places to park.

The faculty is extremely overworked. Classrooms are overcrowded. I had signed up for an advanced course in political science — state government — which was dropped even though there were at least eight, perhaps more, who had registered for it. The minimum used to be ten. What it is hovering around ten and may go up.

The smaller a class the better, it is thought. One can learn more, partly by airing his views in free discussion with turn bearing others, and partly by posing direct questions to professor. The small class now of necessity a thing of past.

The is a state university supported by public funds and therefore open to all. A reasonable requirement is set as graduation from accredited high schools, can be established.

A statewide system of community colleges has been suggested. Some would teach technical and professional courses, others would specialize in general knowledge courses. The older institutions would be for graduates of the community colleges and for abler undergraduates.

There are objectors, however, to this plan. Perhaps if objectors would come to FSU, in our cafeterias, attempt to park their cars on our campus, find space in our dormitories and change places with professors, they would understand that three large state colleges cannot do what they are at present burdened to do.

Of All Things

Rat Court Could Be Big Business!

By OSCAR JOHNSON

One of the most confused groups on campus at about this time each year is the Freshman Class.

In particular, we refer to their status in regard to the institution known, somewhat mysteriously, as the RAT COURT.

When a Freshman first hears about this likeable bunch, it is more often than not from the lips of a disgruntled upperclassman he has somehow offended. "Listen, Rat," the upperclassman will mutter menacingly, "I'll see you before the RAT COURT will hear about it."

After this first touch with the unspoken, "ANTI-RAT COURT Week" being planned.

In order to combat these evils, something new must be created to give Freshmen some protection. Then, and then only will we be ready to propose that the Sophomore Class be handed a list of facts he Must Know, he's liable to wonder what happens if he doesn't.

What happens is that the upperclassman who has "caught" him takes down his name and other pertinent information and turns it over to the RAT COURT. This body holds night meetings in the Music Amphitheatre where the charges are presented.

Nature of the punishment is, naturally, strictly secret. Chief Justice Dan Lee refuses to talk to many as "Bloody Bob"—has not revealed to the mental agony he intends to put the thought that such things.

Since they were experimenting still going on. These peculiar many of them successful business men and women, will add to the aid of the less fortunate Freshmen and furnish financial assistance to the needy.

All Freshmen will be able to take part in the RAT COURT.

The right way to attack some evils of the RAT COURT has been set forth. Perhaps the best is abolished, but to accomplish the natural evolution outlined above. Then it will be a natural death.

Until then, there's always a chance that enterprising Sophomores will think of the idea of selling "Permits to Prosecute Freshmen" to upperclassmen that Freshmen lacking immunity cards will still be hazed again.

But as the bard—or somebody—once said: Just look at the progress.

On The Beat

Reporter Discovers Radio WFSU

By BILL KING

In the basement of the Music Building I found a most interesting and truly fabulous thing. Amid screeching sopranos and banging pianists, is a radio station. I had heard of the station WFSU, but I had no idea that it was as excellent staffed, equipped and organized as it turned out as it is.

The station is primarily staffed by students of Florida State University. Chief announcer for the station is Jan Westbrook. Westbrook has an announcer training program set up whereby interested students may learn the rudiments of radio announcing and also experience by working at the station. Script, continuity and production work is all done by students

WFSU is on the air from 2 to 10 p. m. daily.

One of WFSU's most interesting programs is a "Report Performance." These programs cover all the important events that occur on the FSU campus. The student recitals, visiting artists and lectures are examples of the type of shows taped. These programs are sent to 25 radio stations in the state of Florida, which form a complete coverage of the state. The station has afforded much good advertising for over the state. This is the fifth year that WFSU has been sending out "Repeat Performance" tapes. Many thousands of these programs increase.

WFSU has a widely varied program schedule. Each day at The station, which is a ten watt FM station with a coverage of the Tallahassee area, has added new network shows to its schedule. These shows are merely programs are handled from the Network Office in Washington, D. C. Broadcasters, located on the University of Illinois campus.

One of the most fascinating productions is entitled "Evolution of Jazz." Ken Mendell, a noted authority on jazz, and associate editor of "Down Beat", the official jazz magazine, is narrator and producer. He bases the jazz lectures on books, magazines interviews and his own personal library of 10,000 records.

A new series, which FSU has been trying to get for two years, will be inaugurated, from the BBC in London. The British Broadcasting Corporation's Symphonian Orchestra, the Royal Philharmonic, the Old Vic, and the famous British Military Band are among the artists who will present such well known musical dramas as "Midsummer Night's Dream," Antony and Cleopatra, and Romeo and Juliet. These dramas will run in length from 30 to 90 minutes, and some of them will be broadcast in color. Watch for-d-on the-Avon.

The Dramatic dramatic series will be the "Elizabethan Theatre" which will feature 30 minutes selections from such dramas as Julius Caesar, Hamlet. This show will present selections of the plays by Shakespeare and excerpts from the diaries of Pepys.

To stimulate the literary-minded people there will be the "WFSU Book Festival Series". This series of twenty programs will include Ogden Nash, Bennett Cerf, Fred Allen and Marchette Chute, author of the immensely read book "Rope of Sand" on Westminster." Rev. Bishop Fulton Sheen will be on hand in the mystery book section.

Wandering With Wiljohn

How About Philharmonic Jazz?

By WILJOHN

I wonder why a campus such as this made the majority of its date this season a Jaz At The Philharmonic to be? Perhaps something can still be done to bring them here, if the student body so desires. Part of the group is not the Brubeck-type. They are good and can be easily understood even by those who do not hold a degree in music.

Some of those we hear this year are the Gene Krupa Quartette, the Oscar Peterson Trio, Buddy DeFranco, Buddy Rich, Flip Phillips, Roy Eldridge, and Ella Fitzgerald. This does not comprise the entire group, as there are many of the finest side-men in the business (Ray Brown, Herb Ellis, etc.) whose names probably would not be recognized by the average, uninitiated jazz-o-phyte.

Norman Granz, the sponsor of the tour, is busily engrossed in reaching the college audiences, in the country with big groups brand of jass music and would probably be amenable to a concert here. Last year the Dave Brubeck's attempt at initiating this campus to jazz met with something less than success because the majority of us didn't know what to expect or understand what we were hearing, or what Dave and his boys were doing. His style of jazz was a little too advanced for the campus jazz-stomach to digest. However, the JATP brand is definitely not above the head of everyone enjoys. Maybe, if some of you will write in and express your opinions on it, something can be done. Remember how everyone enjoyed Ellington!

* * *

The Commodores sounded the swingingest ever last Friday night. I'd like to know what special bouquet to trumpeter Charlie Turner, Charlie is one of those guys who not only can play musically but can put that extra little touch of humor and life in his music that makes it enjoyable to everyone. Few bands have such a personality, as well as notes, through their horn. Maybe Charlie has the gift. Of course, the Dave Brubeck's attempt at initiating as no one else can and that assures fine Commodore arrivals next year. And lastly, but not the least, the Commodores have their swell vocalist, Anne Vernal, a very sweet singer of music herself.

* * *

The Devilaires blew it strong on the West Hall roof Friday night. The Commodores are making it sweet in the house. The Devilaires are a small group, but have a very smooth which works together smoothly as any small band. I have heard around here. They doesn't seem to be any partiular standout in the group and doesn't seem than anyone trying to stand out and over the others. The only possible weak point this writer could spot is possibly in the vocal department. Miss Judy Knight (I hope that is spelled right) is certainly a very lovely creature and she has a very sweet voice. But the style of music seems to demand somethe heavier, more definite voice that just as much of a vocal

(Continued on Page 4)

Seminoles Hit Rugged Pace

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

A TIP OF THE BONNET—

We'd like to take this occasion to tip the imaginary bonnet a couple of heroes in their own right—Tom Feamster and Len Swantic.

Feamster has been tabbed by Floride's sports writers as the state's 'linemen of the week', while Swantic drew honorable mention as 'back of the week.'

The honors came, of course, as a result of the Tribe's 7-0 win over North Carolina State this past Saturday night. It was a 49-yard pass play carrying from Swantic to the 6' 7" Feamster that provided the victory margin.

Winning such an honor is nothing new to Feamster. Those same sports writers named him All Florida et the end of the '54 campaign And they had plenty of reason. The big flankman led the nation in pass receptions with 26 for 442 yards and six touchdowns. Only once was he credited with a muffed pass.

We'll have more to say about Big Tom Tuesday.

Swantic wes right at home in the 'honorable mention' spot because him. You might call the Columbus, Ga., lad the "little fellow who's always there" Trouble is, a lot of times people just don't notice him.

Quarterbacks have come and gone at FSU and Len's remained the same There's nothing sensational about him, but he always seems to come through in a pinch. Saturday niaht was e prime example. Tribe mentor Tom Nugent has given him all the credit for the ruse that paced the Seminole to their win over N. C. State. "The play was his," said Nugent. "We didn't send that one from the bench."

Nugent was quick to edd—"If ever we've had any doubts about Swantic, they're all gone now. He's it from now on. You have to give credit where its due."

Swantic came into prominence last year during the Seminoles' 47-0 trouncing of Villinove. In thet scoring rout, Len connected on 13 of 17 aerials for 228 yerds and three touchdowns

HURRICANE'S DISORGANIZED?

The letest word from the University of Miami footbell camp was strenge. Head coach Gustafson seems to be having trouble getting his boys together. According to e report from the 'Magic City' earlier this week, Gustafson stopped his squad about halfway through a session and sent them to the showers saying:

"Let's break this thing up before one of you gets hurt."

Seems they were missing too many assignments. Could be a little discouraged over that loss to Georgia Tech Regerdless, things may be looking up for the Seminoles who meet Miami in the Orange Bowl Sept. 30.

SOME MORE PRAISE—

Lets tip that bonnet egein.

After e pleasant two-hour luncheon Wednesday with FSU's Business Maneger, Eddie Cubbons, we're quick to admit that in the dapper gentleman this University has quite a provider.

Eddie's been doing a wonderful job in handling FSU's athletic ticket sales and be recently went off on an idea of his own that netted the University about $35,000 worth of free edvertising

How'd he do it?

Well, it seems that through the months of August, September and early October there's a laxity of billboard advertising in Florida The nation's car manufacturers are holding off for their latest model and the various tourist resorts ere getting ready for a big push on the winter season.

Results? A lot of blank billboards along the state's highweys but not so anymore

Eddie utilized a eouple of well-placed alumni and his own outright nice personality and those empty billsboards—about 173 of them—are now filled with 'Sammy Seminole' and Florida State's 1955 football schedule.

"The billboard companies were glad to let us use them," said he "They didn't particularly care for the signs to remain blank during those months and the only cost to us was about $800 for paper"

We estimate it would have cost somewhere around $35,000 to pay for the advertising outright."

It's little wonder that there's such a parking problem at Doak Campbell stadium. But keep up the great work, Eddie We're moving but we're coming

How About A High School Game Tonight

Looking for something to do tonight? How about a high school football geme?

Florida High School's Demons, the Demonstration School team, play host to Jasper tonight on the Demonstration School field.

The Demons are in their first season under Coech Ken McLeen, former Seminole star McLeen was a starting halfback during the infancy of FSU football

Admission for all college students will be fifty cents

LOST YOUR BOOK?

You don't have a Student Activity Book?

You'll need it to get into the forthcoming footbell games and Artist Series performances.

Books have been found for the following students Easter Campbell, ID No 4258; Joanne Towle, ID No 31633; Frances Hall, No number listed; Charles A Rodrigue ID No. 18823; Mary McMillan, ID No. 33253 end Ray Lee Pond, ID No. 28370.

These students mey pick up their Activity Books in Room 18, Longmire Basement.

Dine In Comfortable
Atmosphere

Complete Dinners
From $1.50 up
Approved by AAA
&
Duncan Hines

Let Us Plan Your
Banquet or Luncheon
Our Private Banquet Room Has
A Capacity of 110

TALLAHASSEE
Dining Room
1638 North Monroe
Phone 2-3428
Mr. Bishop, Mgr.

Miami Tickets Available Here

Football tickets for the Georgie and Miami games can now be obtained at the athletic ticket office in the student center.

Students may get a free ticket to the Oct 15 Georgia game with coupon 8 from their activity books Date tickets will cost $4 with coupon 7 Students are urged to purchase these tickets now, as only end zone seats will be left after this week End zone date tickets will cost $2.50.

Regular $3 tickets to the awey game at Miami, Sept. 30, can now be purchased by students at the ticket office for $1. A block of 1500 seats have been reserved for FSU students at this game

Prepares For Miami

Florida State University's Seminoles went back to a rugged practice this week as they began final preparations for their Sept. 30 clash with Miami in the Orange Bowl.

The Tribe was in a happy mood during the earlier part of the week, still beaming from their 7-0 season opening win over North Carolina State Saturday niaht.

But that mood slipped into an eapressed note of dissatisfaction from head coach Tom Nugent recently.

The Seminole mentor commented after an intensive blocking session Wednesday that "they're just not sharp enough. But they're going to work at it until they are"

MIAMI TOO

Meanwhile, from Miami came word of a similar situation.

Smarting from a much-disputed 14-8 loss to Georgia Tech, Miami's Hurricane seems to be at a low ebb. Coach Andy Gustafson commented yesterday thet there were so many missed assignments in a scrimmage that he had to send the squad to the shower.

"They're just not on their toes," said Gustafson. "What they need is a good rough workout. And that's what they're going to get."

Gustafson flew to Tallahassee after the Ramblin' Wreck defeated his Hurricane's Saturday in time to take the FSU-N C. State eontest. And he went back to the 'Magic City' sayins he had no intentions of letting the Tribe sneak up on him.

Miami meets Notre Dame the week following the FSU clash and it was generally accepted in many circles that the Hurricane's wouldn't take Florida State too seriously.

DRIVE-SERIES

In Miami, the Seminoles will be facing e murderous offensive macbine tabbed by its inventors as the "Miami Drive Series."

Its a combination of the Split-T and what is commonlv called the Fullback Ride. It gets the name "Drive Series" from the fact that on everv play a back—usually the fullbeck—hits the line, running always as if he has the ball In almost every case, he has to be brought down.

Such rigorous play could prove fatal to Florida State Despita the fact that the Tribe has fielded one of its most formidible forward walls, the FSU depth situation is still not too good A couple of injuries early in that game could mean the difference

Nugent indicated earlier this week that with exception of right half Billy Weaver, the entire Seminole squad would be ready for action aaainst Miami.

The Tribe was areatly handicapped during the N C Stata eontest with riaht halfbacks Buddy Reynolds and Weaver sidelined with injuries Tackle Ray Stabb was also out during that game while team co-captain Don Powell, startina left tackle, and guard Jerry Jacoby played with minor injuries

Lee Corso, bright eminole left

Lee Corso, bright Seminole left last plav of the N C. State game but he's reported in good condition and should be in top form for the Miami tilt. Corso, a junior from Miami, will be playing before a hometown crowd in the Orange Bowl and should be at his best.

THE TRIBE—Here are the 1955 Seminoles, the team that defeated North Carolina State in its season opener here Saturday night and is now preparing for a Sept. 30 game with the University of Miami. The Seminoles are out to better a 1954 season's record of eight wins and three losses. In addition last year, they became the first Florida College to represent the state outside its boundaries in a post-season bowl game, playing in El Paso's Sun Bowl on New Year's day.

What Is Miami's Famed 'Drive Series'

You've beard a lot about it—But what is it?

Called by its masterminds the "Drive Series," It's an offensive formation that has a similarity to the Split-T and the "Fullback Ride" but cannot be called akin to any other formation.

The Split-T is the most common of all offensive football formations while the "Fullbeck Ride" is a relatively new football development. Georgia Tech has somewhat perfected the latter.

A majority of Miami's plays off the "Drive Series" atart with a feint to the fullback—usually 200-pound Don Bosseler — who burls himself into the middle of the line. Miami bas perfected this part of the play to aucb an eatent that many times the opposition doesn't know whether the fulleck has the ball.

That means the fullback has to be tackled on every play. When the opposition moves to back up its defensive line agelnst the fullback's rivetina drives, the Hurrieanes quickly change to the outside with pitchouts end passes

During the Hurricane's '54 campaign on a few of the Split-T Option Plays injected into this new series the Miami quarterbacks sometimes kept their own halfbacks in auspense.

Miles Returns To Seminole Camp To Pace '55 Gymnasts

BY BOB GUTTING

Pacing this years returning lettermen to the varsity gym team will be veteran performer Jack Miles.

Jack graduated from Florida State one year aso, but has been a ateady performer while working towerds a master's degree

A capable, hard working athlete, Jack has steadily improved to the point where he now is a major contender for a berth on the next Olympic team

Jack is a Philadelphia athlete who got his start with the world famous Turner's gym club, as did many of his former teammates. He easily won recognition in his field by winning several sectional and national rings titles, the apparatus that has been his specialty in the past.

But last year was the year Miles really hit his atride. After warming up in local AAU competition, Jack went to the National AAU's in Chicago and placed among the top three in the all-around competition, a much sought after honor in any gymnastics meet. Following this, Jack earned a spot on the 1955 Pan-American Olympic team, along with teammates Holder and Lecuona.

The South American games were apparently made to order for Jack, who swept to a second place in the all-around event, closely paced by FSU's Don Holder. This effort on his part assures him a place of honor on the athletic roles of Florida Stata for all time.

Another outstanding letterman who returned is gymnast Don Holder, who will be completing his last year of competition for the Seminoles this fall.

Don has long been a favorite performer for the Seminoles, and can always be counted on for eatra points in even the roughest competition. Cool and reliable, Don was one of last years co-captains and paced the team to victory over opponents from every atate in the union.

Don's early athletic career dates back to his high school days in Jersey City, New Jersey, where he was one of the key men on the Dickenson High School gym team. He has

(Continued on Page 4)

Intramurals Set To Begin 3rd On Campus

Basketball and tennis singles and doubles will open the men's intramurals programs on October 3.

Deadline for entries in these sports from fraternity, dormitory, and inoependent teams is set for September 27, end all teams entered in these sports must file a complete list of eligible players by September 30 at 5 p m

All organizations and teams interested in participating in the men's intramural program durina the coming year are urged to send representatives to the first official meeting to be held Tuesday at 4 30 p.m. in the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

Items on the meeting egenda include revision of the intramural organization, review of the awards and point system, setting of detes for activities, eligibility, coaching and rules interpretation clinics for players, managers, and officials, and possible expansion of the program.

According to Marshall L. Walters, director of intramurals, the scheduling of aports out of their natural seasons is necessitated by a lack of space All football and basketball facilities are used by varsity teams during most of the fall.

Students who wish to officiate in intramural sports are asked to make application to Mr. Walters at the intramurals office

LONG SCHEDULES TRACK TRYOUTS

Head Track coach Mike Long announced recently that tryouts for track and field events will begin Monday Oct 3.

Long issued a call for all freshmen scholarship men, returning '55 squad members and any others who wish to try out. Equipment may be checked out Tuesday Sept 27, Thursday Sept. 29, and Tuesday, Oct. 4 between the hours of 1 30 to 4 00 p m.

The thin-clad mentor said all those who wish to perticipate in track and field events will be expected to work out at least three times a week

CAMPUS CHEST

New president of any organizations have been asked to contact Joan Harmon, Chairman of Ogrannizations for Campus Chest, at the Zeta Tau Alpha House, Telephone 3-1739. Plans are beainning at once for Campus Chest projects

FSU "B's" Play Tech HereSoon

By TED RYBICKI

Florida State's B team will play host to the Georaia Tech junior squad in its season opener at Campbell Stadium Saturday night The game is slated to begin at eight o'clock

The contest should prove to be en exciting one as the junior Engineers edged the Tribe last year by a score of 26-20 in a nip and tuck battle at Moultrie.

Many of the Georgia Tech squad who participated in that game figured prominently in the 14-6 upset over Miami this past Saturday

With the advent of this game, each coaching staff will be looking for future varsity material.

The Tribe's B team will be composed largely of 2nd end 3rd string varsity players backed up entirely by the freshman squad. The 1955 freshmen are tabbed by head coach Tom Nugent as the most promising in the University's history

Tickets for the game ara available in the Student Center and can also be obtained Saturday night at the game.

NOTICE

The bowlina alleys in the East Campus Gymnasium ara open ta all faculty and students from 6 to 10 p.m. Costs are 20c a line and students desiring to ose the facilities ara requested to brina their I. D. cards.

WANT TO WORK

Any etudent with eapenence in any phese of photography who would like to work for tha Tally-Ho may contact Jim Broderick editor, in his office on the fourth floor of the Alumni Building

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
TODAY and TOMORROW
HOW TO BE VERY, VERY POPULAR
SUNDAY thru TUESDAY
"The Scarlet Coat"

STATE
TODAY and TOMORROW
YOU'RE NEVER TOO YOUNG
With Martin and Lewis
SUNDAY and MONDAY
"Desert Sands"

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
TODAY and TOMORROW
"Canyon Crossroads"
—Plus—
Bud Abbott & Lou Costello
"Meet the Mummy"
SUNDAY and MONDAY
"Purple Plain"

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TODAY and TOMORROW
"Revenge of the Creature"
—and—
"Bullets for Rustlers"
SUNDAY and MONDAY
"Men of the Fighting Lady"

MEET ME at the MECCA
Enjoy our tasty meals while relaxing in our air-conditioned store.
MAKE NEW AND SEE OLD FRIENDS
"For Better Food at Lower Prices"
111 SOUTH COPELAND

WELCOME STUDENTS
Buy and Save at Your University Bookstore:
Your Choice From A Complete Stock of USED BOOKS AT LOW PRICES
—ALSO—
SEAL & SOCIAL STATIONARY SCHOOL SUPPLIES
SOAPS & Powders ART SUPPLIES
DRUGS & SUNDRIES
"It's a Saving Everytime"
UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
IN THE STUDENT CENTER

NOTHING IN ITS FIELD CAN MATCH CHEVROLET FOR ACCELERATION!

Great Features back up Chevrolet Performance: Anti-Dive Braking—Ball-Race Steering—Outrigger Rear Springs—Body by Fisher—12-Volt Electrical System—Nine Engine-Drive Choices.

When you need a quick sprint for safer passing, this V8 delivers!
It's pure dynamite, and you have to go way, way up the price ladder before you ever find its equal.

The proof was burned into the sands of Daytona Beach at the NASCAR* trials earlier this year In acceleration tests, Chevrolet walked away from everything else in its field. Plus all the high-priced cars except one!

It's the big reason Chevrolet's been taking all comers in short track stock car events this season. Sizzling acceleration along with handling ease and cornering ability—things that mean safer, happier highway driving. Come on in and let a new Chevrolet show you what we mean.

*National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing

Drive with care . . . EVERYWHERE!
CHEVROLET
NOW'S THE TIME TO BUY! LOW PRICES—BIG DEALS! ENJOY A NEW CHEVROLET

ANYONE FOR JUDO?—[illegible] is State Highway Patrol Recruiting Sergeant, West Jacksonville, to take a beating watch George Owen head for [illegible] grabs.
The purpose of the [illegible] work [illegible] to prepare inmates for the [illegible] institutions [illegible] the FHP, which they must complete satisfactorily before [illegible] Florida.

Church News

Plans for an afternoon of play and prayer have been made for all Episcopal students this Sunday afternoon at Camp Weed on the Gulf. Cars will assemble in front of the Episcopal Center on Jefferson Street at 2 p.m. Students are requested to bring a light supper as facilities for the preparation of food at the camp are limited.

Family Service will be instituted at Ruge Hall this Sunday at 9:30 a.m. Facilities are available in the East wing of the Center for nursery care for young children during the service. Faculty and staff members as well as students are invited to attend this service. The Rev. Harcourt Waller announced that Sunday Communion will be at 8 a.m., Morning Prayer at 11 and the regular worship at 9:30.

CAMPUS CHEST ORGANIZATIONS COMMITTEE—The Florida Flambeau will give two movie passes to the first freshman who can correctly identify the students in this picture.

Grimmig Name Leader Of Win

Paul D. Grimmig was recently appointed wing commander of the Air Force ROTC Cadet Corps, with the rank of Cadet Colonel.

Cadet Lt. Col. Thomas W. was appointed Wing Director of Personnel. On his staff are[illegible]der Lt. Col. Robert Crenshaw, deputy wing commander, [illegible] and E. Smith, wing director of material; Cadet Lt. Col. [illegible] Perkins, wing director of operations; and Cadet Maj. Raymond Baker, wing adjutant.

New squadron commanders are Lt. Colonels Harry I. Burkhagen, Anthony J. Wheat, James E. Hickey, and Howard Wil[illegible]

Flight commanders, with rank of Cadet Captain, are Edward Geiger, Jr., Doyle F. Mc[illegible], James Joanos, Frederick Jacobs, and Glayden Schaefer.

Other flight commanders are James Baker, Russell W. Johnson, William Johnson, Dan Medford, Robert Stuke, Kenneth Nelson, Charles Mann, Eugene Nelson, William Plumb, Jack Lindgren, and Maurice Strickberg.

Moore Selects Soph Senator

Sophomore Betty Jo Moore was appointed by Student Senate to fill a vacant Sophomore Women's seat in Student Senate, but he's not saying who.

The seat is that of Pete Dunn who is with the Washington Redskins in Washington, D.C.

In order to qualify as a candidate for the 1956 Olympics, Moore said he has received a dozen petitions supposedly different ones for the 100 yard dash, but he has signed one pending his acceptance. His application must be accepted by a local chairman, P. O. Box 5906, Memphis, manager of the Student Senate 12 Train[illegible]

Maid Of Cotton Competition Begun In Southern States

[illegible] Cotton Council [illegible] Cotton Festival [illegible] Memphis, Tenn. [illegible] Cotton Maid [illegible] Miss Cotton [illegible] Reed [illegible] Miss Cotton [illegible] Dunn [illegible] Station [illegible] Miss Cotton [illegible] Festival [illegible] the 1956 Olympics.

In order to qualify as a candidate for the 1956 Olympics, Moore said he has received a dozen petitions supposedly different ones for the 100 yard dash, but he has signed one pending his acceptance. His application must be accepted by a local chairman, P. O. Box 5906, Memphis, manager of the Student Senate. 12 Train[illegible]

SAI Receives National Music Service Award

Beta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota national women's music fraternity, has received the National Color Chapter Achievement Award.

The award is presented by the National Foundation of SAI.

The selection of the Award, which is presented for outstanding service in furthering educational objectives of the fraternity, was made at the 1955 meeting of the SAI National Executive Board.

Miss John B. Davidson, National President of SAI, in a letter of commendation to Beta Alpha Chapter, stated "I am confident that I speak for every member of our National Executive Board in saying Sigma Alpha Iota's pride in Beta Alpha's accomplishments during this past fraternity year."

An engraved Achievement Award Certificate will be officially presented to the Beta Alpha Chapter on behalf of The National Executive Board during an official visit this year.

The Beta Alpha Chapter program last year a factor weighing heavily in the National Foundation's consideration of the Award included sponsorship of the Lend-Opera Guild, which has done much toward stimulating interest in operatic performances by Florida State University students; sponsorship of an American Music Program for the purpose of maintaining an active enthusiasm for and participation in works by American composers; and Campus Sing, a contest between various choral groups on campus which gives non-music majors a chance to participate in music activities.

In addition, the Beta Alpha Chapter donated financial aid and services of its members to the music programs at FSU. Last year the fraternity ushered for The Artist Series, contributed funds to the Music Library, paid a fee for new music studies so that they could become better acquainted, and prepared a pancheon supper to raise funds for the chapter and the National Foundation.

The National Foundation sponsors scholarships and grants in aid to talented young musicians who are unable to continue without financial support, and extends other philanthropic services, such as sending musical instruments to impoverished areas abroad.

Music Majors' Home

Old Soda Shop Has 'New Look'

By CHARLET POITEVINT

Have you seen the newest look on campus?

It's the new, remodeled Soda Shop, of course.

Bright orange and green chairs and new tables were added last semester according to Mrs. Mary Parker, manager. "We were closed two weeks this summer for the other improvements," she said.

The "New Look" includes an acoustical ceiling a "cool" pink and green paint job, improved air-conditioning new soda fountain, and soft indirect lighting.

A new juke box will be added soon.

According to the customers who are always right, the remodeling job has made a big improvement.

Billy Johns, sophomore says that the place is so popular he doesn't have a chance to eat—but stands in line.

A new customer, Joy Autea likes it so much she eats there every day.

Hale Williams and Lee Harrison took time from their coffee to say, "The chairs are really comfortable and the coffee is the best anywhere."

Band Director Manley Whitcomb thinks it's great and proclaimed it "Sub-office of the Marching Chiefs."

Virgil Austin, one of the many music majors, who inhabit the place, remarked, "It's real nice but those darn freshmen forget who it's reserved for."

Prince Albert man, Bruce Fletcher commented that it still needs to be bigger.

Paul Ort, junior, said, "The new equipment is fine, but in some ways it's like a new library with the same old books."

Lil Olsen, sophomore, agrees She thinks the looks are improved, but the atmosphere remains the same.

Bob Atkins, a transfer student, likes it, but no one plays brids!

MILES RETURNS

(Continued from Page 2)

won many honors for himself and FSU, and represented the United States in the 1952 Olympics, the second college freshman to achieve this near miracle.

Don also journeyed to Mexico City to participate in this year's Pan-American games, but due to a foot injury was not able to turn in his best performance, but was still capable of placing fifth in the all-around event.

Although ineligible for collegiate competition this year, Don is still expected to be a major threat in all AAU events.

Cuban fireball Rafael Leruona completes FSU's triple threat for the year. A native of Havana, Cuba, Rafael has been prominent in gymnastics since 1947 when he won the Pan American side horse championship after only eleven months of practice.

Since that time Rafael has represented Cuba in every Pan American and two Olympic meets, and was captain of the 1952 Cuban Olympic team.

Rafael was the third FSU gymnast to participate in the recent Pan American games representing his native Cuba. Following this meet, he was flown to Los Angeles with Don Holder, and entered the NCAA meet there for FSU.

Rafael is entering his third year of competition for the Garnet and Gold and will be with us in the future to pace the Seminoles to victory.

STATE BAKERY and DELICATESSEN
The South's Most Unusual ONE STOP FOOD SHOP
WE HAVE SOMETHING FROM EVERY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD
"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"

POSITIONS OPEN ON FLAMBEAU

All students who signed up to work on the Florida Flambeau are requested to come to a meeting tomorrow morning at 11:00 Any student interested in working is asked to attend the meeting which will be held in the Flambeau office.

'55 'Tally-Ho' Still Available With ID Cards

Copies of the 1955 Tally-Ho are available in the Student Activities Office to students who have not yet received one.

By presenting his last year's ID card, or by signing an affidavit attesting his attendance at FSU last year, a student may claim his copy at the office in the basement lounge at Longmire Alumni Building.

NOTICE

The taking of senior photographs for this year's Tally Ho has been postponed until Tuesday, September 27. However anyone who is graduating should come up to the Tally Ho office immediately on Tuesday.

Freshmen or transfer students who wish to purchase yearbooks may buy them for $5 at the Student Accounts Office in Westcott Building and presenting receipts in Lemon Building to receive his book. The Tally Ho is $2.50 per semester and any student who did not attend FSU Fall and Spring semesters last year may obtain his copy by paying the additional $2.50.

The Tally Ho will be mailed to any student not returning to FSU if his ID card is taken to the Student Activities Office, which is open Monday through Friday from 8 to 5, and Saturday until noon.

A limited number of 1953 and '54 yearbooks is still available at no charge.

All-Piano Recital Is Season's First

The season's first student recital at Florida State University's School of Music was held in Opperman Auditorium Tuesday.

Those appearing on the all-piano recital were Robert Leslie, who presented "Scherzo in E Major Opus 54" by Chopin. Larry Simmons performing "Sonata in F Minor Opus 57" "Apassionata" by Beethoven, and Tamos Fain, a Quincy High School senior who rendered "Perpetual Motion" by Weber and Bonzo Woose "Etude" by Gould.

GARNET & GOLD
631 W. Tennessee
Phone 2-2892
—SATURDAY FREE FRIDAY—
Giant Milk Shakes
With Any Box Order
Chicken in the Box $1.25
Shrimp in the Box $1.25
THE EDUCATED BURGER 15c
THE PH.D. cheese BURGER 20c
THE FRESHMAN DOG 15c
FREE
For Delivery
Phone 2-2892
Garnet & Gold
Open 5 P.M. 'Til 12 P.M.

YOUR STUDENT GOVERNMENT ACCIDENT INSURANCE
Pays Up To $1,000
Medical Cost As Result Of Any One Accident
Also $1,000 For Loss of Life or Limbs.
Cost Only $6.25, Covers Until September 11, 1956

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

50 million times a day at home, at work or while at play
There's nothing like a Coke
DRINK Coca-Cola
1. SO BRIGHT . . . so right for you . . . so tangy in taste, ever-fresh in sparkle.
2. SO BRACING . . . so quickly refreshing with its hit of wholesome energy.
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Tallahassee
"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1955, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

PHILHARMONIC

(Continued from Page 3)

ages into a song as the band pulls in instrumentals. Right at the moment, the Deviaires aren't as well known as the Commodores and are working a little in their shadow. However they lack nothing in the stylings of a small combo and should be the mob for the job whenever someone wants a smaller group than a full-band this year.

• • •

There were supposed to be three dances at West Hall that night. Did you notice how uncrowded the scheduled dance in the basement was?

• • •

The report has it that at the moment Marjorie is definitely out for Homecoming and Brown can only be obtained if we change our Homecoming date. Anyone for Ted Weems?

Records Phonographs
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

When your courses are set
And a dream-girl you've met...
Have a real cigarette—have a CAMEL!
—Man, that's pure pleasure!
It's a psychological fact: Pleasure helps your disposition. If you're a smoker, remember — more people get more pure pleasure from Camels than from any other cigarette! No other cigarette is so rich-tasting, yet so mild!
Camel
R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Freshman Spirit Lags
See Page 2

The Florida Flambeau

Florida's Only Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

Vol. XLII, No. 3 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Tuesday, September 27, 1955

Dr. Edwin R. Hartz Named To University Chaplain Post

By STEVE KLEID

"Wisdom reareth in the heart of him that hath understanding."

First spoken by King Solomon, those words aptly describe Edwin R. Hartz, the newly-appointed Florida State University Chaplain, of the School of Social Welfare.

Said President Doak S. Campbell, "I am very happy to announce the appointment of Dr. Hartz to succeed Dr. Sam Neel as our University Chaplain."

Well Qualified

Dr. Hartz has shown through the years at the university that he is well qualified to take the responsibilities of this office," President continued.

A native of Missouri, Dr. Hartz has served as a Navy chaplain in the World War II and Korean conflict, and has constantly demonstrated his ability to work with and in groups of young men and women of all faiths.

He recently returned from a two years tour of duty with the Navy Corps at Quantico, Va., where he served as chaplain for the entire 1600 men Marine Officer Leaders' Class training.

Graduate Work

Prior to joining the FSU faculty in 1947, the Navy chaplain did graduate study and his Ph.D. at Duke University, and has studied under such renowned men as Dr. Ernest Groves, of Duke, and Dr. Rollo Mac and Boyd Parks, of Northwestern.

An ordained Methodist minister he is at present acting as student supply minister in the Tallahassee area, and formerly at Young Married People's Class at the First Presbyterian Church here.

Since 1947

The new FSU chaplain has been active in the Marriage Course and Family Living at Florida State and, during this time, has trained and then recommended to Florida communities to work with youths and entire families throughout the state. He has attended Family Life and Marriage Institutes at Duke and the Universities of Mississippi, Florida and Miami.

The author of many Family and Social Guidance papers, he co-author, with Dean Coyle Moore of the School of Social Welfare, of the text, Be In Preparation For Marriage.

Membership

Dr. Hartz is a member of the National Conference on Family Relations, Florida Conference on Social Work, YMCA Rotary, and Gideons International, among others.

He is married to the former Ruby Marshall, who now teaches at Caroline Brevard Elementary School in Tallahassee. They have two daughters, Ella Jean, 14, a Florida High cheerleader and majorette, and Louise, 13, a member of the Florida High Band.

His Goals

In an hour-long talk with Dr. Hartz last week this reporter asked him to explain what his goals would be when he assumed the responsibilities of his new office. In his own words he said that he would try to "combine intellectual and academic training with religious principles, and emphasize family life, personal counseling, in a diligent effort to help solve any problem that may be brought to me."

With His Family—FSU's new Chaplain Dr. E. Hartz poses for the photographer. Left to r., Dr. Hartz, Mrs. Hartz, Louise and Ella Jean. Pet dog was not identified.

Campus Chest To Begin Here On October 7

The Campus Chest, FSU's auxiliary to the Community Chest Drive, will begin here Oct. 7.

Instead of continually seeking charity organizations throughout the school year, FSU has one two-week drive to support all the most worthy charities. Each student is urged to give an amount to the cost equal to the sum he would ordinarily contribute to charity during the coming year.

Of last year's $2,200 collection, 40 per cent went to the Community Service, 15 per cent to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, 10 per cent to the American Cancer Society, 10 per cent to the National Tuberculosis and Health Association, 10 per cent to the American Red Cross, 10 per cent to the National Association for Mental Health and 5 per cent to Local Service Funds.

Frat Projects

A large portion of each year's Campus Chest fund is raised in various stunts by fraternities organizations on campus. Notable projects last year were Kappa Alpha's Mason-Dixon 500 mile trek, Alpha Tau Omega's Ugly Man contest, Sigma Nu's Dixie Derby, Sigma Chi's derby, and the Theta Chi-Lambdi Chi football game.

Among the sorority events were Kappa Delta's spaghetti supper, Phi Mu's Dixie Doll and Pi Phi Alpha Theta's house cleaning project. Both Pi Phi's dear sweethearts and Chi Omega's car wash stand.

Activities Calendar

A complete calendar of the fund-raising activities in the Campus Chest will be released throughout the drive.

The Campus Chest Dance, the first all-campus dance of the year, will be held on Friday, Oct. 7, with the proceeds being one of the largest money raising events of the drive. The dance will be informal at the Suwannee Room; admission will be a minimum of $1.00 per couple.

Eddie Wyeroff, chairman of the Dance Committee, has promised that a big name band, one of FSU's largest student orchestras, entertainment featuring Freshman talent, and several special surprises.

MIAMI STUDENTS

Attention Miami Students. If you would like some publicity to appear in your hometown newspaper, please turn in your name, campus and home address, and activities to 211, Longsdley Building. —M. E. Kent. This information will be used in the Woman's section of the Herald.

Dr. Montgomery Named Advisor

DR. REID MONTGOMERY

Dr. Reid H. Montgomery has been appointed Professor of Journalism and adviser to student publications President Doak S. Campbell confirmed the appointment at a meeting of the Board of Control held last Friday.

Dr. Montgomery comes to FSU from Winthrop College, where he was head of the Journalism Department and Director of Information. In addition, Dr. Montgomery was director of the South Carolina Scholastic Press Association and supervisor of radio studies at Winthrop College. Drawing up plans supervising installation of equipment and directing work of program production assistants.

Background

Dr. Montgomery's journalistic background includes news editor of "Sumter (S.C.) Item," S. C.; assistant city editor of "The State," Columbia, S. C. and editor of "The Cavea Courier," a publication of the Student Corps, Roanoke Unit at Charlotte N. C. which was named one of the "Top Ten" in competition in journalism. Awdrent of Political Science, Kiwanis Club National Council of Scholastic Press Associations, and four college fraternity fraternities.

URA Schedules Canoe Outings

The University Recreation Association this fall is sponsoring a series of canoe trips to nearby rivers. Two day trips and one overnight trip are planned.

The first day trip is slated for this Saturday. Students will leave the gym at 1 p.m., return at 6 p.m.

The trip is via Wakulla to the St. Marks River, and finally to St. Marks. Canoers will eat lunch in St. Marks.

Any student interested in the first trip may sign up on the bulletin board in front of the Student Center. Swimming and canoe checks will be made in the pool of the Women's Gym on the dates posted on the bulletin board All students planning to make a canoe trip must first pass these tests.

The schedule of trips is as follows:

Saturday, October 22, via Chipola River to Scotts Ferry; leave gym 8 a.m., return 6 p.m. Students are asked to bring their lunch for this afternoon trip.

Saturday and Sunday, November 12 and 13, via Suwannee River to Bradford; leave gym at 8 a.m. Saturday, return 10 a.m. Sunday. A student must have made at least one day trip before he may take this overnight trip.

Women Asked To Attend Meet

All upperclass girls are "on their honor" to attend a convocation Thursday at 7 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium, said Jo Jones, women's wire president.

No other events have been scheduled for that evening, Miss Jones pointed out, so that "girls won't have an excuse not to attend."

The purpose of the gathering is to "help the girls realize how important student government actually is and how many opportunities there are to serve on it," she said. "It is also a chance for upperclass women to "size up" together and have a good spirit meeting."

Skits Planned

"I hope we have it planned so that the girls will really enjoy it," the vice president said, explaining that the hour-long program will be made up of skits rather than a series of speeches.

The get-together will begin with a song led by Ellen Beck Frank, followed by a short speech by Katherine Warren, Dean of Women.

Skits will follow showing flashes of Senate, Judiciary and Honor Court meetings as well as the agenda will be recognition of all girls present who have a part in student government.

The meeting will close with the singing of the "Alma Mater."

Los Picaros Exam Tonight

Students interested in joining Los Picaros, Spanish organization, may take the entrance exam tonight or tomorrow night at 7:15 in the Old Demonstration School, room 12.

TALLY HO MEET PLANNED

The Tally-Ho will hold a staff meeting tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Student Center in the basement of Longsdley

This will replace the meeting originally scheduled for Thursday. Any staff member unable to attend please call Bill Broderick, 4641 before 3:00 and 3:00 p.m. This meeting is very important.

Estimated 250 Initiated After Rushing Period

Solemn pledging ceremonies held Saturday and Sunday by various social fraternities of Florida State University initiated approximately 250 new initiates into the Greek fold.

The following is a partial list of the pledges:

Sigma Chi: Dick Adams, John Ashton, Bill Bray, Bobby Bryson, David Byrd, Bob Calhoun, Ron Carter, Cecil Cheek, Don Dunahy, Leonard Darsey Dean Donley, David Evans, Warren Gerrard, Ric Giunta, Gerry Fordan, Rufus Jennings, Bob Jerome, Bob Johnson, Tommy King, Phillip Knebel, Les Meyers, Art Moore, Bob Moreton, Tom Pendray, Wade Rose, Doyle Ruff, Bob Sheffield, Art Unger, Chris Veal, Rube Waddell and Lynn Wallschlager.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: Robert Williams, Pat Turner, Jimmy Logue, Charles Ward, Dick Bellows Jay Bell, Dale Young, Walt Bowden, John Thomas, Jim Hinsell, Norman Harbuine, Dick Huff, Dave Darrah, Ed Gilfillong, Gerald MacArthur, David Hulse, Slater Wight, Jimmy Davis, Lester Little, Jesse Hazard, Darrell Johnson, James L. Peacock, John Smith, Tommy Boyd, Wayne Bussey, Oliver Hall.

Alpha Tau Omega: George Reagan, Jimmy Hall, Bruce Fielding, Lenord Voyles, Richard Taylor, Tobe Lavern, Jack Burkhardt, Dick Wilson, Dean Oliver, John Vanderslice, Mike Lamson, Bill Dodd, Ted Gunter, Frank Holt, Jim Costin, and Bob Hill.

Kappa Sigma: Robert Campbell, James Cole, Bill Cox, Jack Burkett Duncan, Richard Fregoe, Paul Gerrard, Robert Hall, David Harris, Emory Kidd, Jackie Kidd, Jorge Corro, Leroy Scott, Paul Snyder, Tom Summers, Manuel Saures, Daniel Wells, William Wright, Robert Johnson, William Johnson, and David Salmon.

Pi Kappa Phi: Bonnel Sapp, Jim Nettles, Bill Hall, Paul Kirk, Dave Coover, Scott Monroe, Mike Monroe, and Cecil Bryan.

Phi Kappa Tau: Tommy Woods, Bill Stevenson, Richard Beach, Charles Beach, Eddie Bellis, Ross Chrisco, Phil Kemblowski, Joe Assad, Paul Bunton, Dave Conrod, Dave Youngblood, Bill Robertson and Ira Wilson.

Sigma Phi Epsilon: Bill Pfeiffer, David Tyre, Malcolm Hill, and Willard Scott.

Kappa Alpha: Bill Sonder, Billy Barnes, Charles Clark, Cliff Gwynn, John Hannon, Don Wells, Jim Bunker, George Richardson, John Bruls, Mike Rou, Walter Elliot, Walter Fox, Johnny Kerr, Charlie Howell, Mike Copps, Tom Donovan, Wayne Slone, Bill Wilks, Dudley Brown, Lawrence Mason, Tommy Arlin, Bob James, and Andy Washington.

Delta Tau Delta: Clese Blues, Phil Boyd, Sam Burns, Ross Fisher, Joe Fabre, Dale Gallagher, Pat Ley, Bill Lewis, John Miller, Joe Moore, Ronald Ott and Steve Speed.

Recently initiated into active membership in the Delta Delta Delta were Harold Lambert, Gus Bardasha, Sherwood Williams, and John Ward.

Poet To Address First Coffee Hour

Dr. Walter Blackstock, poet in residence at Florida State University and head of the English department, will be the opening speaker of the English Coffee Hour.

The purpose of the Coffee Hour series is to hold its first meeting Friday at 4 o'clock in the Westminster House, is to bring together in a relaxed atmosphere students, faculty, staff and interested townspeople.

Pepper Postponed

Although he was scheduled to speak at a later date, Dr. Blackstock offered to fill in when the intended speaker, Claude Pepper, was unable to fulfill his engagement due to pressure of business matter. It is hoped that the former senator will be able to come and speak at a later date.

The program in main, will consist of readings from Dr. Blackstock's new book of poems, The Deeper Bond, which will be published this fall. After the readings there will be informal discussion of the poet's relationship to the modern world, as well as on the creative writing in general. Refreshments will be served and the admission is free.

Faculty Member

A member of Florida State University's faculty since the fall of 1948, Blackstock, who originates from Atlanta, Georgia, received his BA in 1942 from the University of Georgia, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Subsequently after serving in the U. S. Navy during World War II, he began attending a talloring business in Atlanta, he earned his MA at Vanderbilt and his PhD from Yale.

His doctoral dissertation, one of which have already been published in monograph form, was a study of Theodore Dreiser's literary apprenticeship.

(Continued on Page 4)

Dance Question Response Lags

Homecoming Dance arrangements must be started by tomorrow, said Graham Carothers, dance chairman, but there has been no student response to the problem of single or numerous bands.

No organizations and only two individuals responded to the questionaire printed in the Tuesday's Florida Flambeau. That form was to be turned in President opinion on the proposal to have several small dances instead of one large affair to climax Homecoming because of the lack of space.

Carothers said it has been suggested that the committee encourage sororities and fraternities to have their own dances either at their own houses or a in-town clubs which are suitable. This suggestion he stated, is substantiated by the arguments of many of the fraternities that sufficient time was not allotted them for entertainment of their visiting alumni nor was there space for them in the Suwannee Room Some students feel however that the success of Homecoming dance, crowded or not, is essential to a successful celebration.

Arrangements for the band must be made by tomorrow said Carothers doesn't know whether to hire one orchestra or two because the students haven't made their opinion known.

Demolay Group To Be Formed In Tallahassee

Plans are under way to establish a Demolay chapter in Tallahassee. A representative from Demolay Lodge No. 1 of the order said today.

Ben Horn, chairman of the Advisory Board of the Tallahassee Masonic lodge announced that the first organizational meeting is slated for tomorrow night in the Masonic Lodge at 2nd & S. Adams St. The meeting will beam at 7:30. Horn emphasized that all Masons, regardless of who are in the Masonic order and all Florida State University men who are active in Demolay are invited to attend the meeting.

Ages 14-21

The present organizational plan would establish a single Demolay chapter in Tallahassee This chapter would permit both FSU and Tallahassee area men between the ages of 14 and 21.

Should a sufficient number of FSU men become affiliated with the Demolay chapter, it might be possible to establish a second chapter on campus, Horn said.

Students desiring further information regarding Demolay should contact either Horn, Robert H. Jerome, campus coordinator for the establishment of Demolay. Horn may be reached at Brown's Men's Wear or by telephone at 3-2801. Jerome may be contacted at the Westminster House.

Senate Needs More Maturity, States Moore

Familiar suggestions that student government should achieve more maturity will be aired to Student Senate as a means of receiving more recognition from the university administration tomorrow by Student Body President Coyle Moore.

Moore announcing this yesterday in the Florida Flambeau, said such "maturity" could be the key to greater student-faculty cooperation, perhaps the way to placing students on such important groups as the curriculum committee

A list of times student government hasn't been able to accomplish what it wants to do because it adopts an immature attitude in some ways," Moore said "I think the administration of the university is willing to give student government as much responsibility as they think we can capably assume."

The occasion of Moore's comments tomorrow will be his annual address to Student Senate, heretofore dubbed "State of the Campus address." The session will get underway at 4:15 p.m. in the Senate chambers, second floor Commitee Building.

Moore told the Flambeau he received this summer, at a meeting of student body presidents, "the vast majority of schools have students on all committees, including the curriculum committee." He said he will recommend a logical,

(Continued on Page 4)

Dreaded Court Meets Tuesday, Frosh Told

The first session of the FSU Rat Court will meet on Tuesday, October 4, to hear cases against Freshman, chief justice Bob Simmons said today.

By OSCAR JOHNSON

The meetings of the judicial body will be held at 7:30 in the Music Building Amphitheatre.

A complete roster of the members of the Rat Court has not been revealed, but a Sophomore Class official who did not want to be quoted said yesterday that a partial list includes Tom Sheek, Buddy Reynolds, Charles Pomivini, David Curry, Mary Louise Peacock, Tom Haffner, and Polly Heyward. Others may be added to the court.

Proper Procedure

Chief Justice Simmons listed procedure for upper classmen to follow in turning in names of Freshmen not fulfilling their "oblisations as rats." He said that the name of the Freshman should be turned in at the Director's Office in the Longsdley Building along with a statement as to the offense. Upperclassmen need not include their name in reporting the incident.

Freshmen will receive their summons by mail. When the Freshman appears before the Rat Court they will first be prosecuted by their accuser or a special Prosecuting Attorney provided by the court, said Simmons.

Collum Upset

Sophomore Class President Bill Cullom joined Simmons in urging all Freshmen to wear their rat caps and learn the items listed on the Freshmanitor. "A summons to the Rat Court is something to avoid, but it is certainly no reason to give up hope of being a cooperative Freshman."

According to lona-standing tradition, all members of the Freshman Class are freed of their obligations to the upperclassmen if they win the Freshman-Sophomore Field Day, and the Sophomore Class officers are liable to censure by the Freshman Class Their penalty is a dunking in Westcott Fountain.

A Long Time

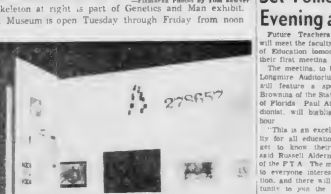
Justice Simmons, however says that this day is a "long time off." He said that a large number of Freshmen have been seen leaving their dormitories in the morning without Rat caps. Those persons, he said, will not go unpunished if they appear before Rat Court.

Fraternities End 1955 Pledging Ceremonies

Singers Acquire 24 New Members Here

University Singers have taken in 24 new members.

They are Jean Rogers, Mary Jane Marroni, Kay Taylor, Joyce Cayard, Margaret Yeale, Peggy Ann Day, Barbara Barrow, Jane McMullin, Beverly Smith, Nancy Wagoner, Sara P. Page and Gerry Anderson.



Also Sam Jordon, Richard Waite, Philip Knabl, Calvin Coots, Jerald McCollum, Allen Crowell, Charles Bryan, Charles Latter, Pud Mesloc, Arthur Carter, Warren Barrett and Virgil Ansley.

University Singers are now on in number, announced Dr. Wayne Hertzog, director. He also said he hopes that the group will be enlarged in February.

Shades of Halloween—Skeleton at right is part of Genetics and Man exhibit. Other displays are on walls. Museum is open Tuesday through Friday from noon to 5 p.m.

—Flambeau Photos by Tom Rawlet

Genetics and Man—On exhibit at the University Museum in the Dining Hall Building display, shows man's hereditary traits. Entrance is pictured above.

Padding Whose Pockets?

We were not surprised when representatives of the printing industries appeared before the Board of Control in Gainesville last Friday to protest FSU's purchase of printing equipment for a Flambeau press. But we were amused at the arguments they presented.

Terming FSU and the U of F "socialistic" they objected to the printing of laundry slips on this campus. They also protested the U of F's printing of the "Orange Peel" on their campus. It disturbs them because they aren't getting the business which the universities manage to save by doing these things themselves. It is as simple and selfish as that.

Free enterprise has its limitations. No business has the right to command that of another, whether individual or institution. And the Universities are not bound or compelled to do business with anyone.

The money a university spends comes from the taxpayers' pockets and should be spent where it will receive the most in return. If the Board of Control allows FSU to purchase press equipment for the printing of the Florida Flambeau, the students would be able, for the same amount of money that now comes from their activity fees, to have a thrice-weekly, or even daily publication. It would also create student employment, add to the education facilities in journalism, and eventually become a self-supported operation.

At present, student publications and other such facets of printing at the universities are paying 50% far more than is necessary due to the prices charged by private concerns. We reassert that the University is obligated to spend the taxpayers' money where it will do the most good in achieving the ends for which it is paid, not to pad the pockets of private businessmen just because they want it.

If paying the students and taxpayers more for their dollars is "socialistic", then give us more of the same.

Mysterious Disappearance

That some 2,000 rat caps could manage to disappear in exactly one week is astounding. Could be the Rat Court will have a major problem on its hands this year, or perhaps the fresh class isn't as spirited as we thought they were.

Though freshmen are supposedly ignominious creatures, they have always managed to make themselves conspicuously pleasant with a rat cap and a smile. While we still recall the rat cap with nostalgic shudders, we feel they do accomplish the purpose for which they are intended. That is, they promote a friendly atmosphere, play cupid for fresh women and upperclassmen, and establish a closer relationship among members of an incoming class.

The first meeting of Rat Court can either kill or reinforce the custom which has existed on this campus since the end of the past two years. We know the freshmen who have managed to memorize their lists will be disappointed if upperclassmen don't ask them to show their store of knowledge, but we haven't seen the sophomores quizzing them.

Surely four to six weeks isn't too long a time for freshmen to wear their school colors. The rapid growth of the university is already necessitating the spirit of comradeship and fun which could prevail if both classes would cooperate.

We Hope So, Too!

The State Legislature reconvened yesterday in hopes of solving the reapportionment stalemate. We have the same hopes but perhaps for more reasons than have been mentioned heretofore.

Already, 111 days have gone by with no solution to the deadlock which has been created primarily by the Senators from North Florida. Governor C. Hins has maintained his stand for fair reapportionment and we stand solidly behind his aims and wishes. His address before both Houses today is expected to reemphasize his intention to keep the legislature in session until they do what the constitution demands of them.

We are not only behind the fair distribution of representation in our State because of the progress which could result from this reapportionment, but also because we are tired of seeing the so-called "Pork Chop Gang" in the power position. It's not the best example the Senators could se; in a university city, where students are apt to become discouraged (to phrase it mildly) with the process of government.

Nor are they going to believe the principles of democracy which they are supposedly being taught when Senator Charles Johns can shout about the evils of mentioning anything but democracy in one bill, and then proceed to ignore his duty in carrying out one of the cornerstones of democratic government, namely fair representation.

We urge the student body to visit the legislature, note its actions and its members, to find out first-hand who the people in question are, and to compare them with the principles they are being taught.

A Note Of Welcome

We should like to welcome Dr. Reid Montgomery to the ranks of your student public relations. As the new director to Student Publications, his job will contain the many headaches and problems of publication finances which have been and still are prevalent.

Taking some of the burden from many backs, including ours, his job will be a tough one, but one we feel he will handle with competence. The pressures involved in furthering student publications will be many, as is already evident in action at the recent Board of Control meeting.

His appointment is one which we heartily approve.

Wandering With Wiljahn

Out Of The Question Box

By WILJOHN

Someone used my suggestion to drop me a line at Box 452 if there was anything you would like me to write on or answer for you. An anonymous note said: "What happened to the Crew Cuts? They had such a hit with 'Sh-Boom' and had made such a name during R&B platters. But for the past few months, they have relatively dropped out of sight." Well, hang onto your seats for the latest on the all answers. The Crew Cuts and their manager are in Toronto where they have incorporated into a firm called the 'Quartette Clements'. They are also featuring the Colgate Hair Oil and Sh-Boom Shampoo. I know what everyone thinking. I couldn't believe it either. The proof is in the pudding. The song of "Doo-hickey" in the Strictly Ad-Lib tab, Crazy.

Another note asks me "What do you really think about Jazz? Do you mean to tell us that the illiterate wailings of the average jazz singer really carries a musical meaning for you? I personally would find nothing enjoyable in the musical ravings of a bunch of musicians who have to be drunk or doped up before their music 'sends' them. And why do they use that silly "bop-talk" so much?" It is signed Cal.

I don't know if this letter was sent by one of my friends who knows my feelings towards Jazz in the hopes that this would make me violent or if it is really on tile up and up. All I can say is, I'm willing to defend jazz or some things that mean more to them than others. These things are especially meaningful if you helped to create them.

Now Jazz is a way to bring an expression of music that was never heard before. These men, the "boppers" you mention, have been the instrumental force in bringing jazz before the listening public. It takes a pretty narrow viewpoint not to be able to find something to like or appreciate in jazz. This music is an extemporaneous expression of what the artist feels INSIDE at the moment of his performance. It is the most absolute way of projecting a personality that is because it is what he knows, not only what the music says, but what the artist has to say about the music.

Jazz has had a bad name among the "uppercrust of musical society" because it got its start in the back alleys and dives of the "low days". The certain section of the music listening public who claim to be interested so as to appear snobs" chose to point up all the bad things connected with jazz in an effort to keep it submerged. They failed because jazz is the best music expression of people.

You may not like it but try to keep yourself from reacting to it. Have you ever sat thru a jazz session and never tapped your foot, not even once? My advice to you, Cal, is to first understand jazz. You can't dislike something till you know what it is and I defy anyone to say, "I understand jazz." Jazz has its bad points I readily admit, I'll waiver, have you. But you both have your good points and that is what people like you for.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor

Associate Editor — Martin Dyckman
Features Editor — Margaret Miller
Sports Editor — Peter Lolumbeck
Senior Reporters — Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Cox, Merle Reesing
Circulation — Alpha Phi Omega
Mary Elizabeth Kline—Business Mgr.
Asst. Bus Mgr. — John Halford
Circulation Mgr. — Joe Caldwell
Exchange Ed — Betsy Voorhees
Telephone 2.600, extension #821, 385
211, 213 Language Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

Pat Marston, News Editor

Photographers — Jack Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Larry Keck, Roger Bernstein, Steve Kind
Campus Editors — Jerome Bernstein
Howard Barlow
Greek Editors — Charles Pottevint
Virgil Austin, Advertising Manager
Asstt. Adv. Mgr. — Leonard Korth
Morgan — George Goldstein
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida, State University.

"Somebody's Changed The Course Of This Stream Too"

He Teaches Too

Wisconsin Stater Introduces Bibler And His Characters To Frosh Class

By BOB DOOLITTLE
(Wisconsin State College)

There is a certain little man who is rapidly becoming a part of the American campus scene. Bald-headed, rumple - haired, down-trodden, he is flunking Bolney, continually late for classes, and appears to be headed for graduation by the process of Osmosis. His name is "Wortha". His creator is cartoonist Dick Bibler. They both have a fuory sense of humor.

Nine years ago Bibler answered an ad for a college cartoonist as a student at Kansas University. He had worked for some area newspapers and YANK during the war. He got the job and "Little Man on Campus" became his by-line. "Wortha" his main character.

Bibler had come by his flair for wicked humor quite naturally. He had his first cartoon published at the age of 12. A sandy-haired chap whose thinning pate the apex with tired ever. Bibler is laborious fast with an artist's brush. He completed his quite so fast but looks just as tired.

No one could look more desperate than this little man Wortha. as he flips his coin during the tense and fate examination or gets around into the address during the 12 o'clock

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

By Dick Bibler

rush by the campus wheels But he methodically bobs up again, each time with a wicked gleam in his eyes to ogle cute girls, poke fun at ancient Latin Professor, college administrators, and college students in general. His son is in the library arches, braving Robinson Crusoe and Patterns of Culture.

No one on campus is immune to Bibler's pen. From his drawing board he uses a two-edged blade cutting at both college students and faculty with Wortha and his sadistic creator, Professor Boarf. There is something heroic about their undaunted struggle, something touching about Boarf's willingness to suffer in order to make others suffer.

In creating "Wortha!" Bibler drew fourteen faces. He selected the most stupid looking characteristics of each and combined them The name "Wortha!", he comments, is very close to "Worthless." However, new characters have made their way into the cartoon panel. Several new characters include. Miss Lush, Burwell, Penrod, Bubba, Drao Bellows, and a yet-to-be-named beauty that Wortha! has his red conscious eye on.

Although Bibler's hobby is cartooning, it is far from becoming a livelihood. The price that colleges can afford to pay for cartoons and the limited number used by some colleges brush Bibler in cigarettes and the baby in new shoes. But, he says as long as he can think of ideas and as long as colleges want to run the cartoon he'll keep drawing Wortha!, Snarf and Company.

Bibler's present job has him assistant professing in the art department at Humboldt State College, Arcata, California. Of vital statistics, Bibler is unusually vague. He is a Republican. He admits to a "Beautiful blonde wife" and one-and-a-half sons. The boy, he colices proudly, is already scribbling cartoons about sons flunking Bolney. "Like father, like son," they say.

FSU CAFERS

"We'll probably get some old but like last . . . ."

—Flambeau Cartoon by Mike Brady

The Dissenter

Ike's Illness Shakes '56 Race

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

The illness of President Eisenhower is a blow to the entire nation. Political differences aside, he is a man of unimpeachable integrity.

Now is seemingly an indiscreet moment to anticipate the political picture of 1956; it is perhaps the best time.

Until the president recovers, as everyone hopes he shall, Vice-president Richard M. Nixon will handle many of his duties. The vice-president has already been entrusted, although few can see why, with presiding over the National Security Council, the Cabinet, and as a good will emissary to other countries.

We shall have a chance to observe him in harder action now. If his record holds true, he will be vacillating, and noncommittal—words synonymous with "playing both sides against the middle."

For instance, while McCarthy was doing his best to ridicule the Administration, Nixon was partying blows delivered at the character from Wisconsin, adding insult to the virtual injury.

Nixon, he said has concerned himself only with cementing the Republican Party and has avoided taking a stand on anything for which he might have to defend his views.

If one were to vote for Nixon, he would have the slightest idea of what he was voting for. In 1952 Nixon got on the ticket because as a good candidate for the housewife, the personification of young American from a different part of the country than president, and from a state which could either way unless it had a native son running.

It is possible the American people may have to choose between Nixon and a Democratic nominee for president in 1956. If Mr. Eisenhower were to run again, it would be against the advice of family, friends, physicians, advisers and his own common sense. A man his age, victim of a heart attack, shouldn't tempt fate.

GOP Chairman Leonard Hall, who once said, "I'll shoot myself, should Eisenhower not run," may consider that the easier way out when he tries to find a candidate for 1956. Nixon is far the most popular of the available Republicans, but few would pick him to defeat Stevenson, Kefauver, Averell Harriman, governor of New York.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren has flatly stated he will not run for the presidency. He may change his mind, but it is unlikely. Nixon, much younger and unconnected to any viewpoints, would have an easier time getting the nomination.

In 1952 the Republican convention stole the spotlight. It had the glamor and the confusion. Next summer's Democratic will enjoy a position as they fight to decide who shall be a Republican candidate not named Dwight Eisenhower.

Bibler's All Stars

On The Beat

Sororities Rush Our Photographer

By PAT MARSTON

It's not every girl who scorns a man to sorority rushing parties

That's what happened to me the other night. The Florida Flambeau wanted some pictures of the rush parties and both Pan-Hellenic and the editor agreed that it just wasn't wise to turn a guy loose with his camera and several hundred women.

So Friday night we started off. Steve, one of our photographers with camera and equipment, me with my trusty pad of paper and pencil. At the first sorority house we walked to the door and explained what we wanted. They were definitely between groups of rushees so we had to wait.

This is where the trouble first began. Never let an ex-sorority man wander through a sorority house alone. While I momentarily turned my back to accept a cup of punch and speak to the housemother, Steve disappeared. Ten minutes later I found him in the center of a crowd of football-size actives explaining how a camera worked. Or at least that's what he said he was doing.

At last the rushees came and we got our first picture lined up and taken. Steve volunteered to get the photographs of the rushees for me I should have gotten suspicious right then but it wasn't until I saw what he was writing down that I realized my mistake. We don't use phone numbers for cutlines!

I took over about then and the dailies but more printable statistics As we left, Steve became the first male to have signed their name in the guest book.

In his glory, Steve took picture after picture of the actives pausing I drank more punch, tried to keep his mind on his work and made the necessary arrangements. Housemothers gave us puzzled and suspicious glances actives enjoyed the change in routine while rushees just looked bewildered and did as they were told.

The climax of the evening came when we tired and unthinking active continued her routine speech to the rushees and invited them up to the second floor to see the bedrooms. The only trouble was that it was Steve she was talking to.

But at last the evening came to an end the last picture was taken and the last house visited. The poor rushees could go home and rest their weary tootsies, the actives could start cleaning up and everyone was happy. Everyone, that is, but Steve, his dream evening was over.

His morale picked up the next day though He received two bids to more rush parties.

AND NOW FOR MALE

By Steve Kiehl

"Horrors", said the girls!

"Lucky Dog" said the men!

"It isn't done", said the housemothers!

"But I DID it!", me!

Yes, blithly humming "Stranger In Paradise" I marched casually in the front door of three prominent sorority houses Friday eve and, dazzled by the rows of pearly white teeth showing from bewitch gaping ear lips, proceeded valiantly to refuse the staggering number of pledge bids that were showered upon me.

But the hospitality extended by one and all was most gratifying, and if the occasion should arise again I shall don my most gallant[illegible] square my shoulder pads, and again proceed to give my all for my semi-weekly

Odds & Ends

Memories, Squelches, And Notes

By HOWARD HARTLEY

Back in '48 an intent group of high school sophomores leaned forward in their seats to catch every word of a special lecture The reason for these emotionic manifestations of "knuckles, knees and adenoids" set were so interested is two-fold One reason is that the subject was in an area of preparation for marriage which is still a hot issue in educational circles . . . sex education. The other reason is that the speaker was handling his subject with expert ease and tact, illustrating various points with skill and clarity. We are not one of those sophomores and we can remember that class as one of the outstanding presentations of the whole year. We also remember that the speaker was Dr. Ernest R. Hartz, Assoc. Prof of Soc. Welfare, who is the recently appointed university chaplain.

* * *

An enterprising FSU student discovered Monday night that the janitor in the Women's Gymnasium, or at least someone had been a little careless and left a window in the swimming pool area open.

Following his natural instincts in 90-degree weather, the agile fellow climbed to the window ledge and prepared to enter the building with the intent "to go for a quick, cool dip." He had no change his mind after the last movement, however, when, while teetering on the ledge, he glanced down inside and saw the 70 foot drop to the tile floor. The last observers saw of him, he was looking for a rope.

* * *

It is possible that the appointment by Coyla Moore of a newsletter to fill a vacancy left by Petey Dunn will result in a new "Ivan's down dras-out" in a forthcoming Senate meeting. Several senators have voiced strong feelings about whom the appointment should go to, and since there were a great number of recommendations tendered the student body president, it is very possible that his recommendation will not coincide with their views. Come up and see the fireworks.

* * *

Dr. James Prothro, associate professor of Political Science, has just about had enough of Dave Crockett, Davy's ancestor, in satire writings in his field. Dr. Prothro is well aware that Davy Crockett wasn't much of a senator, by dint of statements to the contrary drummed into our ears by the various media of mass communications, but Davy didn't do such a low job "flinin' up the governmint".

The only trouble is that Dr. Prothro's little girl Pam doesn't agree with him. Her Taxbar being who he is, naturally Pam is an avid observer of the political scene too, even if she is only three. When Dr. Prothro pointed out to his daughter with some small measure of contempt, the rather shoddy record of Senator Crockett, Pam was undismayed. She just came back with this perfect squelch: "Well, he killed him a bar when he was only three, and I bet you didn't do that!"

Engineers Edge Junior Tribe, 19-14

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

TOM FEAMSTER—ALL AMERICAN?

Will Tom Feamster be Florida State University's first major American?

Maybe were a little premature in pressing the issue, but we don't be's got all the makings. And we're not alone in our opinion.

Head Coach Tom Nugent says of the big fellow: "If anyone has a chance of being All America, Feamster has the big, ba's fast and ha's everything a coach could want in a star of an offensive and defensive end."

And Nugent's the man who should know.

Feamster is believed to be collegiate football's biggest flanker—6-4 7", 260 pounds. But his unghtly size doesn't handicap him a bit. He has uncanny grace and speed afoot that enable him to catch many passes that the ordinary sized end would have trouble getting near.

Last year, playing his first year as an offensive end, Tom copped All Florida honors and an All America mention. His finishing ugh among the nation's ends, catching 28 passes for 447 yards and six touchdowns.

And already this year ha's been named Florida's "lineman of the week."

But Tom wasn't always the demon he is now on the gridiron. He was a freshman at William & Mary when he learned about football.

Fearing defensive right end against Duke one afternoon, he stood down in position across from All American tackle Ed Meadows. Meadows was one of those "little men."

"We're coming across you, big boy," Meadows warned him. Big Tom just smiled. But, alas, no more

"I never had any sympathy for little men after that," he said. "That guy chewed me up and laid me out on the turf so those Dukes would know something isn't right in me."

Now Tom likes to think Meadows made a football player out of him.

Meadows continued me that afternoon that if I didn't hit him other guy just as hard, it was me that was going to get hurt or no one else.

And so, Florida State has one heckuva good end.

Back now in Warwick, Pa. when Tom was going to high school he didn't play football. He played a clarinet in the band. You all state hooboo, too.

And if there's one man who misses Tom back home its the man. Tom drank four quarts a day—still does But it wasn't the milk alone that made him the big man he is It seems to run in the family. Tom's dad stands a 6", his mother a 11", and his sister 5' 3".

There's a Los Angeles Rams professional football uniform waiting for the big boy when he graduates in June He was the Rammore Colt's No. 1 draft choice last season, and the Rams have him on a trade.

We can't, help but watch his fellow He just stands out.

ANOTHER TIP OF THE BONNET

Maybe we're going to need that imaginary bonnet out by going it so much, but we just can't help but give praise where praise is due. And on the FSU campus, that's in a lot of places.

This time we daff it to the School of Journalism's Radio-TV lab.

The lab is located in a very inconspicuous part of the School of Journalism, itself, is located in a very inconspicuous part of the campus.

Regardless, in those back rooms one will find a continuous flow of activity throughout the day as Prof. Daniel Wozniak and his student staff go about their unsensational business of publishing Florida State University. And since we're concerned primarily with sports in this corner, we'll tell you about the athletic side of their work.

A major part of their student staff works under an ambitious "Ira-a-drier"—graduate student, Charlie Allen—in providing pre-game buildup programs for the 13-station Seminole Football network.

They don't stick to radio alone, either. Its a TV lab, too, and they work hand-in-hand with Roy Flynn, Director of Radio and TV, in providing films along the same lines as their radio work for a similar network of television stations.

Come basketball season and they'll become the center of activities—staffing the Seminole Basketball network. It'll be a repeat of a fine job they did last year.

But, they don't like to think of their work as just "publicity," for they They're a "newsgathering organization."

They maintain that everyone working in their lab is there to learn how to handle radio and TV news. They insist the work's completely voluntary.

And our praise comes voluntarily, too

FOOTBALL IN FAR EAST?

Seems football is making definite inroads—even in Japan.

Don Veller, former head football coach at FSU, and now varsity golf coach and PE instructor, received an interesting letter recently from Japan One A. Mitani of Kyoto wanted to know a little about the game.

Mitani became interested in an article written by Veller and entitled "Cockeyed-T" which appeared in one of the various athletic journals He wrote Veller and asked him if he would be a pen pal from the Florida State varsity who would be interested in doing a bit of corresponding on the subject.

Don Powell was the choice Should be interesting to watch the results.

FSU "B" SCHEDULE

Robins AFB Oct 14	here
Miami Oct. 29	Mi. Dade
Nov. Sem. Oct 28	Pasco JC
Eglin AFB Nov. 8	Eglin AFB

STATE BAKERY
and
DELICATESSEN
The South's Most Unusual
ONE STOP FOOD SHOP
WE HAVE SOMETHING FROM EVERY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD
Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat

We have Special Nights
at FAIVER'S
TUES.—PIZZA PIE ---------- 85c
WED.—FRIED CHICKEN
French Fries, Salad, Rolls and Butter, Coffee or Tea $1.19
Try Our Pizza Burgers 35c
Delivery Service
Phone -21860

Varsity Readies For 'Hurricanes'

Florida State's varsity began final preparations this week for Friday night's clash with the University of Miami in the Orange Bowl.

The Tribe was granted a weekend rest this past Saturday and Sunday while head coach Tom Nugent was travelling around the state. Nugent was in Gainesville Saturday for the Florida-Georgia Tech game and he moved on down to Miami for a television show there Sunday night. The Seminoles meet Tech later this year in Atlanta.

The Seminole mentor sent his squad through a final rigorous practice session yesterday and said he intended to have them upper off today to stay in good physical condition for the Miami game

"We did a lot of work on blocking last week," he said. "We accomplished a lot, but there's still quite a bit to be desired along those lines "

Meanwhile, from Miami came word that Hurricane head coach Andy Gustafson was making plans to send a two-platoon system against the Seminoles.

Gustafson indicated he would use the two-platoon system if his second team keeps improving

"We've been streaking in group work, trying to get together the best possible team in the shortest time" Gustafson said "Now we're at the spot where we can consider using two separate teams."

Miami used the two-platoon setup during the 1954 season, losing only to Auburn 14-13. Auburn tripped the Tribe in '54, 33-0

Gustafson had three of his second string backfield men have shown great improvement recently. The Hurricane mentor said quarterback Gene Reeves and halfbacks Jonn Varone and Don Dershimer had greatly pleased them

Reeves, a reputed but unproved passer, reported to be challenging Marco Bonofiglio for his starting field general role. With these reports and the known fact that neither Bonofiglio or halfback Whitey Rouviere were allowed to take part in Miami scrimmage sessions last week, Seminole fans might expect to see a lot of Reeves come Friday night.

And Reeves, being a reputed passer, might even go so far as to get the starting nod over the massive Bonofiglio.

Seminole mentor Tom Nugent said last week that he expected Miami to open a high and wide offense against the Tribe

"We know Miami can run up the middle with their famed drive series." said Nugent. "But we feel they'll be running the ends and doing a lot of passing against us so they can show the Notre Dame scouts who'll be in the backs they can go high and wide, too."

Miami meets Notre Dame the week following the Florida State clash.

ALL AMERICA?—Tom Feamster, possibly collegiate football's biggest end, is pictured here as opposing gridders might see him during the '55 campaign. Florida's "linesman of the week" last week, Feamster looms as a possible All America.

Seminoles Athletic Teams Defend Respective Titles

Despite the fact that Florida State University was granted a major college status football-wise this year, most of is athletic coinigents will be on the defensive side of many national and regional titles.

GYMNASTICS

Foremost, perhaps, will be the gymnastic teams defense of its National AAU title. In winning that title last year, the Seminole musclemen notched their 22nd team championship.

Some of their other national titles include the NCAA team title in 1941; the National AAU team title in 1954; the NCAA team title in 1942; and they were National AAU champions again in 1953.

Basketball, Too

The Seminole basketball team was successful last year, too. Coach Bud Kennedy's hardwood corps virtually rewrote the school's record books in winning the state title and journeying to the NAIA Tournament in Kansas City.

The Cagers ran up a record of 24 wins against 4 losses in cashing up a team record of an average 88.3 points for 28 games.

Guard Jimmy Oler established an all-time school record by bagging 340 points for a 21.1 average while two-time Helms Foundation All-American Hinn Wernke, closed out a four-year career with 1,408 points and a 19.3 average Wernke also set up an individual record for starting in 73 consecutive games.

Tribe Mermaa

Meanwhile, the Seminole swimming team completed its third successive unbeaten season under head coach Bim Stulte.

Undefeated in 21 straight dual meets, the Tribe were Florida State AAU champions and runnersup in the Southern Intercollegiate Champs.

Their wins were over such formidable foes as Southwest Conference powers Texas A&M and Southern Methodist and Southeastern Conference entry Georgia Tech.

Track Team

Head Coach, Mike Long surprised everyone by pulling a supposedly dormant FSU track team out of oblivion and guiding it to the Florida AAU title at Gainesville.

And the volleyball team even got in on the show This outfit, somewhat overshadow-ed by the larger FSU athletic organizations, brought home the national volleyball title.

Coach Receives Baseball Award

Danny Litwhiler, Florida State University's popular and talented baseball coach, has been awarded life membership in the Association of Professional Baseball Players of America.

Litwhiler, who established the present standing record in the major leagues of 187 games without an error in outfield play while with the Philadelphia Phillies, received a gold card of membership from the Association.

Litwhiler received the gold award membership for his 20 years of service and membership in professional baseball.

Tech Speed Spells Disaster In 'Baby' Seminole Opener

TRIBE SCORES

Seminole halfback Jerry Henderson opened up the second quarter by faking a kick and skirting the rubt end for 20 yards. On the next play, Tech drew a 15 yard penalty and the Tribe was awarded the ball on the Engineer one-yard-line. Henderson carried it over from there and Bod Leonard added the extra point.

The Tribe forward wall came alive at that point and the Engineers were forced to give ground The next break came when Bobby Dover, back in Tech, was thrown for a loss on Tech's own 21-yard-line The Tribe was ready to move.

Quarterback Ted Rodrigue replaced Vic Prinzi and the offagain, on-again ind directed the Seminoles to a commanding 14-13 lead. Two fine plunges by Buddy Reynales moved the ball to the 17. Then Rodrigue moved it up the middle to first down on the 8 Bod Leonard rolled down to the two and Rodrigue completely fooled the light Tech defense and passed to Emil Ahead for the six pointer. Leonard again added the extra.

The score remained at 14-13 throughout the third period with Tech finally breaking away for the winning touchdown as the fourth quarter began.

THE VARDETICK

	1ST	TECH
First Downs	13	17
Yards Rushing	156	174
Yards Passing	82	82
Passes Attempted	10	7
Passes Completed	3	3
Passes Intercepted	2	0
Punt Average	40	43
Fumbles Lost	2	0
Yards Penalized	45	35

GARNET & GOLD
Home of the Educated Burger—
FOR DELIVERY CALL 2-2892
Chicken In The Wood Pile . . . $1.25
Shrimp In The Box $1.25
Garnet & Gold
631 W. Tennessee St. Phone 2-2892

Records
Phonographs
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Quality Dry Cleaners
For Expert
CLEANING REPAIRING
PRESSING ALTERING
CALL OR GO BY
2-5097 215 W. College

Intramural Managers Meet Today At Four

There will be an intramural managers meeting today at 4:30 p.m. in the Trophy Room

Intramural basketball practice may be held any afternoon this week in the Men's gym after 4:00. Practice may not be held on Saturday and Sundays.

Film Previews

Four films will be previewed tonight in the Trophy Room of the Student Service Center from 7:30 to 8:30 Tonight's previews include "Fire in Their Learning," "Ancient Egypt," "How to Concentrate" and "Are You Ready for Marriage."

Social Security
in 3 seconds
Old Spice
STICK
DEODORANT
Quickest, cleanest deodorant you've ever used! Simply glide stick under arms—it melts in. Instantly. Contains THIOBIPHENE*, the most effective anti-bacteria agent. It's the New Kind of Social Security —gives you absolute assurance. 4 to 5 months' supply, 1.00 plus tax
*Trademark
no more
• runny liquid
• sticky cream
• messy fingers
At leading department and drug stores.
SHULTON
New York Toronto

STUDENTS! IT'S LUCKY DROODLE TIME AGAIN!
Got a Lucky Droodle in your noodle?
Send it in and
MAKE $25
Hundreds and hundreds of students earned $25 in Lucky Strike's Droodle drive last year—and they'll tell you it's the easiest money yet.
Droodles are a snap to do—just look at the samples here. Droodle anything you want. Droodle as many as you want. If we select your Droodle, we'll pay $25 for the right to use it, with your name, in our advertising. And we always end up paying for plenty we don't use!
Send your Droodle, complete with title, to Lucky Droodle, P. O. Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Include your name, address, college and class. Please include, too, the name and address of the dealer in your college town from whom you buy cigarettes most often.
While you droodle, light up a Lucky, the cigarette that tastes better because it's made of fine tobacco . . . and "It's Toasted" to taste better.
BOWLING BALL FOR CENTIPEDE — Ann Bower, Sarah Lawrence
BLANK VERSE — John Venezia, Boston College
DROODLER, Copyright 1957 by Roger Price
"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!
LUCKY STRIKE
CIGARETTES
L.S./M.F.T.
Cat's product of The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES
FLASH! COLLEGE STUDENTS PREFER LUCKIES
Luckies lead all other brands, regular or king size, among 36,075 college students questioned coast-to-coast. The number one reason: Luckies taste better.

Meet Thursday

International Students Plan Year Of Varied Activities

By MARGARET MILLER

The International Students Club meets Thursday for the first time this year in the large Lounge at 7:30 p.m.

All foreign students and American students on the campus have been invited to attend Sen Baptista, Counselor for Foreign Students, urges American students who are interested in meeting the foreign students or who wish to become members of the club, to attend.

Officers

Officers of the International Students Club this year are: from Germany, Elke Pistk president; Carlos Otero from Puerto Rico, vice president; Mrs. Somsri Vadhanaprasith from Thailand, treasurer; Anita Wall, America, correspondins secretary; Kap Piper, Cuba, recording secretary; and Eva Sas, Dominican Republic, social chairman.

Activities scheduled this year for the club include the traditional Christmas party. As this social function, the club is host to university administrative personnel and civic and religious leaders of Tallahassee. As entertainment, the Christmas customs and carols of the various countries of the students will be presented in the club as presented.

Talent Show

A foreign talent show, a new activity for the club is the second his event for the club this year. Although indefinite, plans are that it will be held in Westcott Auditorium in March. Dances, songs, and the native dress of the various countries will be featured on the program.

This program will be presented in the place of several smaller programs which feature one country each time as was done last year. Movies, lectures, panel discussions are some of the other club activities planned. Also the club sponsors speeches by its members in various communities and civic groups of Tallahassee.

Objectiva

The primary objective of this club is to foster an understanding between foreign and American students on this campus.

Poet Speaks

(Continued From Page 1)

ected by Norman Holmes Pearson.

Given Award

In 1934 Dr Blackstock was accorded the 1933 Literary Achievement Award for Poetry by Georgia Writers' Association During 1934-35 after winning a Ford Foundation Faculty Fellowship, he studied with noted American poet, Archibald MacLeish, at Harvard.

Dr. Blackstock has published much of his own poetry, as well as many articles of a scholarly, critical nature on important topics in American life and literature His latest book The Deeper Bond which is to be published this fall contains his selected new poems, some of which were printed for the first time in various magazines and newspapers.

Informal Session

For those who are not familiar with the Coffee Hour a speaker informally sets the stage for discussion and questions which usually follow. This informality makes it possible, not only to meet the guest of the afternoon more intimately, but also faculty members and students.

This year's Coffee Hour programs will present outstanding people from the University campus, and the surrounding area. Programs have been scheduled in poetry music dance art and many other fields.

Dr Allen Thomson of the English and humanities department is chairman of this year's Coffee Hour. Publicity is handled by Mr James Wellington of the English department while various other members of the department arrange the social program.

American students who are interested in furthering this purpose are invited to become members of the club, and one American student is always represented on the list of officers.

Elke Frank, president, reports that "most of the foreign students on this campus feel very much at home here I have received letters from club members who have left FSU, and they all mention their home-away-from-FSU They say no other university can make them feel as much at home and say they miss FSU's spirit of friendliness as other universities."

She concluded, "We hope this year to do our part in contributing to the spirit of FSU."

Movies Begin Next Tuesday

Free movies will begin at Florida State University dorms next Tuesday

The movies are shown at 7:30 p.m. four nights a week. The same picture will be shown the entire week starting at Landis Hall on Tuesday and continuing to Florida Hall on Wednesday, Senior Hall on Thursday and West Hall on Friday

The schedule will include "Mother Is A Freshman", October 18 and "Pride of St. Louis", October 25

"Three Sailors and a Girl" November 1 "Stars and Stripes Forever" November 8, "A Royal Scandal" November 15 and "One Foot in Heaven" November 22

Principal 'New Moon' Tryouts Set For Tonight, Wednesday

By MARTY REEVES

Campus Carusos are putting in extra practice this week as tryouts get underway for another Light Opera Guild production—this year Sigmund Romberg's "The New Moon".

Positions for the chorus, which will consist of 20 men and 20 girls, were "vied for" last night. Also, applicants for the jobs of accompanying both the principals and chorus were a uditioned. Requisites for accompanying the show include "good pianistic ability and excellent sight reading" said Dr. Robert L. Bright, music director.

Tryouts Tonight

Tryouts for the principal roles will be held tonight and Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall. Several music scores and one libretto are in the Music Library and may be checked out for short periods. It was announced.

The principal speaking roles are Vicomte Ribaud, a Parisian dandy; Jacques, a ship's carpenter. Other singing and speaking roles include Julie, Marianne's maid, Marianne Beaumor, Clotilde Lombasse, of the Bride Ship; Captain Georges Duval, commander of "The New Moon" Robert Mission, Beaumor's bond-servant; Alexander, servant and friend of Robert; Beaur, boatswain of "The New Moon" and Phillipe, Robert's friend

Bit Parts

Small bit parts, to be assigned later to the chorus. Include a doorkeeper and proprietor of a tavern, Admiral DeLaunay, butler, seamstress, flower girl and footmette.

Dancers' parts also to be announced later, are a Spanish dancer and girl dancer in the large and a boy and girl who tango.

"It's a beautiful show," quite a bawdy, sexy, rollicking thing."

ROTC Corp Starts Army Cadet Award

ARMY ROTC Cadet Corps today announced the creation of a Cadet of the Month Award.

The award, to be announced the first day of each month, is so to the freshman or sophomore cadet who has displayed the highest degree of outstanding leadership.

Malone's Book Store
BOOKS Everything for the Student SUPPLIES
FOR ALL KINDS OF SUPPLIES
MAKE MALONE'S YOUR HEADQUARTERS

Enterprising Interlopers—Tom Massey, age 12, is pictured above with his fast-growing skill at skimming, fearless skiing and skates after seeing FSU society hostess carrying their high heels from house to house during bitch hens only when necessary. Leaving him their shoes are rushees Gloria Harris, Ruth Starling, and Sharon Pacetta.

Whew!—Pledge Alex Tan exercises momentarily in lawn cool during morning humidity rush period last week.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
Last Times Today
The Scarlet Coat
Wednesday thru Saturday
The Left Hand of God
with
Humphrey Bogart and Gene Tierney

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
Bad For Each Other
Starring Charlton Heston, Lizabeth Scott and Dianne Foster
—also—
The Mad Magician
Starts Thursday
The Phenix City 'Alabama' Story

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
Today and Tomorrow
Black Widow
With Ginger Rogers
Thursday thru Saturday
Cattle Queen of Montana
—plus—
Carolina Cannonball

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Today and Tomorrow
Anchors Aweigh
In Technicolor
With Frank Sinatra, Kathryn Grayson, Gene Kelly and Jose Iturbi
Thursday thru Saturday
The Siege at Red River
and
Battle Taxi

DIAMONDS & WATCHES
Gifts, Jewelry
PAUL TURNER
JEWELER
Complete Repair Service
112 S. Monroe St. Ph. 3-442

Meet YOUR FRIENDS At The MECCA
Enjoy tasty meals while relaxing in an air-conditioned store
"For Better Food at Lower Prices"
111 South Copeland

NEW LOCATION 109 E. CALL STREET
Across from Democrat Bldg
Smith-Corona Electric Typewriters
Victor Automatic Calculators
SMITH-CORONA—ROYAL—OLIVETTI—UNDERWOOD
OLYMPIA PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
We lend you a machine free while we repair yours
Sales Repairs Rentals
WYATT'S BUSINESS MACHINES
2-1098 Call For and Delivery 2-1098

HOTEL, RESTAURANT STUDENTS NOTE

A fire-food demonstration will be conducted by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Commission in session for tonight at 8 p.m. in the food lab 137 Dennis Hall

Due to limited space available for demonstration ill be open to food and restaurant department students only

Moore Says

(Continued From Page 1)

remembering attitude as the means to the end.

"The idea is to work with the administration on these committees For the total improvement of the university rather than have an antagonistic attitude which too often in the past has been the case."

Moore said he will recommend that senate deliberate at greater length on all bills coming before it.

He revealed he will ask the re-draft of a bill passed last year, but still before faculty committee, providing for all university court cases to be tried by both men's and women's divisions.

Moore said allowing men to serve in such cases should be the option of the accused, if the accused is a woman. He charged the bill was hastily passed under the assumption university court cases had been consulted when, according to Moore, they had not been.

The president announced he will take a stand of representative council in favor of class and dormitory elections be passed

Moore will ask also that student government officials "take the option themselves" to enforce the honor system. Previously he announced he will praise National Student Association, but recommend against membership this year.

They should make a play date that will signal every time one died shake some of Jim Moore's money out.

The Florida Times-Union
A Complete Newspaper
Only Way to Get ALL the SPORTS NEWS!

ALL the Thrills of the Big Games are Yours in Our Sports Section.

● THE FULL STORY of each day's exciting events in the baseball world is yours in the Sports Pages of this newspaper.

You ENJOY standout sports reporting, as you read the colorful accounts of each game! You SEE the most spectacular plays, in close-up camera shots. You THRILL to exclusive stories about popular players by famous sports writers! You KNOW the complete scores, standings, averages and inside dope about your favorite teams and stars! And you GET swift news coverage of the entire sports world every day! ONLY your daily newspaper can give you ALL THAT!

What's more, it enables you to keep pace with ALL the latest news of local, national and foreign affairs—as well as enjoy a daily all-star line-up of entertaining columnists, features and comics! So, if a Carrier is not serving you now, better phone us to start delivery of the paper that has ALL the news.

For Home or Dormitory Delivery PHONE 3-0421

It's The SWEET SHOP
For SODA
SUNDRIES
LUNCHEONETTE
Tussy
Cosmetics

YOUR BIG RED LETTER DAY the day you change to L&M

1. SUPERIOR FILTER Only L&M gives you the superior filtration of the Miracle Tip, the purest tip that ever touched your lips. It's white ...all white... pure white.

2. SUPERIOR TASTE L&M's superior taste comes from superior tobaccos — especially selected for filter smoking. Tobaccos that are richer, tastier... and light and mild.

EFFECTIVE FILTRATION
KING SIZE
L&M FILTERS
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Join the L&M Circle

Smoke America's Best Filter Cigarette

Go Seminoles!
—Beat Miami—
Scalp 'Em

The Florida Flambeau

Florida's Only
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

Vol. XLII, No. 4 — Published By The Students Of Florida State University — Friday, September 30, 1955

Sororities Take In 300 As Rush Week Ends

(Flambeau Photo by Tom Sawyer)

What's My Line?—Rehearsing their lines for the Speech Department's "Blythe Spirit" production are, l. to r., Carolyn Brown, Michael Moss, John Paul Davis and Elvin (Bud) Greene.

Senate Repetition In First Full Meet Told By Observer

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Student Senate held its first [illegible] meeting of the year Wednesday afternoon, but to observers [it] was no different from last year. Two different bills on apportionment who should elect senators [illegible] now were introduced.

Both were similar to measures [brou]ght up and debated for several [mon]ths last year. Sponsors of one were Senators Jim Moore and Barbara Hughes. Jim Soles [introdu]ced the other.

[Soles'] plan would have senators [elect]ed as follows: Two men and [two] women from sophomore, junior and senior classes, elected in [the] spring, three freshmen men to [ta]ke office in the fall; one senator [ea]ch from Gilchrist, Landis, Florida and Cawthon dormitories; one [ea]ch from Magnolia and Senior [hal]ls two from West Hall; and [one] senator each from Reynolds, [Ja]mes Murphree and Bryan-Broward combined to represent freshmen women.

Hughes-Moore Plan

According to Soles' bill, freshmen [livi]ng in Gilchrist Hall, if any, [wou]ld vote and run for office in [Br]yan-Broward group.

[The] proposal put forth by Senators Moore and Hughes is more ex[tensiv]e. Senators would be elect[ed] as follows:

Two men and two women each [from] senior, junior, and sophomore [class]es elected in the spring, one [man] and one woman from the [fresh]man class, elected in the fall; [two] men and two women elected [at la]rge from the fraternities and [soror]ities elected in the fall; two [sena]tors chosen by day students; [one] freshmen men, selected in the [fall]; one senator each from Gil[christ], Landis, Florida, Cawthon, [Magn]olia and Senior halls and two [from] West Hall all elected in the [fall].

One from West campus, repre[senti]ng married students living [there] and one senator each from [Jame]s Murphree, Reynolds, and [Bry]an-Broward halls combined, as [in] Soles' plan.

One Residence

Both systems would require someone elected from a particular group such as a dormitory or by the fraternities to maintain his residence in that group all year.

Moore said his proposal would [eli]minate multiple offices by hav[ing] candidates select a "group" [th]ere would be, for instance, two [gro]ups in West Hall. A candidate [wou]ld be running only against [any]one who declared his candida[cy] for that group. All residents [wo]uld vote on both groups, how[ever].

Moore declared his and Senator Hughes' plan would guarantee representation to all students.

Representation Assured

Soles whose bill was introduced [fir]st intimated fraternities and sororities would receive adequate [re]presentation from those elected [as] class senators. He said only [the]se senators are dormitory resi[dents] with the rest living in fra[terni]ty or sorority houses.

Soles, and Senators Karl Edwards and Polly Atwater were [n]amed a special committee to [st]udy the problem and report back [to] Senate.

Last year, when similar measures were introduced, no agreement could be reached. If a defi[ni]te reapportionment system had [b]een reached, according to the Student Government constitution at [th]at time, it would have had to go [be]fore the student body as a con[sti]tutional amendment. The stu[de]nts ratified an amendment last [sp]ring making this process no long[er] necessary. If three-fourths of [the] Senators can reach an agree[ment] this year, reapportionment [will] take place in the form of a [bill], instead of a separate amend[me]nt.

Students Elect Board Members

Three student members of the Board of Student Publications will be chosen November 1 by the student body at the same time as freshman elections, Student Body President Coyle Moore has announced.

The Board, which has not been organized yet, will have five student members, two of whom will be appointed by the president with the consent of the Student Senate. Three faculty members will serve. The editors of Smoke Signals, Tally-Ho, and the Florida Flambeau will be non-voting members.

According to the constitutional amendment passed last Spring, the board will select editors each spring from applicants. It was designed to set general business and managerial policies for the publications.

The three elected members must be of junior or senior standing and have the grade average required for a major office. Each must have two semesters of experience on student publications, one of which must be at Florida State University, or six semester hours of class work in journalism above the 200 level.

Organizational Meet Slated For Demolay

An organizational meeting to discuss forming a Demolay chapter in Tallahassee is slated for Wednesday, at the Masonic Lodge.

All faculty members in the Masonic order and Florida State University men who are affiliated with Demolay are invited to attend the meeting.

Dr. Paul Davee Proclaims Cast Of 'Blithe Spirit'

By BILL KING

Dr. Paul Davee has announced the cast of Blithe Spirit, an improbable farce by Noel Coward. It is the story of Charles and Ruth Condomine, played by John Davis and Carolyn Brown, and their encounters with the spirit world.

Charles, a novelist, is planning a book on spiritualism and invites Madam Arcati (Kitty Culpepper), the local medium, to give a seance for him and his friends Dr. and Mrs. Bradman (Bud Greene and Michael Moss). The seance, while quite confusing and and chaotic, doesn't prove too successful.

After the guests leave, Elvira, Charles' deceased first wife, appears in spirit form. Elvira, played by Norma Trippodo, insists that she was called back by Charles who swears he had nothing to do with it. Ruth, who cannot see or hear Elvira decides that Charles has had too much to drink.

After receiving several insults, which Charles insists were directed at Elvira, Ruth storms off to bed leaving the two to renew old acquaintences.

That next day Ruth half-heartedly resigns herself that Elvira is really with them and begins a battle of woman versus ghost for the keeping of her husband.

The women do not like each other and numerous attempts are made by each to win their husband back to them. Elvira resorts to witch-craft on a small scale, throwing vases, moving furniture, slamming doors, and causing the maid, Edith (Jacque Thomas), to have a brain concussion.

Plea Made

Ruth threatens Elvira, and tries to plead and humor Charles. She finally asks Madam Arcati to send Elvira back. Elvira doesn't like this kind of snake-in-the-grass tactics and decides to kill Charles so that she can have him all to herself. She tampers with the steering aparatus on the car and then tries to persuade Charles to drive her to town. In the meantime, Ruth has decided to drive into town to

(Continued on Page 3)

FSU Singers Plan Unusual Music

By MARTY REEVES

A repertoire of unusual music, comprised of everything from show tunes and Negro spirituals to Russian seculars and motets will make up the programs this year of the University Singers.

Directed by Dr. Wiley L. Housewright, the group will give its first formal concert on campus on December 2. Composed of Christmas music from such countries as Spain, Poland, France, England, and America as well as general sacred music, the concert will also be presented at the Federal Correctional Institute.

Going on tour the first week in March, the Singers will present a program of folk songs, show tunes and serious music.

Spring Concert

Dr. Housewright was especially enthusiastic about the formal spring concert, to be held on April 27. Besides including some of the music from the tour, the program will contain arrangements by David Ward-Stenman, junior music major, of Gershwin's "A Foggy Day," and Coquatrix's "Count Every Star." There will also be a motet, or theme in variation form which the director said he had seen performed only three times in the past. Several show tunes will be sung and also some "wonderful Negro spirituals," including "He's Got the Whole World in His Hand," and "There's a City Called Heaven." "One of the songs is real lush harmonically and really gets under your skin," said Dr. Housewright.

Bass Section

Another part of the concert will be a group of Russian seculars. "For the first time since I've been at FSU we have a good base section, said Housewright. "I've had to wait seven years before we could sing much Russian music. This is the year."

He thinks the group is especially good this year, owing to "such a substantial contingent from the years past, and the new people who have come in fo rthe most part have very fresh, wonderful voices. Having so few vacancies we were able to pick and choose very carefully."

No Limitations

"There are almost no limitations technically on our choice of music because we are such a selected group," he said. There are 68 students in the organization. He added, however, that they were not selecting music that was too highbrow for the general public. "It will be good, appealing music—not hard to listen to."

Besides the regular concerts, the Singers perform at numerous other functions throughout the year. "We also hope to do something with the University Symphony in the spring," said Dr. Housewright, "but it is undecided."

Blackstock, First Speaker Here, Likes Teaching

By ARLIEDA RIES

"I like teaching, its stimulation provides the tension needed to write," states Dr. Walter Blackstock, poet and FSU faculty member.

Dr. Blackstock, who is to speak at today's English Coffee Hour, has recently returned to the campus after a year's stay at Harvard, where he studied with noted poet and former Assistant Secretary of State Archibald MacLeish.

Born In Atlanta

Walter Blackstock was born in Atlanta, Georgia, where he lived until he obtained his BA from the University of Georgia. He then enlisted in the Navy for a duration of two years. He has engaged in both the tailoring and the insurance businesses. From there Dr. Blackstock proceeded to earn his MA from Vanderbilt and PhD from Yale.

In 1938, with two years of teaching at U. of Georgia behind him, he came to FSU, where he now teaches classes in poetry, humanities and survey in American literature. When asked how he liked Florida, Dr. Blackstock replied that it was all right, but "my home is in Georgia."

1953 Award

Having been accorded the 1953 Literary Achievement Award for Poetry by Georgia Writers' Association, Dr. Blackstock went on to win a Ford Foundation Faculty Fellowship, a competitive award designed to revitalize teachers. This was the opportunity he needed to study with fellow poet, Dr. MacLeish, about whom, Blackstock comments "we share a bond of oneliness."

Much of Dr. Blackstock's poetry has been printed, most of it in poetry magazines, while six books have also been printed, with the seventh due to come out in the fall. To write lyric poetry that wil stand the test of time is his main desire for the future.

"The Professor"

From his most recent book Call Back the Swallows, published in 1953, comes this sample of Dr. Walter Blackstock's work, entitled "The Professor":

He meant to spare no rigid rule of fact
Or discipline: his duty was to voice
The three partitions Caesar made of Gaul—
To speak of ablatives—he had no choice.

But spring became the conqueror
one day:
Green renaissance supplanted
Latin talk
And he who planned a pedagogic scheme
Forgot—and drew strange daffodils with chalk

Solons Renew Election Fight

One of Student Senate's biggest bones of contention last year was resurrected Wednesday—the demand that vacancies in elected offices be filled by special elections rather than presidential appointment.

It came up in a proposed constitutional amendment submitted by Senators Jim Moore and Barbara Hughes. A special election would have to be held not later than four weeks after the vacancy is present.

The amendment would eliminate what has been a major cause of vacancies in student government by forbidding students who will intern during the year from candidacy.

The amendment was referred to a special committee which is also mulling two different proposals for altering the manner of electing senators. Members are Senators Jimmy Soles, Polly Atwater and Karl Edwards.

Last year's Senate held several votes but advocates of special elections for vacancies never mustered the two-thirds majority necessary to pass a constitutional amendment.

Senate Hears 'Posting' Bill

A bill was introduced Wednesday in Student Senate to prohibit the posting of campaign literature on trees, telephone posts, or shrubbery.

The bill, written by Senator Jimmy Soles, was referred to Soles, elections and appointments committee.

Senator Gordon Gaster protested banning posters not nailed or pasted to the plants. Men's vice-president Hans Tewa said there would be no point in prohibiting lamppost posters.

The bill will come up for a vote next Wednesday.

(Flambeau Photo by Tom Sawyer)

DR. BLACKSTOCK
Will speak at Coffee Hour today.

New Moon Lead Winners Picked

Results of the tryouts for the Light Opera Guild's fall production, "The New Moon," were announced yesterday.

Taking the lead roles will be Elvin Greene who will portray Robert Misson, a bondservant; and Martha Slayden, who will play Marianne Beaunoir, a shipowner's daughter.

Principal Roles

Other principal roles will be Julie, Marianne's maid, played by Barbara Schailer; Alexander, another bondservant, played by Peter Peck; Clotilde, of the Bride Ship, portrayed by Char-laine Weeks; Philippe, a friend of Robert, played by Forrest McGinley; Monsieur Beaunoir, a shipowner of New Orleans, portrayed by Wiljohn Schiffermuller; Captain Duval commander of "The New Moon," taken by John Zilles; Vicomte Ribaud, a Parisian prefect, portrayed by George Goldstein; Jacques, a ship's carpenter, played by James Ralston; and Besac, boatswain of "The New Moon," taken by Virall Austin.

Chorus

Numerous bit parts will be cast from the ranks of the chorus, which will include Nettie Black, Beverly Brown, Nancy Cubbon, Shirley Dallas, Ethel Donaldson, Louise Gillespie, Gay Gillies, Donna Hastings, Bette Holloway, June Kight, Mary Jane Marriott, Doris Pulliam, June Rodgers, Barbara Harless, Mary Ann Howes.

Also in the chorus will be Harriette Morrill, Carol Owen, Jane Salley, Loida Velazquez, Carol Wilson, Arthur Buluman, Bob Kennedy, Patrick Napier, Ralph Nolen, Robert Parrish, Sheldon Torn, Billy Alton, Steve Bevan, Jerry Connell, James Kearee, Lonnie Keene, and Gene Rowell.

Experience

All the leads and many of the chorus members have a long list of past experience behind them in the dramatic field. Martha Slayden, the female lead, was in the cast of "Sweethearts," played Nettie in "Carousel," was with the Atlanta Opera Company, and last summer was in the cast of "Guys and Dolls," "South Pacific," "Wonderful Town," "Wish You Were Here," "Annie Get Your Gun," and "High Button Shoes" with Richard Aldrich's

(Continued on Page 3)

Students Given Insurance Plan

A total of 1,763 Student Accident Insurance Policies have been sold according to J. Hamilton Boulware, insurance representative for the plan.

Mr. Boulware emphasized there is no deadline for subscribing to the policy. It is available at the Student Government Office, 214 Longmire, or Room 105 of the Pepper Building in downtown Tallahassee.

The price of $6.25 is a reduction of $2.25 from last year's premiums. Any recipient of the policy will be covered with a $1,000 accident blanket insurance plan from the date of purchase till September 11, 1956. This means the plan will be in effect while the student is away from school, and all during the summer months.

Students who have already purchased the policy will receive their identification cards in the mail within the next two weeks.

Senior Deadline For Pictures Today

Today is the last day for Seniors to have their Tally-Ho pictures taken. The studio, fourth floor of Longmire, will be open this afternoon from 3 to 5, and tonight from 7 to 9.

Juniors can begin having their pictures taken Monday. The schedule for juniors will be from October 3 through 14, 3 to 5 in the afternoon, and 7:30 to 9:30 evenings.

Dress is coats, white shirts and dark ties for men, dressy clothes for women.

Flambeau Photo by Steve Kleidt

New Moon—Among students who tried out for parts in the Light Opera Guild's annual production were, l. to r., Karen Kimpel, George Goldstein and June Kight.

Pecans, Pecans—Who Gets The FSU Pecans?

FSU pecans for FSU students! This was the ultimatum voiced by Senator Bill Swigert Wednesday in Student Senate.

While not putting it exactly that way Swigert did protest the practice he said some non-students have of collecting pecans from FSU's many pecan trees and selling the nuts for profit.

"It's not me who wants to eat the pecans," Swigert said. "It's the students."

"What about the squirrels?" queried a colleague amidst general uproar.

Soles Appointed To Powerful Senate Position

Junior Senator Jimmy Soles was named head of the Student Senate's powerful elections and appointments committee by vice-president Jimmy Joanos Wednesday.

Others on the committee, which normally reviews all presidential appointments and considers proposed election legislation, will be Senators Germaine M[illegible]ay, Mary Louise Dee and Karl Edwards.

Senator Jim Moore was appointed chairman of the judicial and rules committee. Others on the committee will be Senators Bill Swigert, Greta Sims and Polly Atwater.

Finance

On the organizations and finance committee will be Senators David Bachman chairman, Gordon Gaster and Bebe Bsoee. This committee has responsibility for student budget legislation.

Senator Liz Cerny was chosen chairman of the labor, student services and education committee, on which Senators Barbara Hughes and Fred Mansfield will serve.

Senators Carolyn Close, chairman Ed Mann and Hank McCann will comprise the recreational and social committee.

Recommendations

Soles elections and appointments committee was assigned a task before Wednesday's session was a few minutes older. The Senate refused to confirm without committee recommendation the appointments of Evelyn Moll to a vacant junior women's seat on Honor Court, of Guy Milner, Herbert Lacayo and Norma Trippodo as assistants to the attorney general, and of Harold Stewart as under-secretary of finance for funds.

Most Senators who voted against confirmation said they had no opposition to the persons chosen but said the appointments should be considered by committee before acceptance.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

All freshmen and transfer students are required to take the "Knowledge for College" test. This will be given in Westcott at 11 a.m., October 8th.

ACE MEET SLATED

The first meeting of the Association of Childhood Education will be October 5, 1955, at 7 p.m. in Longmire.

The program will be based on "Lit" for the "Little Ones."

Totals Prepared For Sixteen FSU Sororities

Florida State University sororities will pledge an estimated three hundred women this weekend.

The sixteen sororities gave out bids last night and the official ceremonies will take place Friday or Monday.

Bids were issued to the following women who are listed according to sorority:

Alpha Chi Omega—[illegible] Baker [illegible] Johnson [illegible] Knight [illegible] Parker [illegible] Taylor, Kay Elene and [illegible] Ada Leigh.

Alpha Delta Pi—Alexander, Joan; [illegible] Mary [illegible] Merritt [illegible] Elnore [illegible] Fiwas, Gay Faircloth [illegible] Ann Hamner, Ruth Hare; [illegible] Vivian Plume [illegible] Ann Roger[s] [illegible] Mary Pa[illegible] Shaw [illegible] Allen and Wilson, Mary Broughton.

Alpha Gamma Delta—[illegible] Pauline Entzminger, Sarah [illegible] Gates, Elmer, Grant, Julia Hager [illegible] Conrad [illegible] Mary [illegible] Phillips [illegible] Sergent, Arlene [illegible] Suzanne K. [illegible]

Alpha Omicron Pi—Barnes, Edna Priscilla [illegible] Linda Ellen [illegible] Jean Cashon, Doris Anne; [illegible] Patricia [illegible] Carole; [illegible] Roberta Marie [illegible] Lois [illegible] Sue [illegible]

Alpha Xi Delta—[illegible] Sledd, Margaret Reed and [illegible] Doreen.

Chi Omega—Anderson, Jane Andrews [illegible] Bishop Bodley [illegible] Douglas, Jacquelyn [illegible] Ann [illegible] Mary Priscill[a] Moody, Julie Ann; [illegible] Rhodes [illegible] Jan Walker, Frances [illegible] JoAda; Yeager [illegible] Mary and Roberts [illegible]

Delta Delta Delta—Allen, Judith [illegible] Benedict [illegible] Coleman [illegible] Marie; [illegible] Earl Elizabeth [illegible] Leuck, Sallie [illegible] Helen [illegible] and Wilson, Jeanne [illegible]

Delta Gamma—Bernard, Olive Fin[illegible]

(Continued on Page 3)

Moore Asks Recall Of Bill On FSU Court

Student Body President Coyle Moore is asking the recall of a bill which would require men and women members of University Court to remain one unit in all cases.

According to the bill, passed by Student Senate last May, women offenders as well as men would stand trial before the entire court.

Attorney General Tom Woods said such trials might be embarrassing to women students. He said it should be optional with them whether men would sit in judgement.

Any modification, he ventured, would leave intact the requirement that cases involving a man and a woman would be tried by the entire group.

The bill in question also reduced the membership of the court from 18 to 12, and provided for members to be elected by a vote of their class only, instead of by the entire student body.

Grad Class Holds Picnic Before Game

'Before the game, football that is, there's to be a picnic that's really a whiz.'

This is how the graduate class announced it's first social event. It will be held before the V.P.I. game, October 8th, at the Reservation.

Transportation will be provided by the campus bus, which leaves the front of the Women's Gym at one, three, and five. The bus will return at 6 p.m. to allow time for students wishing to attend the game.

Chicken dinner "a-la-prima" will be served at five. Meal tickets will go on sale at the Westcott ticket booth Monday, October 2nd, for 75 cents.

The rest of the costs are being subsidized to allow for greater attendance.

Aftermath Of Silence

In view of student apathy towards the Homecoming dance preparations, we want to remind the student body that they have no gripes coming when the committee makes a decision on its own.

We thank Graham Carothers, his committee, and Ed Whittlesby for their valiant but vain efforts to get a majority of student opinion before making their decision. Whatever they decide now, we feel certain it will be in the best interests of the occasion, space, and financial situation. And we urge the students to support the decision.

It is regrettable, however, that in a community where the voice of the people is sought after, it is seldom heard. Not a small matter, the Homecoming celebration is of campuswide and statewide importance both to students, visitors and alumni, yet we predict that many students will cry out after the decision is revealed, students who did not bother to express their opinion when they had the chance.

The fact that only two students thought about the problem enough to give their suggestions to the committee gives only those two students a right to disagree with that decision. But we hope the student body will realize the space situation and accept the committee's recommendation for its temporary value.

Carothers has also suggested, and we heartily support his idea, that arrangements for next year's Homecoming dance be made before the end of the school term this year. This would eliminate the perennial problem of hiring a name band at the last minute.

Room For One More?

We've set a record for enrollment—6,323 students at Florida State University, as compared to last year's previous record of 5,650. But breaking the 1954 record is not as happy an occasion as one might expect.

With the increased enrollment, it is already evident that FSU cannot accommodate many more students without becoming too large an institution. The Council of Higher Education predicts that the three state universities will have to take care of some 10,000 students each by 1970 if the expected increases come about.

The junior colleges cannot be established too quickly if high standards of education are to be maintained in the state.

But one item in the registration figures is pleasing—FSU now has more men than women, 3,311 men to 3,012 of the fairer sex. Not a staggeringly larger percentage, but about 1 and one-tenth per for every coed. Too bad it's not leap year!

They're Trying

Many complaints are being heard about the present parking situation, and the most common one is that of not being able to park on campus overnight.

We believe the reasons behind this restriction are good in that students already living on campus do not need the space as badly as those living off campus and beyond walking distance. If cars were left overnight, these other students would be unable to park anywhere in the mornings, while students who live here already enjoy the near proximity of classes. It seems fair enough.

A word of praise is due the traffic committee in their continuing efforts to park a registered number of 3700 cars in 1100 parking spaces. It's almost an impossible task, but we wish them luck in solving the dilemma with the greatest amount of satisfaction for all, even if it can't be complete satisfaction for everyone.

Seventh Inning Stretch

Everybody's got it. World Series fever, that is, and radios are surreptitiously appearing in the classrooms on the FSU campus. Businessmen, suspiciously "in conference" as well as professors, deans, and students all over the United States can give the afternoon score in two seconds flat.

We commend the institution of baseball in this country. The world series is not only a seventh inning stretch in the life of Americans, but it represents a national frivolity which is a good sign of healthy government.

What peoples behind the iron curtain have the freedom of conscience to forget most everything else and let loose with "Kill Those Bums!" or "Come On, Yanks!" in the enthusiasm of the moment?

Enough Is Enough

The female suffragettes still exist!

Yes, it was they who called that compulsory meeting for all upperclass women last night! To cement the women into a "sense of oneness!" To tell them how they can serve in student government!

Seriously, there are enough required meetings, too many, in fact. If any woman on campus, after having experienced one two, or three years of house meetings, campaign posters, knowledge of college books and election stories, doesn't know yet how women figure in student government, no meeting will educate her.

What Senate should lead the way to fewer repetitious meetings, not more.

A Better Measure

Politics, Health And The President

By JEROME BERNSTEIN

For years now politicians have tried to keep their health unaware of the President's true health picture. In 1880 when Grover Cleveland, then President, had an operation on his jaw for a cancer growth, the public wasn't informed until two months after the operation.

During the election year of 1944, it was known to many that Franklin Roosevelt was not in the best of health, but the press seemed unnecessary to let the voting public in on the knowledge. The same held true for Bob Taft, who after narrowly missing the Republican nomination, died several months later of cancer. In 1946 Wendell Willkie died of a heart ailment shortly after narrowly missing the Republican nomination.

This brings us to President Eisenhower. He and he alone has tried to give the nation as well as his party the incentive to keep him on themselves and not on the shoulders of a man who will be over 70 years old if elected to a second term as President of United States.

It has been the President who has stressed the advisability of younger blood in politics. Not only has he stressed this point but he has acted upon it. Vice-president Richard Nixon is only 42 years old and today is in effect "acting President." Due to the foresight of Eisenhower and Nixon has a knowledge of the policies of the White House, both national and international.

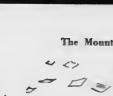
Without precedent, President Eisenhower has given him Nixon a program of full-scale participation in the formulation and execution of major administration policy and has kept him informed on some of the innermost secrets of the Chief Executive, something former President Truman has said was not done under FDR.

This asks the question whether the office of vice-president should officially, by an act of Congress, be enlarged so the vice-president will not preside just over the Senate when it meets.

Former President Truman took two steps in this direction. He asked Congress to make the Vice-president a statutory member of the National Security Council and provide that the Vice-President should preside in the absence of the President. Under President Eisenhower, Nixon has presided over the cabinet for going well. He has also been sent on several overseas missions as personal ambassador of the President.

Perhaps, however, it isn't just a question of enlarging the vice president's role in question as to whether it would not be wiser to elect younger men to positions now held by men in their sixties. This not only goes for the executive branch of government, but all branches. Surely men in their late forties and early fifties are just as qualified to hold such position?

A man like Ike, who has given most of his life to the service of his country, should not be asked to give more. This holds true for any man over sixty.



Students here at Florida State University are requested by this columnist to submit their own ideas on the subject. Submit your replies to A Better Measure, Florida Flambeau, Alumni Building.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller
Sports Editor ..... Pierce Lehmbeck
Senior Reporters ..... Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Mary Elizabeth King—Business Mgr.
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... Joan Halford
Exchange Ed. ..... Betsy Voorhees
Telephone 2,800, extension 6821, 3621
211, 213 Journalism Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

The Mountains Around Denver

At The Movies

Bogart, Tierney, Bacall, Widmark, Head Week's List Of Screen Stars

By WANDA SUE OWEN

Humphrey Bogart and Gene Tierney head the cast for The Left Hand of God, Twentieth Century Fox's CinemaScope, DeLuxe color production, which is now playing at the Florida.

The picture, based on a best-selling novel by William E. Barrett, tells the story of an American who, in order to escape from the service of a Chinese warlord, disguises the cloth he wears. Forced by circumstances into maintaining a masquerade, he encounters further personal and emotional problems when he falls in love with a mission nurse.

Priest and Nuns

Bogart has the role of the priest and Miss Tierney portrays the nurse in this reported $2 swashbuckler story, which combines adventure with love. Lee J. Cobb plays the Chinese warlord and other members of the cast include Agnes Moorhead, E. G. Marshall, Lee Parker, Cari Benlos Reid, Victor Sen Yung, Philip Ahn and Benson Fong.

On Sunday M-G-M brings its film version in CinemaScope and color of William Gibson's bestseller novel, The Cobweb, to the Florida screen.

Playing star roles in the absorbing drama behind the scenes drama of a psychiatric clinic are Richard Widmark, Lauren Bacall, Charles Boyer, Gloria Grahame, Lillian Gish, John Kerr and Susan Strasberg, with other prominent parts filled by Oscar Levant, little Tommy Rettig, Paul Stewart, Jayma Lewis, Adele Jergens, Edgar Stehli and child actress, Sandra Dorcher.

It was directed and produced respectively by Vincente Minnelli and John Houseman.

At the State

Playing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State is Walt Disney's "The Vanishing Prairie." Successor to last year's Academy Award-winning "The Living Desert," it tells the story of the great American prairie. Concentrating upon the creatures which live on the prairie and emphasizing the life cycle of those species now facing extinction, "The Vanishing Prairie" combines adventure with humor.

'Mambo'

The Ritz is open again, and this year it is showing some U. S. films as well as the foreign movies that it featured last year. Robert Rossen's Mambo, a new Paramount picture filmed entirely in Italy, will be the attraction for Sunday and Monday at the Ritz. All the King's Men." The film promises to be an unusual combination of drama, music and dancing.

Greek Magic Count Leonard Bonn's film in Fermanacolor of the South American jungle released by I. F. E. plays at the Ritz on Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

It Could Be Verse

By
STEVE KLEID
With apologies to R.W.E. P.H., W.S.J.

"The boy stood on the burning deck,
RUN, FOOL!!!

To be, or not to be, that is the question!
Whether it is better to be, or perhaps
It is better to have might have been.
In any case, to be is not necessarily to encounter
With the status of having been.
Though it is obviously better to have been so,
Instead of to have been not so."

"Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow."

—And, perhaps, aves the day after!

"A rose by any other name Might be a chrysanthemum."

The Flier's lament:

"Bubble bubble, toil and trouble,
I blow and blow, but still no bubble"

"Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou, Romeo?"

(Off stage)
"I'm in the bathroom, be out in a minute."

Letters To The Editor

On Our Side
To The Editor:

May I congratulate you for the very good editorial in Tuesday's Flambeau entitled, "Padding Whose Pockets?" This seems to contain good, straight, forward, common sense and should do much to clear the air concerning the plans for going forward with the purchase of the Flambeau press.

Sincerely yours,
R. K. OGLESBY
Dean of Students

The Visitor

Soph Offers "Modest" Proposals

By ARNOLD GREENFIELD

(Editor's Note: Arnold Greenfield, guest columnist this week, is a sophomore majoring in political science. A dean, governmental junkie, and a well-known fan what is friend of his terms "peripheral hobbyist.")

Even a casual observer of Student Government such as myself can see that the Senate time is here again. There are many undeniable and unmistakable signs. Most prominent of these is the "State of the Campus Address" delivered by President Coyle Moore to that august body of ladies and gentlemen—the student Senate. President Moore urged that the Senators act more maturely in the future, and that was very near applause. I would say there are a few certain suggestions that I as a humble student feel impelled to submit.

The first is that the chairmen of the university debate team be given athletic scholarships, limited and fed separately from the common run of peasants, and, most important, paid a salary. The fact that I would be in a position to enjoy these benefits if only Philosophy professors had in no way influenced my opinion.

The second bit of information that I would like to suggest is one which could be much more inexpensively instituted than the first. I submit that the Senate set aside some sort of meeting-room body to root out the intellectuals who inhabit our hallowed walls.

One brilliant thinker I recently came in contact with made a rather interesting observation. He looked my Philosophy professor straight in the eye, did not hedge or equivocate, and solemnly and pontifically remarked, "That Aristotle is pretty deep, isn't he?" Such men are dangerous—they think too much.

This same fellow insisted that, as far as he was concerned, Plato is Mickey Mouse's dog. I understand that he has set out to have communist leanings, and thus we can be well rid of them.

The final suggestion that I would like to make concerns something which would be truly original innovation in universities since the football team. I have both this year and last, when I originally conceived the idea—brought it to the attention of many people, promising and otherwise. I can modestly interject at this point that it has met with universal acclaim—and yet it has never to my knowledge been presented on the floor of the Senate. "It" is this, fiddlers!: coeducational housing.

No doubt many people will be inclined to think me radical for dreaming up such a scheme. Least my reputation be thus finally immortalized allow me to point out a very few arguments in favor of my plan. First, this would be the best possible preparation for marriage course imaginable. Secondly, some sort of reciprocal enhancement might be worked out whereby the female partner took care of making beds, ironing shirts, and the more intimate could move in furniture, carry baggage, and do what else the male required. Finally, this plan would benefit FSU as a whole, assisting in unparalleled national publicity and a great influx of students.

One ultimate suggestion—if the Senate feels inclined to meddle in national affairs. I think my friends in Lonsome should pass a resolution praising Vice-President "Tricksie Dickie." Nixon who, after much thought and deliberation, stated that the government of Florida State would go on doing business during President Eisenhower's illness. Such insight is just what is needed if our country is to remain strong.

I sincerely hope the Senate accepts these suggestions sober consideration. If they do, and if affirmative action is taken, this session of Student Senate will be the most productive in many a year.

Of All Things

Columnist Disputes Atlantic Article

By OSCAR JOHNSON

The current Atlantic has a lively article in it—and the Atlantic doesn't quite compete with those in Mad, Playboy and Pogo, the article is still capable of shaking up a few people.

H. Mumford Jones has written a piece of this doesn't sound like a good beginning we could point out that he is professor of English at Harvard and claims a few other impressive titles.

The name of his worthy article is "Undergraduates On Apron Strings". Although this implies some connection with an old adage Mr. Mumford evidently thought his readers could figure it out for themselves because he didn't explain it at all.

Anyhow, he pokes a verbal lance at quite a few of the foolishness of the ivy-sealed set—those who run American universities.

Some of the collegiate institutions Mumford attacks—in what he calls "an exercise in dissent"—are the controlled university education system as opposed to the freedom of free elective system, and today's emphasis on "intellectual adjustment."

His free elective argument seems to be an example of what he says is lacking in current thought—that is, he goes to such lengths to put together a strong case for his beliefs that he wants to do is to display his unconventional ideas.

We recommend the article as mildly uncontroversial. At least it proves to we newcomers to the university scene that things weren't always and don't have to be in the future. We say they don't need to talk about the old "free elective" system which was common in American colleges and universities up into the twentieth century.

It encouraged individualism, says Mumford.

It let the student choose his courses and his instructors . . . permitted the students who had found his vocation to narrow his education to that field to concentrate upon those studies which seemed to him to fit his own particular needs.

The only requirement for graduation was that a minimum number of hours had been taken and passed

The controlled education period was started in the 1870's and some of the results of the free elective system—but Mumford says humanized politics and why to his notion, the replacement has the same result as the first. To do this he cites examples of many notables from the more successful products of the college method

Our main rebuttal to Mr. Mumford's arguments is that he ignores the case FOR the new system. Not that it is perfect, but it does have a great one big advantage.

Under controlled education (in the form of general education), every student is exposed to every branch of the academic pursuit. That he is more likely to wind up in the one that is right for him. Under the free elective system, a student might start out in one line of study, but will continue in it until graduation. Perhaps fourteen or fifteen hours would be required for graduation would be in Chemistry.

Only it is possible that if he had taken a course in Geology he would have liked it a lot better and continued in that field As another result of this system, a few hours are required of English—the most basic key to success in any phase of life today.

Yes, we enjoyed Mr. Jones' article very much. But he must be taken with a grain of salt. Now for a REAL exercise in dissent—in the case for voluntary class attendance?

The Dissenter

Honor System Still Poses Problems

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

One of the troubles with the Honor System, according to Student President Coyle Moore is that not enough people are reporting violations.

This may be one fault of the Honor System that some people feel hopeless. It certainly not the basic fault nor can any number of conscientious informers and Honor Court convictions erect it.

Honor, as this column has said before, is an individual and highly personal matter. If someone doesn't have respect self-respect to do his work honestly, he can't be frightened into reforming.

Someone who cheats is hurting only himself, unless the class is being graded on some kind of curve. But in that case the honest person is victimized and is foolish if he does not complain.

Most people, however, are reluctant to inform—no matter how much in error the guilty may be. There are 6,323 people in a nation of 165,000,000 vigilantes. Most citizens will do their part to enforce the law, of course, but they don't volunteer to help the F.B.I.

It would be a very tragic and dangerous thing for someone to deliberately secure the convictions of their fellows while the cause for dishonesty remains uncorrected.

Just how much responsibility and intellect count on this campus? An honest reply would admit many people are concerned only with compilins at least a C average in four years and with getting the bachelor's degree. Grades and recommendations loom higher in their scales of value than does getting anything permanent out of college. How does it happen that way?

Most Fsu is often cited as a school where the Honor System is highly valued. West Pointers are famous for their honorable school pride—note the avoidance of the word lie—and the two facts are very closely related.

Pride, and a clear re-evaluation of what a college education should be, might mean necessity more than just a trifle to those who frequently cheat in any way.

No examination of the Honor System should ignore the ranking, danarious machinery which is supposed to administer it.

A person accused of dishonesty has many safeguards. He cannot be convicted on or evidence which could "acquit him, according to student government sources. Never has this court or any other branch of government been vestigated beforehand to make sure the charges aren't the figments of somebody imagination or the deliberate work of some unfriendly classmate.

Everything else about Honor Court is shrouded in secrecy. Never has a reporter gained admittance. Student promises not to repeat names or reveal facts.

Wandering With Wiljohn

Still More Comment On "Jazz"

By WILJOHN

I seem to have stirred up the sound and fury with my statement, "Jazz is the best modern expression of people." that ran in Tuesday's column. Before Freud and for alka eradicate me completely, I feel I had better explain myself more fully. I was, of course, speaking in generalities to keep from aiving too much of my own opinion and creating the very furor I have created.

Naturally, there are better expressions of the group than a jazz idiom which is very few of them know of or understand. But was were speaking of music and, in music, I believe that jazz is the best what I mean.

And I also think that if you were going to pick a few of music that best expresses the attitudes and feelings of today's average citizen, you couldn't get much closer to it than jazz.

You are, of course, free to differ in your opinion. That's why I want you to use my box number to express it. Drips to me and we will see what we can unrash out. Box 452.

A fellow stopped me in the Education Building Monday and asked me who I thought was the better jazz trumpet man. Clifford Brown or Thad Jones. It's a hard question to answer but I personally prefer Clifford Brown. The experts seem to choose Jones so I guess that rates me. I can't help but think of Pete Navarro when I hear Jones and I never liked what I heard of Navarro.

Thad was buried in the trumpet section of the Count Basie organization for quite a while and attracted no attention as anything other than a capable and warm-toned horn man. It has only been since he started working with a small combo that I knew that he started to rise.

Clifford, also, was a whispered name about a year ago. He had played with J. J Johnson and the Bird and everyone who worked with him had something good to say. Then, about mid-summer, Cliff joined the Max Roach outfit and showed how wonderful his big trumpet could be He has tremendous technical virtuosity and a healthy, brazen sound than many of his contemporaries.

* * *

I have asked two of the foremost student musicians to write a column on jazz for me and I hope they will be among those featuring commentaries here soon. I also hope to print some interviews with faculty members in the near future.

Bradford Has One Trouble; No Water

Facilities Slightly Inadequate

By STEVE KLEID

The water in Lake Bradford Tourist Court," says Dr. Lyman Bloom of the Department of Chemistry here.

The general deficiency of rainfall in the last two years has caused the level of the ground water to drop, thereby lowering the level in the lake," said Dr. Bloom. But with sufficient rain, Lake Bradford will return to normal level."

In an interview with Mrs. Ruth Mack, Residence Hostess at the Reservation, it was learned that although the lake is, at present, good for boating, swimming activities are being confined.

Three Lodges

There are three lodges at the lake with accommodations for overnight guests. Redecorated buildings has included the replacement of knotty pine walls, among other things. Each lodge has a living room suitable for lounging and dancing, and complete equipment for ping-pong and other recreational games. Two of the lodges have pianos and one has a juke box.

Facilities have been provided for volley ball, softball, badminton, shuffle tennis and other recreation.

Outdoor Areas

Outdoor picnic areas are available with several barbecue pits and picnic tables for fish and fish fries.

For the future includes the complete construction of an Olympic swimming pool, according to Mrs. Mack. Architect Ted Yeck, who will address the Lodge Committees on the project.

No Canoeing

Unfortunately, canoeing on Lake Bradford has been discontinued for the fall. Insured, the Reservation is cooperating with the Florida Recreation Association in sponsoring canoe trips on these waters on October 1st and 22nd. Only an overnight trip being planned for November 12th.

The Reservation is open daily from 7 p.m., except Monday, from September until December 15. From December to March the camp is open on a weekend basis. Reservations through the week.

In March 1st, it resumes operation from 3 to 7 p.m. daily, except Monday. During the regular school year, a weekend schedule is obtained as follows: Saturdays from 1 to 7 p.m., and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Overnight parties should be planned in advance, and reservations made in advance with Miss Mary Virginia Alexander, Camp Director, telephone extension 3001. Adequate chaperones will be required for all large and/or mixed groups.

Buses Scheduled

Buses have been scheduled for transportation to and from the reservation. They will leave from the front of the Women's Gym at the following times:

Fridays: Leave at 5:30 p.m., returns at 8:00 p.m.

Saturdays and Sundays: Leave at 1:00, 3:00 and 5:00 p.m. Return at 1:30, 3:30 and 6:00 p.m.

Flambeau Photo by Steve Kleidi

Lake? Bradford—Above picture graphically shows the extent to which the Florida Reservation lake has dried up. New concrete pier extends above semi-dry land. Towering Cypress trees in foreground grow in desert-like conditions as remains of lake begin over a hundred yards away.

Mademoiselle Opens College Board Contest

Mademoiselle magazine is now accepting applications for membership in its 1955-56 College Board contest.

Open only for this contest, one girl from a woman undergraduate under 26) enrolled in an accredited college and available in New York for the month of June, 1956.

In addition to the College Board membership, there is a tuition contest for contest. The first prize is $500 and publication in Mademoiselle to each of two winners. The art contest winners receive $100 each and will be given the winning fiction contest stories.

The Prizes

The College Board contest of Mademoiselle is a chance at winning one of twenty Guest Editorships, to be held on the staff of Mademoiselle, placing as one of fifty runners-up.

Those who are accepted on the College Board do two assignments during the college year. College board members who complete during the top twenty on the assignments will be brought to New York June to help write, edit and illustrate the August College Issue. They will be paid a regular salary for their months' work, plus round-trip transportation to New York City.

November 30 is the deadline for applying.

Students interested in these contests may get further information in the Flambeau bulletin board.

Orange Bowl Title Contest Blanks Now Being Taken

Applications for the Orange Bowl Queen contest are now being accepted from any Florida girl or out of state student enrolled in a Florida school announced Robert Penland, Jr., Orange Bowl Committee president.

Candidates must be between the ages of 18 and 2 and must never have been married. They must agree to devote their entire time to the Orange Bowl Festival, December 26 through January 3 at Miami, if chosen queen or princess.

The initial selection will be made on photoscraphs and information furnished by the candidates. Photos should be 8 by 10 black and white glossy. One picture should be a full-face portrait, another in shorts or bathing suit and a third in street or evening wear.

Orange Bowl Queen hopeful should list schools attended, sororities, hobbies, ambitions and accomplishments along with their age, weight, height, color of hair and eyes, and their measurements. It is not necessary to have a sponsor.

Photos and accompanying data should be mailed as soon as possible to Orange Bowl Contest Headquarters, 815 S.W. Second Ave., Miami 36, Florida.

GARNET & GOLD
Home of the Educated Burger
631 W. Tennessee St. Phone 2-2892
Chicken In The Wood Pile . . . $1.25
Shrimp In The Box $1.25
Thick Shakes 19

20c INTRODUCTORY OFFER 20c
—GOOD FOR ONE WEEK ONLY—
This Coupon Good for 20c Discount on Any Sea Picked Up at the Garnet & Gold
20c Limit One Coupon Per Box 20c
FOR FREE DELIVERY CALL 2-2892
Garnet & Gold

Church News

Westminster

Westminster Fellowship will sponsor a Roundup party tomorrow night in the basement of Westminster House.

The formal party, slated to begin at 7:30, will welcome back Miriam Wilson, student director, who has been in England since early last spring.

Dungarees and shirts are acceptable apparel for the event.

Baptist

Dr. Harold Sanders, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, will answer Baptist students at the annual Coke party in his home tomorrow night.

Free transportation is available from the Baptist Student House at 6:30 p.m.

The Coke party is a "kickoff" for the week-long Layman's Revival which begins Sunday morning in the First Baptist church. Featured speakers during the revival week include Dean B. Campbell, President of Florida State University, who will speak Sunday night at 7:30, and Mr. Ivy Boggs, layman revivalist, who is in charge of the revival.

Methodist

FSU Methodist students who wish to become affiliated with the Methodist Student House may do so during Sunday school ceremonies at Wesley Methodist church this week.

Dinner will be served at the student house at 6:15 Sunday evening included in the Sunday Fellowship Hour, which begins at 6 o'clock, is a panel discussion on "Need for Christian Decisions." Panelists are Cpyle Moore, student body president; Ben Crenshaw, senior class president; Bobby Temple, junior class president, and Bill Cullom, president of the sophomore class.

A reception for all Methodist students in Trinity Methodist Church is scheduled for 6:30 Sunday night in Trinity Hall.

Catholic

Newman Club will serve supper Sunday evening at 5:30 in the Newman House. A spiritual and social meeting will follow at 7 p.m.

A Case Of The Blues— Trying To Please Everyone

By CHARLEY POITEVINT

There are 3370 cars and approximately 1350 parking spaces on campus!

This is the situation that is baffling car owners, the Traffic Court and Mr. Harry Day, director of traffic regulations.

"Although the new blue and black sticker restriction system is inadequate, it is a step in the right direction," Day says.

150 Unhappy

Few people seem to be happy about the parking restrictions, especially the 150 people who were issued tickets the first five days they went into effect.

Blue sticker owners complain that they aren't allotted a big enough area, and the people with black stickers feel that there should be no restrictions. Day remarked, He seemed to take the complaints in stride. "You can't please everyone, or allow any exceptions," he said.

Faculty Wants Priority

The faculty and staff, who were issued 844 blue and 121 black stickers, say that they should have parking priority, and the approximately 1350 parking spaces on campus!

At least one faculty member expressed pleased and thought the new plan was working, but Day called him "an exception."

Roads Widened

When asked about the possibility of campus roads being widened, Day asserted that there has been a request before the State Department since May 1947 to widen the narrow roads that cause the majority of accidents on campus, but nothing has been done about it yet.

In the meantime, some other system will have to be put in effect to cure the impossible situation.

Day pointed out that the traffic court is open to any suggestion for improvement to the situation —which leaves 50 per cent of the student body restricted as to where they should park.

According to the Campus Traffic Regulations Bulletin, infringements include parking on special sticker zones between 8 a.m and 5 p.m., parking in visitors' circle, failure to show University car registration sticker, and parking on campus streets between 1:30 a.m. and 6 a.m.

Women's Parking

Day stressed the last item which affects mostly women students, who live in dormitories.

"If we allowed students to park in the restricted areas at night, the cars wouldn't be moved in time for the early morning rush," explained Day.

Campus policeman have reported the North Cawthon and Florida Hall parking lots overflowing. Students unable to park in these areas are urged to park on the streets in front and back of the gym.

Fines for violating the restrictions and the regular traffic regulations are 50 cents per ticket, if paid within 24 hours after being issued.

Dr. Kilenyi Opens 1955 Recital Series

Dr. Edward Kilenyi, professor of music at Florida State University, will launch a new series of faculty recitals with a performance tonight in Opperman Music Hall.

The program, scheduled to begin at 8:15 p.m., will open with Kilenyi's rendition of Bach's "Italian Concerto" by Bach. His performance of the Bach work will be the first one on the instrument for which it was written, the harpsichord with two keyboards. In addition, the performance will mark the first use of the double harpsichord in a solo or virtuoso capacity.

Kilenyi will play the remainder of his program on the grand piano. His selections include Chopin's Etudes," 12 studies making up the composer's Opus 10. The "Etuds" for Tallahasseans include Kilenyi's renditions of Bartok's poetic "Music of the Night" and Dohnanyi's polyphonic work, "Introduction and Fugue," from the set of Humoresques.

Kilenyi will close the Liszt's group of "Venice and Naples," paraphrasing the Venetian gondola song in dramatic aria of Rossini and a tarantella.

Enrollment Tops 6,323 Students

An enrollment of 6,323 regular, full-time students was announced yesterday by Florida State University President Dr. Doak S. Campbell.

Last year's regular enrollment was 5,850. Among the men are Kilenyi students, as against 2,766 last year.

Dr. Campbell said the total of non- regular students, including bootstrap, special, and demonstration school, will be released in a week.

NOTICE

All students who work as ushers at football games are requested to meet with Mr. Ronald Melton at 5 P.M. Monday, Oct. 3, at the Stadium.

Pi Delta Phi To Meet Monday

Pi Delta Phi, French honorary schedules year's first meeting October 5 in the small lounge of Lonsmire at 7:30 p.m.

This meeting will be largely social, but plans for this year's project will be discussed. A possible activity to be considered is the establishment of a French "corner" Club on this campus. Jane McIntyre, Pi Delta Phi secretary, urges members to be present for this initial meeting.

Officers of the honorary are Beverly Kuikan, president; Hildegarde Wagner, vice president; Jane McIntyre, secretary-treasurer, and Dr. Albert LeDuc, faculty advisor.

Annual functions of the club include the picnic in May at Dr. LeDuc's home, and the Christmas party, open to all French students.

Circle K Meets Wednesday Night

Circle "K" will have its first meeting Wednesday night in Longmire at 8 p.m. All members must be present and all freshmen who are former Key Clubbers are invited to attend.

There are a number of vacancies due to last year's graduates and transfers. Upperclassmen may also apply for membership.

Circle "K" is a service fraternity sponsored by Kiwanis of Tallahassee.

Flambeau Photo by Steve Kleidi

Something New—In outdoor life. Students can enjoy hiking at same time as canoeing. Anybody care to try it?

Wiljohn Says

The Commodore Band Is It FSU's 'Big Sound'?

By WILJOHN

A few weeks ago, FSU had its first student dance at West Hall. The new students were impressed by the Hall, by the good times had, but most of all by the music. This was furnished by two of the four groups of musicians on campus. On the roof, the Devilaires held forth. Downstairs, in the packed lounge, were the Commodores, FSU's biggest and best known dance band for some time now.

Record Session

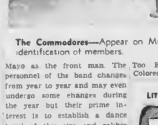
Last night, I sat in on one of the Comodores recording sessions. They were making an audition tape to be used by people who would like to book a band and want to hear some samples of the group's music.

This is one of the new innovations the band is using to educate people to the fact that they have a "name band" caliber organization right here on campus. The entire rehearsal was a relaxed, "let's make music" affair. Everyone had fun but kept close sight of their objective and they really swung.

In a half hour of listening, I heard everything from waltz to Dixieland, blue to mambo. Forget to rhythm and Bossa of the songs that went on the tape were "When The Saints Go Marching In," "My Love" and "South of the Border." Every piece of music done is worked into a smooth, polished hit and yet is performed with a contagious air of spontaneity. With Jon Gilbert sparking on the drums, the rhythm seems to grow from and of the group.

Down There

Despite a preference for no one being at their recording sessions, there were about a dozen people there besides myself. One of the boys made the remark, "If there is a possibility of dancing while you are sitting down, these are the boys to make you do it."

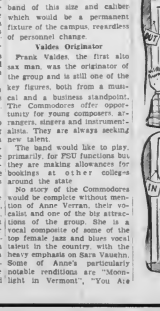


The present personnel of the group includes: Frank Valdes, Richard Reis, Charlie Culhreth, Roy McCance, Tony Swain—saxsection. Charlie Turner, Roger McDuffy, Aubrey Odum — trumpets; Lyman Hammond, John Lopez—trombones; Fred Bosha — piano; Tommy Greenhaw — bass; Jon Gilbert—drums; Anne Verran—vocalist; and Richard Mayo as the front man. The personnel of the band changes from year to year and may even undergo some changes during the year but their prime interest is to establish a dance band of this size and caliber which would be a permanent fixture of the campus, regardless of personnel change.

Valdes Originator

Frank Valdes, the first alto sax man, was the originator of the group and is still one of the key figures, both from a musical and a business standpoint. The Commodores offer opportunity for young composers, arrangers, singers and instrumentalists. They are always seeking new talent.

The band would like to play, primarily, for FSU functions but they are making allowances for bookings at other colleges around the state.



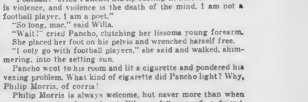
No story of the Commodores would be complete without mention of Anne Verran, their vocalist, and one of the big attractions of the group. She is a vocal composite of some of the top female jazz and blues vocal talent in the country, with the heavy emphasis on Sara Vaughn. Some of Anne's particularly notable renditions are "Moonlight in Vermont", "You Are Too Beautiful" and "Orange Colored Sky." All of her numbers are delivered with her own distinctive "cool heat" delivery.

Flambeau Photo by Tom Rawlins

The Commodores—Appear on Music Amphitheatre stage See accompanying story identification of members.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

On Campus with Max Shulman



(Author of "Barefoot Boy With Cheek," etc.)

ANYONE FOR FOOTBALL?

Pancho Sigafoos, pale and sensitive, first saw Willa Ludovic, lithe as a hazel wand and fair as the morn, outside a class in botany and loved her from that hour and hour. "Let me help you," said Pancho to Willa. "I adore you."

"Thanks, hey," said Willa, blushing prettily. "What position do you play?"

"Position?" said Pancho, looking at her askance. 'I take exercise in a ligament just behind the ear.'

"I am a poet—WAIT, I'm cried Pancho

"On the football team," said Willa.

"Football!" cried Pancho, his lip curling in horror. "Football is violence, and violence is the death of the mind. I am not a football player, I am a poet."

"So long, man," said Willa.

"Wait!" cried Pancho, clutching her lissoma young forearm. She placed her foot on his pelvis and wrenched herself free.

"I only go with football players," she said and walked, shimmering, into the setting sun.

Pancho went to his room and lit a cigarette and pondered his vexing problem. What kind of cigarette did Pancho light? Why, Philip Morris, of corrie!

Philip Morris is always welcome, but never more than when you are weary and sore beset. When a fellow needs a friend, when the heart is dull and the blood runs like sorghum, when darkness prevails, then, then above all, is the time for the mildness and gentleness that only Philip Morris can provide.

Pancho Sigafoos, his broken psyche welded, he fevered brow cooled, his symapgen restored to health, he smoking a gentle Philip Morris, came swiftly to a decision. Though he was rather small for football, was an easy four feet and some odd overweight (350 pounds) he tried out for the team—and tried out with such pluck and perseverance that he made it.

Pancho's league opened the season against the Manhattan School of Mines. The Miners were always a mettlesome foe, but this year, strengthened by four exchange students from Gibraltar who had been suckled by sea-apes, they were especially formidable. By the middle of the second quarter, the Miners had wrought such havoc upon Pancho's team that there was nobody left on the team but Pancho. And the quarterback's task was sent to the infirmary with his head driven into his ribcage, the coach had no choice but to put Pancho in.

Pancho's team-mates were not conspicuously cheered as the little fellow took his place in the huddle. "Gentlemen," said Pancho, "some of you may have read poetry as scurvy stuff, but now in our most trying hour I can think of no words more apt than these lines from Milton's Paradise Lost: 'All is not lost; the unconquerable will, and study of revenge, immortal hate, and courage never to submit or yield.'"

So stirred was Pancho's team by this fiery exhortation that they threw themselves into the fray with utter abandon.

As a consequence, the entire squad was hospitalized before the half. The college was forced to drop football. Willa Ludovic, not having any football players to choose from, took up with Pancho and soon discovered the beauty of his soul. Today they are seen everywhere together—dancing, holding hands, smoking, smooching.

Smoking what? Why, Philip Morris, of corrie!

©Max Shulman, 1955

The makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column each week, remind you that the perfect companion to watching a football game is today's gentle Philip Morris.

Is FSU Another Atlantis? Look At Westcott, Gilchrist, Music Building

By MARGARET MILLER

Terra Firma seems not quite so firm as more—at least, not at the Music Building.

Students and personnel, who inhabit the building, have been making little sounds of alarm because of the eruption of offensive cracks and in the otherwise smooth surfaced walls. The increasing gap between the floor level and the bottom of the wall has caused many to develop the uneasy feeling that the floor may sink beneath them at any moment and "the walls come a-tumbling down."

Normal Happening

Anxieties however are lessened as by Mr. Ray Green, Resident Engineer, who gives the assurance that this type of situation is not unusual nor is it dangerous. "This can happen to anyone's home," he said, "and usually does."

A crack with a 45° angle, he said, is a fairly certain indication that this settling condition has occurred.

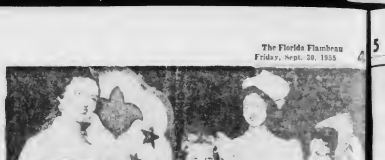
He explained that the building was constructed on a layer of fill, which tends to settle when saturated with water. When the Music Building was under construction, he said, it happened to rain a great deal. This was probably the beginning of present complications.

What, whether he does not consider serious.

No Repairs

"We cannot repair it until we see that it has finished settling," he informs. "At the present time, we merely keep check on the damage and measure the cracks at intervals." The floor is also being repaired as it has been once before.

The old Westcott Auditorium, now replaced by a new and larger structure, suffered these same troubles said Mr. Green. The shower rooms in Gilchrist had a drastic attack of this ailment last year he added, and the tile floors there had to be replaced. Even the auditorium in the new Demonstration School is revealing symptoms of this disease.



No Danger

Mr. Green assured that there was no danger involved when this occurred. One lady, who works in the Music Building created some amusement because of her anxieties concerning the cracks. When the maintenance crew invaded the hall near her office to investigate the damage she no doubt jumped to rather unwarranted conclusions, for she forgot her usual professional reserve and let out a horrified shriek.

Highlighted Points in the Sketch

Built On Shifting Sands—Don Strong, elementary teacher from Greenville, points to crack running up Music Building wall next to sign. Other visible evidence of shifting are area under door at left, two-inch crack running along base of wall and bulge in floorline. Workers repaired area this week.

Last Year—Miss Gymkana, Faye Anthony is shown above with her court.

Shall We Dine?—This is one of the discouraging lines of students found in the eating places every day at dining hours. Picture shows a double or triple-decked extending from Student Center food counter back to the dancing area, was snap this week.

Beauties Vie For Gymkana Crown Oct. 19

The 1955 Miss Gymkana contest will be held on October 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Gymnasium. Nineteen finalists will be chosen for the Miss Gymkana Court of Honor. The Queen will be crowned during the Gymkana production November 7-12.

Qualifications of candidates, according to Gert Lehner and Margaret Donahoo, co-chairmen of the affair, should include attractiveness, personality, a cooperative spirit and a good speaking voice. Contestants should wear short clothes and heels.

The judges will be five University officials, whose names will be announced later. Each member of the court receive trophies and Gymkana keys.

Each sorority, fraternity and dormitory may sponsor as many as four candidates. The women's dorms may sponsor only one sorority girls. Members of last year's court are not eligible to compete.

Entries should be turned in to the chairmen no later than Monday, October 17.

1955 Artist Series Starts October 14 With Marine Band

The United States Marine Band will open the 1955 Artist Series program at Florida State University.

The band will give two programs, a matinee and evening program, on Friday, October 14th.

The Marine organization is under the direction of Major Albert Schoepper, and will feature T. Irwin Raddex as piano soloist. Other artists who will present a program of popular favorites.

The Artist Series brings well-known entertainment to the campus free of charge to students with faculty and staff members and guests invited to attend. Students exchange activity coupons for ticket stubs which are distributed first to faculty and staff members who reserved seats on a season basis, and to others later. Later, they are put on sale to nonmembers.

Among the other artists featured this semester will be Miss Marie Russell. Miss Russell is known for her recent television and theatre appearances. She will appear November 2 and 3.

The Tallahassee Symphony Orchestra will present two evening concerts and a matinee on February 28 and 29 under the direction of Antal Dorati. The orchestra has been presenting concerts for 52 years.

Last year's artist series featured the Ballet Theatre, the Dublin Players, Yma Sumac, and the Dorsey Brothers.

In Grecian Times

Plans Variety Show

By CHARLET POITEVINT

October 11th is the date set for the annual Sigma Kappa Variety Show.

For their contribution to the Campus Chest fund, the Sigma Kappa's stage the show in which each sorority and fraternity enters an act.

Faculty members acting as judges will award a trophy to the winning sorority and fraternity.

A recent visitor to the Sigma Kappa fold was Ruthie Carr, an alumnus who was the former Miss Southern Bell and 1951 Orange Bowl Queen.

Friendliest Chapter in the Nation. This was the honor bestowed on the Alpha Omega chapter at Alpha Xi Delta who celebrated their 25th year on campus last year.

With the award the Alpha Xi's received $50, which was accepted by chapter president, Lu Anne Sinder.

Recently initiated into the Gamma Eta chapter of Kappa Alpha were Livingston Branch, Bill Kirkland, Fred Brinkoff, Frank Fair, Lew Hoover, Jim Kovacs, Bill Payne, Ron Wrathell, Douglas and Dixon Robinson.

The KA's welcomed two transfers, Bus Davis from Eta chapter at the University of Richmond and Gil Sythe from Beta Zeta at the University of Florida.

Fall officers for the Epsilon Zeta chapter of Sigma Chi are Jimmy Jonnos president, Dave Boggs, vice-president, Ronnie Stickney, recording secretary, Don Alford, treasurer, Carlos Fraudorfer, corresponding secretary, and Laird Anderson, associate editor.

Bruce Jacobs heads an SAE delegation include Robert Williams, Pat Turner, Jimmy Logue Charles Ward, Dick Bellows, Jay Cox, John Bell, Tommy Bland, Jerry Graham, John Seward, Roy McGlothlin, Jack Robertson, Bob Young, Walt Godwin, John Thomas, Dan Haskell, Norman Hardman, Dick Hall, Drew Darrah, Edwin Grambling, Gerald MacArthur, Dan Hall, Bill Slater, Wight Jimmy Davis, Lester Little, John Holland, Sherell Johnson, James L. Peacock, John Bell, Tommy Bland, Wayne Bussey, Oliver Dixon

Pinned a relief of new pledges Young, Walt Godwin, John Thomas, Dan Haskell, Norman Hardman, Dick Hall, Drew Darrah, Edwin Grambling, Gerald MacArthur, Dan Hall, Bill Slater, Wight Jimmy Davis, Lester Little, John Holland, Sherell Johnson, James L. Peacock, John Bell, Tommy Bland, Wayne Bussey, Oliver Dixon

Pinned a relief of new pledges since several names were omitted from the last issue of The Flambeau.

'Blithe Spirit' Final Tryouts Held Monday

Final tryouts for Blithe Spirit, the Speech Department's first dramatic production of the year, were held from 2:30 to 4:30 and from 7:30 to 9:30 in the Augusta Conradi Theatre.

Twenty-five students were chosen for the final tryouts and director Davee said that most of the parts would be cast from these people.

Finalists were: Nancy Adams, Janie Conner, Barbara Rysiski, Norma Trigoodo, Jackie Thomas, Carolyn Brown, Margaret Robertson, Doreen Thomas, Jackie Davis, Bob Thomas, Bud Greene and John Ficklin.

Also Max Estes, Kent Schroeder, Marcello Tiuzzi, Janet Kay Smith, Kaye Culpepper, Marjorie Tendell, Ruth Harvard, Barbara Waddell, Michael Moss, Barbara Graham, Diane Kern and Sue Mahoney.

The cast will be announced this week. The performance schedule for Blithe Spirit is October 28, 29, 31, and November 1.

'54 Graduate Dies In Plane Accident

Second Lieutenant Kingman M Britain Jr. a 1954 graduate of Florida State University, was killed Wednesday in the crash of a jet trainer near the Greenville Air Force Base Greenville, Mississippi.

Britain was a member of Kappa Sigma Alpha, and was married in June, 1954 to Pat Bryan Britain, Delta Delta Delta. He was a native of Tallahassee, and besides his wife, is survived by his mother, Mrs. Kingman Brittain, of Tallahassee.

Air Force authorities at Greenville reported that Britain and his instructor crashed into a lake 14 miles north of Greenville which are still missing and presumed dead.

Britain would have graduated and received his wings as an Air Force jet pilot today.

Dr. Davee

(Continued from Page 1)

find help in banishing her cosmic complaint, and is killed.

Elvira becomes very romantic at her evil doing and wants to return to her eternal home at once. Madam Arcati is summoned and again tries to send Elvira back. She collapses into a trance having a wonderful time but Elvira doesn't disappear. Instead Ruth appears and Charles doesn't stand a chance against his spiritual wives.

Coward Type

Noel Coward has done an excellent job in picking fun at the spiritworld. The play is full of laughs, satirical and comical, and proves to be very successful.

The cast was chosen from a very large group of tryouts. Dr. Davee said that this year's group was more enthusiastic and more talented than he has seen in previous years. He was particularly pleased with the large percentage of men who tried out.

Rumpelstiltskin

Rumpelstiltskin, a production for children, held tryouts this past Wednesday and Thursday, Tryouts will again be held on Monday, October 3, from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. in Augusta Conradi Theatre. Miss Thomas has asked that all people interested, be on hand for the Monday tryout.

There are still jobs open on the technical staffs of Blithe Spirit and Rumpelstiltskin. Anyone interested in working on props, scenery, sound effects, lights and the various Saturday backstage tasks should sign the notice on the Call Board in the lobby of Conradi Theatre.

The performance date for Blithe Spirit are October 28, 29, 31 and November 1. Rumpelstiltskin is scheduled to go on November 14, 15, 16, 18.

STUDENTS

Buy and Save at Your University Bookstore:

Your Choice From A Complete Stock of

SEAL & SOCIAL STATIONARY
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
SOAPS & Powders
ART SUPPLIES
DRUGS & SUNDRIES

"It's a Saving Everytime"

UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE

SEMINOLES

IN THE STUDENT CENTER

You Too Can Inherit The Fourth Estate. . . .
Work For
The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU
Your Newspaper
Come On Up And Browse Around
Now's the time to start that newspaper career.
There's always room for one more.
See us any time on the second floor of the Longmire Building!

New Moon

(Continued from Page 1)

"Mother Tree" in Boston Massachusetts

Davee, who takes the male lead, had two seasons with the West Palm Beach Playhouse, was juvenile lead in Carol Cronin, Gaylord Ravenall in Show Boat, Hotchkiss in Bitter Bisadoom," the tenor lead in "The Chocolate Soldier," in the cast of "The Day Before Spring," "Ah! Wilderness," "Dear Ruth" "The Happy Heart," "Bonanza for Cardiff," and has done various solo and concert work.

Dr. Robert L. Bright, Producer and Musical Director, expressed his pleasure at the "excellent amount of interest shown in these auditions" and said that it would be very difficult to make the choices among the "many likely candidates" from those present. "There is still room for a few fine voices in the chorus," said Dr. Bright, "and interested students should contact either me or Miss Betty Simon, co-director of chorus and stamina."

Dance Tryouts

Tryouts for the dancers will be held at a later date as well as selection of the eccentrics. It was revealed "we will need someone to accompany at the rehearsals," said Dr. Bright, and added that anyone interested in the job should see either him or Miss Grimm.

"The New Moon," a Sigmund Romberg production is directed by the director as a very romantic swashbuckling story taking place in New Orleans in 1791. Some of the songs it contains are "Lover Come Back To Me," "Wantime You," "Love Is Quite a Simple Thing," "Softly As In a Morning Sunrise," and "Stout-Hearted Men."

Dr. Sidney Fox Receives Honor

Dr. Sidney Fox, new director of Florida State University's Oceanographic Institute, was elected to the National Council at the recent meeting of the American Chemical Society held in Minneapolis. He will represent the Division of Biological Chemistry.

Dr. Fox has another recent honor—he has been appointed a member of the organizational national committee of Biochemistry and the International Union of Biochemistry, which sponsors international congresses in the field.

Student Activity Books Valued At Over 50 Dollars By Official

By PAT SMITH

Student Activity Books—sometimes [illegible] affectionately [illegible] dollars.

A Student Activity Book [illegible] means a ticket to Katherine Vernon, administrative assistant to Dean of Students R R Oglesby. It [illegible] the price of admission to football games, artist series programs, basketball games and other activities. Second by this book are not. An I. D. card can not take the place of an Activity Book, she emphasized. Giving the I. D. card to the ticket agent instead of the Student Activity Book will not be accepted.

If a person does lose his book, every effort will be made to recover it. The Activity Book number [illegible] and he pointed out [illegible] the number of a lost book [illegible] up, for individual possessions [illegible] his possession of a student [illegible] can not run on to [illegible] Books found by [illegible] Deposits [illegible] reached are not valid, either.

Any student who failed to [illegible] receive an Activity Book [illegible] pick one up at the Westcott [illegible] Ticket Book now, she revealed.

More Humanities Under MIT Plan

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. [illegible] Massachusetts Institute [illegible] has formulated [illegible] plans to [illegible] humanities [illegible] will require MIT [illegible] to take [illegible] courses [illegible] of science [illegible] Institute [illegible] Dr. James [illegible] President [illegible] announced [illegible] Faculty [illegible] and [illegible] Trustees [illegible] The number of [illegible] courses [illegible] Institute [illegible] Dr. Killian [illegible] School of Humanities [illegible] Social Sciences [illegible] MIT [illegible] Humanities [illegible]

Weslyan Starts American Studies

MACON Ga. [illegible] American Studies is a [illegible] at Macon [illegible] the Wesleyan College [illegible] course [illegible] it will be offered [illegible] first time this fall. If a student selects it, instead of concentration in one department, she takes related courses in several departments. Depending upon [illegible] she chooses from a wide variety of courses.

The purpose of the program is to aid the student in understanding the different methods which [illegible] Dean of different disciplines. In the course there will be an examined exploration of a major [illegible] be chosen by the student. The topics are the American woman, the impact of [illegible] age of social reform, the genius, tradition, Asian [illegible] South [illegible] and the [illegible] and culture.

A student does not have to be in the program of American Studies [illegible] in order to take the course, but may choose it as an elective. The program is intended for persons interested in the fields of literature, history, the fine arts, and the social sciences. It is designed to give a broad background for journalists, teachers, creative writers, librarians, social workers and public administrators.

Ed Note. There is an active American Studies program at FSU.

Cries Interference

NEW ORLEANS [illegible] Nominations [illegible] in accordance [illegible] Constitution [illegible] Dr. Ralph [illegible] Dean of Students [illegible] announced [illegible] Dean Stubbs continued [illegible] In dealing with students [illegible] he added "You have to tend with the unrealistic capricious character of behavior."

Seminoles Face Hurricanes In Miami

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

Chapter II—Miami

Tonight, the Tribe is in Miami where the second chapter of mystical book will be written. Two weeks ago, chapter I was written on a successful note—the 7-0 win over North Carolina State.

But tonight?—Well, let's talk it over sensible like.

Doubtless, there are very few of even the most rabid Seminole fans who look for an FSU upset of the mighty Hurricanes today. On the average, the state's sports scribes rate Miami at four touchdowns better than the Seminoles.

Bill Kastels of the Florida Times-Union says they're four and Byron Hollingsworth of the Tampa Tribune says it'll be even closer, say only about three, while in Miami they'll give the touchdowns and Florida State.

But, we've got a feeling the Tribe might surprise a few folks. As two football teams pitted against each other, perhaps the Canes are four to five touchdowns better than the Seminoles. But there the comparison ends.

The Hurricanes will have to beat a coach with a 'magic of losing attitude that stands second to none and they'll have to beat a squad of Seminoles who actually support that attitude.

I told the boys earlier this year that no one made a trip to the team unless they believed we could win," said Nugent. "I've sounded out at least 25 who sincerely believe we can."

We'll leave it at that. We don't intend to make a prediction on the outcome tonight, because, we too, have an awe of the highly rated Hurricanes. And with the latest word on the Tribe's injury list, that awe is justified.

Lee Corso, tabbed as perhaps one of the best all-around backs in the southland, won't be starting from his left halfback slot tonight because of an injury; Al Pacifico, a three year starter at guard will be out for the same reason right halfbacks Buddy Biddle and Billy Weaver are shelved, and numerous other injuries will be slowed somewhat with aches and pains.

Looks bad, doesn't it? But Bobby Bell left Tallahassee yesterday with an Irish twinkle in his eye. And we'll just let his attitude show.

This we will say—that we're insulted all along that "we're going and we're coming." But, in being young it looks as if we'll have to learn to accept the occasional spankings that come with growing up.

Wonder what the title of the second chapter will be?—"Sunrise," or "Ouch!!"

Athletics Far Women"

At Florida State women enjoy athletic competition on a par with the boys through intramurals. In some other countries it is a world-wide bash.

We had the pleasure when the Swedish Olympic Gymnastics team visited the campus last year to spend a very enjoyable hour conversation with Miss Djordis Nordin—one of the more outstanding Swedish women athletes.

We were surprised to learn that in Sweden, athletics—and especially gymnastics—are as much a part of a schoolchild's basic education as reading and writing. The youngsters, said Miss Nordin, begin learning and working towards perfecting gymnastics before they can walk. By the time they are seven or eight, they're often accomplished artists in the sport.

But here's the point we're trying to put across.

In talking with the Swedish lass, we were absent-mindedly to mention to the 1956 World Olympics. Her comment sent reeling.

Oh yes, we'll be sending a team there We'll send eight girls four boys."

Interrupted at her statement, we asked her the very obvious question.

Why only four boys?"

Her answer, simply and honestly: "It costs money."

What it all boils down to is that she was surprised that I was surprised that in Sweden, women actually shared the limelight in sport in some forms of athletic competition. The Swedish women have world championships in their field during the Helsinki Olympics.

We might give some thought to such at Florida State. We've only told the interest is present.

Just a suggestion.

Thanks

In closing our corner for this edition, we'd like to doff that imaginary bonnet in tribute to you the reader.

Your response to our work here and on this page has been 100 more warming than we might have ever expected. Perhaps one of the most complimentary comments came from a young lady who approached us quite unexpectedly and said:

"You can't say anything unless it hits you on the head."

Blushing somewhat, we could only answer—"there are just too many nice things about the FSU campus to go looking for bad things."

If this is the standard we have set, then may we maintain it.

Hurt Shoulder Benches Corso For Miami Tilt

Lee Corso, brilliant Seminole left halfback, was not in the Florida State starting lineup announced by head coach Tom Nugent yesterday.

Corso, who was injured on the last play of the North Carolina State game two weeks ago, will be replaced in the starting lineup by Billy Odom.

"Lee will definitely make the trip to Miami with us," said Nugent, "but he will see very limited action."

Corso, a native of Miami was looking forward to playing before his hometown crowd. Tabbed as one of the state's best all-around back, the spry junior was expected to be at his best.

We honestly expected him to be ready for the Miami game," said Trainer Don Pauls. "We under-estimated the extent of the injury at the time he received it."

Corso suffered a bruised shoulder.

Nugent said his starting lineup for the Miami game will have Tom Pressmier and Ronnie Schomburg at ends; Don Powell and Bob Barber at tackles; Vince Gibson said Jerry Jacobs at guard; Jim Odom and Bud Mott at halfbacks, and Joe Holt at fullback.

LEE CORSO, brilliant Seminole left halfback will be playing before his hometown crowd tonight in the Orange Bowl. Tabbed by FSU head coach Tom Nugent as "one of the southland's best all around backs," Corso will be limited somewhat because of an injury.

Intramurals To Begin For Men And Women

Overshadowed somewhat by the best of varsity intercollegiate athletics, men and women's intramurals began to show signs of progress this week.

Women

Conducted by the Women's Division of the University Recreation Association, women's intramurals are held on the FSU campus every afternoon from 5 to 6 p.m.

According to A. J. Bassett, intramural manager, the expressed purpose of these activities is to allow the co-eds to get together and learn to enjoy team competition.

"Everyone is invited to come out and participate," Bassett said. "If you don't know how to play a sport, that's all the more reason to come out and learn."

In organizing the sports, unit managers are chosen from each dormitory, club, or sorority to be responsible for getting the teams together.

The first sports scheduled this year are volley ball and bowling.

The call has been issued and any co-ed interested in competing should get in touch with their respective dorm, club or sorority manager.

These activities are slated to commence Sept. 17 and will continue through Oct. 28.

And the Men

The first official meeting of the Men's Intramural Board of Managers was held last Tuesday with a turnout of 25 delegates

The first game to pry open the intramural season will be basketball which gets under way next Monday, Oct. 3rd at the new campus gym.

At press time the exact schedule of games was not available. The time, date and draw of the games are to be posted on bulletin boards at the student center, back of Conrad auditorium, and outside of the soda shop.

Subcommittees were appointed to review the constitution, by laws and operating rules on men's intramurals, another on eligibility rules and a third on expansion of activities and the point system to be used.

These committees will report at the next official meeting, to be held at 3 p.m. Friday, October 7th, at the Trophy Room in the Student Center.

Tennis singles and doubles will open on October 11th. Entries are due on or before October 7th in the Intramural office, room 423 on west campus.

Official decisions, and the organization they represented at the Tuesday meeting were: Al Davis, Kappa Sigma and IFC; Rudolph Kirle, Pi Kappa Alpha; James Williams, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Jim Kirby, Lambda Chi Alpha; D. Cunningham, Theta Chi; Art Hempel, Phi Delta Theta; Gus Sardoulas, Delta Tau Delta; Jim Clark, Pi Kappa Phi; Bill Durham, Kappa Alpha; Bob C Jones, ATO; John Callahan, Sigma Nu; Derwyn McElroy, Phi Kappa Tau; Ed Turnadgill, SAE; John Selders, Baptist Student Union, William L. Hemingway, Pirates, Wilson L. Revell, Senior Hall; Wally Hamrick, Magnolia Hall; Carlos E Orero, International Club; Charles Buffalo Jr., Penthouse; Max and Pierre Kilsoorn, Wesley Foundation.

All basketball player rosters are due today.

Appointments In AFROTC Made Here

Thirty additional appointments of temporary positions and rank in the Florida State University Air ROTC have been announced by Captain Paul Suttle, professor of air science.

Cadet captains in positions of Flight commander are Gene Cowart, W. Davis, Jr. and Upton D. Officer.

Cadet 1st Sergeants with rank of cadet Master Sergeant include: Delma Swilley, Edgar Wycoff, Bobby Ward, Jack Hardin.

Sergeants with rank of Cadet Technical Sergeant include: Clarence Field, Jr., Carl Adkerman, William Weaver, Samuel Pierson, Jimmy Kidd, Jack Heinemann, Fred Gould, Frank Reuse, Frederick Kenny, John Boyd, Wayne Hamner, Walter Delaney, Harold Hea n, and Robert Johnson.

The Air Force Band, which is scheduled to march in the Nov. 5 Miami Orange Bowl parade, is commanded by Cadet WOJG Paul Ort; his assistant is the rank of Cadet Master Sergeant is Ronald E. Anderson; Carl Diana is the band's 1st Sergeant.

Band squad sergeants include Thomas Ward, J. McGonigal, Barry Brock, David Brinson, Charles Welker and Bob Brady.

Marching Chiefs To Be At Miami

The Marching Chiefs, directed by Manley Whitcomb, will perform on the Orange Bowl field at the FSU-Miami clash. The 140 piece band will present a half-time review, "Teen Age Capers."

Clad in black and gold uniforms, the band will parade into an ice cream sundae formation for the number, "All the Cats Join In." A dancer, adorned with typical sporting gear including a key chain and horned-rim glasses will be featured in this number.

Also featured are Ed Franklin and Dick Pickett, the "Flying" Seminoles, majorette Paula Parsons and drum major Tony Sardoulas. For the number, there are a hot-rod with spinning wheels, a palm tree and a dancing couple.

Two popular hit tunes, Sauter-Finnegan's "Doodle-lawn Fifers" and Nat King Cole's "The Sand and the Sea" will be presented. The show will be seen by the FSU fans at a later date The band will travel to Atlanta for its next out-of-town performance at the Georgia Tech game, October 22.

Aerial Game Forecast By Both Teams Tonight

Florida State University's Seminoles attempt to quell a Hurricane called Miami in the Orange Bowl tonight and it's expected they'll try doing it in the misty logical manner—through the air.

A wide-open aerial game has been forecast by both coaches.

Seminole mentor Tom Nugent said earlier this week that 'we have a feeling the Hurricanes will go high and wide in this one. We know they can run, but we think they'll be trying to show the Notre Dame scouts, who'll be in the stands that they can do."

Miami meets mighty Notre Dame the week following the FSU clash.

Nugent also indicated that "we'll be doing our share of the running, too."

The Hurricanes, all tabbed as one of the nation's top twenty teams despite an opening season 14-6 loss to powerful Georgia Tech, will in all probability be out to convince an expected crowd of 50,000 that their 10-7 win over Oklahoma was no fluke.

Led by swivel hipped Wayne Bawyer in the passing-running department, the Hurricanes are rated one of the most explosive offensive teams in the nation. In addition to the tremendous attack, the Miami squad has built an air wisardry of Mario Bonnofiglio, perhaps the finest quarterback in the south today.

But Tom Nugent's Seminoles will be ready to give the powerful Canes their money's worth. Despite the top-heavy odds against them, the Florida State team is not making the trip to Miami just to view the scenery. Two of FSU's leading performers, co-captain Bob Crenshaw and halfback Lee Corso are Miami natives, and they will be rooting all out to give the home folks a good show.

After a good 7-0 win over N.C. State in their season opener, the Seminoles took a week's rest from intercollegiate wars in order to get set for their Miami invasion Barring further injuries in practice this week, Nugent's warriors should enter the Orange Bowl tilt near top strength Tackle Bob Barber, halfback Billy Weaver, and backup Ray Sisko are on the injured list, but Barber may see some action against the Miami team Al Pacifico, who received an ankle sprain in practice last week, will also be shelved for the Miami game

The Seminole backfield corps should be in top shape, and the Indians will probably start the football outfit unveiled with Lynn Swantic at quarterback, Lee Corso at left halfback, Buck Matta at right halfback, and Joe Holt at fullback

In Miami

Meanwhile, in Miami the Hurricane's base been heavily conditioned for the game, since Saturday their 14-6 season-opener with Georgia Tech.

Coach Andy Gustafson completed after the Tech game, stated that Miami would start throwing more from here out.

Miamians and visitors who trek out to the Orange Bowl tonight also are certain to see the brilliant passing of Gene Reeves in action for the first time as a varsity player. Owns did not get into the Tech game, but the Atlanta "Kid" has been running the plays 'till in addition in drills since the Tech battle and is expected to play at least half of the ball game Friday Miami just to view the scenery. Two of FSU's leading performers, co-captain Bob Crenshaw and halfback Lee Corso are Miami natives, and they will be ro-

Bus To Tech Is Requested

Student Senate should consider sponsoring chartered buses to Atlanta October 22 for the Georgia Tech football game, Senator Gordon Gaster suggested Wednesday.

The labor student services, and education committee was told to investigate the possibility.

Gaster said the tickets would probably cost slightly over seven dollars per person round trip

The committee was also asked to investigate rumors that student tickets for the Georgia Tech trains will cost $4.25, instead of a lower student rate

PLEDGE CORRECTION

Sigma Phi Epsilon initiated, not pledged as reported in the Flambeau, Bill Pfeiffer, Louis Tiffery, Malcolm Hill and Willard Scott. The initiation was held at the Chapter house last Sunday.

November Ends Fulbright Plan

Competition for scholarship awards under the Fulbright and Buenos Aires Convention pro grams closes Nov. 1, 1955.

Application blanks for the scholarships are available at the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York City, according to Institute President Kenneth Holland. The blanks are also available in the offices of Fulbright advisers on college and university campuses

The programs under the Fulbright Act and the Buenos Aires Convention for the Promotion of Inter-American Cultural Relations are part of the international educational exchange activities of the Department of State. They will allow some 1,000 American citizens to study abroad during the 1956-57 academic year.

Requirements

Eligibility requirements for these foreign study fellowships are as follows: United States citizenship, a college degree or its equivalent at the time the award is accepted, a knowledge of the language of the country sufficient to carry on the proposed study, an age maximum of 35 years, and good health.

Applicants are screened by the Institute of International Education, a private agency deriving authority from the Board of Foreign Scholarships and the Department of State. The Board of Foreign Scholarships, appointed by the President of the United States, makes final selection of Fulbright grantees.

Benefits

Fulbright awards cover transportation, expenses of a language or area orientation course abroad, tuition, books, and maintenance for one academic year. Awards under the Buenos Aires Convention include transportation provided by the U. S. government, and tuition and maintenance allowances provided by the host governments.

Dance Slated At Student Center

The second Student Center dance this term is scheduled for tomorrow night from 9 to 12 p.m.

Calling for informal attire, a dance will be held every weekend that some major activity is not planned, said Mrs. Grace Bateman, Student Center hostess. The choices of Friday or Saturday night and whether the music will be furnished by an orchestra or a juke box will vary throughout the year.

Varsity Netmen Lack Reserves

A surprising lack of tennis players for the spring semester is a prime concern of head coach Kieth Pritchford.

The varsity is in a depleted state with only four lettermen returning to form the nucleus of the team. Three of the four are seniors—Hal Schauss, Shelby Creagh and Tom Morgan—with sophomore Dick Walker rounding out the returnees.

Pitchford maintains the prospects for the future look bright with the addition of a large freshmen team However, in all Southeastern Conference meets, freshmen will not be allowed to compete.

Among freshmen candidates are Frank Bryan, scholastic champion from South Carolina; Freddy Seibelt, high school and state junior champion from Arkansas, Tommy Woods, Panama City; and Lee Hester and Jim Maddock of Fort Lauderdale.

Last year, Pitchford led his Seminole netmen to a record of ten victories against six setbacks while playing the toughest schedule in school history

Pitchford indicated this year's state would probably be just as rough with such teams as Georgia Georgia Tech, Auburn and Rollins in the alignment.

Pitchford issued an appeal to upper classmen with tennis experience and the ambition to want to play with the Seminole team.

"We badly need upper classmen," he said. "And we need them now."

Track Practice Starts Monday

Fall track practice will begin the week of Monday, Oct. 3 head coach Mike Long announced recently.

Members of the squad will include freshmen scholarship men, 1955 members and anyone wishing to try out.

Long said equipment may be checked out on Tuesday, Sept. 27, Thursday, Sept. 29, and Tuesday, Oct. 4, between the hours of 1:30 P. M. and 4 P. M

STATE BAKERY and DELICATESSEN

The South's Most Unusual ONE STOP FOOD SHOP

WE HAVE SOMETHING FROM EVERY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD

Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat

at yours TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
TODAY & TOMORROW
"THE LEFT HAND OF GOD"
Co-Starring
HUMPHREY BOGART
GENE TIERNEY
—and—
SUNDAY thru TUESDAY
"THE CORWEB"

STATE
TODAY & TOMORROW
"THE PHENIX CITY STORY"
(Alabama)
SUNDAY thru TUESDAY
"THE VANISHING PRAIRIE"
—and—
"Willie the Operatic Whale"

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
TODAY & TOMORROW
"Carrie Queen of Montana"
—and—
"Carolina Cannonball" with JUDY CANOVA
SUNDAY & MONDAY
"The Big Sleep"

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TODAY & TOMORROW
"The Siege at Red River"
—and—
"Battle Taxi"
SUNDAY & MONDAY
"So This Is Paris"

RITZ—SUNDAY & MONDAY
"MAMBO" with Silvana Mangano, Michael Rennie, Vittorio Gassman and Shelley Winters

For all your daily needs:
Go To
MALONE'S BOOK STORE
College outlines for course work
Schaum's outlines for science courses
Modern library books
Mentor and other Pocket books
Art and school supplies

Records Phonographs
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Dine In Comfortable
Atmosphere
Complete Dinners From $1.50 up
Approved by AAA
Host
Duncan Hines
Let Us Plan Your Banquet or Luncheon
Our Private Banquet Room Has A Capacity of 110
TALLAHASSEE Dining Room
1630 North Monroe
Phone 2-2428
Mr. Bishop, Mgr.

Wembley
University Repps
SCULLIONS
SBEN WHRRAVER SMART MEN GATHER
Scullions Slate Group Meeting
Scullions, an organization for students in Hotel and Restaurant Management, convenes for the first time this year Tuesday.
The get-acquainted meeting will take place in the trophy room of the Student Center at 7 p.m.
Scullions President Wayne Sawyer is expected to confirm appointments at the initial meeting.
Appointees are Al Schuler, chairman of the Membership committee; Joan Barry, chairman of Ritual Committee; Sherwood Williams, chairman of Periodicals Committee and Paul Goslee, chairman of the Homecoming Dance.
A recording secretary will be elected from the floor.
Wembley
THE TIE WITH THE COLOR GUIDE
Wembley introduces the latest color combinations as well as traditional campus colors -- all planned to go with your new Fall suits and shirts.
National university panel of top undergraduates selected these ties for Wembley.
ALL-SILK $2.50 ACETATE RAYON $1.50

A big job— [illegible] about is an organizational meeting of the committee chairmen [illegible] the 1955 FSU Homecoming celebration. Clockwise, beginning at left, are Tim Smith, Barbara Graham, Tom Day, IFC President, Russell Johnson, Building Supervisor, Judy Watkins, Robert Leigh, director of publications, Jim Neel, Dean of Men Katherine Warren, Dean of Women, Mr. Ed Steinmeyer, Roy Flynn, director of Radio and Television, Mr. Betty Anderson, director of Homecoming publicity, Mrs. Mildred Parrish, Alumni Secretary, Graham Caruthers, Homecoming Dance Chairman, Fred Vogel, counselor for student activities, and Ed Whittlesey, overall Homecoming Chairman.

Tips To Teachers

Education School Issues Stategy To Eager Interns

By MARGARET MILLER

The Student Education Association, [illegible] Education Building, [illegible] for teaching our small boy was certain enough to reconcile that this wasn't [illegible] school and which was being plowed for the planting of new [illegible] crops. Wonderful idea, [illegible] sowed me to wear dainty french [illegible] to such a place. I abandoned [illegible] to the mud, yanked up [illegible] and with the addition of my room, picked up a [illegible] speed.

I was momentarily diverted by a whistle and glancing over my shoulder, saw the Dr. Pepper delivery man establish himself on [illegible] to watch the race and cheer me on.

Re-Captured

Mumm has a prince of thanks for all my P. E. classes. I managed to capture the two sheepish escapees only two blocks down the street. I even picked up a couple of others, who with the carefree merriment of childhood were enjoying a few more miles on our home-made merry-go-round.

Too Much

This was only the beginning of our day. By the time we collected everyone after the recess rush, it was time to form another line for a trip to the water fountain. Then it was time to form a line for a trip to the bathroom. And finally, the final line for home and freedom.

I distinctly set out but soon [illegible] bogged down in the mire of the [illegible]

Troubles

[illegible]

Me Too

[illegible]

His Strategy

[illegible]

Horror Struck

[illegible]

WFSU SCHEDULE

Friday, September 30

[illegible]

Saturday, Oct. 1, 1955

[illegible]

Sunday, October 2

[illegible]

"1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9—Spirit Of Genesa"

ATTENTION
FSU STUDENTS and FACULTY
The Air-Conditioned
SILVER SLIPPER
Offers You
10% Discount
on
• CHARCOAL BROILED STEAKS
• SEAFOOD • CHICKEN • GRECIAN SALADS
AND
ALL REGULAR DINNERS
Enjoy the Finest in Food
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK 5 P.M.—12 P.M.
Phone 2-4961 For Reservations
2000 So. Monroe

New Committee Debates Traffic; Adds Member

By RAY HEMANN

The first meeting this semester of the newly formed traffic committee was held Monday afternoon in Dean Oelsner's office.

Since its formation this summer, the committee has been functioning under the capable leadership of John Halford with only one change in personnel. One member from Senate, Karl Edwards, has been added to balance the membership evenly between Faculty, Staff and Students. As the committee now stands there are four student organizations, one student, and five faculty and staff representatives.

Complaints

As was expected there were numerous complaints registered with the committee and the office of the business manager concerning the new parking and traffic regulations. The majority of these complaints were registered by faculty members who either had reserved parking places taken away from them or by reason of the assigned type parking were not allowed to park where they were accustomed to parking.

There were some legitimate complaints registered by certain businesses in town and offices on campus concerning the speed of being able to park temporarily in the restricted zone or in loading zones. Authority was given by the committee to Mr. Day to issue temporary permits to the above mentioned organizations for such length of time as is needed to transact their business.

Survey Underway

A survey is being conducted by Alpha Council this week to determine the number of cars parking in each area of our campus to study the flow of traffic on campus and to get an idea as to possibility of increasing the number of one way streets and zoned park ing areas.

Plans were set in motion to increase the size of the North Cawthon parking lot and to improve the parking lot on the corner of Call and Copeland Streets. Under consideration by the committee are the possible future sites of additional parking lots. Areas to questions are those next to the infirmary and next to the nursery school on Call Street.

No Parking

The motion was made and passed that there be no parking on campus streets between the hours of 1:30 a.m. and 6:00 a.m. This means that anyone living on campus and operating an automobile must either park their car in a parking lot adjacent to their dormitory or park it in one of the city streets.

Although the biggest problem in traffic regulation right now is parking, the committee is also getting those who have to walk. Next on the agenda is the complete rescheduling and rerouting of the campus buses.

Student Fashion Institute Holds Meeting Tuesday

The Student Fashion Institute will meet for the first time this year Tuesday, Oct. 1, in room 222, Music Building.

At the meeting slated to begin at 5 p.m., the group will formulate plans for a tea honoring prospective members.

Membership in the Institute is not limited to women in the field of fashion, but is extended to all those interested in surveying the latest fashion trends.

'State Of The Campus' Address Calls For More Thorough Study By UGA

Student Body President Coyle Moore called Wednesday upon all branches of Student Government to study thoroughly all problems confronting them.

He made this point during his "State of the Campus" address to Student Senate.

Moore said he felt Student Government did a good job last year, but that occasional unbalance in the handling of proposed projects prevented it from receiving more power from the administration.

"The key to greater cooperation between the administration and Student Government, and to a greater voice in administrative affairs which vitally concern the student body is a mature student government capable of receiving more and larger responsibilities," Moore said.

He added Senate should concern itself more with serving the student body and less with pencil-sharpeners and "rearranging its own furniture"—a reference to arguments about how student government should be run.

Bad Legislation

The Student Body president cited as ill-advised legislation an amendment passed last year allowing freshmen to serve as summer council. He said freshmen might not even know the names of campus buildings and problably couldn't make responsible decisions about student affairs.

Moore added, however, that in his opinion Senate is capable of a conscientious job, saying it is equal to or better than any others in the nation.

He recalled a survey of telephone shortages last year which he said resulted in adding $6 000 worth of new telephone equipment in women's dorms. Moore pointed to this survey, and the work of the summer traffic committee now being handled by the new committee under Joan Halford, as examples to be followed.

Avoid NSA

Moore advised against joining the controversial National Student Association while reporting on the Student Body President conference sponsored by NSA this summer.

Moore asserted NSA doesn't have any influence on Congress, as it has claimed," so enough practicality to make FSU a joiner the prefrence.

He said he learned much from other student body presidents at this summer's conference, however and that his successor should attend next year.

"NSA overemphasizes the philosophical approach and neglects the practical aspects of student government," Moore charged.

Goals Unachieved

Although NSA has fine goals, those are not being achieved," he said.

Moore suggested student government ought to be able to expand, pointing out some other student body presidents told him their schools ran football stadiums and run athletic departments.

He stated every other student body president this summer said student government has students on most faculty committees.

Reapportionment

Moore urged passage of a reapportionment system providing for at least one senator from each dormitory. He said only three or four senators live in dormitories.

Attacking critics of the Honor System as "demands who condemn the Honor System with only a vague knowledge of how it is supposed to work," Moore urged greater enforcement.

"It is our (the governme responsibility to set an exa by c nsistently turning h dents who cheat. The on to beat that problem i it broadside. I am open to ggestions," he said.

Asks Bill Recall

Moore asked the recal bill passed last year pro for both men and wome beca of the judicial court in iudgement on both men women.

There are some fea fenses that men would ve defended or be sure ault," he claimed, as under a new bill only ch ehold men and women be tried by the full Uni Court.

Moore criticised the un budget setup, which only men's and the Men's Ath tivity fees. At this rate, W said, student government student publications are rea to inadequate budgets. said the senate's organiza ond finance committee s work with the secretary of ance to raise the budget.

'55 Campus Chest Launches Drive

Plans for the 1955 Campus Chest Drive are well underway, announce Mary Frith Cawthon, Campus Chest chairman.

The social organization's projects thus far submitted to the Chest Committee are a car wash by Zeta Tau Alpha goal $75), a spaghetti supper by Kappa Delta a zone meet staged by Delta Zeta serving as fraternities by Alpha Omega Pi and a variety show by Sigma Kappa.

Gamma Alpha Phi, the Women Advertising Professional Group, is sponsoring a fashion show entitled "Bombshells Co-or," to be held Oct. 29, 2 to 3 p.m. The event will take place in the Opperman auditorium and will feature models from each sorority.

Of the fraternity projects, Sigma Nu will have a pie throwing contest. Kappa Alpha a Rebel toll gate and Sigma Chi, its annual Derby contest.

The FSU Marching Chiefs are planning a special maneuver at the Georgia—Florida football game, Oct. 15, featuring the Campus Chest. F Club is sponsoring its annual box supper.

The Chest goal this year has been set at slightly over $1 000 increase over last year. This increase is partially due to the growth in size of FSU but mainly because of the urgent need of funds by the Community

Yea Team!—Tryouts for the cheerleading squad, held Tuesday, saw 38 girls display their skills. Show above are, l-r, Jan Hester, Nancy Fowler, Orlando, Jeanette Garrett, Bartow, Mary Jane Johnson, Orlando, and Betty Jo Benzing, Orlando.

The Champ—Finally chosen from among all cheerleader tryouts was lithe Judy Dekle, above.

Sunday Dinner at the MECCA

Baked Young Turkey and Dressing	75c
Southern Fried Chicken	75c
Baked Ham with Pineapple	70c

All served with choice of three vegetables, plus hot rolls and butter.

YOU'LL BOTH GO FOR THIS CIGARETTE!
It's WINSTON all over campus!
WINSTON TASTES GOOD!
LIKE A CIGARETTE SHOULD!
Winston FILTER-CIGARETTES
■ College smokers know Winston's the filter cigarette that really tastes like a cigarette! Winston's real tobacco flavor really comes through to you — smoothly and easily — because Winston's exclusive filter works so effectively. Try a pack! See for yourself — Winston tastes good — like a cigarette should!
Smoke WINSTON the easy-drawing filter cigarette!

Housing Code Planned To Prevent Shoddy Facilities In Future

By OSCAR JOHNSON

University authorities here have begun working toward the establishment of a housing code for students living off-campus.

The move was started after reports of several students living in shoddy housing conditions after trying unsuccessfully to obtain dormitory rooming.

260 Applications

According to Robert G. Brewer, director of Men's Housing, there are now on file in his office 260 applications for University housing. Of these, he explained, many are probably satisfied with their apartments for the time being and expect to stay in them until the Spring semester.

Dean of Men Sam Neel revealed yesterday that a survey has been launched to investigate the facilities of every off-campus apartment offered to University students. Ultimately he expects to have a card file showing the conditions of these housing accommodations.

Regulations

In an effort to prevent the repetition of students living in apartments such as shown in the accompanying pictures, the survey will lead to a housing code regulating landlords and students. Dr. Neel said the survey committee will set up standards requiring minimum facilities for the housing of students in Tallahassee, and will provide regulations for students to follow in terms of behavior.

Dr. Neel stressed the University's appreciation to the community of Tallahassee for its cooperation in "arranging off-campus housing for the overflow of students." He said that every man living off-campus had chosen to live in his apartment rather than return home.

Rooms Available

Other rooms are now available, he declared, and are listed at the Men's Residences Office.

As for the problem of housing for married students, Dr. Neel said that the University is "working with local builders to arrange more housing at West Campus." Workers are now starting on the project at cost he said, and University plumbers have donated their services.

The first project is 19 apartments in Building 397. Members of the housing problem committee are Dr. Sam Baptista and Frank Bean, graduate assistant. They are expected to have completed their survey by the Spring semester.

Campus Chest Schedules Dance Friday

The Florida Flambeau

Florida's Only Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Vol. XLII, No. 5 Tuesday, October 5, 1955

Vote Slated For Posts Of Board Of Publications

The FSU student body will go to the polls November 1 to elect nine students to fill the vacant posts existing on the Student Publications Board.

Requirements for election to the board are that the aspirant:

1. Must have completed, by the end of the current semester at least 60 hours credit in classes of the 200 level or above in the School of Journalism. Alternative is to have worked at least two semesters on a student publication at any college or university, one semester of which must have been at FSU.

2. Must be a Junior or Senior.

3. Must have attained a 1.3 cum average last semester, or an overall 1.2 average.

The Members

The board consists of three non-student members of the University staff or faculty and five members of the student body.

One of the non-student members are to be appointed by the President of the University, with the Dean of Students completing the roster.

The two non-elected student members will be appointed by Dixie C. Moore Jr. President of the Student Body.

Appointment

My appointments will be made before the election of members is held, and the board will be put into effect as soon as the elected members have been selected," stated Moore.

I understand that the faculty members will have been appointed also, so the board can begin administration of their duties immediately."

Appointees

The Student Publications Board will appoint, each year, the editor and business manager of each publication, and has the power to remove these appointees from office.

It shall also be the duty of the board to pass on the periodic bulletin and financial statements which will be submitted to it by the various student publications after the first regular meeting of each month.

When asked his opinion of the duties entrusted to the Student Publications Board. Moore said:

We have been working on the board for a long time, and hope that this board will alleviate some of the problems and headaches that editors have had to face in the past."

Campaigning To Commence On October 25

Freshmen may file declaration of candidacy for class offices next Tuesday and must do so by Tuesday, October 18, secretary of elections Betty Williams said yesterday.

The declarations, which can be obtained at the Information Desk, Longmire Building, must be returned in by 5 p.m. on the 18th. A week later will be the deadline for filing expense statements Miss Wilson added.

She explained that an estimate is required for all candidates. Only those who are elected must file a statement of actual expenses.

No freshman will be on the official ballot if he does not meet the deadlines for filing candidacy and expense statements, the secretary warned.

Rules governing campaigning or the use of any written or printed material — may be in by October 25 at 5 p.m., she said. Primaries will be November 1 and final election day November 8.

Candidates for president may spend no more than $30. Candidates for the six Senatorial seats may spend $25 each. Candidates for vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and social chairman are limited to $15.

TALLY-HO MEET CALLED

Tally-Ho staff members will meet Thursday, October 8, at 7:30 p.m., in the office, Longmire.

Reason For Housing Code

Flambeau Photos: Laird Anderson

Studying—Toby Knowles studies by light of single bulb hanging by cord from wall. He and his room-mate, Dave Weed, pay $40 a month to rent "furnished" apartment. However, furniture, garbage cans, utilities bill come extra. Apartment is located at 221 Macomb Street, and is built around ordinary trailer, axle of which is visible beneath house. Adjoining apartment house, owned by same landlord, rents at $60 per month and was described by visiting Flambeau editor, Men's vice-president, Hana Tews, and photographer as "shocking."

Plumbing Facilities—Antiquated sink is at right. Board props up corner of counter at right foreground; cardboard waste can is in center of picture. Table is at left below window. Sanitary facilities consist of a leaky commode.

Closet Space?—Toby Knowles, standing on chair, pushes typewriter case into bedroom's storage space high on wall.

Campus Dance Scheduled For Friday At 8:30

By BOB MOREN

Florida State's University's Campus Chest will officially begin its drive Friday night with the first all-campus dance of the year.

With a goal for the drive set at $5,000, The Campus Chest Dance will commence a two-week period of money raising projects. The dance, which is strictly informal will be held in the Suwannee Room from 8:30 to 11:30, admission will be 3C cents minimum per couple.

The highlight for the evening will be the Commodores, exclusively noted as FSU's biggest dance band. Featuring a variety of music ranging from waltzes to swing the Commodores will set the pace for a night of dancing.

Floor Show

Also slated on the agenda, states dance chairman Ed Wycoff, is a one-flight floor show featuring the participants from Freshman Talent Night. Claire Greeo and Her "cute" Pan Announcer with his accordian, and singer June Rogers will be among the acts.

Much of each year's Campus Chest is raised to various ways by the social organizations on campus. Chairman for the entire drive, Mary Pete Cawthon, announces that many projects have already been submitted for the sale.

Projects received to date a cake walk by Zeta Tau Alpha, a spaghetti supper by Kappa Delta, a shoe shine stand by Delta Zeta, the Sigma Kappa variety show, and serving at a tailgate by Alpha Omega P.

Fashion Show

Gamma Alpha Phi, the Women's Advertising professional group, is sponsoring a fashion show entitled "Highlighting Color," to be held October 25 2:30 to 3 p.m. The "P" Club is sponsoring its annual box supper October 20, at Landis Green.

For fraternity projects, Sigma Chi will have its annual Derby contest October 15; Kappa Alpha, a Rebel call date and Sig Nu its pie throwing contest. Phi Delta Theta in conjunction with Alpha Gamma Delta will put on a soap box derby down College Avenue.

The FSU Marching Chiefs are planning a special marching for the Georgia football game, featuring the Campus Cuties.

Calendar Slated

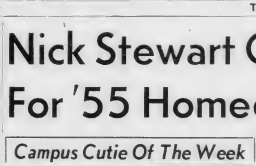
Mary Penn Cawthon, general chairman, has stated that all organizations decide on a project as soon as possible in order that a complete calendar of activities can be published on Friday, the opening day of the drive. It is hoped that this will increase student participation and interest throughout the drive.

All organizations are also urged to see that their projects are completed during the two-week campaign. New projects can be submitted to Carol Close, secretaries, D. B. Smith, fraternities; Gloria Lantz, women's dorms; Jim Soles, men's dorms; and Joan Harmon, organizations.

Tarpon Club Gives Classes In Swimming

Today, tomorrow, and Thursday from 4:30 to 10:30 the Tarpon Club is sponsoring classes in synchronized swimming.

The purpose of these lessons is to give Tarpon's aspiring members an idea of the skill he will be in if they make it. Also they will learn what would be expected of them if they are chosen as members of the Tarpon Club, of which Miss Clarice Smith is faculty advisor.



For those girls whose last names begin with "A" through "M" tryouts will be scheduled October 11, while "N" through "Z" tryouts will be on October 12. For those still in the running, finals are on the thirteenth.

As there is no set amount of girls taken, membership depends entirely upon adaptability and swimming ability. Those finalists who make Tarpon are referred to as "minnows" until they first appear in a show, then they become full-fledged members of Tarpon, the president of which is Jane Walker.

Once a week they practice with one goal in sight—their annual water show which this spring will be on February 29, March 1, 2 and 3. The show is usually a one-hour presentation based on a single theme done in music

Nick Stewart Chosen For '55 Homecoming

Campus Cutie Of The Week

Photography by Simmons

Miss Barbara Dean
Sophomore from Orlando, age 19.

Ed. Note: This is the first of a weekly series of photographs of FSU women emphasizing natural charm.

Arrangements are being made to hire Nick Stewart and his band from Hollywood for the Homecoming Dance, said Graham Carothers, dance committee chairman.

"If they are not available" he said "then we will just get a local band."

The decision was the outcome of a meeting between Carothers and Dr. R. B. Oglesby, Dean of Students yesterday over the question of whether to hire a big-name or local band for the occasion.

In the past, name bands have been used every year since the university became co-educational in 1947. These included Vaughn Monroe, Hal McIntyre, Freddy Martin, Charlie Spivak, Tex Beneke, Sammy Kaye and last year's choice, Ray Eberle.

In past years, however, only one dance was held. This year for the first time said Carothers, the event will be split up into several smaller dances—one in the Suwannee Room, one at West Hall, and individual affairs held by some of the sororities and fraternities. Nick Stewart, if hired, will play for the Suwannee Room. Music for the others will employ local bands.

Whether or not a fraternity or sorority holds its own dance or attends the open one at the Suwannee Room is being left up to the individual organizations, Carothers said he would have a list of local bands published to aid in choosing.

Concerning the West Hall ball, John Backburn, Counselor, said that the main question right now was whether to have it open to West Hall men and their dates only or to all the students. On this issue, Carothers declared that as far as he was concerned, West Hall could have a closed dance, provided that they paid for it themselves.

Admission to the Suwannee Room will be $1 a couple if the name band is hired and possibly free if a local band is used, Carothers stressed that this was only tentative and that admission might have to be changed in the case of a local band.

At a meeting of several of the committee today, "Celebrate With Florida State" was chosen as a motto, but nothing has been decided on a theme for the event yet.

Debate Team Slates Mixer For Forensics Candidates

An informal mixer for all students interested in forensic activities, particularly membership on the FSU debate team, is to be held tonight at 7:15, in room 222 History Building.

Herb Lacayo, debate team member, explained that students attending the meeting will be assigned partners for practice in debate Dr. Grea Pfufer, associate professor of speech, will judge students individually as to placement on the debate team Lacayo urges all students interested in forensics of any kind to attend to the meeting for an introduction to speech activities on the Florida State campus.

National Traffic

Recently announced was the topic chosen for national debate this year throughout colleges and universities in the United States. It is: "Resolved: That all non-agricultural industries should pay their employees a guaranteed annual wage. This topic will be studied and subsequently debated at all primary debate tournaments.

Each year, the national debate topic is chosen by a national committee, which works with the approval of participating groups. A list of preferred subjects is sent from each participating school to the committee from which four subjects are chosen for consideration. From these four choices, the debate teams vote upon the subject they would prefer for nation debate.

British Debate

However, first major debate meet on this campus will not deal with this problem. October 19, FSU's debaters are scheduled for a meet with a British group, sponsored by the English government, from one of the state colleges of England. Tryouts for this meet will be October 13.

Besides debate meets on the Tallahassee campus, the FSU team will participate in a number of sessions at other schools. First university to play host to the FSU squad will be the University of Alabama. FSU debaters will also appear at the Miami Invitational and Mississippi Southern.

Tournament

The first debate tournament of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic society, will be held in Tallahassee. Tentative date is mid-year. The TKA tournaments will be climaxed by the National TKA meet will be New York City during the [illegible]

Campus Parking Hours Revealed

Students may not park on campus streets between the hours of 1:30 and 4 a.m.

This is the final word from the traffic committee, stated Joan Halford, chairman. Every automobile will have to be parked either in the parking lots adjacent to the dorms or on a city street.

The traffic committee is meeting this Friday and will discuss limiting the operation of cars by freshmen. The University of Florida is planning to adopt a policy of prohibiting freshmen from keeping a car on campus unless there is a definite necessity for one.

Students here who have blue stickers are particularly sorry he here since there are three times as many blue stickers issued as there are blue sticker parking places.

"If students would walk to class or use a campus bus when possible, it would help," added Miss Halford.

Auditors Criticize University Bookstore

Buying and selling practices of the Florida State University bookstore were criticized yesterday by the State Auditing Department.

The audit report said the University bookstore went beyond its authority and jurisdiction when it sold household items to faculty members at cost or slightly above.

"The purchase of a number of items of household equipment on special order—refrigerators, radios, toasters, mixers, irons, luggage, rugs, silverchina, blankets, etc., and subsequent resale to staff and faculty members at cost or slightly above, was noted during the audit period of the bookstore," the report said.

"This committee, in the auditor's opinion, an expansion of bookstore services, beyond its appropriate function, and it is again suggested that such operations should be curtailed before the volume reaches the point where a general dependent would be established."

Choral Union Positions Open Says Gunter

It is still not too late to join Choral Union.

Herman Gunter, director, said Monday that there is a definite need for more men.

The group, which numbers about 130 men and women, majoring in all fields of study, gives two concerts a year as well as one opera in the spring.

The first concert, to be held just before Thanksgiving vacation, will feature Gustav Holst's "Hymn of Jesus," and one other number not yet chosen, said Louise McClure, publicity director.

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented at a Christmas concert.

The busiest Choral Union event of the year is the opera, usually held in May. This year's opera has not been selected yet, said Miss McClure, but possible candidates are Bizet's "Carmen" and Gounod's "Faust."

Auditions are needed in join the organization, which meets every Monday and Wednesday from 12 to 1 p.m. and Tuesday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. One hour credit is given, but students may attend only part of the rehearsals for no credit, said Gunter.

Frosh To Have Cheering Section

Tickets for seats in the Freshman Cheering section are available for the VPI game now.

They may be obtained from the cheerleaders or the Student Activities office in the basement of Lonamire Building.

Any group that wants blocks

Investigation Needed

The story of the off-campus housing situation on the front page of this paper should speak for itself. No editorial could add our campaign for investigation as well as those pictures. But one point should be made in addition.

The mere fact that such property could receive a license from the State for rental purposes, speaks ill either of the standards prevailing or of the investigatory committee if there was one.

We commend the University's inspection team which started work yesterday to survey the conditions of off-campus housing facilities. Perhaps those Tallahasseans now charging outrageous rents to students for apartments which should be condemned as fire traps will take note and do something about it.

We realize that many townspeople operate fine, well-kept rental property at reasonable prices for students who live off campus, but we regret that more of them are not closer to the FSU campus. The increased enrollment at FSU and future increases will necessitate more and more near-campus housing, as many students do not have cars for cross-town transportion.

We could cite other instances similar to those on the front page, but one should be sufficient. We urge the University to set up a housing code, and to provide a list of recommended rental property to incoming students next semester. It would speak well of our state.

Is Here The Purge

University of Tampa students planning to attend a dance friend "Communist Kapers" found their party had been purged. By whom? Bulganin? Molotov? No! The American Legion.

Signs asking students to pat their feet to the tune of the Bolshevik Five, and warning "Is Better Come to Kommunist Kaper or be Liquidated," were removed under auspices which George Orwell might have signed.

The Tampa Tribune said it, but we find it hard to believe that the Legion urged removal of even the Vodka labels which the sponsors had planned to use on can-do'holder bottles.

The Legion's all-American ulcer was upset when a U of T student objected to the saturization because he had seen his buddies killed by Communists in the Korean war. We can see humor in the theme's take off on Big Brother, but we fail to see humor in the Legion's subsequent actions.

We might understand it if a member of the Russian delegation to the UN had protested, but "the Kaper" should have had the approval of the American Legion. Such satirization of communism is a healthy sign that students are not being taken in by the leftist propaganda. The American Legion would have had cause to worry had the fraternity dance made fun of democracy.

Cartoons syndicated nationally by Lichty have for several years poked fun at the "Big Brother" and dictatorial traits of communism, and yet the American Legion has not proclaimed him un-American. If the Legion can raise such hue and cry about a theme-dance, should they not also protest the fact that similar take-offs go into American homes every Sunday with the comics?

If this is going to become a prototype for American Legion action, the Florida Flambeau is going to protest the establishment of a chapter on this campus, a move which is forthcoming. Such attitudes do not, in our estimation, reflect the principles of freedom, but rather are reminiscent of the very methods used by Communists on their own people.

Our thoughts, we feel sure, are similar to those held by the University of Tampa student press, but they are at present in no position to protest American Legion actions. They too, might be investigated.

Successful Start?

This year's Campus Chest drive gets underway Friday night with the annual Campus Chest Dance, proceeds of which go into the chest fund.

Pas: campus chest dances have not drawn good crowds, despite the fact that the informality of the event, the music, and the location should be conducive to some of the finest entertainment to be found on campus . . . and for only 50 cents a couple.

The Campus Chest drive is the only organized charity drive all year, and the dance is an integral part of that drive. An overflow crowd in the Suwannee room would be a production start for what we hope will be a record-breaking fund raising campaign.

Trench Troubles

America is a nation that believes in testing.

As students, we are in a position to know this better than most. Almost every week we are faced with one or more tests on our studies. Besides this form of testing, most of the products we use undergo numerous tests before reaching the hands of the consumer.

The cars we drive are produced under the close supervision of dozens of engineers. Their production is executed under the utmost care.

Therefore, we fail to see why it is necessary that the cars driven over the FSU campus must be subjected to rigorous testing of their springs, shock absorbers and suspension systems.

In other words, won't somebody please —PLEASE — fix those trenches across the roads bordering the new library!

Battery Thefts

Let's hope the two thefts of automobile batteries Sunday morning—which rumor spread to include every car in the Florida Hall parking lot—aren't the start of a crime wave. It's hard enough to make cars move in campus traffic with their batteries.

Already some people have been overheard saying the parking areas ought to be better lit. The Florida Hall lot, as most people know, is very dark.

This is going to create a problem. What's dearest to the students—their automobile batteries or their courting?

Perhaps the problem could be solved with huge floodlights such as those at the West Hall lot—although we must insist we not be turned on until after closing hours.

Odds & Ends

Canine Clique Haunts Campus

By HOWARD HARTLEY

Most upperclassmen are well aware that there is a certain aristocratic clique on campus that once concerns itself with regulating the speed of automobiles, exacts tribute from all the local eating establishments, terrorizes lovers in dark nooks late at night and makes sure that the squirrel population does not exceed the bounds of reason. This clique, of course, is known as the Campus Hounds.

President of the Campus Hounds is an old, grizzled Heinz dog known as The Ghost. Back in 1951 he was struck by an automobile, and was attempting to regulate unsuccessfully and many observers swore he was dead. There was no apparent heartbeat, and no visible signs of life. However, some six months later, an apparition appeared that was identified as the dean's twin brother, or his own ghost.

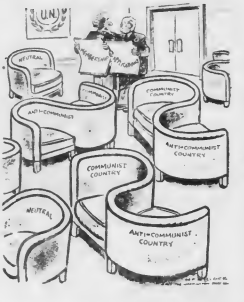
It was finally decided, after much debate, that the latter was the case, so from that time forth he has borne the name with dignity. The Ghost used to average about 30 miles an hour when he was on duty between the Old Demonstration School and Student Center, but this accident seemed to take some of the starch out of him. He now leaves this particular function to some of his lieutenants, and can usually be seen counting nuts on the little hill across from Dallas's home.

Another favored Campus Hound has the Soda Shop beat. We saw him yesterday morning, soliciting lunch on the front steps with a cup in his mouth. He is probably making more than most student assistants, at the present rate of pay.

Darling I love you . . . " H-o-o-n-e-y!", and the preoccupied couple is interrupted by another Campus Hound, Napoleon, by name. Napoleon is a big, brown, friendly but nondescript pooch who just can't stand to see couple lovers spooning without getting in on the act. If bowling doesn't work, he will put his muzzle in the girls lap and graze soulfully into her eyes.

One of the more colorful traditions on campus is the practice of throwing male students who have pared with their frat pins into the pool in front of Westcott. We hope those who participate in this activity will take care to ease their victims in carefully . . .

The Florida Flambeau



JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller
Sports Editor ..... Pierce Lehmbeck
Senior Reporters ..... Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Mary Elizabeth King—Business Mgr.
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... John Halford
Exchange Ed. ..... Betsy Voorhees
Telephone 224 extension 6821, 5821
311, 213 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

Pat Marston, News Editor

Photographers Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Larry Beck, Roger Herndon, Steve Kleid
Campus Editors ..... Jerome Bernstein
Howard Hartley
Greek Editor ..... Charles Polevoi
Virgil Austin, Advertising Manager
Asst. Adv. Mgr. ..... Leonard Koeth
Morgue ..... George Goldstein
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

"Shall We Open The Doors Now?"

Letter To The Editor

Vets Protest

Dear Editor:

If I sound disgruntled, it's because I am disgruntled.

And I'm not the only one either! There are a number of others complaining of a similar stand if one-sixth of the student body of the school, who are also disgruntled.

I speak of course of the veterans on campus who are not getting too much consideration. Whether this is intentional or just a matter of inconvenience is not important.

The thing that is important, however, is that the veterans are not getting their checks which may best be described as a monthly good will gesture until November 20th.

For one I am fortunate that myself that could be disastrous!

The only explanation I have been able to get for this sad state of affairs is that the regional office at Pine Castle and the Miami regional office are mismanaging. This entails, as I understand it, moving some records from somewhere to somewhere else. This may also entail, although this evidently is a minor problem, some extra clerical help.

At best this is a poor excuse.

Why are we the only school who are getting this check? Why at the University of Florida getting theirs on time, for instance?

I have spoken to veterans from Florida and they have told me that their checks are getting in Oct. 20—exactly one month earlier than the FSU checks.

I would say offhand that something is wrong and this is the general consensus among all the veterans I have talked to. This matter should be looked into and if there is not a very good reason for it something should be done.

Note to veterans: As you may or may not know, there has been a bill in Congress for some time which, if passed, would give a considerable raise in your veteran subsistence checks. This bill although there is almost no opposition to it, has been pigeonholed to be used as a convenient plank in the coming elections.

Get behind this bill! If there is enough discontent created over this kind of political skullduggery maybe it can be corrected.

Besides, if you are anything like me, you can probably use the loot. Write your congressman today!

ALLEN D. PATE.

A Better Measure

From The Daily Texan

SMU President Defends Freedom Of Academics

Willis Tate, president of SMU Tuesday struck a courageous blow against the fuzzy-minded Inquisitors of academic freedom.

In answer to severe criticism of Navlor Library books on communism . . . for inviting a notorious Communist to speak . . . for allowing a labor senator on campus . . . and for scheduling a course called "Freedom Agenda," Dr. Tate told a gath ering of the Dallas Kiwanis Club:

• "A great university is the last vestige of freedom in America. We have some risks to run —of the crackpot of a mis guided few of outside the over "rich" who take advantage of us.

• "We think it is worth all these risks.

• "We have been criticized for having books on communism in our library.

• "Of course we do.

• "We can't train international lawyers and foreign missionaries without their knowledge of communism anymore than students can study medicine without a knowledge of venereal fever.

• "There is a great deal of difference in teaching and teaching about.

Defending the Freedom Agenda, which brings various speakers—some controversial — to the SMU campus, he said:

"We're not responsible for what the speakers say . . . here again we stand for the open discussion and not for what is advocated in the discussion."

Pressure from some quarters had been brought to bear on the Dallas Junior Bar Association to withdraw their co-sponsorship of the eight-week course.

Other Tate remarks:

• "Our students are not juveniles. They are adults and must be treated like adults.

• "We can't protect them in the atmosphere shield them from the facts of life.

• "Part of maturing is grappling with the kinds of teasing.

• "New ideas are the most important in the world."

As long as we have universities and the history of this University provides a reliable testimonial, there will be movements afoot to curtail our free processing of learning.

Here is an education who has followed compromise and suppression. His defense has the stuff of which greatness is made.

Letter To The Editor

Vets Protest

Dear Editor:

If I sound disgruntled, it's because I am disgruntled.

And I'm not the only one either! There are a number of others complaining of a similar stand if one-sixth of the student body of the school, who are also disgruntled.

I speak of course of the veterans on campus who are not getting too much consideration. Whether this is intentional or just a matter of inconvenience is not important.

The thing that is important, however, is that the veterans are not getting their checks which may best be described as a monthly good will gesture until November 20th.

For one I am fortunate that myself that could be disastrous!

The only explanation I have been able to get for this sad state of affairs is that the regional office at Pine Castle and the Miami regional office are mismanaging. This entails, as I understand it, moving some records from somewhere to somewhere else. This may also entail, although this evidently is a minor problem, some extra clerical help.

At best this is a poor excuse.

Why are we the only school who are getting this check? Why at the University of Florida getting theirs on time, for instance?

I have spoken to veterans from Florida and they have told me that their checks are getting in Oct. 20—exactly one month earlier than the FSU checks.

I would say offhand that something is wrong and this is the general consensus among all the veterans I have talked to. This matter should be looked into and if there is not a very good reason for it something should be done.

Note to veterans: As you may or may not know, there has been a bill in Congress for some time which, if passed, would give a considerable raise in your veteran subsistence checks. This bill although there is almost no opposition to it, has been pigeonholed to be used as a convenient plank in the coming elections.

Get behind this bill! If there is enough discontent created over this kind of political skullduggery maybe it can be corrected.

Besides, if you are anything like me, you can probably use the loot. Write your congressman today!

ALLEN D. PATE.

A Better Measure

The Visitor

The Hills Always Seem Higher

By ORCHID ALONSO

It was great.

There was the beginning of a knot forming in my throat. Then I got off the bus and noticed—rather—felt—the cool Tallahassee air. Too cool.

Should have known it would be cool.

I gazed over the shambles of that morning's futile attempt at parking and smiled at the picture the thought provided. In spite of the cars which abounded everywhere, a view of the new buildings could be seen.

Ugly holes. Gaping things. That's what they had been last June. Now no longer were they apertures which symbolized the shallow hideousness of the clay soil.

Hovering over the once-had-been-holes were huge ungainly piles of mortar and brick. Steel rods and sunken eyes which will some day serve as windows.

I have no doubt that if I had tried to climb the hills too often they would have seemed higher. And had I tackled the perimeter of the once beautiful campus—once pregnant with flowery beauty—I would have thought it had outgrown wild boundaries that once seemed lingering and indestructable.

Not homecoming. But it was homecoming. Instead of bands and drums and confetti and placards and "Welcome Alumni" were stones and cars and hammering and sawing and pushing and more cars. Always the cars.

And thus changed the character of a campus in three short years. The hum of life had once characterized the gothic structure had been one of youth and beauty and leanness. The lonesomeness that comes from age and decay.

Today, the mechanical monster has trampheartbeats into clanks and clinks. The smell of gasoline pervades, nay, invades, our nostrils. The campus is a monstrosity of the mechanic era, and FSU almost as if it had enveloped within its breast the ways of the outside world and become as much a part of that outside world that no one could ever again claim it as their own.

Only one thing remained the same. The temperament of the students. That they spoke faster, act speedier and chafe with impatience at the thought of the prolonged imprisonment to which they are subjected, bespeaks immensely of them. They merely do the same things, feel the same things, act the same way. But faster.

And it is a paradox. That this Millenium Institute, glorified by intellectual paradise and steeped in the hell of a Huxleyan Eden is attuned by a semi-mythical state from Elizabeth's era should prove so lovely.

And it is.

And I love it.

And I always will.

The Dissenter

Is UN Making League's Errors?

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

The same fault that doomed the League of Nations now threatens its successor, the United Nations, to irrelevance and futility.

In angrily withdrawing from the General Assembly over the Algerian dispute, France has shown how great is the UN's dependence upon the cooperation of its members.

The United Nations was not established as a parliamentarian conference. Debate toward the opposite in definitions, have called it nothing more than a debating society. The UN repudiated this charge with its venture into the Korean conflict, and its mediators have been successful in such disputes as the Israeli-Arab disputes.

Even this obstinate, hostile Soviet Union remained in the United Nations while that group fought the aggressions of Soviet satellites. Now, however, Premier Mendes-France of the General Assembly because it intended to debate Algerian home rule.

The French argue that what goes on in Algeria—or anywhere else in the French union —is nobody else's business. It is said even that the while issue has been brought up to embarrass France.

But which cast the deciding vote against French wishes in debating whether to consider Algeria. Ought hardly want to embarrass France. As it is, Premiere Edzar Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay may call off their scheduled trip to Russia.—and Russia could benefit in propaganda no more than by having the French leaders in her capital.

The United Nations General Assembly could have done nothing else but debate the Algerian question. It could not take any action to violate the terms of any rights in setting out, one can conclude, the French are demonstrating an unusual unwillingness to discuss the matter.

Perhaps they are right when they say Algiers is as much a part of France as Hawaii is of the United States, and that the UN has no more right to meddle in Algiers than it would have in Hawaii or in Alaska or Texas.

One purpose of the UN, this writer also thought, was to examine what should be proper and ethical relations between the powers—and what does exist in political relationships.

The question would have been for example far separated, geographically, and very different, culturally, to break colonial or economic connections with European nations. The French feel this is not the case with Algeria—like Hawaii and the world fears Algeria may turn into another Indochina. Such would be a far worse fate for the western world than mere Algerian independence would be for France.

This is what motivates western countries in their desire to examine the perplexing question, and Russia, according to her current "amiable" policy has backed up the few western and South American countries who well understand the meaning of independence.

Another View On UN Troubles

By JEROME BERNSTEIN

Is the United Nations headed toward the same fate that the League of Nations came to? To many observers it would seem so.

The decision of the General Assembly against the wishes of France, voted to debate the issue of Algeria, has thrown the world into the Pre-Depression. The government has withdrawn its delegation from all UN activity except the security council and disarmament commission.

This act would seem to mark the beginning of the end for the organization the world has come to know as even though it won't admit it, for peace. Actually it could mean the beginning of a period of stalemate which might result in clarifying and changing certain provisions of the UN charter.

Premier Mendes Pinay, after being questioned about the preponderance of Arab and Asian-American votes over European votes commented that because of the events during the past few days, it might be necessary to make a changes in the charter of UN.

The same thought came up in the early days before the Korean "Police Action" when the Russians boycotted the United Nations instead changing the charter, or falling under them, the UN went on to take unprecedented action.

With North Korea invading South Korea, the UN declared North Korea an aggressor and requested member nations to send physical and moral help to the defense of South Korea. Shortly thereafter Russia returned to the United Nations to look after her interests.

France might well do the same. Instead of withdrawing and acting as a unit, the charter may need to be revamped because a majority of its member nations voted against France. It may also do better by returning to her seat in the organization and thus avoiding future reasons for inactions, instead of statements reflecting yesterday's pride.

Russia returned because she saw by staying away, the free world could and would unite in repel aggression. France, if she returned, could do more good for the UN and at the same time show the world she is willing to have the world organization debate a question she has not been able to resolve.

Even though France considers Algeria a part of Metropolitan France, the United Nations has ruled that land for less than a century settled the rest of the world considers it in the same category as Morocco and Tunisia.

The assembly voted 26-27 to put the question on the agenda in defiance of the world opinion as usual mainly because the usual solid South American vote was split. Many of the Latins sided against the western big three. Perhaps this crisis will prove a good thing for the world organization. For the Latins have shown that even though they may differ on policy such as the Algerian question they still remain friends. The smaller nations of the world seem to recognize the fact that no matter how great the difference of opinion "united they stand, divided they fall."

Wandering With Wiljahn

Four Aces Have Week's Top Record

By WILJOHN

The top-selling record in Tallahassee last week was the Four Aces' waxing of "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing." You may not have noticed but that record is conspicuous by its absence on the radio station and the Book Store and the Student Center. The second-best seller was "Forgive My Heart" by Nat Cole. This makes the seventeenth consecutive week that Nat has had one of his waffles on the Hit Parade.

Nat Cole has been one of the most consistently on-top male vocalists the record industry has ever seen. He's one sly cookie, and for years was a dimly known combo called the "King Cole Trio" operating on the night club circuit. Dress was waxing some of their stuff but nobody was raving about them. The best selling point in the group was a fine jazz pianist who never opened his mouth. His name was Nat "King" Cole.

Most people seem surprised to find that Nat was at one time considered one of the finest jazz piano men in the business. He still is in great demand for his progressive piano work but his vocalizing has become so lucrative that he can't afford to play piano anymore. I was surprised to find that Nat Cole was once on tour as the piano man with Jazz At The Philharmonic.

No one can seem to put their finger on Nat's appeal to the public. A throat specialist once told him, "If you sneeze like that, I'll put a hex on you!" Nevertheless, the seemingly sure way to get a hit record is to have Nat record it.

Phi Mu Alpha, men's professional music honorary, is planning a program of American music and a special program of music by FSU student and/or faculty composers. David Warrington is in the recording studio at present, so if you have a composition you would like performed, contact him. This year Phi Mu Alpha has pledged itself to put on some real good musical shows. Some of the projects underconsideration include the annual sentimental programs, an old time minstrel show, the annual Campus Sing, and some real fine serenades.

• • • • •

Rehearsals started last night for "The New Moon." Several voices are still needed for chorus and bit parts, so if you didn't get a chance to try out for it during the scheduled tryouts see Dr. Briggs or Miss Grimm at the Music Building.

• • • • •

Yesterday David Drea, the writer of last years Elevator Etchings, was seen here on campus. At one time, according to Dave, he was Louisiana, where he has accepted a radio-TV offer.

• • • • •

Stan Getz has replaced Buddy DeFranco on the JATP tour this fall. For jazz fans, this just makes it six of one and half a dozen of the other. The fabulous Getz has been waiting for this chance for quite a while and everyone is glad that he has finally gotten it. Every musician in the world of music knows about and admires Norman Granz but they would all give their eyeteeth to get the chance. There is probably no other single thing that does as much to popularize jazz and the individual stars as JATP.

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

IT HURT—A BIT

All right, we'll say it. Ouch!

The Hurricane that the Seminoles supposedly cornered in Orange Bowl Friday night was one that would have put Janet to shame. Thus, chapter II of our mythical book ing the story of Florida State Football, 1955, won't read so Not for the Tribe fans, anyway.

But, its like we said. Along with the being young and grow we have to expect those occasional spankings. But, the elder Kaul didn't have to be so rough about it, did she?

So, as all little lads and lassies—or whatever Seminole kid are called—we'll bravely brush it off and look forward to coming weekend and VPI—chapter III.

WE NEED A MASCOT—AGREED?

This may seem a bit silly, but we can't suppress it any longer It has to do with a mascot.

We noted recently that a group of University of Florida upgrads went traipsin'n' off into the swamps in search of a contest-to-goodness gator for a team mascot, and we've no- see, too, that at times the University of Georgia squad has used an English Bulldog with them as a mascot. It's like ry's goat and Army's mule.

Florida State, we've got a problem along that line Seminoles—just won't work.

Unless, of course, one of you greeks got real ambitious in ending out those pledge assignments and sent them off into Everglades. But, see what we mean? It's a bit silly.

Then again, we could cellar one Ben Flying Seminoles—Dick Nugent and Ed Franklin—and stake them out at the next game. Just a suggestion.

GOOD CHOICE

For those of you who haven't heard, Hans Wernke is Florida State's new freshmen basketball coach. And we lead the choice.

Besides being one of the finest all-around guys around campus, the versatile Wernke established many school basketball records which will stand for some time to come.

A two-time Helms Foundation All-America, he closed out a ll-year career last season with 1,409 points for a 19.7 average per game And that's quite an average for the number of games he played in.

He established an individual record for starting in 73 consecutive games

Seems Mam's getting to be a permanent fixture.

LEN TELLS WHY—

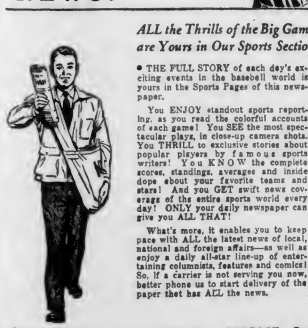
One final word

Many Tribe fans, angered somewhat by the Tribe's loss to Miami, have been querying rather obnoxiously at times why the Seminoles did no more passing that they did Friday night. They threw the ball 11 times for four completions.

Quarterback Len Swantic puts it this way:

"Miami had the best pass defense I have ever seen. They're laying for us. The first four passes I threw were almost picked off. They were that close."

And if that's Len's explanation, it's good enough for us.



Quality Dry Cleaners
For Expert
CLEANING REPAIRING
PRESSING ALTERING
CALL OR GO BY
2-5097 215 W. College

The Florida Times-Union
A Complete Newspaper

Only Way to Get ALL the SPORTS NEWS!

ALL the Thrills of the Big Games are Yours in Our Sports Section.

• THE FULL STORY of each day's exciting events in the baseball world is yours in the Sports Pages of this newspaper.

You ENJOY standout sports reporting, as you read the colorful accounts of each game! You SEE the most spectacular plays, in close-up camera shots. You THRILL to exclusive stories about popular players by famous sports writers! You KNOW the complete scores, standings, averages and inside dope about your favorite teams and stars! And you GET swift news coverage of the entire sports world every day! ONLY your daily newspaper can give you ALL THAT!

What's more, it enables you to keep pace with ALL the latest news of local, national and foreign affairs—as well as enjoy a daily all-star line-up of entertaining columnists, features and comics! So, if a carrier is not serving you now, better phone us to start delivery of the paper that has ALL the news.

For Home or Dormitory Delivery PHONE 3-0421

Ouch! And Here Comes Virginia Tech

Tribe Prepares To Meet Tough VPI Team Here Saturday Night

Smarting from their 34-0 loss at the hands of Miami, the Seminoles began preparations this week for the tough VPI team they'll meet here Saturday night. The game will inaugurate a three year series between the two clubs.

VPI is expected to arrive here 33 strong sometime Friday afternoon. And FSU head coach Tom Nugent is not taking them lightly.

He dubbed them the dark-horse of the Tribe's schedule earlier this year saying, "Virginia Tech has always been a Southern Conference power. Very little is known about them in this part of the country, but they're not a team to be taken lightly."

And Nugent should know. He coached in neighboring VMI before coming to Florida State and his team there met VPI twice, with each squad winning once.

But, if Nugent and the Seminoles are a little wary of Virginia Tech, the VPI eunchs feel the same way about Florida State.

Injuries have taken a heavy toll of the Tech squad. Four regulars are out Saturday's 14-7 win over favored William & Mary in a Southern Conference game.

Tackle Tom Dalzell, who broke an arm in Tech's win over Pennsylvania a couple of weeks ago will be inserted into the FSU game However, VPI mentor Frank Moseley and his staff hope Quarde Dill, Ingrit and Ben Schmidt and fullback Hayes Burleson will be ready for the Seminoles.

The 200-pound Unger is a regular who has missed VPI's last two games because of a leg injury. Schmidt, regarded as one of Tech's brightest Sophomores, hasn't played all season and Burleson injured an ankle just prior to the William & Mary contest.

The one man the Tribe will have to stop in the VPI game is a 175-pound senior halfback named Dickie Beard. The Maryland youngster gained 857 yards last year to pace VPI to an undefeated season. His yardage total was enough to lead the Southern Conference Beard was a star in VPI's 25-7 win over Nugent's VMI team in 1952 and If anyone will know how to prepare for him, Nugent will.

Meanwhile, FSU supporters are anxiously watching the Tribe's injured list hoping for a turn for the better. The Seminoles went against the Hurricanes this past Friday night greatly undermanned.

Al Pacifico, a three year veteran at guard was sidelined, and it's hoped he'll be ready for the VPI game Saturday. Lee Corso, starting left halfback, was limited in playing capacity in the Miami contest with a shoulder separation. Right halfbacks Buddy Reynolds and Billy Weaver were sidelined, but its expected they'll both be back.

Nugent has made no indications of the kind of a game he'll throw at VPI. The Tribe was expected to do a lot of passing against Miami but they managed to get only 11 aloft But quarterback Len Swantic explains that situation this way:

"Miami had the best pass defense I have ever seen. They were laying for us. The first four passes I threw I was a little lorky each one was not picked off. They were that close

But VPI isn't the team Miami was And the Tribe aerial game should blossom in full.

Intramurals Start Today

The ball will be pried off the fraternity basketball season tonight at the men's east campus gym Five games will be on the docket beginning at 5 p.m.

The fraternity leagues will play each Tuesday and Thursday, all games at the east campus gym, and there will be games every hour starting at five

Tonight's schedule is as follows

5 p.m.—Kappa Sig Omega vs. Phi Kappa Tau.
6—Sigma Chi vs. Tau Epsilon Phi.
7—Theta Chi vs Lambda Chi Alpha.
8—Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Pi Kappa Alpha
9—Kappa Alpha vs. Phi Delta Theta.

Thursday's games are as follows

5 p.m.—Delta Tau Delta vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon
6—Kappa Sigma vs. Pi Kappa Alpha.
7—Theta Chi vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.
8—Sigma Chi vs Phi Delta Theta.
9—Sigma Nu vs. Kappa Alpha.

Regular season play winds up on Oct. 25th, with playoffs set for 26 and 27. The fraternity league winner will meet the dorm champs for the campus title on Nov. 1st at 8 p.m. Theta Chi was the champs last year.

Dorm leagues began the dorm league season last night and will continue play each Wednesday and Monday at the west gym. The Independent Rebels, last year's champs, are not entered, so a wide open race is in prospect. Tomorrow's games are:

5:30—International Club vs. Baptist Student House
6:30—West Hall Thunder Gang vs Methodist Student House
7:30—Pyramid vs. West Hall vs. Senior Hall.
Magnolia Hall is idle.

A special committee to consider constitution revision, point system revise and eligibility clarifications is to meet in the trophy room of the student center tomorrow at 4 p.m.

The next official meeting of the total board of managers of the men's intramurals is on Friday, Oct. 7, at 4 p.m. in the trophy room.

Interscholastic rules will govern the basketball play this season, with eight-minute quarters, a wide stretch from last year's 10-minute halves.

Track Team Hopes Soar

There's an optimistic twinkle in track coach Mike Long's eye as his cindermen begin fall work-outs this week

With nine returning letter-men, including last year's captain Ron Weaver, FSU track hopes are looking up.

The returnees include Charlie Watson, a Fort Myers man who collected 48½ points last year, and Jack Terwilliger who racked up 34½ points and a 51.2 clocking in the 220 yard dash. These will form the backbone of a team which will be trying to better a 8-1 record compiled last year in addition to defending the state AAU title.

Tenny Brown, Joe Davis, Mike Hillegas, Jerry Jacobs, Ken Segner, and Warren Strickland round out the lettermen.

The squad will also get a boost from such veterans as Lloyd Lassen, Mike Smith, Danny Thomas, and Jimmy Harrel. Harrel has shown a marked improvement in the javelin event and should prove valuable this year.

Transfer students Bruce Jacobs and Gary Litchwerth, ineligible last year under transfer rules, will be running with the squad this week.

Wes Minton, who holds the school record in the high and low hurdles, and Pete Froschetti both return to add needed strength.

Freshmen, who are ineligible for competition in many conferences, will be allowed to compete in five meets this year since FSU is an independent.

Some freshmen who have reported to practice include Don Ayres, Bobby Bryan, Cecil Dunn and Doc's Ruff.

Len Swantic, the Tribe's number one quarterback, should be in top physical condition for the VPI game Saturday night. Swantic was injured early in the Miami game this past Friday night and saw limited action, crippling FSU's passing attack somewhat.

FSU Hoopsters Open Season With North Carolina Wolfpack

By LARRY BLOCK

The opening game of the 1955-1956 basketball season for Florida State should really be a whopper. It will be held in Raleigh, the home of the famous Wolfpack of North Carolina State. In taking on one of the finest teams in the country coach Bud Kennedy will really have his work cut out for him.

The Tribe was fortunate to lose only three men from last season's varsity whose record was a remarkable 22 won to only 4 in the losing column. But one of those men was Mam Wernke, the school's all-time scorer. Ham broke every record in the book and finished with a 19.7 average per game during this four years of playing.

Leading the returnees for this season is the diminutive guard from Economy Ind., Jim Cline.

(Continued on Page 4)

Record Crowd See Hurricanes Depth, Speed Rout Seminoles

Miami's powerful Hurricanes proved too much for a game, but undermanned Florida State University football squad in the Orange Bowl Friday night, as the up and coming Hurricanes routed the Seminoles, 34-0.

Reeling under Miami's powerful 'Drive-series' and stymied by a defense with unconscionable depth, the Seminoles couldn't get an offensive movement started in losing the shutout

A record opening game crowd of 42,000 filled the Orange Bowl to see the favored Miami noses in first win of the season. The Hurricanes lost to Georgia Tech 14-6 two weeks ago in Atlanta.

Miami scored with less than four minutes gone in the first period when a 30-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Gene Reeves to end John Melvid set up the score on the 12 Halfback Whitey Rouviere moved the ball to the six and two plays later went into the end zone from the four Tribe halfback Billy Odom blocked the attempt for extra point.

Miami's second score came when Marco Scarpelli, tested by many as the finest runner of the option play in the game today, took the reins and led the Hurricanes 80 yards in 13 plays Marcus Bonny scored the touchdown himself from four yards out and booted the extra point.

The score at halftime was 13-0 with Miami out front.

In the third period it was Reeves at the helm again and the Atlanta lad with the big arm sent the Hurricanes 31 yards for the touchdown scoring is himself from two yards out Ed Oliver converted the extra point.

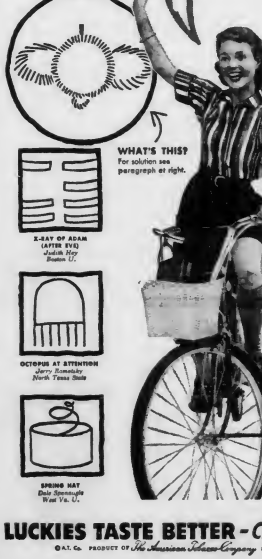
Fullback Don Heitz intercepted FSU quarterback Vic Prinsi-a pass on the Tribe 25 to set up the next score Heitz lopped off his fine defensive movement by scoring himself from the three Center Steve Delrova converted

The final Miami tally came late in the fourth period with Scarpelli back at the field general spot.

While the Hurricanes were scoring seemingly at will and juggling their lineup, it was a rough night for head coach Tom Nugent's young tribe

Their first attempt at getting something going offensively came after Miami's first touchdown when Len Swantic, after misfiring twice, hit big Tom Feemster on a 28-yard pass play carrying to FSU's own 49 But the drive bogged down and Verspriele had to boot.

The only time the Tribe was able to enter Hurricane territory was when Mertz ran a Miami punt back to the Hurricane 48 late in the second quarter Quarterback Mike Norman hit the Sanford left for seven more on a pass, but once again Miami's forward wall tightened and Verspriele was called on to boot.



During the last half, it was all

(Continued on Page 4)

Records Phonographs
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

M & N Cafe
DAILY SPECIALS
Broiled Filet Mignon, French Fries, Salad, Mushroom Sauce $1.00
Entree, Two Vegetables, Salad, Drink, Dessert 75¢
BEST and CHEAPEST FOOD IN TOWN

LET'S GO! IT'S LUCKY DROODLE TIME!

WHAT'S THIS? for solution see paragraph at right.

2-RAY OF ADAM (AFTER EVE) Judith Hoy Boston U.

OCTOPUS AT ATTENTION Jerry Kennedy North Texas State

SPRING HAT Dale Seemuth West Va. U.

IF YOU'RE UP A TREE about what cigarette to smoke, there's a pleasant point of view in the Droodle at left. It's titled: Davy Crockett enjoying better-tasting Lucky as seen by b'ar in tree. Luckies taste better for a hatful of reasons. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that fine tobacco is toasted. "It's Toasted" —the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. So set your sights on better taste—light up a Lucky yourself!

DROODLES, Copyright 1955 by Roger Price

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

Students! EARN $25.00!

Get yourself in on the Droodle fun. Send in your own Droodle. We'll pay for all we use—send for a whole raft we don't use! Send your Droodles with descriptive titles, including your name, address, college and classification to Droodles, c/o Roger Price, 1 Center in some college town from whom you buy cigarettes most often. Address Lucky Droodle, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

LUCKY STRIKE "It's Toasted"

CIGARETTES

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER - Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

©A.T. Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Thieves Steal Car Batteries

Two automobile batteries were stolen from cars parked on campus, probably each Sunday morning, it was learned yesterday.

Tallahassee police said one theft occurred in front of Landis Hall sometime after 11 p m Saturday night. The other was taken from the Florida Hall parking lot after 10:30 a.m. according to Harry Day, director of service units.

The victim of the Landis theft, according to police, was a Mrs. D. C. Redburn. The name of the other car's owner was not known to Day.

Day said the problem of preventing assault further thefts was to be considered by the student-faculty traffic committee at its meeting yesterday afternoon.

Tickets For Grad Picnic Now On Sale

Meal tickets for the Graduate Class Picnic are now on sale at Westcott Ticket Booth, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Friday will be the last day to purchase the meal tickets which are 75 cents per person. The number available is limited, and graduates are asked to purchase their tickets early.

Transportation to the picnic, to be held at the Reservation, will be provided by the campus bus which leaves the Women's Gym at 1, 3, and 5 p.m.

The chicken dinner is at 5 p.m. and the bus will return at 6 p.m. in order that students may attend the football game.

Tribe Hoopsters

(Continued from Page 3)

leading scorer on the state last season. Dick Artmeier 6' backcourt man, the second highest rebounder in last season's play, is also an Indiana boy.

Completing the rest of the guards are: Wayne Patten, St. Louis Mo., Bob Waits from Jacksonville, Fred Thoeny, Glouster, Mass. and 5' 4" Bob Ward from Lincoln, Ala.

The big men up front this year again are Gary Wold 6' 7" forward who hails from Madison Wisconsin, and center Bob Williams standing 6' 8" from Covington, Ind. Rounding out the front wall is Ed Wynbeck, Dawtons, and Don Alfred of Naperville, Ill.

Up from the freshman team comes 5' 7" Tom Garcia of Ft. Myers, Daniel Mahoney, Campbellsburg, Ky., Bill Payne 6' guard of Jacksonville, 6' 4" John Wood from Pompano Beach, and Bill Gregory standing 6' 3" from Jacksonville Jr. College. The latter may not be able to play, being a transfer student.

Reviewing last season, FSU was undefeated in the Florida Intercollegiate Basketball Conference. At the end of the season they were invited and accepted an invitation to the NAIA tournament at Kansas City, going to the second round before being beaten by Beloit U.

On Dec. 19-21 the hoopsters will compete in a tourney at Charlotte, N.C. Other teams participating will be Clemson, Boston College and Mississippi State. They have also been invited to partake in the first annual Cramer Bowl Tournament at Miami. Some of the other teams are Santa Clara, Tulane, Columbia, N.Y.U., West Virginia and Miami.

Score practice starts on Nov. 1 we'll really have to work hard to be ready for N.C. State," said coach Kennedy who expects to have a good season.

Miami Depth

(Continued from Page 3)

Miami as the Seminoles couldn't get started at all.

Despite being routed as they were, several Seminole players drew words of praise from the looters.

Coach Nugent thought FSU had never had a better linebacking game than that turned in by Joe Heil and Bob Crenshaw.

Miami and FSU personnel alike had nothing but words of praise for guard Vince Gibson. Many said he turned in the outstanding show on the field.

Said Gustafson of the Tribe:

"I thought Tom Nugent did an excellent job. We outwrestled them a good deal and they battled all the way. They've got a blushing ball club and its a pleasure to play a team like that."

And of Gibson, he said:

"That guy just made us look bad. He was breaking through all night."

But it was a classy Miami ball club the Seminoles were up against and Nugent said.

"I wasn't ashamed of the boys a bit. It would have been hard for anyone to have beaten Miami Friday night. They were just ready."

STATE BAKERY and DELICATESSEN
The South's Most Unusual ONE STOP FOOD SHOP
WE HAVE SOMETHING FROM EVERY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD
Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat

New Housemother Welcomed

Mrs. E. C. Sledge is the Kappa Delta's new housemother. She has been connected with the university for several years and was the chapter's housemother in previous years.

The KD's will move into their new house soon after the completion date March 31, 1956. The house which is under construction at Copeland and Jefferson streets will have living accomodations for 35 and dining room facilities for 75 persons.

Their national convention was held this past July at Bedford Springs, Penn. The Florida State chapter, Kappa Alpha, received a merit award for being one of the eight most outstanding KD chapters in the country.

Sally Fussell, chapter president, attended the convention as the chapter's delegate.

Nu Epha

Sigma Phi Epsilon pledges include: Pasco Lavon Driggers, Preston Everett, Marshal Fitzgerald, Albert Griffin, George Hamilton, Terry Johnson, Dirk Schel, Don Williams, and Eugene Williams.

Lambda Chi

Lambda Chi Alpha pledged the following men: Robert Andrews, John Bernard, William Brennan, Robert Brown, John Bryan, Robert Busker, Robert Cochran, Edwin Coleman, Richard Compton, Charles Fisher, William Fuley, Tommy Fussell, Alton Haeger, Thomas Hicks, Andrew Johns, Gerald Keeney, Carl Lefstrom, William Martin, Charles Richardson, Samuel Rogers, Nels Seirsdale, Ralph Sharp, Freddie Woodward, Joe Wolfe, and Charles Zorbaugh.

Sigma Nu

The following men have recently been pledged by Sigma Nu fraternity: Bob Dumke, Hugh Coerlman, Sam Madaio, Bill Rutland, Paul Dinkens, John Lagan, Mike Rain, Marvin Ingram, Maurice Kennedy, Harry Lefton, Howell Winfried, John Phillips and Jim Heflin.

Hillel Foundation Schedules Mixer For Sunday Night

Hillel Foundation will hold a combination cultural and social evening Sunday beginning at 8 p.m. Jerry Klonsky, president of the Jewish student organization, has announced.

A free delicatessen dinner and social dancing will be features of the group's first event this year, he said.

The program will begin with a 10-minute service and an explanation of the Hillel Foundation.

Klonsky said his aim as president will be to combine the social, cultural and religious aspects of the Foundation in programs similar to the one scheduled for Sunday.

Hillel meets in Temple Israel, corner of Copeland and St. Augustine streets.

URA To Sponsor Outing To Wakulla

University Recreation Association will travel to Wakulla Springs this Saturday, according to Linda Broderick, secretary-treasurer.

Buses will leave at 1 p.m. from the women's gymnasium, and will return at 5 p.m. Any student interested in the trip may sign up on the URA bulletin board until noon Friday.

Co-educational tennis begins this Thursday and will continue every Thursday night from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. until Thanksgiving holidays. A meeting for interested students is scheduled this Thursday night on the tennis courts behind the women's gym.

Junior Class Pictures Scheduled This Week

Junior Class Tally-Ho pictures will be made Oct. 3-14 from 3-5 and 7:30-9 p.m. Sophomores are asked to come Oct. 12-25 and Freshman pictures will be taken Oct. 26-Nov. 4.

Dress for men is white shirts, dark solid color ties, and coats and women are asked to wear dress clothes.

Film Previews At 7:30 Open To All Students

Students have been invited to view four film previews tonight in the Tropic Room of the Student Center.

Social Studies films to be featured include "Life On a Cattle Ranch," "Children of Germany," "Belgium and the Netherlands," and "Central America Geography of the Americas."

Fire Trap Stairs — leading upstairs in "trailer-apartment house," stairs pass Tallahassee rental license stuck in frame on wall. Sign in upper hallway says "Management Not Responsible For Harm Done To Anyone On the Premises." Other pictures on page 1.

We have Special Nights at FAIVER'S
TUES.—PIZZA PIE ---------- 85c
WED.—FRIED CHICKEN
French Fries, Salad, Rolls and Butter, Coffee or Tea $1.19
Try Our Pizza Burgers 35c
Delivery Service
Phone 2-1860

NEW LOCATION 109 E. CALL STREET Across from Democrat Bldg.
Smith-Corona Electric Typewriters
Victor Automatic Calculators
SMITH-CORONA—ROYAL—OLIVETTI—UNDERWOOD
OLYMPIA PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
We lend you a machine free while we repair yours
Sales Repairs Rentals
WYATT'S BUSINESS MACHINES
2-1098 Call For and Delivery 2-1098

GO! GO! GO!!
FLORIDA STATE
TO
MALONE'S BOOK STORE
For All School Needs

Stuffed Animals — T and Sweat Shirts
FSU, Sorority, and All Stationery
Fountain Pens — Sundries
Greeting Cards (Comic Too)

Gymkana Tour Around Florida Begins Today

Practicing—For Road Show are Gymkana members 1 to r., Helen Dardin, Roseman Hollander, Judy McCoy, Barbara Murray and Barbara Rynski.

Florida State University's Gymkana begins its 1955-56 season today with two road show tours.

Forty members of the troupe left this morning for Marianna, Fla., where they will perform at the Graceville Stadium in honor of Bob Sykes Appreciation Day.

Another group of the athletes left for Daytona Beach where they will put on a show for the Southeastern Games and Freshwater Commission Convention tonight.

Dr. Hartley Price, director for Gymkana, has announced the appointment of nine year's production staff.

Barbara Virkens will be general Women's Chairman, while Jamile Ashmore and Raphael Lacoona will share the men's chairmen duties.

Barbara Rynski, Jean Haight, Peeper Neill, Jan Eberly, Jan Clark, Gerry Leiner and Margaret Donaldson will be Managers in Charge.

Faye Anthony, Margaret Donaldson and Gerry Leiner are in charge of the Miss Gymkana Contest. Entries in this contest are urged to register before Oct. 17.

Try-outs for committee members are held every Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Women's Gym. People interested in working should contact the committee heads.

Speed Reading Classes Planned

A short course for students desiring to improve their speed of reading will begin October 10 in 225 Westcott.

Lasting four weeks, classes are scheduled to meet Monday through Thursday at 4 p.m. No charge will be made.

FILM CLUB TICKETS AVAILABLE

Tickets for the Film Club will be on sale Thursday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in front of the Student Center.

Tickets will also be on sale before the first showing of the year.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of all members of the Flambeau sports staff in the Flambeau office Wednesday, Oct. 5, at 1:30 p.m.

All members who cannot make the meeting are requested to check in at their convenience.

The meeting will also be open for potential sportswriters.

Meet Me At The Mecca
Open 7 a.m.-11 p.m.
Meals—Short Orders—Notions—Fountain
"For Better Food At Lower Prices"
111 S. Copeland

DIAMONDS & WATCHES
PAUL TURNER
JEWELER
Complete Repair Service
123 S. Monroe St. Ph. 2-1442

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES
FLORIDA
TODAY
"THE COBWEB"
RICHARD WIDMARK
LAUREN BACALL
WED. & THURS.
"THE McCONNELL STORY"
ALAN LADD
JUNE ALLYSON
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
TUES. & WED.
'Many Rivers to Cross'
CinemaScope
Robert Taylor
Eleanor Parker
THURS., FRI., SAT.
Two Attractions
"Texas Rode West"
Bob Francis
"Underwater"
J. Russell — G. Roland
STATE
TODAY
WALT DISNEY'S
"THE VANISHING PRAIRIE"
Technicolor
STARTS WEDNESDAY
'TO CATCH A THIEF'
CARY GRANT
GRACE KELLY
CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TUES. & WED.
"Devil's Harbor"
Richard Arlen
Greta Cyon
Donald Houston
THURS., FRI., SAT.
"Rails Into Laramie"
John Payne
Dan Duryea
Mari Blanchard
RITZ — TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY
THURSDAY—"AIDA"
Sophia Loren, Lois Maxwell

Enjoy Superior
FRIED CHICKEN
and
'The' Best Coffee In Town'
at
the 3-D's Drive In
1800 N. Monroe

All the pleasure comes thru ...THE TASTE IS GREAT!
THE ACTIVATED CHARCOAL FILTER
FILTER TIP TAREYTON CIGARETTES
MODERN SIZE
©A.T.CO.
All the pleasure comes thru in Filter Tip Tareyton. You get the full, rich taste of Tareyton's quality tobaccos in a filter cigarette that smokes milder, smokes smoother, draws easier... and it's the only filter cigarette with a genuine cork tip.
Tareyton's filter is pearl-gray because it contains Activated Charcoal for real filtration. Activated Charcoal is used to purify air, water, foods and beverages, so you can appreciate its importance in a filter cigarette.
Yes, Filter Tip Tareyton is the filter cigarette that really filters, that you can really taste... and the taste is great!
THE BEST IN FILTERED SMOKING
FILTER TIP TAREYTON
PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Let's Be Progressive
(See Lead Editorial)

The Florida Flambeau

Florida's Only Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

Vol. XLII, No. 6 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Friday, October 7, 1955

Dance Tonight Kicks Off 1955 Campus Chest Drive

Report On Tech Student Tickets Made In Senate

By HOWARD BARTLEY

Senator Carolyn Close chairman of the Recreational and Social Committee, reported Wednesday to Student Senate that no cut-rate student tickets for Florida State University students at the Georgia Tech-FSU game are available, and that regular tickets will cost $4.20.

Her committee was examining the possibility of senate sponsorship of charter buses to take FSU students to the Georgia Tech game, but she stated that because student tickets are not available, attendance will suffer to such an extent that the project is not feasible.

Troubles Before

In addition, Senator Macclay who directed a similar project last year, pointed out that it had considerable difficulty in filling the buses.

As an alternative Senate voted to encourage local groups to charter their own buses with Senate providing chaperons. She disclosed that women students will not be given permission to go in private cars.

The Cost

For groups who wish to charter their own bus, the following information was submitted by the Recreational and Social Committee: cost of Greyhound bus ticket per person—$7.12; overall cost, $4.20; meals estimated $3.66; total per person—$15.00.

Rules Retained

Close stated that Katherine Rogers, Dean of Women, has arranged with the dorms to retain regulations on closing hours, etc. for those going on the up chartered bus with a chaperon.

Senate Confirms UGA Appointees

Student Senate Wednesday confirmed the appointment of Perry Moll as a junior member of Honor Court. Norma Woode as an Assistant Attorney General and Mary Katherine Freeman as Undersecretary of Organizations in the Department of Justice.

The vote was unanimous for approval after Senator Johnnie Cone, Chairman of the Senate Appointments Committee, said the committee had considered them carefully and found them qualified.

Other candidates for existing vacancies were not considered because they have yet to be interviewed by Senate committee.

Carla Moore's appointment of Arnold Garfield to Assistant Attorney General was referred to Senate Rules' committee for consideration.

'Posting' Bill Is Approved

A bill prohibiting the attachment of advertising posters to trees, lamps, telephone poles or shrubbery, and outlawing the use of paste or glue was introduced to Student Senate by Senator Jimmy Rose.

After much heated debate between the author and various senators over the enforceability and desirability of the bill, it was passed 10-8.

Senator Rose stated that he as well as Betty Wilmore of the Elections Committee, were in favor of the bill as they believe posters are an eyesore and detract from the natural beauty of the campus if indiscriminately posted.

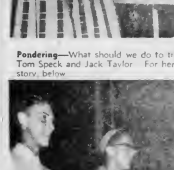
Alpha Delta Sigma Meet Set Tomorrow

Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising fraternity, will meet tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the home of Richard Jost, 1316 Argonne Road.

All new students majoring in or having a direct interest in advertising have been invited to attend.

Arrangements concerning transportation to the meeting may call Alpha Delta Sigma President Gary Campbell (3-0977) or meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in front of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity house on Park Avenue.

Magnolia Hall States Dance After Game



Magnolia Hall will hold open house tomorrow night after the FSU game, social chairman Rose Parrish announced, with dancing to begin at 9 p.m.

All students, and especially members of the dorm and their dates, have been invited to attend.

Flambeau Photos, Keith Anderson

Pondering—What should we do to top it? ask judges In picture are Arlieda Ries, Tom Speck and Jack Taylor. For her impression of the Rat Court, sees Miss Ries' story, below.

All In Fun—Bob Fiege, Raymond Kuide (if I remember) appear before Rat Court judges Tom Speck and Jack Taylor, who seem to be demanding justice. Action took place Tuesday night, next meeting will be Wednesday.

Freshman Girl Experiences The 'Justice Of Dreaded Rat Court

By ARLIEDA RIES

It all started out so innocently as it was a sunny day. I decided to stroll down to the Student Center to pick up all my "no-mail". Little did I know what was in store for me!

Now there I was, just breezing along, when out of nowhere there looms an Upperclassman! He gads, and me without a rat cap to cover my bare lil head! Well, I put on my oldest expression and tried to look as small and as a sophomore. But that irrepressible "freshman glow" just seemed to seep through. I was caught!

'Bloody Bob'

Next day there came a little notice in the mail summoning me to the dreaded Rat Court with "Bloody" Bob Simmons as Chief Justice! Confidentially, I had heard that he hadn't earned his name because he liked freshmen!

In vain, did I dash around all day in a mad attempt to stop all the clocks on campus. Zero hour had arrived! With quaking knees, faint heart, and shoes lutely no nerve left I arrived at the point of no return.

30 Criminals

There we sat, some thirty of us (the hard way!) what ghoulish (the hard way!) what ghoulish fate the Rat Court had up their sleeves for us. As we sat and anticipated, heinous, inhuman laughs came from the black-robed judges!

All too soon it was my turn. So with leaden feet and thousands of myself swaying upon the gallows(!) that I was being pushed up the stairs First they asked my name. (Now what was it? I knew it before I got up here! I simply couldn't remember it!"

Kangaroo Court

Well, to make a short story long, in less time than it takes to tell it, the "kangaroo court" found me guilty (as if I had a choice!) and the next thing I knew I was teetering on the edge of the stage, making like a ninnisingale singing the Alma Mater! My mind was a blank (even more than usual!) but I managed the first line (I couldn't have remembered the next one if my life depended upon it; which is probably did!). Everyone raced up and it looked like a mass examination. (Slowly my singing wasn't that bad!)

The Shocks

Then, one of the judges interfered and curtailed what might have been the start of a great operatic career!) and led me to the "shocks". At this point my knees started knocking so hard I looked like I was doing the mambo!

Here there I stood, looking like a target for a pot-throwing contest! They had forgotten me! I could see all now. "Girl Stalwarts to Death While in Shocks"!

Escape

Finally, after what seemed a lifetime (they let me out, I was free, FREE! But as I was making good my escape, who should appear but another Upperclassman! This time I wasn't going to take any chances. I just whipped up my little ole feet and ran!

NOTICE TO SENIORS

Place your order for formal orders for graduation with Mrs. Skipper in Landis Hall.

Naftulin Announces Membership Drive

The campus student chapter of the Music Educators National Conference is currently holding a membership drive, according to Judy Naftulin, president.

Membership will be taken Monday and Tuesday at a table near the bulletin board in the School of Music, she said. Hours will be 9:45 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The MENC, she described, as a "voluntary professional organization, dedicated to the promotion and guidance of music instruction in the schools as an integral part of general education."

Miss Naftulin said delegates will attend the state convention in Tampa in January and the national convention in St. Louis in March 14.

An evening of folk and square dancing is being planned in conjunction with the school of music she said. A meeting is slated for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

Tally-Ho Pictures Now Being Token

Tally-Ho pictures are now being taken for all students.

All students, juniors, sophomores and freshmen, may have their pictures taken from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on the fourth floor at Longmire Building.

October 31 is the deadline for picture taking.

Men should wear coats, white shirts and a dark tie while dress clothes are required for women.

ROTC Names 30 Temporary Positions, Rank

Thirty additional appointments of temporary positions and rank in the Florida State University Air Force ROTC Cadet Corps have been announced by Captain David Bonin, Commandant of Cadets.

Cadet Captain appointees of Flight Commanders include George Davis, Jr. and Upton Offner.

Cadet 1st Sergeants with the rank of Cadet Master Sergeant include Delmar Smiley, Eddie Wycoff, Bobby Ward, and Emmett Horton.

Flight Sergeants with the rank of Cadet Technical Sergeant include Clarence Field Jr., Carl Adermas Jr., William Weaver, Samuel Peterson, Clifford Kidd, Neal Henderson, Fred Goslin, Frank Reese, Frederick Beaty Jr., Robert Durant, William Brenner, Walter Delaney Jr., Harold Hearn, and Robert Johnson.

The Air Force ROTC Band is commanded by Cadet WOJG Paul Orr. His assistant, with the rank of Cadet Master Sergeant, is Ronald Anderson. The Band 1st Sergeant with the rank of Cadet Technical Sergeant, is Ernest Dunn.

Band squad sergeants include Cadets Theodore McGonical, Larry Rock, David Brinson, Charles Welker, and Robert Brady, Jr.

SIGMA CHI DERBY POSTPONED

The Sigma Chi Derby has been postponed until the second semester. The Derby was previously scheduled for October 15.

Walk To Game Appeal Brought Before Students

Students here have been asked to walk to tomorrow night's football game with Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

The request was made last week by a Stadium Parking Committee which met to consider problems arising from Florida State University's first home football game with North Carolina State on September 17.

Spokesman for the group, Joan Halford said the Committee members included representatives of the Florida Highway Patrol, Tallahassee Police, Leon County Sheriff's office, FSU Booster's Club, students representatives and University officials.

Parking 'Mess'

These people and Miss Halford, agreed that the parking problem at the NC State game had been a "mess" and that steps should be taken to prevent such confusion from recurring.

Besides asking that students walk to the game if possible, the committee gave its approval to a supervised parking plan similar to the one put into effect at the University of Georgia game last year. This plan calls for no observer to be stationed in the stadium press box so that he can notify police officers by radio when the parking facilities are filled. The officers then block off entrances to the stadium.

At All Games

This action, according to the committee will prevent cars from parking in the blockages of entrance roads and adjacent roads and to carry off cars after the game. The supervised parking system will be used at all remaining FSU home games, the committee revealed.

In connection with the appeal for students to walk, residents of Tallahassee have also been urged to leave their cars at home, or double up when possible. The committee said that seven Florida Boosters will come to and from the stadium and offer to give transport those desiring transportation.

The committee emphasized to students here that they would actually get to the football game faster if on foot, and that a torch parade, led by the Marching Chiefs, will be held.

76 'Suspicious' X-Rays Known

Out of 6,702 X-rays taken on campus and final resultants were 76 reported "somewhat suspicious", according to Dr. J. M. Bushnell, student health officer.

These were asked to report for a second and larger X-ray, he said, emphasizing it would be surprising if even one showed a case of tuberculosis.

Five definite cases, all inactive and incommunicable, were reported. Of these two are already known to health authorities, he said.

Tumors, bronchus, and heart conditions accounted for the 76 suspicious found on the X-rays. Thirty-six pictures were unsatisfactory due to mechanical failure of the X-ray machines, but the persons involved haven't been called for their second visits yet, Dr. Bistowish said.

FSU Students Get Counsels For Defense

Tom Woods, Attorney General of student government, has announced that his office will provide counsels for defendants in student facing charges before the University Court.

Tom Woods and Betty Milner, Norma Trippodo and Herb Lacava, the counselors provided, are either pre-law students or have a sound knowledge of University Court procedure, he said.

According to Woods, accused students, who have a right to defend themselves in the court, to court poorly prepared and with a scant knowledge of their rights. As a result, they have been unable to many instances to present their case to best advantage.

The attorney general feels that providing counsel will alleviate that situation. By way of warning to overconfident defendants, he quoted this old judicial adage, "He who has himself for a lawyer, has a fool for a client."

Flambeau photo, Steve Ried

Claire Green
With her "Uke" Will be Master-Of-Ceremonies at Campus Chest Dance tonight.

Fashion Show Gives Campus Do's, Don'ts

By MARGARET MILLER

Freshman convocations are no longer endurance tests, but are now designed to attract their "captive audiences."

Mortarboard women's service honorary has catered to feminine interest and provided a fashion show as illustration for the program of "Do's and Don'ts of Campus Life." The program begins tomorrow at 11 a. m.

Dual Purpose

This last orientation program or fashion show, has a dual purpose. Not only will the models demonstrate the appropriate dress for various collegiate activities, but they are provided the opportunity to—in short—inform the audience of whom they are, what they do and how they (the freshman) may also attain—if properly ambitious—the self-same position of college fame.

The dress are not ordinary models or the kind that are picked solely for having "clothes-horse" figures and modeling experience, but are chosen mainly because they are outstanding figures in campus activities. Each noted co-ed will be introduced to the freshmen as she models her particular costume.

Qualification

Models are chosen from activities ranging from Mortar Board itself and student government to cross-campus Beauty Betty Wilson, Jaylene Robertson, Ella Frais, Phyllis Patton, Jean Frost, Jane Walker, Betty Evans, Joan Lee, Barbara Webster, Jeanne Gooch, Margaret Malloy, Margaret Ann Ballenger, Harriet Davis, (Continued on Page 5)

This Is English?

Concernynge Divers Ymages Is Subject Of Coffee Hour

"Concernynge divers ymages in foreigne parties of myvniayniare a wemlie portie in their presaunce" is the subject of the English Coffee Hour's second presentation.

At 4 p.m. today in the Westminster Foundation, acting head of Florida State University's Department of Art, Dr. Adolph Katz, will talk informally on Italy and show a number of slides by way of illustration. The Renaissance art of Italy and his experiences while there this summer will be stressed.

Here In 1946

Dr. Katz came to FSU in 1948, originates from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He attained his BA from Milwaukee State, MA from State University of Iowa, and his PhD from New York University, using as his dissertation "The New York Renaissance."

At one time, Dr. Katz was head of the Department of Arts and Crafts, at State Teacher's College, Maryville, North Dakota Then, in 1954, he was appointed acting head of FSU's Art Department.

Teaches Art

He now teaches classes in contemporary art, and art of Renaissance and Italy, a class which was especially created after his trip to Italy.

The Coffee Hour, to which the general public is welcome is a weekly informal program sponsored by the university's English departments.

Dr. Adolf Karl
Head of FSU Art department, will speak today at second English Coffee Hour.

Slogan, Soss-Wampum Will Spark Drive

"SOSS-Wampum," the slogan for this year's Campus Chest Drive, was officially commence a two-week period of money raising projects at the Campus Chest dance tonight.

The slogan which stands for "Show Our Seminole Spirit-Money" keynotes the drive's aims, Mary Fern Gresham, general chairman

With the goal for the drive set at $5,000, The Campus Chest dance this evening, will be the initial event in a long List of projects The dance which is strictly informal will be held in the Suwannee Room from 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m., admission will be 50 cents minimum per person—stag or drag

Commodores

Highlighting the evening's affairs will be the Commodores, billed as FSU's biggest dance band. Featuring a variety of music ranging from waltzes to swing, the Commodores will set the pace for a night of dancing.

Also slated on the agenda, states dance chairman Eddie Wycoff is a top-flight floor show featuring the entertainers from Freshman Talent Night. The Tallahassee Three, Claire Green and her "uke," and sinners Jimmy Rogers and Nettie Black will be among the acts.

October 7-21

Student Body President Colin Moore Jr. has declared the following proclamation for the drive "I do hereby proclaim October 7-21 as Campus Chest Week on the Florida State University campus. In accordance with policies established by the Campus Chest Committee and traditions existing on the campus, various organizations and groups will conduct projects for the purpose of raising funds for the Campus Chest. The Campus Chest slogan is 'SOSS-Wampum' — 'Show Our Seminole Spirit—Money'

Held Events

Much of each year's Campus Chest is raised in various ways by the social organizations on campus. Miss Gresham announces that many events have already been submitted for the calendar.

Projects that will take place in the next few days include the

(Continued on Page 4)

Applications For Housing Asked

Men whose off-campus apartments are unsatisfactory should immediately make reservations for dormitory space with director of men's housing, Robert Brewer, according to Dr. Ben Neel, dean of men.

If men who are dissatisfied with off-campus housing make such reservations they will stand a better chance of getting into the dormitories at an early date, he emphasized.

"Regardless of conditions," he warned, men living off campus should be co-operative in observing "The ordinary rules of courtesy and orderliness expected of a tenant."

He said rising interest in the housing problem "should have a very good effect in helping us to improve off-campus living conditions."

READING COURSE SLATED OCT. 10

A short course for students desiring to improve their speed of reading will begin October 10 in 225 Westcott.

Limiting four weeks, classes are scheduled to meet Monday through Thursday at 4 p.m. For further information phone 6581.

Philosophy Meeting Scheduled Tuesday

The Philosophy Club will hold its first meetings of the year Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. room 110 in the old Administration School.

All members and others who are interested in philosophy and related fields have been invited to attend. Membership in the club does not require a major in the field of philosophy.

Time To Fight Is Now

Several Greek groups here clashed briefly with their national headquarters during the recent rush season in efforts to pledge students of the Hebrew religion. We commend these efforts and would encourage further action along those lines.

However, when we went after some definite information upon which to base an editorial praising FSU's newly-gained maturity in striking a blow at religious prejudice, we found we were jumping the gun. We regret to say that the first paragraph of this editorial holds true only in two or three instances.

An article in the Sept. 10, issue of Saturday Review, by William S. Carlson, president of the State University of New York, expressed a defense of that University's action in seeking to denationalize fraternities and sororities on that campus and to eliminate the racial-religious clauses in their charters or by-laws. Let us assert, here and now, that we are not advocating the State of Florida do the same, because we realize such action would not eliminate individual prejudice and subsequent "blackballs."

But to save future space from arguments based on false premises we want to quote a part of his article which would typify arguments the Flambeau would receive if we failed to crusade for elimination of the racial-religious discriminatory clause:

"Customarily, though, the fraternities try to put any outside critic on the defensive by casting aspersions at his motives. In one recent national fraternity handbook a chapter on 'Criticism of the Fraternity System' was devoted largely to such remarks as these: 'What opposition still obtains is largely founded upon personal pique and disappointment, and the general criticism of certain other organizations headed by the very men who are the group'; 'that the fraternity may be discriminatory in their selections (of members) is no basis for criticism'; and 'the origin and source of opposition to fraternities have often been attributed to personal pique or bias and prejudice naturally arising from the disappointment some individual feels because he or she failed to be invited to join a fraternity or sorority.'

"An advertisement for a fraternity booklet titled 'Discrimination?' No. It's Only Selection' says that this 'fine, clear, concise analysis' will 'effectively answer all the hullabaloo over fraternity discrimination whipped up into a frenzy oy, well, you know whom.'

"The allusion of course, is to such troublemakers as Communists—or just the kids who got blackballed or didn't have the money to join. To the allegations that the critics are either jealous social outcasts or dangerous radicals, I offer some thoughts in rebuttal."

Carlson goes on to admit his knowledge of discriminatory practices and their origin from national if not local sources, comes from being a member of a fraternity himself at one time.

In our own campus activities and fraternities on this campus, we found, as did the State University of New York, that if a written "Aryan clause" (look this up in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary) was not in the charter, then a "silent constitution" spoke in its place. Others have no "blood requirements" but cannot pledge members of the Jewish faith.

It is not that these groups do not want to admit members of all religious belief, because they too, recognize the talents and abilities possessed by many who profess faiths other than the Christian. The Greeks are wide-awake to intelligent bodies who are on the lookout for students with outstanding personality, charm and ability. Yet, in view of national control measures, they are governed in the majority of cases, from pledging anyone of the Jewish faith.

In a university and educational setting such as our own, this is deplorable that maturity of judgment, free of biased discrimination, is discouraged rather than promoted by the governing bodies of groups which hold a nationwide influence in college life. We are also horrified to watch the process go unprotested, to see efforts discontinued after a minor spanking from the national office, to watch the intelligent and mature members of these organizations allowing themselves to dictate their mode of judgment and thinking.

We said before and we'll state again, that elimination of the clause would not eliminate prejudice on the part of individuals. But it would give valuable strength to the few voices raised in protest of discrimination against a person because he was born into a different faith.

It could also deliver a sound blow to the apathetic acceptance of prejudice as merely an unharmful existing evil. Prejudice is and always has been a threat to the ideals of our society. It is time we began to fight it.

National Newspaper Week

". . . . Despite any obstructions in the flow of full and free information, Your Newspaper will strive to continue the performance of its duty—to keep true to American principles, upholding the American way of life; to vigorously oppose secrecy in the public's business; to print the news without fear or favor; to condemn corruption, expose wrongdoing, insist upon honesty in government; to champion every event, reflect every human interest, support every righteous cause."—The Tampa Morning Tribune.

Odds & Ends

Ghosts And Lions In Technicolor

By HOWARD HARTLEY

Know anything about the subtle technique of leaping over furniture? Know how to perch on the back of a chair without frustrating a clavicle? No? Well, we don't either, but Norma Trippodo, the "blithe spirit" of "Blithe Spirit," a humorous play about a husband unwittingly haunted by the spritely ghost of his former wife, is trying to learn these and other tricks. The script of the forthcoming Speech Department production really calls for some weird antics.

As a former of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic honorary, and Florida State Debate Squad, she has debated her way all over the southeastern U. S. and in ten national tournaments.

NOT LONG AGO it occurred to her that as a future speech teacher she might be required to take over high school dramatics, about which she knows nothing. So just for kicks, she tried out for "Blithe Spirit." When they handed her the principal role, she was really surprised. Then she had good reason to be, for you see, Norma Trippodo has never been in a play.

Still, we feel that Norma, with six years of speaking experience, will be able to pull it off . . . and we wish her the best of luck.

* * *

Once upon a time in the dim past, in the intellectual country of Siam, a sculptor carved a chipped out a reclining stone lion. Soon after, the "lazy lion" was purchased and brought to America where it came into the hands of a St. Petersburg alumni of SAE. There it enjoyed a brief and peaceful existence.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporter ..... Jerry Whitfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers ..... Alfred Anderson, Tom Sayer
Larry Keck, Roger Herndon, Steve Kleid
Campus Editors ..... Jerome Bernstein
Eleanor Kirby, Howard Hartley
MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager
Assistant Business Manager, Jean Halford
Exchange Editor ..... Betsy Voorhees
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue ..... George Goldstein
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Pat Marston, News Editor
Feature Editor ..... Margeret Miller
Sports Editor ..... Pierce Letchbeck
Junior Staff ..... Pat Smith, Arlena Fox
Bob Dollison, Bob Moren, Larry Meredith, Steve Kleid.
Greek Editor ..... Charlet Pontevins
Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown, Lois Friedman
Advertising staff ..... Virgil Austin, James E. Mills, Leonard Koeth, Jean Patterson, Donald Saunders, Ronald Koontz.
Telephone 2.500, extension 8621, 8421
211, 218 Longmire Building
Member Associated Collegiate Press

"That Simplifies Things, But Not Very Much"

Letters To The Editor

Who's Stewart?

Gentlemen:

Maybap in my senility I have become the "squarest and most unhip" person on this campus, but after a brief examination with my 6-year collection of Downbeat and dettasome magazines, I don't think so—therefore, a question. "Who the heck is Nick Stewart?"

Six years of attempting to keep abreast of developments in the world of music and some 3-4 years as a disc jockey give me no clues—for Hollywood is that California or Florida?

What travesty is this that the Homecoming Dance Committee is trying to foist upon the student body? Must FSU forever get the short end of the stick? Our sister university, that cow-college in Gainesville, as well as FAMU have had good bands in the past—why not FSU?

For instance, last spring, while FAMU had Erskine Hawkins, Bud Herman band, we had Ray Eberle—a has-been! NOTHING for FSU—Why? Is the reason a budget cause? Then, where was the rest of the money? Also, is the reason just plain ignorance? Then why not let someone who knows Lombardo from Thornhill and Spede Corley from Les Brown do the booking?

Or maybe this is a plot designed to force individual groups, i.e., fraternities and sororities, to have their own parties because no one will attend the official affair?

If, for one, object to the raw deal being pulled on this student body, and I intend to make my complaint heard if not through this paper (Flambeau) then from a soap box in front of Westcott if necessary.

There are plenty of good bands available, some at more expense than others, but worth the extra loot. There hasn't been a really great band here since Elliot Laurence in 1951 (Sandpiper except for "Duke" last spring) and Ellington was just for a concert. What's wrong with Ray Anthony, Woody Herman, Claude Thornhill, Dan Terry, Buddy Morrow, Sonny Burke, Ray Anthony, et all? I want to know!

PHIL DAVIS
(Editor's Note. We refer Phil Davis to the lead editorial in last Friday's issue of this paper, also to the many letters in the Flambeau student body to voice an opinion THEN.)

Pro Convocation

To The Editor:

The woman members of the student senate highly appreciate the opportunity of speaking to women in attending the Convocation held Thursday, September 29. However, we feel that a beard is regerd to this meeting have been most favorable and we feel justified in having called it.

The Convocation was an annual affair. It was planned this year, not only to encourage more women to participate in student government, but also to acquaint them with their student officers and their responsibilities.

The understanding of women senators that the editorial in the Sept. 30 issue of the Flambeau, criticizing the calling of this Convocation, went to press before the meeting was held. Therefore the merits of this Convocation were not duly considered, and the students reaction could not possibly have been determined in advance. We appreciate the freedom of the editorial page, but in the future, we would welcome due consideration before unjustified attacks are made.

Sincerely yours,
JO JONES
Chairman, Women's Senate.

(Editor's Note: The Florida Flambeau editorial did not criticize the Convocation. It merely called, but rather the well-worn theme of the meeting in each case: "Women's Senate should lead the way to fewer repetitious meetings. . . .")

Con Convocation

TO THE EDITOR:

We would like to register a protest against Women's Convocation. We feel that upperclassmen women already acquainted with the subjects covered at this meeting, and that our time would be better devoted to more worthwhile things. We also feel certain that other upperclassmen feel as we do in this matter.

Let's either have more "live wire" publicity at discussion, or better still, no meeting at all.

KATHY ERSKINE
LOUISE GILLESPIE

Require Rat Caps

TO THE EDITOR:

Are the freshmen afraid they will show a little school spunk? Although some upperclassmen do not like to see freshmen conceive as showing examples, we always count on the freshmen to come through.

ROTC forces could be of great help in this respect. In another state university, I believe it was Texas, the ROTC departments require the freshmen to wear their rat caps for drill. How far reaching this would be done. At the moment I don't know, but we hear their rat hats even if they want to and some did the first day of drill.

Not only should they be allowed to wear them, they should be made to wear them until the promised day when they are to be given the black book. There are many other ways to boost their earnest and gold, this is just one.

GENE ROWELL

The Dissenter

Hurrah For Those Dodgers

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

This is going to be an unusually personal, one-sided, exultant column. It's going to make an unusual number of people angry.

So any Yankee fans who might have gotten this far should lay down this paper, in order to spare their already crushed feelings.

Tuesday, October 4, 1955, will be remembered by posterity for three reasons. One, the Brooklyn Dodgers, at last, won the name won their first World Series. Two, they did it by beating the New York Yankees. Three, they won after losing the first two games of the seven-contest series, the first time such a comeback has been accomplished.

YOU FORLORN SOULS who've spent all your lives rolling-er rooting for the Giants, Cards, Red Sox, or whatever organization; who've never borne bravely the bitter but true reproach that you're waiting till next year cannot comprehend the meaning of Tuesday to Dodger fans.

If PBU were to whip Georgia, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Miami, and the University of Florida in a row they wouldn't have as much joy and glimmer beside the joy in the hearts of Dodger fans.

There were many who feared they'd go to their graves without seeing the Bums take a series. Now, people who would have died forlorn and despondent will go to the reward of all true Dodger fans with smiles on their lips and a dissertation in the other.

IT STILL SEEMS somewhat hard to believe. The newspapers' pandemonium was conspicuous by its absence. There were ticker tape and blaring automobile horns and gladdened shouts and not a few bets won at good odds. No buildings were torn down and no torchlight processions made away with Yankee stadium bit by bit, and businesses in Flatbush remained open.

There is one pathetic note to the aftermath. The Brooklyn Eagle, which would have enthusiastically cheered the triumph with plastic type and openly biased praise, is silent. Its old building no longer exists and the newspaper's crew who will make room for a new civic center.

It was not the civic center which doomed the Eagle, however, but that newspaper itself was a strike; and today there is no newspaper published in Brooklyn, a city of three million whose inhabitants regard it as a free and independent municipality. There is no clarion editorial voice this morning honoring the staff the Eagle when the Bums won the first game of the '32 Series: "Experts. Drop Dead!" proclaimed e full-page headline.

THE EAGLE, which backed "Dem Bums" with gestures of faith that may often appear to making enterprise, died less than a year before the Flatbush flock climbed the prize they'd missed so many times before.

Sure, baseball is a business, and the Dodgers no less mercenary than any other team. Who cares? Why care? They are something dear to the heart of every fan. They are more sacrosanct than the Fourth of July, their winning more important.

At any rate, there are in this country several millions whose dispositions will be better in the years to come. The Dodgers have won. We are satisfied. At least until next year. We want that Series in four straight.

Of All Things

Dreamed He Wrote His Column In..

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Attention students! You may win $10,000.00.

The Maidenform Company is sponsoring a contest to find new ideas for its "dream" advertising series. Anyone can enter as many entries as he likes. Just fill in the following sentence; "I dreamed I was ..... in my Maidenform bra."

That's all there is to it—no boxtops, testimonials or anything. However, there is one difficulty. Competition will be keen in this contest, for everybody and his cousin will be out for the $10,000.00. It will, therefore, take some pretty clever ideas to win an idea kind enough to win.

For this reason, this columnist is pleased to here present, as a service to its readers, the complete scoop on how to go about winning the $10,000.

First, take a look at these sample entries: "I dreamed I wrestled a bear in my Maidenform bra"; "I dreamed I was a Mau Mau in my Maidenform bra"; "I dreamed I shoveled coal in . . ." Do you notice what's wrong in each case? The situations are all obviously Unromantic.

IT IS ESSENTIAL that your entry has romantic implications. The purpose of the "I dreamed" ads is to make Maidenform bras seem dreamy and sensual—associated with dreamy situation, toreadors, social butterflies and like that.

Accordingly, your entries should sound more like this: "I dreamed I toured French Equatorial Africa in my Maidenform bra", "I dreamed I was Brick Hudson in my Maidenform bra" (this has subtle connotations); "I dreamed I played chess in . . ."

It is always nice to vary your entries to include a few "trick" or "gag" ideas. Like: "I dreamed I played chess in my Maidenform bra" or "I dreamed I entered Maidenform's Contest in my Maidenform bra." These sort of things may appeal to the jocular nature of the judges.

SPEAKING OF APPEAL, one of the most basic criteria for judging contest entries is how the idea centered around some human emotion —such as love, patriotism, youth, money. Entries in these particular areas might be: "I dreamed I changed diapers in my Maidenform bra"; "I dreamed I kissed Miss America in my Maidenform bra" and "I dreamed I was an heiress in my Maidenform bra." Other emotions worth looking into are fear, compassion, and hate.

Top advertising men will tell you to look out carefully for the idea that appears all right on the surface but would actually have an adverse effect upon the product. Avoid this. Make sure your entries do not create mental images that would cause people to dislike Meindenform bras.

In other words, don't enter things like: "I dreamed I chewed tobacco in my Maidenform bra", "I dreamed I played in a Maidenform bra"; "I dreamed I found a bug in . . ."

These are the pitfalls to avoid; you have seen the things lead to worthwhile entries. The rest is up to you.

At The Movies

Opera Film 'Aida' Shows Here

By WANDA SUE OWEN

A new achievement in the performing arts will be accomplished when Verdi's opera "Aida" on Saturday when Aida, the first opera film, will be shown at the Rite Art Theater.

Verdi's famous opera, the love story of Aida, a beautiful Ethiopian princess, who is held captive in the palace of Pharaoh as his daughter, Amneris. Both are rivals for the love of Radames, the young Egyptian general who conquers the Ethiopian King of Ethiopia. Forced by her father to elicit military information from Radames she loves as a secret tryst, the lovers are surprised by Amneris and denounces Radames as a traitor. He is joined to death by Aida. These love by-passes cause the favours of Pharaoh's daughter.

Aida is played in the film by glamorous Sophie Loren, sung by Renata Tebuldi. Others in the cast of thousands, directed by Clement Fontaine and Antonio Cassinelli, include Afro Poli as Amneris, Antonio Cassinelli as Ramfis, and Enrico Formiggini as The Pharaoh.

The film, directed by Alfred Hitchcock, currently is playing at the State Theatre, is a story of Eddie Mars, the big boss of one of the French underworld called "The Cat", and the American heiress who shocked even the normalcies in love with her criminal boss.

Carr Grant portrays the once successful thief who is forced by a new criminal mind who is known to save his own life, and Grace Kelly is cast as the lovely but spoiled American who sets her sights for the dashing tiger suspicions that he is hunted by the police.

The film, produced by David Dodge. To Catch A Thief has its setting in the world's most glamorous playground, the French Riviera. Its daylight color scenes and the mystery of the Riviera nights are seen at their best in Vista-Vision and Technicolor.

The personal story of America's first triple jet ace comes to the screen in the Technicolor production, The McConnell Story, co-starring Alan Ladd, June Allyson and James Whitmore. The film opened Wednesday at the Florida Theatre.

Filmed by the studio which made Battle Cry, The McConnell Story gives a glimpse into the romantic and tender life of one of the nation's fighting men. It depicts Captain Joseph McConnell, Jr., as an "ordinary guy" who was called by the jet pilots he flew with, and as the devoted husband to his wife, the air his favorite word.

You will not only see some of the most modern jet aircraft in The McConnell Story, but are promised a first-hand view of late furniture styles.

Art director John Beckman assembled a collection of modern functional furniture for the McConnell house which figures importantly in the picture's plot. Beckman's selections, presented to Captain McConnell by the citizens of Anoka Valley, Minnesota, were personally selected for its beauty, simplicity and usefulness in the modern home. The set reportedly created considerable interest among Hollywood's home directors.

Lona John Silver, in CinemaScope, starts Sunday at the Florida. The pirate edventure tale, which takes up where Robert Louis Stevenson left off in Treasure Island, stars Jon John Silver. Connie Gilchrist as Purity Pinker, and introduces Kit Taylor as young Jim Hawkins.

Wandering With Wilson

An Idea To End All Ideas

By WILJOHN

West Hall has come up with the money-making idea to end all money-making ideas. The local hall has blazed trails from destination to Campus Chest ever given by a single group. And they intend to do it by making the idea a real gas.

West Hall would be decked out for one evening, as the fanciest dinner club in the country. It would be open to students only and then only by reservation with special invites. They would be required to wear semi-formal, if not formal, attire. You pick up your date and drive to the finest eateries of the land where the entertainment will park your car. A pretty hatcheck girl will take your wraps as a matter of fact and direct you to a candle-lit reserved table. As a smell combo plays quiet dinner music a waiter will serve you appetizers and non-alcoholic cocktails.

THE FOOD WILL be served in smorasbord style, offering a choice of things like turkey, ham, roast beef, heaps of shrimp, several vegetables, salads, desserts and drinks. You will be entitled to eat as much as you can hold. The food will be supplied by a caterer and, as you eat, a small group composed of a guitar, violin, and piano accordion will wander among your tables, playing your requests.

After the dinner dancing will commence with music probably furnished by the Commodores. Before the evening ends, guilty and caught-in-acting as flower girls, will bring e small corsage to your table for your date, compliments of the house. Your table will be cleared and additional cocktails may be ordered from your waiter.

During the evening dancing, a short well-planned floor show, in good taste and as close to non-censorship standards as possible, will interrupt the music. There will be no speeches by the local dorm politicians telling you how happy they are that you are happy, such as usually louses up the evening.

DUE TO THE FACT that one of the biggest gripes about campus dance functions is that there is never any room to breate, all tickets will be issued in advance and there will be no stag tickets sold. The powers arranging the shindig are going to sell only hundred tickets, no more, in the hopes that this will give everyone present the chance of having an "intimate" atmosphere" and the chance to dance. Another idea that, in order to put out the quality evening described above, the tickets will have to go for ten dollars per couple.

That may seem like a stiff tab but think of it this way. You pay that much on a Homecoming weekend or for one of the big dances and you don't get as much in return. So why not help Campus Chest and enjoy yourself doing it?

These plans are only tentative and will be canceled if there is not enough student interest or support. Let's hear from you. If 2500 writhe are enough who want to take their girls to something like this to make it pay.

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

A SUCCESS STORY

The story of Vince Gibson is one of a success. And its still written.

The Birmingham senior transferred here from small Howard ...ege in his freshman year and for two years played second ...g various other FSU guards.

...ut the pendulum of fate swung in Vince's favor last week ...h first string guard Al Pacifico sidelined with an injury. ...0-pound Gibson was Nugent's choice as a starter against ...and the Alabama lad capped off his drive to the top ...ning in such a performance as to have the state's sports...ers name him "lineman of the week."—And with his team ...at 5-0.

...ibson made five tackles and two assists and recovered a ...e to stymie a Miami scoring attempt to merit the honor. ...ve head coach Tom Nugent of Gibson:

"He's a fine defensive guard and he's one that improves all ...me. He's aggressive and he's hard to beat. He's going to ...ve a real player when he masters the offensive game."

...ce Gibson. It's a name to remember.

SEMINOLE POW WOW—

...ith White, FSU's Sports Publicity Director has come up ...h a new idea. His calls it "Seminole Pow Wow." It's a weekly ...ion and answer session with the Seminole Chieftain him...f and coach Tom Nugent. Nugent has promised to answer ...estions pushed his way about the FSU football situation. ...e're invited to take advantage of this opportunity. If you ...ve any question you'd like to have answered, send it to the ...ida sports editor and we'll see that it gets to Frank. We'll ...ish column each Friday to answering those questions.

...ow then, is the first of the series:

...) What effect did the loss of quarterback Len Swanlo in ...e 3rd quarter have on the game?

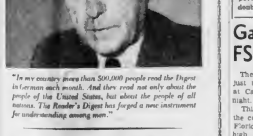
...) It hurt us very much. He was the last man we wanted ...se. He helped with the game last week against N. C. State. ...as by far the most experienced quarterback we had. He ...s a big factor for us offensively, but I don't think it made ...y difference defensively.

...) Do you feel Miami was 34 points better than your Florida ...eam?

...) Not that night. Maybe at another time, but not then. I ...ey were about 21 points better than we were on what they ...d, but they were definitely not the best I've seen since I ...been at FSU.

...) What do you think of V.P.I.'s win over William and Mary?

...) Well, that one shattered any hopes I had that VPI was ...ing to be as good as last year. I know how difficult it is to beat ...lliam and Mary in Williamsburg, as I met them several times there ...r VMI. So, the fact that VPI won, and in Williamsburg, ...ld me that they are better than last year. I honestly ...k William and Mary would win.



...) How would you rate Florida State's defensive work against ...ami last week?

...) Phenomenically, good. We had too many lapses by indi...uals though I was encouraged by the way the team stopped ...e Rouviere and at times, Don Bossler. Only when an in...idual failed to do his job did Bossler get away. But over-all, ...ey did a good job on defense against the Miami team.

...) Coach Nugent, do you think your squad will bounce back ...ainst V.P.I?

...) Yes. I do. I think it will be a good, solid game. There ...e no excuses from us. We know V.P.I. is very good, but ...ink we're good, too. I think the best evaluation will be to ...and see how Miami fares against Notre Dame this Friday ...d then see how we do against V.P.I. Notre Dame is ...od, so Miami, who should have some good compari...ns Saturday night.

Why Chancellor Adenauer reads The Reader's Digest

"In my country, more than 500,000 people read the Digest in German each month. And they read not only about the people of the United States, but about the people of all nations. The Reader's Digest has forged a new instrument for understanding among men."

In October Reader's Digest don't miss:

ALL ABOUT LOVE. How can we tell the difference between true love and physical attraction? Can we really fall in love "at first sight"? What makes us fall out of love? Scientist Julian Huxley brings you a biologist's view of most complex emotion.

THOSE CAMPUS MARRIAGES. How do student marriages work out? Are young couples able to cope with studies and household chores? What happens when babies come along? Report on today's collegiates who promise to love, honor—and study.

10-PAGE CONDENSATION FROM $4.00 BEST-SELLER: "MY PHILADELPHIA FATHER." Whether bloodblood Anthony J. Drexel Biddle was teaching Jujitsu to the Marines, singing a dubious tenor in opera, bobsledding with pugilists or raising alligators in the house, he did everything all out—and then some. Here, told by his daughter, is the laughing, loving life of "America's happiest millionaire."

AMERICA'S TOP LAWBRITE: GEORGE MEANY. Life and beliefs of the man who may lead 15 million workers when the CIO and AFL merge.

Get October Reader's Digest at your newsstand today—only 25¢

44 articles of lasting interest, including the best from leading magazines and current books, condensed to save your time.

Seminoles Ready For Virginia Tech

Close Game Forecast As Tribe Hopes For Comeback

By ALAN WHITMARSH

Seeking an opportunity to bounce back into the win column the Seminoles of Florida State engage powerful Virginia Tech in one of the South's big games at Doak S. Campbell Stadium tomorrow night.

The Gobblers of VPI jumped into the nation's headlines last year with an unblemished record marred only by one tie and have lost only once thus far in the 1955 season. A surprising 33-0 swamp of Pennsylvania brought them into the fore in the second contest of the year, though they lost their spot to Wake Forest.

'SC POWER'

Seminole head coach Tom Nugent has labeled the visitors "a Southern Conference power" and says "they're not a team to be taken lightly."

Nugent and Gobbler head coach Frank Moseley have met before under different conditions, when Nugent was head mentor at VMI. They split two games then, so this is the rubber contest between them.

The report from the Seminole camp is that most of the players on the injury list for the Miami game should be ready tomorrow night, except possibly for Lee Corso. Al Pacifico and Bill Weaver, and Buddy Reynolds who is definitely lost for the season. Reynolds has left for his home in West Palm Beach where he is to have an operation for his injured knee.

Quarterback Len Swanlo's injured ankle has responded quickly and he will probably be back at the helm against the Gobblers.

STAR MAN for Virginia Tech, Dickie Beard, led the Southern Conference in ground gaining last year with 647 yards for a 5 plus average per carry.

The big man in the Virginia Tech attack is a 195-pound fullback named Dickie Beard. Beard has been a star since his ground game the Gobblers have a tremendous passing attack and the Seminole's pass defense will have its hands full.

Tackle Tom Dalzell, who was injured in the Pennsylvania game will not play for the Gobblers in the FSU game, but Moseley and his staff are hopeful that the rest of the squad will be ready to go at gametime.

The Tribe's aerial game which has not been fully effective thus far this year should blossom out for this contest, particularly if Corso and Weaver are handicapped by their injuries.

This game looms as one of the best on the Florida State schedule and since Saturday's Road day in Tallahassee, there is bound to be a good-sized crowd to view it. Both teams are loaded, and a win would certainly boost either's rating in National football circles.

West Hall, Baptists Win In Intramural Basketball Openers

By M. L. WALTERS

The Men's Intramural basketball season opened last Monday even though footballs still fill the air. But after sundown, at the west campus gym, basketballs fill the air . . . which is to say that the early in the season there is lots of shooting and little hitting.

In the first contest the Penthouse Gang, using 11 players, beat Magnolia Hall 30-27. It was a hit in the first quarter that did it, the winners having a 17-6 lead. Taylor and Powell led the Gang with 14 points each, while Hamrich ank 16 points for the losers.

The most interesting game of the night saw the Baptist House blow out the West Hall Pirates 41-38, with Galloway's bucket in the last 5 seconds doing the trick. After Elliott had tied the score, Matthews had 13 for the Baptists and Galloway 11. Cameron with 12 and Elliott with 11 paced the losers.

Senior Hall beat the Methodists 40-25, leading all the way. John Wesley's followers played well but their shots rarely found the hoop. Rife with 12 and Gansler with 11 led the Seniors while Strickland's 8 points was high for the losers.

In the final game the International Club took their first try at basketball and were outmanned by the Wet Hall Rebels 43-14.

Tuesday's rarin' crowd were rewarded by some furious, but not yet accurate, basketball, and some upsets.

Pi Kappa Alpha finished 15th in a field of 15 last year, and trailed for three quarters, 24-19, then came to life and dumped Sigma Phi Epsilon 21-20 in the closing minute. Rudy Elgi with 13, "done" the most dirt. Jim Williams led for 12 for the losers.

Phi Kappa Tau was also a dogger last last year, but they came within a basket's whisker of beating Alpha Tau Omega, being even at the half 18-18. Finally getting aqueesed out 37-34, Al wood plunked 14 points for the winners, and McElroy duplicated for the losers.

Theta Chi and Lambda Chi Alpha renewed their feud with the outcome in doubt until the last 2½ minutes e.g. twas 28-28 at the third quarter . . . but the final was 43-34 in favor of Theta Chi's. Jacone totaled 18 points, while for the losers Woodward had 14.

Phi Delta Theta succumbed to Kappa Alpha 28-20. Sigma Nu never agreed the whip as they swamped Tau Epsilon Phi 64-27. Callahan had 15, Kenney 14, Dunkel 10, Perkin 11 for the winners.

The races resume next week as follows, at the west gym:

Tuesday, Oct. 11:

5 p.m.—PKP vs. SAE
6 p.m.—ATO vs. DTD
7 p.m.—LCA vs. SPE
8 p.m.—KS vs. TC

HURT SHOULDER BENCHES CORSO FOR VPI GAME

Lee Corso, Florida State's number one offensive threat, will not be in the Seminole starting lineup tomorrow night.

Corso, who injured his shoulder on the last play of the North Carolina State game here three weeks ago, has not responded to treatment sufficiently to start against the VPI club.

Head coach Tom Nugent said the Miami lad might see limited action, but he would not be called on for full-time duty.

"Lee's too good a ball player to take the chance of losing him all year," said Nugent. "He insists he's all right, but we're afraid to take the chance."

In announcing the decision to hold Corso back, Nugent listed several chances in the Tribe's backfield.

Gene Cox will be the starting left halfback in Corso's place. Cox was shifted from second string right halfback and Billy Odom was switched from the potential starting half post to right halfback behind starter Burt Mertz.

John Griner, reserve fullback, was shifted to second string left half while Joe Holt will get the starting nod at fullback.

Len Swanlo will be the starting quarterback.

In other changes, Nugent said his guards would be Leo Bargetti and Jerry Jacobs with Vince Gibson alternating between the two. Al Pacifico, three year veteran at the starting right guard position, will see limited action due to an injury.

NOTICE

There will be an official meeting of all organizations participating in 1955-56 men's intramurals today, 4 p.m., Trophy Room, Student Center.

Entries for tennis singles and doubles are due orsl Monday Oct. 15 by 5 p.m. for men's intramurals tournament which begins Oct. 17. Men may not participate in both singles and doubles.

Game Tops Off FSU 'Band Day'

There will be a lot more than just the VPI-FSU football game at Campbell Stadium tomorrow night.

This week's game will top off the celebration of "Band Day" at Florida State, and a total of 30 high school bands from north Florida and south Georgia are to participate in a down-town parade tomorrow afternoon and will be in one big end zone section at the game tomorrow night.

Navy Helps Tribe Against Va. Tech

The Navy will be on hand to assist the Tribe in its attempt at subduing Virginia Tech tomorrow night.

It was announced recently that a 27 foot replica of the USS Minnesota, with guns and all, will be in the corner of the stadium, and each time FSU scores, a complete salvo will be fired.

The guns, which are operated by 12 gauge shot gun shells, should provide quite a noise.

Records Phonographs

Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Gymnastica Event Planned

Gymnasium, honorary for outstanding members of Gymnastica and the gym team, will hold a reception for new members of the Gymkana troupe, Sunday, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the tropics room. Old gym members have been requested to meet at 6:30.

Dr. Sam Neel will address the group. The honor guests will be, Dr. and Mrs. Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. Martin, Dean Oglesby, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Cubbon and Ronnie Melton.

Classified

FOR SALE—'51 Chev. convertible. Very good condition. Good tires. Very clean. Only $800. Write FSU Box 3172.

GO SEMINOLES GO
TO
Malone's Book Store
FOR ALL YOUR NEEDS
STATIONARY—POCKETBOOKS
T and SWEAT SHIRTS
ART SUPPLIES
SUNDRIES
FOR ALL YOUR DAILY NEEDS
BETWEEN MECCA AND KAHLERS

LOOK AT ALL THE CHECKERED FLAGS CHEVROLET'S COLLECTED!

Drives with cars . . . EVERYWHERE!

Great Features back up Chevrolet Performance: Anti-Dive Braking—Ball-Race Steering—Outrigger Rear Springs—Body by Fisher—12-Volt Electrical System—Nine Engine-Drive Choices.

Every checkered flag signals a Chevrolet victory in official 1955 stock car competition—not only against its own field but against many American and foreign high-priced cars, too!

Let's translate these victories into your kind of driving. You've got to have faster acceleration to win on the tracks. And that means safer passing on the highways. You've got to have better springing and suspension. For you: safer and happier motoring. You've got to have big, fast-acting brakes and easy, accurate steering. More things that make your driving safer! Come in and drive a Chevrolet yourself.

DAYTONA BEACH, FLA.
FAYETTEVILLE, N.C.
COLUMBIA, S.C.
YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO
ATLANTA, GEORGIA
JERSEY CITY, N.J.
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
PITTSBURGH, PA.
TORONTO, CANADA
SELMAS, N.J.
CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA
ELSMORE, MD.
WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.
FLOYD, VA.
DEAND FORKS, N.D.
MINOT, N.O.
LYNCHBURG, VA.
CANFIELD, O.
MILWAUKIE, WIS.
CINCINNATI, O.
FLAT ROCK, MICH.
JEFFERSONVILLE, IND.
DARLINGTON, S.C.
HAMMOND, IND.
DETROIT, MICH.

The safer car wins . . . and Chevrolet's the winning car

NOW'S THE TIME TO BUY! LOW PRICES—BIG DEALS! ENJOY A NEW CHEVROLET

When you've worked pretty late And the issue looks great... Why not celebrate! Have a CAMEL!

—Man, that's pure pleasure!

It's a psychological fact: Pleasure helps your disposition. If you're a smoker, remember—more people get more pure pleasure from Camels than from any other cigarette!

No other cigarette is so rich-tasting, yet so mild!

Camel

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

LOST — White cashmere Cardigan sweater, somewhere between [illegible] and Student Center Bernard Louise Gillespie 306 E. Cawthon Box 2775.

Career Emphasis Week Series Planned

REMEMBER SPECIAL NIGHTS AT

FAIVER'S RESTAURANT

1312 WEST TENNESSEE

MON. - SPAGHETTI WITH GARLIC BREAD $1 Order For — 85¢

TUE. - PIZZA PIES $1 Order For — 85¢

WED. - HALF FRY CHICKEN FRENCH FRIED POTATOES SALAD ROLLS TEA OR COFFEE — $1.19

Welcome Back . . .

BENNETT'S

AIR CONDITIONED

COMPLETE SODA AND LUNCHEONETTE DEPARTMENT TO SERVE YOU

NATIONALLY ADVERTISED COSMETICS KODAKS AND SUPPLIES

FOR FAST DELIVERY CALL 2-8980 or 2-4450

200 SOUTH MONROE

Placement Ofice Initiates Drive To Help Students

A series of Career Emphasis Weeks, running throughout the school year, will be launched October 17 by the Dept. of Vocational Guidance and Placement.

One of the program's main objectives will be to "publicize further among students the various careers for which one may prepare at FSU," said Dr. G. E. Tully, chairman. It is also designed to "assist students who are undecided about a career in formulating long-range plans" and to give objective, valid and current information about the various professional fields.

"This material will include personal traits required by a program of study, course requirements, entry positions, as well as information about examinations open to students who wish to become engineers," he said. Aptitude tests will be included on the program.

Emphasis

Hotel management and baking are the fields to be emphasized the first week, followed by political science and sociology. The series will cover twenty weeks in next year, Dr. Tully declares. Departments not planning that the program will be covered this year will be included continued from page 1 following. Tomorrow Chi Omega will sponsor a car wash. Next Tuesday the Sophomore Council will produce a faculty auction and the residents of East Landis will sell home-made donuts. Also next Tuesday Sigma Kappa sorority will sponsor its annual variety show, featuring acts from the different fraternities and sororities on campus. The contest which will start at 8 p.m. is Opperman Music Hall.

Campus Chest

(Continued from Page 1)

Trophy

A trophy will be given to the organization who takes in the greatest sum of money during Campus Chest. Last year Kappa Alpha fraternity was recognized as the winner of the competition. Another plan to hold the student's interest is a giant thermometer which will show the increase in money collected.

Misty Penn Cawthon asks all organizations who have not decided on a project to do so as soon as possible in order that a complete calendar can be published.

ROTC Regiment Now Organized

Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Percy Steele and his Regimental Staff completed organization this week of the Army ROTC Regiment.

Appointed to assist Steele as members of his staff were Cadet Major Harold Stewart, Executive Officer; Cadet Captains Charles Carothers and Bobby Jones, S-1 and S-3 respectively.

Named as Battalion Commanders in the Regiment are Cadet Majors Robert Culliver and Antony Avitable Company Commanders chosen this year are Cadet Captains John Hodges, Herbert Lacayo, Jerry Connell and Latverce Williams.

Leading this year's 34 man precision drill platoon will be Cadet First Lieutenant Hugh Rhodes.

Do's And Don'ts

(Continued from Page 1)

Suzanne Stokes, Jan Kaminis and Jo Jones.

Taking Part

Mortarboard members who planned the program and will also model are Nancy Vaughn, president, Joan Tavel, Barbara Graham, Harriet Lowe, Ellen Snow Frank, Mary Catherine Freeman, Barbara Cooper, Winifred Allman, Betty Jean Nichols and Bebe Babee.

A compulsory program similar to this one but minus the fashion show was held last week for upperclasswomen. At this program, however, only women government leaders were "introduced" to their fellow upperclassmen.

Church News

Catholic

Sunday Masses at the Catholic Student House begin at 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. This is a change from last year's schedule.

An instruction class meets every Wednesday night at 7 p.m. at the Catholic Student House. This class is open to non-Catholics as well as Catholics.

Rosary is said every night at 6:45 p.m. during the month of October.

Newman Club

New members will be initiated Sunday at 7:30 following the Rosary. The meeting will close with the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Newman Club officers urge all Catholic students to attend.

Westminster

All students are invited to attend a Hamburger Fry given by the Westminster Fellowship Saturday at 5:45 p.m. Students are requested to sign up in advance if planning to attend. Price is 50¢ per person.

Sunday night supper will be served at the Presbyterian Church at 5:45 p.m. Following the supper will be a speech by Dean R. R. Oglesby.

Affiliation services will be held at the Presbyterian Church Sunday. All students wishing to affiliate with the church should meet at the Westminster House at 9:45 a.m. Transportation will be furnished for all.

Methodist

Reverend Austin E. Holiady will speak at the Methodist Sunday School 9:30 a.m. His topic is Solo, Duet, and Trio."

Supper will be served at 5:15 p.m. at the Wesley Foundation House. The price is 25¢ per person. Following the supper will be the fellowship program led by Love Scarboough and Pat Wolfe. Depution team plans and experiences will be discussed.

Meeting are held Monday Wednesday and Friday from 7:30 a.m. til 7:45 a.m. The topics to be discussed are "Believe In Yourself", "Believe In Others", and "Believe in God."

Baptist

Vespers at 6:30 p.m. with a study group afterwards for those going to the state Baptist Student Union convention will be held.

On Thursday the Bible School group meets from 4:00 p.m. til 5:00 p.m. The Life Service group will meet at 8:00 p.m.

Breakfast will be served after Morning watch which is held at 7:30 a.m. Oct. 14.

Friday and Saturday evenings there is open house at the Baptist Student House.

The Baptist Student Union State convention will be held in St Petersburg the weekend of October 28, 29, and 30. The deadline for registration is October 23.

Lutheran

Lutheran students of Gamma Delta met Oct. 2 to pledge new members. Dick Lehmann, Doris Burr, Cassie Love, Dot Stevenson, David Reinhardt, and Mary Jane Marriott.

Another initiation is scheduled in two weeks for new Gamma Delta members, unable to participate in the first pledging. To join Gamma Delta, a student is not required to be Lutheran.

Master Masan Club To Be Organized

Master Masons among the faculty, staff and student body who are interested in forming a club here at FSU have been invited to meet in the Trophy Room in the Student Center at 8 p.m., Friday, Oct. 14.

This will be a Dutch Treat coffee meeting to discuss plans for forming a Masonic Club here on the campus.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
TODAY & TOMORROW "THE McCONNEL STORY" Co-Starring ALAN LADD JUNE ALLYSON with JAMES WHITMORE	TODAY THRU WED. "TO CATCH A THIEF" ALFRED HITCHCOCK'S NEW SUSPENSE THRILLER with CARY GRANT GRACE KELLY
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TODAY & TOMORROW "THEY RODE WEST" With ROBERT FRANCIS and "UNDERWATER" With JANE RUSSELL SUNDAY & MONDAY "SARATOGA TRUNK"	TODAY & TOMORROW RAILS INTO LARAMIE with JOHN PAYNE and SKY COMMANDO With DAN DUBYEA SUNDAY & MONDAY "THE BIG HEAT"

RITZ—TODAY & TOMORROW "AIDA" Featuring Sophia Loren, Lou Maxwell and The Voices of Renata Tebaldi, Ebe Stignani, Gino Bechi

CLOTHCRAFT SUITS in the Authentic "Ivy Look" model buttons placement

natural shoulder

natural drape shoulder straight hang of coat

trousers are pleatless and slightly narrower at knees and cuffs

• CHAR-GREEN
• CHAR-BROWN
ALL WOOL FLANNEL

This is the suit that should be basic to your wardrobe. In fabric, color and model, it measures up to every man's idea of good taste and relaxed comfort. $50.

Turner's

"doorway to fashion . . ."

On Campus with Max Shulman

("Author of 'Barefoot Boy with Cheek,' etc.)

HURRAY FOR THE RED, WHITE AND GOLD!

There's a new package on Philip Morris Cigarettes. It's red and white and gold and pretty as a picture. You'd never guess that behind anything so bright ann cheerful is a saga packed with action and passion, with love and romance and not a few tears.

It started quietly enough. The makers of gentle Philip Morris, as hale a bunch of fellows as you ever clapped your eyes upon, got to talking last summer during their annual outing on Attu, a secluded and unpeopled island, often called "The Capri of Alaska." Capri, on the other hand, is often called "The Attu of Italy."

But I digress. I was saying that the makers of Philip Morris, jim-dandy fellows every man-jack of them, got to talking on their last outing. "Don't you think," said one maker to the other makers, "that our brown Philip Morris package, though in many ways terrible fetching, doesn't quite reflect the basic quality of today's Philip Morris-its happy gentleness, its jolly lightness?"

"Why, yes," replied the other makers to the first maker, "we do think that our brown Philip Morris package, though in many ways terribly fetching, doesn't quite reflect the basic quality of today's Philip Morris-its happy gentleness, its jolly lightness."

"Let us have the pack re-designed," suggested the first maker, whose name is Laughing Ned.

"Yes, let us!" cried the other makers, whose name is Fun-Loving Tom. "Let us! Let us!"

The makers forthwith engaged the prominent firm of package re-designers, Sigafoos and Associates. It was with full confidence that the makers entrusted the task to Sigafoos and Associates, for Sterling Sigafoos, the senior member, is known the length and breadth of the world as "The Grand Old Man of Package Re-designing," and his partner, Fred Associates, though a younger man, is everywhere regarded as a comer.

Sigafoos and Associates began their job by conducting interviews from coast to coast to determine what kind of pack people wanted for Philip Morris. The partners could not do the interviewing themselves — Sigafoos because of his advanced years; Associates because he is subject to motion sickness — so they sent our two trusted employees: Mr. Walker Nylet Yale '51 and Miss Felicia Sigafoos Radcliffe '52, daughter of the senior partner. After canvassing the entire nation and tabulating more than 90 million interviews, Mr. Nylet sent the following communique to the home office:

"Dear Dad and Associates,

I call you Dad because Miss Sigafoos and I discovered during our long and exhaustive survey that never were two people so admirably suited. We have accordingly been married and have accepted a position with the United States Government keeping the lighthouse off Gay Head, Martha's Vineyard.

I hope you are not too upset by this news. May I suggest you look at it this way: you haven't lost a daughter; you've gained a beacon.

Sincerely,

Walker Nylet"

Well sir, old Sigafoos fumed for a while, but at last he calmed down and went to visit the newlyweds in their lighthouse, bringing them a suitcase full of twenties as a wedding gift. It was there he learned that people want Philip Morris in the red, white, and gold package which you are now, I trust, holding in your very own hand.

©Max Shulman, 1955

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS who bring you this column beg to remind you that for a while you'll still be seeing Philip Morris both ways — in the bright new red, white and gold package, and in the friendly familiar brown.

STATE BAKERY and DELICATESSEN

•

The South's Most Unusual ONE STOP FOOD SHOP

•

WE HAVE SOMETHING FROM EVERY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD

"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"

Our New Fall . . . .

Capezios by Capezio.

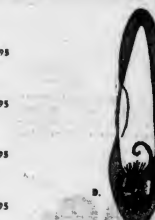
A.

B.

Like autumn leaves are our new dancing, whirling Capezios. See them tomorrow and your heart will beat with a new Capezio love!

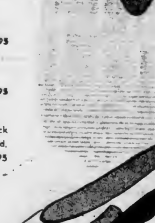
A. Copper Corkatra or Black Suede 12.95

B. Black Suede on New 2" Silver Heel 12.95



C. Black Kid Flat topped with Brown Acorns 10.95

D. Red Kid with Gold Coin and Gay Feather 10.95



E. Black Suede With Black Kid Trim 9.95

F. Black Kid Skimmer with Red, Green, Blue and Gold Patches. 9.95

Plain Skimmer also available in Black Suede, Brown Suede, Black Kid, Red Kid, Navy Kid 7.95

C.

D.

E.

F.

Exclusive With

Strickland's

...1930 Silver Anniv...

118 East College Ave.

Share Our Stadium
See Sports Column

The Florida Flambeau

Florida's Only Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

Vol. XLII, No. 7 — Published By The Students Of Florida State University — Tuesday, October 11, 1955

rosh May File eclaration Of ffice Today day is the first day for freshe- to file declarations of can- for class offices.

ons Tuesday at 5 p.m. is the line for the declaration- ng cards obtained from the ance's Desk, Longmire Build-

Expenses

ry expense estimate must be by each candidate by Tues- the 25th, says Betty Witt, Secretary of Elections. "I to point out that this is ate and not a final ment of expenditures," she "Only candidates who are ted must file a statement of ary expenses."

ny freshman will be on the of- ballot if he does not meet eadlines for filing candidacy xpense estimates," the secre- warned. "No excuses will be and they must be in on she added.

Campaigning

time campaigning—consisting e of any written or print- material—may begin October 1 p.m. Primaries are sched- for November 1 and final ion day a week later.

andidate for president may no more than $30. Sena- are candidates may spend than $20. People running for vice- secretary, treasurer ss social chairman are limited $10.

56 Investiture Set October 19

ior Class officers have ur- requested the presence of entire senior class at the In- ture ceremony on Wednes- October 19.

e annual senior event will at 7:30 p.m. in Westcott torium.

NOTICE

All senior girls are asked to order their formal collars with their gowns. Orders for these collars can be placed with Mrs. Moser in Landis Hall by today. The price for a collar is $1.25.

ister Joanna will lead the de- ions for the ceremony, accord- to Barbara Bachman, Vice- sident of the Senior Class and man of the Investiture cere-

Following the devotional, Flor- State University President ston S. Campbell will invest sen- by Chile at the same time they be capped by their sopho- brothers and sisters.

R. B. Oelsclay, Dean of Stu- will deliver the main ad- of the evening.

Mrs. Ramona C. Beard, FSU ctor of Music, will play the ional and recreational on gan.

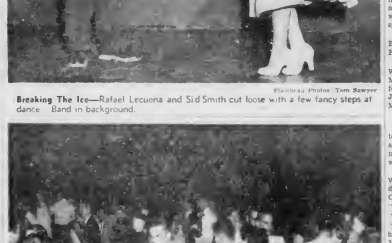
Vamps To Sell Candy Kisses

Date Vamps are preparing ir traditional black attire ir Campus Chest project this r as in the past, they will sell candy kisses, another tradition maintained he Vamps is that of formint ceremonies committee ous football teams. They ve already met the Flor- State and VPI teams and will continue this activity ng the remainder of the ason.

ch year, thirty freshman s are selected for their ty charm and poise, potent- service attributes, for mem- ship in the Village Vamps. ing toward the university as ommittees, etc., in this ocial functions of the ersity.

ers this year are Joan president; June Yates, vice dent; Jan Sisson, secretary; Ann Whittle, treasurer; Cubbins, project chair- and Sarah Monroe, pub- chairman.

Selective Service Film, 'Time To Go' To Show Tomorrow



Time to Go," a film about Se- ive Service, shows tomorrow 4 p.m. in Opperman Music for the benefit of male, non- ican students, the movie ex- the organization and opera- of Selective Service and the ations and privileges of in- duals under its law. It will present the present system ription and the various pro- ons of Selective Service law. Major General Lewis B. Her- , National Director of Se- Service, will introduce the which lasts approximately minutes.

Flambeau Photos Tom Sawyer

Breaking The Ice—Rafael Lecuona and Sid Smith cut loose with a few fancy steps at dance. Band in background.

At Campus Chest Dance—Students are shown above dancing to the Music of FSU's Commodores.

From Iowa Gallery Features Intaglio Prints

Intaglio prints from the University of Iowa are now on exhibit in the Art Gallery here through October 28.

Assistant Professor Donn Steward who is in charge of the exhibition stated, "The Intaglio print area is going to develop because through modern use it allows it to be a major expression." Steward, a graduate of the University of Iowa, is in charge of teaching this technique here.

Iowa Students

The prints were done by Iowa students under the direction of Professor Mauricio Lasansky who is one of the principle exponents of the art in the United States. Lasansky, a native of Argentina, came to this country in 1942 and became a professor in 1945 at the University of Iowa.

These same prints have been shown at regional and international shows. They were also in the Metropolitan Show and were displayed at the Museum of Modern Art.

Etcher Prints

Intaglio, the name given to the process, means etched or engraved. The process for making them requires the use of copper plates upon which the design is etched. The plates are inked and the surface cleaned. Finally paper is then pressed on the plates with tremendous pressure. This pushes the paper into the grooves which are filled with ink, producing the print.

This process is related to the steel engraving used during the 19th century for book illustrations.

The Intaglio print area was developed at Florida State last year.

Deadline Nears For Fulbright Applications

Students wishing to obtain Fulbright grants for foreign study must make their applications by November 1, reminded Dr. Albert Ledue, associate professor of modern languages.

Dr. Ledue is chairman of the campus Fulbright committee.

Dr. Ledue said the program is open to anyone who will have his bachelor's degree by the time he enters the foreign school.

Language Required

Other requirements, he said, are an ability to speak the foreign language or one related to it, and have a definite project appropriate to the country he wishes to study.

One wouldn't, he noted, go to France to study German or to Japan for physics.

Applications may be made direct to Washington but the campus committee can help students clear red tape, Dr. Ledue said.

Post-graduate and post-doctoral students, as well as exchange teachers, may participate in the Fulbright program.

Competition Keen

Competition is keen for the awards, which are sufficient for travel and all living and tuition expenses, Dr. Ledue stated. "One must have a pretty good record," he stressed.

There are, in addition to the campus committee, a state committee and a national board which screen applicants.

"People who are juniors now should make plans if they contemplate Fulbright study upon graduation," Dr. Ledue said.

FASHION INSTITUTE HOLDS TEA TODAY

The Student Fashion Institute has invited prospective members to a tea this afternoon in the small Lonsmire lounge at 4:30.

The purpose of the tea is to welcome new members and introduce them to the activities of the club.

Campus Chest Drive Continues

With the first full week of the Campus Chest Drive well underway, this year's drive promises to be a big success, commenta Mary Fenn Cawthon, general chairman.

The music of the Commodores along with a floor show of freshmen talent were featured at the annual Campus Chest Dance held last Friday night. A total of 313 people attended the dance, bringing in a net of $156, disclosed Eddie Wycoff, dance chairman.

The calendar for the drive which is now partially completed includes the following events for the next three days. The residents of Bryan, Ess, Landis, Florida, and Reynolds Halls will sell home-made donuts and sandwiches starting today.

Tonight at 8 p.m. Sigma Kappa will hold its annual Variety Show. The event, which will feature acts from all the fraternities and sororities on campus, will be held in Opperman Music Hall; admission will be 25 cents per person.

With a goal of $75, Zeta Tau Alpha will hold their yearly cake walk tomorrow at 8 p.m. The location for the sale will be around the fountain in front of Westcott with the price per walk being 10 cents.

This Thursday will be the night of the Kappa Delta spaghetti supper. The supper, which costs 75 cents, will be held in two shifts, at 5:00 and 6:30 at the K D house.

All organizations have been urged to turn their projects in to Mary Fenn Cawthon at once, so they may be put on the calendar. A trophy will be presented to the organization turning in the greatest sum of money for the entire drive.

Trophy Room Preview Feature Science Films

Four films are to be previewed at the Student Center tonight from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The first film is "Energy From the Sun", which deals with an exploratory visit to the sun by means of a unique telescopic stop-motion photography. This is followed by "Atom Smashing" which gives some of the history of the atom. "The Living Body" and "Animal Homes", the other two films, are considered with animal life.

Philosophy Club Meets Tonight

The Philosophy Club will hold its first meeting of the year tonight at 8 in room 310 in the old Demonstration School.

All members and others who are interested in philosophy and related fields can be invited to attend. Membership in the club does not require a major in the field of philosophy.

Sigma Kappa Variety Show Slated Tonight

By CHARLET POTTEVINT

Singers, skits, piano duets and baton twirling will be among the acts at the Sigma Kappa Variety Show in Opperman Music Hall tonight at 8 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale at the Westcott ticket booth, in front of Kahler's, and at the Student Center for 25 cents.

Emcees

Jim Fadigan and Claire Green will act as co-master-of-ceremonors for the Sigma Kappa's annual Campus Chest project in which sororities and fraternities sponsor various events.

There will be a trophy for the Best Sorority and for the Best Fraternity.

Judges include Mr. Thomas Wright, associate professor of Music; Dr. Thomas Lewis, professor of Speech; and Miss Betty J. Grimm, assistant professor of Music.

More Coming

Thirteen sororities and six fraternities have signed the show so far, but Nancy Cuchan, chairman, said that additional acts will probably be entered.

Skits will include "Window Washo," by the Alpha Xi's; "Cinderella," a parody by the Alpha Gamm's; "Nobody," by the DZ's; "The Greek Freak," Gamma Phi's "Romeo and Juliet," Phi Mu's; "Feeding, Fussing and Fighting," by the Kappa Sig's; and "Our Views on World News," by the Sigma Chi's.

Quartette

The Zeta's will enter a quartette; the Pi Phi's, a basin twirling duet; the ADPi's, a monologue entitled, "Dagnet"; the DG's, a vocal solo, the Chi O's, a piano duet; the Alpha Xi's, a shaggy dog story in the form of a song and dance; and the KD's, a kick band.

Last year's fraternity winners, the Pi Kap's, will enter a pantomime on Homer and Jethro; the KA's, a song and piano act; the Pi Kap's, a drum solo; and the SAE's a quartet.

While the judging is taking place, the Tulla-Lassies will entertain the audience.

Drinking Said Game Problem

It will be up to the students to solve the drinking problem at football games, Sam's vice-president Hana Tress said yesterday.

Tress said he talked with Dr. Ed Martin, Florida State University vice-president, who Tress said felt it would be a good idea for students to handle the situation.

Tress said fraternities will be alerted that extensive counselor James Hardy and individuals will be told by the counselors to avoid the use of intoxicating beverages at athletic events.

Any student who is guilty of disorderly conduct due to intoxication may be expelled, Tress warned.

"Over-intoxication certainly is childish and should not happen at a football game. People have a right not to be disturbed or injured by someone who lacks enough maturity to avoid getting drunk," concluded Tress.

Artist Series Opens With Concert Friday

Elke Frank

FSU Coed Awarded Women's Scholarship

By ARLEDA RIES

For the first time in several years the Federation of Women's Clubs has made a scholarship award.

The $350 scholarship went to Elke Frank, FSU journalism major, who is on a student visa from Germany.

Came to U. S.

In 1951 Elke first came to the United States from her hometown of Hamburg, Germany, on an international high school exchange. For 10 months she lived with foster parents in Birmingham, Ala.

Through the help of the sister of her former foster parents, Mrs. O. C. Mayo, a resident of Tallahassee, Elke came back to the States to study at FSU.

Find Out

When asked why she first came to America, Miss Frank replied, "I was afraid of the Americans because all I had seen of them was destruction. I felt that this was a wrong feeling, so I wanted to come and find out what they were really like. Now I like it and feel that I owe them so much."

As a foreign student so far from home, Elke occasionally is subject to fits of homesickness. But she has a cure that never fails: Elke simply calls up another German friend and the two of them jabber away in their native language.

Club President

At FSU she is president of the International Club and a member of Glee Club. A great deal of Elke's time is spent in giving speeches for civic organizations and churches on international relations.

A look future was reveals that Miss Frank would like to finish school and receive an MA. after which she plans to go into public relations in the German Consulate.

Dr. Oelschlager Slated For Talk

Dr. Victor R. B. Oelschlager is to speak on "Who Among America's Young Men, Who's Who in American Education, and Directory of American Scholars."

The Columbus Day program, presented under the auspices of Delta Sigma Pi national Spanish fraternity, and the FSU Modern Language Department, will conclude with a group of songs by members of FSU's International Student club.

TALLY-HO PICTURES

Tally-Ho pictures are now being taken for all classes.

All students, juniors, sophomores and freshmen, may have their pictures taken from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on the fourth floor of Longmore Building.

October 21 is the deadline for picture taking.

Men should wear coats, while Miss Frank would like to know that clothes are required for women.

Pictured above are Barbara Vickers, General Womens' Chairman of Gymkana, wearing a taffeta skirt and polka dot blouse; and Betty Gooch, wearing a pleated wool skirt and sweater. Both co-eds were featured in the fashion show sponsored by Mortar Board last Saturday morning to acquaint the freshmen with campus organizations and activities.

Two performances by "The President's Own" United States Marine Band on October 14 in Westcott Auditorium will mark the opening of Florida State University Artist Series.

The Band is on tour by special permission of the President of the United States

Matinee

A matinee programmed especially for teenagers will begin at 2:30 p.m. The night concert, starting at 8:15 p.m., will feature well-known works such as the Overture from "Do Ballo" by Sir Arthur Sullivan, "Southern Rhapsody" by Leslie Bonner, "March of the Steel Men" by Herman Belstering and "Witches Sabbath" from "Symphony Fantastique" by Hector Berlioz.

Solo artists for "The President's Own" include Charles Erwin and Bramwell Smith, cornet; Glenn Dodson, trombone; Antony Maiarese, marimba and T. Irwin Redclay, pianist.

Tickets Available

Tickets for the concert are available at Westcott Ticket Booth.

As the oldest active musical organization in the U. S., the Marine Band has become an American tradition. It was established in 1798 when President John Adams approved a bill authorizing its formation as the official White House Band, now known as "The President's Own".

Duties

Among the Marine Band's official duties have been providing music for over a century on such historic occasions as White House weddings, including that of Nelsie Grant, Alice Roosevelt and President Grover Cleveland; expressing the grief of the nation in the funeral procession of Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt; the solemn commemoration of our nation's heroes at Arlington and countless parades at times of national rejoicing.

New Leader

The Band's present leader, Captain Albert Schoepper, succeeded Lt. Col. William F. Santelmann who retired this past May. Captain Schoepper became a member of the Band in 1934 and was featured as a violin soloist. He conducted string ensembles at the White House and at other state functions every before being promoted to Second Leader in 1951.

Film Club Shows 'Elephant Boy'

The British film, Elephant Boy, will be featured by the Florida State University Film Club Thursday night in the Demonstration School auditorium at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale in the Westcott ticket office. Tickets may be purchased at the Demonstration School box office at the performance.

By Kipling

Elephant Boy is adapted from Rudyard Kipling's story, Toomai of the Elephants. In preparing the script, John Collier follows being taken for all classes. being taken for all classes. sulting in an interesting and realistic production.

Traveling in the province of Mysore in Southern India, Flaherty, Alexander Korda and their film technicians worked two years in the completion of this picture.

Elephant Boy presents a wide variety and dark drama. Included are the actual hunting scenes in which a herd of 60 elephants were captured. This is the way was the largest herd ever captured in Mysore.

Elephant Boy is the story of Toomai, an Indian boy whose driving ambition is to be with elephants. It is also the story of Kala-Nag, a huge trained elephant. Toomai's father is engaged by an Englishman to hunt elephants during the hunt Toomai's father is killed, and Kala-Nag is given to another school. Kala-Nag runs amok and finally the elephant and Toomai go off into the jungle together.

Kala-Nag, Toomai

Later, however, Toomai and Kala-Nag are instrumental in the capture of a large herd of elephants and as a reward Kala-Nag is given to Toomai.

Balu, who plays the part of young Toomai, actually was brought up among elephants When selected by the makers of the film for his role, he was employed as a stable boy assigned to the care of the elephants belonging to the Maharajah of Mysore.

Kala-Nag, the bigger half of the featured twosome is actually Iravatha, one of the largest elephants in captivity. Following the film he was purchased as a gift for the London Zoo.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB PLANS DISCUSSION

"Opportunities for Sociology Majors" will be the topic of a Sociology Club panel discussion tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Room 106 of Longmire.

S.O.S. For S.O.S.S.

Three-hundred and thirteen charitable Seminoles helped Campus Chest to net a small profit of $156 at the drive's opening dance in the Sun-and-Fun Room. Compared to the $5,000 goal Campus Chest is aiming for, this doesn't present too favorable an outlook.

One dollar per student would fill the chest with little trouble, and the student books shouldn't suffer from the thought. The dollar doesn't have to disappear into thin air, either. It can purchase lollipops, car washes, apples, pennils, tickets to variety shows, spaghetti suppers, er' the faculty-sorority softball game. Other eye-catching and stomach-filling projects, too numerous to mention here, will also make spending that dollar worth while.

Unlike other campus assessments, the students know where, how, and why their money is going to be spent. Too, the drive is planned in a concerted effort to eliminate individual campaigns for donations to various charity organizations.

If we can't produce the $5,000 quota with ease, the only thing left to do is send the Seminole Spirit back to his tomb, where he would rightfully belong.

To The Future . . .

The following editorial, reprinted from the Daily Texan, is directed to those freshmen who will declare their candidacy for campus office today.

From the Pen of a recent American novelist:

"The place was a democratic cosmos—seething with political interests: national, regional, collegiate.

"The campus had its candidates, its managers, its bosses, its machines, as had the State. A youngster developed in college the political craft he was later to exert in Party affairs . . . . By his junior year, if he was successful, a boy had a political manager, who engineered his campus ambitions; he moved with circumspection from meeting to meeting, and spoke with a trace of pomp nicely weighed with cordiality:

"'Hello, men. How are you?'"

"The vast campaign of the world stretched out in limitless wonder, but few were seduced away from the fortress of the State, few ever heard the distant reverberations of an idea . . . And the way to glory—the way to all power, highness and distinction whatever — was through the law, a string tie, and a hat. Hence politics, law schools, debating societies, and speechmaking. And the applauds of listening senates to command."

A "Shorts" Story

We are glad to note that Florida State women are not alone in their battle for Bermuda shorts—considerable controversy has centered on that theme at the University of Florida since September.

In spite of arguments that Bermuda shorts might affect the outline of campus and after class hours, when comfort is desired, the "Bermuda Sandwiches" are no longer "nicely starched."

How about it, Senate? Are we going to be medieval or modern?

Keep Walking

Reports indicate that the traffic situation at the VPI game was considerably improved.

Whether or not the alleviation came from a smaller turnout, or through a mass student walk-to-the-game movement, we were glad to see it. A considerable number of the student body did walk, however, and found it wasn't such a hike after all.

But the expected turnout for the Georgia game should take up any slack apparent last weekend. The whole of south Georgia transfer turn up looking for a place to park in Doak Campbell Stadium, and the out-of-town cars certainly deserve to find one.

It would be a good idea to make the walk-to-the-game idea a permanent tradition on this campus. Too, it might make like happy to know Joe College is getting a little exercise.

From The Alligator

Florida State Is Still Whimpering

By DON BACON
Gator Managing Editor

Florida State University has reached another mile stone in its battle for equality with the other state institutions, and from the tone of the bellows from Tally way, each Seminole must be calling it a personal victory.

The 1956 Florida License plates will not carry orange and blue colors.

Of course it wasn't a full victory for the No. 2 state school! PSU pressure groups failed in an attempt to get garnet and gold plates for next year. Compromising state officials merely patted the little Seminoles on their scaled heads and told them politely that the Florida State got its school colors on the tags, then Florida A&M would be next, then Miami.

NEVERTHELESS, next year whenever a Seminole sees one of the blue and white plates, he will smile contentedly and well he should, for those dirty UF colors are not on the tags this year, and next year's will be red and gold.

Colors on license plates is only one small phase in the PSU fight to be recognized as an equal to the University of Florida. They want the two white state institutions went cord in 1947, the Tally gals and boys have screamed to be counted alone ode of their big brothers in Gainesville.

The state legislature and the state Board of Control has declared the two universities to be equal. But year after year when the budgets of the two are drawn up, UF is the one. Reasons for the sun shining more brightly in Gainesville are many, but one major factor is that many of the state legislators are graduates of the University of Florida and find it hard to sever old college ties.

SOMEDAY, FSU will be an equal to Florida, but unfortunately that day hasn't arrived yet. Like segregation, the days of the fight for state institution are coming to an end.

Florida State has begun to place much emphasis on football as a means to greater acceptance around the state. And again, someday they will have a good football team.

Now, the Seminoles are crying because they couldn't force Florida to meet their team on the gridiron. That was probably their biggest battle to date. They tried pressure in the state legislature, pressure on the Florida administration, and called for sympathy from the state citizens. If only the people of Florida State had used up some of that energy, time and money in showing the scholastic and social advantages of attending PSU, they would have accomplished more.

The Florida State propaganda machine is a big one. It functions with the smoothness of a Cadillac, the speed of a Jaguar and the versatility of a jeep. It takes more than propaganda to convince people of a university. It takes performance.

Let's face it, PSU is still primarily a girls school. The University stresses homemaking instead of engineering and social life instead of a top notch student government.

PSU wants an engineering school law college and medical school like the University of Florida's. And that is foolish.

Instead of trying to obtain additional colleges, and to duplicate services already offered here, PSU would do better to get some services not offered at Florida. Then Florida State could call itself an equal institution.

A university's grades are not judged on a winning football team (if it were, where would Florida stand?); it is not judged on the coed ratio (here, PSU would rank low). But it is judged by the state and nation on the dignity with which it carries itself. Colleges and universities are supposedly made up of strong adults, the best the state has to offer. An adult cannot gain respect by pouting and whimpering like a child whose big brother has gotten a pen car while the younger still rides a bicycle.

Flambeau Editor's Note: To quote our Coach, Tom Nugent: "As long as they're kicking from behind, we know we're out front."

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

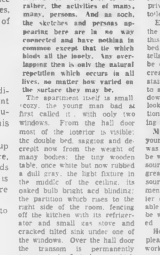
Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ..... Jean Mansfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers ..... Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Larry Keck, Roger Herndon, Steve Kidd
Campus Editors ..... Jerome Bernstein
Eleanor Kirby, Howard Hartley
MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager
Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ..... Betsy Voorhees
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue ..... George Goldstein
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York, 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Pat Marston, News Editor
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller
Sports Editor ..... Pierce Lehmbeck
Junior Staff ..... Pat Smith, Arlieda Ries, Bob Dollison, Bob McCann, Larry Meredith, Steve Kledj, Patty Anna
Circ. Editor ..... Charlet Poltevint

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown, Lois Friedman
Advertising staff—Virgil Austin, Leonard Koeth, Jean Patterson, Dick Hyatt
Telephone 2-806, extension 6621, 5621
211, 213 Longmire Building

Member Associated College Press

Adventures In Solitude



By DICK VICTORY

The sketcher which will appear here from week to week are not the complete and collected mental and physical activities of one person, but rather, the activities of many, many, persons. And as such, the sketches and persons appearing here are in no way connected and have nothing in common except that the writer blinds all the lonely, lazy overlapped lives in only the habitual repetition which occurs in all lives, no matter how varied on the surface they may be.

The apartment itself is small cozy. The front room had at first called it . with only two windows. From the hall door most of the interior is visible. the double bed, sagging and decrepit now from the weight of many bodies. the tiny wooden table, once white but now rubbed a dull gray. the high fixture in the middle of the ceiling. its naked bulb bright and blinding. the partition which rises to the right side of the room. fencing off the kitchen with its refrigerator and small cast stove and cracked tiled sink under the two the windows. Over the hall door the transom is permanently open. since fact by repeated swabbing of green paint on and around the hinge. Above all five apartment doors on the second floor the transoms are stuck, transforming from guards to vigilant interlopers sending and receiving the things we would rather not share.

THE LONE BATHROOM is down the hall. placed a fair distance from all the apartments. It too, is cursed by one of the sagging things, but amending

Letters To The Editor

Cheers And Tears

TO THE EDITOR:

Let's have 15 rahs for our cheer leaders.

Let's do it right, though. Let's shout those 15 rahs through a public address system that has a speaker cupped in the ear of their heads. And wind it up, by the way, with a loud, peremptory Rah.

As far as I'm concerned, the cheerleaders can stay, but their P. A. system has GOT to go. Either that, or make a few modifications on the gadget.

Don't get me wrong now. I'm all in favor of spirit. Touchdowns made by FSU, good hard tackles made by FSU, and long yards gained downfield blocking also made by FSU.

I'm not in favor, however of staging a public address speech in the fake British that one of those three minutes or so it will blast out with something like "Cmon, C'mmmon, makeembreak, makeembreak, phraseeeeek! good percy kicking, Boudreaux, if you're worried that the team won't hear you, turn the speakers around facing the field. They'll hear you.

Several times Saturday night, the thing seemed to be pretty well regulated. At each times, I noticed, Tom Waita was facing the field, with his back directly towards the microphone, with his hands cupped around his mouth. And every word he said came in loud and clear over the speaker, for rest of the time, it was mat loud.

Why can't they hang the speakers from the goalposts and P. A. system, on the light poles along with the speakers of the radio station system? Either that, or put the microphone as close to the cheer leader as possible and let Mr. Waita stand as near the players' bench as possible. Something along the line of a non-alcoholic Sunday morning headache. And if you're worried about volume, forget it. You DON'T have to worry about volume.

CLYDE WARD

A Frosh Speaks

TO THE EDITOR:

I do not agree with your editorial about freshmen not having the good old Seminole spirit. I think that freshmen have about the only people on campus who do have spirit.

I, and many more freshmen,

(Continued on Page 4)

The Visitor

Student Welfare Division Explained

(Editor's Note: Paul Ort, newly-appointed Secretary of Student Welfare, is the Florida Flambeau's guest columnist. He has provided a brief summary of the proposed work of this new department at the Student Body President's cabinet.)

By PAUL ORT

The latest thing in Florida State's student government program is the Division of Student Welfare. About twelve students will work on committees under the Secretary of Student Welfare, a newly-created cabinet position.

Because of its infant state, Student Welfare will take a while to get established and begin functioning. During this time of organization we would appreciate any questions, suggestions, or just ordinary gripes that you might have to offer.

To give the students a better idea of what some of our interests are for this year, here is a general outline of possible projects to be considered.

First of all, there will be standing committees for Veterans Affairs. These committees will be headed by and composed of people who are familiar with the problems they will confront.

But aside from the two problem areas (above), Student Welfare has no definite assignment. Any projects attempted other than Labor and Veteran's Affairs will depend on your cooperation—with information about what you think should be done to improve the Student's life here. Let it be made clear that Student Welfare is a research organization with little power. But if we are able to take the overall or majority opinion of the interested in improvements, our ability and capacity will possibly pack some pressure.

Otherwise, Student Welfare hopes to carry out some new ideas in the fields of relaxation and athletics.

What do you think of an inter-dormitory cultural chapel service every Sunday?

This program has met with very great success in some of the largest universities in the nation. Granted, there are many arguments pro and con, but it is not our hope to present those opinions. We prefer to hear your ideas on the subject. How about it?

The idea of fair athletic relations between PSU and the Gainesville Gators are far from forgotten, although they haven't hit the headlines lately. However, this isn't necessarily a football game we're speaking of, but all sports.

Last year, when the farmers to the South were put into competition with PSU athletics due to circumstances beyond their control, in almost every sport, we showed our capabilities by beating them.

Now, reader, if your interest is sufficiently aroused, what's your opinion? Don't wait until it's too late, when complaints will not be in order. Send your ideas to Student Welfare, Longmire, Campus Mail.

The Dissenter

On Brawls, Bottles And Bedlam

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Down on the field a desperate team had come to the goal-line awfully far one touchdown, then another, and yet a third.

In the stands, however, attention was focused not on the team's gallant comeback but on the latest brawl to break out within the crowd itself.

"This place smells like a bar," remarked one person. "Chivas Whiskey," added another.

Here and there several who were far from despondent over the loss were carried out by more sober friends.

As far as this writer is concerned, it's a person's privilege to drink whenever and wherever he pleases, but public drunkenness, spills liquor all over his neighbors, precipitates a fight in which the innocent bystander suffers more than the perpetrator is hurt, he has reached the point where someone else's freedom begins and his ends.

For several hours after the game the reports circulated: How one girl was hit on the leg, and almost on the head, by an empty whiskey bottle which fell into an exit ramp, how one Seminole spilled his beverage not only all over himself but all over the perfectly innocent girl sitting in front.

I saw at least three boys helped out, further gone than some of the football players who got befuddled by hard knocks instead of hard liquor.

"Anyone who hasn't been playing football has no right to be carried out of the stadium," quipped someone Sunday.

The problem isn't new. Last year there were actually some fights which the actors down on the field had no part in causing.

If something isn't done by Saturday when PSU students will fill one half of the East Stand and University of Georgia partisans the other, the wholesale guzzling which has been going on might produce something which could taint PSU out of major college competition right away.

For the benefit of a number who think rules are for other people, student guilty of disorderly conduct due to drinking is liable for suspension. Anyone who uses or possesses alcoholic beverages in the student portion of the stadium is liable to court action.

If we remember, Hans Tews has assemen's Senate will take up the problem Wednesday. Either, perhaps both of two drastic decisions will be made to have the campus police regularly eject anyone caught with alcohol in their possession and to mercilessly institute suspension proceedings against anyone who violates the many explicit rules against their use at games.

There is, as a matter of fact, no reason why people should guzzle with a vengeance at any athletic event. Even in major league baseparks, where beer is freely sold, such disgusting and embarrassing situations as we have seen Saturday night don't exist.

Versus

Peace Of Mind Or Else . . .

By CON HORN

It seems to be the thing these days (now that we no longer have Willy Mays) to become slightly hysterical over matters clerical.

which may account for the success of Oursler's platitudes

on the Beatitudes

and for the fact that in every theater that shower of "Inspirational Peter."

there could be heard in the first thirty or forty rows

a distant chorus of ah's and oh's, with a crash on Richard Todd.

It suddenly became a sin bordering on murder and seduction to criticize second-rate Hollywood production, merely because it happened to feature the life of a relatively famous preacher,

It would seem, viewing the reactions to this picture, that religion is trying to become a more permanent fixture.

If not, what else is behind the popularity of Peace of Mind?

What's causing the change from sex to sects?

Is Norman Vincent Peale from Sigmund Freud?

(for which the former should be overjoyed.

If not by the prospect of a change in royalties.)

* * *

Obviously our fair country, which for two generations has been pleasantly and successfully morally depraved, suddenly wants to be saved.

I'm just afraid that Oral Roberts and Billy Graham will soon be causing mayhem and that there will be gigantic righteous purges of all who harbor agnostic urges.

When viewed in this broad and frightening perspective, Peter's mild hysteria is enough to scare.

Wandering With Wiljohn

Parties, People And Progress

By WILJOHN

It looks at the moment as though Phi Mu Alpha, the men's music honorary, is going to keep its promise of more and better programs this year. Sunday afternoon, a party was given by the music fraternity. It was held in Longmire Lounge at 2:30 P.M and was jointly sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha and Sinfonia Alpha Iota, the women's music honorary. The program told of the purposes and aims of the organizations and some of the joint history. The group then presented a concert of the sublime to the ridiculous. It was one of the most enjoyable programs I've seen this year as a reporter. When this group gives its next program, I advise you to attend. It will probably be well worth your while.

* * *

I think it's time I released some noise about the new freshman cheerleader. Good old Wiljohn, like Peter, is a man for the people. Her name is Miss Judy Dekle (pronounced Dee-kel) and she hails from Atlanta, Georgia. Judy is a statuesque beauty, stands five foot, three and one-half inches going up; and she weighs one hundred seventeen pounds. This reporter attempts to get a complete coverage of the news:

Judy numbers piano, dancing, swimming and singing among her hobbies and ho. a deep interest in student politics. She confides that she may run for the Senate if her schedule and grades allow it. At the moment, she is busy majoring in Biology and she wants to teach in an elementary school when she graduates. Judy is very active in Grace Methodist Student's life here. Let it be made clear that Student Welfare is a research organization with little power. But if we are able to take the overall or majority opinion of the interested in improvements, our ability and capacity will possibly pack some pressure.

Otherwise, Student Welfare hopes to carry out some new ideas in the fields of relaxation and athletics.

What do you think of an inter-denominational chapel service every Sunday?

This program has met with very great success in some of the largest universities in the nation. Granted, there are many arguments pro and con, but it is not our hope to present those opinions. We prefer to hear your ideas on the subject. How about it?

The idea of fair athletic relations between PSU and the Gainesville Gators are far from forgotten, although they haven't hit the headlines lately. However, this isn't necessarily a football game we're speaking of, but all sports.

Last year, when the farmers to the South were put into competition with PSU athletics due to circumstances beyond their control, in almost every sport, we showed our capabilities by beating them.

Now, reader, if your interest is sufficiently aroused, what's your opinion? Don't wait until it's too late, when complaints will not be in order. Send your ideas to Student Welfare, Longmire, Campus Mail.

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

DOUBLE OUCH!

Chapter III, and double ouch!

We won the fourth quarter anyway. Guess its like we heard the fellow remark just after the game Saturday night—"You had your self a time, but you didn't play five innings." Seems as though he had his sports mixed up a bit, but he had the right idea

Nugent had nothing but praise for the Tribe after watching them go on the warpath in that final period.

"It would have been hard for anyone to have beaten them that night if they'd played that way the entire game," was his comment.

And that's about the way we feel.

Next week it's Georgia—Chapter IV. We're hoping that the Tribe can play their next three "innings" like that last one against VPI and round out the game total of four. If they do, the Bulldogs might have a bit of trouble romping around the reservation like they have these past few years. When the two clubs got together for their season openers last year, Georgia won the winner, 14-0.

Chapter IV—a sore seat and another "ouch!"—or a bewildered Bulldog!

We'll see.

LET'S LEND A HELPING HAND—

Now we'd like to get serious for a bit.

On November 19, Florida State University tops off its Homecoming celebration in Doak S Campbell Stadium with a football game. The Citadel is the opponent.

On the same date and at the same time, Florida A&M has a game scheduled across town with Southern University of Baton Rouge, La. It's scheduled for Bragg Stadium.

Those of you who have followed Florida A&M—the perennial national Negro football champions—know that last year this same Southern University met them in Baton Rouge and became the only team to mar their record—and by an outrageous score. That game has become a legend in Negro football circles.

The contest lasted well over three hours and A&M drew a tremendous yardage total in penalties against them. One quarter, some still insist, lasted approximately 22 minutes. A&M's losing this one by the score they did, and then coming back to win the national title in the Orange Blossom classic is an entirely horror story set people to talking. And what it all boiled down to was—"wait'll next year."

Next year is almost here. But here's the trouble.

Bragg Stadium has a 4,500 capacity. The A&M-Southern game will be THE game of football this year. It's expected to decide the national champion again. The A&M ticket office has received amazing requests for reserved tickets from every part of the country—some coming from as far away as the West Coast. Twenty-four buses will be coming from Baton Rouge alone. Southern University officials have requested a total of 4,000 reserve tickets for the game But, Bragg Stadium can hold only 4500.

This then, is the appeal we make

Let's offer Florida A&M the use of our stadium for the evening of November 19—after our game with the Citadel has been played at 2:30 in the afternoon. It'll be a football doubleheader, a thing that's became greatly popular around the country.

We allow the Rattlers to use the stadium for their home coming contest each year. Why not help them this time, too?

With the FSU Homecoming crowd in town along with the estimated influx for the A&M-Southern game, it couldn't be anything but beneficial for local interests. And we understand that A&M officials are prepared to make a pretty good bid to FSU for the stadium's use They think they could fill the stadium. So do we.

We believe—and sincerely so—that Florida State University is a great one. But the touch of greatness often is one of kindness.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
Today
"Long John Silver"
Robert Newton
Wednesday-Saturday
"It's Always Fair Weather"
Gene Kelly—Cyd Charisse
Dan Dailey

STATE
Today
"To Catch A Thief"
Grace Kelly—Cary Grant
Wednesday-Saturday
"Duel In The Sun"
Jennifer Jones
Gregory Peck

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
Today and Wednesday
"Country Girl"
Bing Crosby—Grace Kelly
William Holden
Thursday-Saturday
"The Mastersons of Kanas"
George Montgomery
AND Walt Disney's
"The Living Desert"

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Today and Wednesday
"All The Brothers Were Valiant"
Ann Blyth
Robert Taylor
Thursday-Saturday
"Stranger From Texas"
Charles Starrett
AND
"Sia Bridges To Cross"
Julie Adams
Tony Curtis

RITZ—TODAY & TOMORROW "AIDA"
Featuring Sophia Loren, Lois Maxwell and The Voices of Renata Tebaldi, Ebe Stignani, Gino Bechi

NEW LOCATION
109 E. CALL STREET
Across from Democrat Bldg.

Smith-Corona Electric Typewriters
Victor Automatic Calculators
SMITH-CORONA—ROYAL—OLIVETTI—UNDERWOOD
OLYMPIA PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
We lend you a machine free while we repair yours
Sales Repairs Rentals
WYATT'S BUSINESS MACHINES
2-1098 Call For and Delivery 2-1098

Heck, It's Tech; VPI Wins 24-20

Final Period Rally Falls Short As Tribe Loses Second Game

By ALAN WHITMARSH

The Virginia Tech Gobblers eyeballed on one of the most unusual breaks in football history to score early in the fourth quarter, then put down a sizzling last-ditch rally to defeat Florida State's fired-up Semmoles, 24-20, as a near-capacity Band Day crowd looked on in Campbell Stadium Saturday night.

Trailing 21-0 going into the final period, the Semmoles scored three lightning touchdowns in the fourth, fates refused to make them the victors. Trailing 21-7 tackle Bill Proctor attempted an onside kick for FSU, but missed the ball completely and the Gobblers were given possession on the Semmoles' 49.

Four plays later, Frank Wheeler booted a 23-yard field goal through the uprights to give VPI the eventual margin of victory in a bitterly contested fourth quarter.

The Semmoles could get only one offensive play completed in during the first three quarters and it appeared VPI might make it a runaway until halfback Bill Odom put FSU in scoring position with a 37-yard dash to the Gobblers' 6 early in the final period.

JOE HOLT, Semmole defensive linebacker looks as if he's running interference here for VPI quarterback Cranwell in Saturday night's game. But Joe will tell you differently. Holt and Leo Baggett (50) caught Cranwell after the VPI back gained 12 yards.

Odom's run was set up by a 15-yard penalty against the Gobblers for roughing the kicker. Two plays later Pinto Peebles hit Odom with a 15-yard pass to the Gobbler 6 and Odom made it first down on the next play.

Three plays later, Pinto sneaked over and Fell was on the way back On the ensuing kickoff Proctor missed the onside kick and VPI got their margin of victory but with the count 24-7 against his team Odom electrified the crowd by taking the kickoff at the goal line and going to a score. It was a brand new game at 24-16

The determined men of Nugent stopped VPI cold after the kickoff and took over on a punt on their own 41. With some sparkling ball-carrying by Lee Corso leading the way, the Tribe moved 59 yards to score again, Corso gonna the last four for the TD.

There was only two minutes left at this point, and VPI held the ball desperately to preserve their hard-earned triumph.

The Gobblers showed at will during most of the first half, but a pass interception by Corso, this third of the year, stopped one drive at the FSU 15, and numerous fumbles prevented other scoring opportunities. The first VPI score came when quarterback Leo Baggett hit a pass on the option play late in the second period.

After that, the Semmoles got their first move of the half underway as Len Dawson led them to the VPI 15. But the next aerial which Swanlund launched was hauled in by Tech center Jack Prater, and he lumbered 72 yards for the FSU 17 before Joe Holt nailed him from behind.

Gobbler halfback Bob Scruggs carried to the three and Dick Beard took it over from there to make it 14-0 at the intermission. In the third period, a 27 yard pass completion from quarterback Dick Cranwell set up Tribe touchdown completed with Scruggs going 6 for the tally.

But Alan the Semmoles began the road back and except for a once-in-a-lifetime break handed the Gobblers, they might have made it

Statistically, the visitors ran things, but the Seminole passing attack showed its best this year, as Tribe quarterbacks completed 12 of 16 heaves for 123 yards, with only one interception.

It looked for a time as if the Gobblers would have things all their own way, but they didn't count on the fighting hearts of a fired-up band of Semmoles who never quit and don't know how to say "give up."

Golf Team Has New Members

Florida State University's golf team, which won ten and lost only one last year will be bolstered by a fine crop of newcomers.

New to FSU this year are Edwin Jenkins, Jacksonville city champ, Ross Carino, former New York junior star from New Rochelle, Bob Shaver from Wilsonville, Ohio; Sherrell Johnson, Linton, Indiana club champ; Rem Mabry, runner-up in the Alabama state high school championship; Ed Fryer of Hendersonville, North Carolina and Roy McCollum of Atlanta, Georgia.

Two lettermen will become eligible this year are Chris Barnhardt, former member of the University of Alabama links team, and Harry Shoemaker, a Jeffandened ex-service star from Chattanooga, Tennessee Dentzville this year is Frank Gasquino a transfer from Davis and Elkins College. Gasquino is a former West Virginia interscholastic champ who more recently played on the Second Army golf team.

Five of six lettermen from last year are returning. They are John Berry, Jack Vergie, Bob Dunn, Bob Shuman, and David Morris. Other players returning are Dick Huff, Mel Fleischer, Dink Woe, Billy Shelton, and Jim Webb.

Intramurals In Second Week

The second week of the men's basketball intramural play begins already to ripen into some juicy play. With few exceptions teams in both frat and dorm leagues are so evenly matched that "anything can happen."

Last Thursday it did!

A whoop-dang of a game saw Sigma Nu and Kappa Alpha stage one of the closest, best-played games ever staged. Both teams played a finally set defense, and play was hard, fast and clean. At no point did more than 3 points separate the teams Sigma Nu led 9-6 at the quarter, 17-16 at the half, 25-20 at three-quarters, and it was Kappa Alpha at the finish 30-27 The die from respective backers was copious at all points Wilks, Fell and Copps got all but 4 points for the winners, with Kenny, Benner, Cullahan and Perkins hitting for SN The losers sunk only 3 14 for 42 throws

Phi Delta Theta beat Sigma Chi 37-27 in the closing minutes, as it was 13-13 at the half, and 25-19 at three-quarters Hempel, Ier led in the scorers.

After leading 18-16 at the half, Sigma Phi Epsilon went down to defeat as Tau Kappa Epsilon won Williams getting 20 points.

A big first half lead of 31-13 let Pi Kappa Phi beat Sigma Alpha Epsilon 51-41 in spite of Johnson's 20 points for SAE. Miller led for the winners.

Pi Kappa Alpha had little trouble with Kappa Sigma, winning 43-13.

In the dorm independent league Gamma Phi Beta won their first 22-13 lead in the first half to beat the Methodists 28-22. The Pirates of Tucker Hall 31-44, Adams and Clendinen leading the point-getters for the winners and Jack Hamm and Rife had 14 each for the losers.

Magnolia Hall beat the Rebels 24-22. The International Club withdrew when the Internities made a raid on their players, so defaulted to B S U

Intramural basketball schedule, week ending Oct. 15:

Tuesday, Oct. 11:

5 p m —PKP vs. SAE
8 p.m.—ATO vs. DTD.
7 p.m.—LCA vs. KPE.
8 p.m.—KS vs. TC.

Wednesday, Oct. 12:

5.30 p.m.—Magnolia vs. Pirates.
7:30 p.m.—Penthouse vs. New Hall.
6.30 p.m.—Baptist vs. Senior Hall.
8 30 p.m.—Methodist vs. Rebels.

Thursday, Oct. 13:

5 p.m.—TKP vs. KA.
6 p.m —PKT vs. DTD.
7 p.m.—SC vs. SN.
8 p.m—PKP vs. ATO.

New Course Built For Golf Classes

Something new in golf courses has been added to the Florida State University physical education program.

A unique "pitch and putt" course, recently completed near FSU's football home — Doak Campbell Stadium — fills a definite need to FSU golf instruction.

Under construction since the Fall of 1954, the new course will provide a place not only for students but for faculty after hours.

The nine-hole course was developed and planned under the supervision of Mr. Henry Marth, FSU's grounds and maintenance supervision Par is 32 for the course, which includes some par four holes.

FSU's physical education program offers one hour credit to students taking classes in golf on the new layout.

The course has been built primarily for instructional purposes, and this semester more than 100 students are enrolled in the classes.

Oler To Pace FSU Hoopsters

Returning for his final year in FSU basketball is the leading scorer in the state, guard Jimmy Oler. The 5'9" guard dropped 549 points through the hoop for an average of 21.1 per game last year.

Jim's individual records here include the most free throws in one game, 221 made or thrown during a career, 451, and most free throws in a single game 21, The latter came in a game against Rollins when Jim scored 36 points.

This diminutive guard hails from Kenmony, Ind, and attended a high school comprised of 65 students He led his team to the county championship his senior year. the only time his school was accorded that honor.

In 1953 Jim came to FSU on a basketball scholarship. At that time freshmen were allowed to play varsity ball and Jim wound up the 20 game season with a total of 194 points.

At the end of last seasons play Jim was placed on the first team of the Florida Intercollegiate Basketball Conference along with Ham Wernke, this year's freshman coach.

Although practice hasn't started as yet, Jim feels this years' team will be a good one, with the North Carolina State game the toughest on the schedule.

"I've never played on a losing team yet, and I don't want to start now," he comments.

Classified

FOR SALE—'51 Chev. convertible. Very good condition. Good tires. Very clean. Only $600. Write FSU Box 3122.

Records
Phonographs
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

FSU's Gymkana Show Opens Annual Stand Here Nov. 7

By LARRY BLOCK

One of the outstanding productions of the semester is set for the Florida State University campus November 7 through 12.

Dr Hartley Price has his traditional champion gymnastics squad going through their paces in preparation for the annual Gymkana show.

Many of the outstanding performers are Don Holder of Jersey City, Jerry Merrill, 1952 Olympic Team and the 1953 National AAU Club champ, Chick Cinco of Jacksonville, National Turnverine Champ, Fred Orlofsky, from South Bergen, N. J. Ronnie Amster, Chicago; Don Rosansky, Brooklyn; George Mariner, New Orleans, Bob Tomanek and Fred Ludwig of Omaha, Neb ; Dave Webb, of Hamilton, Ohio; Charles Christian, Atlanta, Ga., and Jerry Jordan, Miami.

Outstanding among the girls are Beverly Cude, all round champ of Canada from Noranda, Quebec and Barbara Nesselrod of Winetka, Ill Barbara is a protege of Joe Giallombardo, one of Harry Price's all-time greats of gymnastics at the U. of Illinois.

Other girls include Barbara Vickers, general woman's chairman, from Ft. Pierce, Lorna Cecil, Miami; Rosemary Hollander, from Jacksonville, Judy McCoy, of Orlando. Barbara Murray, Boston, Mass and Barbara Rybaski, of Ft Pierce

Added to this year's team is Marslov Cvaa from Berlin, Germany He is the Current All Around Champion of Berlin.

FSU is the national defending Gymnastics champion with five nation tram championships, and over 225 individual championships. All members have returned except Dick Ireland who is doing graduate work at Illinois, and Bob Sharp. Bob was killed in an automobile accident this past summer

The chairmen for this year's production are Jamille Ashmore and Rafael Lecuona who was captain of the 1948 and 1952 Cuban Olympic teams

The tryouts for the Miss Gymkana Court of Honor will take place on Wed Oct. 19. Miss Gymkana will be chosen on either Nov. 9th or 16th Each contestant will be required to make her own costume with the winner chosen for her costume design, beauty, poise, charm and cooperation.

This year's show entitled "La-tino" will apolitte Latin America. It will feature gauchos, matadores, toreadors, charros, and lovely senoritas dressed in beautiful costumes of vivid colors and performing exciting dances. One of the specialties of this eighth annual Gymkana will be Bob Murray of Boston performing a bull fighter's dance.

Not only must the performers be fine gymnasts, but must double as singers and dancers as well. Doing his share of the singing in this production will be Chick Cicio. Chick, who is from the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, has had quite a lot of singing experience. He has performed at the Waldorf Astoria, Madison Square Garden, Carnegie Hall, and various night clubs throughout the country.

Show time will be about 8 p.m. and run approximately 2 hours. Over 200 personnel will be used in this exceptionally colorful performance.

According to Coach Hartley Price " This might be the best show I have had in my career, including Illinois It will certainly be the best we have had at FSU."

In Grecian Times

Greek Activity Mounts

By Staff Writer

Classes are in full swing but excitement still reigns supreme at the Greek houses.

The Pi Phi's started off the year by having an open house in honor of their new pledges.

Six more active wearers of the wine and silver blue were initiated last Saturday morning. They are Maggie Marsh, Jane Davis, Sherry Cobb, Barbara Hoxan, Hazel Jackson, and Becky Glass.

Dodgers?

The Dodgers may have captured the baseball crown last week but who will be the victors this Saturday? Everyone is invited to see the Pi Phi girls walloop the FSU faculty in the first annual World Serious softball game. The game will be held at 1 p.m. on the soccer field and donations will go to the Campus Chest. Brooklyn has nothing on them, so don't miss it!

Tri-Deli

Tri-Deli pledges are trying to keep pace with their more experienced actives. On the agenda for the past week was a wiener roast and group church attendance. Sunday, a pledge banquet, a song fest, an ice cream freezing party with the Sigma Chi's, fall officers last week. They are Jim Moore, president, Tom Ehrhardt, vice-president; Jim Webb, secretary; Buzz Strandhagen, treasurer, and Harvey Hall, warden.

Campus Chest

Projects for the Campus Chest are now in swing and there are many original ideas enticing students to donate.

The Kappa Deltas will hold a home-made Southern Supper this Thursday in the back yard of their house, located at 318 S. Copeland.

Supper will be served at 5 p.m. and again at 6:30 p.m., and the price is 75 cents.

There will be entertainment, and everyone is invited to purchase their ticket from any KD member.

Chi O's

The Chi O's led by Astor Douglas, campus chest chairman, donned their old blue jeans last Saturday for a day of washing cars at other Greek houses. SAE were invited to a Chinese party held Friday night.

For their project, the Pi Kappa Phi's and the Delta Gammas are sponsoring the Joe College, Betty Co-ed contest.

Cake Walk

Cake lovers, tomorrow night is your golden opportunity! At 8 p.m. the Zetas are holding their annual Cake Walk around the Westcott pool. It's for the Campus Chest, too.

Chivalry is not dead! Just ask the lucky gals who have been waited on hand and foot by hopeful Sigma Nu initiates. The pledges were on duty in the cafeteria this week carrying ladies' trays, and they served as doormen for various sorority houses.

Miss Elizabeth Lynn was guest speaker at a Pledge Banquet given recently by the Zetas to honor their new pledges.

Phi Delts

The Phi Delta Thetas elected

STATE BAKERY and DELICATESSEN

The South's Most Unusual ONE STOP FOOD SHOP

WE HAVE SOMETHING FROM EVERY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD

"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"

Sunday Dinner at the MECCA

Baked Young Turkey and Dressing 75c

Southern Fried Chicken 75c

Baked Ham with Pineapple 70c

All served with choice of three vegetables, plus hot rolls and butter.

Quality Dry Cleaners

For Expert

CLEANING REPAIRING

PRESSING ALTERING

CALL OR GO BY

2-5097 215 W. College

The Florida Times-Union

A Complete Newspaper

Only Way to Get ALL the SPORTS NEWS!

ALL the Thrills of the Big Games are Yours in Our Sports Section.

● THE FULL STORY of each day's exciting events in the baseball world is yours in the Sports Pages of this newspaper.

You ENJOY standout sports reporting, as you read the colorful accounts of each game! You SEE the most spectacular plays, in close-up camera shots. You THRILL to exclusive stories about popular players by famous sports writers! You KNOW the complete scores, standings, averages and inside dope about your favorite teams and stars! And you GET swift news coverage of the entire sports world every day! ONLY your daily newspaper can give you ALL THAT!

What's more, it enables you to keep pace with ALL the latest news of local, national and foreign affairs—as well as enjoy a daily all-star line-up of entertaining columnists, features and comics! So, if a carrier is not serving you now, better phone us to start delivery of the paper that has ALL the news.

For Home or Dormitory Delivery PHONE 3-0421

Weight Lifters To Organize At Meet

Like to lift wetehts? Prospective members of the Barbell Club meet tonight at 10 p.m. in West Hall's main lounge.

The club is just getting organized on campus and anyone interested in weight lifting or exercising is eligible to attend.

Eventually the club plans to obtain a gym and set up a team for the state lifting champion-ship contest at Tampa and the title "Mr. Florida" contest.

FSU CAPERS

(Flambeau Cartoon by Mike Brady)

"Nobody in particular, mam, just browsin'".

Epsilon Chi Convenes Here For Two Days

A two-day conference sponsored by Epsilon Chi, professional campus organization affiliated with the National Council of Teachers of English, will be held here tomorrow and Thursday.

Students and faculty members from Florida, Georgia, and Alabama colleges are invited to participate.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Luella B Cook, president-elect of the National Council of Teachers of English.

The conference opens with a general session in Opperman Hall on Thursday at 7 p.m.

Presiding will be Margaret Malloy, president of Epsilon Chi. Mrs. Cook's topic at this time will be "Language Arts for Today's Youth."

A second talk by the national president-elect entitled "We Meet Our Students" is scheduled for Friday at 8 a.m. at which time Carolyn Redfern vice-president of Epsilon Chi will preside.

Following the general session in Longmire Auditorium will be two areas of group discussions at 10:30 p.m. and 1 p.m.

Consultants for the discussion include Mrs. Ruth White, Mrs. Eunice Johnson, Mr. Steven Dunning, Mr. Lewis DeLaura, Mrs. Marjorie Miller, Miss Helen Deans, Miss Elizabeth Thomson, Mrs. Maxine Putnam, Miss Cleo Rainwater, Mrs. Sara Snyder, Mrs. Nelda Alderman, Miss Juanita DeVette, Drs. Mary Witt Edna Parker, Nellie Hunt, David Strickler, Dwight Burton, Joan Carey, Hazel Stevenson, Harold Covell, and Reid Montgomery.

Students who will serve as chairmen will be Mary McLeod, Joan Cunningham, Betty Jean Nichols, Earl Carroll, Deane Jackson, Barbara Lewis, Mary Alice Newton, Nancy Graham, Caroline Sherman, Dona Hull and Marjorie Marjenhoff.

Other chairmen of committees include Sam Alderman, Carolyn Redfern, and Doris Ishle.

Closing the conference will be the banquet in the Suwannee Room at 6 p.m. Betty Jean Nichols, chairman of the program committee, will preside and brief messages will be heard from the president of Epsilon Chi, the editor of The English Journal, and the president-elect of the National Council.

Tarpon Tryouts Slated Tonight

Tarpon Club holds final tryouts tonight for girls whose last names start with "A" through "M".

For girls with last names "N" through "Z" tryouts are scheduled for tomorrow night with finals to be on Thursday night from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m.

As there is no set number of girls taken, membership depends entirely upon adaptability and swimming ability. Those finalists who make Tarpon are referred to as "Minnows" until they first appear in a show, then they become full-fledged members of Tarpon.

The club practices once a week with one goal in mind — the annual water show, which this spring will be on February 29, March 1, 2 and 3.

A Frosh Speaks

(Continued from Page 3)

looked forward to wearing the dreaded "rat cape" and reciting the "boner pledge and such for upperclassmen. You will have to admit that almost every freshman was wearing a "rat cap" for the first two weeks.

This was supposed to be a two way deal and the upperclassmen backed down. We were willing to do our share in making freshman rat caps a tradition at FSU, but we sure didn't get any help.

Another thing that could be changed is the length of time that we are supposed to wear our caps. Two weeks would be long enough for us to wear the caps. The longer we are required to wear the caps the less effective the system will be.

I would like to compliment the Rat Court on their selection of penalties. They have made very sensible decisions and have not hurt or embarrassed anyone with foolish punishment.

A FRESHMAN

ATTENTION MUSICAL MEN

All men interested in barbershop quartet singing tonight have been invited to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Lounge of the Longmire Building.

The purpose of this meeting will be to discuss the probabilities of organizing on this campus a chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America, Inc., otherwise known as SPEBSQSA, Inc.

The skimmer in 27 colors

$8.20

Fancy one a Cupcake! 5-year bal. $49.00 Gold cut. $17.75 Brown or black and un-assorted pastels, $17.50. Prices postpaid. Sizes 3 to 11. Send for new catalog.

FRENCH BOOT SHOP

Dept. 17-A 444 4th Ave. New York, New York

KID: red, tan, navy, black, brown, green, purple, yellow, copper, blue, white

SUEDE: grey, gun, black, brown, russet

FLANNEL: grey, brown

STRAW: natural

VELVET: red, black

LINEN: white

SATIN: white

CATENT: black

PLAID: Black (Black) White)

BROCADE: white, silver

More Power

Bloody Bob Says He Has Something New For Frosh

By OSCAR JOHNSON

The second Rat Court meeting of the year has been set for tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Music Amphitheater, and "Bloody" Bob Simmons has promised "more organized procedure."

This meeting, said Chief Justice Simmons, will "make Torquemada chief of the Spanish Inquisition and Cotton Mather the Hanging Judge look like rank novices."

"Bloody" Bob declined to reveal exactly what he had in mind, but he made vague reference to some provision in the student constitution which would allow the Rat Court to have more power in enforcing its dictates. "We're working on something," he declared yesterday, "that will give us legal power to do as we wish."

Evidently lamenting the fact that he faces an almost certain flunkur in Westcott Fountain when the "rat" period is over, Bloody Bob declared solemnly: "I want these Freshmen to know that they're not dealing with a bunch of pikers. When the Rat Court says something, it means business."

Asked what sort of punishment was given out at the first meeting, Tuesday of last week, Bob said most of it consisted of "carrying around signs advertising the English Coffee House."

Peaved

"We got kind of peaved at one Freshman, though," he continued, "and told her to count the number of fish in Westcott Fountain and report back to the Rat Court on their size, colors and like that."

Asked what he thought of the Freshman response so far, Bloody Bob said it was "disappointing." He added that the Freshman Class "tends to be an unruly bunch" and should give more careful consideration to furthering the goals of the "rat" period.

Explains 'Unruly'

"By 'unruly,'" he explained, "I mean they just don't seem to get right. Naturally, the upperclassmen don't hold their eccentricities against them. We're just trying to straighten them out."

No Comment

Bob, who takes a serious attitude toward the Rat Court, does not appear too worried over the prospect of his dunk in the fountain. Whenever the subject is brought up he merely smiles and says casually, "We'll see about that when the day comes." One of the "Rat" period traditions is that members of Rat Court and Sophomore Class officers are thrown into Westcott Fountain by the Seminoles. Size of the task becomes clear when it is noted that Bloody Bob, 6'6", weighs in at over 200 pounds, and Sophomore President Bill Cullum, was football player last year.

No Comment

As far as Bob's ambition does not appear too worried over the prospect of his dunk in the fountain. Whenever the subject is brought up he merely smiles and says casually, "We'll see about that when the day comes." One of the "Rat" period traditions is that members of Rat Court and Sophomore Class officers are thrown into Westcott Fountain by the Seminoles. Size of the task becomes clear when it is noted that Bloody Bob, 6'6", weighs in at over 200 pounds, and Sophomore President Bill Cullum, was football player last year.

GO SEMINOLES GO TO Malone's Book Store FOR ALL YOUR NEEDS

STATIONERY—POCKETBOOKS

T and SWEAT SHIRTS

ART SUPPLIES

SUNDRIES

FOR ALL YOUR DAILY NEEDS BETWEEN MECCA AND KAHLERS

M & N CAFE

119 E. JEFFERSON

7 Days A Week

Filet Mignon $1.00

Tuesday

Whole Fried Jumbo Shrimp ..... $.85

with French Fries, Chef Salad

Thursday

Whole Broiled Lobster $1.00

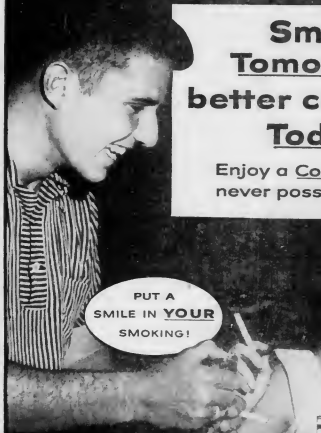
Friday

Seafood Platter $1.00

(Trout, Fried Shrimp, Deviled Crabs, and Oysters)

DELICIOUS!

DIAMONDS & WATCHES Gifts ... All Kinds



PAUL TURNER JEWELER

Complete Repair Service

103 S. Monroe St. Ph. 3-1442

Smoke Tomorrow's better cigarette* Today—

Enjoy a Cool Mildness never possible before!

PUT A SMILE IN YOUR SMOKING!

*Chesterfield BEST FOR YOU!

Chesterfield KING-SIZ CADET

MADE WITH AccuRay

Grad Class Slates 1st Function Thursday

The Graduate class of Florida State University is hastening to find in a series of afternoon social hours Thursday at 4:30 in the large lounge of the Longmire building.

The guest of honor and speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Dook S. Campbell, University President, who will speak on the subject, "Graduate opportunities in Florida."

All graduate and "mature" students are urged to attend, stated Ben Gerhard, spokesman for the group.

An Open Letter—No Strings Attached, Says Lehmbeck

FROM THE SIDELINES

...of Nov. Due to considerable interest aroused by the "From The ...sports column in Tuesday's edition, part of today's column was shifted to page one.)

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
Flambeau Sports Editor

...more particularly to Dr. Gore, President of ...ia A&M University.

...Our emotions have been many and varied since we ...met earlier in the week to word a sincere sug...e. The speed with which those few statements ...e picked up and disseminated has scared us at times. ...Some of their being spread they were often misquoted—the results being the embarrassment of some individuals involved.

These are not the results we hoped our appeal would bring.

You, Dr. Gore, said this week that you were afraid some might have thought your University had been behind our appeal. It put you in a very embarrassing position.

Then, may we clarify your position.

When we suggested in the Tuesday edition that A&M be extended the use of Doak S. Campbell stadium for the evening of November 19, we did so without being prompted by any source. We made the suggestion in the same sincere manner with which we hoped A&M and FSU officials would receive it.

But somewhere along the line, that sincerity was sidetracked. It was not, however, sidetracked by any of the individuals directly involved. But, rather, by the rumors which forever seem to accompany any honest effort.

We have received nothing but complimentary comments from those directly connected with Florida State University. If there have been any derogatory remarks, then they have not been made known. And from what we've heard, the majority of the townspeople are for having the game played in Campbell stadium.

Florida A&M officials have explained their University's position. Due to press commitments and arrangements, it would be unwise for the change to be made. We only regret any inconveniences which might have arisen from the matter.

Here then may we leave the issue.

And in doing so we hope that it be understood. That there will never be any strings attached to the From The Sidelines column. Not as long as we're here. We shall—as we have from the beginning—remain only the dictates of our conscience.

May that suffice.

(From Sidelines—Continued on Page 5)

Florida's Only Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

20,000 Expected For Georgia Game See Sports Page

XLII, No. 8 — Published By The Students Of Florida State University — Friday, October 14, 1955

oore Vetoes, enate Defeats ll On Posters

By HOWARD HARTLEY

...Senate killed a bill ...oday prohibiting the al- ...of campaign posters to ...lamps, telephone poles or ... and outlawing the use ...or glue.

...ad previously voted to ...Bill 10-5, but Corky ...Student Body President, ...he bill and sent it back ...

...was stated that considerable ...ort had been ex- ...a survey which pro- ...ly last legislation on this ...and that it did not seem ...change the regulations ...a short time.

Little Space

...also noted that there is a ...ly present to restrict ...ossible for campaign- ...and that the time may ...when there will be little ...son for such material- ...before that any modi- ...mission in this direction ...mmental to the best ...of the student body.

...ators should have an ...opportunity to advo- ...omments so that the ...ow may vote intelli- ...Moore concluded.

Uses Teams

...ivertising on the poll ...ve not used such teams". ...ve massive trail of ...ing youthful ...ion was the allegedly pol- ...ers on our fair campus ...roduced by Senator ...ator who was alarmed ...ge-sized cards on the ...ees the hue and cry was ...ly," Senator Lee Cre- ...Student Services and ...Committee, who fol- ...ge and some good a ...ator Wednesday at the ...ate Senate Meeting.

...ding to the Business Of- ...ee even students are per- ...to gather mats in quanti- ...ed, the senator re- ...ge passage in jest, that he ...ld a campus police ...ld squirrels who dared ca... on the precious mats." ...as no' been verified

enators Okay ree Choices

...ator Senate confirmed ...the appointments of ...Cloverfield, Herbert ...and Harold Stewart to ...n Student Government. ...Coordinates selected by ...Student Body president ...re considered by Jimmy ...Executive and Appoint- ...Committee and given a ...rable recommendation.

...ard was continued ...Secretary of Finance in ...of funds; Arnold Green ...and Herbert Lacava were ...ed as Assistants Attor- ...ral.

...Mr. Mosser was declared in ...for the position of As- ...Attorney General by Solon ...ce Millner lacked the ...y academic requirements.

Extra Boards or Campaign osters Given

...Vice-President of ...announced Wednes- ...ge bulletin boards ...placed in front of each of ...ation women's dorms to ...space for campaign post- ...the forthcoming fresh elec- ...

...pointed out that space ...on a "first come first ...basis in other words ...candidates who get there ...will be able to avail them- ...of the space, and those ...late will just have to ...ompetitive else to put their ...

...Vice-president added that ...boards in the women's ...would also be available. ...dditional bulletin board ...be placed near the History ...

Flambeau Photo by Tom Sawyer

Naughty—Among the students presenting acts at the Sigma Kappa Variety show Tuesday were Al Days and Liz Ann Cole, above. Picture of entrants by the winning fraternity and sorority are on page 4

DTD, KD Win Top Prizes At Variety Show Tuesday

Hydrogen Bomb Is Debate Topic

"The Hydrogen Bomb is the worst of man's many mistakes."

This is the question to be debated when Florida State University meets Cambridge University in the Seventh Annual International Debate to be held on November 29.

Any graduate or undergraduate student with previous debate or public speaking experience is eligible to try-out for the FSU team. Try-outs will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock October 20, or by special arrangement. Anyone interested

(Continued on Page 4)

By CHARLET POITEVINT

Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Delta copped first prize honors in the Sigma Kappa Variety Show Tuesday night.

Nancy Bledsoe, variety show chairman, presented the trophies to the winning fraternity and sorority whose acts consisted of a Charlie Chaplin dance by Dick Pickett and Eddie Franklin, and a singing' hick band, respectively.

Nets $200

In spite of technical difficulties, the show came off successfully, netting over $200 for the Sigma Kappa's Campus Chest fund according to Miss Bledsoe.

Honorable mention for sorority competition went to the Phi Mu's whose "grand opera" version of Romeo and Juliet made a hit with the audience.

Skits were in the majority of the acts, among which was

(Continued on Page 4)

Campus Police To Patrol Game

Unless students themselves handle those who become disorderly at football games due to intoxication, the campus police will arrest offenders, Men's Senate warned Wednesday.

Meeting for brief session after Student Senate adjourned, the male salons adopted a resolution to that effect after Vice-President Jimmy Tews said such is the policy of the university administration.

Senator Fred Mansfield set the tone for the meeting when he declared, "I feel for those poor people who are there to watch the game."

Senator Karl Edwards moved the Men's Senate go on record as asking the student body's cooperation in quelling drunken disturbances so that the police won't have to step in.

After Edwards motion was passed, Vice-President Tews admitted he is "still worried about

(Continued on Page 4)

Fire Breaks Out At Magnolia Hall

By HOWARD HARTLEY

Acrid fumes from a small storeroom fire forced ninety residents of Magnolia Hall out of their rooms into the chilly morning air early Thursday.

Earl McDermott Jr., who reported the blaze to the Tallahassee Fire Department, told this reporter that he awakened about 5 a.m. by a "crackling noise" which he at first mistook for some student going down the hall in wooden clogs.

When the noise persisted, he got up and investigated. He found flames curling along the ceiling above the storeroom wall, and immediately placed a call to the Fire Department.

Power Off

Electric power had been turned off since midnight, so he was unable to pull the local fire alarm placed there to warn residents.

The alarm was raised by word of mouth however, and soon students were stumbling down the blacked-out corridors and into the night. The fumes from burning insulation and electrical circuits in the storehouse wall were overpowering Smoke billowed out the rear entrance to Magnolia.

Trucks Arrive

Fire trucks from three Tallahassee stations soon arrived on the scene, and firemen trundled hoses into the lower corridor. About four pumpers and one hook and ladder crew were on hand. One fireman tore away the wallboard to expose the blaze and the fire was out.

In the meantime, the ground floor of Magnolia Hall's interior was swelling in the streets. Recovering from their momentary surprise, one group tried to promote a panty raid on Florida Hall, but the project had to be abandoned when they received no support from the other prospective residents. One resident made quite a sala event out of the fire by donning a long conical hat with a flashing red bulbon the peak, and making like a fire engine.

Investigation

Once the blaze was under control, Fire Chief Earl Levy investigated the scene to determine the origin of the blaze.

(Continued on Page 4)

Party Planning Service Offered Free To Students

Want to give a party?

The recreation department, headed by Doctor William Tait, offers a party and recreation planning service. This is open not only to Florida State University students but to residents of Tallahassee as well.

"If you have trouble trying to plan a party, this service is available at absolutely no charge," emphasized Tom Sawyer, a student in Recreation Education.

Although the service is made up mostly of students majoring in Recreation Education, people with show talent are needed for the various activities. Anyone interested is asked to contact Dr. Tait at 3011.

"Few students seem to realize that the committee is a veritable gold mine right at their beck," concluded Sawyer.

Huge Rally Planned Tonight At Westcott

New Members Now Total 126 At Circus Lot

"Flying Hitch," Florida State University's Circus, has announced the addition of 126 new members.

In the spotlight this year will be aerialists Faye Moses and Charlie Matthews, performing a French type trapeze act with "roll outs" and "double toe" catches; an act by Marlene Pittman, Eleanor Long, and Rod Smith featuring a novelty stunt with Rod supporting the weight of both girls with his teeth, while hanging upside down by his jaws. Both girls, of course, will be hanging by their teeth at the same time.

Sue Herndon, a four year veteran in the show, will do a balancing act, performing many of the feats seen in the same type of act in the motion picture "The Greatest Show on Earth."

Dutch Martin and Gale Porter co-star with Janet Craft in a break away act with Miss Graff being caught by her ankles after a 20 ft. plunge. Miss Craft appears in a high flying trapeze act.

Rondo Montgomery and John Mabee will perform a very difficult "double casting" act which will include forward somersaults and full twisting pirouettes.

Thirteen dates have been set so far for the show. With tentative premiere on Dec. 27, in Jennie Murphy Auditorium, the group will move throughout Alabama, Georgia, Florida, and North Carolina.

Students who have been selected to fill the 93 returning members of the circus will include:

Lanier Allen, Roddy Andrews, Wood Beeson, Roger Barry, Dwight Brown, Charles Burns, John Calhoun, Lavern Cox, Jerry Cox, Jimmy Dyers, Lee Edwards, Jerry Garrard, Barney James Haywood, Paul Jones, Harold Kriger, Ralph Manor, James Parks.

Lloyd Rojas, Jimmy Reese, Jack Rhodes, Bobby Smith, Donald Thomas, Kenneth Watkins, Harry Wilson, Bobby White, David Balasky.

Barbara Bedgood, Joe Martinasi, Charlie Bennett, Jack Bennett, Rita Boyd, Pete Bennett, Fran Neeley, Jack Neeley, Jerry O'Neal.

Sue Ann Pittman, Jeanne Rogers, Suzanne Lally, Sally Glenn, Gloria Gleason, Jeanne Gleason, Estelle Carlene Herrington, Gail Watkins, Jerry Watkins.

Cora Ann Manning, Joanne Thompson, Ann Thompson, Jerry Thompson, Jerry Wilson, Jerry Wilson, Sharon Rogers, Bonnie Boone, Richard Boone, Connie Head.

Flambeau Photo Tom Sawyer

DR. LIDDELL

Liddell Speaks Today At Coffee Hour, 4 PM

The third English Coffee Hour will present a talk by Dr. Anna Forbes Liddell, Florida State University professor of philosophy.

In the Westminster House at 4 this afternoon the former head of the philosophy department will speak informally on "The Charm of Hortense", or the art of being a person.

In this case, Dr. Liddell explains that "Hortense" is a fanciful personality having what everyone could have, but few do.

1926

When the doctor first came to FSU in 1926, from her home in North Carolina, she composed the whole of the philosophy department.

Dr. Liddell has traveled, studied and lectured extensively in this country and Europe. She did her undergraduate work at the University of North Carolina, earned her master, a at Cornell, and later

(Continued on Page 4)

Campus Chest Meeting Slated

A representatives from each sorority, fraternity, and dorm will meet with the Campus Chest Committee Monday in the small lounge of Longmire at 5 p.m.

The purpose of this get-together is to meet James Gleason, regional representative from World University Service, which received fifty per cent of last year's chest proceeds, officers said.

Gleason will talk on where the money collected for the Chest goes, and what the program of the World University Service is. He will also make suggestions on

(Continued on Page 4)

Cheerleaders, 'Chiefs' Take Part At 11:30

A home-pep rally will be held tomorrow in front of Westcott Building.

Tom Waits, head cheerleader, announced plans yesterday for the rally which he said will be "huge." The event will begin at 11:30 p.m and will "start the Florida State University-University of Georgia football game moments of which is being" ...

Waits sounded the S.O.S.S. (Show Our Seminole Spirit) slogan in urging students and townspeople from Tallahassee to join in.

Over In Time

"Girls are not to worry about being out their cousin hours," declared Waits. "The rally will be over in plenty of time."

Joining hands with the cheerleading squad in staging the affair will be the Marching Chiefs and the FSU Warpath Club Plaza Girls. (or the student squad) to surround the fountain before Westcott and join in the late-night cheering session.

Chime System

"To enlist plenty of noise tonight," said Waits, "the public address system at the rally will be connected with the University chime system." All cheering will then be broadcast over the Westcott tower amplifiers.

Waits explained that one reason for the rally is that fans from FSU and Tallahassee will "make so much noise behind the team" to compete with the thousands of Florida fans who are expected. Besides the support coming from the two universities, many fans from points all over the state of Florida have bought tickets, according to the Athletic Ticket Office.

New Cheerleaders

Judy Hunt and Dick Ainsworth, the new Freshman cheerleaders, have agreed all their classmates to "join the spirit parade in mass." The pair will be on hand tonight to lead them in the rally.

One other encouraging note was sounded yesterday by Al Diaz, president of the Seminole Warpath Club, who announced that "the word" for the week is: "Let's start behind the team and beat the cemented out of Georgia."

SENIOR NOTICE

ATTENTION SENIORS: Caps and Gowns are ready for distribution. They should be picked up immediately.

Marine Band Tickets Are 'Going Fast'

"Tickets for the evening performance of The President's Own Marine Band are going fast" warned Katherine Vernon, ticket sales coordinator.

A rough estimate taken from the seating charts at Westcott ticket booth shows about 200 seats left. However, there are still plenty of tickets for the children's matinee.

The two concerts by the U. S. Marine Band on December 14 at 3:30 and 8:15 p.m. will mark the opening of Florida State University's Artist Series. And will feature Overture from "Di Ballo" by Sir Arthur Sullivan, "Southern Rhapsody" by Louis Hosmer, "March of the Steel Men" by Herman Bellstedt, and "Wiclen Babbath" from "Symphony Fantastique" by Hector Berlioz.

Artist Series events are formal, according to the "Knowledge for College" booklet, but dark suits and "ballerina length" dresses are acceptable, according to Mrs. Vernon.

FRIDAY TALLY-HO PICTURE DEADLINE

All freshman, sophomore, and junior pictures must be taken by next Friday, warned Jim Broderick, editor of the 1956 Tally-Ho, yesterday.

Photographer hours are 3 to 5 and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Tally-Ho studio.

THE UNITED STATES MARINE BAND

Legion Is Irrational

The American Legion appears bent on dooming the United States to isolation and eventual destruction. Patriotic organization that it is, the Legion will divest us of all allies, and a nation without allies has no hope for survival.

What they have done now, at their convention in Miami, is to pass a resolution demanding Congress abolish the United States Commission to the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization.

UNESCO, far from being communistic or atheistic is avowedly devoted to peace and democratic human relations. It fights illiteracy, promotes respect for human rights, and is based upon the possibility of human understanding.

Nevertheless, it has constantly been on the defensive because of numerous shortsighted and misled pressure groups—foremost among them the American Legion.

The falsity of the allegations against UNESCO has had a generalized namecalling theme: UNESCO is communistic, atheistic, and un-American. This summer a special American Legion Committee whose chairman was Ray Murphy, a past Legion commander, exonerated UNESCO of all these charges.

The Murphy committee acted under tremendous pressure, and when the complimentary report was announced, said a floor fight at the Legion convention would probably occur. It did occur, and the American Legion again condemned UNESCO—with little debate, and with few courageous voices raised against the emotional irrationality of misdirected nationalism.

On what grounds, however, has UNESCO been condemned this time? The Legion says UNESCO interferes with our educational system. It disseminates propaganda concerning international cooperation. Certain, from above, this should be hardly a reason to attack any group, for freedom of speech and propaganda are, we thought, guaranteed in the Constitution. Coming from the Legion, this charge is more than mildly ironic.

The American Legion has itself tried to interfere with education processes and courses, has its own propaganda outlets for their thoughts, and has tried to shackle the minds of the public to the thought that any mention of world government has a pink tinge.

Now the Legion, ignoring the Murphy report but adopting a joint report from its Americanism and Foreign Relations committees, has demanded Congress abolish the 100-member United States National Commission for UNESCO.

Some of our greatest intellects serve on this commission, and their loss would be a serious one to UNESCO, yet far more tragic to the United States.

Look who serve on the commission! Representatives of the United States Chamber of Commerce, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Catholic Education Association, the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, among others. How screwed-up could these groups are far from radical; most are conservative.

The Legion also wants the United States to stop any branch of the government from cooperating with UNESCO.

Past Commander Murphy, a liberal most likely lonely among a vast crowd of reaction, has defined exactly the real issue: "The real issue is not UNESCO but the nation's foreign policy and whether we shall take part in any international cooperation," declared Murphy.

The United States can not isolate itself behind a wall of self-righteousness, nor shrink from any cooperation in which ours would not be the ruling power. We must not continue to regard ourselves as the world's only leading nation—even if we should claim to be, other nations no less virtuous than ourselves would take offense, breeding within themselves enmity rather than alliance.

There will not be, within our day, One World. As a UNESCO official has said, can such a Utopia be when even men within nations cannot live at peace with each other? There are now two worlds, bitterly at odds, each divided by factions; Curtain countries to fear.

If we wish to remain free, independent, and prosperous it will not be as a third little world which we shall expect non-Communist countries to honor and Iron Curtains countries to fear.

When the American Legion comes up with some constructive plan for world peace that parallels the efforts of UNESCO, then and only then should Congress listen for advice in their hysteria.

Mature Actions Effective

We should like to commend the administration and the student government for their actions concerning the problem of drinking at the football game last weekend.

Their attitude in leaving the solution to the discretion of the student body is one which will lead, we hope, to a growth of maturity. Student opinion, as expressed thus far should be sufficient re-

"It Seems Like Only Ten Years Ago"

Letters To The Editor

Game Permission

TO THE EDITOR:
The last Friday's issue of The Flambeau, a news article was printed covering the report of the Recreational and Social Committee of the Student Senate. This report in part was concerned with the proposed suggestion of chartering buses to Atlanta for the FSU-Georgia Tech game. The statement was made in the news article that "women students of the student body would be going to go in private cars."

In giving the committee report in Senate meeting, I did not say anything that could have been interpreted to mean that women students did not have permission to go to the game in cars. In fact, several times I mentioned that most of the students would be going in cars because of the expense of going by bus. I did say that only those women students going by chartered bus would have to have permission to stay the dorms, but this has nothing whatsoever to do with women students having or not having permission to ride to Atlanta in cars.

On Friday I talked with the editor of the Flambeau about this mistake, and she assured me that a full correction would be printed in the next issue. However, the next issue came out without a word about it. Therefore, I am writing this letter to clear up the misunderstandings that have arisen.

Sincerely,
CAROLYN CLOSE
Chairman, Recreational and Social Committee.

Editor's Note: We apologize for the omission of the correction in the last issue; our memories are not infallible. However, the original mistake occurred when yourself readers did not catch the omission of the word "male" in the sentence, ". . . women students will not be given permission to go in private cars." It was not the reporter's mistake, as implied in this letter.

Share Stadium

TO THE SPORTS EDITOR:
Fan mail from a faculty wife:

I liked your October 11, Flambeau column. From The Sidelines.

Seems this year's Flambeau is showing signs of maturity—decided changes. It takes courage to come out with a "Share the Stadium" philosophy. It reflects the courage and vision of youth.

Keep your ideals . . . and keep on seeing both sides of the fence. It's fun—it's interesting—and you'll never get into a rut.

Congrats To Us

To The Editor:
Might we take this means to congratulate the Flambeau on the fine editorial in the Oct. 4 issue entitled, "Is Here the Purge."

The American Legion in Tampa has been involved in connection with a fraternity planned party, The Kommunist Kapers. was excellently "put in their place" by your editorial. When we read the Tampa Tribune's article a few days later we were not shocked at the Legion's action. It seems they were just keeping up to their form.

You did fail to mention the name of the fraternity as related in the Tampa Tribune. It was the U of T chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon. We were interested in this part of the story since we are Tri-Deta. But other than this personal addition, your editorial was excellent.

Yours very truly,
Robert W. Pope
William B. G'Steen

Answers Alligator

TO THE EDITOR:
After reading the last issue of the Flambeau I would like to make notice of an article

(Continued on Page 8)

It Could Be Verse

By STEVE KLEID
(With apologies to WS. TJ. HWL & AB.

"It this a dagger which I see before me, Prov'ocative and from my mire?"

"Life, liberty and the pursuit of anything that a man happen to come within reach."

"Friends, Romans and countrymen, Lend me a dime?"

"Listen, you children, and you shall hear,
Nothing, absolutely nothing—"

MUSIC CORNER
"Dawn's promising sky,
Petals on a pool,
Wilting."

"Under the spreading chestnut tree,
The little chestnuts spread."

"Should said acquaintance be forgot,
It might prove embarrassing"

"Water, water everywhere,
Ye Gads, it was wet!"

NURSERY CORNER
"Old King Cole was a merry old soul,
And a merry old soul was he.
He called for his pipe and he called for his bowl,
And he called for a—
(Well, don't get vulgar!)

MUSIC CORNER
"I wish I was in the Land of Cotton,"
It must get awful sorry when it rains .

Watch The Spectators, They're Fun

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Most people go to athletic events and moving pictures to watch the games and suffer through the pictures. So do I. Recently, however, I have discovered new, more enjoyment there is in watching the other spectators.

Let's set the scene. Campbell stadium is bounded on two sides by a railroad track—and every night, Saturdays included—a very long freight train rumbles by.

For this situation there's a type — usually female—who count the number of cars in the train. While they're counting, and their action on the field includes three or four fumbles, intercepted passes, blocked kicks, 90 yard punt returns and touchdowns.

If, through some spelling circumstance, the Seaboard isn't running 100 cars that night this type go home as broken-hearted as if the home team had lost by a lopsided score.

* * *

Naa for another, specific, scene. The Ritz Art Theatre, Tallahassee. The movie is "Aida," an opera.

Type number one is the crew cut, lanky lad, who acts and talks as if he expects a foreign version of The Egyptian. He soon leaves in favor of the nearest juke box.

Then there enter three middle-aged Tallahasseans, complete with popcorn. The steady, rhythmic crunch of masticated popcorn is interrupted only by such comments as: "This picture is disgusting! It's full of nigers . . ." "quiet, at least the music's good . . ." "let's leave NOW . . ." So they leave, thank heaven.

Come to think of it, "Aida" must have been hard on the native populace. One of the saddest classic love stories, it tells the tragedy of an Ethiopian girl and an Egyptian soldier. Ethiopians are colored.

* * *

Men's Senate discussed Wednesday the debating problem about little boys who get drunk at football games to the physical discomfort and possible danger of those around them.

In arguing what action to take to curb the inedible pastime, mention was made that liquor at all is supposed to be brought into stadium.

When the fact was presented to one senators he replied in the general tone of good is there trying to enforce the rules? of the Senators admit they take a nip and then.

There's only one fault to this neat reasoning: it's fine not to enforce that rule as all disturbances are soon put down. But it takes only one thrown bottle, only one soft fat, to seriously injure someone. All the police in the Occident, all the peace-minded students, couldn't make up for an inebriated fan who takes aim at lucky if someone is hurt.

The East stand smelled like a Bowery after the last game; to some this alone is physically disgusting. It must not happen again.

Mr. Shutterbug Learns To Shudder

By HOWARD HARTLEY

The work of the movie photographer are many and varied. Mr. Mabee's Basic Photography class contains many of these struggling movie-to-be forms tale will indicate the foible commonly occurring there.

A comprehensive shutterbug came into the Lang pools lab with a crafty smile on his face and malice in his heart. He had carefully planned out a course of action that promised to warm the heart of the instructor and win fame and glory for his prowess. The shutterbug, which we shall call the "Speed Graphic Kid", had planned to take some of your old news "stubs" for him an action shot of a tennis player (rather advanced for two weeks camera lecturing).

The next scene finds "The Graphic Kid" busy setting up on the tennis court. The players are patient as he goes through various contortions and fiddles with numerous gadgets on the camera. Oops! The speed mechanism won't work . . . it won't go up to a fast speed. Back to the lab . . . the assistant calmly pushes the knob over to high speed . . . no trouble at all . . . Why couldn't he do that? Back to the tennis court . . . the players are very patient. Let me see, speed, aperture, frame picture. OK, shoot! Back done it' he thinks. Back to the lab, into the developing room. Times passes, and lo, the novice holds his creation up to the light. BUT . . . he forgot to focus. The negatives look like the camera was the next step from stone blind. Gentle dominoes!

Nothing daunted, our hero whisks into the darkroom, loads his camera again . . . and off to Adventure! The tennis players are gone, but, no matter. "The Speed Graphic Kid" will not be denied Quick, over to the new Home Economics Building, up the ladders, up, up, up! Pastime and adventure. Dismount to the half-constructed third story where workmen are strapped to the waist hefting concrete slabs.

Their muscles bulge, the sunlight plays on sweat streaming from their lithe bodies. What a shot! Our hero, with eye and trusty camera, poised, shoot!

Back once again to the lab. Ten minutes of the period left, still time to develop. In a frenzy, he leaps into the darkroom. Out with the lights, and lo he holds his creation up to the light, AND . . . no picture. It looks like the inside of the hip pocket of a coal miner in a twelve-mile shaft at midnight. What did he do? Oh yes, he pulled the wrong slide out and exposed his film to Old Sol at high noon. A mere trifle, an oversight.

The last we see of the shutterbug he is being led off, weeping quietly, to the booby hatch.

Who is he? . . . why me, of course C'est la vie!

Spoiled Serenade

With rapt faces, the pajama-clad women of Florida Hall leaned over their balconies and watched the fraternity pinning ceremony below.

The serenade accompanying the pinning was suddenly and rudely interrupted with raucous cells from across the street. "Hey, cut it. Kill that noise."

Magnolia Hall, it seems, had forgotten its manners. Not only was the noise disrespectful but it may have spoiled the thrill of the campus tradition for the couple becoming pinned.

Odds & Ends

A Shutterbug Learns To Shudder

By HOWARD HARTLEY

The work of the movie photographer are many and varied. Mr. Mabee's Basic Photography class contains many of these struggling movie-to-be forms tale will indicate the foible commonly occurring there.

A comprehensive shutterbug came into the Lang pools lab with a crafty smile on his face and malice in his heart. He had carefully planned out a course of action that promised to warm the heart of the instructor and win fame and glory for his prowess. The shutterbug, which we shall call the "Speed Graphic Kid", had planned to take some of your old news "stubs" for him an action shot of a tennis player (rather advanced for two weeks camera lecturing).

The next scene finds "The Graphic Kid" busy setting up on the tennis court. The players are patient as he goes through various contortions and fiddles with numerous gadgets on the camera. Oops! The speed mechanism won't work . . . it won't go up to a fast speed. Back to the lab . . . the assistant calmly pushes the knob over to high speed . . . no trouble at all . . . Why couldn't he do that? Back to the tennis court . . . the players are very patient. Let me see, speed, aperture, frame picture. OK, shoot! Back done it' he thinks. Back to the lab, into the developing room. Times passes, and lo, the novice holds his creation up to the light. BUT . . . he forgot to focus. The negatives look like the camera was the next step from stone blind. Gentle dominoes!

Nothing daunted, our hero whisks into the darkroom, loads his camera again . . . and off to Adventure! The tennis players are gone, but, no matter. "The Speed Graphic Kid" will not be denied Quick, over to the new Home Economics Building, up the ladders, up, up, up! Pastime and adventure. Dismount to the half-constructed third story where workmen are strapped to the waist hefting concrete slabs.

Their muscles bulge, the sunlight plays on sweat streaming from their lithe bodies. What a shot! Our hero, with eye and trusty camera, poised, shoot!

Back once again to the lab. Ten minutes of the period left, still time to develop. In a frenzy, he leaps into the darkroom. Out with the lights, and lo he holds his creation up to the light, AND . . . no picture. It looks like the inside of the hip pocket of a coal miner in a twelve-mile shaft at midnight. What did he do? Oh yes, he pulled the wrong slide out and exposed his film to Old Sol at high noon. A mere trifle, an oversight.

The last we see of the shutterbug he is being led off, weeping quietly, to the booby hatch.

Who is he? . . . why me, of course C'est la vie!

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ..... Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Jerry Reeves
Photographers Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Larry Sack, Roger Herndon, Jerome Kidd
Campus Editors ..... Jerome Bernstein
Eleanor Kirby, Hova and Harder
MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager
Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ..... Betsy Voorhees
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue ..... George Goldbeck

Pat Marston, News Editor
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller
Sports Editor ..... Pierce Lehmbeck
Junior Staff ..... Pat Smith, Arlieda Ries, Bob DeBlasio, Bob Bowden, Larry Meredith, Steve Kling, Patty Anne Green, Kathleen Hall
Jerome Bernstein
Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown.
Lois Friedman

Advertising staff—Virgil Aunin, Leonard Korth, Jean Patterson, Donald Reinder.

Telephone 2.800, extension 6821, 5821
211 213 Longmire Building

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave. New York 17. The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Member Associated College Press

Wandering With Wiljohn

Variety Show Was Good, But . . .

By WILJOHN

(Fact: This is an OPINIGNATED column.)

Tuesday night I attended the Sigma Kappa Variety Show. I wish that I must be given 19 the Sigma Kappa's for the way they handled the proceedings in spite of the handicaps under which they worked. And handicaps there were in plenitious multitudes! In relation to these, I have a few questions.

1. Why can't the Music Department supply someone who knows how to work lights and sound in Opperman instead of letting the audience sit in the black and quiet for intervals of interminable length during the show?

2. Wouldn't it be easier on the audience if the acts were screened before the show and some of the more BCH acts cut out? There were four or five acts that not only seemed to escape the understanding of the audience but gave the impression that they couldn't escaped the comprehension of the performers as well.

3. I also think it would be nice to bolt the Varieties in a place that would hold all the people that want to see it. Hail to Opperman, band-box that it is; Westcott was empty that night.

4. Lastly, while I deed roses and incense to the Kappa Delta's for their fine skit, I wonder how much immaturity or infantility, and work is going to be demanded from a contestant before the award goes to something as fine as the Phi Mu skit. Romeo and Juliette was doubtedly a clever and clever one, should have seen on campus this year. And (fanfare) the emlirt ect was in the very best of taste and fashion.

The Delta Tau Delta dance team was sensational. There could be no possible gripe after that performance. Especially when one reviews the offerings of some of the other fraternity. It seems that the average fraternity idea of a prize-winning skit is dressing some of members as ridiculously as possible and performing them as nearly as foolish as their costumes without any apparent plot, purpose, or intelligence. Unfortunately, most of these go through this to get at the better offerings of a few of the fraternities and most of the sororities.

The brightest spots of the entire show were, of course, the emcees, Charlie Green and Fadjean. Claire, only a freshman, has to either the emcee or the co-emcee for the major entertainment on campus this year, and Jim even were co-emcees at the Oyster show in Daytona Beach not too long ago on the other hand, is a graduate student and has been doing this sort of thing for for some time. And what a pair the two do on!

All in all, the show was a great success. My loud and semi-illiterate congratulations. I look forward to next year's Varieties.

At The Movies

Fair Weather Musical Starts Here

By WANDA SUE OWEN

It's Always Fair Weather, at the Florida Theatre, M-G-M's new Cinemascope musical, is based on a comedy plot, enlivened by dance routines and new songs.

The action centers on three fun-loving G I 's who meet in New York ten years after V-J Day, plunge headlong into romantic entanglements, and wind up with unexpected fame when they are spotlighted on a television act known as "Times Of Manhattan."

There is the "Binge" number on Third Avenue, complete with the elevated railway in which Gene Kelly and Dan Dailey and Michael Kidd do a routine which has them using the lids of garbage cans for dancing shoes, and raising the taxis in the streets.

In the "Sullman's Gym" number, Cyd Charisse exchanges uppercuts with a dozen boxers and then joins Kelly in "Baby, You Knock Me Out."

There is also the split-screen treatment of "Once Upon a Time," in which Kelly, Dailey and Kidd sing and dance three versions of the same song.

Gene Kelly is cast as Tom Riley, the G I who has come to be a successful, if a two-bit fighter. Dan Dailey plays Doug, who exchanges his dreams of being a successful writer for commercial success as a TV cartoonist. And Michel Kidd, as the third of the trio, is Ansie, who wanted to be a great artist, but who settled for a roadside diner.

Cyd Charisse plays the role of Jackie Leighton, a girl who has developed a unique method for keeping off the "wolves." And, Delores Gray makes her film debut in the part of Madeline,

The Dissenter

Legion Is Irrational

The American Legion appears bent on dooming the United States to isolation and eventual destruction. Patriotic organization that it is, the Legion will divest us of all allies, and a nation without allies has no hope for survival.

What they have done now, at their convention in Miami, is to pass a resolution demanding Congress abolish the United States Commission to the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization.

UNESCO, far from being communistic or atheistic is avowedly devoted to peace and democratic human relations. It fights illiteracy, promotes respect for human rights, and is based upon the possibility of human understanding.

Nevertheless, it has constantly been on the defensive because of numerous shortsighted and misled pressure groups—foremost among them the American Legion.

The falsity of the allegations against UNESCO has had a generalized namecalling theme: UNESCO is communistic, atheistic, and un-American. This summer a special American Legion Committee whose chairman was Ray Murphy, a past Legion commander, exonerated UNESCO of all these charges.

The Murphy committee acted under tremendous pressure, and when the complimentary report was announced, said a floor fight at the Legion convention would probably occur. It did occur, and the American Legion again condemned UNESCO—with little debate, and with few courageous voices raised against the emotional irrationality of misdirected nationalism.

On what grounds, however, has UNESCO been condemned this time? The Legion says UNESCO interferes with our educational system. It disseminates propaganda concerning international cooperation. Certain, from above, this should be hardly a reason to attack any group, for freedom of speech and propaganda are, we thought, guaranteed in the Constitution. Coming from the Legion, this charge is more than mildly ironic.

The American Legion has itself tried to interfere with education processes and courses, has its own propaganda outlets for their thoughts, and has tried to shackle the minds of the public to the thought that any mention of world government has a pink tinge.

Now the Legion, ignoring the Murphy report but adopting a joint report from its Americanism and Foreign Relations committees, has demanded Congress abolish the 100-member United States National Commission for UNESCO.

Some of our greatest intellects serve on this commission, and their loss would be a serious one to UNESCO, yet far more tragic to the United States.

Look who serve on the commission! Representatives of the United States Chamber of Commerce, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Catholic Education Association, the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, among others. How screwed-up could these groups are far from radical; most are conservative.

The Legion also wants the United States to stop any branch of the government from cooperating with UNESCO.

Past Commander Murphy, a liberal most likely lonely among a vast crowd of reaction, has defined exactly the real issue: "The real issue is not UNESCO but the nation's foreign policy and whether we shall take part in any international cooperation," declared Murphy.

The United States can not isolate itself behind a wall of self-righteousness, nor shrink from any cooperation in which ours would not be the ruling power. We must not continue to regard ourselves as the world's only leading nation—even if we should claim to be, other nations no less virtuous than ourselves would take offense, breeding within themselves enmity rather than alliance.

There will not be, within our day, One World. As a UNESCO official has said, can such a Utopia be when even men within nations cannot live at peace with each other? There are now two worlds, bitterly at odds, each divided by factions; Curtain countries to fear.

If we wish to remain free, independent, and prosperous it will not be as a third little world which we shall expect non-Communist countries to honor and Iron Curtains countries to fear.

When the American Legion comes up with some constructive plan for world peace that parallels the efforts of UNESCO, then and only then should Congress listen for advice in their hysteria.

Watch The Spectators, They're Fun

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Most people go to athletic events and moving pictures to watch the games and suffer through the pictures. So do I. Recently, however, I have discovered new, more enjoyment there is in watching the other spectators.

Let's set the scene. Campbell stadium is bounded on two sides by a railroad track—and every night, Saturdays included—a very long freight train rumbles by.

For this situation there's a type — usually female—who count the number of cars in the train. While they're counting, and their action on the field includes three or four fumbles, intercepted passes, blocked kicks, 90 yard punt returns and touchdowns.

If, through some spelling circumstance, the Seaboard isn't running 100 cars that night this type go home as broken-hearted as if the home team had lost by a lopsided score.

* * *

Naa for another, specific, scene. The Ritz Art Theatre, Tallahassee. The movie is "Aida," an opera.

Type number one is the crew cut, lanky lad, who acts and talks as if he expects a foreign version of The Egyptian. He soon leaves in favor of the nearest juke box.

Then there enter three middle-aged Tallahasseans, complete with popcorn. The steady, rhythmic crunch of masticated popcorn is interrupted only by such comments as: "This picture is disgusting! It's full of nigers . . ." "quiet, at least the music's good . . ." "let's leave NOW . . ." So they leave, thank heaven.

Come to think of it, "Aida" must have been hard on the native populace. One of the saddest classic love stories, it tells the tragedy of an Ethiopian girl and an Egyptian soldier. Ethiopians are colored.

* * *

Men's Senate discussed Wednesday the debating problem about little boys who get drunk at football games to the physical discomfort and possible danger of those around them.

In arguing what action to take to curb the inedible pastime, mention was made that liquor at all is supposed to be brought into stadium.

When the fact was presented to one senators he replied in the general tone of good is there trying to enforce the rules? of the Senators admit they take a nip and then.

There's only one fault to this neat reasoning: it's fine not to enforce that rule as all disturbances are soon put down. But it takes only one thrown bottle, only one soft fat, to seriously injure someone. All the police in the Occident, all the peace-minded students, couldn't make up for an inebriated fan who takes aim at lucky if someone is hurt.

The East stand smelled like a Bowery after the last game; to some this alone is physically disgusting. It must not happen again.

'Horsecollar Regulation' Must Go

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Did you know that your three-hour Basket Weaving class is mandatory for you don't take a guy's dinner because he skipped eating lunch. He's punishing himself; you don t need to do it.

Let's face it. If a class isn't valuable enough to a student for him to attend it, then it's no him any good to be there. To require attendance of a lecture is like admitting lecture is not worthwhile.

The good student who skips a class knows he can make up the work and not be hurt by the absence. The poor student knows he better attend the class or else. Thus the "required" class is necessary for some.

This business of voluntary class attendance would mean that it's all right to study on "The Continent" with considerable success. Buffice it to say that the system has produced a "few" students who have left it should endorse such an unheard of notion with impressive statistical assistance. It is hard as hardy to take away one sixth of a student's efforts in making an "A" or "B"—just because he missed a class.

There exists a trite argument along lines; that students "pay to come—they pay us to come here." The important thing to remember here is that everybody has a right to think for himself. And his own self is what a student or an ordinary citizen, as long as it does not hurt others.

The long and short of it is, the Horsecollar Regulation has got to go.

ditional punishment other than missing lecture which might prove to be valuable when the exam time comes around. Then you don't take a guy's dinner because he skipped eating lunch. He's punishing himself; you don t need to do it.

Let's face it. If a class isn't valuable enough to a student for him to attend it, then it's no use to him any good to be there. To require attendance of a lecture is like admitting lecture is not worthwhile.

The good student who skips a class knows he can make up the work and not be hurt by the absence. The poor student knows he better attend the class or else. Thus the "required" class is necessary for some.

This business of voluntary class attendance would mean that it's all right to study on "The Continent" with considerable success. Buffice it to say that the system has produced a "few" students who have left it should endorse such an unheard of notion with impressive statistical assistance. It is hard as hardy to take away one sixth of a student's efforts in making an "A" or "B"—just because he missed a class.

There exists a trite argument along lines; that students "pay to come—they pay us to come here." The important thing to remember here is that everybody has a right to think for himself. And his own self is what a student or an ordinary citizen, as long as it does not hurt others.

The long and short of it is, the Horsecollar Regulation has got to go.

At The Movies

Fair Weather Musical Starts Here

By WANDA SUE OWEN

It's Always Fair Weather, at the Florida Theatre, M-G-M's new Cinemascope musical, is based on a comedy plot, enlivened by dance routines and new songs.

The action centers on three fun-loving G I 's who meet in New York ten years after V-J Day, plunge headlong into romantic entanglements, and wind up with unexpected fame when they are spotlighted on a television act known as "Times Of Manhattan."

There is the "Binge" number on Third Avenue, complete with the elevated railway in which Gene Kelly and Dan Dailey and Michael Kidd do a routine which has them using the lids of garbage cans for dancing shoes, and raising the taxis in the streets.

In the "Sullman's Gym" number, Cyd Charisse exchanges uppercuts with a dozen boxers and then joins Kelly in "Baby, You Knock Me Out."

There is also the split-screen treatment of "Once Upon a Time," in which Kelly, Dailey and Kidd sing and dance three versions of the same song.

Gene Kelly is cast as Tom Riley, the G I who has come to be a successful, if a two-bit fighter. Dan Dailey plays Doug, who exchanges his dreams of being a successful writer for commercial success as a TV cartoonist. And Michel Kidd, as the third of the trio, is Ansie, who wanted to be a great artist, but who settled for a roadside diner.

Cyd Charisse plays the role of Jackie Leighton, a girl who has developed a unique method for keeping off the "wolves." And, Delores Gray makes her film debut in the part of Madeline,

wn Airplane

Seminole Flyers Active Organization

By RAY HEMANN

...Seminoles take to the air! ...only on the ardiron, but ...literal sense of the word ...Seminoles take to the ...little known, but very ...organization on campus ...Seminole Flyers Inc., an ...tion consisting of mem... of the faculty, staff and ...ent body who have a love for ...

Own Airplane

...e Seminole Flyers are the ...t of an Aeronca Champion ...e which is bannered at ...Maxey Airport. To the ...mmon an Aeronca Champ ...ish wing monoplane that ...ore all the other little ...e planes you see flying ...ery weekend.

...particular Champ was ...ased by the flying club in ...and as any of the club ...bers will tell you with a ...gle in his voice, is paid ...

...their ranks are a cer... Aeronautics Admin... A & E mechanic, a cer... CAA flight instructor ...mmercial pilots several ...ents and a few who ...e flying just as a spec... The only require... membership other than ...ociated with the Univ... is an interest in aviation

...e Seminole Flyers was ...d in 1947 by several fac... members as an aid to those ...ire to fly or wanted to ...n to fly at minimum ex... As a result, flying has ...e cheaper even than it ...d be for a person to own ...ivate his own airplane. ...ame is told of Mr. Bertil ...the Music Department ...ne on a cross country ...ipped at an airport to ...While the airport opera... are refueling the airplane ...e drifted to the topic of ...ome finances in pas... When Mr. Boer men... how much our club ...s the members the man ...d him disbelievingly and ... 'You're a liar.' No ...f person on could con... Mr. Boer was not ...Florida day a person land... his airport doesn't dare ...ome into land for fear ...e of them looses ...he ecstasy.

Result

...k back to evening a little ...o note the club plane ...mysteriously could two years ...no. Incidentally and just ...week was given a one hun... dollar inspection and re... for another year. This ...s with a new propellor that ...installed this year puts the ...ne in "just like new" ...

...membership is restricted ...mbers for obvious ...here are at present ...a few members ...one who is inter... and would like ...ub which will be held ...room of the club ...at 7:30 p.m. Wed... ...mber 2, 1955. ...be a short talk ...sident and treasurer ...the regulations ...established and the ...involved. After ...e served and there ...

Happy Landings

Flambeau Photo—Steve Kleid

Charting—Cross-country route to be made in Seminole Flying Club plane 'Aeronca 'Champ' are Jim Gunn and Ray Hemann.

Inspecting—Engine in club plane are Bertil Boer and Dr. Ken Miller, faculty members of group, and Jim Nedley, student member.

...be a movie on Naval aviation.

The next time two girls are on the run decks of your dorm and a little yellow plane keeps circling around and around, don't worry its only some of the boys in the Seminole Flyers doing some research. The airplane is amazingly versatile for planetarium work.

WFSU F M SCHEDULE

Friday, October 14, 1955

2:00—Masterworks
2:30—Chapter A Day
3:00—Masterworks
3:30—Hobbies
3:45—Chapter a Day
4:00—Intermission
4:30—Hallmarks
4:45—Chapter a Day
5:00—Intermission
5:30—Rhythm
5:45—Beethoven
6:00—Intermission
6:15—Drama Tavern
6:45—Chapter A Day
7:00—Intermission
7:30—Pic-Quest
8:00—National Opera
8:30—Walter Piston
9:00—Ed Murrow's
9:30—Intermission
9:45—Masterworks
10:00—Sign Off

Monday, October 17, 1955

2:00—Masterworks
2:30—Chapter A Day
2:45—Fr. Concert
3:00—Masterworks
3:30—Quartet
4:00—Mod. Accor. Comp
4:30—National Opera
5:00—Walter Piston
5:30—Ed Murrow's
6:00—News
6:15—Dean's Tour
6:30—Music Appreciation
7:00—Report Europe
7:15—Ballad Song
7:30—Music I Want
8:00—Brahms
8:30—Music Theater
9:00—Pianist Showcase
9:30—Masterworks
9:45—Critic's Choice
10:00—Sign Off

Tuesday, October 18, 1955

2:00—Masterworks
2:30—Hi-Fi Concert
3:00—Masterworks
3:30—London Orch.
3:45—Chapter A Day Repeat
4:00—BBC Theater
4:30—Drama Tavern
5:00—Johann Strauss
5:30—Music I Want
6:00—Intermission
6:30—Portraits
7:00—Sign Off

Wednesday, October 19, 1955

2:00—Masterworks
2:30—Hi-Fi Concert
3:00—Masterworks
3:30—London Orch.
3:45—Chapter A Day Repeat
4:00—BBC Theater
4:30—Drama Tavern
5:00—Johann Strauss
5:30—Music I Want
6:00—Intermission
6:30—Portraits
7:00—Sign Off

For all your daily needs:
College Outline Series
Schaum's Outline for Science and Math Courses
Mentor, Modern Library and
Pocket Books
Supplies and Sundries,
Go To MALONE'S BOOK STORE
(Also Browsing Books on Sale, Old Editions and Discontinued Titles)

Campus favorites . . . from every angle . . .

No guesswork here, Arrow's new button-down shirt cops the style lead on campus with its soft roll collar, full-length back pleat, back-collar button—details you'd expect from custom shirtmakers! Now available in authentic plaids and tattersall checks, $6.95 up. Combine it with Arrow's tapered slacks in chino, $5.95 —for the new casual look.

ARROW
CASUAL WEAR
—first in fashion

FSU Students View Airpower Exhibition

By TOM WOODS

The blast of a 750-pound nepalm bomb gave added brilliance to the hot sunny afternoon as 150 Florida State University AFROTC cadets got their first real view of Air Force firepower.

This was a part of the Airpower demonstration that the cadets witnessed at Eglin Air Force Base last Tuesday. The program is a periodic event designed primarily to show off U.S. Air Force capabilities to representatives of foreign nations and our members of Congress.

Commanding generals of the Swedish, Nicaraguan, and Israeli air forces were present along with the top military leaders of more than twenty other foreign nations. These included Pakistan, Turkey, Italy, Canada, Peru, United Kingdom, Guatemala, and Honduras.

Congressmen, assistant secretaries of the Air Force, the governor of the state of Nevada, and numerous high ranking American military officers comprised the rest of the audience.

The program began with a display of precision flying by the "Thunderbirds" the jet acrobatic team. The Thunderbirds, flying four F84F's, went through a series of maneuvers that held the stands spellbound. The finale of th is event was the execution of what is known as a "Bombburst". Climbing high the planes flying in a tight diamond formation suddenly split apart in four directions and then converge on a point on,y yards away from the audience.

Continuing on a perfect y timed schedule the destructive potential of American aircraft were shown. Attackins simulated targets of railroaters, factories gun implacements, general purpose bombs incendiaries and machine guns showed the deadly accuracy of our modern weapons.

Another feature of the show was the F100 Supersaber which is the only plane now in production capable of breaking the sound barrrier in level flight. In order that the audience could set a better view the pilot slowed down to a crawl of 750 M.P.H when he passed the stands.

The most graphic display of the progress that has been made in American aircraft was seen when a B17 Flying Fortress of the type used in World War II and its modern counterpart the B36 made a bomb run on the target area.

The B17 went by and dropped its load of twelve 500 pound general purpose bombs over an area of some two hundred yards. Then the B36 followed and blasted an area of two miles.

Such an array of fighting strength should stand as s grim reminder to any aggressor nation that the United States can and will defend its interest throughout the world.

No Meet Held By Rat Court

The second Rat Court meeting of the year, scheduled for Wednesday, was not held due to lack of participation.

Rat Court Chief Justice Bob Simmons said that nobody showed up for the meeting and that it was decided not to stand one that night. Reason for the lack of participants and spectators was cited by Simmons as "too many conflicting activities."

He said that an unexpected drill called for the Marching Chiefs was one of the main reasons for lack of participation. He said he had "no comment" on the enthusiasm shown by members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes.

Simmons said that another meeting of the Court will definitely be held Tuesday of next week. "We ought to have a pretty big one at that time" he continued The meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m in the Musi Building Amphiteatre.

The Rat Court Chief Justice added that the reason he expects a good session Tuesday is that Sophomore response has picked up noticeably this week. The Sophomores have finally begun turning in names of Freshmman violators of the Rat requirements," he said.

'Blithe Spirit' In Production

Blithe Spirit, the Speech Department's opening production is slated to open Oct. 28 and run through Nov. 1.

Bill King, acting stage manager, along with Franklin Adams, in charge of lighting, John Anderson, stage crew, Gerald-ine Frank, hand props; Mrs. Jane Barnes and June Wilem, costumes, have completed plans for what will be one of the best plays of the year, according to Dr. Paul Davee, director.

The leading actress consists of Nancy Adams, Virgil Austin, Barbara Bunk, Mary Burkhalter, Nancy Cubbins, Charles Curry, Chris Enzle, Carol Gauvela, Keith Harp, Diana Holford, Sue Powell, Charlotte Shope, and Anita Wall, all members of the stage management class, and stage work class.

Tickets can be obtained from Mrs. K. Vernon in the Westcott box office.

Flambeau Photo: Laird Anderson

Cadet of Month — Pictured above is Regimental Commander Percy Steele congratulating Cadet S.F.C. Ray Reinhardt on his recent award as Army ROTC Cadet of the Month. Selection is made on basis of leadership ability and general appearance.

Collegians To Sing Tomorrow At Halftime

The Men's Glee Club of FSU, better known as the Collegians, will make their first public appearance of the school year tomorrow night. The group will sing during the half-time show of the FSU-Georgia game.

Organized in 1948 the Collegians is composed of all male students who wish to join. It has, during past years, given two annual concerts and appeared at many civic and university functions, besides practicing the time-honored custom of serenading the girls' dorms during the year.

ATTENTION
FSU STUDENTS and FACULTY
The Air-Conditioned
SILVER SLIPPER
Offers You
10% DISCOUNT
on
• SEAFOOD • CHICKEN • GRECIAN SALADS
AND
ALL REGULAR DINNERS
Enjoy the Finest in Food
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK 5 P.M.—12 P.M.
Phone 2-4961 For Reservations 2000 So. Monroe

Campus Cutie Of The Week

Miss Sarah Hambley
Senior from Miami, majoring in Education.

Career Week Puts Emphasis On Courses Offered At FSU

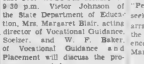
The Career Emphasis Week series officially starts Monday, with the spotlight on the departments of Baking Science and Restaurant and Hotel Management.

Sponsored by the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement, different departments will be emphasized each week throughout the year, and future years, said H. F. Soelzer, counselor for the plan.

The purpose of the program, he said, is to further acquaint students with the various careers for which one may prepare at FSU.

Discussion

Beginning this week's activities will be a panel discussion, broadcast over WFSU-FM Monday at 3:30 p.m. Victor Johnson of the State Department of Education, Mrs. Margaret Blair, acting director of Vocational Guidance, Soelzer, and W. F. Baker, of Vocational Guidance and Placement will discuss the program as a whole.



Sometime during the week, another discussion will be tape-recorded and broadcast, concerning of elections, they have until 5 the two departments for the week p.m. Tuesday to file declarations Taking part on the panel will be of candidacy for class offices.

Dr L. A. Rumsey, head of Baking Science, Dr. Donald Lundberg, head of Restaurant and Hotel Management and Baker.

In addition, written material will be available in the Vocational Guidance office and in the main library, for interested students. People who are interested in seeking more information may arrange for appointments with the departments of Baking Science and Restaurant and Hotel Management, said Baker.

FROSH REMINDED

Freshmen were reminded yesterday by Betsy Willmon, secretary

THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SMOOCH

Back in my courting days (the raccoon coat was all the rage, everybody was singing Good Morning, Mr. Zip, Zip, Zip and young Bonaparte had just left Corsica, back, I say, in my courting days, the standard way to melt a girl's heart was to write poetry to her.

Young men today have abandoned this gambit, and I must say I don't understand why. Nothing is quite as effective as poetry for moving a difficult girl. What's more, poems are ridiculously easy to write. The range of subject matter is endless. You can write a poem about a girl's hair, her eyes, her nose, her lips, her teeth, her walk, her talk, her clothes, her shoes—anything at all. Indeed, one of my most lauded love lyrics was called To Maud's Pencil Box. It went like this:

In your dear little leatherette pencil box
Are pencils of yellow and red,
And if you don't tell me you love me soon,
I'll hit you on top of the head.

Honesty compels me to admit that this poem fell short of success. Nothing daunted, I wrote another one. This time I pulled a switch; I threatened myself instead of Maud.

Oh, Maud, prey stop this drivel
And tell me you'll be mine,
For my sweetbreads they do shrivel
And wind around my spine.

My heart doth cease its beating.
My spleen unroils and warps.
My liver stops secreting.
Soon I needs be a corpse.

When this heart-rending ballad failed to move Maud, I could only conclude that she was cruel and heartless and that I was better off without her. Accordingly, I took back my Hi-Y pin, bid her adieu, and have not clapped eyes upon her since. Last I heard of her, she was in North Scituate, Rhode Island, working as a clam sorter.

—Unless to tattling there it would have come, it she hadn't been spied

But I did not mourn Maud long, for after Maud came Doris—Doris of the laughing eyes, Doris of the shimmering hair, Doris of the golden tibiae! Within moments of meeting her, I whipped up a torrent of irrepressible tetrameter:

Oh, my sweet and dulcet Doris!
You're gentle as a Philip Morris,
With its mild and rich tobacco
And its whole and kernel packed,
Both in regular and king-size.
Doris, tell me please your ring size.

Well, of course, the poor girl couldn't resist a poem like that—what girl could?—and she instantly became my slave. For the rest of the semester she carried my books, washed my car, and cored my apples. There's no telling where it all would have ended if she hadn't been drafted.

So, men, you can see the efficacy of poetry as an aid to wooing. Try it soon. All you need is a rhyming dictionary, a quill pen, and a second-hand muse.

Max Shulman, 1955

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS, sponsors of this column, give you no rhyme, but plenty of reason, for smoking Philip Morris: It's the genteel, pleasanter cigarette on the market today.

Letters To The Editor

(Continued From Page 2) reprinted from the Florida Alligator.

The article, which was written by the managing editor of the Alligator stated, "FSU is still primarily a girls' school . . . The University stresses homemaking instead of engineering and circus life instead of a top notch student government."

The writer went on to say that a university is judged on the dignity with which it carries itself. In this I agree, but I ask, - - What kind of dignity can a school boast of when every time you pick up a state paper you read about its students being suspended?

Concerning the remark that FSU's student government is comparable to our circus it can be said that Florida State University is proud of its Student Government and it is also proud of its circus. The writer might look into his own back yard before looking into someone else's.

His hinting that FSU might offer a better scholastic program before it starts claiming equality with UF and that we stress homemaking instead of engineering can best be answered by taking a look at our courses. Certainly our Schools of Music, Education, Business, Journalism, Nursing, Home Economics, Public Administration and Social Welfare are of note. Add to that our College of Arts and Sciences plus departments like Chemistry and Economics etc.

To this writer it appears the only reason the article was written because the truth rapidly becoming apparent. The truth is that Florida State University is gaining in reputation and might soon outshine Florida.

JEROME BERNSTEIN.

Flambeau Photo Steve Kleid

See You There—Governor LeRoy Collins accepts a gift ticket to West Hall buffet dinner from resident Hans Tews. One hundred persons will take part in the West Hall Campus Chest project at $10 each.

Martha Slayden Tells Of Dramatic Career

By MARTY REEVES

For a girl who says even rowboats make her seasick, the role of a ship owner's daughter may present problems for Martha Slayden, female lead in "The New Moon."

Playing the part of Marianne, opposite Elvin Greene, Miss Slayden is a member of the Light Opera Guild, which plans to present the Sigmund Romberg production this fall.

Enjoyable

"It's the kind of show everybody will enjoy," she said, "because the music is so familiar. Rehearsals have just started but I'm sure I'm going to enjoy working with all the cast. It's a pleasure to work with Bud Greene because he's had so much experience on the stage."

The vivacious, blue-eyed brunette is a senior this year, majoring in voice under Miss Betty Jane Grimm. A soprano, she already has a long list of musical achievements behind her. Born in Memphis, Tennessee, she moved to Holly Springs, Mississippi, when a few days old. Three years later she was on the move again, this time to New York, Georgia, and finally Florida, where she now calls Brooksville her home.

Lessons

The high school Miss Slayden attended did not put on musical shows, but she did take voice lessons and sang in the church choir. She also sang solos for civic organizations and won a TV talent contest.

Upon arriving at FSU, she obtained a part in the chorus of the Light Opera Guild's "Sweethearts". The following summer found her working with the Atlanta Opera Company.

In her sophomore year, Miss Slayden was soloist with the State Symphony at their Christmas concert. She also joined University Singers, of which she is still a member, and was a runner-up in the "Miss Tallahassee" contest.

As a junior she kept busy by joining Women's Glee Club, taking a lead part in "Carousel", soloing in the Gershwin Festival, and presenting a recital. Last summer she was in the summer stock of the Cape Cod Melody Tent in Massachusetts.

A Member

This year, Miss Slayden is in Choral Union, Sigma Alpha Iota, Chi Omega, and Village Vamps.

Singing is not the only interest of this all-around girl, however, she also "plays at" the piano, likes to dance, and "just loves" sports. She admits she "likes good food", especially steak and Italian foods . . . "anything fattening".

As for future plans, "I couldn't tell you," she said emphatically, but admitted that she was interested in doing TV or musical comedy work.

LOG TO BE POSTED

Another trip log will be posted on the Student Center Bulletin Board next week for those students interested in the University Recreation Association sponsored canoe trip.

In order to participate students are required to take swimming and canoeing checks, which will be run off at the pool Friday night October 21 at 8 30.

Flambeau Photo By Tom ...

The Winners—Of the Sigma Kappa Variety show held Tuesday night were, l. t. ... Sally Fussell, Eddie Franklin, Nancy Buchanan and Richard Puckett. Acts we... Charlie Chaplin dance by Dick and Ed, and a singing act by the Kappa Delta ... trants.

Freshman Honorary Taps 4 Members

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary, tapped four women for membership Wednesday night.

They are Jackie Bouder, Yvonne Duval, Mary Liz Graves, and Ann Kelly.

Officers for the honorary this year are Jan Kaminis, president; Glenda Brisco, vice president; Betty Cox, treasurer; and Linda Harris, secretary.

Alpha Lambda Delta encourages superior scholastic achievement and at the end of each semester admit freshmen women who have attained a 3.5 average.

From Page 1

Campus Police

the situation for the Georgia game."

"There will be police in the stands who will take those people who act too violently to the county jail. I have been informed," Tews said. "They will not act in any way, however, unless it is absolutely necessary for the protection of other students who attend the game."

From Page 1

Magnolia Fire

He at first ... conflagration was started by an electrical short-circuit in a switch panel, but a university electrician pointed out that power had been off since midnight, and the origin could not have been electrical.

The Fire Department had been called out about 9.15 p.m. the same night to put out a small fire in a faulty Magnolia incinerator, and it is possible that this caused a slow fire to back up in the wall adjacent to the incinerator, although a fireman inspected the area carefully at that time and found nothing amiss, Levy said.

Happened Before

A ... to one fireman the fire department has been called to Magnolia before for similar fires, and the fire department warned university officials to close up the incinerator.

Mr Rod Shaw, Florida State University business manager, stated that "the incinerator will certainly be closed up this time." and that he was glad that the situation was no more serious."

Fire Chief Levy pointed out that the ceiling above the blaze was constructed of concrete poured on steel lathe, so that any fire underneath would be stopped from spreading upward, and would naturally be slow, smoky but localized as to area. He said the building was deliberately constructed to protect residents from just such an occasion. If the construction had been less fireproof results might have been much more serious."

By 6 a.m. most of the students had straggled back to their rooms to try to snatch a little sleep in the murky rooms before class time.

From Page 1

Campus Chest

... to raise more money for the drive.

On Saturday after the football game Phi Mu is giving a carnival, all proceeds of which will go to Campus Chest. The carnival will be on the order of an open house, with booths, dancing, bingo, and a spook house for entertainment.

To raise money for the Chest the Delta Zetas are shining shoes for the whole of the drive. At the present they are scheduling fraternities but will shine any and all other shoes.

Wednesday's Zeta Tau Alpha Cake Walk was a real success, contributing over $100 to the drive.

All money to be collected any time during the Campus Chest drive is to be turned in to the Comptrollers Office in Westcott.

From Page 1

Hydrogen Bomb

should contact Dr Gregg Phifer or Miss Elizabeth Flory at the James House, 721 West Jefferson or call Extension 2061.

Last year's international debate was between FSU and Oxford and the year before that between FSU and India. The International Debate is one of the highlights of the FSU debate program and the public is invited to attend.

From Page 1

'Flying High'

[illegible]

Dr. Liddel Speaks Today

From Page 1

returned to Chapel Hill as a Graham Keenan Fellow in philosophy, and earned her Ph D.

Public Schools

As a teacher, Dr. Liddell has taught two years of public school in North Carolina, and one year at Chowan. Her professional experience includes addressing the International Congress of Philosophy, twice at Prague and at Brussels, and recently contributing to an international symposium on the concept of liberty, now being published in Paris for UNESCO. She has also had experience in newspaper work and in the insurance business.

When she first came here Dr. Liddell built a duplex in Tallahassee, fully believing that she wouldn't stay for more than a few years at the most. Now with two companions and a cat the doctor is still living here after nearly thirty years.

Heads Department

From its origin until a few years back Dr. Liddell has been the head of the philosophy department. She has seen not only the department grow but the school as well. Spare moments were becoming more and more scarce until the doctor decided to as she phrased it, "cut off her own head", and resign as department head. That now gives her more leisure time.

The FSU professor is an authority on the work of the fifteenth century philosopher and Roman Catholic cardinal, Nicholas of Cusa, remarkable for his energetic attempts to bring unity to the church, and for the far-reaching influence of his scientific and philosophical thought. Dr Liddell is working on a new English edition of Nicholas' principal work, De Docta Ignorantia.

She now teaches classes in the history of philosophy, humanities, and advanced studies in philosophy.

From Page 1

Variety Show

"Window Web" a take-off on Cobweb, in which the ... to decide what kind ... to hang in their new ...

Alpha Gamma Delta's ... a flapper version of C... whose dainty (size 12 ...) her the affections of ...

Taleot wasn't scar... show. The Theta's ... their versatility with ... combo complete with ... dancing to "Shake, Ra... Roll."

Jim Kearce, sang ... the Blues" accomp... Ralph Nolen and ... O'Neil, Delta Gamma, ... cret Love."

Tri-Delts' chorus ... out with "Take Ba... Mink", while Bobbye ... a solo pantomime to ...

Quartettes were e... Zeta Tau Alpha sing... night Sweetheart" a... Alpha Epsilon, "Red S... Sunset."

Other acts entered ... pha Omicron Pi a ... to an Eartha Kitt rec... Xi Delta, a Shaggy ... mercial, Gamma Phi ... skit the Greek Freak ... Baton duet, and Pi Ka... a drum duet, and S... Epsilon, Naughty Lady ...

PARKING LOT

As a Campus Chest ... the Delts are openin... parking lot adjacent ... stadium, to the public ... a car.

Vets Views

'C' Number Is Vital

By TED S. RYBICKI

Now that you are out of service, you may say to yourself that I once again have a name instead of a set of numbers. This may be true to a certain extent but you now have a "C" number which is important to the VA and to yourself. Therefore, it may not be a bad idea to know your "C" number whenever you have some business to discuss with the VA.

More Facilities

Mr Charles H Walker, Registrar, plans to set up larger facilities for the veterans office whereby you may receive additional counseling. Mr. Walker has also complimented on the relations with the veterans on campus and said that they have been on a very high and congenial level.

Of paramount concern, of course, is the arrival of the first check. Word was received from Mr M M Greene, chief of the Vocational Rehabilitation and Education Division, VA Regional Office at St. Petersburgh that many veterans may expect checks for September on the 20th of October.

Merger

The VA had anticipated some delay because of the merger of the Miami office and the St. Petersburg regional office. Therefore, November 20th has been publicized as the date on which most veterans could expect their first check.

The VA office is processing papers for more than 12,000 vets throughout the state of Florida at this time. New personnel and the tremendous load in the regional office have made possible a delay. All institutions in the state are being processed on the same schedule provided they opened at the same time.

This may come as a surprise to some of you but latest figures on enrollment show 6300 students enrolled, 1,200 of which are vets. These figures are still incomplete but I am sure the trend will show more veterans in comparison to regular students.

Cavaliers Begin Dance Lessons

Dancing is being taught every Tuesday and Thursday night from 7 30 p m to 9 p.m., at the Student Center by the Cavaliers.

At present classes are being held in jitterbuging and foxtrotting. Latin American dancing has been scheduled next and will begin in the near future.

The Cavaliers is a club of FSU men who enjoy dancing and would like to be instructors.

At present there are fifteen members but by the end of October fifteen junior Cavaliers are hoped to be selected, to give the club a total of thirty members.

The time and place for tryouts will be announced later.

Officers of the Cavaliers are: President, Ernie Stevens; Vice President, Jim Julian, Secretary, Julian Hodge, Social Chairman, Hank MacCann, Publicity President, Curtis Jackson.

Insurance Group Elects Officers

The Insurance and Real Estate Club of FSU held elections during its Friday evening meeting. Voted to head the group was graduate student Manuel E Cantellops, formerly of Puerto Rico and now of Tallahassee.

Also elected were Hulon Whitton vice-president, Pat Robson, secretary, and Elmer Johnson, treasurer.

Future meetings of the club will be held on the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays of each month. All students interested in insurance or real estate are urged to attend.

Original Maintenance Man, Retiring Wishes FSU Were Still Girls' School

By MARGARET MILLER

